SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

NUMBER 11

JULY 8, 1943

This Town-- That World

FOR THOSE WHO SERVE Does the Floyd field court, the Prestonburg city council, the American Legion or somebody want to do something that will meet the approval of everybody? Then do as has been done in other countries--erect in the courthouse a huge signboard and have placed thereon the name of every Floyd county member of the armed forces. Paintyville is working on an honor roll now. Floyd county's boys deserve at the very least this honor. Do this and if you hear anybody knocking it, send his name to this column. We'll reserve a special niche in the stunk department for him.

DON'T LOSE 'EM Floyd county should acquire ownership of the NYA building here, now that NYA is no more, and the machinery in that shop should never leave Floyd county. Both machinery and building could be lost to the county and will bear watching.

IN NO DANGER Do you know who Sheriff Ball and other election commission members blamed with those crooked Hartian county elections don't resign? It's because they know they're in no danger of being fired.

WEEK? If that proposed Constitutional amendment raising the ceiling on Kentucky officials' salaries is so necessary, why is it so many seek offices at the present salaries? And everyone of 'em will tell you you couldn't get better service for a million dollars a year.

AGREEED Judge Hill agrees with us that visitors to Prestonburg should be able to find a drink of water without having to invest a dime at home or place of business. And we agree with him that the city of Prestonburg and its business men owe that courtesy to the public as much as the county does.

CHANGE It's WAC now, not WAAC, since the Congress made it the Women's Army Corps. Which reminds me that this newspaper has twice said Miss Cecilia Wagoner, of Martin, is Flansky's a specialist technician, third class with the WAVES at Jacksonville, Florida.

FOR INFORMATION OF DISTANT READERS Monday, July 5, this year's postponed Independence Day, was just Monday. The miners worked with time-and-a-half overtime pay, and apparently everybody else stuck to their jobs, judging by the absence of the usual crowd here. A little plain-and-frayed button plikin' at a service station here was the only celebration noted during the day.

If you don't like this column, hate to see-apite the writer, wish some thing would happen to both--will, write your Congressman. He can't do anything about it, either.

District Kiwanis Head To Visit P'burg Club

J. Malcolm Smith, District governor of the Kentucky-Tennessee district, Kiwanis International, will visit the Prestonburg Kiwanis Club July 13. Ladies Night is being planned in honor of Gov. Smith who is paying visits to the various clubs in the district.

HOME FROM CAMP CANTON As home visiting his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Richard Ball, of Mc Connell, from Camp Canton, Colo. He has been with his parents here since last week.

ALL SCHOOLS BUT 7 BEGIN 1943 TERMS

Filling of Vacancies in Teaching Rank To Be Made Soon

All but seven of the county's 119 rural schools opened their 1943 terms Monday, and these seven will begin their terms within the next few days with the employment of twenty teachers. County Superintendent Town Hall said that he expects to fill vacancies in the teaching ranks by the end of the month. He said that the district directors will be carrying out this plan by the end of the month. He said that the district directors will be carrying out this plan by the end of the month.

No Bucket for a Drop

Although teacher appointments for these years to the armed forces or war production jobs are possible, the board of education has found Superintendent Hall said, one schoolroom necessity now needed which cannot be procured. That is the common old tin water bucket. Both wholesalers and retailers have been called upon for this item, but in vain. It's up to the teacher to find a bucket at home or elsewhere in the district. "A cooper might do a good business these days," a school superintendent remarked, "making the old wooden bucket."

To meet wartime teacher shortages, the Floyd County Board of Education has asked for a supply of buckets for use in the schools.

Air Corps Reserve For Youths of 17 Offers Education

Young men of 17 who wear the blue and silver wings of the Air Corps Reserve receive one of the finest college trainings ever offered as part of their training. Recruiting Officer Greer, of the county, said that the boys are recruited in a five-month pre-flight course in one of the country's best colleges or universities. Their studies chiefly academic, include such subjects as English, geography, modern history, physics, and civil air regulations. They also receive basic military training which includes infantry drill, physical training and other related military subjects.

Under the college preparatory pre-flight program of the army air forces, P. C. Greer said, "our young men receive college training that is second to none in equipment and in the demands of a life of fighting. The course is but part of a well-rounded and complete training that makes them the finest fliers in the world." "Youthful, capable manpower is needed to man the bomber and fighter craft that is roaring off our runways today. But that manpower must be trained to meet a cunning and ruthless enemy -- and that's the training they get."

