FEDERAL MINE INSPECTIONS UNDERWAY

Inspector Stationed Here For Eight Counties Explains Mission

"Our aim is to aid the miners and officials to have better working conditions and to reduce accidents. We're not here to condemn anyone or any corporation in particular but to conduct a fair and impartial survey with that goal in mind," thus spoke A. V. Paul, Federal Bureau of Mines Inspector, in an interview this week. Mr. Paul is the inspector assigned to the local district No. 6 composed of Carter, Elliott, Boyd, Johnson, Lawrence, Morgan, Maggubin and Floyd counties.

Inspector Paul is one of 117 inspectors in the United States who, with their "engineers in charge," go to make the personnel list in conducting this mine inspection subject to the Federal Coal Mine Inspection Act of May 7, 1941. Paul, who is making his home here, stated that the headquarters for this area is at Norton, Va., where the office is under the supervision of W. H. Tomlinson, engineer in charge.

West Point trimness and feminine flattery all in one little hat by LEIGHTON. Fish-Ur-Fur felt and fine feathers in all new fall colors to go with all of your suits and some of your dresses.
As advertised in Harper's Bazaar.

$6.00

What kind of wardrobe will you choose for this new, tauter kind of college year?

Like every one else, you'll have less money to spend on clothes.

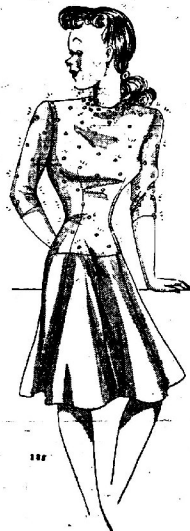

Like every one else, you're apt to have fewer—and better—clothes; you'll want the maximum of wear and fun from the clothes you have.

Like every one else—that's more or less the way you'll want to look this year. You won't want your clothes to scream "College Girl" a mile away; you'll want to look, simply, like a well-dressed young woman of the world.

The clothes you'll find in our shop illustrate our point. All of them are at ease off the campus, too.

Morning, noon and night, you are "right" in this one-piece rabbit hair jersey with ruffled hem and snap fastener closing.

Your favorite cardigan has put on sparkling glamour. 100% wool suiting jersey shot with rhinestones.

Keep him flying in your Victory dress. Two-piece wool suiting jersey with white felt birds applique on blouse.

You can get your fall canning sugar permit by mail if you live in Ohio, Kentucky, West Virginia, Indiana or Michigan and can find a blank which has been or will be printed in many newspapers throughout the region.

The OPA has arranged for local War Price and Rationing Boards to accept these blanks if the consumer finds it easier to apply that way than in person.

Persons using these blanks should follow these instructions:

Send it to the rationing board with all your family's ration books and a stamped and addressed envelope for return of the ration cards and the permit.

After the number of quarts of fruit and fruit juice that will be canned has been estimated, the application should be figured on a basis of one pound of sugar to each four quarts of finished fruit or juices. No sugar will be allowed for canning vegetables. For jellies, preserves and such, applicants can get not more than one pound of sugar for each member of the family and if this has already been allotted, no more will be granted.

Labor Day isn't very far off and this year it will mean more than it ever has meant in the past because all of us are working to win the war and doing a job of it, too. There is another respect in which Labor Day will differ from similar days in the past: It will strike a distinctly feminine note and this doesn't mean merely that the good ladies of the Auxiliary will make the sandwiches, either.

It means that women are playing an increasing part in the production upon which we depend for victory.

Here is the way it is: There are 13,000,000 employed women in the USA—600,000 more than there were last January—and 1,150,000 of these are working in war industry. By the end of next year, total civilian employment is expected to reach $3,000,000 and of these 12,000,000 will be women. In other words, we must add between 4,000,000 and 6,000,000 women to the roster of workers if we are to reach the estimated peak figure for 1943 employment.

Plans for using the current $3,500,000 appropriation for nursing education which is administered by the U. S. Public Health Service, include new training centers to be established in strategic areas in connection with universities. Federal aid last fiscal year enabled 240 schools to increase their enrollment by nearly 5,500 students.

