AN END TO SUCH BUSINESS

If you can't do business with Hitler, you have no use for one Charles A. Lindbergh.

Lindbergh says he cares not who wins the war. Subjugation of England and all other nations of Europe, Asia and Africa by Nazi Germany means no more to him, by his own admission, than does the defeat of Germany by the democratic powers.

He predicts that England, ere war's end, may turn on the United States as, he says, England has turned on Finland and France. Therefore, he opposes help for England.

The answer to this last argument is apparent to all who recall events of the last two years.

Did not turn on either France or Finland until they themselves turned to their one-ached enemy in the battle against Britain and her allies.

The answer to his argument that he is not interested in the outcome of the war, that America will profit by staying out and will go ahead as a nation, even if Germany conquers the Old World, is best answered in the recent book, "You Can't Do Business with Hitler."

The author, Douglas Miller, an economist of note who spent years at the American embassy in Berlin, studying Nazi business and financial tactics and advising business interests in their relations with Germany, knows whereof he speaks.

His volume, a work of deep importance to every American interested in the future of his country, if not that of the rest of the world, tells—

1. With Hitler the winner and lord over Europe and the far-flung British empire, all our foreign trade would come to a standstill. Two-thirds of our foreign trade is now with Britain.

2. Suppose we do try to trade with Hitler? Hitler will out-trade us. Nazi economists have worked out a system of living on their debts. The simple plan of world-scale robbery, already in practice, would be this: The German government contracts for the entire crop or product, say, of a certain country at attractive prices. Then, as an afterthought, it blandly explains that, of course, cash will not be paid for these products but payment will be made in certain suitable articles. That's the barter plan. The South African government, for example, sold its entire wool clip to Germany against future delivery of German locomotives, automobiles and similar commodities. Later, it developed that German prices on these articles were much higher than those of the United States; the locomotives would not fit South American tracks, shipment of the other articles was prohibited. The wool sale remains on South African books. In similar transactions, Hitler acquires raw materials he doesn't need; so he re-sells them for cash and lets the producer keep his thumbs for his money. When American walnut growers wanted to sell Germany $100,000 worth of walnuts, the deal was on—if the growers would buy $300,000 worth of burlap bags. This meant an outlay in hard cash to Germany of $200,000. The German Ministry of Economics demanded an "harder bargain" with American automobile dealers. To sell $1,000,000 worth of automobiles to Germany, the American car manufacturers were asked to buy $1,000,000 worth of German goods!

Directly speaking, Mr. Miller's book tells a story of German trade piracy, of cheating, lying, a story of blackmailing extortionists operating on the world scale.

If Douglas Miller has written from experience—and it is certain that he has—it should be evident even to Lindbergh that we can't do business with Hitler.

And that being true, we have little business with Lindbergh and those others who would lull the nation into a sense of false security while the country and every man, woman and child in it are in danger of losing what we have won through generations of work and sacrifice.

HOSPITALIZATION, THE COUNTY AND THE POOR

ENOUGH money would be saved by Floyd county, R. R. Allen, county auditor, points out, to operate a hospital for treatment of indigents and to employ at an "attractive" salary a county physician for the care of the needy sick—if strict examination of applicants for hospitalization were required and if hospitals receiving this part of the county's business were obliged to submit bids for their services.

Mr. Allen "has something" there. THE TIMES has little or no knowledge of the costs of operating a hospital, and so it cannot unequivocally agree with the auditor that a hospital could be operated by the county out of the savings effected, along with the employment of a physician, but it is convinced that a doctor could be well-paid for his work among indigents if the suggested economies were effected.

But, before any hospital hoping to continue in business can submit bids, the county must more definitely define the services to be required. It should be clear that no hospital could make a flat bid of so much per month for the treatment, medical and operation of all indigents who are or may become in need of hospitalization, or who may be, for various reasons, declared indigent and ill. The jay-bird trying to fill the knot-hole would have a secure alongside a Floyd county hospital bidding on such terms.