Board of Appeals Acts in 2 Floyd Selectee Cases

Since publication of news on appeal from Local Board 45, the Board of Appeals, Ashland, has affirmed two classifications of Hicklen Rhoads, Gate City, Va., who appealed on grounds of dependency and necessary farming, and reversed the I-A classification of Paul Flem Gilliam, employee of Inland Steel Company, Wheelwright. Gilliam's appeal was made by the Inland Steel Company on grounds of essential occupation as supply clerk. Thirty-four of the 82 sent by Board 45 last week to Huntington, W. Va., for final examination and possible induction in the armed forces were rejected. Board 45's June consignment of selectees resulted in approximately 50 per cent being rejected.

AUXIER SAILOR AGAIN CITED

Second Citation Made For Bravery at Oran In Africa Invasion

Seaman First Class James Paul Connors, 19-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. O. R. Connors of Lexington, was recently awarded his second decoration for bravery while serving aboard a merchant vessel. "Young Connors" latest citation read: "While on duty at Oran, Morocco, he was heroism during the North African invasion during which the ship participated in the landing of our troops. The citation read in part: 'During the invasion the three men proved themselves able, willing and courageous in duty. While on Oran the ship was bombed by enemy aircraft and during the attack the men displayed great bravery, coolness and strict devotion to duty.'"

Cited with Connors were Gunnier's Mate Third Class Billie Homer Mullins, 28, Calvert, Ky., and Seaman First Class Quinlan Morrow, Delta, Ky.

The Auxier seaman's first decoration was for meritorious action when his ship was torpedoed without warning by an enemy submarine July 3, last year.

Mayor Arnold Assists Women To Assist With Dressings

Prestonburg Mayor E. P. Arnold last week appealed to the patriotism of the women of Prestonburg and vicinity, calling on them to assist county health workers in their efforts here.

"Floyd county," Mayor Arnold said, "is 48,000 dressings behind its quota. Other counties have met theirs. The women of neighboring counties rarely are no more patriotic than our women, but actions speak louder than words. Since army hospitals are pleading for more of these dressings, I feel that anything I or any other citizen may do or say for this work is not amiss. This is purely a volunteer service and the women can do it best. I sincerely hope they will not let the boys on the fighting front down, and as for the home front, I hope they will work so as to convince those boys that we folks at home are willing to work and sacrifice for them."

COFFMAN TO HEAD CIVILIAN DEFENSE

Bill Coffman, manager of the A. W. Cox Dept. Store, has been selected to succeed W. Claude Caudill as director of civilian defense activities locally. Mr. Coffman has had considerable experience in civilian defense work.

CHILD IS VICTIM Willie three-month-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Hamilton, of Beaver, died Sunday. Burial was made Tuesday in the family cemetery on Main Street. The coroner's report home directing. Surviving are the bereaved parents.

ALLEN HEADS MYERS DRIVE

For Floyd-Co. Votes; Donaldson, Kilgore Chairmen Named

State headquarters of Rodes K. Myers, Democratic candidate for Governor, this week announced the appointment of Commonwealth's Attorney John Allen as Floyd county campaign chairman. Myers will serve as secretary-treasurer of the Myers organization in this county.

Both Donaldson and Myers visited Floyd county last week-end and Mr. Kilgore had paid an earlier visit.

Floyd County on Cash Basis After July 13, Says Hill

"After next Tuesday Floyd county will be on a pay-as-you-go basis," County Judge E. P. Hill, Jr., declared Wednesday.

"Floating indebtedness of the county will at that time be paid and the county treasurer will be unable to pay liabilities as they are incurred," Judge Hill said.

At the same time Judge Hill was joined by once-accepted Harry Lynn, late finance officer, in an anticipated plea with county officials to hold at least the present level of the county will not be improved but Floyd county will pay off debts in such manner that further credit will not be necessary, the fiscal court is confident officials said.

Branham's Creek Man Jailed as Moonshiner

Deputy Sheriff Scott Compton and Deputy Constable Bill Hall last week made one of the few successful moonshiner raids staged in Floyd county in recent months.

They brought to jail Will Whitton who was hooked as the operator of a still found on Branham's Creek alone with 12 gallons of moonshine, whiskey and 200 gallons of mash.

Two others arrested during the raid were not named with moonshining. The officers said a fourth man is sought.

Roast Pork Without Ration Points, Fare of P'burg Woman's Kin, Shipwrecked by Japanese

An Associated Press dispatch tells how a shipwrecked crew included Lieut. B. E. Barkey, Oklahoma City, brother of Mrs. W. P. Mayo, Prestonburg, and two other crew members and a hair. "Just like they were candy," the story follows:

"San Francisco, Calif. --The unending sea of three little white flags, and memories of the delicious feast stood in sharp relief against the backdrop of volcanic war and swirling seas. Tuesday as five sailboats of their experiences after their ship had been torpedoed.

It happened late in April in the South Pacific. A Japanese submarine sent the merchant ship to the bottom with a single torpedo. All the men of the navy crew were saved; the merchant crew escaped safely.

