SUGGESTION

YARNS TO LIVE TO WRITE

A well-meaning friend writes: "You told 'Mr. Bob' last week and I enjoyed it. He's all right. But why not visit your home when writing such bits?"

O.K., my friend. I always did like home, and I'll tell you some of the fellows, here at home, I'd like to write a feature yarn about. They're J. M. (Bartie) Weddington, Ishpalee J. Triplett and H. P. (Henry) Patton.

The trouble with operating a weekly newspaper, as we who know most of the angles see it, is there's too much small-town squabbling about publicity before it happens and too much resultant "two-bit" jealousy after it happens.

THE XMAS MEET

When Joe Cooley, of Draft Board 4, and Earl Marx, whose army enlistment was accredited to that board, met in the TIMES office Monday morning, it was soon evident which branch of the service is stronger. Earl's handshake had Joe's knees buckling.

THE REAL DO IT ALL

A Prestonsburg taxi-driver tells of his passenger who, upon being asked if he (or she) had electricity, replied, "No, but we've got the R.E.A."

POST-ELECTION STATEMENT
"From an outlying precinct comes the following epistle:
"Sir: I dissent, as in election so you needn't blame me in your paper about the votes sold and stole in our precinct.
"To tell you the fact I don't see why I helped matters any stayin away. The boys are costin' right on anyhow no matter whether I voted and went home sold or bought, in any some other peep that did sell and buy didn't stay at home, maybe they was dyin' hard, "my children that old enuf went to vote and if they dident sell id like to know why that "got all but nine votes, our presin' miss somebody waded the young'ns three aginst their wishes.
"Anywys I'm in the clear, so let em come they want to say.
"Say you didnt say in the paper last week when the grand jury sets. I mite have gone to the election id knowed it woldent be settin' quick while everybody was mad."

THOUGHT IT WAS
WARMER OUTSIDE
The following from Pat Hays, Franklin Furnace, Co. we like for two reasons—(1) he writes for THE TIMES; (2) what he has to say about old times:
"Thank you so much for the paper. It gives so much news about my old home county. I can't see why every family in the Big Sandy valley doesn't take it.
"I can read it at about my old friends; makes me think about old Turkey Creek where I was born. Yes, I remember the old school house. It was a big, one-room house with board roof. No one nail in the roof. The boards had a good lap and on every lap a small log was laid to hold the roof on. The doors were made of boards and hung on the outside. I remember when the door was closed, it was trying to get out and got his head hung between the door and the wall. My granddad had to get up and take the door down and let him out. I always thought that that poor, old dog got cold in the house and wanted out to run and warm up a little; for we sure didnt need any windows in that house.
"In that old house we ate more squirrel and fish than Floyd county had candidates this Friday. But those good old days are past. I have been Ohio 12 years, ate one squirrel and three fish—and my old woman had to watch for the game warden while I got home.
"Tell Doug Hays to come down and we will row the boat up the Ohio river and be ready to take the voters with us. Upon the nomination of Salt river in November."

DISYENTERIC VICTIM

Funeral was conducted Saturday afternoon from the home of Mrs. Martha Smith, West Prestonsburg, the Rev. O. R. Fannin officiating. 'CHAIN' BALLOTING, BRIBERY ALLEGED BY CONTESTANTS

Contest suits filed, in the Floyd circuit court by defeated Democratic candidates in the August primary charge that their victorious opponents and other candidates who ran ahead of them are guilty of committing a variety of crimes including bribery and operation of the "chain ballot."

The contest actions are those of Joe Tackett vs. W. W. Burdett, Dr. Orris Gearheart vs. E. P. Hill, Jr., J. M. Clarke vs. E. P. Hill, Jr., M. B. (Thumper) Hays vs. Dewey Roberts, H. H. Butcher vs. Guy Horn, Roy Turner, W. J. Reynolds, Silas Scott, Charlie Preston, Bill Shapelt, J. W. Hamilton, Walter Martin, Jim Crager, Jack Allen and Hill Hall.

Tackett's suit, prepared by the Phillips law firm of Burke & Sanders, alleges that more than $4,000 was spent in vote-buying by Burdett, his friends and relatives and that in excess of 100 official primary ballots were procured by the defendant and his supporters and used in operating the "chain ballot" in various precincts to win for Burdett the nomination for County Attorney. More than 500 votes were "chained" into the ballot boxes, he claims.

