NUMBER 18

SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

AUGUST 27, 1942

PATRIOTIC NOMENCLATURE

Floyd county's papas and mamas are very patriotic. They're not only sending the older boys to fight; they've named 28 boys, born since Jan. 1--yep, you guessed it--Douglas MacArthur.

PATRIOTIC INVESTMENTS

And, speaking of patriotism, seven-year-old Billy Joe Stephens has already bought two $25 War Bonds with allowance money he's home to him by his dad, Corporal Joe Stephens of the 87th Bomber Squadron. The lad, a grandson of the Rev. Alex Stephens, plans to buy a Bond a month.

STILL HOPEFUL

With those with this newspaper has been a friend to would-remember it as faithfully when they have job-printing to do as those who have a grudge against us remember to send their work elsewhere.

BROTHERS STICK TOGETHER

It is true that there in One who sticks closer than a brother, but this is a story of how close brothers can stick.

REDEEMED ESCRUIT

When Enott county's new crop of selectees line up for the first time at the county courthouse, they're greeted by a loud "yoo-hoo" over there, then to some eyes a "pop-pop".

Approximately 35 per cent of Floyd county's August quota of selectees were declared unfit for military service by the army examining board at Huntington, W. Va., according to unofficial figures received here.

A .22 calibre rifle bullet said to have been fired by Archie Tackett, Brainerd, entered McKenzie's left side, perforated his intestines four times and was removed from the right side at the Prestonsburg General hospital.

Both shootings took place Saturday night.

Mine Section Foreman, First Floyd Countian To Pass Officer Test

Willie J. Rainey, section foreman for the Inland Steel Corporation at Wheelwright for several years, with only two years of high school to his credit, became the first Floyd county man to pass the rigid mental and physical requirements of the U. S. Army VOC examination for officers training. He took the examination at Ft. Thomas and received the final check at Fort Hayes a few days ago.

Rainey, 32, who is married but has no children, came to draft Board No. 45 headquarters to volunteer for the army, believing he would soon be drafted, said Robert Wallace, clerk of the board, but Wallace, sitting him up as likely timber for an officer, suggested that he take the examination.

Officer candidate Rainey left Monday morning to enter a period of three months basic training, preparatory to his assignment to an officer's school specializing in any branch of the service he might choose. Upon his graduation, he will receive the rank of second lieutenant.

JUNK RALLY PLANS LAID

Wheelwright To Supply 50 Tons; 20 Rallies Slated Saturday

Preparations for Junk Rallies Saturday this week, in 20 Floyd county towns were considered complete Tuesday.

Success of county scrap collections for the day was assured as two million tons promised heavy contributions to the junk pile.

Names of local committee leaders, most of whom have pledged their full co-operation during the one-day drive, follow.

Moses Johnson, Garrett; Gorman Collins, Lacey; Charles Moore, McDowell; Bill Hall, Logan; E. R. Price, Wheelwright; Add Thayer, Whitesburg; Frank J. Hall, Westbury; Rev. Will H. Horn, Axton; Emery Hall, Fed; Earl Castle, Estill; J. S. Hampton, Old; Ambrose Masterson, Manton; Delman Howard, Betsy Layne; Claybourne Bailey, Justell; Chas. Horn, Harold; Mrs. S. B. Begley, Middlesboro; David D. Virgil Smith, Wayland; W. I. Myers, Drift; Monroe Wicker, Wayland.

With the flow of scrap steel from Kentucky, Ohio and West Virginia, all automobile dealers, second-hand car dealers, finance and insurance companies were warned that all junk cars must be sold to wreckers at a reasonable price or be requisitioned.

A letter sent out by A. M. Robinson, county engineer, urged the chiefs of the Automobile Salvage Association to be on hand to receive the cars.

The price of higher education is costly, however, and although Sgt. Layne is naturally very proud of his accomplishments, it required a lot of study.

During the past 23 months the Craig non-com has averaged three hours of study every day. From the beginning of October 1, 1940, until June 7, 1942, Sgt. Layne completed and received diplomas for 13 distinct courses.

Difficulties in teacher-supply are being faced mainly, Mr. Hall said, in sections where schools are isolated. There are some teachers available, it was said, but they hesitate to leave home to teach.