"The boys of the gun crew landed here and are on duty April in the South Pacific. A Japanese submarine sent the merchant ship to the bottom with a single torpedo. All the men of the navy crew were saved; the merchant crew escaped safely."

"We roasted them and they were so young and tender that we even ate the bones and the hair. You just don't mind those things when you are hungry. And we didn't have to use a single ration point."

Friday Night Shift Last for 130 Youths Given Training Here

A payroll approximately $100,000 annually was lost to Prestonburg and Floyd county when the National Youth Administration died by act of Congress last week.

When the Senate finally agreed with the House that NYA should die Floyd county's last vestige of "war plant" passed.

Only 133,000,000 with which to wind up its nation-wide affairs NYA Saturday afternoon notified the plant here not to resume work Monday. The local plant's Friday night shift was its last.

"At the present time," Mrs. B. L. Sturdivant, manager of the plant, said, "the plant is a large percentage of NYA payroll."

Mr. H. H. Hester, project manager and a special office force were working up NYA affairs here this week with Westcott's end of a 100,000,000-a-year mystery.

Mr. Hester said approximately 110 boys and girls who are training at this plant for NYA Saturday afternoon notified the plant here not to resume work Monday. The local plant's Friday night shift was its last.

KICK OF COW KILLS LEWIS

Inquest Jury Holds After Betsy Layne Man Found Dead

George Lewis, 78-year-old Betsy Layne man who was found dead Sunday morning, was held by an inquest jury completed by Magistrate Dewey Roberts. He was killed by a cow which he had attempted to milk.

"It was in the head, on the head, shoulder and chest. The body was found more than an hour after he had left home to milk a young cow owned by Harry McCoo, a neighbor," it was said.

The victim was a revered Betsy Layne citizen and had numerous relatives in this county. He is survived by his wife and three sons, Thomas Ballard and Mitt, all of Betsy Layne, and one daughter, Mrs. Pearl Clark, of Wonder; two grandsons, Thomas Lewis, of Ivel, and James Lewis, Betsy Layne.

Inquest jury was convened Tuesday by the Rev. Isaac Stratton, Betsy Layne, and was composed of Harry Parsons, and buried was made in the Stanley cemetery on Mare Creek under direction of the Call Funeral Home.

LATE POTATOES
Between now and July 15 is planting time for Green Mountain potatoes and a host of other names. Indeed, those farmers who have their own stocks of the latter should consider themselves extremely fortunate and should give it the best of care, as seed potatoes are at a premium now and table stock may be next winter. A limited amount of Green Mountain may still be procured from seedmen in the larger cities where cold storage can be had.

From July 15 to August 1 (or even August 10) is planting time for Irish Cobbler, also cold-storage kept. Supplies are limited and forerunners gardeners will make the seed reservations early. The land into which late potatoes are to go should have been prepared in a special way. A sod or a cover crop should have been plowed under in late April and, whenever a crop of weeds started, they should have been cut in with a disk; then, dropping should have been done. Thus, the original soil moisture would have been held, which in the event of a dry summer, would have made quite a far crop. If rain continued plentiful, the crop would have been just that much better.

Potatoes should be fertilized "under the row," as their roots do not wander far. In the furrow, laid off five inches deep, the fertilizer ("Victory Garden" is best) should be sown at the rate of one pound to 25 feet, then mixed with the soil, but in such a manner that most of it stays in the furrow's bottom, then the seed pieces dropped, 15 to 18 inches apart. The row width should be 36 inches or thereabouts. Potatoes should not be worked deeply but just enough to discourage what weeds may come. In fact, in correctly prepared land, weeds will be few. At most, the cultivation should be of the "scratch" sort, and the soil surface should be kept level, no ridges.

Eight hundred bushels of hybrid seed corn were planted in Hancock county this spring, exceeding all other plantings of that crop.

WAYLAND HOT SHOTS
By R. H.

I never did like to have a duel with some one who is ashamed to reveal his name in a letter to the editor criticizing my column. If I do so anything, I'm not ashamed to reveal my name in anything I do or say. I have said before, and I say now, that I would prefer to take any soldier's place, regardless of where he may be, than to work in coal mines without a working contract. I'm wondering if the writer of aforesaid letter would like to take my place in the mines. I'd say, no, he would not enter the mines under any consideration. I doubt very much he'd have a victory garden and I'd guess his hands are as tender as my two-year-old baby's, if you are the kind of man or woman that I have been writing about, sitting on the stool of do-nothing and depending on someone to support your family. Let's swap up the other fellow's problem before you start to get into it. And if any of you want a job in coal mines, for God's sake join the armed forces. You might have a chance to dodge a bomb you're sitting on. The mountain rocks don't give much warning.

BUY WAR BONDS

I see where the old Brian Buck is coming in again, so I'll take again. Keep it up, Lon, and maybe we will get a little more road work done in this county. I'm living in a glass house and can't throw any rocks.

