Clear Creek Screenings

By SAND DAD

Pink Akers bought a goat from "Pugsy" Joe Osborne over on Frazier's Creek and the goat proved to have a strong scent and a healthy appetite. So Pink wanted to "true back" but Pugsy Joe allowed as how he didn't make any baby trades and told Pink to keep Ole Bill. Whereupon Pink jumped Bill the goat out and set the dogs after him. Some boys caught Bill before he got back home. Pushed him in the creek and almost drowned him. Last reports are that Pugsy Joe has the money and Pink the goat. Don't be surprised if a goat war breaks out on Frazier's Creek.

Orbin Newsome says there are too many city-fellers working at Clear Creek.

First, somebody gets a handy rooster belonging to Henry Campbell killed, and now Orbin has a big Rhode Island Red with a voice like a fog horn that gets under the window of James Barr and Crown, and James warns him killed. Orbin says that chickens don't bother country people. But we bet Orbin would tell a different story if he was on the night shift.

If Earl Meade would just keep quiet about it, somebody might believe that he is the boss of the house. But, like little Audrey, he brags and brags about it at the bathhouse and the boys laugh and laugh.

Willie Francis, the best teller of tales in these parts, had some of the boys believing, the other day, that your Uncle Sam had drafted a certain woman at Clear Creek for the army.

The best story I've heard about this war was told me by A. G. DeCoursey, formerly of Sizemore, who has been in the navy quite a while and who is at home on leave at present.

On the morning Pearl Harbor was bombed by the Japs a chaplain was about to preach to the boys when the attack began. Not all the crews were present; so the chaplain hops to an anti aircraft gun and goes to help the boys throw all they have at the Japs. There was a lull in the battle, and the person looks out and sees more Japs coming. So he aims out. "Praise the Lord and pass the ammunition—here they come again."

So long till next time.

Lambs Not Affected by Price Ceilings

Prices of both live lambs and lamb meat whether sold at wholesale or at retail were specifically exempt from ceiling prices by the Price Control order of April 28, according to a statement issued by the Department of Markets and Rural Finance of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics in Lexington.

Wholesale and retail prices of lamb meat were not included under the provisions of the order because the prices farmers received for sheep and lambs in March were below the level at which ceiling prices could be established under the Emergency Price Control Act, passed in January. The level below which no ceiling prices for lambs can be set is 110 per cent of parity price; the October 1, 1941 price; the December 15, 1941 price; or the 10 year (June, 1926 to June, 1929) average price, whichever price is highest.

Any ceilings that may be set on wholesale or retail prices of lamb meat by the Office of Price Administration must be sufficiently high to yield farmers not less than the maximum prices provided by the formula in the Price Control Act, according to provisions of the Act.

Ceiling prices have been placed on wool and shearing pelts, but the ceilings on these commodities are sufficiently high to exert a favorable effect on lamb prices at the present time.

Many other commodities produced by Kentucky farmers, such as poultry, eggs, butterfat in cream, milk sold for manufacturing into cheese and condensed milk, have not thus far been placed under price ceilings.

Exam for Sanitariums, Nurses Scheduled Aug. 15

An examination for sanitariums and public health nurses will be held at 1:30 p. m. Saturday, August 15, at the Y. M. C. A., Third and Broadway, Louisville, Ky.

The examination is open, free and competitive to all persons who possess the minimum qualifications for which application is made: SANITARIANS: Completion of at least one year's work in a college or university of recognized standing. Good character references. Ability to deal successfully with people.

Not eligible for induction in the army during the war. Citizen of the United States. Resident of Kentucky for at least one year. Age limit 55 years.

NURSES: Graduate and public health nurses to fill vacancies in the county health departments.

In writing for information or application blank, state educational qualifications and name of school of nursing. Application blank and details may be obtained from the Merit System, State Department of Health, 620 South Third street, Louisville, Ky. Completed application must be returned not later than August 12, 1942, for admittance to the examination.

4-Hers Collect Nearly Million Pounds of Rubber

Reports received at the College of Agriculture and Home Economics at Lexington show that 4-H club boys and girls in 90 counties collected a total of 968,629 pounds of scrap rubber.

Reports included: Ohio county, which 48,746 pounds were collected; Rockcastle, 32,120 pounds; Hart, 28,674 pounds; Franklin, 20,700 pounds; Hickman, 15,026 pounds, and Jackson, 23,850 pounds.

Each county has a 4-H club salvage committee, the chairman of which is a member of the county's general salvage committee. Practically every farm in the 90 counties was visited by a 4-H club member, according to the report.

Inflation Resulted In Previous Wars

Extreme price fluctuations have accompanied every major war in which the United States has engaged, according to Dana G. Gard, of the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station.

During the Revolutionary War prices rose to more than double what they had been a few years earlier, largely because of expanded currency. So much paper money was printed, with which to pay for the war, that it became nearly worthless. People still sometimes say a thing is "not worth a continental."

Again in 1864 it took $2 to buy what $1 had bought in 1860. As a result of World War I, conditions were even worse when in 1920 it took $2.25 to buy what $1 had bought in 1912. Prices rose to these peaks in a relatively short time and dropped precipitously afterwards.