Public Health Service, include new training centers to be established in strategic areas in connection with universities. Federal aid last fiscal year enabled 240 schools to increase their enrollment by nearly 5,500 students.

What's going to become of the old school bus when its tires wear out? The ODT will use as its rationing "yardstick" the plan of the National Council of Chief State School Officers. The plan suggests no transportation for children living within two miles of the school, except in cases of physical handicap or especially hazardous conditions. School bus routes should not duplicate public carrier routes. Use of buses for trips to music contests and athletic contests is not available. Reduction of the number of stops and permission to carry standing loads are advised.

More sole leather has been available for the repair of civilians' shoes.

The tube-for-tube exchange over toilet goods counters now is critical of 40 tons a month of critical metal.

Distribution factors involved in the wholesale and retail merchandising of the nation's 86 most important "cost of living" food commodities will be surveyed in a sample poll of grocer operations to be taken in 86 cities.

Compliance with all applicable price regulations is required by licenses granted by OPA to wholesale and retailers selling commodities of services for which the OPA has established ceilings. A new amendment to the General Maximum Price Regulation expressly deals with this.

Operators of hotels and rooming houses filing petitions for adjustment in maximum rents are required to give notice to tenants within 24 hours of filing the petitions.

The fruit industry has been assured that sufficient cold storage space will be available for the 1942 crop provided the proper use is made of facilities.

A special OPA check on price-posting compliance of 126 retail stores in downtown Cleveland has disclosed tremendous improvement among the stores checked since a June investigation. More than 92 per cent now are posting—perfectly or imperfectly—as compared with only 64 per cent in June.

World War II has brought a high increase in savings with which Americans have bought war bonds and stamps and paid taxes. Although income rose more than 7 per cent between 1941 and the first quarter of 1942, Secretary of Labor Perkins reports, average expenditures for current consumption rose less than 2 per cent. At the same time, living costs went up almost 8 per cent. Savings have been about 70 per cent higher in 1942 than they were in 1941. Families whose incomes did not change saved half as much again as they saved in an average quarter in 1942. Those whose incomes increased substantially, saved 57 per cent of their increases.

In order to prevent a sudden, sharp advance in retail lamb prices, Price Administrator Henderson has placed a 90-day temporary ceiling on lamb at the wholesale and retail levels. The ceiling is the highest price charged by each seller to purchasers of the same class, during the period July 27 to 31, 1942.

Merchants and others selling beverages in paper cups or paper containers have been warned by OPA to discontinue the recent practice of charging consumers a separate price for these cups if no charge was made for them during March. The OPA had received many complaints about soda fountains and lunchrooms charging an extra cent for the cup in addition to the price for the drink.

The OPA has placed a ceiling on sales at wholesale of fluid milk and cream in bottles or paper containers at the distributors' highest March 1942 sales level.

Pointing to acute shortages of physics and mathematics teachers, the War Manpower Commission has urged present and prospective teachers to enroll in tuition-free, short-term teaching courses set up in 200 colleges under the war program of the U. S. Office of Education.

Home-owners who want to keep their heating plants operating efficiently next winter are advised to take steps at once to care for the stove pipes which were used last season.

Quicksand Harvest Festival Cancelled

Announcement that no harvest festival will be held at the Robinson Agricultural Experiment Substation at Quicksand, Breathitt county, is made by Dean Thomas P. Cooper of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics at Lexington. War, floods and difficulties of travel made it advisable to discontinue the festival for the time being. It will be renewed as soon as possible, Dean Cooper said.

The festival has been an annual event for all Eastern Kentucky for 18 years. Held the last week in September, it celebrated the season's harvest, and attracted exhibits and attendance from most of the eastern counties of the state. Thirty-one counties were represented last year.

The exhibits were always of high quality and included grains, hays, tobacco, potatoes, fruits, livestock, canned and baked foods, home furnishings, handcraft, and the work of 4-H clubs, community centers, schools, health departments and the forestry service.

Ballad singing and other music, public speaking, debates, folk games and 4-H club contests were other features of the two-day festival.

August 15 is the date of the annual fall field day at the Robinson Experiment Substation. Visitors will see hybrid corn, hay crops, peaches, peaches and apples, the dairy herd and the poultry. Notable progress has been made in pasture improvement, the growing of hay crops and conservation of the soil.