Wayland mines have resumed operation with the hiring of more foremen from West Virginia. And our old friend Jim Tufts from Prestonsburg has returned to work. I knew that Jim couldn't do without this West Virginia water.

We also have a new office worker here who thinks he's an Irvn Cobb. He sure is wacky. Joe Hicks, the sign with a thousand faces, can't hold him a light.

Poor old Arthur Haywood was sitting on the hotel porch the other day and a furrier as we call them drove up and stopped and asked Arthur where were the new rocks. Arthur dumb-like gets up out of the chair he was sitting in and tells the man, "Here, take my chair and rest up."

Production will almost double within a week or 10 days. Ted Reznor has got a job seething.

Everything went off peacefully through the Fourth. Our police force did not have to make any arrests. Doesn't seem like Wayland—nearly all the men received two pay days, the week-end.

Save Roasting Ears
By Clipping Method

By the end of June, early planted sweet corn will be coming into silk. This is the stage in which it is usually attacked by the corn earworm, but the clipping method, which was recently found feeding upon the silk and later the tip kernels of sweet corn. This insect not only causes such damage to corn but creates an atmosphere of repugnance to the consumer.

A high percentage of ears can be kept free of this pest by the simple operation of clipping with pruning shears or a sharp knife the tips of the ears. Watch the silks of the corn on the fourth day after about two-thirds of the silks have browned, clip off the end of the sheath about one-half inch from the tip of the ear. Collect all clippings in a basket or bucket and destroy the worms in them by burying or submerging in water. If worms are numerous, a reply for six days later will be worth while if the grower has time to do it. For further information, send to the Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station for leaflet entitled "How to Prevent Earworm Damage to Sweet Corn."

Feed Shortage Makes Hay Extra Important

Because of the probability of a shortage of grain feed, the Kentucky College of Agriculture and Home Economics suggests that as much hay as possible be saved this year. Indications are that hay will bring a good price, and farmers who have more than they can use will find a ready market for it.

While all kinds of hay should be saved, it is desirable that hay be cut when the legume or grass is cut at a rather immature stage. Timothy, for instance, makes good hay when cut in full bloom or slightly before, but if left until seed is formed, it becomes woody and unsatisfactory for sheep and dairy cows.

Lespedeza has become one of the important hay crops in Kentucky. While not as good as alfalfa or red clover, it makes good hay when cut at the proper time and is well cured.

BUY WAR BONDS

It should be cut when the first blooms appear and before the leaves at the bottom of the stems begin to drop off. If allowed to mature, lespedeza hay is unpalatable and of little feeding value.

Two Fiat Applications For Airline Service

Lexington, Ky., July 5.—Two Lexingtonians filed an application today with the Civil Aeronautics Board in Washington for permission to operate a helicopter-type airline service between 34 cities in Kentucky and Tennessee. It was announced here.

The announcement was made by the office of Atty. J. E. Marks, representing Gilmore N. Nunn, now serving in the United States Army Air Transport Command, and his father, J. Lindsay Nunn of Amarillo, Texas, and Lexington, owner of several radio stations and former owner of several newspapers.

The application said the proposed partnership, Kentucky-Tennessee Airlines, would have at least $100,000 available to purchase aircraft and other equipment at the start of operations.

APPRECIATION

LIFE Magazine has made the finest gesture this newspaper has known...

Last week's LIFE published all the names of the "boys" who thus died in battle against the Jap, the German and the Italian.

Little-known places in the national picture but well-known to us, places such as Dony and Ivel and West Prestonsburg and others here in Floyd county, were mentioned.

Names of places were mentioned, doubtless, at great expense to the magazine, but more impressive is the last list of the hero-dead.

And in the interchangeable second places of the minds and hearts of all of us there surely is thought of those who marched and fought and suffered for the bright hope of victory and a finer world to come.

Walter Karr Bowling was the first at Pearl Harbor. He was from West Prestonsburg. Nobody on Fifth Avenue, New York, had ever heard of West Prestonsburg till LIFE became the war's neurologist, August Meade, of Westbury, was the last on the heroic list from Floyd county. LIFE moves on in all the burg and in all the West Prestonsburg and in all the communities of the county and nation where young men once lived in defense of a country they knew was worth saving even at the cost of their own lives.

The editorial LIFE Magazine published following that long list of the dead from these United States was what made the publication of this work of appreciation for that particular edition so effective. That particular edition so effective, that it was in words we all could understand. It told a story of our own aspiring, not reaching for the sun but clutching for and clinging to our own brand of liberty, never embracing death as a meeting death as a possible barrier to life and liberty ahead.

There is no quick way of stating at once this newspaper's appreciation of this work well-done by LIFE and at the same time of expressing the hope that "these honored dead shall not have died in vain."

