LONG AND SHORT:
Paul Allen, Garrett, a volunteer, is the first Floyd countyman to be rejected by the army because of his height. He's a mere six-seven, in his sock feet. THURSDAY 3,070 REGISTER IN 4TH DRAFT MONDAY

Military Service
Predicted For Men
With Dependents

A total of 3,070 Floyd county residents between the ages of 45 and 65 registered Monday in the fourth national draft of men or war duty. Men registered Monday will not be subjected to actual military service, it has been officially stated, but may be called upon for work in war industries.

Men under the age of 48 were warned that they may be called for military service, even though they have dependents. Legislation may soon be drafted to provide financial assistance to dependents of men who are drafted. There will be two classifications of these men between the ages of 35-45—a 3A classification for men with dependents but not employed in vital industries, and a 3B classification for those employed in such work.

Monday's registration did not reach the figures expected by either Draft Board 44 or 45. Registration under the former was 1,429; under Board 45, 1,641. May 14-123 Floyd county selectees will leave for army service. It was announced this week. Names of the 38 from Board 45 to leave were unavailable. THE ONE WHO

Gasoline crisis questions and answers. Q—When I get into a filling station can I get all the gas I want? A—It will depend on how many cars have been ahead of you.

Q—If I drive into a station and say 'Fill her up,' what answer will I get? A—No answer; just a laugh. Q—Will I be able to buy gas at any hour of the day or night? A—That depends on your luck.

Q—My luck when out of gas has never been hot. So what? A—So you'd better realize that under the new orders no gas station may be open more than 12 hours a day, and there is no telling which 12 hours a station may choose.

Q—You mean that if I run short of gas between six at night and six in the morning I may find the nearest pumping station only open during the day, and if I run short during the day I may find the nearest station only run at night? A—It's wonderful how quickly you grasp an idea.

Q—Isn't this a little screwy? A—How so? Q—I mean it's better for all gas stations to keep open certain specific hours at the expense of their auto gas business, so that any autoist may plan his travels intelligently? A—What makes you think autoists plan their travels intelligently? Q—May dealers stagger their hours; that is, open from 10 to noon, close from noon to 2 p. m., reopen from 2 to 4, etc.?

A—Yes. Q—What would be the sense of this? A—Well, it would add a special to the whole thing. Q—Would it appeal to the American public? A—Look how bingo is doing! Q—What is the guiding rule for gas sellers? A—The whole idea is to fill simply the minimum requirements of essential users.

Q—What is an essential user? A—An essential user is a person whose driving is necessary. Q—For instance? A—Doctors, army and navy men, nurses, government officials, etc., are people whose use of a car is necessary.

Q—Then can I get all the gas I need if I take a nurse out for a ride? A—Yes, but it will be smarter if you use her car and get her to take you out for a ride. Q—Would it be all right for me to have ten gallons now? A—Have you stopped to think that ten gallons of gas might be the deciding factor in a vital tank battle at the front?

Q—Should I make it seven gallons? A—Don't you realize that seven gallons of gas might be the deciding factor in a vital tank battle at the front? Q—I'll take five. A—Do you realize that with war engulfing the whole civilized world every gallon of gas counts?

Q—Step 1 get it. Lemme have a half pint. A—You're hopeless. INSPIRATION The more I study the 'Heavenly Chime' The less I seem to think of me. The patient way he takes his lot. Conviction me I'm not so hot.

And as I watch that Russian bear My cockiness seems quite unwar. As I see Stalin and his brood, I ask myself, 'Am I Hitler good?' J. Dorsey's reaction to the President's war budget is to rise and exclaim that fifty billion dollars can't be wrong.

Darned clever with women, those Van Steeds. In this rubber shortage, has no body, looking for a rubber substitute, thought of looking through all lunchroom portions of Turkey's a la King? TODAY'S PATHETIC CASE A citizen in front of a closed gas station with two flat tires, a cup of coffee, one lump of sugar and a set of rules from Washington! BREVITY IN THE AIR A naval hero sent this laconic report to his commander: 'Sighted sub; sank same.' Had he been 'verified' he might have put it: 'Sighted Sub; sank same. Sought more; none came. All gone; can't blame— This life too tame. But really better might have required: Sunk boat; Urquale. —Buy Defense Bonds—'

AUDITS COST BUT SAVE MONEY

This week the Floyd County Board of Education publishes its annual financial audit. That is costing the Board of Education. It costs any governmental agency to abide by the law. But the argument that the expense of publishing audits is onerous is pure folly in the light of results obtained after audits have been published as compared with conditions before they were published.