Dr. Gearheart alleges that County Judge Hill and his supporters spent $1,000 and that their operation was "chained" on page five.

New State License For Hunters Facing Initial Test

The first real test of the new $3 state-wide hunting license came with the opening of the squirrel season August 15, according to a statement issued by S. A. Wakefield, Director of the Division of Game and Fish.

In the past, sportsmen have been permitted to hunt game anywhere in the state by purchasing a $1 annual hunting license. The 1940 Kentucky Legislature, however, passed an amendment to the Game and Fish laws which now requires a $3 license if the hunter seeks his game on a state-wide basis.

HOMECOMING DAY, A SUCCESS A large crowd attended the services for Homecoming Day held here last week, when Judge W. P. Leslie, of Eastland, Texas, taught the adult Sunday School class, and the adult Sunday School was forced to decline the invitation extended him. Everyone enjoyed hearing Judge Leslie's happy and encouraging words of having him present for Homecoming on the second Sunday in July next year.

Rev. C. Newcome preached an excellent sermon on Loyalty. Among those present from out-of-town were Misses Orlin and Texas. No one seemed to enjoy the occasion more than Mrs. Oscar Webb, of Lackey, better known to the local folks as "Miss Sallie" to most Maytowners, as she taught here, years ago. It did one's soul good to hear Miss Sallie as she shook first one hand and then another, saying, "I had you in the second grade and you are a good girl, and you are to hear the gospel, 'This is the day that the Lord has made, we will rejoice and be glad in it.' It was, and all we want Miss Sallie to come again, and hope that next year more of her former pupils will be back to greet her. An all-day program is being planned for the 1942 get-together.

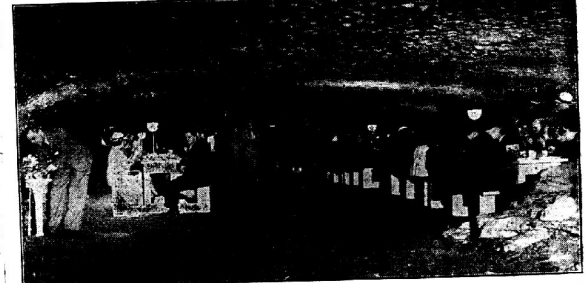

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

CONTRADICTORY SUPERSTITIONS

One of the oddities of superstitions is that they are often contradictory, even in the same neighborhood or the same family. Take the matter of finding a pin, for instance. Some people say that if the point is toward you, it is a sign of good luck; others declare that it is a sign of bad luck. Some people who I have seen would dare to pick up a pin with the point toward them but would walk around to the right or the left. One of my former students, now an agriculture teacher in one of the mountain counties, has sent me a list of contradictory superstitions that he has observed, chiefly in the mountains. Here are some of them: 1. When a cat is tossed in a new quilt, it is good luck, say some; but luck, according to others, for it to jump out by a young lady. 2. If your sweetheart becomes untied, your sweetheart is thinking of you, or, conversely, you are thinking of her. 3. If your sweetheart becomes untied, your sweetheart loves you, or hates you. 4. If your eyebrows meet, you will be rich, or you cannot be trusted, or you have a fiendish disposition, or you have a jealous nature. Apparently, it is pretty hard to have abundant eyebrows, unless you happen to be the one who thereby acquires wealth. 5. If your right hand itches, you will shake hands with a stranger or an old friend. 6. If you sneeze three times before breakfast on Sunday morning, three of the family will die before the week is out, or else you will have good luck. 7. When you move into a new house do not take salt in first. Another group hold that salt should be the very first thing moved. Some people further believe that the woman must be the first one to enter the new house and must carry the salt cellar. 8. Lightning in the north portends rain within 24 hours; it is also a sign of dry weather. Probably it is

Mammoth Cave Established As Twenty-Sixth National Park

"TELLING KENTUCKY OF KENTUCKY" SERIES

View of Kentucky Free Association dinner three years ago in special dining room set up underground in Mammoth Cave. The Mammoth Cave National Park Association held its 1941 convention at Mammoth. One view of the Mammoth Cave from one of the observation of the cave.