A government must buy large quantities of materials for the armed forces to carry on modern warfare, continues Dr. Gard. Frequently manufacturers are offered higher prices for military supplies than they can get for civilian goods. Commerce in farm and other products is interrupted. Peace-time goods become scarce. Factories attempt to meet the increased demand by employing more people and increasing their payrolls. Thus workers, farmers and others have more money to spend for fewer goods, and prices rise.

If inflation and the evil effects which follow are to be avoided the causes of inflation must be attacked at their source. Present programs of the federal government involving heavier taxes, priorities for industry, ceiling prices, rationing of consumers goods and the campaign to encourage the purchase of war bonds and stamps all are designed to counteract inflation and aid in the war effort.

THE COMPLETE WEATHER BUREAU SERVICE (Weather bureaus in New York and many other cities supplementing weather information by issuing warnings, some in rhyme, against shortening the life of tires by fast driving on the idea in a big way to boost all drivers?)

Subscriber: Hello, central, how are you? Do you take one lump or two? Operator: Kindly state your number, please. How are your priorities?

Subscriber: Give me the weather, you can man; Be as thrifty as you can. Operator: I'm ringing; hold the line... Saving gas on all oil lines.

Weather Man: This is 1212... Any query will suffice... We'll throw in some good advice.

Subscriber: I am calling up to see What the weather's gonna be; Buy yourself some war bonds now— Help to make the Axis bow!

Weather Man: Kindly open a little broader (Alcohol makes smokeless powder); Speak directly in the phone— And cut your budget to the bone.

Subscriber: Kindly drop another nickel; Travel more, sir, by bicycle! Just what you need!

Subscriber: There's the nickel in the slot; How much old rubber have you got? Weather Man: New! I hear you some what better!

Subscriber: You can buy war bonds by letter; What is it you want to know? Gas and oil supplies are low.

Subscriber: I'm just calling up to see What the weather's gonna be. Weather Man: There's low pressure in the west! Driving slow is always best; There were showers in the east!

Subscriber: Treat a rubber tire right! Weather Man: I am listening... Proceed! You are giving service, keep!

Weather Man: Morning mists will clear away (Turn in those old blades today); It should be quite warm by noon (Help that scrap drive pretty soon!)

Subscriber: What's the outlook, hot or cold? Come across with rubber, old. Weather Man: Temperatures are due to soar; Help your country with this war!

Subscriber: It may get to 92— Save your tin cans carefully; If it gets to 88 Walk, don't ride, to keep that date!

Subscriber: There's a heat wave heading in; Driving swiftly is a sin; Record heat may be at hand; Hard on tires, understand?

Subscriber: This is service most complete; Rubber melts in too much heat. Weather Man: For tomorrow, little change; For less driving, please arrange; Showers will bring no relief; Hot roads bring a tire grief.

Subscriber: Thanks for all the song and dance... Take those cuffs right off your pants! AN IDEAL!

Subscriber: "There goes the curse of the army," said Lieutenant General Somervell as thousands of rubber stamps were tossed into a collection of old rubber. Which makes one realize that somebody missed a bet when they failed to emphasize rubber stamps in the rubber drive.

Subscriber: Rubber stamps are not only the curse of the army, they are the curse of the country. How about a last minute appeal to America to throw its rubber stamps into the war on the Axis? Nothing could be better spared.

Subscriber: The Du Pont have taken out a patent under which they claim it is possible to stamp women's hats and clothes out of a new fabric. No Suez, no sewing machines, no thread, no seams, no ridges. Imagine a woman saying, "I'm going down to the machine shop and get me a new frock."

Subscriber: Buy War Bonds— Or remaining somewhat unimpaired, "I don't like this new spring. I'm going to take it in and have it re-stamped."

JUNK needed for War. "What's it good for?" "Guns, tanks, and maybe part of a plane". Illustration of a tank and other military equipment.

In the attics and cellars of homes, in garages, tool sheds, and on farms, is a lot of Junk which is doing no good where it is, but which is needed at once to help smash the Japs and Nazis. Scrap iron and steel, for example. Old radiators, lengths of pipe, refrigerators, garbage pails, broken garden tools... It may be rusty, old "scrap" to you, but it is actually refined steel, with most impurities removed—and can be quickly melted with new metal in the form of pig iron to produce highest quality steel for our machines. Even in peacetime our Nation relied on scrap to provide about 50% of the raw material for steel. Now production of steel has gone up, up, up, until today America is turning out as much steel as all the rest of the world combined. But unless at least 6,000,000 additional tons of scrap steel is uncovered promptly, the full rate of production cannot be attained or increased; the necessary tanks, guns, and ships cannot be produced. The rubber situation is also critical. In spite of the recent rubber drive, there is a continuing need for large quantities of scrap rubber. Also for other waste materials and metals like brass, copper, zinc, lead, and tin. America needs your active assistance in rounding up these materials. The Junk which you collect is bought by industry from scrap dealers at established, government-controlled prices. Why You Help? First—collect all your waste material and pile it up. Then—sell it to a Junk dealer, give it to a charity, take it yourself to the nearest collection point, or get in touch with your Local Salvage Committee. If you live on a farm, consult your County War Board or your farm implement dealer. Throw YOUR scrap into the fight!