The Floyd County Board of Education certainly is in no worse financial condition now that its financial transactions have for the last few years been barehanded publication to the public; in fact, the current statement indicates that its condition is improved. Floyd county itself is in better financial condition, these days of audit publication. The town of Prestonsburg, now that audits are regularly published, is on a business basis and is dragging itself from the financial slough into which it was plunged in the pre-audit-publication days.

When there was no accounting made to the public, both the town and county accumulated huge debts from which we all yet suffer. Since public accounting has been initiated, more business-like administration of public financial affairs has invariably resulted. This year, every incorporated town, every public official, handling public funds is required to file with the Revenue Department, Frankfort, a copy of the newspaper in which its itemized receipts and expenditures are published. There is a penalty for failure to do so. There is a deadline for complying with this law. All this will cost money. But it will not cost the taxpayers whose money is being spent. It will, in the months and years to come, save them money.

ILLITERATES AND SYPHILITICS

THE TIMES has no criticism to make of the nation's war effort since it has become a war effort. Those in charge of affairs are doing their best, working harder than most of us on the civilian front. Yet this newspaper cannot stifle its curiosity when it hears and sees so many men being rejected for military service because they are illiterate.

It wonders what Russia is doing about this matter. And Germany—its Hitler demanding that every soldier be literate before he is entrusted with the care and operation of a gun? This information is not at hand; we do not know what steps these two powers have taken in the matter. But one will get you two that illiterates are not being sent home by either country. They're either fighting or working. Knowledge of the three R's is not necessary for the effective manipulation of a rifle, revolver or machine gun—as court records of this section so eloquently testify—and education is no prerequisite to useful handling of a pick or shovel, mop or broom, dish or paring knife.

We still have a long way to go to get down to earth, it appears. There was a time, you will recall, when a college degree or its equivalent was a requisite to admittance to the Flying Cadets. Now, high school graduation is welcome.

Fighting standards should be the yardstick now, not social and educational standards. Likewise, the federal government is surrounding itself with a maze of red tape in handling those syphilitics called up for service. Since several millions of dollars are to be spent this year in curing those infected and preventing the spread of the disease, why reject them from the army and send them back upon an unsuspecting public?

Why not keep them in the army? Not more than two treatments, we are told, are required to prevent them from communicating the disease to others.

Then why not keep them in camp where they can be easily segregated, be available at all times for treatment, and then, after they are rendered non-infectious, why not put them at work till such time as when they can go ahead with other boys in the field?

Ignorance of "book latin" and violation of the laws of God and man should not constitute an exemption from military service.

Strike Ends

(Continued from page one) Mine Workers struck and formed a picket line at the Consolidation Coal Company's mine at Van Lear, approximately five miles away, in protest of the company's dismissal of fellow workers. R. A. Daniels, a representative of the U.M.W., said that the men struck as the result of 300 men having been discharged during the month of April because they didn't live in the mining camp. M. M. McCormick, mine superintendent, said the mine had a new contract and termed the walkout a "wildcat." He stated that including the 90 workers about 180 men were laid off for this period and that the strike only partially affected operations. On Tuesday, James J. McAndrew, secretary-treasurer of U.M.W. district 30, said the strike was not authorized by headquarters and that company and union had agreed upon a West Virginia man as umpire. With the appointment of an umpire in the contract dispute from Van Lear indicated that the men would return to work Wednesday pending a settlement.

One official said this week, however, that failure of the Rural Highway Department to give promised aid when needed made the step necessary.

Washington
MERRY-GO-ROUND

AIR CRASHES
With the tremendous war expansion of the army and navy air branches has come an accompanying increase in the number of crashes by flying pilots. These stories have brought a flood of worried inquiries to Washington authorities.

Relatives of aviators have expressed concern over the number of these accidents and the adequacy of the training programs.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND has investigated both matters. For military reasons detailed figures cannot be disclosed. But the following generalizations can be published:

1. That the U. S. percentage of accidents is less than that of the British and appreciably under the best available German figures. The casualty rate among naval aviators is reported to be quite high due to limited training facilities, personnel and equipment.
2. While U. S. accidents have increased numerically because of the greatly increased number of men in training, the percentage of accidents has not increased. Today it is about the same as the rate in 1940. This fact is of key importance, since it means there has been no deterioration in the basic quality of the army and navy air training systems despite speed-ups and other war factors.
3. The present training systems are far superior to those of the World War. Trainers are selected more carefully and given much more and better instruction before they get their coveted wings.