Area Is Well Protected The Civilian Conservation Corps has played a large part in the development of Mammoth Cave National Park. Since establishment of the first of three camps in the park area May 22, 1933, the Corps has greatly advanced conservation of flora and fauna in the area many years by the construction of 65 miles of all-weather truck trails which provide the park rangers means of effectively patrolling the entire park area, thereby greatly increasing the protection of wildlife, as well as the detection and suppression of one of our greatest enemies—forest fires.

In addition to the protection of these natural features, and in order to provide for the health, sanitation and fire protection of the visiting public, a new water system and sewerage system, second to none, have been completed by these CCC boys under the supervision of the National Park Service and public health officials. More than $200,000 was expended on these two new improvements. 2,900,000 Seedlings Planted No CCC camp could boast of a well rounded work program without extending great effort to stop soil erosion. In this endeavor, CCC enrollees have planted over 2,900,000 tree seedlings for gully control and to prevent soil erosion. In connection with this tree planting, approximately 8,000 temporary check dams have been constructed to suppress erosion.

The area is protected by one of the best detection systems of the National Park Service. Four big lookout towers have been erected at advantageous points which enable lookouts to have a complete view of the park. This tower observation is supplemented by an up-to-date automatic dial phone system which consists of more than 60 miles of copper wire telephone line that is used in connection with the hotel, the caves, the offices and all parts of the park.

Major Improvements Noted Recent improvements include six dwellings for park personnel and two under construction for other stone structures housing the machine shop, the new pumping station, the chlorinating unit, and the comfort station in the big picnic area, and the fine picnic area, and the fine work of the CCC in the park. Nature trails of from two to eight miles along the picturesque Green river have been constructed, and all trails within the cave and all trails within the cave itself, have been improved. Amphitheatre has been provided for public meetings; shuffle board and tennis courts have been provided, and a camping and picnic area, with table and bench combinations sufficient to accommodate 1,200 persons, has been recently completed. This picnic area is provided with water fountains and sanitary comfort station. Provision has also been made for boating and bathing in beautiful Green river which runs through the park for a great many miles. 599,000 Visitors In 1940 Mammoth Cave has two main entrances, one natural, known as the Old, or Historic Entrance, and the other man-made known as the Frozen Niagara Entrance. There are four routes in the cave and trips are made every hour on every day in the year for the visitors who come from every state in the union, and from many foreign countries. More than 200,000 visitors were registered in the park area last year. The National Park Service maintains eastern entrance to the park on highway 70 west from Cave City. All roads leading into the cave area are main paved highways. Cave is 100 miles south of Louisville, 45 miles north of Nashville, by either U. S. 31 E. or U. S. 31 W. Mammoth Cave Hotel, is open the year around. In addition to the hotel, with excellent accommodations, there are 26 cabins and cottages available. The fine dining room, serves the coffee shop and out-of-doors eating place are at your service at all hours.

A NEW POWER NEEDED BY PEOPLE OF KENTUCKY

FROM one end to the other of the Commonwealth the matter of "power" politics is a topic of discussion by Kentucky citizens. After elections have been fought, won and lost, the people still talk of how this good man lost because he had not the influence and money and organization necessary to win; how that undesirable won because he had the money and the support and the means of getting his forces onto the scene of action where they would do the most good in behalf of their candidates.

This is not applicable only to Floyd county. After gubernatorial races are ended, you hear the same talk. The political scene here discussed is, apparently, state-wide.

And, that being the case, with no relief in sight from present sources, it is the task of Kentucky's citizens to look to a new source. That new fountain-head of justice evidently lies in the powers given the people of other states, and it would give the people of this state a firmer, closer hold on the reins of government. It is the power of recall.

Voters of a dozen or more other states may, upon filing of an application bearing the signatures of twenty-five percent of the electorate, hold a special election between regular election times, so that it may be determined if this or that official is conducting his office to the satisfaction of the majority. If he isn't proved to be doing the work right, he is recalled. He is removed from office. If he is satisfactory, the resultant vote is a vote of confidence that sends him ahead with greater confidence to continue the work he has already started.