JUNK MAKES FIGHTING WEAPONS. One old radiator will provide a super-steaded cap for seventeen .30 calibre rifles. One old lawn mower will help make six 3-inch shells. One useless old tire will provide as much rubber as 12 gas masks. One old shovel will help make 4 hand grenades. MATERIALS NEEDED: Scrap iron and steel. Other metals of all kinds. Old rubber. Rags, Manila rope, burlap bags. Waste Cooking Fats—Strain into a large tin and when you get a pound or more, sell to your meat dealer. WANTED ONLY IN CERTAIN LOCALITIES: Waste paper and tin cans, as announced locally. NOT NEEDED at this time: Razor blades—glass.

We all have a date with VICTORY . . .
. . . but first we have a stupendous job to do!

AND LET'S NOT FOOL OURSELVES—It's going to need some real doing. However, America has what it takes. Proof of this we've seen . . . when our forces have gone into action . . . when war production meshed into gear . . . when the railroads showed what they could do, transporting men, supplies and materials . . . when Uncle Sam's civilian nieces and nephews revealed the power of American morale on the home front.

We needn't tell you that railroad business is so essential. Railroads are a vital arm of America's fighting power. Our country looks to our railroads as The Mainline of Freedom. That's the first job of Chesapeake and Ohio Lines . . . and every other railroad.

So if you, as a civilian, are asked to retrace your traveling . . . to give up a reservation . . . or to experience occasional inconvenience or delay . . . we know you'll do it cheerfully . . . and understandingly. Being patriotically patient is one more way in which you can help keep America's date with Victory!

Regrets Failure To Set 1,000 Walnut Trees

Had W. H. Polly of Leitcher county set 1,000 walnut trees instead of one, 47 years ago he would have $20,000 worth of timber now. He recently showed County Agent Hugh Hurt a tree 24 inches in diameter for which he had refused $20. "I have decided not to let it go," he told the county agent. "I might have had $20,000 worth of trees now, had I set 1,000 instead of one."

RETURN FROM SOUTH

Harold—James B. Layne and daughter, Lenna, returned here from the South Sunday after spending several days with Mrs. Layne's son, Sgt. Chris L. Layne, who is stationed with the U. S. Army air corps at Craig Field, Ala. They visited many other parts of Alabama, Tennessee and Georgia during the trip.

The amount of orchard grass seed saved in Lacer county will break all records, it is believed.

SOB GRASS IN THE FALL

Fall seeding of grasses is more certain to give a good stand than spring seeding. The Kentucky Experiment Station recommends that where land is to be seeded in grasses, the seeding be done in the fall. Grasses seeded this fall will furnish a considerable pasturage next year, particularly if lespedeza or some other legume is added in the spring.

baasting. The barbecue pit should be dug deep enough so that meat will rest on the spit 15 inches above fire. Line the pit with old bricks and build fire. When it's subsided to glowing coals, run spit through center of meat, place over fire, and turn spit slowly so that meat will be cooked evenly on all sides. Take a stick, wrap the end in several thicknesses of clean cloth and tie. Use this for dipping into barbecue sauce and basting the meat while it roasts. The time for cooking is about three minutes per pound longer than that needed to cook a similar cut in an oven at moderate temperature.

Small-Scale Barbecues
 Quicker to do, fun to eat, and less space-taking are barbecues with smaller cuts of meat. Frankfurters are the fare. Hamburgers — of course! Small steaks, marinated like the big roast of beef, are delicious. Lamb kabobs, run on a skewer, roasted above the glowing coals, make aromatic eating for the smaller barbecue. Skirted to backyard barbecuing on charcoal grills are these new recipes with quick-cooking, shifty meats.

Barbecued Frankfurters
 1-3 cup chopped onion
 1-2 cup catsup
 2 teps. salad oil
 1-3 cup lemon juice
 1-2 cup water
 1 tsp. vinegar
 2 lbs. frankfurters

1 tsp. Worcestershire sauce
 Brown onion in salad oil. Add remaining ingredients, except frankfurters; simmer 30 minutes. Arrange frankfurters on long metal skewers. Place 6 inches above glowing coals of barbecue pit and broil for 45 minutes, brushing with barbecue sauce and turning every 15 minutes. Six servings.

Veal Chop with Savory Butter
 1 shoulder veal chopped parsley chops
 1-2 cup soft butter
 1-2 cup chili sauce
 1-2 cup lemon finely chopped onion
 1 tsp. finely chopped salt
 Have veal chops cut 1 inch thick. Thoroughly broil, marinate, onion, parsley and butter; shape into a roll and chill until hard. Combine chili sauce, lemon juice and salt. Arrange chops for broiling 12 to 15 in. above glowing coals. Broil for 45 minutes, brushing with chili sauce mixture every 15 minutes. Turn chops once every 20 minutes, before they are done. Slice butter roll into six pieces. Place one slice on top of each hot chop; serve immediately. Makes 6 servings.

Barbecued Hamburgers
 Form ground beef, chopped onion and seasonings into large, thick patties. Arrange on charcoal grill. Grill for 25 minutes, basting with barbecue sauce, and turning after 15 minutes. Serve on toasted rolls.

