This Town-- That World

Among the things we'll miss for the next few months is the watermelon smell of new-mown lawns. For that matter, we'll miss the smell of watermelons.

But then there's the seed catalogues for us Florida farmers.

WARM HEARTS KEEP OTHERS WARM

Believe it or not, a newspaper gets a kick out of doing something it at least thinks is worthwhile.

Recently, this column printed an appeal from Mike Paros, Prestonburg Greek-American restaurant-owner, for old wearing apparel of all kinds to be sent to his starving, almost naked countrymen suffering German tyranny.

This week, we learned that Floyd county's response to this call for help for the helpless has been, as always, noble. Mike Paros has a cartload of things for his heroic people to wear—things sent in from Wheelwright at one extreme of the county, from Right Beaver at the other, from Prestonsburg and points between.

He has written an uncle, Peter Paros, at Astoria, Long Island, of Floyd county's goodness and Peter's response is eloquent and sincere. He wrote, in part: "anything you send us to be sure that we will do the best and all this work is most grateful... be sure that everybody in the old country will have to say something good for you."

Perhaps you have just heard discarded after you or other members of your family have worn it, send it to Mr. Paros here. Greek children and old folks have little to wear this winter, and, starved by the Nazis, they are unable to stand the cold. Warm hearts will keep some of them warm.

REPRIMAND FROM A FIGHTING MAN

Capt. Thomas Burgis, Jr., writes from "somewhere in Germany" in dead earnest about a matter some folks may have not considered very seriously. He has been reading THE TIMES and thus learned that Floyd county failed, last time, to meet its quota of blood donors. He tells what he thinks about the whole matter, and perhaps what every other boy on the fighting fronts thinks—but read what he writes:

"Dear Citizens of Floyd county: The war is over in Floyd county! The reason I say this is because the county blood plasma quota wasn't filled, the last time. Just remember this, the boys are fighting on all fronts and some are being killed and wounded every day. Blood saves wounded men's lives. So why should you shirk your duty when you could be helping to save lives and get us out of this God forsaken hole sooner?"

"If anyone sees any reason why this cause shouldn't be filled, just put your name and reason in THE Floyd County Times, so the boys can read it. I am sure we would like to know who could find any reason why you shouldn't do your part."

Next month, Floyd county again will be expected to send blood donors to Ashland. Will the quota then be met—or shall again

Twelve mining operations had reported results of their individual drives.

Mr. White said it is hoped that every individual in the county will be contacted during the War Fund canvass in other communities starting this week. Those not contacted are asked to mail contributions to the Kentucky War Fund, Inc., Prestonsburg.

FLOYD G.I. VOTES--IN GERMANY!

First photograph to come out of Germany showing an American soldier voting in the Presidential election is that of 1st Sgt. Denver Calhoun, of Prestonsburg, slotting his ballot. Lt. Alfred M. Saunders, Mt. Vernon, O., officiates at the ballot box.

The photo has attracted nationwide attention and is of particular news value as the camera records the act of a free American citizen voting without duress in a land where dictatorship has robbed the people of the free exercise of the ballot.

BOARD NOTIFIES 7 FOR PRE-INDUCTION

Limited Service Class Eliminated by Order; Group Leaves Oct. 23

Draft Board 44 this week released names of seven of its registrants who have been notified to go to Louisville Oct. 23 for pre-induction examination. One of the group, Charles F. Robinson, formerly of Prestonsburg, a volunteer, has been transferred, however, to an Indianapolis, Ind., board. Names of other selectees follow:

Charles Hillard Haywood (V), Tely; Morrie Shepherd (V), Goodloe; Edgar Adams, Jewell, Arty Lynch; Betsy Layne; Estill Neely (V), Prestonsburg, now of Newport News, Va.; L. J. Jarvis (V), Endicot.

New draft regulations eliminate the I-A, limited service classification, resulting in selectees hitherto classified thus being placed in 4-F or other class. Regulations also provide that a service man honorably discharged remains in Class I-C, the same class he was in while in service, and thus removes him from possible future calls.

In Thick of Formosa Battle

Name of Lt. (jg) Luther D. Prater was prominent in the news this week and in the discussions by radio commentators of the gigantic American air attack on Formosa.

Prater, a former Floyd county native of Myrtle, was quoted in Lowell Thompson's Tuesday evening broadcast describing the assault by carrier-based planes on the J a p stronghold.

