"Our customers are mostly voices on the telephone"

To a lot of businesses, customers are better known by their voices than by their faces. They order by telephone—seldom come in person to buy.

Many merchants conduct their buying in the same way. The telephone is the funnel through which flows an endless stream of commercial transactions.

Businessmen have grown accustomed to continually rising standards of telephone performance. But with the Telephone Company—as with every business—the maintenance of that performance is directly related to the maintenance of earnings.

In 1945, telephone earnings were the lowest in more than two decades. In the current year, even lower earnings are in prospect. Wages have been increased, in keeping with the national trend, and the cost of everything else which goes into the furnishing of telephone service is steadily rising.

As every business man knows, adequate earnings are a primary requirement of American enterprise. Telephone earnings must be sufficient to provide the kind of service you expect and to attract new capital for continued expansion.

In a word, adequate earnings safeguard the full usefulness of the telephone in carrying on the affairs of the community.

SPAKE NO RIDGES

One of the most enigmatic statements to come out of Frankfort, Mo., was that "politics left Moorehead with Dr. Vaughan."

This statement of the Governor's innermost thoughts now and in the future, one finds it difficult to grasp a statement like that.

THE FLOYD COUNTY TIMES confines its news-stories and its editorial comments for the most part to matters affecting Floyd county.

This statement of the Governor's, a will-o'-the-wisp of the spoken word that eludes capture by the ordinary mind, leaves us only questions to ask, surmises to make.

Did Dr. Vaughan play politics? Has he placed his political faith and hope for the college?

It is indeed the political villain the Governor's statement would imply, and if his departure would remove Moorehead from the state of politics from Moorehead's halls, why did not the Board of Regents upon re-appointing him make plain Board failing to render this service to an interested public, why did not the Governor say as much in so many words, tossing all "double talk" and "window dressing" for us folks who to this day believe Dr. Vaughan is a scholarly gentleman whose thoughts and works were devoted to the betterment of his school rather than to the mean business of playing politics—after pollocking Dr. Vaughan out of Moorehead?

Or did the Governor mean that his Board of Regents will now cease playing politics—after pollocking Dr. Vaughan out of Moorehead?

DAR-ER, BROTHER

"Your newspaper," an anonymous correspondent from Martin wrote last week the letter was received Saturday noon by Pony Express "is supposed to mirror Floyd county life. Then will you reflect for me the Floyd county picture just now, with no italics for our copy, no italics, no buses and nobody working in the mines?"

As of last Saturday, our outlook was this and it's derived little brighter now.

Dear Folks: I'm not really one to complain. But something's been eating at me lately. It's a book I've run across. Aladdin, Aladdin, with his old lamp and that cozy genie in it. Don't think I'm jealous. No, Only I do think I deserve a better break against that genie with the whiskers. Imagine, writing books about him. And not even mentioning me! I'm a modest fellow. But let's face facts, that goon doesn't even belong in the same league with me. Why I could give him cards and spades and still come up with more miracles per kilowatt hour than he could perform in a thousand and one nights.

My trouble is that you folks take me far granted. When I heat your electric iron, or chill your refrigerator, or pop up your toast, or clean your rugs, you expect it of me. But let that dopey genie do anything and right away somebody writes a book!

Ah me! Alas, woe and alas! But don't think I'm going to sulk. I'm used to being taken for granted. I'll go right on being at your service, day and night. But I just had to get this gripe off my chest!

Faithfully yours, ELEC TRICITY. (Lowest Paid Worker in the World)

Allen Baptist Church

Many who heard the Rev. John E. Fray, at his home, the "Fields are White With Harvest," declared it the best sermon they ever heard. Sunday night, he preached on "The Sign of the Cross" at a candidate house, baptizing Miss Iola Faye Crisp, on request, and a mixed quartette, "Have Thine Own Way, Lord," Ben Westfall, Miss Mary Westfall, Mrs. Harry Martin and Miss Anne Hayes, with Mrs. J. B. Clay accompanying. Rev. LeRoy Pratt is meeting with the Young People's B.T.U. while the Reverend Felly preaches in Prestonsburg on Sunday evenings. The Allen revival starts Monday evening, June 3, with the Rev. Sherman Woods of Williamson, Va., doing the preaching. The bus will run to Lancer leaving the Gap about 9:30 o'clock to Maytown, leaving there at 1:10 each evening. Those who wish to attend must be at the road in time. Allen daily vacation Bible school opens Monday, June 3, classes from 9 to 12. Rev. Felly in charge, with Rev. and Mrs. Pratt and Miss Annie Allen assisting, also several college girls who are expected to arrive this week-end. Miss Janice Hayes will assist Mrs. Pratt in her class, while Miss Felly secures the necessary assistant. All children are cordially invited to attend. The bus will run, leaving for Maytown at 8:45. The bus schedule for both Sunday services has been changed, with the bus leaving for Maytown at 8:45. Note hours for revival district. Memorial Day was fittingly celebrated this week, but why not honor people before they are gone? Name of the subject of this article is withheld, as he is a modest man who would not say public a tribute to him. Few persons possess true vision. Many who do lack the means to convert their dreams into realities. And, last but not least, the majority with the means decline to use it to honor God, "where there is no reason, the people perish." (Prov. 20:18). The subject of this sketch has vision, hence he put his words into deeds when his soul became aflame with a desire to see men and women attending his church in greater numbers. Aware that many lacked the means for transportation, he conceived the idea of a bus that would operate free for persons wishing to come to his church. When the funds would be used to glorify the Master. If the church helps him some day, well and good, but the bus belongs to his church and to God, and today he is dreaming of the time when more buses can cover greater territory for the same purpose, to bring men and women and girls to Christ, for some on roads not yet reached are begging for this chance.