Our fighting men are doing their share. Here at home the least we can do is put 10% of our income in War Bonds for our share in America.

WAYLAND HOT-SHOTS By R. H. Wayland don't seem like the same place for the past month. We are working five days a week and producing more coal than has been produced in the past two years. Even the Scooters have quit making their trips to Pikeville. 'Honking Tomkin' on my side 'is because that our 'litter bugs have all gone to the army or to David. Anyway, something went wrong when Pete Jay Lyons and Ted Reaser left. I can't blame Bob Williams for knowing back to Finking Center. If there had been as much mud around my house as there was around his, I would have moved, too! Tracy Clifton has to be off every Friday to do the weekly wash. Arthur Haywood has straightened up and quit dropping nickies in the heating stove at the Fountain. They say he goes to Sunday School every Sunday. We have a man here in Wayland known as the man with a thousand faces. He's quit searching and gone on hand loading section gang work. If he slips on that long line he'll have to drink muddy water before he will make a shadow. I notice some of the soldier boys letters in THE TIMES, I sure do enjoy reading them - hope that the few lines they read up the old Hot Shots, they will enjoy, if they don't, I will go to their home town and stir up something for them. Anything I can do to help Uncle Sam's boys, I sure will do it!

Respectfully submitted, MRS. RICHARD SPURLOCK, City Treasurer

See How Hill Farm Is Being Improved

Farmers in Johnson county recently took it off to see and hear how Fritz McKenzie in Cuba community a building up a 90-acre farm, mostly hill land. They saw fields of orchard grass and alfalfa and alfalfa that had turned off the good hay crop and was ready to cut again. A herd of cattle is being improved through the use of a registered bull. A part owner of a small trailer threshing machine, Mr. McKenzie is interested in saving orchard grass and other seeds. On his farm is a demonstration of several tobacco varieties, including root-rot resistant kinds. As a special contribution in the war effort, Mr. McKenzie is growing both hemp and castor beans.

Milk production in Mason county is running 15 per cent over a year ago. Many farmers are selling milk for the first time.

TO Shoot More We Must Talk Less

The daily use of long distance and local telephone service throughout the "war busy" Southeast is mounting in such increasing volume that telephone lines and central offices are becoming seriously congested with the burden of calls. We cannot relieve the congestion by adding to our facilities because the materials needed are now being used in the manufacture of weapons of war in four minutes enough copper to make a mile and a half of telephone wire, so in order to keep present telephone facilities available for vital war calls we must all talk less.

With your help, which we are confident you will voluntarily give, we can keep long distance and local telephone lines clear for the urgent messages of war agencies and industries engaged in war work.

How You Can Help

- Long Distance Calls: Make only the most necessary long distance calls. Be brief. Place your calls before 9 a. m. between noon and 2 p. m. and 7 p. m. or after 9 p. m. Stay near your telephone after you have placed your call. Plan what you want to say and to avoid the necessity for another call. Whenever possible, call by number. Local Calls: Use your telephone sparingly—avoid unnecessary calls. Be sure to replace your receiver on the hook. Look up numbers you are not sure of and help avoid the calling of wrong numbers. Make your conversations brief. Teach your children good telephone habits.

Higher Prices for Eggs are Foreseen

Higher egg prices are in prospect for the remainder of 1942, according to a statement issued by the Department of Markets and Rural Finance of the College of Agriculture and Home Economics at Lexington. The quantity of fresh eggs is expected to decline as usual as the season advances. Stocks of eggs are relatively large but great consumer purchasing power and government purchases of shell and dried eggs are expected to be sufficient to create normally advancing prices for the season.

The government egg buying program includes the purchase of shell eggs for domestic use and the purchase of dried eggs under contract for export purposes. Contract prices on dried eggs are scheduled to advance at the rate of 1 1/2 cents per pound each succeeding two-week period from June to December. The announced government buying price for dried whole eggs at New York range from 33 cents in May to $1.16 per pound the last two weeks in November.