Barbecue Sauce
 3-4 cup tomato catsup
 1-2 tsp. paprika
 2 teps. vinegar
 2 teps. Worcestershire sauce
 1 tsp. chili powder
 Combine ingredients. Baste meat while broiling. 1-3-4 cups.

How To Stop Ballot-Box Stuffing

NOW that the secondary stub has been restored to the ballot, it can be made to serve as an absolute check against the too-common practice of stuffing ballot boxes with votes cast by proxy as it were, with the voter not knowing that a ballot was cast in his name.

That can be effected by the simple procedure of having the names appearing on the secondary stubs printed in the newspapers. After that is done, the voters, if their names have been fraudulently used as they can do the rest.

The voter will, if he is an honest citizen, report the matter to the proper authorities if his name appears on a stub he never saw.

The next Legislature should make such publication of names on the secondary stubs mandatory on the part of county clerks.

(No, this isn't to espouse a law that might make the newspapers more money. If any think so, let them bring around this or next year's secondary stubs—and, in the case of honest elections and good government, THE TIMES will print them for you gratis.)

War of Nerves in the Courtroom

THERE may be a maddening bit of method about the long drawn-out trial of the eight Nazi saboteurs and the irritating delay in announcing the trial verdict.

While the Americans have been chafing at the bit, wanting to know why our government should waste all this valuable time and money on a trial of men who would, if they were given a decent, kill women and children, it is quite possible that the suspense has been terrific in Germany. And while all this has been drawn out over weeks, the radio and the press have been announcing the security that shrouds the fate of the saboteurs that never, for lack of news, has during the unseemly delay reached into Germany, to the man in the street, to relatives at home. They have been wondering, hoping against hope, yet knowing that the worst is a thing of tomorrow or the next day or the next.

Germany has no corner on this war of nerves.

IF NOT INDORSEMENT, WHAT IS IT CALLED?

With all respect to Frank Kent, we have to say that whenever we find ourselves in agreement with him on the subject of Franklin D. Roosevelt, we are to declare a season of meditation and prayer and go back and re-examine our whole position on the matter at issue. Having now done this in the case of the President's wartime intervention in state politics in New York and elsewhere, we have to say that we hold a higher opinion of Mr. Kent of the President's motive and the fact that a Senator has been a New Deal supporter does not damn the man in our eyes as it does Mr. Kent's. New York, we also have to say that he has not committed this crime.

Mr. Roosevelt was asked at a press conference Tuesday if he had authorized Representative Casey for the Democratic Senatorial nomination in Massachusetts. The President, according to The Associated Press, said he was not endorsing anybody in the campaign. Now, he was not endorsing anybody, he was employing the verb endorse in a special and technical political definition, drawing fine distinctions.

One week ago last night, Senator Chandler told Kentuckians on the radio: "The President earnestly desires my reelection." On that same day, Senator Mead of New York had emerged from the White House and according to The Associated Press, told reporters that Mr. Roosevelt favored his candidacy (for the Democratic nomination for the New York governorship). The President, Mr. Mead said, reminded him that he was not a delegate to the New York Democratic convention but added, "If I were, I would cast my vote for Jim Mead."

Neither Senator would have dared to say what he said without having obtained the President's permission. Mr. Chandler's statement has not been repudiated by the White House. Mr. Mead's was confirmed by the President himself at the same press conference Tuesday at which he denied endorsing anybody anywhere. But such things are bound to constitute endorsement in practical effect, and if support of the President's policies, domestic as well as foreign, is the criterion, then Mr. Casey deserves just as much as either Mr. Chandler or Mr. Mead, for he has been very faithful in the House.

The long procession of New York political visitors at the White House since early June when Jim Farley left there apparently satisfied the President was no fatal objection to Attorney General Bennett for the New York governorship, the major-incident Meany appointment in New York for the benefit of Senator Smathers' re-election; the President's conference with Senators Barkley and Chandler and Tom Rhea of Kentucky two weeks or so ago—all these things speak eloquently—and discomfitingly—to the people. They would so much rather have their great wartime leader simply that, and not supporting partisan politicians anywhere, any time or in any way.—The Courier-Journal.

YES, VIRGINIA, TOTAL WAR IS CERTAINLY HELL

By J. F. SAUNDERS (In The Cleveland Plain Dealer)

Milk vs. Gin. ROME—Mussolini today ordered a further reduction in already inadequate milk rations.

NEW YORK—Night club operators warned patrons that the gin-rum drink probably would disappear by the first of August.

GANADA—Torpedoed-ship survivors arriving at an eastern port told of chewing the tops of their shoes and allowing each man to wet his lips four times a day with dwindling water supplies during 41 days adrift on the Atlantic.

CLEVELAND—A business man complained to the management of a cafeteria that it was not allowing enough sugar and implied that the rationing was a government racket.

LABOR vs. WRITING. LONDON—Physicians treating a priest for exhaustion discovered he had been helping farmers harvest crops after spending his nights guarding the church roof against fire bombs.

NEW YORK—An editor appealed his call in the draft on the ground that he was more valuable in his effort as a writer.