Prater, who shot down three Jap planes, said: "I never dreamed of such confusion. There were Zeros all around us, flying in twos, threes and sixes. I would see a couple of Zees on somebody's tail and try to shake one down. Then three or four would get on me."

Jap ground batteries opened up with phosphorus shells, sending the sky flaming overhead in a split second.

The former Myrtle resident, a son of Mr. and Mrs. News Prater, of Alber, Ohio, flew from a carrier of Vice-Admiral Marc A. Mitscher's shooting force. He was awarded the Air Medal some time ago after shooting down the first Jap to be downed by his air squadron.

6TH WAR LOAN GOAL STATED

Drive for 14 Billions To Start Nov. 20th, Treasury Says

The Sixth War Loan drive will be launched Nov. 20 and extend through Dec. 16, the Treasury Department has announced. Fourteen billion dollars in the total quota, with $5,000,000,000 to be raised from individuals.

"With the accumulated successes of our military operations, the people seem to have become more complacent, feeling that a relaxation of our financing efforts will not prove harmful," a Treasury official said. "This is a most dangerous attitude as the sale of War Bonds is more important now than ever before."

"The nation needs your help more in the coming Sixth Drive than it has before. Next to our military operations the War Bond program is the most vital part of our war effort. It is our number one obligation here at home."

A study center at Martin high school was begun by Morehead faculty members a few weeks ago.

The secret weapon of the American forces in battle? Plain, unadorned Yankee humor.

Lt. Lockwood supported this theory with the story of the American pilot of a Lockheed fighter. The Lockheed advertised slogan, incidentally is "Lockheed Leads the Way."

Lt. Lockwood's plane had been out on a bombing mission and while everything was quiet the crew was listening in on the radio chatter

SANITORIUM COMMISSION HERE TONIGHT

To Visit Floyd Sites Tomorrow; Banquet Marks Visit Here

The Kentucky Sanatorium Commission in this county to visit proposed sites for the tubercular sanatorium to be established in this district, will be guests of the Prestonsburg Kiwanis Club at a banquet here tonight.

Friday morning, the commission, which includes Representative W. O. Higgins, co-author of the tubercular sanatoria program legislation, will visit one or more sites selected in advance by Floyd sites officials and choosing the most suitable for a hospital location.

Several potential sites have been studied, but a location on the Miss Gibson farm at Landley was considered most suitable after a group last Friday visited four farms. Mr. Gibson has offered five acres of his land, gratis, and purchase by the county of additional acreage may be made at what is considered a "very reasonable price."

Gas, electricity and water are easily available to this location, it was pointed out, and these are requisites to a hospital location, the sanatoria commission has emphasized.

Two other tracts have been offered here—one by Bob Kramer at Hippo, near by Bee Daniels on Abbott mountain, near here.

Viewing the possible sites last Friday morning, Representative Higgins, County Judge E. P. Hill, Jr., County Attorney W. W. Burchett, County Agent S. L. Isbell, A. V. Paul, Richard Sparlock, Norman Allen, W. A. Rose, Bob Francis, James Donohue.

Floyd county medical and professional men and other interested citizens were invited to attend tonight's banquet at which the county's central location in the district will be one of the points urged upon the commission in making a location for the sanatorium.

GIVE PROMISE OF ROAD WORK

Lett Beaver Surfacing Listed as Project For Next Year

Surfacing of the Lett Beaver highway from Goodshens to Woodshubert, though not a probability this year, will be undertaken early in 1945 if war restrictions are lifted or if the county Board will approve the proposal for the work. J. W. Stone, Commissioner of Kentucky highways, stated in a memorandum presented Sept. 29, that an estimate of $100,000 was prepared at Frankfort by R. B. Price, superintendent, and H. O. Zimmerman, engineer of the Inland Steel Company, Woodshubert.

This information was conveyed last week by Mr. Price to County Attorney W. W. Burchett, who recently called on Mr. Stone for statements of civil money members along the route showing the need for completion of the road as an aid to the war effort.

If the war restrictions are not lifted on the work can be begun early next year, the memorandum set out. War Production Board approval will be sought by the highway commission.

Mr. Price told Watkins 300 men drive over this road daily to work, and a traffic count made by the highway department confirmed his statement.