These paragraphs are necessary, not from what is said but because of what we feel, to say, simply and with all earnestness, this country must not fall when this war is over, as it did in the past, to take its place among the commonwealth of Nations that will or will not take such steps as will protect the sons and daughters of those who now fight until a renewal of world conflict, a generation hence.

COLORADO SHOWS A WAY TO ABOLISH ELECTION STEALS

By J. HOWARD HENDERSON (in The Courier-Journal)

BACK in 1935, when conditions in Denver got about as bad as they have been in Harlan county, it might seem that the Attorney General had just stepped the Denver election on officers from a crumpled election.

But the election that election officers could be enjoined from legal election procedure and forbidden to steal the election was upheld by the Colorado Supreme Court. That, I think, may point to a way Governor Johnson or the Kentucky Election Commission, Hubert Meredith, Attorney General, might take to give Kentucky an honest primary election this year.

Briefly stated, what the Attorney General of Colorado obtained from the courts enjoined the election officials in Denver to observe the law relating to elections. Merely someone will say that is a little late, since the election officers in Harlan county already have that duty under the law.

The answer is that the injunction procedure would bring those erring officials under state control. They have no fear of the local courts in Harlan county. For thirty year elections in Harlan county have been held every year, with little objection from the local courts.

It is I believe, this isolationism of the election thieves, their feeling of immunity, that fosters election stealing. Unless the Kentucky Court of Appeals is ready to write some new law, it is unlikely they will remove the election commission in Harlan county, but it might be persuaded to enjoin those officers and the precinct officers to hold an honest election.

Then, if the officers pulled off another corrupt election, they would be liable to the Court of Appeals for violation of an injunction. They would not be liable to the local court. That might make all the difference in the world to them.

In Colorado, the Attorney General alleged a whole series of prior election frauds. He said the defendants had plotted to hold another corrupt election, and cited several steps in the plot. That would not be difficult to prove in the Harlan county court.

Upholding his right to the injunction, the Colorado court said: "As a reason why this relief should not be granted it is contended... that although the frauds charged may be perpetrated, the most serious frauds charged may be perpetrated, and the election officers of the state set at naught, they cannot be enjoined from committing them because the commission of crimes may not be enjoined; that these frauds may be reached after their perpetration by the prosecution and conviction of those guilty of committing them."

The Colorado court disposed of that argument as the Kentucky court said, last year, it could enjoin state officials from levying political assessments of state employees, without waiting until after the crime was committed to punish any who might actually collect the assessments.

"The relief demanded," the Colorado court said, "does not contemplate that a single right of the election officials will be affirmed, or an act required of them which the law does not impose upon them, or a requirement of the mandamus of the injunction prayed will require of the respondents anything more than that they conduct an honest election in accordance with and under the safeguards prescribed by the laws of the state."

It would be asking a good deal of election officials of Harlan county to ask them to hold an honest election, but if the law of Kentucky enjoined them to do it, might they?

The Constitution, the Colorado court said, provides that all elections shall be free and open. The responsible election officers, although appearing to the provision as a reason why this action cannot be maintained, are in effect, guilty of what would be the violation of the bill will contain acts, which in spirit and fact will not only be violative of the very law to which they appeal, but will render it nugatory... Government is not such a failure, the state is not so impotent which the state may institute, rather than its character, constrains the rest of power... It has the right to appeal to this court... to prevent wrongs which, in its own interest, it is its duty to prevent... People v. Tol, 82 Pac. 224; Lawler, Reports 68, 5, 623.

FLOYD COUNTY GOES TO WAR

Where Floyd Countians in Armed Forces Are, What They're Doing

A letter received here Saturday by his parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. M. Morell, Sr., states that Lieut. Wm. F. Morell has safely arrived in North Africa. Lieut. Morell was connected with a chemical warfare unit while in the United States, and it is presumed that he will serve with a similar detachment overseas.

The government says that if I have dinner in a restaurant and order a steak I should deduct its cost from my home quota. How can I weigh a steak in a restaurant? A-This is a complicated matter. In some restaurants the average weight of a steak is about two ounces including the plate, knife and fork. If you are sure to know the restaurant that serves a real steak the waiter will give you the weight. Or you can use this formula: Let "B" equal the appetizer, let "B" equal the steak and let "W" equal the price quoted on the menu. You then get the number of square feet in each room and divide by the storm windows.

Suppose some friends invite me to their home for dinner and serve roast beef. I take a second helping. Do I have to deduct this from my ration of meat or just write it off under the heading of good neighbors? A-You're going to cause trouble if you do not deduct the portions served by any host.

Mr. Wickard says that there are plenty of meat products that are not rationed. He lists these as kidneys, brains and hearts. "How can I know to get those things?" A-Dark glasses and plenty of mustard will help.