PLAIN HEAT. CAIRO—British tank forces, attacking in 65-degree desert heat, drove Field Marshal Rommel's troops back five miles.

WASHINGTON—The vote on an appropriation for the Office of Price Administration was delayed because all but 13 Senators had fled the city's heat wave.

WAR vs. PLEASURE. VORONEZH—The wife of Joseph Petrovna burned a farm which had been in the family for five generations, poisoned the well, and with her children became a wanderer in desolate Russia to carry out Premier Stalin's "scorched earth" command.

NEW ENGLAND—Vacationland operators attacked Fuel Administrator Ickes' gasoline rationing on the ground that Americans were being deprived of recreation and a billion-dollar resort industry was being strangled.

DUTY vs. STRIKES. MIDWAY—Maj. Lofton R. Henderson of Gary, Ind., died his plane down the stomachack of a Japanese carrier in the Battle of Midway.

DETROIT—Pacific flying heroes carrying an airplane to the American industry for increased production found one of the plants on their itinerary closed by a strike.

SACRIFICE vs. SWINDLE. BERLIN—Germans, urged on to greater sacrifices in the war, were asked to turn in family heirlooms in an hour. The trees were turned for turning out counterfeit war savings stamps.

FREEDOM vs. PETRILLO. KANSAS—A midwest Mayor addressing departing draftees told them America would not be worth fighting for if it were not for his free institutions.

CHICAGO—James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, prohibited the broadcasting of the Inerlochsen (Mich.) symphony orchestra, because when the orchestra's 350 boy and girl musicians were on the air professional musicians were idle.

NEW GUINEA—Four American flyers shot down in the jungle found an abandoned plane, packed up its wings with sheets to make a getaway.

ILLINOIS—Four youths were killed when they tried to make an "U" turn in a car traveling in the wrong direction. The tires were torn from the wheels on the turn and the car was demolished in the crash against the concrete guard rail.

Portrait of a Newspaper Reader Mumbling to Himself:

Get the picture, folks! They perform at their sockiest. They hit glory on their pieces on the Nazi inhumanities at Lidice. Now they show their teeth again, moaning Pres. Roosevelt for naming a military board to try the eight Nazi saboteurs. Why will let out his customary howl about our uncivilized methods, but how can he expect us to hear him? He lost his right to pin it on them. No crime was what did his clumps here in case they got caught with trunks full of explosives and bribe money? A scolding!

Another thing—how did the Belch act when a bomb went off under a Munich rocketed a few minutes after Hitler mired off? The Gestapo lured two Britainers over the border to pin it on them. No crime was ever proved against the prisoners. They were just executed to give Hitler a cue for another tantrum. Most of our senators and congressmen in Washington are honest men. Good Americans, really. The citizens who are not so much who are busy calling their critics smart arse types have good cause to worry. Election isn't far off, and their critics are giving them a howling. These worried congressmen call their exposures—Communists, traitors, etc.—their most persistent critics are Raymond Chandler. Time magazine, the arch-republican N. Y. Times and the conservative N. Y. Herald Tribune. And 85 per cent of the newspapers in America. . . . What some congressmen call Communist propaganda is actually the voice of the people and speeches from the Cong. Record.

Once a ball player gets into the big sugar he gets unpopular in the press boxes. Ruth used to take the press to task for their questions or wags. DiMaggio was assailed also for trying to do better. The latest patsy is the Red Sox star, Ted Williams. He got set up with the hoos of the bleacherites and let them know it. For just losing his temper he was justly excused. Why should he be blown up? Others do, and nobody considers them criminals. . . . Actors in night clubs are being set up with the crude ad libbers, but they get cheers when they fight back.

Maybe baseball wouldn't be such a hot business if they let a few more trouble looses. There are too many coppers running the game down. Football coaches get all beat up, telling their players to go out and fight. In baseball, apparently, the athletes are instructed to go out there and remember the customer is always right. Not over at this desk!

Hollywoodites are going into the army and navy just like other Americans. Remember all the blabbing in congress when it was said the actors would rate deferment? . . . Movietown was recently criticized for making films about the war. Now Varian Phillips is being called a lousy ball? Or Dixie Dean? You'd better stop the strikes over more than once. And you'd have seen more movie stars in the army. Can't you remember when 18 feet was a record pole vault? Warmerdam will make it 18 feet before long. He's going to get so close to seven feet in the high jump. Look at all the stars who have been in the army. Practically every competition you can time or measure."

Same for Horse

"This distance goes for a horse too," John Partridge, the veteran, said. "The mile is the hardest race. I mean a fast mile.

"You hear people talking about the strain of a mile and a half or even two miles. They forget that in these longer distances there is a lot of half hearted horsemen who can go two miles or longer, carrying 150 pounds, taking the jump, getting worn down. But when a horse runs a mile under 1:30 he is going all out. He can't be saving anything."

This recalls Johnston's speed and what it did for him. Johnston in more than one workout beat 1:24. No other horse ever ran that fast.

"You hear a lot," an observing oldtimer said, "about the fighters and the ball players and the football players and other competitors from years ago outkicking present stars. Don't you remember when the yearling colts were so close to seven feet in the high jump. Look at all the stars who have been in the army. Practically every competition you can time or measure."