A native of Johnson county, Mr. Estep had been employed in this county by the gas company for almost 15 years and had many friends in this section. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Goldie Carroll Estep, three sons and three daughters: Mrs. Edna Mae Eastmore, Md.; Cline Estep, in U. S. army; Walter, Junior, Jane and Betty Jo Estep, all at home.

At Craig Field, Ala., army air force advanced flying school, they call Sgt. Otis L. Layne, of Betsy Layne, "M. C."

C. stands for Master of Certificates, and the title honors the Floyd countian for a lifetime of study.

Beginning with his grade-school diploma secured when he was but 13 years old, the Craig non-com has been collecting diplomas ever since, until at the present time he has accumulated certificates of completion to his credit to cover an area 2,950 inches square. He has taken and completed every conceivable kind of course from welding to advanced radio engineering.

MURDER CASE UNSOLVED

Allen Joins in Probe Of Gearheart Murder At 'The Blue Moon'

Returning early Wednesday after co-operating with state and Knott county authorities in a two day investigation the week into the slaying of Deputy Sheriff Delas Gearheart, 34, at the Blue Moon road house on the Hindman-Lacey road last Wednesday night, Commonwealth's Attorney John Allen said the case remains as much a puzzle as ever.

The deputy was instantly killed, around 10 o'clock, in front of the Blue Moon, by a charge of buckshot which entered his face and chest, Mrs. T. M. Mann, who with her husband operates the roadhouse, found the body a matter of seconds after the shot was fired but told authorities she saw nobody in the vicinity of the slaying scene, when she called townshits to where Gearheart lay.

Den D. Fairchild, of Allen, told of spending the night there without knowing murder had been committed. He was not in any way suspected of a part in the crime, the Commonwealth's Attorney said.

The investigation continues, with a member of the state highway patrol assisting Lewis Fralley, of Prestonsburg, and Lewis Fralley, of Prestonsburg, who is a son of Green Gearheart, of Knott county, 56 was unmarried, and at one time at Leece's Barber Shop, in this county.

LIGHT DOCKET FOR COMING COURT TERM

Ten of 141 Cases Listed Are for Murder; Trial Delays Are Expected

The September Floyd circuit court criminal docket of 141 cases is the lightest in years, officials said here this week.

Although four of the 10 murder cases docketed are "not before the court," four or five persons face grand jury indictment in slayings which have occurred since the last criminal court term.

With six shootings and wounding cases, one shooting at without wounding case and four charges of reckless use of a deadly weapon slated for trial, there are only eight cases docketed for carrying a concealed deadly weapon. A number of these are the result of indictments returned by the grand jury.

The Sheriff's office here indicated that the grand jury will be called both for trials and for the grand jury as a result of many witnesses now either being in the armed forces or at distant work.

Six Floyd county officers, or former officers, are named in 11 indictments returned at the last grand jury and are slated for trial at the September term.

The complete docket will be published in THE TIMES next week.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

TWO EXAMPLES OF SACRIFICE

IT OCCURS TO ME THAT THE FOLLOWING might be of interest to all persons interested in the war effort. Among the large number of fine young men from the two Beavers, including such ones as Claude May, sent to Huntington on Monday, Aug. 24, there were members of the Beavers who, in my judgment, deserve special mention. I personally talked to Jesse James Napier of Wheelwright, one of the number. Mr. Napier is a veteran of the late World War. He informed me that his only two sons, James H. Napier and Carl V. Napier, while in high school volunteered and that one is in the army and the other in the navy. Mr. Napier stated that, after giving both of his five boys to the service, he was not satisfied and that he claimed no exemptions, and, using his own words, "I just wanted to get in, and what my boys will get them here!"

The other instance to which I refer is that of the sons of Joe Salisbury, deceased, and Bessie Osborne Salisbury. His widow, now aged 72, living alone at Printer, Ky. The three eldest sons, Lackey, Dave and George, were overseas during the World War, and Lackey will be remembered as the efficient office deputy sheriff who served for the past four years. The youngest of the family, Edward, Walk and Frank, are now in the service, Edward and Walk going to Huntington, and Frank being now stationed at Jefferson Barracks, Mo. It was informed that "Aunt" Rebecca, as she is called, sits in her rocking chair at home alone and continually prays for "The Dawn of Peace" and the safe return of her boys, and that she says her prayers during the late World War, regardless of Argentine Forests, Ypres, St. Mihiel or Flanders Fields, were answered by the fact that her three youngest will return home.