Sausages and hot chili peppers are not rationed, why? A-It would seem to prove what we have always contended: Whatever is in them, it isn't meat.

Why is it all right to eat plenty of chicken? A-There is plenty of chicken because it is seldom served in the army, due to the fact that the officers take everything but the bones and rarely offered in the navy because of a belief that it is just as well not to let sailors know there is a food other than beans.

What is the situation about eggs? A-There is or will be a ceiling on eggs, which, after all, is preferable to eggs on the ceiling. The price will be pretty high, but they were laid during the war and didn't worry.

What about Tootsy's? That's my friend. I've had him eight years and he has developed a habit of getting in the meat before I can reach it myself. He is very intelligent and there is no use trying to kid him by saying "sit up and beg and mummy will give you a herring." Last Tuesday he bit the letter carrier. Today he bit the milkman and two neighbors. The next thing you know he may cause a national calamity by biting a Gatlin' Pail taker.

HUMOR AT FIDELITY

In the many years since I left Fidelity I have often found myself thinking about the humor of the people there, for it so adequately represents the humor of semi-pretentious people of the whole period of time that Fidelity has existed. A re-reading of some of Mark Twain lately has brought afresh this memory of good humor as practiced a generation ago. Mark Twain has so much of what we know that I sometimes find myself thinking that he was writing about Fidelity, Kentucky, rather than Hingham, Missouri.

Practical joking was probably the most distinctive phase of the humor of the past. This is a rather crude sort of humor, as everybody knows, and it was practiced as crudely as you could imagine. Some one was always planning a means of scaring somebody or of making somebody ridiculous. Young fellows seemed to live for the pleasure to be derived from pranks. Stories were started of strange wild animals and haunted places just to entrap some unwary, superstitious person who ought to have known better. Frankly, I never played a practical joke in my life. I have, however, used such means as have destroyed property in the name of fun. Wagons were taken apart and re-assembled on the top of some fellow's stable; sometimes a wheel was hidden in a ditch, and the wagon was useless for days at a stretch. Crude, obscene jokes were perpetrated, with an almost maniacal aim. All in all, no one was safe from the pranks, unless, I am afraid, one of our neighbors, the victim turned the tables. When a stolen sheep was let down, he calmly untied the sheet from the rope and let the boy who had hoped to play the joke to make peace with his mother for the stolen sheep.

Mimicry is and was a source of great fun at Fidelity. Many of my early acquaintances could imitate anything, from the antics of a broken-down horse to the public policy of some of our elderly neighbors. One boy I know was known by the person he represented. With no feeling of impiety we laughed ourselves sick at his clever imitations of an elderly brother praying in the church up the creek. The negro usually beat us at our own game of mimicry, for I never knew one who could not mock something or somebody. The girls who helped us clean house and wash the furniture each spring probably delayed the work more than they helped it by the resonance they carried on. We made good audiences for them and were, quite naturally, in the way when something had to be carried out into the yard or back again. One of our neighbor women was deaf and also lipless; she became the special study of a whole family up the creek, who almost outdid the original. It is astonishing, to say the least, that none of these practical mimics became regular actors, for I have had good money to go to a better one.

At school the children practiced mimicry from the time they began their education. At recess and noon we often put on such excellent imitations of meetings that the teacher interfered to save the dignity of the neighborhood. One lad in the going age could bring down the house by his imitation of the tall, angular singing school master who came regularly each winter to organize a class and to sell the most recent addition to songbooks. No preacher came to us who did not find a ready and willing understudy who ultimately played his part to our great delight. When I have wandered back to Fidelity and spoken at public programs, I have sometimes wondered whether some poker-faced youngster was studying my technique as a speaker and was getting ready to entertain the school or the laity's joint next day.

WRITES TO AUNT ABBIE!

Dear Aunt Abbie,
To-day an enemy tank column swooped down and made us use up a lot of the kitchen grease you've been saving. What I mean is we shot off a lot of gunpowder before we got the Nazis on the run, and that gunpowder smel from the glycerine salvaged from your waste kitchen fat. A couple of our boys got hit, so I had to fix them up with sulfa ointment—

glycerine from the great glycerine brew usually gets into that tin, so slip on during it in love to you and Uncle John

New York Heartbeat

Broadway Show: Fred Allen and several other showboats were bent over in a daze at a party at a 48th Street corner... The latest phase of the Good Neighbor policy. The government is teaching itself to know Latin America.

Midtown Vignette: It happened yesterday at a local draft board... They classified him 'M' for months ago... He went through the examination again, jumping on one foot 20 times—then the other... Bend over... Breathe fast... When it was over, he chuckled contentedly and said: "Well, can I leave now, doc?"... He was the rep' "raise your right hand and repeat the following oath."

