SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY
PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

AUGUST 30, 1945

FOLLOW-UP

As a follow-up to last week's comment on the short cut via the Middle Creek road, Prestonsburg to Salsberyville and on to the Bluegrass hotel—we would report that the narrow underpass is being widened. Buses and trucks soon will be able to negotiate this barrier. A black-top surface should be the next step, and not too far away.

EXPLANATION

"Why didn't you drive your own jalopy in Cincinnati?" a reader of last week's column asks after reading of my travel aboard a taxi. Well... I drove the jalopy, round and round the west, staying in the jalopy until it came the time when the gas gauge indicated it needed parking in the first storage garage handy.

DRIVE AHEAD—AND SOON!

This non-inflationary drive that's to start can't get into high gear too soon. We all have experienced during the war a mild form of inflation, but if this snowball continues to pick up weight with a downhill drag we will really see something.

End of the war did not finish the battle for the people of this country. It is our "boundless" duty to get on our feet and get on to a wide spreading spree, with the sky the limit. The common, ordinary business man and citizen, these are the folks who will suffer if price controls evaporate.

Honest dollars earned may be spent by the bare and little bought thereby if people of this country do not keep their feet on the ground.

War II Vet Is Jailed Here As Home of Grandfather, Civil War Veteran, Burns

Accused of arson in the burning of his parents' home on Town Branch, near here, Friday evening, Alex Stone, discharged World War I veteran, remained in jail here this week while unable to execute $3,000 peace bond.

Officers said they were told Stone made two attempts to burn the home after arriving there intoxicated during his parents' absence. Mrs. Henry C. Stone, and breaking up household furniture. The first attempt was frustrated by the father with the assistance of neighbors, it was said.

Then the younger Stone is said to have attached a fuse to blasting power keg, one of several stored in the building. The resulting blast partially wrecked the two-story frame structure and the fire was beyond control when the Prestonsburg fire department reached the scene. Only a few household items were saved and the loss was estimated at $4,500.

Hollerson Willie C. Martin and Deputy Sheriff Bill "Pepper" Willis arrested Stone on the hillside near the home after a brief chase.

The razed structure was the old home of the late "Uncle" Jeff Sizemore, Civil War veteran, who died there a few years ago and was purchased with money from his pension.

Stone was discharged from the army about three years ago and had been employed as a janitor.

ARMED FORCES NEED 50,000

Each Month, War Dept. Announces; September Draft Calls Are Stated

State Selective Service headquarters issued this week to correct the erroneous impression that huge manpower restrictions relieve all draft registrants of the necessity of making permission from their draft boards before quitting essential jobs.

All draft boards were notified Wednesday that registrants who are in draft 25, may not quit vital work without draft board permission and their failure to do so will result in their re-classification for service.

Although the army's manpower needs will be reduced, a total of 60,000 new men a month for the present, the War Department announced Sunday. September draft calls will be for 63,000 men—50,000 for the army, 13,000 for the navy.

Each change in the 50,000 figure will depend on the rate at which men volunteer for service. It was said.

Breakdown of the 50,000 figure this week announced will send to Hunt- (See Story No. 3, Page 8)

Nichols was injured. His mount was so badly hurt it was destroyed. The salesman was brought here before County Judge Hill and fined on a reckless driving charge.

Last of Floyd county's more than 16,000 school children will enter the schools with the opening next Tuesday of the Prestonsburg schools, all other consolidated schools of the county having begun their terms Monday of this week.

Enrollment in the high school here and in all the consolidated schools which had reported was above that of the opening date last year, county school officials said. In only a few schools was there a temporary teacher shortage. County Superintendent Hall said.

Every teaching post in the high school here was occupied when the term began Monday, with the exception of the combinator post of science teacher and athletic coach, Keith "Eck" Bramham, former coach here, has been employed for the post, subject to his release from army service within the next 30 days.

Chalmers Frazer, for the last two years employed in a civilian capacity, will be returning to the post, subject to his release from army service within the next 30 days.

Miss Martha Jane Fitzpatrick and Miss Orla B. Hester, both of Manly, Ky., were appointed to the position of full-time instructor in music here. Joseph Elliott, who was here for one year, has resumed his pre-war career as countywide basketball coach.

If Bramham is able to begin work as athletic coach within 30 days, the high school here will be able to play its football schedule with the exception of two games. His failure to return may deprive the school of a coach for the year, however, Mr. Wicker added. Mr. Frazer will be available as basketball coach.

Enrollment in the high school here Tuesday morning was 360, the second day of school here.

The County Superintendent's office has reported that the average monthly salary schedule is $113 base salary, $2 for each year of teaching experience and $10 for each year of service over college work.