Going On

"They talk about the great pitchers of the past," he continued. "We know they were great, but we know the names. Don't you remember when the yearling colts were so close to seven feet in the high jump. Look at all the stars who have been in the army. Practically every competition you can time or measure."

WHAT are the toughest, hardest running distances for man and for horse? We shovels this debate along to a number of well-known trainers who handle both the human and the equine.

"Years ago, many years ago," an old-time track coach told us, "we figured it was the quarter mile which was all spring. Then we moved it up to the half, which now is all spring. But in the last few years we've decided that the mile is the hardest test on the human system. It was different when they were running the mile around 4:18 or 4:20. But when you turn in a mile at 4:10 or better, you are creating out all the system has to offer.

"It is possible to run a mile around four minutes flat. But we don't see that many. The quarter miles as Glenn Cunningham ran were largely sprints. They were terrific. I should say that a fast mile is the toughest race on the track."

"You hear people talking about the strain of a mile and a half or even two miles. They forget that in these longer distances there is a lot of half hearted horsemen who can go two miles or longer, carrying 150 pounds, taking the jump, getting worn down. TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D. Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

MY PET DOG

THIS article, with a long ago flavor, is being written for the middle-aged men who still keep alive in their memories some experience that seems trifling to others but remains a tender memory to those whom it touched. The sophisticated people of the world, always a bit too numerous, will sneer, but, fortunately, few of them will heed this homely little sketch to the end."

On our small farm we had, as who did not, a mother dog that blessed us all too frequently with a new family. She was not a pure-bred in any sense she was just dog, popularly called our Sam. There were no blooded dogs in the community, her children were equally lacking in distinctive features of this kind of breed. I suppose the essence of just-dogsness had been so distilled in the commonplace mother that all of her descendants were equally commonplace. When a fresh litter of puppies came, neighbor children and grown people asked for this or that one, always picking out the roly-poly males with pretty colors. Sometimes it fell to my lot to select a pup. I begged father to let me keep it. This little fellow was popularly known as "fetti." Anyway, it was a nondescript female, unwanted and unattractive. That was how I owned my first dog.

She grew up from a spindle-shanked little skinnny thing into a fairly respectable creature, but never attaining to the robustness of her numerous brothers and sisters or her matrimony mother. I watched her growth with an eagerness that a modern boy might watch his registered dog grow into full-grown doehood. I was happy; I had a dog; I was not like so many other boys, who had to share a dog with somebody else. Though the family and neighbors shamed me about my dog, I felt that they were merely envious for my possessing so much fine dog flesh.

And then tragedy befell my dog and me, a tragedy that is keen today, more than 46 years later. My dog fell into bad company and participated in killing one of the sheep on the farm and eating a large part of it while the animal was still struggling. Father was an old-fashioned farmer whose word was law. He decided that my dog must pay for this deed with its poor little life. I cried, but children in those days did not often remonstrate with their fathers; we were too close to the Civil War and the military life it fostered to do that. My oldest brother loaded up the old mule-loading shotgun, picked some powder into the cap tube, adjusted a cap and called the dog out into the field. The spy little dog, suspecting its nobility and probably thinking that a rabbit would be just around the corner, came bounding. From behind a tree I watched the shabby spectacle. Letting the dog get a few yards ahead, my brother raised the long, heavy shotgun, and down went the dog. If a second shot had been fired at me, I could hardly have been hurt worse. Heart-broken but probably convinced that wrong very quickly had its reward, at least so far as the sheep was concerned, I kept for many a day locked up in my bedroom suffering the full bore, knowing that the sheep would be ready for the loss of a perfectly worthless sheep-killing animal. But that was my dog, the only one I ever really owned.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

WILL THE BAND BE OUT?

Editor, The Times:

There are five of us boys from Floyd county down here in New Orleans, and we sure do have a time playing scratch-grab with THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES when it arrives. Reading it is like reading a letter from home. It tells the news from all parts of the county, whereas a letter just usually tells of local happenings. We are down here just going to school and studying to be airplane mechanics. There are 11 planes in the course; it takes 10 days to complete the course. We have just about completed the seventh phase. We go to school for six days a week and about one hour a day. We are sure we are getting used to it. I noticed that there will be a large crowd, including some members of our club, when they are sent out on their way by a band playing and their pockets filled with cigarettes, etc. I just wonder if, when they get home, they will meet us. I think it would be more appropriate to have the music on our return, rather than on our departure. Perhaps if I don't think it is any time for music, about the cigarettes. I think if you want to help the boys give it to the U. S. O. since most of them are in the army. Another suggestion would be to make a large flag, with every soldier's name on it. There could be a silver star placed at his name if he is living and a bronze star if he is dead. I copied reading the articles by Sara Hicks and E. P. Epling. Let's have some more like them.

Soil Treatment Reduces Cost of Producing Beef

How much soil treatment reduces the cost of producing beef?

