OF WAR MEMORIALS . . .

FLOYD COUNTY during this war honestly but ineffectually sought to honor in a material sort of way its servicemen by the erection of an "Honor Roll" in the courthouse grounds here. The attempt was a rank failure, although none of us was to blame in particular.

Now, as we, individuals in a grateful nation, cast about for other means of paying tribute to those who served in their country's uniform, varied ideas for memorials enter into the picture.

The most conventional idea is that of erecting a permanent memorial bearing the names of the county's war dead. And there is not a thing wrong with such a conventional plan.

Only, it seems too much of a dead thing. A mere spire, reaching vainly a few feet toward the sky, mere names on its weathered sides, is a thing to be taken in by the public's general glance and may be passed by with little thought.

If this county were big enough, and its people generous enough in their reverence for those who served, something more lasting and beneficial would result from this desire of ours to pay honor to whom, of all our kind, honor is due.

A library for instance. Why not work a little harder and a little longer and have built in this county an enduring monument to our war dead and, at the same time, a temple for those who survived and who are to follow in the years after this war?

A library, dedicated to Floyd county's men and women who wore their country's uniform, would stand as more than a physical thing in memory of these of our kith and kin who served in behalf of us all. The children of this and succeeding generations for whom the "boys' fought would find therein a beauty in the printed page, and through them the memory of a memorial library would be a living, even an undying, thing. Therein would be the wisdom of the sages, the beauty of imagination, the beauty of the poet's fancy.

Such a county institution would be dedicated to all who wore the uniform in the country's hours of need. Inside its halls might well be tablets bearing the names of those who died for this and all other such institutions. It should contain a "Town Hall" where the American Legion and all other veterans' organizations, as well as every civic body, could meet.

In brief, such a monument to service could be a community center.

If this is an idea so fantastic it should be ignored, it deserves no further thought. If it is worthy the pages of this newspaper can make it a success by begin working now. Your suggestions are solicited.

At this time the bridge was under intense and continuous enemy fire, which exemplifies Pvt. Howell's contribution to the armed forces."

As usual, no one could speak Russian and no Russian could speak English. The occasion was properly celebrated, however, by exchanging drinks and trinkets. Even though this was the first meeting on the front, the occasion will never be forgotten by the men of the patrol.

Plans to extend and improve farm telephone service

Rural telephone service is more highly developed in this country than anywhere else in the world. There are more than four times as many Southern Bell-operated farm telephones in the South today as in 1935. Southern Bell now has underway a wide-range program to further extend and improve telephone service to rural areas.

Our first job will continue to be to help win the war in the Pacific, but as soon as conditions permit, the necessary manpower and equipment will again be put to work on the job of expanding rural service—just as we were busily engaged in expanding this service before the war.

The goal is to bring the telephone to the greatest possible number of farm families.

Against the day when the building program can be begun the board voted Tuesday to purchase from its building fund $110,000 worth of government bonds which can be converted into cash when needed.

Bidders on two school repair jobs were far apart, the board learned Tuesday upon opening sealed bids. For repair of the Martin school Dick Layne's bids of $745 was low, and Frank Wecksbury, the only other bidder, asked $1,300 for the job.

On general repair of the Clark school, lower John Creek, however, Layne's bid was $1,225 as compared with the $275.00 of Elmon Clarke, the successful bidder.

Bids were also asked this week on school bus insurance. These bids will be received until Aug. 20 and the insurance must become effective by Aug. 27, opening date of all consolidated schools of the county.

The Superintendent of Schools was directed by the board of education to submit for publication the board's financial statement for the year.

OSBORNE RECEIVES THE BRONZE STAR; BROTHER COMMENDED BY HIS C.O.

KENNETH OSBORNE

Pfc. Kenneth E. Osborne, son of Mrs. Laura Osborne, of Osborn, has been awarded the Bronze Star for heroic achievement in action during the battle for Italy. Pfc. Osborne was credited with killing 83 Germans, his mother stated.

His brother, Pfc. Samuel Osborne, a veteran of overseas service, was the subject of a recent letter from his commanding officer, Lt. Col. William W. Beverly, to his mother. The letter said, in part: "He has fought through his months of rugged war fare. He has proven, not only to himself but to all associated with him, that he is a tried and true soldier. It is a great honor to me to be able to serve with real soldiers of the calibre of your son."

SGT. STEPHENS WINS DECORATION; BROTHER KILLED IN LUZON CAMPAIGN

HARRISON STEPHENS

For his leadership of the 12 remaining men in his platoon with whom he had been cut off near Rueda, France, last New Year's day, S/Sgt. Harrison Stephens, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Stephens, Sr. of Rianon, has been awarded the Bronze Star. The citation accompanying the award read, in part:

"Sgt. Stephens, commanding the remaining 12 men of his platoon, led them in a hazardous withdrawal to their own lines through enemy positions already established. His brilliant direction and control of the movement enabled the 12 men to bypass the German strong points. S/Sgt. Stephens' courageous leadership in the face of danger was an inspiration to his men."