Tom Rowland, superintendent of the Eastern Kentucky Education Association, addressed approximately 100 teachers here Tuesday.

Why Should We Be Critical?

OVER the darkest brink, out across the nethermost rim the human mind has peered in the discovery of atomic power. What has been seen is only half-known to a score or so of the millions on this planet.

The cyclotron and its atom-bursting business in recent years was, by and large, considered by most of us as no more than a scientific plaything for a long-haired few—and now the result of all this "play" bursts upon the world in Buck Rogersian fury, in explosions from the source of power itself.

It is all terrifying. And so they tell us this should not have been our weapon in time of war. "An inhuman monstrosity."

"A ghastly terror," men of the cloth and the press have termed it. "Take it away and dump it into the ocean," cried one disgraced editorialist.

These men speak only of palpable results. They, even as you and I, know little of this Thing, except that it literally swept up into nothingness four square miles of a city, except that its limitations may be bounded only by infinity. They have read, as have we, that minute particles of its "by-product," as it were, have heated the Columbia river into which they escaped; that some substances discovered in its making are known to possess such poisonous qualities as to render uninhabitable large areas.

More than that they, as we all, know little or nothing. Knowing only the results—that they saved a million American lives in our war with Japan—and knowing that a mad race for discovery of atomic power was waged by the several warring nations, and also knowing the cruel intentions of the enemy, why should these critics inveigh against their own country because it employed a power that providentially came within its grasp rather than the foe's? Should not its ruthlessness, the utter cruelty and boundless ambition of the enemy constitute some justification of the use of the atomic bomb?

True, the fate of those Japs upon whom atomic fury fell is a terrifying thing. Humanity's deepest instincts shrink from the horror of such catastrophic destruction.

But the human instinct is self-preservation. Only from the representatives of humanity's needs could civilization expect protection, and it may have been a higher will than our own that gave into our hands the awesome force necessary to win this life-and-death struggle.

Then we should be thankful rather than critical. And gratefully we should accept the solemn duty of holding in leash this power against the destruction of any except those who would subjugate the world, deprive all peoples of liberty and destroy the finest that is in mankind.

Herein, then, in the dark awesomeness of a thing of death, may lie a hope for the day when the sword will indeed become a plowshare.

Pfc. Tine Meade, 32, Serves with Chinese Combat Command

Pfc. Tine Meade, 32, son of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Meade, of Amba, Ky., husband of Elizabeth Jones Meade of Banner, is now on duty with the Chinese Combat Command, the United States army organization working in the field with the Chinese army to increase its effectiveness against the Japanese invaders. He arrived in China with the 475th Infantry regiment when most of that organization was down from Burma by the air transport command. The 475th was organized in north Burma from the famed Merrill's Marauders and replacements from the United States after the successful battle for Myitkyina. In the spring of 1944 it became part of the American Mars task force which saw gallant action as long range penetration troops in the central Burma campaign into early 1945, fighting with American trained and equipped Chinese troops along the old Burma road to clear and secure what is now known as the Stilwell road. The 475th's action in Burma was highlighted by a history-making march of more than 400 miles with pack mules from Myitkyina across the perilous jungle and mountain terrain to make surprise attacks on Japanese routes of retreat to southern Burma.

Meade, who was employed by the Chesapeake Ohio Railway Company prior to entering the army in April, 1942, trained at Fort Riley, Kansas in the cavalry before being ordered overseas. After arriving overseas he was attached to the 475th Infantry regiment. Meade saw action at the battle of Laikim in Burma for which he has been awarded the Infantry Combat Badge and is entitled to wear a Bronze Star on his Asiatic-Pacific campaign ribbon. He also has two sons and two daughters. He hopes to be united with Mrs. Meade and the children soon.

THE HEALTH OF YOUR LIVESTOCK

By BEECHER L. SCITCHELDO, Licensed Veterinarian

At the present time no one can question the value of keeping your livestock free from disease. The benefits derived from having your own livestock now are evident as no one will deny the benefits to be derived from a healthy hog or milk-producing cow this winter. Any one who practices scientific care of livestock can expect to profit over those who do not. In addition, the relationship of animal disease to human health should be considered by everyone as important as many of the diseases of animals are transmissible to man. This series of articles is pleased to be of definite value to you in caring for the health of your animals.

The subjects of animals and the animal loss from these diseases are: hog cholera, over twenty million dollars; mastitis in cattle, over five million dollars; distemper in dogs, over ten million dollars, and parasites in all animals, over two hundred million dollars. These diseases and figures are given to show what an enormous loss is prevalent every year. Do not be fooled by saying that they are other people's loss. In Floyd and adjoining counties these diseases are just as prevalent. Of course there are many other diseases of stock just as costly. These include distemper, purpura hemorrhagica and astoria in horses; milk fever, acetoneemia and shipping fever in cattle; swine erysipelas and shipping fever in hogs and rabbits in dogs. These large losses of animals from diseases can definitely be reduced by proper disease control methods.