OFFICIAL ORGAN FOR FLOYD COUNTY, KY. Published Every Thursday by PRESTONSBURG PUBLISHING CO.

NORMAN ALLEN Editor Per Year $2.00 Entered as second class matter June 18, 1927, at the postoffice at Prestonsburg, Ky., under the act of March 3, 1879.

Floyd County—the Logical Site

FLOYD, the central county in the district to be served by one of the new sanatoria to be established by the state for the treatment of tuberculosis, is the logical location for the district hospital.

There are many beautiful sites for such a hospital in practically every county in the district. But none but Floyd has these:

It is the center of the district, equidistant from the northernmost fringes of the section the hospital is to serve.

It is the home of Representative Biggers, co-author of the legislation which made possible Kentucky's tuberculosis program, a humane work none can but praise.

THE TIMES points out these matters by way of hospitably joining other citizens of the county in petitioning the commission to select Floyd as the location of a hospital which should by future generations be hailed as a monumental work for the saving of human life and the alleviating of human suffering.

There is no fight between the various counties in this matter. All are agreed that the most important thing is to have such a hospital established, somewhere. But we would point out that it also is important that, with the idea of serving all, such an institution should be located where it will serve best.

We Walk in Fading Beauty

A FEW DAYS AGO, a Floyd countian, visiting in Lexington, was asked if the hills of this county aren't beautiful in their autumn colors. Proudly the visitor to the Bluegrass told the questioner that the hillsides are indeed very beautiful. But he did not elaborate. Had he been a good salesman, he might have waxed poetic, told of the flame of the maple, the russet of the oak, with the green of pine and cedar and all the colors between making the mountainside a veritable mosaic created by God's own hand.

He might have gone into some of that but the thought arose—"But the hills this year are not as pretty as last, not so beautiful by far as they were years ago. The woodsman's unsparing axe in spring-time over the years has been robbing the hills of their seasonal colors, of much of the picturesqueness that is one of the section's greatest assets."

Yes, the story of Floyd county's hills, indeed of most of Kentucky's hills, is a somber thing, more of tragedy than romance. Ruthless destruction of our forests has removed much of the section's beauty and robbed it of a material as well as a scenic asset. Land cleared for crops, forests burned over by the thoughtless and the careless—these leave the hills exposed to relentless scarring by an angry Nature.

Yet the hills are very, very beautiful in their Joseph's coat of foliage this fall. One finds consolation in the thought that we need never see them less beautiful if we want them so.

A Statement Regarding the DEMOCRATS FOR DEWEY Organization in Kentucky The Kentucky group is part of the national Democrats for Dewey organization with headquarters in Chicago, which believes that the best interests of the Democratic Party can be served by the election of Governor Dewey on November 7. Our reasons for this are briefly: 1. The Communist backing and P. A. C. Slush Fund support of the New Deal is unwholesome and un-American. 2. A Postwar anti-New Deal congress set against a New Deal executive would make for a divided government and the same chaotic condition for bringing about lasting peace which followed World War I. 3. Supporting the cause of a free government is the first patriotic duty of every American regardless of political affiliation, race or creed. If you believe "as we do, help America now to regain her freedom—politically, economically, and socially. Any person wishing to contribute to this great Democratic movement is invited to send a contribution to DEMOCRATS FOR DEWEY 1479 Starks Bldg. Louisville, Ky. George Keene Gray, Kentucky Chairman

Fort Benning, Ga., Oct. 7.—Pvt. C. Payne, son of Mrs. Lillian M. Payne, of Garrett, Ky., upon completion of three weeks of intensive training has graduated from demolition school. This course is one of the five special school courses offered to the paratrooper at Fort Benning. They include demolition, camouflage, communication, riggers and machine maintenance. Can't get Indiana off his mind and Indians take pride in his lucid reporting of sycamore roots events A. Brown Ransdell Indiana homes know they have a personal stake in the big area covered by The Courier-Journal