It occurs to me that right here in Floyd county, with sacrifices such as those made by the Salisburys, are being re-made. How little and inconsequential are the efforts of us in the war effort when compared to instances such as these.

EDWARD L. ALLEN

FLOYD GETS CREDIT

IN THE ISSUE OF THE TIMES dated August 6 mention was made of a purchase of $10,215 of war bonds by the county. This was through a source outside the county. The Inland Steel Company has been named an issuing agent by the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland for the purpose of selling bonds to its employees, and the bonds were purchased for sale to our employees as well as to the county.

STEEL-TOP AUTOMOBILES

The report is to show the March calling prices of each such piece of business and a full description of services rendered. The Board asked that all War Rationing cards be taken to men later included in the armed services be turned in at once at the Rationing Board office here.

MONEY TALKS

BY FREDERICK W. STAMM

Economist and Director of Adult Education University of Louisville

RECENT DEPARTMENT OF AGRICULTURE SURVEY

showed that American farm families are relatively better off than they have been for some time. The survey pointed out that the net income of farm families averaged 48 per cent higher during 1941 and the first three months of 1942 than in the comparable period of 1935-1936. If we were to extend the figures to cover the first six months of 1942, the increase would be even greater.

TOP EXAMPLE, THE LOUACKE MARKET

is just opening up, and prices are good. Frank O. Black, Federal Agricultural Statistician, recently stated that in South Carolina, if current tobacco prices are maintained throughout the remainder of the selling season, the farmers would receive upwards of $35,000,000 for their crop, or some $13,000,000 more than in the previous year. The price of tobacco has gone up 44 per cent since 1939. Farm income is on the rise and not likely to be slowed down soon.

But there is another side to the picture for the farmer, living costs have gone up 33 per cent during the same period. When he goes to the store, he finds he can't buy as much with his dollar as he could several years ago. Even so, he can't complain, for his living costs have gone up 44 per cent on the average while his living costs have gone up 33 per cent. His has gained on the average, 13 per cent.

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

By GORDON WILSON, Ph.D. Western Kentucky Teachers' College Bowling Green, Ky.

BROKEN POTTERY

MODERN children have so many playthings that they must get pretty tired of them. Almost every year brings some fad that surrounds most children with dozens of new contraptions, many of them misbranded by the makers. All this is good; I am not sure that the children all they want and can enjoy. But somehow I cannot help remembering the days when it took a lively imagination on the part of children to play with the toys they had. And nothing brings finer memories than bits of broken pottery, such as those we played with in the last century.

As ancient as were the houses we lived in, there were predecessors that had vanished before our time, leaving a few bricks at the site of the old chimneys and kitchen middens, as archeologists would call them, from the house itself. A few broken plates, bones, rusty iron, and broken pieces of glass and other dishes could be found in many a place where a house had stood. We children loved to visit these places after the winter rains had washed the dirt off some more of our treasures. Little chips of old blue plates no bigger than my thumb were collected and blently treasured. By accident one of our plates to explore was not only the white man had come to the purchase. Thus we picked up arrow heads and chips of flint among the particles of blue china. Everything seemed equally old, as if the pioneers and the Indians had lived back in the days of Abraham, Isaac, and Jacob.

These ancient dishes were not merely to look at; they formed the basis for playing house. Vards that one later may be good enough, but the real vards are those that one imagines that he tastes. Kauls says that heard melodies are sweet, but those unheard are sweeter." When we played house we "played like" we were eating things out of these little scraps of pottery, and the taste was of nectar and ambrosia or whatever gods eat. There were things that we tasted but seldom in our remote nook; how easy it was to imagine foods such as vanilla have on their label. This old fragments might hold ice cream, this other one oranges, and still this old fragments might hold the same as another candy of many a fancy kind. It must have been hard on the family larder after a day of play such as this, for our childish appetites, good enough at any time, had had a workout while we "played like" eating the things we most wanted. After such a feast, of course, bread and meat seemed coarse and tasteless, but served to fill an aching void.

We did not know it, but our probing around in old ashes was a species of archaeology, related to Howard Carter's unearthing of King Tutankhamen. We reconstructed the remote past from a few things that had escaped destruction when the pioneer cabin burned down or was not only in some antique collection, I fall into another chapter in the imagined life of the people who lived before my time and left me one a few broken bits of pottery to remind me that they had their three square meals a day and lived and died just like other folks.