BILL STEPHENS

His brother, Bill Stephens, was killed by mortar fire April 6 while commanding a hill on Luzon which was held by the Japanese. He was buried at Manila. The following is an excerpt from a letter written his mother by Capt. Frederick M. McInnis:

"Words seem weak and small in this hour of tragedy, but I want you to know that the officers and men of the entire company feel the loss of Bill as a personal one. His performance of duty in combat was an example to each of us. He often spoke of you, recalling the numerous incidents of his youth. Your sacrifices were many then, but now that the supreme sacrifice had to be made, I hope that my few words of sympathy will aid in healing the pain of his departure."

SELF-REGULATION
Where it operates...
The brewers of Kentucky, through the Foundation, are seeing to it that wholesome conditions are maintained where beer and ale are sold. Accordingly, the program is conducted in every section of Kentucky in which retailers sell malt beverages. The Kentucky Committee's field men promote cooperation among retailers by regularly visiting places selling beer and ale to observe conditions. Where necessary, suggestions for improvements are made. Retailers in almost all instances act on suggestions for improvements. Hence, Self-Regulation is a practical means of making sure that beer and ale are sold by businessmen who regard a retail beer license as an opportunity not to be abused.

The new fast, powerful, coal-burning, steam-turbine electric locomotive—a big source of postwar jobs.

Millions of pairs of nylon hose will be made from coal. This will make jobs.

Power to turn postwar wheels. More jobs from coal.

How Many Postwar Jobs—from Coal?

WHAT OPPORTUNITIES will there be for jobs after the war is won? Jobs for returning soldiers, sailors, war workers?

No one can say, exactly. But this much is known: business is planning to meet quickly the demand that will exist for all sorts of things after victory—and out of which jobs will come.

Take the coal industry. Not only will coal continue as one of our basic sources of power, but from coal research there has come a host of new products that will even further increase its use.

Before the war, nylon was made from coal. So were the life-saving sulfa drugs. During the war, new medicines, chemicals, plastics and things beyond imagining have grown from research in coal.

Postwar, you will find sheer, wrinkle-proof dresses made from coal. Stydy shoes made from coal. Shimmering, fire-proof table-tops made from coal. There are even revolutionary locomotives—including the C & O-planned steam-turbine electric—that operate on coal.

develop undreamed-of smoothness and efficiency. All this will increase the demand for coal—and remember, it's demand for goods that makes jobs.

After the war, there will be lots of opportunities. So, if you are on a war job, stay on it until Uncle Sam says it's finished. Victory must come first.

The 101st dropped into Holland Sept. 17, last, to launch a continuous 73-day action. The division, which was awarded the Presidential citation by General Eisenhower for extraordinary heroism and gallantry, played a big role in capturing and holding a vital highway supply route for the British 2nd army.

When the Poles come marching HOME

THE removal of Government restrictions will soon make possible the construction of new lines bringing electricity to farms not now electrified.

As a business man, the farmer especially appreciates the "Know How," and, as a business managed industry, we have the sure know-edge and skill necessary to furnish dependable electric service.

Weather, that arch enemy of farming, does not stop us. We have no time out no hours off. With electricity to aid him, the modern farmer doesn't have to just hope—he knows how it's going to be done, too.

A $1,000,000 AGENCY

The Hatler Johnson Life Insurance Agency has several million dollars' worth of insurance in force on the lives of prosperous, satisfied, permanent policyholders; and is currently placing new business at the rate of over $1,000,000 a year.

This success is due to three factors:

- (1) Selection of agents whose business methods inspire public confidence.
(2) Policies for every need from the cradle to the grave and beyond: Educational, Disability, Income, Retirement, Mortgage Redemption and Family Protection.
(3) Agent's contract, training and learning the business in dignified manner that enables the agent to make enough money to conduct himself as a business man should.

We have no "high-pressure-30-day-wonder-blow-hards" whose "brilliant" records are eclipsed with the discouragement and the ill-will of a constant long train of lapsed policies.

We are looking for people in Floyd county who can qualify as agents our way; and the pay will be good.

INFORMATION FOR VETERANS

Compiled by E. O. Hinkle, Local Veterans' Employment Representative, U.S. Employment Service, Prestonsburg, Ky.

If you have been discharged from the armed forces, your National Service Life Insurance will be one of your most valuable assets in civilian life. If you let it lapse, you will be unable to buy similar protection for yourself and family at the same cost. To keep it in force you must do two things:

1. Pay the premium direct. Make check or money order payable to Treasurer of the United States and mail it to the Collections Subdivision, Veterans' Administration, Washington, D. C. You may arrange to pay your premium monthly, quarterly, semi-annually or annually.

2. Your insurance was originally issued on what is called the Five-Year-Level-Premium-Term Plan. Any time after it has been in force a year, and before the end of five years, you may convert it into Ordinary Life, 20-Payment Life, or 30-Payment Life. Your new policy will have regular cash values after the first year from which you can borrow if necessary.

If you wish to change your beneficiary, write the Director of Insurance, Veterans' Administration, Washington, D. C.