It would be an expensive undertaking, a special election on recall. But what is more expensive than a set of officials violating the confidence of their supporters, the trust of a county or state and the peace and stability of the community?

capture of Vincennes, prefaced by a sketch of French settlement. "But for such a leader in the right place at the right time," says the Hoosier historian, "there is little doubt that the vast territory, now comprising the five great states of Ohio, Indiana, Michigan, Illinois and Wisconsin, would have not been ceded at the Treaty of Paris after the Revolutionary War."

What their loss would have meant can be appreciated by imagining the Great Lakes industrial section and Mississippi iron mines beyond the border. And this is the least of the possibilities their loss might have entailed. Across the Mississippi was a foreign land—Spanish then, soon to be French again.

Kentucky stood alone, a narrow, neglected peninsula projecting into the wilderness, its sparse population harassed by savages from the other side of the Ohio, their main artery of commerce, the Mississippi, still in warring European hands.

Here, as a consequence of enlarging the western territory, we commemorated the War of 1812. Here, for opening the Mississippi focused attention until the Louisiana Purchase was consummated. The acquired momentum carried us to the Pacific as opportunity arose; but Clark and his Kentuckians imparted the initial impulse.

U. S. INTEREST IN PEACE PROPOSALS HAVE the salt ready. There are going to be a good many peace proposals floating about, some advanced in good faith, some less disinterested. Each will need a liberal pinch of salt.

The United States is properly interested in these proposals. Some of the most exclusive isolationists are actively interested in them. Even profound disinterest in the war does not preclude eager interest in the peace. It matters to the United States, and it matters deeply, what kind of peace proposals are made. The United States is not a peace-maker, she is not the slightest; she dictates to either side what peace measures it might advance or accept. But the United States is in the world, and it is affected (as every one of us knows now) by whether Europe and Asia can and will keep the peace.

The reason for the salt is this: The just and workable peace that is the only kind worth making is scarcely within sight at a time when one side in a war holds all the chips. The big winner, the one who gains is usually willing to call quits when the stack of blues in front of him rises fearfully. But the other fellow insists on playing on, hoping for a chance to lay down.

As Woodrow Wilson said, "Only a peace between equals can last." That both sides in this or that war see themselves as equal in power or potential power, there is no "negotiated" peace; there is only a peace of compulsion, recognizing the ill-gotten gains of one, frustrating the legitimate objectives of the other.

A peace for instance, "legitimizing" the conquest of small peoples by aggressive warfare, is no peace. A peace leaving Europe or Asia in a precarious balance between vast militaristic powers ready to spring at one another whenever the chance looks good, is no peace. A peace which assigns to any nation or system using the rest of the world as a mere sparring place for its propaganda and intrigue is no peace. A material equal terms to all is no peace. A peace which means that every nation can restrain those who would break it is no peace.

It is just such pinches of salt that must be taken with every peace proposal that may be advanced. It would be a moral crime against mankind for people of any country to refuse to consider honestly and hopefully weigh every proposal looking to the war's end; but peace proposals are often gift horses requiring the most minute inspection—Ashland Daily Independent.

Walter Winchell cartoon showing a man looking at a newspaper with the headline 'Notes of an Innocent Bystander'.

Notes of an Innocent Bystander: The witness: One of the reasons the news from the East was so interesting is yes-and-no because the transmission from Moscow is hazy. The relays hit the Axis areas, and they change the bad news or just lose it.

The Story Teller: Bernard DeVoto writes in Harper's of a certain misadventure. "Chance, the willingness of the public to let pictures merge heroes pontificate, the magazine editor's exclusive, were expert at publicity, the collaboration of a literary wife in the writing of a best-seller, and an invulnerable belief in his own greatness." A paper which has always had a shrewd sense of the news value of looking earnestly ahead and an even shrewder sense of the political value of looking earnestly into the past.

Washington, D. C. FAR EAST POKER GAME For perspective on the present South Pacific tug-of-war between Japan and Britain it is well to remember that for years Thailand, then known as Siam, was a pawn in the power game of the bigger nations of the Pacific.

Wood Thailand on many occasions, including the ornate reception of the former king of Siam, King Prajadhipok, in the Ebb and Flow of the Tide, Brother of the Moon, Half Brother of the Sun, Singapore of the Twenty-four Golden Umbrellas, came to Washington in the days of Herbert Hoover and was regally welcomed. The British were even more interested in the Siamese. King advisers for a time ran the king's cabinet. The British were after revenge on listeners.