Manhattan Murals: The hard-boiled back inspector on W. 52nd Street—a woman!... The cards that peddle a hot dog sandwich and a hot dog... The richest sector—richest sector in the world... The skyline of New York from a terry docket in Jersey—looks like an old vaudeville "street scene" backdrop... Riverside Drive in the dimout—resembling a country lane... "Please don't squeeze me, lady, until I'm yours!"

Midtown Horatio Alger: He was the owner of a lunchette in the 50s on Broadway... The landlord forced him out when he raised the rent from $400 on the vegetable stand... "Please don't squeeze me, lady, until I'm yours!"

Bigtown Novelists: This actually happened Sunday... When Capt. Frederick C. Sherman (now a Rear Admiral) of the ill-fated Lexington arrived there... "I have a rubber band to put around those you were borrowed... He set out to buy a new outfit and, while en route to a naval tailor, he stopped at a $ 10 to get some "toe brush, shaving cream and so on... The saleclerk handed him several small packages... "I have a rubber band to put around those?" he asked... "Mister—don't you know there's a war on!"

Man About New York: The case of "This Is the Army" (520) died with the President and Mrs. Roosevelt at the White House... After they all were seated, Mrs. President walked in, and they got up... "Please don't get up when I enter or leave the room," she said graciously... "You know, I have a reputation of being quite a traveler!"... Capt. Dan Dopping, groom of Sonja Henie, has healed the breach between her and Dennis Scanlon, her former manager... He recently won his $75,000 suit against her.

Newspaper editors here that this problem confronts Elmer Davis: The German section of the OWI short-wave division (New York branch) is clashing over U. S. broadcasts in the German tongue... They include Socialist, Social-Democratic, Monarchist and Centrist propaganda... each fighting their own personal differences over the American short-wave lanes... A few Trotskyites are also on the staff... It all meshes up the Big Idea... Orchids to Shield No. 3989 of the redemmers... He straightened out, but flat, a West 48th Street hotel barber who charged a sailor $5 for a haircut, shave, shine and shampoo.

The Magazines: The matter of when there will be a second front is something for the military and naval biggies to decide... I. F. Stone reminds the Nation... If the President over-ruled them, the same voices who are now yelling for it would be the first to scream "dictator!"... From G. Washington's time until now, Collier's reminds subscribers, every wartime President bickered with Congress... and the nation has bloomed in spite of them all.

Typewriter Ribbon: S. W. McGill: Political prejudice plus personal pique, prevents patriotic performance... G. B. Shriver: Remember that during the war with U. S. Anon: A conference is meeting where people talk about the things they should be doing... Wm. Mallory: He's just the brackens in the bed of my existence... Ralph H. Washington Merry-go-round

OFFICIALS GO TO SCHOOL

All over Washington, grown men are going to school again... More than 500 officials of a dozen different departments are doing "home work"—learning vocabularies, drawing maps and studying charts... It's the latest phase of the Good Neighbor policy. The government is teaching itself to know Latin America.

With funds from the Rockefeller office, a school has been set up, known as the Inter-American Training center... Dr. Henry Graves Doyle took a year's leave from George Washington university to run it.

When Morris Cooke was asked to head an economic mission to Brazil, his experts attended Doyle's school before flying down to Rio.

The treasury deputy, who has 28 lawyers dealing with Latin America. All are boning up with Dean Doyle and his faculty.

Luncheon conferences are held all over town to discuss Latin America—usually in Spanish. Doyle promised a Latin expert for each luncheon.

WAR DUTIES PERTICULAR

The fact that Economic Stabilizer Jimmy Byrnes is not letting politics creep into his job is evidenced by the appointment of a year's leave from George Washington university to run it.

When Morris Cooke was asked to head an economic mission to Brazil, his experts attended Doyle's school before flying down to Rio.

The Vermont manufacturer replied, August 25, 1933, that it was "increasingly difficult" to support New Deal policies, chiefly because of the tax bill of that year, which, he said, "ruled it out."

Early in 1935, Flanders was appointed to a key job in the Machine and Tools group of the OPM priorities division. His company also has received several substantial contracts from the government.

Since we are now at war, much of the misunderstanding of the pacifistic situation no longer holds.

SYNTHETIC CHRISTMAS

This December 25—one year after Pearl Harbor—will be a wooden Christmas with a synthetic Santa Claus. The spirit will be absent, but the form will be different.

Skates, scooters, sleds, electric trains, rubber balls—these will be scarce everywhere if not absent entirely. Only the stores which placed their orders early last January will have the usual toys, and these probably will be sold out by Thanksgiving.

Experts of the commerce department have made a survey of the toy situation. They find that three types will be especially short—rubber toys, wheel toys, and metal goods.