The hospitals should be asked to make a bid per diem.

The auditor's recommendations are mere suggestions. They may be taken as such and may point the way to a solution to the county as well as to better treatment for only those who need treatment at the public expense.

When I have received a Navy rating in one field may I change to another? Yes, if you are qualified. And you will not lose either your rating or your pay.

Is exercise required in the Navy? Yes. In addition to regular training activity there is an order from the Secretary of the Navy that requires the entire personnel of the United States Navy to take thirty minutes of exercise daily.

Where is the Navy recruit sent for his first training? He is sent to one of four Naval Training Stations in the United States: Newport, Rhode Island; Great Lakes, Illinois; Norfolk, Virginia; or San Diego, California.

What is the next move after I have finished my training at one of the four Naval Training schools? After you have finished your training at full pay.

When I enlist in the Navy may I do any work in connection with aviation? Yes, your aptitude qualifies you, you might choose to study any one of these trades—for example, aviation mechanic, aerographer, radioman, aviator, metallsmith, bomb-sight mechanic, parachutist and aviation ordnanceman.

Is it necessary that a sailor in the United States Navy know how to swim? It is not necessary for an applicant to know how to swim in order to be accepted by the Navy, but every new recruit is given a swimming test at the Navy Training School. Here he must be able to swim at least 50 yards. If a man does not know how to swim the instruction unit he can meet this requirement.

THE DREADFUL PRICE OF THE PEACE OF FRANCE

France was part of the tragedy of the peace of France which was exploited to its bitter utmost by Europe's new masters and their eager French servants.

Now, again, Frenchmen shoot Frenchmen. Not in battle this time but in the enslave dawn of France's new day, the subservient with the guns, their brothers, the rebels, backed against the final cold stones of Vincennes prison walls.

This peace that was purchased by frightened politicians and an aged man paid for with a blood that is not enough, poverty and grief are not enough and neither is it enough obsequiously to echo the slave-masters. The price must include the lives of Frenchmen who might have died freely for the sake of France, who now must sneeze and shoot from ambush and stand at last in a prison yard to face the death of rats. The price must include the slow and terrible hatreds which Frenchmen have conceived for Frenchmen and which must be brought to birth in the bloodshed of revolt, spread far and wide across the ravaged face of France.

This price for which France was bought, as even the old man must know by now, is no peace at all, but terror spreading through the long night and leaching in the heart and hunger in the house, Frenchmen die defiantly against a wall, a Frenchman who betrayed them lies dying in his bed. Baited from other Frenchmen found a home in all of them, and the bitterest thing of all is that they who might have fought united to save the honor and the unity of France must now kill each other in vengeance and despair.—The Courier-Journal.

How Will the Defense Program Affect Vehicle Ownership and Operation? Campaign for Saving Old License Plates.

Simultaneous with issuance of a priority order for steel required for 1942 automobile license plates, the Federal Office of Price Administration and Civilian Supply has called upon state authorities to require motorists to surrender 1941 license plates when new tags are issued. It is indicated that the drive will be entirely on a voluntary basis, with motorists cooperating by leaving old plates at designated central points.

In issuing the priority order, OPACB says it is being done because of lack of time to enable states to find substitutes for steel for 1942 plates. With all steel now on a preferential use basis, it is doubtful that steel will be available for 1943 license plates. It is estimated that around 16,000 tons of "scrap steel" will be available if the old plates are collected.

Attention is called to Connecticut's five-year type of license plate, with provision for annual changes in date, as one method of conserving steel. California plans to continue use of 1941 plates in 1942, with a piece of metal carrying the name and year, to be inserted on a plate in use. In the District of Columbia, a member of the Board of Commissioners has suggested continued use of 1941 plates in 1942 with a sticker to show renewal. Other states will undoubtedly seek to aid the steel conservation program and at the same time cut plate costs.