BRITISH INVASION PLANS The British are planning an invasion of the continent (since the start of the Russian-Nazi conflict) was a landing in Holland. This, it was reported from the Dutch, would be supported from the Dutch coast by British troops from the Russian front.

Norway Heavily Fortified. Since then another plan for possible British invasion of Norway has been discussed. However, this also is said to be a bluff. The Nazis now have 16 divisions in Norway; more important, they have been working feverishly with characteristic German thoroughness to fortify Norwegian ports and possible invasion points.

Portland, ME. MILLIONS of those who follow baseball on the field or through the sporting pages of the country have become steamed over last week's batting battle between Ted Williams of the Boston Red Sox and Joe DiMaggio of the New York Yankees. Here are the two great modern hitters, the ranking class of 1941 with 400 or thereabouts set as the weekly goal.

It may be the best year of the over-achieving years. It may be the best year of the under-achievers and the class, as the multitude of 1941 siffle a laugh.

COBB JACKSON—1911 When the American league season of 1911 opened Ty Cobb, the Georgia Peach, had led his league for five consecutive years. At the age of 25 he was just coming to his peak.

About Jackson Who was this noble who could neither read nor write, who had gone shoeless in most of his earlier games, to challenge the great Cobb? Connie Mack had turned him back in 1908 and 1909. Cleveland had turned him back to New Orleans in 1910. Why, we'll never know. For his lowest average in those years had been .354.

COBB AND SPEAKER Cobb had run into a close call three years before against Larry Lajoie, the most graceful ball player of all time and one of the game's great hitters. But he came to the campaign off hot from his last year's hero shot at the batting championship. Today they have about one year at the top of the game. Cobb went into a tailspin. He batted only .271 as he never finished at .300.

FEDERAL AND STATE GASOLINE TAXES DIFFER IN PRINCIPLE

Gasoline taxes were inaugurated by the state to provide funds for better roads, but the federal gasoline tax is collected to provide funds for the federal government...

"Ability to pay should be the guiding principle in selecting new levies for national defense purposes," says Mr. Ford adding that "if the ability to pay factor had been accorded its just importance, it is probable that the federal gasoline tax never would have been levied.

"Studies by the federal government itself disclose that the average vehicle owner can be expected to pay weekly. Experts point out that one-quarter of all gasoline consuming vehicles are owned on farms...

"The state gasoline tax, severe penalty though it is, is partially made up on the grounds that the revenue therefrom is used for the highways which the worker uses."

Floyd Farmers See 'Latest' On Visit At Quicksand

Accompanying County Agent S. L. Isbell to the Quicksand Experiment Station Friday for the Agricultural field day were James Harwood, Bonanza; Albert Whitaker, Middle Creek; J. B. Bays, Bonanza; Walker Spears and E. L. line, Jr. of Edgar; Earl Hays, Smith-Hughes teacher, and Clyde Blackburn, both of Betsy Layne.

Farmers from 26 counties attended and made a tour of experimental fields at the station. Hybrid seed corn tests and different varieties of sorghum were examined. A steep hillside on which no other type of grass or plant would grow had kudzu vines in abundance. These vines, the farmers were told, make splendid pasture for livestock.

in operation at the station. The machine can be hauled, hitched to a passenger car, from farm to farm and will remove seed from Korean, orchard grass, oats, soy beans or any kind of farm crop. Mr. Isbell said its operation enables the farmer to produce seed at home and save a large annual seed bill.

The Park Service Administration will loan money to a group of farmers in this county to buy such a machine, and County Agent Isbell said he hopes to have one of the threshers in the county for next year's use.

Nominations Contested

The Floyd group also filed a pasture on which an application of limestone and superphosphate had been applied and on which a mixture containing five grasses and three legumes was sowed in 1938. This pasture, County Agent Isbell said is the equal of any pasture in the Big Grass, a section noted for the fine pastures. Poultry flocks and the dairy herd were also visited; results of proper sanitation and feeding practices being observed. "Pind" of the day was the Turner two-wheel economy tractor, thrasher.