The influence of government purchases should make prices advance several cents over the season's low. In parts of Kentucky where eggs are most scarce, an advance of 10 cents or more may reasonably be expected between the summer low and winter peak prices. Reports received at the experiment station indicate that that there has already been a sharp advance in prices in some parts of the state.

No occasion has arisen for the application of price ceilings to eggs and poultry. These products were not included in the general price ceiling orders of the OPA issued in April. Prices also will have to rise considerably above present levels before there can be ceiling prices imposed under the provisions of the Emergency Price Control Act of 1942.

This Is the Army!

When one of the boys gave his regimental pin to a girl she demanded to know what the motto "Volens et Potens" meant. He explained: "Willing and able!" She returned it pronto. "The 33rd Armored Regiment at Camp Poik call their tanks 'Hitler Hearse'." The Yank of 1942 isn't called a doughboy. "He's 'Red Legs'." There's a 50-Year-Old Club at Camp Roberts. The men in it are over 50—military leaders since Pearl Harbor—going in as buck privates, although many were former officers and non-coms.

Soldiers purchase lots of finger-nail polish—but not for their nails. It helps their buttons shiny and is the perfect remedy for chigger bites. At the Indo Desert training center the lads are often rationed only one gallon of water daily for all purposes, including drinking, washing, bathing. To condition them for the real thing.

Contrary to popular legend, it is against Army regulations to give a soldier K. P. at a punishment. At Camp Berkeley the chap who instructs in the art of Jiu-Jitsu is an ex-Mormon, and the Japanese. In the Army ranks are known as Snow-whites. Soldiers insist that uniforms come in only two sizes—too large and too small.

Personal checks cannot be cashed in the Army without the commanding officer's okay. When Paul, the son of the late financier, Andrew Mellon, was in the Army, he had Riley to get approval for a $100 check, the c. o. said: "This is a pretty big check for a private to write. How do I know it is good?" "It oughta be," said Paul, "I own the controlling interest in the bank."

The Indians have supplied more volunteers to the Army than any other racial group. When they first learned of selective service they came to register with their own weapons. The average soldier drinks four cups of coffee a day. G. I. soldiers are called "The Fighting Yanks" by the Japanese. The U. S. Army Division the Antlers. Because they are the answers to Hitler's Panzers. A Jeep is also a nickname for a rookie.

Field Marshal Herman Goerring's kid is Werner George Goerring of the U. S. Army. Carl's wife, he says, to drop a bomb on his relative. In our Army a private can prefer charges against a sergeant, and if a corporal sees a captain conducting himself in a manner "unbecoming an officer and gentleman" he can have him put in the guard house. The name for women underwear is "superman drawers."

When a private at Randolph Field comes to a non-com with a complaint he is handed a mourning-bordered card which says: "Your trials and tribulations have broken my heart. They are unique. I have never heard of anything like them before. As proof of my deepest sympathy, I give you this card which entitles you to one hour of condolence."

Fort Riley's newspaper, The Guidon, has an advice-to-the-lovelorn column. "Betty Lou" signs it. Betty Lou is the norm plume for a pair of privates. For every fighting man in the Army there must be five other soldiers to feed, clothe and supply him. Unless a rookie is smart, he can be trapped into volunteering for unpopular chores. The big gig in the Army concerns the sgt. who approached a bunch of men at play and asked them if any were good at shorthand. A dozen newcomers, and getting for soft snaps, eagerly stepped forward. "Fine," said the sergeant, "report to the kitchen, we're short of K.P.s!" The phone number of the Negro Enlisted Men's Service Club at Camp Bowie is, oddly enough—711.

Army men always litter derisively when in the movies a feisty says: "Halt! Who Goes There?" The correct challenge is: "Halt! Who There?" A letter from a girl is called "a sugar report." There's no favoritism in the Army five. Even chaplains must undergo five weeks of training at Fort Benjamin Harrison, Indiana.

Soldiers do not rate preferred treatment over civilians. They cannot buy shaving cream or toothpaste at their post exchanges without turning in a used tube. At Camp Davis the mimeographed directive given to men in the 96th Coast Artillery (for handling of the wire cable which on army trucks) warns that the apparatus is "as temperamental as Greta Garbo, and treating it carelessly is like sinking Lane Turner to scrub the kitchen floor." The men treat it with great affection and care.