Enforcement problems will be presented if stickers are widely used in lieu of plates. It will be more difficult for officers to check "dead tags." It will require that states using stickers fully advise other states of their plans.

1,500 Miners Are Still Idle In McVeigh Area

McVeigh, Ky., Aug. 30—Despite a call to return to work by U. M. W. District Vice-President William Blizard, of Charleston, W. Va., the approximately 1,500 employees of the McVeigh Stone Coal and Hardy mines of the Eastern Coal Company remained idle today. It was stated by officials of the local United Mine Workers Union, however, that the men probably would return to the pits Tuesday after the week-end Labor Day holiday.

The strike was called, local union leaders said, after motor crews in the McVeigh mine were shifted from one run to another without regard to seniority, the shift resulting in wage losses to the men. Men not directly affected but remained away from work rather than attempt to enter through picket lines. After a conference at Charleston yesterday with a committee representing the McVeigh local, Blizard termed the strike unauthorized and directed that the men return to work and then settle any grievances you may have.

Special to The Times—Fort Custer, Mich., Woodrow Stewart, 24, of McDowell, Ky., recently promoted to the rank of Sergeant in Company E of the Eleventh Infantry Regiment here, is from Bernhart, Howard, Ky. Promoted to the rank of Corporal in Company M of the Eleventh Infantry Regiment.

Private and Corporal Howell belong to one of the U. S. Army's oldest regiments, The Eleventh Infantry, which has a long and most famous and well-known record of its previous service in the United States and its participation in other periods of field maneuvers with the Second Army Corps.

The regiment accompanied its parent unit, the motorized 5th division, to Tennessee recently for a six-weeks maneuvers period with the Second Army Corps. Back at Fort Custer, the Eleventh Infantry will soon leave with the 5th Division for the South to participate in another period of field maneuvers with the Second Army Corps.

Wheelwright Eleven To Meet Hazard Friday Evening

By OWEN RICKARD—Wheelwright, Ky., Sept. 2 (Spl.)—Coach Walter Price's gridiron edition of 1941 sounds the 800th anniversary of the town, which has many years Friday evening at Hazard, to clash with the boys of Perry county.

The Hazard contest opens the bag to a tentative schedule of "tough ones" for Wheelwright's high grid machine. Before New Year's in 1942, the Maroons will have met such formidable foes as Louisa, Paintsville, Pikeville, Prestonsburg, Van Lear and McKittrick.

Four regulars from last season's team, which won three battles, tied one, lost three and set a national high school scoring record in trouncing Little Vicks, 106-0, will be in the Maroon line-up Friday afternoon at Hazard. They are Clyde Smith, Billy Skiles, Harry Hall and Bill Rickard, who will alternate probably with Bob Hanger.

Probable starters for the Maroons are: E. L. Freddy Blackburn; LT—Lewis Vaughn; LG—Harry Hall; C—Bill Fain; RG—Clyde Smith; RT—Percy Murray; EE—Bill Skiles. In the backfield will be Ormand King, Bill Skiles, Bob Hanger, Henry Campbell with George Hughes, Bill Rickard, Thomas McCort, and Forrest Elliott making up the first line of substitutions.

IN CHICAGO—Mrs. G. R. Allen left last week for Chicago, where she is the guest of her daughter, Mrs. Hildred Schrimmer. She was joined at Lexington by her sister, Mrs. C. S. Landrum, who accompanied her to Chicago.

Pikeville Woman, Man Held In Shooting of Her Husband

Pikeville—Sheriff D. T. Keel announced Monday that Mrs. Lucy Matter Ford, 24, and her neighbor, Arland Lewis, 21, both of Pikeville, are being held in the Pike county jail for questioning about the shooting Saturday night of Mrs. Ford's husband Harry Ford, 37, who died of a bullet wound in his chest. Keel said the case would be turned over to the grand jury.

Mrs. Ford, since becoming estranged from her husband, has resided in Pikeville. The shooting occurred at Millard, 15 miles east of Pikeville, where the Fords formerly lived.