This very much, but—with due apologies to all concerned, my dear friends, I think there is no important thing missing and that I, woman, women, girls, females, the opposite sex or any way you care put it in a word, your paper lacks sex! A few of the right kind of pictures would go a long way toward building up the morale of the service men who read your paper.

"What I suggest is at least one pin-up picture a week, preferably one of our own Floyd county girls; who, take it from me, can't be beat!"

Tankman's Death Told In Chaplain's Letter

Details of the death of T/5 Chester A. Allen, of Hueyville, in a shell-shattered tank on May 30, 1944, eight days after American forces began their drive from the Ando beachhead toward Rome, are given in a letter from Chaplain Wilber K. Anderson to the soldier's sister, Mrs. Billie A. Chester, of Hueyville. The letter follows in part:

"All of us who knew Chester join in extending to you our most heartfelt sympathies. He, as others of our brave comrades, made the supreme sacrifice; that our American way of life might be preserved."

"On the 30th day of May, 1944, the eighth day of the drive from the Ando beachhead for Rome, Chester was performing his duty as a member of a tank crew with his organization. During the attack, the enemy the tank in which he was riding was knocked out of action by an enemy anti-tank shell. The gunner, who was severely wounded, managed to escape from the vehicle and stated that he was the member to get out of the tank. Shortly thereafter the enemy advanced and the gunner was captured. Due to the enemy concentration on the area where the tank battle had been in progress, it was impossible to reach the knocked-out tank to evacuate any remaining occupants. Later, the tactical situation rendered it impossible to return to that vicinity, therefore, Chester was reported as missing in action."

"Recently on the area being searched and the interior of the tank being inspected, sufficient evidence was uncovered to determine that the gunner, who had been accounted for, had been the only member of the tank crew to extricate himself from the vehicle. Such evidence being considered reasonably conclusive of death, and which leads to no other logical conclusion, it is determined that, Chester perished in his tank on the 30th of May, 1944 after it was knocked out by an enemy anti-tank shell."

A son of the late Rev. and Mrs. R. S. Allen, the victim entered the army Oct. 14, 1941 and was one of two selectees picked for training along with other men who had from three to four years' previous training. His armored regiment was embarked from New York for Ireland, later invading North Africa. He took part in the following engagements: El Guetari and final pursuit of the enemy in Africa to the end of May 7, 1943. He was in Sicily with Gen. Patton's men for several months, thence into Italy.

FOUR FLOYD PARATROOPERS WITH UNIT CITED AFTER STORMING BELGIAN TOWN

The 504th parachute infantry regiment, four members of which are Floyd countians, has been cited for outstanding performance of duty against the enemy. This is a part of Sgt. York's famous division. Names of these Floyd countians follow: Pvt. Ted Stratton, son of Sparrell Stratton, of Betsy Layne; Pvt. Noble Skeans, son of Taylor Skeans, Prestonsburg, who is also overseas; Pvt. Glenn Kilgore, son of Mrs. Lillie Kilgore, and Pvt. Carmel Patton, son of Johnnie Patton, both of Garrett.

Below is the Unit Citation in part: "The First Battalion, 504th Parachute Infantry (less Company 'A') is cited for outstanding performance of duty in action against the enemy at Chenueux, Belgium. This force was ordered to seize and occupy the town which is situated on hilly terrain and was defended by a heavily reinforced battalion of approved SS troops supported by a Mark VI tank, numerous machine guns, SP 20-mm guns, SP 77-mm guns, and 105-mm howitzers. The position was further defended in depth by several halftracks mounting triple 20-mm cannon and SP 81-mm mortars.

"The battalion attacked Chenueux in echelons of assault waves and stormed the strongly entrenched enemy through the heavy fire of 20-mm cannon, machine guns, mortar and small arms. The first three waves suffered heavy losses as they charged across 400 yards of open fields defended with barbed wire. Despite heavy losses, these airborne soldiers kept going with grim determination, each succeeding wave getting closer until the enemy and his armored vehicles and cannon were finally overwhelmed in fierce hand-to-hand combat. When ammunition ran low the troopers drove the enemy from the most impregnable positions with bayonets and clubbed rifles. The stubborn enemy was completely routed from his perimeter defenses and the attack continued until a portion of Chenueux was seized, where reorganization was effected and preparations made for a counter-attack.

"At dawn, the enemy laid down a heavy artillery preparation, then launched five successive counter-attacks through the day. All of these counter-attacks continued the attack and drove the Germans from the town and nearby high ground. In this battle for Chenueux, the First Battalion of the 504th Parachute Infantry (less Company 'A'), destroyed five companies of German SS armored troops and large quantities of artillery, vehicles and one Mark VI tank. They sealed a trap for 30 tanks and 95 vehicles which were eventually completely destroyed. This airborne force sustained heavy casualties in the engagement, but, despite these losses and the fanatical ferocity with which the enemy defended key positions, it prevailed in a most outstanding manner through superb discipline, skill and teamwork."