The question of allowing military air crashes to be reported in the press has been a subject of inner circle debate for some time. Some authorities contend this is valuable information to the enemy, and cite the fact that Britain has banned such press stories.

The President, however, has not entirely agreed with this view. He is against publication of totals or percentages but sees no objection to press reports of individual mishaps. This is the policy being followed but the question is still under discussion.

SPRING AT THE WHITE HOUSE

Outside the White House defense march soldiers with their rifles. But inside the tall, iron fence, defying the changes wrought by war, is the perennial transfiguration of spring.

The grass is a soft green, and the buds of pansies and jonquils have burst into bloom in the garden. The flowers in the garden and the magnolias, japonica, and forsythia.

On the Pennsylvania Avenue side, the magnolias are making a gorgeous showing, supported by the forsythia and japonica. A fountain at their feet. The same three fountains are on display near the fountain in the South garden. These are the two best show places in the White House grounds.

The only scar in the scene is the construction work in the East grounds, where sewers and conduits are being laid for what is officially described as a "remodeling operation."

The colors seen best by the President from his desk are those of the magnolia and ranunculus in the rose garden just outside his office. There is a touch of irony in the fact that some of the best color is suggested by the magnolia and japonica, which are otherwise known as Japanese quince.

OVER 40 years ago a kid came out of Bucknell university who was better known as a football star than any baseball wonder. He was a big, knock-kneed blond who hampered lines and kicked field goals but he turned out later to be a pretty fair country pitcher. His name was Christy Mathewson. May you remember him as Old Percentage or Big Six.

Turning from the Matty of 1902 to the New York Yankees' Spud Chandler of 1942, it is indeed a rare honor for a college football star had ever taken a firm grip as a baseball league baseball fame.

There have been a few Matty of California and the Cubs, Frank of Fordham and the Giants, and the Red Sox, but no one has ever taken a firm grip as a baseball league baseball fame.

Chandler was a star back and a star kicker at the West Virginia college. He was a star back and a star kicker at the West Virginia college. He was a star back and a star kicker at the West Virginia college.

THE HOME FRONT

Here is a Resume Of Important Happenings
 U. S. to mobilize manpower.
 Production drive carries on.
 Strikes decrease.
 OPA finds 80,000 new autos.
 Radio set industry signing off.
 WPB defends nibbicks.
 Cotton goods cut short—prices fixed.
 WPB hits truck carrier waste.
 Tire deflators going broke, get break.
 Home deliveries curtailed.
 Price ceiling goes on clothes.
 Girdles, corsets, still elastic.
 WPB puts ensembles back in market.
 Farmers back to old-fashioned wheels.
 Phones to be restricted.
 Aird-knock follows anti-freeze.
 Steel workers set world record.
 President signs factory accident.

The Axis has mobilized the slave labor of Europe and Asia. America is mobilizing the free labor of a free nation. The most significant development of the week was the announcement of the national manpower mobilization to be undertaken by the new war man-power commission, under chairmanship of Federal Security Administrator Paul V. McNider.

Its job will be this: to make sure that manpower needed to make the weapons and planes and ships, will be available when and where it is needed—to find the proper place for everybody in the war effort, to make every citizen in a sense a soldier.

The week marked up advances in the war production drive. One hundred more war plants, now 600 in all, have labor-management committees. As war production speeds up, civilian production slows down or stops. At the same time, people on the "home front" are enjoying a lot of things, and adjust their lives to the war's grim regimen.

Farmers will soon have to return to the old-fashioned steel wheel and steel-tired wagon. Except for combine harvesters, making of farm equipment using rubber tires was discontinued Thursday. Production of rubber-tired combine tires stops July 31.

If you do not need it for direct war work on work "essential to the public welfare," you may have difficulty getting phone service this year. The WPB has ordered drastic restrictions on expansions of telephone service. As a result of the order, it is estimated that 200,000 applications for residential service will be denied. Order will save 53,000 tons of lead, 35,000 tons of iron and steel, 24,000 tons of copper, 6,500 tons of zinc and 1,896 tons of crude rubber.