Distribution of Testaments, candy, cigarettes, and chewing gum to soldiers has been a part of the work of the committee. Floyd Post American Legion announced this week that, in view of the fact that many soldiers return home for a 14 day furlough before entering the army, the booklet "Patriotism" will not be distributed until they leave for the Fort Thomas induction center.

distributing price control information to 25,000,000 homes. Two hundred railroad cars every 24 hours carry rubber collected in the recent salvage drive to reclaiming plants. This represents 4,000 a day. The drive collected 454,156 tons.

The enterprise of the Federal Trade Commission in proposing to control textile labeling according to degree and kind of colorfastness has been welcomed by the OPA as "an important advance in the battle we are waging to keep down the cost of living."

The Conservation Division has announced plans for organizing a Junior Salvage Corps which should play a big part in the war effort. The corps will begin operations Oct. 1, when all schools have opened.

Acting to halt outflow of a dwindling inventory of 1942 Ford, Chevrolet and Plymouth four-door, hard-topped sedans until Army and Navy requirements have been filled, OPA has frozen until Oct. 31 all sales of civilians of cars of that description that have been driven less than 1,000 miles.

Allocation and other authority of the WPB has been delegated to the Commodity Credit Corp. in respect to vegetable oil seeds and oil seed products. This year's crop of cotton seed, flaxseed, peanuts and soy beans is expected to be a bumper one.

For the first time in the history of Fire Prevention Week, the federal government will take an active part in that annual safety observance scheduled for the week of Oct. 4-10.

Residential rents in 38 more depressed rental areas will be cut back and brought under federal regulation on Sept. 1. This order, the fourth in OPA's fight to control rents against inflation, brings the coverage to one third of the nation. Over 8,500,000 persons live in the latest area to get rent control.

Memorials of America's past victories war can help win the present one. Salvage experts are appealing to the government to rush in old cannon balls, cannon and heavy howitzers of 1918. The American Legion has assumed the special responsibility of discussing the idea with local officials.

Stamp No. 8 in your sugar rationing book, which became valid Aug. 23, will get you five pounds of sugar—but that sugar must last you for 10 weeks. The allowance is in no way changed, but the dealers are unable to pass packaging paper and labor. Your five pounds must last until Oct. 31.

One-armed men are becoming welders, one-legged men work as drill press operators, deformed persons as sheet metal workers, midgets as aircraft riveters and deaf mutes as machinists—all for the sake of defense.

The nation's local transport systems face the heaviest load in their history by mid-summer, the OPA warns. Already loads are 40 per cent greater than a year ago.

SHIKE'S POKES

(The views expressed herein are those of the writer and not necessarily those of this newspaper—Editor.)

Well, the first game of the Prestonsburg Drift gangster's history—a grand ball game played on a rather damp field. Drift won 3-0. Big Ray Patton and Kit Stumbo were the opposing pitchers.

The most useless job I saw at the game was W. C. Rimmer coaching at 3rd. Only one runner got around that far for Prestonsburg.

Feature of the game was umpire George Beicher and Drift center-fielder Ted Stumbo challenging each other to a four-round bout, no holds barred. They were reminded to save their fighting for the Japs.

"Slim" Radliff just came along for the ride. I thought "Squire Stumbo" stolidly had to be trying to steal something but George said he NEVER—and, as usual, GEORGE WON. All I got out of it was the fun of arguing.

The veteran Kit Stumbo took Purg like the Leathernecks took the balloons—one at a time. Rimmer got all crossed up and his hitters were swanging at sharp-breaking curves and "taking" the fast ones down the middle.

Something for Ripley's "Believe it or Not": Ora Curatue catching and not speaking about a whizzer—"boults."

I'm in—I'm late getting news from our boys in the armed forces. They're all of most of them, are veterans and it takes longer to get a letter. It'll be it's never dull in Ireland. "Lightning" is up there.

All I know is what I read in the papers, but it seems that this new parole law under Johnson and Frost isn't plain dandy. And there's an election next year, too.

When your sign allowances to go back on you, it's not always your glasses you ought to change—but what you put in them.

With 90 per cent of the distillers going into the manufacture of alcohol for the Government, this might be a tight time to take the pledge. There might be a shortage of sugar but not a shortage of corn and sorghum. Guess I'll put it off awhile.