THE STRIKE WAS CALLED, local union leaders said, after motor crews in the McVeigh mine were shifted from one run to another without regard to seniority, the shift resulting in wage losses to the men. Men not directly affected but remained away from work rather than attempt to enter through picket lines.

READ HOW YOU TOO CAN BECOME AN EXPERT IN AVIATION, RADIO OR ENGINEERING AND DRAW GOOD PAY WHILE YOU LEARN!

IF YOU WANT to get ahead fast, to serve your country, to build yourself a good-paying future... here's the opportunity you've been waiting for.

The U. S. Navy may train you to become an expert in any one of nearly 50 skilled fields. Each month, over 5000 new men will be sent to a Navy Service School, where you can learn to be a Diesel engine operator, machinist, aviation mechanic, aerial photographer, radio operator, or whatever specialized work you're best fitted for. This first year's training which you get is worth at least $1500.

The Navy foots the entire bill. You earn while you learn. In fact, it is possible for an enlisted man to earn up to $125 per month—with keep.

You'll have plenty of opportunity for advancement in position and pay—and you'll have fun while you learn! You'll come out of the Navy fully prepared to take on a good job in private industry. And if you want to stay in the Service, you can go right to the top... and retire at the end of 20 years or 30 years with a liberal monthly income.

You can choose now between the regulars or the reserves. Both offer equal opportunities for advancement.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

"TO THE FULL EXTENT OF THE LAW"

WHEN young fellows trespassed on property around Fidelity, particularly on property belonging to people who resented intrusion, they were threatened with being prosecuted "to the full extent of the law" whatever that means. That phrase had drifted into the neighborhood from some lawsuit at the county seat and most of us did not know then, and fear I am not much wiser now, what these harsh words mean. Fortunately, I never heard of anyone actually applying the law to the offenders. The saying of the phrase may have relieved the feelings of the man who had had some watermelons or apples.

Lawsuits as such were rare. Most of us lived in great fear of the law, a sort of invisible monster that might grab us when we were off guard. Occasionally some neighbor would be summoned to appear on

Football

Many are called—and many will be chosen. At least 400 football head coaches, not to overlook more than 2,500 assistants are scanning the present and future draft lists with anxious eyes.

After all both arms and legs are needed. Officials want football players who can keep moving at his old pace with 100 pounds on his back and future draft lists with anxious eyes.

It is only reasonable that football's head men should be busy choppers with the season that is less than a month away. It is only human for a coach to hope for a good break in his river draw in the big gridiron lottery of 1941.

Just at present there is no way to arrive at any informative facts. Dr. Nicholas Butler, president of Columbia University, just how the draft situation will be in the last of the month.

"As closely as I can make an estimate," Dr. Butler said, "enthusiasts and the draft together will take away something like 900 students from Columbia. The college or university left all over the country will be heavy. I haven't any idea how many on the Columbia list are football players. There will be a lot of seniors. But the seniors will be seniors of post-graduates. There has been a heavy demand for engineers as well as all over the country. It would be my guess that football will have a larger number of youngsters than in the last of the month."

The College Count

Columbia is one of the country's larger universities. But if the university count is all over the country, it is around 200 here and there should be nearly the same at California university, Michigan, Illinois, Ohio State, Minnesota, Northwestern, and Southern California.

There would be a number of students at Harvard, Yale, Princeton, Cornell, Pennsylvania, Stanford, Ohio State, Minnesota, Northwestern, and Southern California.

Nicholas Butler, president of Columbia University, just how the draft situation will be in the last of the month.

No Hurt to the Game

But all of this will have no hurtful effect on the football campaign of 1941.

It would make little difference—even if it did. But it won't work that way.

There will be just as much keen competition as there ever was. There will be just as much nationwide excitement and interest—there will be just as many big crowds.

Some universities will suffer, in a football way, more than others. This is supposed to be an important year for the world as it is today.

