Entered as second class matter June 18, 1927, at the postoffice at Prestonsburg, Ky., under the act of March 3, 1879.

If Service Is the Aim

If Floyd county, or any of its citizens, will provide the state a location without cost, there is no reason the State Highway Department's garage should not be built in such a manner as that the garage near Pikeville has been destroyed by fire.

Work of re-building at Pikeville must be done from the ground up, and so the state would save nothing by retaining the present location. On the other hand, by re-locating in Floyd county, the department would be nearer the center of the district and only Pike and possibly Letcher would be farther from the garage.

The present location of the highway garage at Allen would be a logical site. Johnson, Masfollin and Martin counties would be approximately 20 miles nearer the garage, would save 40 miles on a round trip; Perry county now drives by way of Hindman and Lackey past the Allen garage, en route to Pikeville. Only Letcher would be farther removed, and completion of the Wayland-Hempthill road would bring it even nearer to Allen than to Pikeville.

Service, after all, is presumed to be the aim of public servants. Then they might think about such a matter as this, if they do not care to appear to have lost sight of this lofty aim.

THE OLD JUDGE SAYS...

"Mary and I were just saying, Judge, how lucky we are here in America that we have so many natural resources to help win the war."

"That's right, Jim. When war broke out we had oil, we had steel, we had food, lumber, aluminum...practically everything we needed. There's one thing we didn't have...rubber. The enemy had that."

"But that didn't bother us for long. Soon American brains and industry had synthetic rubber by the tons rolling out of plants. That fills a critical need...you can't win a war without rubber."

"I was very much interested the other day in reading a statement made by a high government official on synthetic rubber. In it he said 'It is fair to regard the rubber manufactured to date as being almost solely the product of the beverage distilling industry.'"

"He also said that, in his estimation, the tremendous contribution of distillers' industrial alcohol to the synthetic rubber program had not received the recognition which it deserves."

"We certainly learned something today, didn't we Mary?"

This Women's Work is Never Done

Her zest for feminine news angles keeps the Women's Page sparkling!

Jean Kirkham

Editor of The Courier-Journal's Women's Page which blossoms into a full section on Sundays, knows the truth of this old adage about women's work. Her hand rocks the cradle of women's world of activities and provides a well balanced menu of fair-weather dished up daily for a vast and hungry audience (not all of whom are women, according to our tabulated reading reports.)

A gentle Hoosier, hailing from Hanover College, Madison, Jean served as Cordon correspondent of The Courier-Journal and Times before crossing the river to join the Women's Page staff in 1936. When our former Women's Page editor followed her man-of-war to officer's quarters last year, Jean was given full command where her calm disposition has proved a foil for mercurial staff temperaments.

In common with all editors, you rarely see Miss Kirkham's name in print, but her genius guides all phases of our Women's Department covering assigned writers of society, fashion and food features, club reports, special articles and Det. Tallitall. Last minute make-up, though arduous in split-second timing, insures readers of hot-off-the-wire releases. The breezy magazine presentation of the Woman's Page is testimony to the congenial collaboration between Jean and the Art Department.

Keep up with the ever-widening world of women via the Woman's Page!

FOR GENERATIONS YET UNBORN

TO THE LOVED ONES OF OUR FIGHTING BOYS:

For 22 years I have freely served the veterans and their dependents of World War I and since the present war have likewise served the relatives of our boys in the service now. I think, therefore, I am fairly well qualified to judge to some extent what is best not only for them now, but also for our grandchildren yet unborn. By my constant service over these many years I have kept myself informed on the general matters affecting them and touching upon wars and causes of wars.

Feeling deeply concerned about this war and our boys in it, and fearing what may come to our grandchildren yet to be born, I cannot resist the urge within me to write this message to the relatives back home touching upon the vital question that we must decide on now. The end of this war is not far off, but we must decide on now. I believe it is my duty to write this message to the relatives back home touching upon the vital question that we must decide on now. I believe it is my duty to write this message to the relatives back home touching upon the vital question that we must decide on now.

discharge a single one of our Generals. Why should we discharge the Commander-in-Chief when it has been his brains and plans that have brought to our armies such swift and magnificent victories?

Roosevelt recognized the Russian government over the strong protest of Dewey. How would Stalin feel now to have to sit down around the planning table for the further mapping of this war with Dewey over the table? How would he feel to face Dewey around the Peace Table, knowing that Dewey bitterly detests him and his government? When Germany is whipped, what chances do you think Dewey would have of getting Russia to join with us in our unfinished war against Japan? We will badly need allies on Russian soil from which we could swoop down on Japan from the "back door" and knock her out of the war in months, and probably a year, sooner than we can without the aid of Russia.