"Slim" Radliff advanced Rimmer to convey his base runner's last. Sunday as most of them were torpedoes between 3rd and 2nd.

I'm going to get Chub to see Kennerly about hood that had insurance policy on his head. Had a lot of trouble until he insured his hat. Tilton see Chub lost two in one night.

For a few hours last week, we were as badly fooled as the Germans—we sure thought it was the "Second Front."

The headlines said that Major Roosevelt led the raid on Makin Island. Oh yes, in my book, BOB is the major Roosevelt, and I'll bet the Republicans agree with me.

I see where the Courier-Journal editorially takes a few digs at Jack May, our Congressman—and I fell they return the compliment. I don't believe OPA could beat Tom Hawkins in this district. The Courier-Journal should tend to its own business in its district. We'll take care of district 7. And what about those two isolationists, Robinson and Chapman? That Louisville outfit had better clean up their own back yard before talking about ours.

It would be better if these Left Beaver highway signs were taken down and donated to the street metal drive. The weeds are so high nobody can see the signs. Those signs are helpful when they can be seen, but what good are they hidden from view?

I guess they'll need plenty of weeds next year in the election. How much am I offered for four gallons of Jimsonweed seed?

Isbell Holds Cholera Outbreak in County Was Waterborne

That hog cholera appearing in nine Floyd county communities was largely water-borne was the belief expressed here this week by County Agent S. L. Isbell.

This theory was developed from the fact that practically every cholera outbreak in the county occurred at communities along the Big Sandy River. Carcasses of hogs are believed to have floated downstream, spreading the disease.

Fifteen cholera cases in all have been reported within the last fortnight at Auxler, Cliff, Prestonsburg, Emma, Ivel, Betsy Layne, Harford, Sparta and fork of Middle Creek and Martin.

Eight of a herd of 20 cattle owned by A. Damon, of Harold, died recently of blacking before Mr. Isbell brought the disease under control. The county agent said Mr. Damon had been buying cattle in Pike county where there have been cattle losses from blacking.

3 Arrested in Shooting

The girl and her mother, Mrs. John Ward, said they were looking for Mr. Ward when they approached the Sexton house and called to Mr. Mrs. Sexton said she fired in defense of her home, acting in the belief that somebody was attempting to break into the house.

The warrant for Ward was issued after officials were told Richard Truist had been outside the home for some time, calling for his father, prior to the arrival of Mrs. Ward and daughter. Ward claimed he was not there and knew nothing of the affair.

Tickets were issued by Deputy Sheriffs A. C. Carter and B. L. Sturgill, who arrested him shortly after the shooting, saying that he did not know if his bullet had hit a body but that if it had, he had a right to shoot, since he had been fired upon. McKenzie was said to have been one in a group into which the shot was fired.

Knowing what are the principles of vegetable storage (last week discussed) it is an easy matter to apply them. So, now will be treated sketchedly, the various types of structures in which gardens have successfully kept their winter vegetables. Mr. MacArthur was a member of the church's vesting board which signed the Rev. Ruppelt's ordination certificate. The ordination of Mr. Ruppelt took place in June at River Grove, a Chicago suburb. Following the ordination service, General MacArthur's kinsman spoke in commendation of the work performed in this section by the newly ordained minister.

"Go back to the good people of Kentucky," said Mr. MacArthur, "and tell them that their hospitality toward you is appreciated by the churches of Illinois, and that the children of today are the citizens of tomorrow who must carry on the honor and traditions of the Kentucky commonwealth. If you were a soldier I am sure my cousin would be glad to pin a distinguished service medal on you."

John B. Evans, Jr., of Hickman county threshed 328 bushels of Threine's wheat from 8 1/2 acres.

TRAVEL BULLETIN TODAY'S ROADS

Prepared By Eastern Kentucky Automobile Club

While the order to reduce speed has been welcomed by many as a good thing in our National Rubber Conservation Program, and it has been advocated that the motorists should become more familiar with the country side, and finally that traffic at slower speed will cut the accident toll.

"DON'T BE FOOLISH—this may be true, however, the same thing that happens at higher speeds can also happen at 40 mph. To the driver who has been accustomed to traveling at a high rate of speed, 40 mph seems exceedingly slow and may become monotonous. It is also true that at this speed there is a tendency for one to relax his usual vigilance. Therefore, we say: 'Greater care should be exercised at 40 than at higher speeds which keep us alert.'"
