Speculation Ups Price of Foods

Prices of food, clothes and other products have gone up appreciably. This price rise has not been due to the defense program—which so far has not been affected by the situation—but rather to speculation, according to Miss Alice Morrison, assistant in the University of Kentucky home economics department. She bases her statement in part on releases from Miss Marjorie Elliott, consumer representative of the defense commission, who asserts that there is no reason for the price-rise in most consumer goods.

With millions of Americans busy on defense projects or in the army, the volume of goods available to consumers will be reduced to some extent by 1942-43, Miss Morrison asserts. This may mean competition among buyers unless they voluntarily restrict their buying. However, competition for goods will not be serious until present stocks of consumer goods has been exhausted.

Consumers are partly to blame because, when faced with less goods available, they often insist upon immediate and frantic buying. In turn, merchants have goods on hand and realize that consumers fear a later shortage. This type of situation often has resulted in speculation, with disastrous results for the rank and file of consumers.

"Both the U. S. Government and the various state legislatures, trying actively to prevent unnecessary price-rises, should be told of the co-operation and backing of consumers in their efforts to prevent speculation and quality-decreases in consumer goods," concluded Miss Morrison.

Pike Countain Killed By Train As Brakes Fail

Pikeville, Ky., June 14—Nash Johnson, 71, of Ety, Pike county, was killed instantly at noon today and his son, Clyde, 28, was severely injured when their automobile and a Chesapeake & Ohio passenger train collided at a crossing 15 miles south of Pikeville.

Coroner W. P. Call said passengers on the train told him the driver apparently was unable to stop the old-model automobile and that it crashed into the side of the train. Clyde Johnson was brought to the Pikeville hospital, where it was said he would recover.

Call said the rider Johnson died of a crushed skull.

First Year Results of the Kentucky Beer Industry's "Clean Up or Close Up" Campaign

One year ago our Committee was organized to cooperate with law enforcement officials in eliminating the small minority of beer retailers permitting unlawful conditions or anti-social practices in their places of business.

Continuous action on the part of our Committee, which included investigation of more than 1,300 retail beer outlets, has resulted in definite progress toward that objective.

To date, on our Committee's recommendation to state and local authorities, 18 beer retailers have lost their licenses, 2 others have had their outlets padlocked and 6 have had their licenses suspended because they would not conduct their places of business in accord with public sentiment and with the high standards of Kentucky's $20,000,000 legalized beer industry.

As we enter our second year, we renew our pledge to the public and our offer of assistance to law-enforcement officials. We are determined that conditions in retail beer outlets shall be as wholesome as beer itself.

By restricting your patronage to reputable beer retailers, YOU can help to preserve the social and economic benefits of beer—a beverage of modern times which provides 15 million jobs, encourages and pays State tax totaling more than $1,000,000 a year.

WHY LEAVE HOME?

COME, the days when every new mine operation meant a new mining town. Good roads and the automobile have changed all that. In this modernized age miners are not perforce obliged to reside in the vicinity of the mine. A large percentage of Floyd county miners, economy-wise, now reside on farms, some driving as far as twenty miles to and from work.

But the machine age is not altogether to be credited with the decentralization of industrial workers. In some instances, mining town conditions are to blame.

Floyd county, however, has a notable example of a mining town designed, intentionally or otherwise, to keep the operations' employees at home, good roads and automobiles or no. This is the Inland Steel Company's town of Wheelwright. Decentralization there is made unattractive by the improvements which make the town attractive to workers as well as any other class which enjoys wholesome and attractive surroundings. The program there, some of it completed, some of it now under way, embraces:

A sanitation program including installation of bathrooms, elimination of the outdoor toilet, construction of a sewage disposal system, the painting of all houses—all at an estimated cost of $150,000.

Construction of a three-story brick clubhouse with recreation rooms, shops, for the comfort and enjoyment of employees, at an estimated cost of $80,000.

Construction of a $25,000 swimming pool, fountain and grill where once was a community eyesore.

Organization of an orchestra composed of talented musicians.

Support of a fine church for which the company paid a sizeable sum for chimes which distinguish it from other churches of the section.

Operation of one of the section's finest theaters.

Close and beneficial co-operation with the schools; scholarships for outstanding pupils of the community.

Spiritual, recreational and physical advantages—all offered voluntarily by Inland Steel.

Why should Wheelwright disintegrate as have other towns?

Why should there be any decentralization of the population there as the company looks to the future?

Why should the workers want to live elsewhere?