An Important Wartime Statement TO OUR CUSTOMERS:

ELECTRICITY is a vital element in war production... Your Electric Company is proud of the fact that we have met all demands for electric service—we have done and will continue to do everything in our power to ensure that you will have sufficient power to keep your production lines humming twenty-four hours a day for the duration. In order to do this, we shall have to utilize every available man and woman in our employ and to use all of our equipment, including automotive equipment in the most efficient manner. Rubbers is one of the most critical of all materials, and because we will be unable to secure the replacements for a large portion of our cars and trucks we must of a necessity ASK YOU TO HELP US TO SCHEDULE NECESSARY SERVICE CALLS IN ORDER TO CONSERVE PERSONNEL AND EQUIPMENT—TIRES, CARS AND GASOLINE.

HOW YOU CAN HELP US!

If you plan on moving to a new location Be sure and check on the existing electrical facilities at the new location to see whether they are adequate for your requirements. If they are inadequate, it may be impossible under Governmental restrictions, due to acute shortages of copper and other critical materials for you or this company to make changes. We shall be glad to advise you concerning problems of this kind.

Connecting and disconnecting of your electrical service If you desire service connected or disconnected, please give us as much advance notice as you can—one or two days, under present conditions, if possible. We will greatly appreciate your cooperation in this respect. It will also be helpful if you will ask our representatives are able to enter your premises on their first trip, thus eliminating unnecessary call-backs.

Customer Service Calls We will appreciate your being absolutely sure of your need for one of our service men before calling. Please be patient after you have called and been with us if we are not quite as prompt as we have been in the past. We will endeavor to give you good service and will do so in as far as possible, but it may take longer than in normal times as all service calls must be routed in order to save time, trucks, and tires. Your patience will be most helpful.

If you are without light or some appliance does not work The trouble may be in your own home. A blown fuse, caused by some defective appliance or lamp cord, can be replaced easily by you. Carry a supply of fuse plugs so that you will not be inconvenienced. Pull the main switch, locate the blown fuse, and replace it with one of like size. Have defective appliances or lamp cords repaired by your electrical dealer.

WAR CURTAINS POWER LINES

Scarcity of Critical War Materials Enforces Restrictions

Due to the very acute shortage of copper and other critical materials, especially metals, the War Production Board in Washington has found it necessary to still further curtail the extending of and adding to the distribution lines of the utilities of the country. This tightening of the use of the critical materials required for war production purposes was brought out by the War Production Board's recent revisions and amendments to Preference Rating Order #46, under which utilities of the country have been operating since several months before the declaration of war. This was brought out in an interview with R. E. Doyle, Jr., local manager of the Kentucky and West Virginia Power Company.

The general effect of the new restrictions is to deny the electric utilities the privilege of making any line extensions or making any additions to existing line facilities for any consumers or establishments which are not directly a part of the war production program of the country. Although leaving the way open for possible approval by local Federal Housing Authority and War Production Board agencies for line extensions or additions to existing lines are prohibited unless the building or dwelling was completely or adequately wired for the service to be rendered, or unless, in case of new construction, the foundations for the new buildings or dwellings were completed and ready for superstructure erection, as of July 1, 1942.

These restrictions are not arbitrary rulings on the part of either the Federal or the War Production Board but instead, are absolutely necessary to conserve the nation's supply of copper and other critical materials for war production purposes.

sure beautiful over here, it's more like a pie in than real," he states. He says that the people are very nice and certainly treat the Americans fine. He is allowed to visit nearby towns and villages over the week-end and speaks very highly of the "Land O' Erin."

The following new inductees from Floyd county have been sent forward from the reception center at Fort Thomas and assigned to the camp: James L. Mackey, Scott and Shannon Turner, both of Garrett, sent to Medical RTC, Camp Pickett, Va.

Sam Crider, Edgar, and Fred Hays, district No. 1 assigned to Signal RTC, Camp Crowder, Mo. Patrick Adams, Harry to Anti-Aircraft RTC, Fort Bustin, Va. William T. Hill, West Prestonsburg, assigned to 80th Division, Camp Forrest, Tenn.

