YIPPEE FROM YPSI

Hospitality and patriotism here are dashed out mostly for dollars and cents.
This is the "strikingest" place I know. Besides war workers, the school kids, teachers, janitors and the dog catcher occasionally strike.
To hear the conductors on street cars yell at their passengers, "Back up! Hurry up! Form double line," etc., reminds me of our old-time conductors who could be heard at great distances giving commands to their own, some of which commands were suppositiously "blue."

The government has the best "book larin'" farmer-managers here I know of. They plow up and doze for "V" gardens, and use the black loam fields for garbage dumps.
Phases and health centers. Nights very cool, days blazing hot.
More square miles of water per fish than any place I know of. Each month is set aside for different species of fish. How they educate these fish to know when they are to eat or bite I am unable to learn. Ring-neck pheasants and quail plentiful. Pheasants feed in the camp. No hawks, owls or foxes. Few crows, coons and opossums. No rabbits.
The roads are so laid out, those traveling by bus miss the bomber plant six times in making one trip to work from Willow Lodge.
Suggest the White Dove hospital owners establish a branch here, where the boys purchase $100 neckties, pay one dollar for a large humbly of booze, and purchase "soup hounds" with "tree" bark for $475-bucks, while the girls pay $248 for gingham dresses and twofifty for Arkansas diamonds.

All one has to do here, to commit suicide is to run from the law as several teen-age boys have found out.
Enough aluminum scrap wasted here daily to make a dishpan for each household in Floyd county.
Don't be surprised, should some of these war workers have to borrow money for bus tickets home when the war is over.

On June 6, The Courier-Journal reprinted an article from the Kentucky Farm Bureau News which sought to establish an attitude of unfriendliness on our part toward farmers based largely on a supposed antagonism toward the Farm Bureau itself. The following editorial fully states The Courier-Journal's case:

The Courier-Journal and the Farmer

The article which we reprint on this page from The Kentucky Farm Bureau News encourages us to believe that the facts which we have presented in behalf of price control are rather effective. Otherwise, why this elaborate avoidance of the matter of the plain truths of economics and of history by endeavoring to make the reader believe that truth is estimated by a perverse bias against the Kentucky farmer and an abysmal ignorance of his problems? The allegation is, of course, as fantastic as it is malicious and any well-informed Kentucky farmer.

In the first place, how could we be so stupid? Even if it were assumed that no idea was ever born in this office except as some. If there is ignorance in the office—we do not pretend to know everything—it is in no case never ignorance born of failure to try to understand or lack of either facilities or inclination for first-hand study. But we know that it is not ignorant to be mindful of the disastrous consequences of inflation, and we are convinced that it is ignorant, dangerously ignorant, to ware all this advice, as the Farm Bureau writer does, as a preposterous bugaboo. There was nothing at all imaginary about the crash of farm prices, including tobacco prices, that followed the largely uncontrolled war boom before.

We have never pretended that the farmer has had an easy row to hoe in this war. The difficulties and exasperations have been many, and his production record, in spite of them all, has been magnificent. Nevertheless, it would be absurd to pretend that on the whole he has fared badly under price control. One of the charts reproduced in this editorial shows where his income stands — it has about trebled since 1939—and let us not forget that, thanks to price control, there has been no such increase in the cost of things he has had to buy. The other chart is a grim reminder of what happened to farm income before—and, as late as 1939, farmers were still suffering the consequences.

THE COURIER-JOURNAL is not unaware of the many important community services of the Farm Bureau, especially those of the Kentucky Farm Bureau Federation, which we think has contributed much of value to farming in Kentucky. But we are not unaware, either, that the national leadership of the bureau follows a policy of raising farm price control and of attempting to hamstring it at every turn. It is exactly the policy of the national labor union leadership, which, though relatively quiet on the subject at the moment, is undoubtedly out to hatchet wage control at the first favorable opportunity. We think the policy in each related to our own self-interest, that self-interest would indicate profound concern for the welfare of the farmer. Our own welfare is intimately and inextricably bound up with his. Agriculture is Kentucky's basic industry. Agriculture will be Kentucky's basic industry as far as anyone can see into the future. The Louisville community will not flourish, and neither will THE COURIER-JOURNAL, if the basic industry of the state languishes—if the farmer is put upon again as he was for years following the other war. We don't think the point needs to be labored. We could not conceivably be so dumb as deliberately to cultivate the ill-will and oppose the honest and legitimate aspirations of the people who stand in the very source of everything we hope for, for this state, for this community and for ourselves.

In the second place, we think the record speaks on this point. We are not going boastfully to list here all of the enterprises in which this newspaper has engaged and to which it has devoted time, effort and money for the well-being of the Kentucky farmer as he has conceived it and as we have conceived it. It is enough to remark in passing that the first important public service undertaken by the late Judge ROBERT W. BINGHAM, after he became publisher of THE COURIER-JOURNAL and THE LOUISVILLE TIMES, was in behalf of the tobacco farmers of this state, ground down by the postwar deflation of 1921. Judge BINGHAM spared absolutely nothing in that cause, and his deep and understanding sympathy with the farmer left an impress on the policy of THE COURIER-JOURNAL which is still there and will always be there.
We think that most Kentucky farmers are aware of this. If there is bias in this office, it is bias on the farmer's side, growing out of knowledge of his struggle, knowledge of the odds he has often faced in the past, knowledge of his character and common ness is woefully, almost criminally, shortsighted, perilous to the real interests of both worker and farmer, and we have repeatedly said so.

We shall have to keep on saying so. We could not in good conscience do anything else, just for the dubious advantage of enjoying the favor of the Farm Bureau leadership or the labor union leadership. We shall, of course, continue to be misrepresented and called names by people like "F. B. Member," but we are not so ignorant as to believe Kentucky farmers are as ill-informed and unintelligent as that writer apparently thinks they are.

Maytown Production In Surgical Bandage Work Leads P'burg

Maytown, with a population well below 1,000, produced through the work of its women more surgical dressings last week than Prestonsburg, it was said here Wednesday.

After making 6,200 dressings during Invasion Week, those who worked in the Red Cross room here last week dropped to a production of only 3,700, Mrs. Lillian Keenon, director of the work, said.

"The mere fact that 12,600 boys were wounded during the first 11 days of the invasion should be incentive enough for our women to work," Mrs. Keenon commented.

The surgical dressing room at Davitt was opened only last week. A fourth work center is located at Ah-len. Every worker must bring her own head covering, Mrs. Keenon said.