A. Brown Ransdell Indiana homes know they have a personal stake in the big area covered by The Courier-Journal. Our Hoosier-happy Chief of the Indiana Bureau of The Courier-Journal, gets over to Louisville occasionally to report in person to his newspaper office, but he doesn't let any grass grow under his feet. Doc Ransdell is always in a hurry to get "back home in Indiana." For seven years before being made Chief of the Indiana Bureau, he held forth from the land of the Wabash and White rivers, as Indiana editor. With modesty typical of a good newspaper man, our Hoosier hot shot decries the fact that his journalistic labors lack the fire of a foreign correspondent's reports... and fail to match the eager emotionalism of Washington columnists. All of which simply proves that he is a sound fellow, well versed in day in, and day out chronicling of events. Ransdell hastens to add that he became day city editor of The Courier-Journal in 1925, just in time to help cover the famed "Floyd Collins-in-the-cave story"... a chop-licking assignment in any man's language. Pleasantly personal, Doc's job consists of contacting Indians whose activities make or affect the news... and to keep an eye open at all times for events that are of special interest or significance to Southern Indiana. He supplements news coverage of AP, UP, and INS, with interpretative, background and informed speculative reporting... thus insuring readers the best all round coverage of Indiana news.

Answering the Question
"How Much Should A Funeral Cost?"

Buying at prices suitable to their means is a time-honored custom followed by most families. But many have seemed to think this principle does not apply to arranging for a funeral that would meet with the approval of their circle.

It does when we are called. Our wide price range enables every family to arrange for a superior service at a price it can afford to pay.

About a Kentucky Mother And Her Soldier Son

The trees were radiant with red and gold and the afternoon sun was Indian-Summer warm. Young Dan O'Neill, home on furlough, was stretched full length in the front lawn hammock. His Mother sat close by, content in the company of her only son.

"This," Dan said, "is what I call peace."

His Mother stretched his strong, bronzed hand. "Yes, Danny, it is!"

"And when I get back overseas," Dan continued, "I'm going to fight all the harder to prevent any future threats to American peace and freedom!"

I saw his Mother wipe her eyes—and swallow hard. She didn't try to speak—just then...

Well, from where I sit, that story of Mother and son further emphasizes the reason why we comfortable folks at home must not try to deprive our country of a single one of its rights and liberties... until the men who are fighting for them have their say in the matter, too!

The comics say it this way

WHEN a comic strip artist wants to suggest the birth of a new idea, he draws an electric bulb glowing above his hero's head. Since that symbol comes from our business, maybe we can borrow it to do a little enlightening of our own.

For example, there's the old idea that companies like ours are all owned by a few wealthy people in Wall Street. Actually, of course, this company is largely owned by the same people it serves and run by your friends and neighbors.

Our biggest security-holders are banks and insurance companies which have invested your savings here because they can count on sound business management—and because cheap, dependable electricity is so basic to the American way of living.

So whether you own us directly through stock, or indirectly through a savings bank, you have a stake in this company. We welcome your ownership and your patronage. We try to be worthy of both.

Don't be Duped By Dewey!

The candidate of reaction, hand-picked by Landon, Hoover, Pew and McCormick, seeks to turn from Isolationist-Conservative to the rankest of Liberals as the campaign enters its final stages. But remember—

The Leopard Does Not Change His Spots

Seeking to be all things to all persons, the Republican nominee ENDOWSSES the New Deal and all its works, but assails Franklin D. Roosevelt, who saved the Nation from 12 years of Republican misrule. He employs the same tactics Harding used to fool a majority of the people long enough to be elected—and then the Depression!

Winning This War And A Lasting Peace

Requires the best and most experienced leadership the Nation can enlist in the continuing Battle for Freedom. Who best can work with our Allies' great leaders' sopromotic and too-promising Tom Dewey or the most respected and influential world figure, Franklin Delano Roosevelt?

"We wanted no Profit from the war... and we have made none"

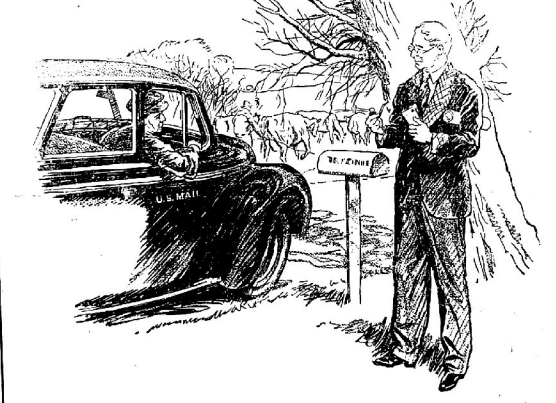

Though the Southern Bell Telephone Company is now doing the largest volume of business in its history its earnings are at the lowest rate they have been in many years. This condition has been brought about by the fact that for a number of years the cost of operating the business has increased at a greater rate than have revenues.