An announcement from Fort Thomas states that two brothers of a Prestonsburg family have arrived here for assignments to camps.

Mr. Doyle stated that these new restrictions affected electric service to not only new buildings and dwellings, but also to existing dwellings where existing or newly purchased electrical equipment was being added. Mr. Doyle stressed the fact that in order to avoid possible misunderstandings it is suggested that the electric company be consulted before any major electric appliances, such as ranges or water heaters, are purchased and before any customers with such major appliances move into their home. He further stated that he hoped that everyone would take an understanding viewpoint of the matter and realize that

JOBLESS FUND REACHES HIGH

Kentucky Reserves Stand Ready for Stampede of Withdrawals

Frankfort, Ky., Aug. 13 (Sp.)—There are sufficient funds in Kentucky's jobless insurance account on deposit with the federal treasury in Washington to withstand the impact of five depression years such as 1931 or 1932 without a cent at its highest annual disbursement rate since unemployment benefits became payable January 1, 1939, it was estimated today by Richard Cella, Supervisor of Research, Statistics and Planning for the Kentucky Unemployment Compensation Commission.

Cella estimated that if the Kentucky Unemployment Compensation Commission Law had been in operation in 1931, generally considered as the worst of the depression years, approximately $7,528,000 would have been paid out to eligible unemployed workers. The greatest amount actually disbursed during any one year was $4,888,619, which was paid to claimants in 1939.

The fund now stands at approximately $50,000,000 but because employees no longer contribute and many employers have been granted reduced rates or qualified exemptions, the rise in the fund will not be as great as in the past. Cella said, "Liberation of the benefits provisions of the law as amended will also tend to maintain the size of the fund although receipts will still be greatly in excess of present benefits payments under existing employment conditions.

"While the favorable condition of the state's unemployment reserve fund is reassuring," Cella declared, "there are other factors which must be taken into consideration in appraising the ability of the fund to withstand any prolonged post-war depression. One of the most important of these is the fact that there are now more than 500,000 workers covered by the law as compared with only 380,000 in 1939. This means that there are thousands of individuals now employed in war work who were not previously engaged in covered employment and who, in all probability, will become jobless when the war is over. These workers are accumulating benefit credits and unless they are absorbed in civilian industries at the conclusion of the war will constitute a heavy drain upon the fund at that time."

THE GARDEN

By JOHN S. GARDNER Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics

LATE GREENS Late greens sowing time starts August 1 and ends with frost. During that interval, too, many rows of summer vegetables mature, and cabbage and potatoes are ready for use. So, an excellent plan would be to clean up as the vegetables finish, and sow these crops to greens. These green crops should be fertilized, but they could be used as green feed for the poultry, and, in some cases, as a winter cover crop. The ground should be re-fertilized, preferably with poultry manure, and the seed bed should be made fine and moderately deep. The seed may be sown in a mixture, or each green by itself. It may be broadcast, but better to control the pests that almost always come in drifts. An ounce soon 300 square feet broadcast, or a drill 200 feet long. The greens fall into two groups as they mature. Winkler weather kills Seven Top and Siberian kale only to the ground and those two make early greens in the spring to follow. Scotch Curd kale, the "blue" sort, is not winter-hardy and should be started early enough to insure its maturing before heavy frost. In normal season, it needs 12 weeks.

The other greens are Tendergreen, sometimes called "mustard-spinach," Southern Curd mustard, and "amish kale," whose seed catalogue name is Dwarf Essex rape. The pests are the flea beetle and the cabbage louse, fleasbeets sometimes attack as soon as the first heart-shaped leaves appear. These, called the "seed leaves," support the seedlings until the "rough" leaves start coming; without them the rough leaves could come. Thus, if these seed leaves are mutilated to any great extent, the planting must proceed only slowly, and may in fact quite "melt away." Botenone is a control; so is calcium arsenate dust or lead arsenate spray. Usually, one application is enough, but it must be made at the first sign or injury, the familiar riddling with small holes. For the louse, usually coming later, tobacco spray, or rotenone in dust or spray, is effective, but so applied that the loe themselves are hit.