KIRWAN HINTS THAT WEAKNESS OF WILDCATS MAY ONLY BE OF PAPER VARIETY

Louisville, Ky., Aug. 15.—Kentucky is weaker on paper than football games aren't played on paper.

That's what Ab Kirwan, classical rhymester of Kentucky's Wildcats says of his team's chances for the 1941 season.

Speaking more specifically, the youthful coach has a three-fold problem: ends, guards and blocking back.

"I've got a dozen kids to fill these positions, but they are all untried. They have the natural ability, but I don't know how they will operate under varsity bombardment."

In his forthright manner, Kirwan frankly admits his team has possibilities for a good season. "Maybe they'll do as well as the '39 team which won six games, lost two, and tied one."

"Our ends are new and plenty green, but I believe they have the ability. The guards, like the ends, are green and not very big. This is probably our weakest spot. In the backfield we've fine except for the blocking quarterback — and here again we have the boys who have the ability but are untried."

Let's see — stands in the middle of the line with Sam "Preacher" Huette and Charley Bill Walker alternating at the center posts.

Kentucky appears to be stronger at the tackle slot than at any other spot. The South's best sophomore tackle, Chack Wood, a 210-pound Huntington, W. Va., product, returns as a junior this fall. Clyde "Big Stomp" Johnson, the South's largest footballer with his six-foot six-inch frame, will operate from the other side of the line.

"The guards are our question mark," Coach Kirwan points out. Preston, a Louisville sophomore, and Jack Casner, from Fort Thomas, will probably be the starting guards.

FBI OFFERS POSITIONS

AGENCY'S MANIFOLD DUTIES ACQUIRE BIG PERSONNEL

With its responsibilities and volume of work constantly increasing as a result of the national emergency, the Federal Bureau of Investigation is seeking qualified personnel for many different types of positions, according to an announcement made by H. K. Moss, special agent in charge of the FBI's Louisville field division.

Since the outbreak of the war in Europe and the denotation of the FBI by the President to co-ordinate the investigations of all espionage, counter-espionage, sabotage and related matters the FBI personnel has been more than doubled," Mr. Moss stated. "We have not, however, lowered the previous high standards established in 1934 when John Edgar Hoover became director of the FBI. Applicants for our various positions must all pass rigid tests, be in excellent physical condition and survive a thorough investigation as to loyalty, integrity and ability. Applicants' background is carefully examined, including their education, qualifications and merit," he added.

The best known and most sought position offered by the FBI is that of special agent. In order to qualify for this position with its starting salary of $3,200 per year and become a member of the famed corps of "G-Men," the applicant must be between the ages of 23 and 25, a resident lawyer or accountant or possess a college degree combined with investigative experience or a working knowledge of a foreign language. The applicants must in addition to their college degree have three years' practical auditing or accounting experience. All special agents must be free of physical defects and must be willing to serve any place in the United States or its territorial possessions. Only men are eligible and marriage is not bar.

While men are also eligible, women serve the FBI in clerical capacities and must be as capable in their field as the special agent is in his. Their character and ability are examined just as closely. Stenographic applicants are required to take a dictation test at the rate of 120 words per minute and qualify as typists, and typist applicants must pass a typing test at the rate of 45 words per minute. The FBI also examines applicants for the position of clerk-messenger. Young men between the ages of 18 and 25 who have at least a high school education are eligible for this position. According to Mr. Moss most of the men appointed to this position by the FBI continue their college education in the Washington schools with the hope of ultimately qualifying for the position of special agent. Entrance salaries for the positions of stenographer, typist and clerk are $1,620 per annum, $1,400 per annum and $1,280 per annum respectively.

In view of the wide scope of the FBI's responsibilities, it also has positions available to men between the ages of 23 and 35 who possess college degrees in various sciences, with a starting salary of $3,000 per year and the prospect of promotion to higher positions those with scientific educations may apply for such positions as junior physicist, chemist, in geology, metallurgy, toxicology and serology; junior cryptographer; junior document identification specialist; junior electrical engineer; junior fire arms identification specialist; and junior physician. Successful applicants are assigned to the central school laboratory of the FBI in Arlington, which is the foremost criminological laboratory in the world.