How much soil treatment reduces the cost of producing beef? This question was answered in a recent experiment conducted at the Western Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station at Princeton. A 30-acre field was divided into three equal parts. Field 1 was left untreated. Field 2 was treated with raw rock phosphate and Field 3 was treated with a ground limestone and superphosphate. After 12 years of treatment, the average yield of beef was 46 percent higher in the treated fields than in the untreated field. The treated fields produced about 32 pounds of beef to each pound of feed, while the untreated field produced only 24 pounds. The treated fields also produced about 1,500 pounds of beef to each acre, while the untreated field produced only 1,000 pounds. The treated fields also produced about 1,500 pounds of beef to each acre, while the untreated field produced only 1,000 pounds. THE HOME FRONT

THESE THINGS AFFECTED YOUR HOUSEHOLD

Food Price Boosts. Caught at 55 M. P. H. Coffee. Tea Increases. Farmers' Job Aid. Tires for One Car. Double Transportation. Appeal to Petrillo. Gas Lines to John. Spar a Typewriter? Price List Fixing. Suits on Overcharges. Juries Needed.

Housewives this week are looking at the food price sector of the home front and finding that these foods which are not under OPA control have risen sharply in price during the last few months. Lamb, for instance, the price of which is not controlled, went up more than 10 per cent between mid-May and mid-June and roasting chickens went up nearly 9 per cent in the same period.

Food to city families advanced 1.3 per cent between May 15 and June 15, continuing the steady upward price control in all other foodstuffs covered by the general regulation.

"And this is not all, these uncontrolled food price rises were principally responsible for the fractional increase in the cost of living as a whole."

The Administrator Leon Henderson says government control of prices and rents, where they are in effect are doing a good job of holding down the cost of living, but that uncontrolled prices show a definite tendency toward dangerously high levels.

You've seen the time when you wished someone was around to do something about this or that outrage? Well, Harkett L. Williams, regional OPA administrator, was around on one of those occasions and did something. Because of poor rail connection between towns in Pennsylvania and West Virginia, he was using his car on an official trip last week and doing an official 40 miles an hour.

Suddenly a truck whizzed by and it swaled it at 50 to 55 miles an hour and took the license number. No more tires for that truck! By far the majority of trucks were patriotically conserving tires, he found.

"Follows with Ohio license plates seem to be the worst offenders," he said in Pennsylvania and West Virginia cars were being driven much more slowly. Take a bow, Pennsylvania and West Virginia.

Since then, Mr. Williams has called upon officials in Ohio, West Virginia, Kentucky, Indiana and Michigan to report speeders to OPA.

so that rationing boards can refuse tires to them.

Increases in coffee and tea quotas of 10 to 100 per cent have been granted to 294 counties in 42 states. The total monthly increase amounts to 2,600,000 pounds of coffee and 1,000,000 pounds of tea. Those in this five-state area include:

- Coffee: Kentucky—Hardin, 125 per cent; Jefferson, 10 per cent; Union, 30 per cent. Indiana—Bartholomew, 10 per cent; Clark, 10 per cent; Floyd, 10 per cent; Johnson, 33 per cent; La Porte, 10 per cent; Porter, 125 per cent; Scott, 10 per cent; Starks, 25 per cent.

- Tea: Kentucky—Hardin, 125 per cent; Jefferson, 10 per cent; Union, 30 per cent. Indiana—Bartholomew, 10 per cent; Clark, 10 per cent; Floyd, 10 per cent; Johnson, 33 per cent; La Porte, 10 per cent; Porter, 125 per cent; Scott, 10 per cent; Starks, 25 per cent.

- Ohio—Green, 125 per cent; Hamilton, 10 per cent; Montgomery, 10 per cent; Portage, 15 per cent. Michigan—Macomb, 15 per cent; Oakland, 125 per cent; Wayne, 15 per cent.

- West Virginia—Lincoln, 10 per cent; Putnam, 10 per cent; Gilmer, 10 per cent; Boone, 10 per cent; Cabell, 10 per cent; Boone, 10 per cent; Boone, 10 per cent.

ALUTIANS IMPORTANT

Behind the army-navy attempts to blast the Japs out of the Aleutian Islands is the fear that some Alutian will be the first to announce an American soil or the first of an invasion of Alaska.

These are important. But, in addition, events in Egypt may mean that more than ever we shall have to use these vital stepping stones of the Aleutian Islands to carry the war to the heart of Japan.

To get the full significance of the plan it is necessary to recall that ever since Pearl Harbor there has been a honest difference of opinion as to whether we should concentrate on fighting Japan in the Pacific or Hitler in Europe.

At the time shortly after the Pearl Harbor, high-U. S. naval advisers worked out an elaborate war plan, which is now a secret, for concentrating almost all our naval strength in the Pacific and making a direct attack on the Japanese in the South Sea Islands.

But the plan recently was abandoned and virtually abandoned convoys to Britain and Russia. In the end it was abandoned and must be supplied at all costs. The wisdom of this decision is being questioned.

Japs Worried. However, those who urge the all-out war in Asia are persuaded, and are being strengthened, by recent developments. One is the fact that the Japs, obviously aware of the fact that a second front in Asia, are fighting feverishly to clean up the Chinese before China gets important help from the United States.

The ODT is surveying local rail and bus passenger service in order to cut duplication. It is felt local train service should be curtailed to a minimum. Incidentally, railroads are greatly restricting pass privileges.