There is a seasonal occurrence of hog cholera in the fall months of each year. Therefore, during the season approaching now be sure to be on the lookout for any indications of hog cholera in one of your hogs or any hogs you might buy from the stock market's community sales and unknown dealers.

TO THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY:

I wish to take this means of conveying to each of you my most sincere thanks for the support you gave me in the recent primary election. I came out this election with an ill feeling toward any person and to those who opposed me I offer my friendship. I am determined to prove to the people that they have made no mistake in nominating me for the office of Jailer. I will keep faith with you as you have with me. Your friend, EVERETTE COLLINS

Tire Quotas Held To August Level

Motorists' hopes for new tires were dimmed this week when the OPA announced that September civilian quotas would be the same as in August, and "far from enough" to meet the flood of applications since gasoline rationing ended August 15.

Max McCaughy, deputy national administrator, promised, however, that tire rationing will end "just as soon as enough tires are available to prevent the transportation system from being crippled by a rush that would strip dealers of supplies."

Next month's quotas call for 2,500,000 passenger-car tires, 386,862 for small trucks and 300,000 for larger trucks. The only important change from August quotas was an increase of 2,000 large-truck tires and a corresponding reduction in smaller sizes.

Two Eastern Kentucky Coal Mines Inspected

Two Kentucky coal mines in Floyd and McCreary counties, employing 903 men and producing 3,500 tons of coal daily, were recently re-examined by federal inspectors who commented on existing safety precautions but suggested further improvements in operating conditions, according to formal inspector reports released by the Bureau of mines.

The operations are the Co-Operative mine of the Sleights and Lumber Company at Co-Operative, McCreary county, and the Wayland No. 28 mine of the Elk Hill Corporation, Wayland, Floyd county. Beneficial changes made between federal inspections and the present were credited to company initiative, employee cooperation, orders and suggestions of the Federal Department of Mines and Minerals, and recommendations of the Bureau.

Observing that "approximately 65 per cent of the injuries were caused by roof falls and haulage accidents," Shaw emphasized the need for increased safety in these operations.

Additional recommendations were for safer blasting practices, an intensified coal-dust control program, improved installation and better guarding of electrical equipment, further mechanical safeguards, a fire-fighting organization, and elimination of such ignition and fire hazards as smoking in the mine and the use of open-flame lamps.

Sufficient methane (explosive gas) was being liberated during the inspection as to justify classification and operation of the mine as a gassy, said Shaw, who also recommended stronger air-currents at several working places to dilute and remove gas accumulations as well as more effective air-courting facilities.

Noting approvingly that workmen have been instructed in the vibration method of roof testing, Shaw also credited the operation with such additional protective measures as better maintenance of haulage roads, throwns for switches, elimination of some electrical and mechanical hazards, frequenting of underground structures, an accurate check-in-

SELF-REGULATION A public trust . . .

The Kentucky Committee of the Foundation demands strict observance of laws and regulations governing the sale of beer and ale. Such effort is evidenced by a recent resolution of the Kentucky Peace Officers Association which expresses appreciation of the Foundation's cooperation with members of the Association.

The Kentucky brewing industry considers watchfulness and cooperation with law-enforcement authorities a public trust. To keep this trust the Foundation's field men inspect retail beer outlets regularly to see that laws and regulations are observed.

Thus, by maintaining wholesome conditions where beer and ale are sold, the Kentucky brewing industry is keeping pledge to Kentuckians.

Soft, smooth, paper sheets and pillowcases for hospitals. These will take workers to produce.

Sturdy furniture made of paper—more jobs in paper mills.

Postwar Jobs—Wrapped Up in Paper!

WITH VICTORY, servicemen and war workers alike are going to need peacetime jobs. How many there will be, no one can say. But this much is known:

Business management has long since laid plans to meet as quickly as possible the demand for goods that has mounted during the war—and doing this will make jobs by the thousands.

Consider what will happen in the paper industry. Not only will paperboard, for packing and shipping innumerable products, be needed by the thousands of tons, but new uses for paper—grown out of war discoveries—will even further increase that demand.

Imagine plasticized paper, for example, so tough that roofing tiles can be made of it. Imagine it so sturdy that it can be built into light-weight furniture. Imagine paper so soft, yet so resistant to tearing, that sheets and pillowcases for hospital use can be made of it.

These, and many other exciting new uses, will increase the demand for paper—and demand for goods makes jobs.