Photographers between the ages of 21 and 35 who have had at least three years of commercial experience, including the use of camera equipment, contact printing, enlarging, filter work and light effects, may also receive employment in the Federal Bureau of Investigation. Applicants for positions, according

FISH, GAME NEWS OF FLOYD COUNTY

By E. R. BURKE
District Conservation Officer

Numerous catches of large and small mouth bass and large pike have been taken from the streams of Floyd county recently, some of these bass weighing as high as four pounds. I have insisted to the sportsmen that there are plenty of big fish in our streams, and this has been proven by several of the recent catches. Young Robert Bunting and Denzil Lee Lester came to my front door Wednesday to show their catch of rough fish. They had seven catfish weighing 13 pounds, caught on trot line and fishing with live minnows, the largest being a blue cat weighing six pounds.

The nuthatches are reporting limit kills of squirrels in the county. Two hunters (we will not mention any names) from Warren plant at Maytown, and two other fellows (no names) went down in Fleming county hunting squirrels for two days and brought back three squirrels. On Saturday some of the other fellows from this plant went up on the hill in sight of the plant and killed 17 squirrels. Irby Hensley reports that he got his limit of six on one tree and was not out over two hours.

Many Barren county farmers, adding up the year's lamb profits, find that they doubled their money. Vetch and rye grass has been extensively seeded in Floyd county.

What is listed as the most important cover crop in Kentucky. It is also extensively used. Especially has Babo rye, being giving outstanding results in early growth, pasture and seed production.

The barley average in Kentucky has increased from 5,000 in 1929 to 125,000 in 1940. Winter oats are grown in some sections. A relatively new crop that is attracting attention is eye grass.

Vetch and crimson clover are extensively used as cover crops in Kentucky. Several million pounds of vetch seed has been requested in the agricultural conservation program this year.

County Agents and the College of Agriculture have supervised a large number of cover crop tests over the state. Among some of the facts learned are:

That most cover crops should be seeded early for best results. For late seeding, wheat or rye is most satisfactory.

The use of lime and phosphate is beneficial on most soils, and especially on some of the most satisfactory growth of cover crops.

Babo rye produces more pasture and affords better protection than common rye.

Winter oats are in general the least dependable of winter grains. The Fawn variety appears more winter resistant than local varieties.

Red clover thrashed in Madison county far exceeds last year's supply, it is estimated.

Coal Research Agencies Report Progress In New Uses for Coal

(By NCA Press Service) Washington - Directors of the leading coal research laboratories throughout the country recently held the first of a series of conferences at Battelle Memorial Institute at Columbus, Ohio. They met at the invitation of Howard E. Evenson, president of Bituminous Coal Research, Inc., an agency affiliated with the National Coal Association.

Co-operating among the organizations conducting research in bituminous coal has become a reality. Represented at this initial conference were Purdue University, Pennsylvania State College, Armon Research Foundation, University of Illinois, West Virginia University, Illinois Geological Survey, Carnegie Institute of Technology, U. S. Bureau of Mines and other similar groups.

Although the market for coal as a chemical raw material was of negligible proportions in 1930 when the Coal Research Laboratory was organized at Carnegie Institute of Technology, H. H. Lowry, director and his co-workers foresaw a greater future for this market and during their 11 years of work have carried on an extensive investigation of the chemical nature of coal and methods of chemical treatment of coal to obtain new products.

One of their visions was correct. It is shown by the fact that with the field still scarcely scratched, one single plant of the Oil Point Co. at Belle, W. Va., uses 1,500 tons of coal per day or nearly half a million tons per year for purely chemical production. A recent release of the U. S. Tariff Commission shows that of the 213 million pounds of synthetic resins produced in 1939, 178 million pounds or 84 per cent, were of coal tar origin. This required the distillation products of 2 to 3 million tons of coal and the production of the resins contained therein. The Coal Research Laboratory is investigating a new method for the production of phenolic resins.

More Cover Crops Needed in State Lack of cover crops continues to be the principal factor contributing to the loss of soil and plant food on Kentucky farms, says a statement from the State College of Agriculture and Home Economics. It is estimated that more than three-fourths of the land devoted to cultivated crops lies bare in winter and thereby is subject to erosion and leaching.

What is listed as the most important cover crop in Kentucky. It is also extensively used. Especially has Babo rye, being giving outstanding results in early growth, pasture and seed production.