But on most football squads, there are always many who must be overlooked as they are.

These will be given a better chance this fall.

For Football

After all good football has started and for many years carried on as the greatest of all competitive sports.

In the last 10 or 20 years the pressure put upon coaches to bring along winning teams has done the game no good in any way. It has developed not only proselytizing, but also a type of an unbelievable extent.

The bidding for winning coaches has gone far too high in some cases. There has been far too much so-called "national championship," "winning big-time stuff" in a game supposed to be played by young college students seeking, in the main, an education.

There have never believed that any college football star should receive in any way more financial assistance than any good average student should get, whose main idea was an education.

There have been too many "paid players" all over the country. And many of these have been no better than hundreds of others who loved the game and could play good football and often never had a chance.

The fellows "who were taken care of," who had cost money had to have the first call.

With the draft cutting in, with the element of chance now involved, it seems to be the right spot for a general cleaning up, where the alumni pressure and the coaching pressure to win a winning team can be removed.

AUDITOR'S STATEMENT

General Fund Expenditures

The actual expenditures for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1941 were $149,028.16, which amount is $31,611.84 below the estimate forecast July 1, 1940. The reduction made in the proposed expenditure for the fiscal year reflects that the fiscal court are living within their income. It is believed that a further saving to the county could be made by the fiscal court annually in the expenditure for hospitalization; physician for the poor; transportation of commodities; certifying agents; supplies for the county jail, utilities and closer supervision of the Constitutional limit of county officials.

It is recommended that the fiscal court require physical examination of all indigents applying for hospitalization before approving their admission for treatment. Such examinations could and should be made by the Floyd County Health Department as a part of its public health work. The court, moreover, should refuse to send any indigent patient to a hospital until such institution have received a certified bid on such service. Also the court should require at least two sworn statements from reputable citizens of the community where the patient resides to the effect that such person is a pauper and without means to pay their own hospitalization or medical treatment.

Through the amount saved annually for hospitalization by competitive bids and the amount expended annually for physician for the poor, the county could employ a physician to do pauper treatment at a salary which would be attractive to any practicing physician, and maintain a hospital of its own for medical treatment for indigents. The cases requiring surgery could be directed to other hospitals within the county who have submitted competitive bids.

The court should limit the salaries and expenses of each county official and require them to submit to the court on the first day of each year a statement showing their incomes and expenses of their office, and any amount in excess of the $5,000.00 Constitutional limit should be paid into the county treasury.

The court should limit the expenditure that may be made annually for provisions for the county jail. The Commonwealth of Kentucky diets inmates of the various institutions at an average cost of 19 1/2 cents each per day. The jailer should be able to feed the prisoners in his care for an average cost of 35 cents per day for each prisoner. This limit was set by the court of Warren county which county compares favorably in size with Floyd county. Also in that county the court limited the amount that could

Road and Bridge Sinking Fund

The actual receipts for the fiscal year ending June 30, 1941 were $50,376.05, which amount is $1,221.95 below the estimate forecast July 1, 1940. The actual expenditures for the period were $38,651.14, leaving a balance in this fund of $14,927.47. The expenditures covered road and investments in old warrants and county court orders of $49,796.47. The expenditures covered road and bridge bonds maturing of $17,000.00 principal and interest and service charges of $21,651.14.

On July 1, 1941 a cash balance of $10,274.13 remained to the credit of Johns Creek road fund, and receipts for the fiscal year of $43.88 representing a refund of warrant, No. 13831, making a total of $10,318.01. The expenditures for the fiscal year were $7,355.59 leaving a balance of $2,962.42 at the close of the year June 30, 1941.

Summary of Financial Condition The cash balance at the close of the fiscal year June 30, 1941 in all funds amounted to $105,566.71, consisting of the following: General Expenditure Fund, $2,007.45; Special Levy Fund, $5,868.28; Road and Bridge Sinking Fund, $95,130.56; and Johns Creek Road Fund, $2,562.42.