Manufacture of fancy fishing tackle is just about out for the duration, but WPB just couldn't go so far as to ban steel for the fish hook. No more metal, cork and plastics for tackle after May 31, and the hooks can be made at the rate of only one per cent of production until Sept. 1. George Moore, chief of the WPB sporting goods unit (who must have fished, sometime, somewhere) explained.

The radio industry began "signing off" at midnight April 22, when 55 of the 55 companies ceased civilian radio production and prepared to convert to 100 per cent war production. At the same time, two large companies, RCA and Philco, shut down production of 90 per cent. These 32 companies now have war contracts totaling $700,000,000. The remaining companies are given from one to six weeks to "open off."

Need for sand bags, camouflage cloth and food and agricultural bags caused the War Production Board to order cotton mills to convert looms from civilian fabric making to work on these fabrics. Cotton clothing and household fabrics of nearly all kinds will be sacrificed. Burlap supply from India is a war loss, hence the serious shortage of bag materials.

At the same time practically every product of the cotton goods industry is ordered under an OPA price ceiling Monday. The new order manufacturers' prices chiefly: Order covers blankets, towels, bedspreads, gingham, table cloths and napkins, etc. Here's the reason: between July 1, 1941 and March 27, 1942, prices of 49 types of cotton goods were upped 21 per cent. Prices will be pushed back to July 21 or August 15 period in 1941.

Supply of motor trucks is dwindling too fast. Three new Office of Defense Transportation orders are directed to common carriers, contract line operators and private carriers, and are aimed to prevent overloading, under loading, empty return trips. Truck companies are encouraged to pool shipments, arrange for joint terminals, operate joint pick-up and delivery service, split the costs.

Concerns operating local delivery services must, after June 1, cut down their truck mileage 25 per

Court Decides

IN FAVOR OF

Royal Crown Cola

REG. U. S. PAT. OFF.

DISMISSED!

That was the Court's answer, just a few days ago, to each and every charge made against Royal Crown Cola by our largest competitor, who claimed the sole right to use the word "cola" as part of the name of a drink.

The Court recognized that cola has been used in various ways for many generations, and that the word "cola" is the generic term for a type of beverage known as "cola drinks," of which there are many.

For 35 years, we have been making cola drinks. In 1934 we introduced Royal Crown Cola in a bottle that gave not one, but two full glasses for 5¢. Folks liked getting more for their money.

And even more important—people said it was the best-tasting cola. Impartial group taste-tests of the nation's best-known colas have been continuously conducted throughout the country. Royal Crown Cola has won 5 out of 6 of these tests.

ROYAL CROWN COLA IS TRULY "BEST BY TASTE-TEST."

To you, the Court's decision means you can continue to buy whichever cola you taste prefers and, if you choose, you can get not one, but two full glasses for your nickel.

To us, the decision means adjudication of our fair dealing, clean competition, and the fact that Royal Crown Cola is sold on merit alone.

QUALITY THAT'S "BEST BY TASTE-TEST!"

The highest grades of sugar are required in making Royal Crown Cola. Our Government has found it necessary to control the distribution and use of sugar. With this and all other conservation measures we are happy to cooperate.

AND WE PROMISE TO KEEP THE QUALITY OF ROYAL CROWN COLA "BEST BY TASTE-TEST."

cent as compared with the same month in 1941. WPB order is to conserve tires, machines and gasoline. Office of Defense Transportation began to encourage "pooling" by owners having separate deliveries on March 12, when it asked them to submit joint plans which could be approved as not in violation of anti-trust laws. Now the restriction is made compulsory.

The dish makers got their pricing dish to them Monday. Hundreds of china and pottery articles used in the average American home are covered by an OPA order.

There is still some elastic in girdles, brassieres, and corsets. Freezing of rubber thread and yarn by WPB February 26 awoke gloomy reflections on the era of whalebone and steel stays of straight jacket comfort. Today the elastic material is being released. The garments will have but 50 per cent as much stretch and there'll be only 75 per cent of last year's manufacture available, but WPB estimates many months' supply ahead.

WPB order of April 9 against manufacture and sale of women's and children's ensembles caught much finished garments on shelves of manufacturers, jobbers and retailers. It wasn't economical to let them lie there, so WPB now permits those already made to be sold.

The "anti-knock" in the carburetor is now in the same class as "anti-freeze." Benzine, needed in making synthetic rubber, can no longer be an ingredient of "anti-knock" solution in gasoline—high octane aviation gas excepted.