The barley average in Kentucky has increased from 5,000 in 1929 to 125,000 in 1940. Winter oats are grown in some sections. A relatively new crop that is attracting attention is eye grass.

Vetch and crimson clover are extensively used as cover crops in Kentucky. Several million pounds of vetch seed has been requested in the agricultural conservation program this year.

County Agents and the College of Agriculture have supervised a large number of cover crop tests over the state. Among some of the facts learned are:

That most cover crops should be seeded early for best results. For late seeding, wheat or rye is most satisfactory.

The use of lime and phosphate is beneficial on most soils, and especially on some of the most satisfactory growth of cover crops.

Babo rye produces more pasture and affords better protection than common rye.

Winter oats are in general the least dependable of winter grains. The Fawn variety appears more winter resistant than local varieties.

This country and the fact that the Navy will select only 15,000 applicants a month from many times that number throughout the United States the quotation, "Many are called but few are chosen" will apply to local young men interested. Navy men are a "hand-picked" lot. Candidates must be men of more than average intelligence and ambition, of fine moral character and must have the written recommendation of at least two local townships. The Times has just received from Washington a supply of free illustrated booklets for all men interested and in addition, will welcome inquiries from young men who wish to look into the new and greater opportunities the Navy now offers for training for future civilian careers as they serve their country now in its emergency.

CARD OF THANKS

We wish to thank our friends and relatives for the sympathy and kindness extended us upon the death of our brother, Stafford Gibson. We especially wish to thank Rev. Garriott for his kind and comforting words. We also thank the choir for the beautiful songs, also thank those who contributed floral offerings.

LAWRENCE OFFICIALS PROBE SLAYING OF MAYO STUDENT

Lawrence county authorities had a murder mystery on their hands this week, with the finding of the body of Dan J. Brown, Jr., on the Lewis river road beside his automobile early Tuesday morning. Brown a student at the Mayo State Industrial School in Palmyra, had been shot in the neck and shoulders with a shotgun, the charge severing the jugular vein. At the inquest conducted by Justice of the Peace O. C. Adkins assisted by County Attorney M. J. See and Sheriff Proctor Fayette, Rail Price truck driver for the F. S. Vanhose Lumber Company, of Louis, testified he found Brown's body as he was en route to work about 5 a. m. a resident of near Richardson, Lawrence county, had been attending night classes in defense training at Mayo State and traveled back and forth with Dick Akers, 22, also enrolled at the school. Akers testified at the inquest that Brown left him at his home at about 1:30 a. m., the return trip from Palmyra being a little later than usual because of automobile trouble. Akers said he did not hear any shots. Brown's father, Dan J. Brown, Sr., testified that as far as he knew, his son had no enemies. Justice of the Peace Adkins said that an investigation disclosed marks that a dead peach tree had been thrown across the road and presumed that Brown stopped his car to remove the tree, and had started around the back of the machine when he was shot from the side of the road. A number of shotgun pellets were found in the rear of the car, in addition to three shotgun wadings. A .38 pistol ball was also found on about 5 a. m. having pierced the back of the car. Price testified that he found the car and young Brown's body about one-half mile from Akers' home and about two and one-half miles from the Brown residence on the River road. The investigation was being continued Wednesday.

5 Democrats Contest Results In Knott Primary

Hindman, Ky., Aug. 18.—Five suits contesting Democratic nominations for Knott county offices won in the August 2 primary were filed in circuit court here, four charging violations of the Corrupt Practices Act and a fifth asking a recount. After lengthy contesting the nomination of Carl Perkins for County Attorney, charged Perkins with "freely spending money and using other methods to influence voters." In other suits under the Corrupt Practices Act, Marcus Amburgey contested the nomination of Ruby Watts for Sheriff; Harry Stone, the nomination of John Sturgill for County Court Clerk; and Elmer Watts the nomination of Mrs. Dan Hays for Jailor. The recount petition, involving a nomination for Magistrate in District 1, was filed by Jason Roberts against Buddy Calhoun. AMONG THE COUNTY AGENTS As a seasonal project, Hardin county farmers purchased 2,000 ewes and purebred rams. Both county farmers are seeing approximately 10,000 pounds of grass on depleted pastures.