As I see and understand the situation this year, we are not in an ordinary campaign between Democrats and Republicans or between the man Roosevelt and the man Dewey. We are waging a crusade with the American people to determine by our vote whether we approve the way Roosevelt has planned and carried on the war thus far and whether or not we agree with him in his wonderful progress toward shaping a peace that will save us and our children and their children from the horrors of another world conflagration. Hitler and Hirohito are watching and waiting.

To the Fathers, Mothers, Wives, Brothers, Sisters, Relatives and Friends of Men In The Armed Services

Probably at no time have the people of the Seventh Congressional District ever been called upon to assume a more serious attitude in the selection of a Congressman than at the present time. On November 7th it will be our privilege as well as our duty to make this selection. WE MUST DO WHAT WE KNOW TO BE TO THE ADVANTAGE OF OUR BOYS WHO ARE FIGHTING ON THE BATTLE-FRONT OF THE WORLD.

BUT, THIS TIME IT IS DIFFERENT, MUCH DIFFERENT

At this election we will decide whether we will continue in office a man who is probably more familiar with the problems of the boys who are fighting to protect their country and its institutions than ANY OTHER MAN IN THE UNITED STATES.

A RECORD OF ACTION—NOT PROMISES

During our deliberations for this war and while it has been going on many questions involving the welfare of our boys in the armed services have come before the committee of which Mr. May is chairman and he has consistently placed their interests above everything else.

DOESN'T TRADE EXPERIENCE FOR INEXPERIENCE

Today we have a man in Congress who thoroughly understands just what to do in response to any request made of him by the people of his district concerning any matter of a military nature. He is personally acquainted with the heads of the various government departments. Matters of an important nature are discussed personally by him with such men as General Marshall, Chief of Staff of our armed

CAN HELP 'BOYS' AFTER RETURN FROM WAR. Upon the return of our boys many problems will arise concerning their interests which will call for expert guidance and counsel. Their rights under the GI Act, pensions, hospitalization and a thousand and one other things will confront them.

HERE ARE SOME OF THE THINGS HE HAS CHAMPIONED: (a) To provide adequate housing, clothing and food for all our fighting forces with necessary weapons for their defense and use. (b) To increase the enlisted man's pay from $21.00 per month as in World War I to $50.00 in this war.

Sparks with Party Attacked by Nazis

WITH U.S. TROOPS IN BELGIUM—Eight railway construction engineers, one of whom is Pfc. Orville Sparks, of Auxier, were involved in a skirmish with German patrols in Belgium.

These intrepid engineers, one officer and seven enlisted men, were on a construction mission along a rail line running from Belgium into Germany when they ran into Nazi machine gun fire at the climax of their inspection. They managed to pull out of it with only two minor casualties.

The party successfully negotiated a tunnel near the German border and observing two armed American soldiers walking through a field about 400 yards away, assumed that the territory was occupied by Allied troops and that no enemy troops were in the vicinity.

About a mile from the tunnel the party halted at an underpass while three of the group scouted ahead about 75 yards. Here they saw a German soldier who dove for a fox-hole and started firing at them. Two more enemy troops, one armed with a machine pistol, also opened fire and the scouts dropped behind the ballast on the road and returned the fire, only to be plumed down by cross fire from a machine gun about 300 yards away. Cpl. Berkley Long, of Oklahoma, received a toe wound here.

Lt. Charles N. Bayless, Lexington, Ky., Cpl. Carey Matheny, James Z. Hurd, and Pfc. Sparks, who were at the underpass, also dropped behind the ballast. Cpl. Matheny started firing to cover a withdrawal by the advance group. The remainder of the party scouted for the mouth of the tunnel. Lt. Bayless and Pfc. Levy were pinned down. Hurd, Long, Lipinski and Pfc. Granzen took cover in a clump of trees, and Pfc. Sparks dug in near Cpl. Matheny.

Pfc. Levy has hit in the shoulder, but he and Lt. Bayless crawled about 400 yards to the tunnel in a ditch paralleling the railroad. The remainder of the party got back to the tunnel under fire and returned to their outfits.

Stationed in France

FRASURE

Pfc. Edwin P. Frasure, above, son of Mr. and Mrs. Malcolm Frasure, of Louisa, is now stationed in France. He went with the air-borne troops on D-Day, fought nine consecutive days and came through without a scratch.

Pfc. Frasure's father is a World War I veteran, and was wounded in France.

Capt. Hayes, Member Of Famed Squadron

Capt. Paul E. Hayes, of Paducah, is a member of a B-24 Liberator heavy bombardment squadron that has put more than 1,000 aircraft into the air on combat missions and has dropped over 2,000 tons of bombs on vital military installations in Germany and occupied countries. The squadron has attacked key industries, airfields, and rail centers throughout western Europe since last December, and was battling rocket-launching sites long before the first buzz-bomb was sent across the Channel. It bombed in advance of landings in France on June 6 and since that time has frequently participated in operations supporting the ground forces.