The paper industry is only one of many along the Chesapeake and Ohio, the Nickel Plate, and the Pere Marquette, that have planned carefully for postwar employment.

And now that Victory has been won, these industries and others throughout the country will put into operation their plans for the jobs and opportunities all of us want.

West Va. City Opposes Big Sandy Canal Project

Williamson, W. Va., Aug. 26.—The Williamson Municipal Council has gone on record as being unanimously opposed to the proposed $65,000,000 project for canalization of the Big Sandy river and its Lewis and Tug fork tributaries. The council adopted a resolution which, among other points, said that the Norfolk & Western Railway pays 53.4 per cent of the direct taxation in Mingo county and that most of this revenue would be lost if the canalization were completed. The resolution also said that the waterway, which has been a controversial subject for the past decade, would pay no taxes to the cities and counties here and in Kentucky through which the stream courses, and that it would provide fewer jobs than the railroad.

Col. C. L. Hall, of Columbus, Ohio River Division U.S. engineer, announced last June a "partially favorable" report on the proposed flood control and navigation project.

Colonel Hall's report, based on a three-year survey, spoke favorably of plans to provide a nine-foot channel, but said that the proposed flood control plans were unfeasible.

The navigation proposal calls for canalization from the mouth of the Big Sandy to Spruce, W. Va. and to the junction of Lewis and Russell forks on Lewis forks.

The engineers' report is now awaiting action by the Rivers and Harbors Committee of the House of Representatives.

Herman Johnson, a brother of the victim, said he knew of no previous trouble between the two men and claimed the shot was fired without provocation. The shooting took place in front of the Sterling Johnson restaurant, Bypro.

After signing an affidavit before Magistrate Henry Stumbo to the effect that Matt Johnson, 15 minutes prior to the shooting, had told her husband that Gardner Johnson had been "trying to court her," Mrs. Caudill refused the statement, claiming it had been gained under duress. In her original statement she said she saw Matt Johnson give her husband the revolver with which Gardner Johnson was slain.

Matt Johnson was released under $2,000 bond. Deputy Sheriff Harold Conn quoted him as saying the death weapon was stolen from him by Caudill and that he took the revolver from Caudill shortly after the one shot was fired.

William Caudill is a brother of the late Matt Johnson. He has been a fugitive from a murder charge in this county, and he himself was manslaughter defendant here, several years ago. In the death of Jesse Osborne on Left Beaver, Caudill was found dead on the railway tracks and Caudill was acquitted.

The victim is survived by two children, Burl, of Letcher county, and Shelby Jean, of Knott county; his father, Joe Johnson, Cherokee, Lawrence county, who is employed at Wheelwright; three brothers and three sisters—Steve, of Wheelwright; Herman, of Bypro; Joe Johnson, Jr., in South Pacific navy service; Mrs. Thomas Bates, Kite, Ky.; Mrs. Rich Hall, Wheelwright; and Miss Stella Johnson, Harold.

VETERANS PROTEST
We think this man and his buddies are so eternally right that we're giving his plea Page 1 space. We have never aspired to direct strategy or run the war, but we do think combat troops should be relieved from army of occupation duty by those who have not risked their lives. Read his plea:
I am a man born and reared in Floyd county. I served 11 months and 15 days in the bloody battles of Germany. I hold the Purple Heart, Good Conduct medal, three Battle Stars and the Unit Citation. I have been married since 1939, have a wife and two children. My wife is in bad health.
I ask that you help us get this message through to Congress at once.
To those interested in the cause of Supreme Justice, we the 98th Infantry Division, make the following appeal:
In the time of trials and tribulations of our great country we have served the cause of freedom well. We, of the famous 98th, have seen 363 days of combat, horror, hardship and suffering for what our forefathers have thought right. During all our 11 months overseas in the European theater, we participated in three major battles and performed with distinction. In addition, to all this, most of the men of this division have already completed their third year of military service. While the war continued we had no complaints as to our future, but now that it is all over we consider our job completed and wish to return to our homes as soon as possible. Isn't a three-year interruption, together with all our other sacrifices, enough to ask of anyone? Furthermore, we object strongly to being railroaded into occupation of Japanese territory. Is this the Justice we have given our services and risked our lives for? Is this the kind of thanks America gives her combat veterans? There are certainly enough troops here in the U.S. who have seen neither overseas nor combat duty who can do the job of occupation. There can't be that much wrong with our military system that they must turn from the combat troops into an occupation force.
We came into the service—young men. We are now the aged. You—not to let us be grey-haired old men when we get out.
P.S. WE HAVE BEEN ALERTED FOR SHIPMENT TO THE PACIFIC. TIME IS SHORT. ACT BEFORE IT IS TOO LATE.