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

THE UNUSUAL AND SIGNS

"Ez' hie, ah!s, macher!" is a sign. Most people who fall to stop and think look upon the unusual as portentous. The sun can come in every which way for a lifetime without causing any remark of fear or hope. But if it seems the sun, bit different, then something is coming. The loon superstitious would say that the weather is about to change that certain atmospheric conditions are responsible from the sun's erratic behavior. The more superstitious would regard the odd sunrise as a sure indicator of God's disapproval or approval of what man have been doing. The rainbow, perpetually interesting and alluring, is accepted a little less as a matter of course, since rainbows do not occur very frequently. When there is a double rainbow, at once some one fears that we are in for a severe storm or fair weather or even some national change.

The commonness of the happening measures the seriousness of regarding it as a sign. A daily or weekly event, which can be expected or known in advance, leaves the superstitious cold. But an irregular interval between two phenomena, and fear starts. The aurora borealis, however common it may be in the northern parts of America and still farther north, rarely appears in Kentucky. Some of the fearful ones can recall through the years the few times that they have seen this brilliant display of light and color. Many a person has told me of these occurrences and associated with them the direst fancies. In the family or nation. In the midst of the World War a brilliant aurora appeared, lighting all the northern heavens. I saw it, though it was dimmed slightly by the lights of the town. Hundreds of other people saw it distinctly and declare that it took the form and color of the American flag. That meant, of course, that the atmospheric conditions were screening and publishing a victory over Germany. Now, I would not say that the aurora look no such form, but it certainly did not look like looking. Maybe my eyes were a bit too honest and skeptical.

Many rare occurrences of an other provoke thought and fear. "A striking iron and a cross on a tree, you remember, 'always come to some bad end.' Whether this was seriously believed in my childhood, I do not know. Certainly it gave us a queer feeling to see a hen stretch her neck after the fashion of a rooster and a crowing, very tamely, to imitate his ringing shout. I am sure we had little fear for the mannaish girl who whistled since most of the girls had long ago learned how to make the sound that so delighted or comforted them as they worked about the house. It must be admitted that girls can never get the greatest joy out of whistling, since they do not have so many calls on their course, which store the recalled days of man, has been renewed by whistling.

A list of exceptional things that are signs or have some meaning would be almost endless. A child born with a tooth showing will be a prophet; even a black dog as common as yellow or gray ones, becomes a sign of evil. The black sheep that is in every flock and family may be inwardly as white as the rest of them; his being an exception makes him feared or despised.

Mrs. Lee Spencer Succumbs Monday At Martin

Besides her husband, she is survived by two daughters, Mrs. Charles Martin, of Minnie, Mrs. Edna Hamilton, of McDowell; one brother, Monroe Stumbo, Prizier, and two sisters, Mrs. Dora Crisp, Minnie, and Flora, of Philadelphia. Funeral rites were conducted at the home of the cemetery at Salisbury, the Revs. M. C. Wright, E. H. Howard, Jerry Moore and the Aaron Pack officiating. New Examining Boards For Flying Cadets Established

Establishment of two more permanent Army Flying Cadet examining boards to keep pace with the expanded pilot training program for Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia and Indiana was announced this week at Fifth Corps Area headquarters, Fort Hayes, Columbus, O. The new boards were organized at Bowman Field, Louisville, Ky., and Bear Field, Fort Wayne, Ind. The only other board is located at Patterson Field, Dayton, O. Three traveling boards operate out of Fort Hayes, one touring larger cities of Ohio and West Virginia; one, Indiana, another, Kentucky. Applications for Army Flying Cadet scholarships, paying $105 monthly for 30 weeks' pilot training to second lieutenant's commissions with salaries of $245 monthly, may be made through any of the boards on any regular day of office. All boards give physical examinations daily and educational examinations every 90 days to youths at least 20 and not yet 27 years of age.

Farmers May Grow Castor Beans In Defense Program

Castor bean production may become one of the important contributions of Kentucky agriculture to national defense. In eight counties farmers are co-operating with the Agricultural Experiment Station in testing the production of castor beans, which are the source of an oil highly useful in national defense.

Most of the beans used in making castor oil in this country have been imported from Brazil. The possibility of interference with shipping has aroused interest in domestic production. The Kentucky Experiment Station has been experimenting with castor bean growing for three years. Varieties have been tested at the main Experiment Station at Lexington and at the sub-stations at Quicksand and Princeton. From these tests enough seed was produced to enter the co-operation of farmers in future tests. In addition to the needs of national defense, there is a strong reason for interest in castor bean growing in Kentucky: the need of another cash crop, especially in the dark tobacco regions. Castor beans are easily grown and should do well all over Kentucky. Yields have been running from 1 to 1.5 tons per acre, 20 to 30 acres. The price now is around 30 a pound. The one drawback to growing castor beans has been the fact that they required hand picking and hand threshing. The latter operation, however, has been eliminated by the development of the Agricultural Experiment Station of a special threshing machine.