Elmer Davis, director of the Office of War Information, has appealed to James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, to withdraw his order of June 25 that "from and after Aug. 1, 1942, the members of the American Federation of Musicians will not play or contract for recordings, transcriptions, or other mechanical reproductions of music."

WEP has ordered the Ohio Fuel Gas Company and the Panhandle Eastern Pipeline Company to connect their lines at the Ohio-Indiana line to avert a possible gas shortage next winter in the Ohio Fuel Gas Company area centered around Columbus, Lima, Chillicothe, Marion, Bucyrus, Zanesville, Cambridge, Medina, Elvira, Triffin, Findlay, Xenia and Wilmington.

If you can spare the government a standard typewriter that has been built since Jan. 1, 1935, call your nearest typewriter dealer. The need is urgent.

OPA has forbidden the posting of several layers of price lists one on top of another.

Housewives and other buyers now may bring civil suits against retailers who violate the General Maximum Price Regulation, collecting either $30 or twice the amount of the overcharge, whichever is greater, plus attorney's fees and costs.

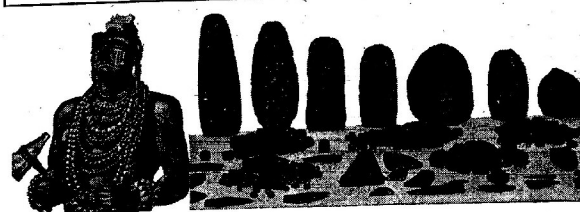

OPA is moving toward the enforcement stage. It has forced the return of $2,825,175 illegally collected from home refrigerator buyers in Cleveland and now is moving into the tire field.

If there's a battered old auto hulk around your yard or farm, you have something that might be leveling factories in Tokio or Cologne. The wrecker will pay you a fair price. More than 2,150,000 jalopies must be scrapped.

Fifteen books of matches without advertising on them mustn't cost more than 5 cents.

The scrap picture grows more serious. Every civilian and every military must salvage every bit of critical metal. Ohio's industrial salvage committee collected 178,900 bushels of tin cans.

Copper, Mica, and Lead Before and After Columbus

COOPER, MICA AND LEAD

This is the way the mound builder looked a thousand years ago with his wealth, when he was buried in King Mound, near Wilkifire, Kentucky.

THE COPPER BOARD

The copper board as it looks today of 610 solid ingots, made of steel and explosive except when used for lead. The principal use of lead is in the manufacture of storage batteries; every tank, truck, airplane, submarine, and radio must have batteries.

By COL. PAINE WHITE KING, Research Director of Archaeology of Kentucky. With every mineral digging into the bowels of the earth after the precious war materials, copper, mica, and lead, one is prone to wonder about the prehistoric mound builder accumulating meager quantities of these minerals over his long period by means of primitive mining and energetic trade and commerce.

Lead has served its usefulness as bullets, but not as an essential war material. Shell and cartridges are made of steel and explosive except when used for lead. The principal use of lead is in the manufacture of storage batteries; every tank, truck, airplane, submarine, and radio must have batteries.

Michigan and the West produce ninety percent of the copper mined in this country today. The Mound Builder secured his copper from Michigan and the Lake Superior district. Above is shown the copper wealth as it looks today, as found in the bowels of the earth.

Mica is a non-conductor of electricity and heat; it is used in electrical equipment. Mica or mica can be split into thin sheets, punched, and stamped; it is also ground and used as covering or insulation for electrical wiring as well as for many varied uses in industry.

God has given us more liberty than any other people we may read about, and we've been blessed fully that all our books fall even to touch but a small portion in this wonderful country. There are books of fiction, dating and adventure. These are a product of the imagination, still in the true story of our pioneers, our builders and ourselves.

These things are endowed by our Creator. These who deny this are our enemies; they're fighting to impose their creed upon what's left of Adam's race when this thing is over. It is their victory, peace can never be known.

SERIOUSLY SPEAKING

By E. F. EPLING. "We had these truths to be self-evident, that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain inalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness."

Arrests At Night To Give Prisoner Day's Time Credit

Frankfort, Ky., July 21—Persons arrested at night and convicted next day are entitled to a day's credit on their sentences, according to the opinion of Assistant Attorney General C. H. Herdman. One arrested Saturday night and convicted Monday would get two days' credit, he added.

When Federal Communications Chairman Lawrence F. Clegg announced that the house interstate commerce commission recently, he was asked by Representative Clarence Brown of Ohio.

He gave the opinion to Police Judge John R. Thomas of Lebanon and explained the law "provision of reaction of a day." Judge Thomas, pointing out that a 1942 legislative amendment made the credit for time spent in jail before trial apply to all courts, asked how to treat part of a day.

Today the average American home pays only 10¢ a day for all electric service—and gets about twice as much electricity for that time as it did 10 to 15 years ago. And America's booming war industries have the world's greatest electric power supply on tap! Even before Bill was born, electric servants filled his mother, electric lights lit his father's dining room, electric cooking—so the and her children could be healthier, happier. Actually, these advances can be credited to the American Way at work—free men producing things that other men want and need—for everybody's benefit.
