GUARDIAN BONDS

John D. Martin, guardian of Billie B. Martin.

What You Buy With WAR BONDS

Winter flying jackets for both the Army and Navy Air Corps are regular equipment for our aviators. They cost from $12 to $18 and are made of borealide leather lined with sheep shearing.

Purchase of one $18.75 War Bond, for which you receive $25 in 10 years, will pay for one of these jackets as necessary for our aviators flying at high altitudes and in northern climates. So you and your neighbors can do your bit by investing at least 10 percent of your salary every pay day in War Bonds to help pay the cost of this equipment for intrepid American flyers. Join the parade, and help top the War Bond Quota in your county. U. S. Treasury Department

IT'S A GRAND OLD FLAG

WE have seen the Flag floating in front of our post offices and schools, watched our boys and girls pledge it allegiance. We remember it on many a Fourth of July picnic in the long ago. All our peaceful yesterdays we have taken it for granted. Today it is fiercely and proudly at war.

Now many of us are really seeing it for the first time. We know that we may lose all that it has ever stood for; suddenly it has become the most precious thing in the world. There it goes, fluttering over the khaki lines. A lump gets in our throat and we cannot speak because we love it so much.

Only now are we beginning to know the tremendous task before us. We watch dear friends depart and we know that some of these faces we shall never see again. We know the price we shall pay in wrecked bodies, in silent grief and in gold stars. It makes no difference. We are ready.

Today we stand united against the common enemy who would destroy us all. We know now what we never knew in the days of our illusion, that this last great test had to come. Now have come the days of grim decision. They are also days of hope. Once more the faith and idealism of our fathers are working in our hearts. Once more we watch our brothers of Bunker Hill and Valley Forge, of Gettysburg and the Argonne.

Not all of us can follow the Flag to battle—but everyone can do his or her part . . . and not let the Flag down. YOU CAN DO THAT BY BUYING WAR BONDS AND STAMPS! You can do that TODAY!

He is a trustee of Berea College and a director of Maryville College and the Louisville Theological Seminary, and long has been active in the economic, educational and spiritual development of the mountain region.

In announcing his candidacy, Dr. Gabbard stated, "The time has come when our best citizens must give attention to our laws and important affairs of government. . . . One of our highest duties to God and man is to use our influence to maintain in our nation and among the nations of the earth political freedom and just political institutions."

He states that, if elected, he will devote himself first to the winning of the war and second to the "maintenance in time of war and in time of peace of the things that have made our American way of life distinctive." (Pol. adv.)

Garrett Youth Picked For Mine Warfare In U. S. Navy

U. S. Naval Training Station, Newport, R. I., July 29 (Sp.)—Scoring high marks in competitive aptitude tests and demonstrating unusual abilities, Edwin Morrow Conley, of Garrett, Ky., was recently selected and has been sent to one of the U. S. Navy's large southern mine warfare schools.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. Chit Conley, of Garrett, the blue-jackets received his basic course in seamanship at the U. S. Naval Training Station, Newport, R. I., where every incoming recruit is given a series of aptitude tests to determine his qualifications for further training at a service school in the various branches of aviation, mechanics, gunnery, signaling and office work.

At the mine warfare school, Conley will learn to handle mines, to lay mines and to remove enemy mines from the sea lanes, in addition to other duties incident to mine work.

Conley is not alone in his family acting in the armed forces, his brother, Herb, being a private first class in the army air corps. Two first cousins, Burns and Austin Bailey, are also in the army air corps. A third class signalman in the U. S. navy, Conley attended Garrett high school.

Pat Farm Fire Loss At Hundred Million

It is estimated that fires on farms in the United States take approximately 3,300 lives each year and destroy about $100,000,000 worth of property.

Eight principal causes of farm fires are: (1) defective chimneys and flues, (2) sparks on combustible roofs, (3) lightning, (4) spontaneous combustion, (5) careless use of matches, (6) careless use of gasoline and kerosene, (7) defective and improperly installed stoves and furnaces, (8) faulty wiring and misuse of electric appliances. These cause 85 per cent of the total losses from farm fires.

A chimney that becomes too hot to hold one's hand against should be carefully inspected and repaired by a reliable mason.

Properly installed and well-maintained lightning rods on farm buildings are practically 100 per cent effective in preventing damage from lightning.

Underdressed or damp hay when stored in large piles heats spontaneously. This heating may continue until ignition temperature is reached and the hay bursts into flames. Frequent examinations should be made through a fire does not, heating destroys much of the feeding value. Alfalfa, clover, and soybean hays are most likely to heat severely.

Even though hay has been well cured before storage, it will heat if it is wet by rain coming from a leaky roof or from floodwaters.