Approximately 90 per cent of the farmers in Robertson county have storage lockers in the new frozen food locker plant at Mt. Clay. Due to colour planning, Ed McQueen, of Jackson county, harvested a good corn crop, despite insufficient rainfall. More than 2,500 acres of soybeans were planted by farmers in Monroe county in 1946 for hay, feed for hogs and for beans.

Even Crops Can Tell You When They're Hungry

A farmer with the "know-how" can spot, at a glance, evidence of starvation in his growing crops, and remedy it. You will find it profitable to learn the signs of "hidden hunger" in your crops, whether you are selling them as cash crops or using them as feed for livestock. Once you have learned to understand the "sign language" of plants, you can often tell just by looking at a growing plant whether it is drawing from the soil all the nitrogen, phosphorus, potash and other elements it must have to produce healthy, high-yielding crops. A deficiency in any of these essential elements will affect the plant's appearance in some way which will tell you just what is short. Here are some of the "hunger signs" in corn, for example: Yellowish-green leaves and stunted growth indicates nitrogen deficiency. Tips of leaves dummed together indicates calcium deficiency. Purple color in leaves indicates phosphorus deficiency. Bottom leaves dead; yellow striping between veins of upper leaves (condition known as "white bud") indicates zinc deficiency. Scorching along the edges of leaves indicates potash deficiency. Regular yellowish-white stripes on leaves indicate magnesium deficiency.

Other crops also show "hunger signs" which can be recognized at a glance if you know the sign language. Your county agent or vocational agricultural teacher can tell you about them or advise you about books or bulletins which give detailed information. Because of their thorough understanding of soil and crop conditions in your district, they are the men to answer your questions. Both are ready and able to help you. They know the signs of crop malnutrition and can give you valuable advice.

NUTRITION IS OUR BUSINESS-AND YOURS. Right Eating Adds Life to Your Years-and Years to Your Life.

Worth thinking about: Consider that word a-n-d. It usually joins things together, but now and then we use it to separate things which should not be separated. Strawberry-shortcake is a homey example of our meaning. It's eaten everywhere... it has two parts... but no one ever separates that satisfying combination in word or thought. You'd never think of saying strawberry and shortcake. So it is with many combinations which cannot exist separately. There's agriculture-industry and the livestock-meat industry, for example. These combinations cannot be split into separate sections, because all parts of each are dependent on the others. The production of livestock and the preparation and distribution of meat are as inseparable as strawberry-shortcake. When producers prosper, meat packers prosper. When one suffers constant loss, the other must suffer also. Those of us in the livestock-meat industry have mutual interests, and we work together toward a common goal.

Raty Arithmetic: One rat eats about 150 pounds of corn per year. It costs you as much to keep 10 rats as to keep 17 laying hens. Those 17 layers could produce 200 eggs each, at 36¢ per dozen, which would bring you $102. For 10¢ you can poison those rats. Then, you can feed the corn to your hens and collect the difference of $101.90.

EDITOR'S COLUMN. You who raise and feed livestock know as well as I do that the problems of the livestock-meat industry are usually mighty complicated. Naturally, I am always interested in what others have to say about our problems, especially in the press or over the radio. During the recent meat strike, for instance, I was impressed with the effort that was made to place both sides of the question before the public. On the other hand, I was disturbed on several occasions by statements made by people who either did not know all there is to know, and you probably have many facts, or who ignored their own experience in this business, and insisted of part-truth and their own biased opinions. To my way of thinking, all of us should consider all the facts that are available if we are to form a fair opinion on any subject. And so it seems to me especially important that ranchers and farmers have the fullest factual understanding of every part of the livestock-meat industry. Now I don't pretend to know all there is to know, and you probably have many facts, but from long experience in this business we have learned many things which might help clear up certain doubts and questions you may have in your mind. If there are things about our business that you aren't sure about, we would appreciate hearing from you. We will reply with whatever facts we have. I am sure that our correspondence will make for a better mutual understanding of our common problems. F.M. Simpson, Agricultural Research Department.

LONG DISTANCE CALLS ARE STILL INCREASING

The volume of Long Distance calls keeps right on growing. Between towns and cities only a few miles apart, folks are making one-fifth more calls to-day than during the peak of the wartime load.

As a result of this postwar rush of short-haul calls there is likely to be some delays on calls to nearby points until the necessary materials can be obtained and additional circuits provided to relieve congestion.

In the meantime, everything possible is being done to handle all calls promptly.