Capt. Hayes, who is armament officer for the squadron, is a graduate of Morehead State Teachers College, Morehead, Ky. He taught high school mathematics in 1941, and worked as merchant seaman before entering the army in 1942. He was commissioned after attending the AAF Armament School, Yale University, and the Army Armament School.

SALISBURY

Sgt. Frank Parsons, 28, son of the Rev. and Mrs. Henry Parsons, of Betsy Layne, is with a signal corps battalion in France where he has been recommended for the Bronze Medal.

Writing his parents Sept. 23 and telling of his location with 12 others in an old French village, he said in cheerful vein: "The first day we were here I killed a nice bunch of chickens—12 of them. The next day I killed a hog. Next day I blasted the river and got a nice bunch of fish. Then I decided I would change my menu, so I killed a calf and a hog. I have a nice farm over here, plenty garden stuff and a lovely orchard with all kinds of fruit. I even have a cow and some horses. I would trade or sell the horses. I don't need them very bad. I don't think I will farm over here next year, anyway."

PARSONS

Sgt. Robert Johnson, of Dock, now stationed somewhere in New Guinea, has been awarded the Purple Heart. He was decorated when he was wounded last week by his wife, Mrs. Mae Johnson. Pvt. Johnson has been in the service for 20 months and has been in 13 months in the armed forces—Pvt. Johnson, Pvt. Ellis Johnson, and Sgt. Johnson of the navy.

Mr. and Mrs. Louis J. Allen, husband and wife, of Harrogate, Ky., were promoted to the grade of private in the navy last month. The promotion was announced somewhere in England by General Hugh J. Kiefer, navy general of the Air Service Command, United States Strategic Forces in Europe. A son of Mr. and Mrs. James Allen of Harrogate, Ky., was graduated from Betsy Layne high school in 1941. He has been overseas seven months. Two brothers—Sgt. Dewey L. Allen and Sgt. Robert Allen—are in the armed forces.

Robert Eugene Dermont, son of Mr. and Mrs. S. D. Dermont, of the late John A. Martin, was graduated from the U. S. Naval Reserve Midshipman's School Oct. 26 in the Navy Drill Hall on the campus of the University of Notre Dame.

Graduating as an ensign, USNR, he was one of approximately 500 midshipmen who have successfully completed the four months' training as a midshipman. The exercises were highlighted by an address of Vice-Admiral Randall Jacobs, chief of the Bureau of Naval Personnel. The inscription was delivered by the Rev. Hugh O'Donnell, C. S. C., president of the University of Notre Dame.

CONGRESS

Dr. Gabbard is capable and honest. He seeks to improve roads, schools and churches. He is the friend of all groups—farmers, mill operators and business men—and is deeply interested in the welfare of both old and young people.

His Life and Work Guarantee the Kind of Representation Our People Want And Need

Mr. May's record, as a Congressman, does not support the high-sounding claims being made in his behalf. The following things are some of the examples of his failure:

- As chairman of the Military Affairs Committee, he made unfounded claims about the termination of the war that were assailed all over the country as a definite hindrance to our war effort. These and other mistakes have led fellow-Congressmen to suggest that Mr. May's failure to return will not hinder the progress of the war or affect the peace that follows.
- Mr. May, in 1942, opposed the Rankin amendment to increase soldiers' pay to $50 per month.
- On Oct. 18, 1943, he opposed an increase in allowances to dependents of our soldiers and complained that soldiers' wives would not work in other people's kitchens due to sums already being paid them. (Page No. 8559, Congressional Record, Oct. 18, 1943).
- He has retarded labor legislation and opposed bills for the benefit of the common people.
- During his 12 years in Congress, we have sent thousands of men and women and great quantities of coal and raw materials to factories and war plants OUTSIDE the Seventh District. We have heard of no effort by Mr. May to bring one of these plants to our District or to encourage or promote permanent industries among our people.

Why is Ed Lane up in the air?

BECAUSE he's down to earth about conserving coal. That's why he's putting up storm windows. He knows there will be some shortage of coal going to householders.

No less coal is being produced. More is being mined than ever before—with fewer men. Mine owners and miners alike are doing a splendid job. And there are ample rail facilities for transporting coal to your city.

But certain grades of coal are going to be greatly in demand for war production. And, to make things worse, your local coal dealer faces a shortage in manpower, trucks and tires.

So if you want to keep warm this winter, do everything possible to conserve the coal you can get. The little, common-sense things you can do will make your coal pile go 10% further—and save that much on your fuel bill.

Install weatherstripping. Clean your furnace. Fire carefully, and avoid overheating. Shut off unused rooms. Pull your shades low at night. For other suggestions, see your coal dealer.

One of the biggest jobs of the C & O Lines is hauling coal from the mines along its routes, so we're in a position to understand the problem, and to know how essential coal is these days.