NEWSOM TERM AFFIRMED

COURT OF APPEALS HOLDS 'FAIR TRIAL' IN LIGON CASE

The 21-year penitentiary term imposed on Caleb Newsome by a Floyd circuit court jury for the part he played in the Ligon mine local battle in which his brother Taubee and his uncle, Creed Newsome, were slain, was upheld Friday by the Court of Appeals.

Indicted jointly with Alvis Newsome and Will Dillow, Caleb was given a separate trial and convicted at the September court term for the slaying of Taubee Newsome. Dillow, a few days later, was sentenced to a three-year term in the slaying of Creed Newsome. The appeal took place July 17, last, and Caleb and Alvis Newsome themselves were wounded.

Testimony showed that all the principals in the shooting were members of the United Mine Workers union and that Caleb Newsome was president of the local union. The union meeting was conducted to hear charges of "discrimination" against seven members, including Taubee and Creed Newsome, some following a controversy over a coal mine strike, the court said. About 30 shots were fired, the opinion added, after Taubee, Alvis and Creed Newsome arose and protested the charges.

Overruling Caleb's arguments for a new trial, the court said it believed he "had a fair and impartial trial."

To the Democratic Voters of Floyd County

After consulting with a host of my friends in dear old Floyd county, I became a candidate seeking the nomination for Jailer of Floyd county. Being a poor man and having a strong ambition to serve the people of Floyd county as a public officer, I ran two years ago for Circuit Court Clerk and lost by a small margin. I feel by so many of my friends requesting me to be a candidate this year if I can win in the August primary I can win in November.

So, kind friends, while you journey through dangers of life and its unseen future, I hope and sincerely trust that a kind Providence may always smile upon you. None of us know when nor where we may need assistance. But if fortune should be more kind to you than to me, please help me all you can to cast a ray of sunshine on my sad and gloomy pathway. You will be heartily received and wisely used so that I will be self-supporting and not a burden on my fellowman. So when you come out on August 2 to vote, please let your good conscience direct you how you should vote.

Your friend in need,
HILL SHEPHERD for Jailer

FOR JAILER

We are authorized to announce EDWIN GEORGE MEADE of Amba, Ky., as a candidate for JAILER OF FLOYD COUNTY subject to the action of the Democratic party at the August, 1941 primary.

A man who has braved the battles of life for his friends and Democracy, and who has never asked for public favor.

I now ask my relatives and many friends to support me in this race for Jailer of Floyd county. A man who is just and deserving. I am taking this opportunity to thank you for the many past favors, and for your vote on August 2, which I am sure you will contribute.

We are authorized to announce JACK SHERBARD of Banner, Ky. (Member of Local Union No. 589, Wheelwright, Ky.) as a candidate for TAX COMMISSIONER subject to the action of the Democratic party at the August, 1941 primary.

I have served as your Tax Commissioner and devoted those years to hard work in an effort to serve the people as I thought they deserved official service. How well I succeeded, you people of this county know best. If elected again, I promise you exactly the same kind of honest, efficient, sympathetic service in behalf of you taxpayers.

I will not only visit your home or place of business and take your list, but I will also work conscientiously with the board of supervisors in making the assessment adjustments.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE

J. M. TURNER of Wayland, Ky., Democratic primary, August 2. I was born and reared in Floyd county and expect to remain here all my life. I think I know the people's problems, being one of them, and will do my best to do the things that are so obviously needed.

MY PLEDGE

If elected County Attorney, I promise four years of devoted work for building more rural roads and for securing and delivering commodities to the needy in greater amounts.

Faithfully yours,
JOE P. TACKETT

FOR COUNTY ATTORNEY

Since the untimely death of Forrest Short I have become a candidate for County Attorney of Floyd county. 2nd Johns Creek Dam

Below the dam, extending a distance of 40 feet, will be a fish ladder 10 feet wide.

The undertaking can be completed, it is estimated, at a total outlay of $500. County assistance has been tentatively promised, it was said.

Sportsmen are enthusiastic over benefits expected of the dam after having seen a similar pool created on the Licking river in Magoffin county. The pool may be easily restocked and protected because of its limited area, conservationists contend.

Plans and specifications for the dam were prepared by Allen Davis, Prestonsburg engineer, who was employed by the fish and game organization to make a survey of the part of the stream to be affected by the work.
