DANGEROUS LEAVES
Although the succulent stems or stalks of the rhubarb plant have long been used for springtime sauces and pies, the leaves are poisonous because they contain so much oxalic acid in soluble form, the U. S. Department of Agriculture warns. Numerous cases of illness and even some deaths have been reported in both Europe and the United States from eating rhubarb leaves cooked as greens. Though oxalic acid is present in the stalks, it is in such small amounts and mostly in the form of insoluble salts so that it does not create a hazard.

Rhubarb leaves may be put to use to brighten dark aluminum pans, however. Boil leaves and water in the discolored pan or kettle a few minutes. Then wash the pan thoroughly with soap and water.

Barckett-Conley Vows Are Solemnized Today

Miss Betrice Barckett, daughter of Mrs. Martha Hughes Barckett and the late Walter Barckett, of Highland avenue, and Mr. William Paris Conley, son of Mr. and Mrs. Paris Conley, of the Abbott road, were quietly married Thursday, May 16, at the Methodist Church at 2 p.m.

The double ring ceremony was solemnized by the pastor, the Rev. W. B. Garratt. Mrs. L. W. Barbour, of Huntington, W. Va., aunt of the bride, served as matron of honor and Mr. William Richmond Priddy, of Lexington, was best man. The bride was attired in powder blue, with white accessories. Her corsage was of orchids, with a shower of white sweet peas. Mrs. Barbour wore a navy suit with black accessories. Her corsage was of white rosebuds tied with fuchsia ribbon.

Mrs. Conley attended school in Letcher county prior to her residence here. Mr. Conley was graduated from Prestonsburg high school and attended Pikeville College. He was discharged from the army in November after having served three years, 18 months of which were spent overseas. He is now employed by the Floyd County Board of Education.

Following the ceremony they left for a brief honeymoon in Cincinnati and other points.

A. H. Mandt and J. R. Hurt left Tuesday afternoon for Washington, D.C., where they will confer with coal officials in regard to the coal strike.

Why You Face a COAL FAMINE!

This is not an argument. It is not an attempt to convince anybody of anything. It is presented as a public service in an effort to tell the people about the coal strike—what caused it—what the coal operators have done to try to settle it—what the coal famine we now face means to the people.

Usually there are two reasons given for strikes:

First—Failure of management to grant union demands for wages, hours or working conditions.

Second—Refusal of management to bargain collectively with the union.

Neither of these is the cause for the coal strike.

As to the first: Coal mine operators have offered the highest wages ever paid to coal miners. They have volunteered the highest offer made by any large industry since the end of the war. They voluntarily offered to follow the wage pattern set in the steel, oil, and automotive industries. They offered to reduce the working hours per day. They made a number of specific offers regarding working conditions.

As to the second: The wage conference was called at the request of John L. Lewis, president of the miners' union. The Operators' Negotiating Committee readily agreed to it. The conference began March 12, 1946. Union officials consumed almost a week in speechmaking. They made no specific demands. The operators replied in less than one day and then promptly submitted proposals to prevent a strike. The proposals were ignored by the union officials. A strike was called on April 1.

The operators submitted additional proposals to bring the strike to an end. These also were dismissed by the union's leaders.

UNION LEADERS REFUSE TO BARGAIN—UNLESS...

Union officials walked out of the conference on April 10, admitting that there had been no negotiations for making a new wage agreement since the conference had opened.

For more than two weeks, union officials declined to return to the conference.

The union leaders warned that there would be no negotiations—that they would not bargain collectively—until the operators had agreed in principle:

1. To a tax to be levied on every ton of coal mined. Ten cents a ton has been the figure mentioned. This royalty payment would go into the union's treasury (at the rate of over $50,000,000 annually) to be administered entirely by the union as a so-called "health and welfare" fund.

2. To compel mine supervisors, foremen, and other managerial personnel of the mines to join the rank-and-file union.

These were not concrete demands. They were presented in general terms in speeches by the union officials. The mine operators were asked to agree to them without knowing exactly what such agreement would mean. Otherwise the miners refused to negotiate at all. They refused to discuss these or any other subjects in detail. They refused to bargain collectively. They called a strike and the strike continues.

This is the reason for the coal strike.

WHAT DID THE COAL OPERATORS OFFER?

The coal operators made definite offers to the union's general proposals. The offers were made specific in an effort to get negotiations under way; to establish a basis for real collective bargaining.

1. Regarding welfare—They offered to explore the establishment of a reasonable fund to help in unusual hardship cases arising directly out of accidents in coal mines, and to join equally with the union in paying the cost if the findings and facts so warrant.

2. Safety—They offered to work out codes of safety standards—any desirable changes to be supported by the miners and the operators and jointly recommended to the legislatures of the several coal-producing states. They proposed also to give the miners at each mine the right to have a safety committee to make examinations, recommendations and jointly assist in preparing and enforcing safety rules and regulations.

3. Compensation laws—They agreed to make mandatory the acceptance of workmen's compensation laws in any state where acceptance is optional.

4. Hospital and medical funds—They agreed to turn over to the designated agents of the mine workers' union all funds collected from the mine workers for payment of doctors, hospitals, "burial funds," "benefit funds," and for any similar purposes where the union's locals are dissatisfied with existing arrangements.

5. Wages—In their offer to conform to the government's wage-price pattern, they offered to the miners the highest wages ever paid in the coal industry. (This offer would add between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000 a year to the cost of producing bituminous coal.)

6. Hours—They offered to reduce the working day by one hour.

These offers the union refused to discuss.

WHAT THE COAL FAMINE MEANS TO YOU

Coal supplies the power for more than half the country's electricity. It supplies half of the industrial power of the nation. It runs all but a fraction of the country's railroads.

Coal is the most basic of all industries. Without steel cannot be manufactured... Without steel, automobiles, washing machines, refrigerators, homes, vacuum cleaners and many other essential things people have wanted for so long cannot be made.

Steel and automobile companies are closing down... Railroad service is being curtailed... Electric light and gas plants are reducing their output. If coal mining is longer delayed the coal famine will affect your corner grocery.

Already hundreds of thousands of workers, including thousands of world war veterans, are being forced into idleness. The nation faces today its most serious crisis since Pearl Harbor.

The only real solution to the coal strike must eventually come through constructive legislation. Your action could help speed this solution.

REMEMBRANCE OF MOTHER

God sent an angel down to us, Who knocked upon our door.

Oh, tell us not that she is dead, She's only gone before.

They say we've lost our dear mother, I do not feel it so.

Oh, how we miss her merry laugh, Her footsteps to and fro.

We know that she is now at rest, She's free from every pain.

"Tis but the casket beneath the sod, We know her spirit lies.

We give thee up, oh! dear mother, For the best, we know.

God's ways are passed our earthly cares, He's wisely willed it so.

Now since it be Thy will, oh, God, To set her spirit free.

Sadly missed by her children.