Users of long distance service alone are saving millions of dollars annually as a result of the rate reductions made during the past several years. Though operating costs have greatly increased, and telephone earnings are less, telephone users are getting more service for less money now than ever before.

"Quite a stack of newspapers I left you yesterday, Judge. Aren't you in the newspaper business, are you?" "No, I just enjoy reading different papers so my nephew George sends them to me whenever he takes a business trip. I got a big kick out of some he sent me from several counties where they still have prohibition. Particularly from some headlines that read 'Drunk Driving Arrests Rise'."

"Bootleggers must post Ceiling Prices," "Federal Agents seize 'Trick' Liquor Truck," "Doesn't that go to prove, Joe, that prohibition does not prohibit?" "I watched conditions pretty carefully during our 13 years of prohibition in this country. The only thing I could see was that out of it was bootleg liquor instead of legal liquor... plus the worst crime and corruption in this country has ever known."

Grandma Knew Just What To Do... AND HOW TO DO WITHOUT

Scraps, nails and string... paper, fats and fuel... anything and everything that could save another time or another purpose was saved by our ancestors as a matter of dire necessity. The frugality of America's rugged pioneers helped to win battle after battle in our nation's history.

Today, our country asks us to practice that same frugality to help win the war, to save our way of life and to protect our freedom of opportunity for every American family.

Peace and the change-over from war-stimulated activity will pose many problems to challenge the ingenuity of every one of us. Fortune will favor the family that has learned to save and has bolstered its future by the purchase of War Bonds. It's so much sounder to save than to wait to be saved.

Among the several hundred items we have missed during the year are the receipt of opportunity to remind our readers that the week of Oct. 1-8 was Newspaper Week. That's when the newspapers take occasion to let down their (disturbing) speech-like and tell the world what they have been doing for their communities, the space they contribute to this cause and, that, etcetera, the time when they almost invite pants on the back.

At this late date we'll settle for the opportunity to tell you that nobody visited us with a horse-whip that week. And you are hereby reminded that, as of that week, THE TIMES circulation reached 4776, the largest in the Big Sandy valley, one of the largest of any weekly newspaper in Kentucky.

THE $64 QUESTION What is that is dead before it is killed? See end of this column (no peeking in advance).

WERE NOT KICKING This football season, with a war going on, sees a death of what is known to the trade as educated toes. It is little consolation to know that there are always plenty of educated heels.

Just for the record, it may be said that some folks waxed exceedingly wrath upon learning that the ban on juke box repairs had been lifted.

ANSWER A newspaper advertisement or item that has run its course. It is then declared "dead" and is "killed" by the type being put to other use.

The Times transmit to Cpl. Barga and hundreds of other Floyd County overseas another story to arouse their righteous wrath?

"WITCH BALL" If it had been 50 years ago, or if it were shown in some other place even at this time, it would have immediately been identified as a "witch ball."

Now, this column does not presume to expound on such matters, but we are told, and think some of you farmers might benefit from the information, that these one-time "witch balls" are caused by cattle licking themselves because of lack of salt or because salt has been placed on their backs. The hair accumulates in the stomach, is rolled by peristaltic action, bards, and finally becomes of such size as to choke the animal's back. The hair line. In the case of the cow from which this particular "witch ball" came, it was removed via an incision into.

Keep plenty salt before your cattle, not on their backs, and they won't be bothered with such ailments. And, he adds, "the idea that salt placed on their backs and the resultant itching keeps 'wools' away is definitely all wet."

An advertisement in this week's edition informs the public that bullet-proof tires are on sale.

His and his crew's misadventures over enemy territory were ended, at least temporarily, June 13 when an engine was shot out and the gasoline supply failed before the Liberator could limp back to base. Only Lockwood and one other were hurt. Soon after they arrived in Italy, their original plane was shot down by seven direct fire hits and machine gun fire with the loss of one man.

Lt. and Mrs. Lockwood and their six-week-old son, Quentin, Jr., whom the flyer had not seen till a few days ago, spent a few days last week with his parents before he returned to Thyner hospital, Nashville, Tenn., for further treatment of his leg which is rapidly mending.