The bonded and floating indebtedness amounted to $746,172.14 exclusive of what claims on the warrants and county court orders which are drawing 6 per cent interest.

edness consisted of the following:

General Fund Bonds, $275,000.00; Road and Bridge Bonds, $417,000.00; Judgments, $22,330.47; Budget Warrants, $1,486.23; Old Warrants, $16,487.28; and County Court Orders, $13,964.18.

Comments

Notwithstanding the recommendations given for further reductions in county expenditures in this report, the fiscal court, should be commended for their efforts in behalf of the taxpayers. Through their efforts they have held other expenditures to a minimum and at the same time continued their road building program by furnishing necessary machinery, supplies and right-of-way to the WPA for construction of new roads. During their administration several miles of roads which may be traveled through the year have been built, and have sponsored other federal projects for the benefit of indigents of the county.

The present administration entered office January 1, 1938, and realized that they had inherited from their predecessors a large bonded and floating indebtedness. They have met in cash their maturing obligations and interest due thereon, with exception of bonds amounting to $50,000.00 which fell due October 1, 1940, and their predecessors making no provision for the retirement of this issue, it was necessary for them to cause this amount to be re-financed.

Sergt. Willie Sandlin Follows Tradition of Mountain Men, Sticks To His Hill Farm

By JOE HART (In The Courier-Journal)

The deeds of such World War I soldiers as York of Tennessee and Woodfill and Sandlin of Kentucky all Congressional Medal men, brighten a page of American history and I would not tarnish these brilliant records by any attempt at comparison. I would like to consider briefly Sergeant Willie Sandlin, the only one of the three I knew personally before the war, in the army and later.

My first memory of Willie goes back nearly to the turn of the century. We didn't call him by that name and I now refuse to reveal his name, which was distasteful to him. I've always suspected that my respect for his wishes concerning that matter, contributed to our friendship, which amounted to a pact, while we were soldiering in Texas around 1914, he in the Eleventh and I in the Eighteenth Infantry.

Anyhow, up in the head of Langdon's Branch in Leslie county where we lived, Willie and another boy came to our house. It was late fall or early winter. We played around, probably doing some hunting in the nearby mountains, but mostly following our inclinations. I remember that Willie showed us how to make a "whale" of a job by letting water trickle on a substantial glowing coal and giving the steaming mass a sharp blow with the poll of an ax. It sounded like small artillery and my mother rushed to the scene to see what the shooting was about. Willie, like many other boys I knew, had no particular place that was definitely his home. I went through that later on. Such boys in those days usually found a warm welcome here and there in return for doing chores and even heavy work as might be required.

He was good-natured, and seldom engaged in fights, but somehow it got around that it was a pretty good policy to respect him. On the basis of an encounter several years later with rivermen at Athol, Ky., where he was outnumbered by six to one by some men considered pretty tough, it was clear he had no conception of fear. These six men, heavily armed and in a fighting mood, found a resolute partner of them by the time they had decided to act. In Texas City where there was some sort of a serious feud between the infantry and artillery, he disarmed three heavy artillerymen and put them to flight, although they were armed with beer bottles and knucks. And in one day in the World War, September 28, 1918, single handed, he charged six machine guns, killed twenty-four Germans and topped off the day by making a one-man assault on another detachment in which he arrested an officer's gun from his grasp, killed him and captured the personnel. And while doing that deed, was suffering from a grenade wound in the forehead and a shrapnel wound in the leg. For this one day's work he got a chest full of medals and recognition by General Pershing as "one of the greatest heroes of the World War." Sandlin could have been wealthier. He was offered among other inducements, an extensive radio contract at $300 a week. He declined all offers. On a recent visit to Louisville, he declined to give me an interview and would not be photographed. He now lives in Leslie county, quietly and simply, the head of a fine family. I hope he does not turn those blazing eyes on me in anger over this piece—that is all I hope.