A WPB order stopped production of children's bicycles last April. Velocipedes, scooters, baby carriages, "hoovers" will be short. Clearly it will not be a rolling Christmas.

Makers of electric trains are 90 per cent converted to making materials of war. There may be 50 per cent of the normal train supply this year, but they are disappearing fast.

In all this there is one consolation—the war has not disturbed the production of dolls, except for those made of rubber.

MERRY-GO-ROUND

Uncensored reports from the Solomon Islands, when finally published, will show that the U. S. marines fought with even greater heroism than we realize. It will be one of the great epics in American naval history.

The marines at Solomon Islands were relatively unseasoned—only about eight months. The man who deserves chief credit for rescuing them is efficient Dan Barber, U. S. navy, who supervised their training as a task force at Solomon Island, Maryland.

Woman-POWER! She's 5 feet 1 from her 4A slippers to her spun-gold hair. But man, oh man, how she can handle her big press! Wait a minute! How can 110 pounds of beauty boss so many tons of steel?... Is this magic? Yes, in a way. The modern magic of electric power. The magic that makes it possible for a girl's slim fingers to lift mountains of metal, or set great wheels in motion—just by pressing a button or pulling a lever. Women are able to work beside men on America's roaring production lines because electricity does the heavy labor. America's war production is the greatest in the world largely because America has the world's greatest supply of electric power. And America's electric companies under business management provide over 80 per cent of all that power at low prices per call that music, too! But to the experienced men and women of the electric companies it's all in the day's work! All part of knowing the job. They were ready when war came, and now they're producing far more power than all the Axis countries combined! They're stepping up America's manpower—and woman-power—tremendously! Board of Education and that of the Prestonsburg Board of Education. He added that the only objection he had ever made to NYA activities as after boys and girls of school age had been directed to such training by the promise of pay. Mr. Hall expressed the hope that the county and city school boards could join together to make such training possible through facilities of the school system beyond school hours.

Education is an aid of the county advanced death of the NYA on the grounds that it was directly competing with the public school system, hiring boys and girls by promises of wages from their classrooms.

Aubrey Williams, only director of the organization has ever had signed the death certificate in telegrams ordering cessation of work in some 300 communities after Congress completed legislation on cutting NYA down to a $3,000,000 liquidation fund.

The order affected some 5,300 persons in training for war work. All project supervised personnel numbering about 4,300 were dismissed, and the headquarters staff of about 500 was cut to what Williams called a bare minimum of administrative personnel to wind up NYA affairs.

The director said his own plans were indefinite. "I really hadn't thought of any yet. If I had any at the moment it would be to go into the army."

Williams called Congress' action in terminating NYA a "very unfortunate happening."

"It means the stoppage of training for about 1,000 people a day whom we have been turning out for war industries," he said.

"It means the loss of from 650 to 700 a day out of that number who go directly into war industry."

"It means the dismantling of plants located in 500 communities where they have been serving war production industries."

Williams said NYA had turned out close to 60,000 persons since Pearl Harbor with some form of war plant skill in machine operation, assembly, welding, force operation, ship carpentry and other trades.

Conversion to a strictly wartime training program, he said, began the day President Roosevelt announced the trade of 50 over-age destroyers to Britain for naval bases, and was 50 per cent complete by the time of the Japanese attack on Pearl Harbor. There has been no other activity, he said, since June, 1942.

Altogether since it came into being July 1, 1935, Williams said, NYA has served about 6,000,000 young persons in one way or another.

Under the bill approved by Congress, the mechanical and other equipment which NYA has at its numerous training schools is to be turned over to the procurement division of the Treasury for disposal, Williams said he assumed the Treasury would sell it to schools, government agencies or industries.

Emma and Auxier Split Doubleheader

A large crowd turned out Sunday at Auxier to see Emma and Auxier split a doubleheader.

In the first game the Emma team jumped onto Evans for two runs in the first inning and were never threatened thereafter. In the third inning Evans was knocked from the box, being relieved by Bickford after two more runs were in. In the fourth the Emma boys made four runs off Birkford on a walk to D. Weddington and four consecutive hits by A. Gunnell, Chittenden, Harris and H. Weddington. The Weddington combination clicked for Emma, Auxier collecting only four hits and one run.

In the second game the Auxier boys came back to defeat the Emma Reds, 4-1, as "Ty Cobb" Montgomery scored in shortstop. In the first inning Auxier hopped on H. Weddington for a run on two straight hits. Then in the fourth Emma came back to tie the score.

After Bickford gave a walk to Westfall and a two-bagger to H. Weddington but Auxier untied it in the last of the fourth. At this point the game was halted until the rain was over. Here Auxier took over and defeated the Reds on three errors.

Next Sunday the Emma Reds are scheduled to play Drift at Prestonsburg at 2 p. m.
