This Town-- That World

Well, after Tuesday's election results, I wouldn't blink an eye if I looked out the window this minute and saw Chick Howard walking the water.

The Gallup poll, besides being no good otherwise, isn't worth a penny or use in pointing your way on Salt River.

Think I shall see one Dr. George Gallup. He has done me wrong. He led me astray. He prevented me from resting, with never a financial cloud the remainder of my days. But for him I would have died up a young fortune from the boss, here and about.

THE CROWNING INSULT
Lisen, Editor's Lay of Brad Boy. He has suffered enough. More than you know. Didn't know that the scalawag at John Ant precinct wrote Brad's name in on the Democratic side of the ballot and voted for him, O'gash, for judge of the Court of Appeals, did you?

PHOTO-PHOBIA
I finished yesterday when we reminded this week that the picture-taking season in the schools is at hand.

Any day now, the boys and girls will be trotting out their whole repertoire of stiff smiles, smirks and grimaces. Guts who have stumbled like a sack of shelled corn all their lives will freeze, ramrod straight, and gas who are models of grace and poise will begin tripping over their toes in a manner positively alarming.

All because they are being stood up to face that silent, awesome thing known as a camera.

But maybe I'm judging these youngsters. It's altogether possible I'm thinking too much of my own unhappy jaunts with the machine who tells you to watch the birdie, never produces the feathered friend and who, in my case, always turned up with what is politely known as a "staid" which looked like something the cat had dragged in on one of her more abortive nocturnal jaunts.

I am thinking back, you see, to the time when I "sat" for a photograph for a college annual, known as "The Owl" and the birdie was supposed to explain that I never did learn just what became of that particular number-1 district in school (long enough) My appointment for this date with the firing squad was, approximately enough, 8 a. m., which in the winter is a sound surprise. The conference man man snickered the heavy breakfast and appeared at the studio.

Was told to smile. I perked up. I bravely I tried. I froze like a bird-dog at a post.

So I stopped what could not have been more than a minute but which seemed like ten. Then the staid individual at the camera emerged from beneath the shiny cloth. A perfect Mephistopheles, he fixed a glittering eye on me and blandly, too blandly, inquired, "You feeling well, young man?"

My Adam's apple jerked out the information that I was.

JOHNSON, SON DIE IN PLANE Floyd Residents' Kin Victims Last Sunday In Ashland Tragedy

Walter Rice Johnson, 33 years old, son of the late George Johnson, was killed Sunday morning at 11:30 a. m., when Johnson's C-47 plane plunged into the Ohio river at Ashland.

Relatives in this county said Johnson, possessor of a private pilot license, had flown from Pikeville with his son Sunday morning to receive his commercial pilot's license in Ashland. Weather conditions during the morning became such that they doubted they would be able to fly back to Pikeville and they had gone out to investigate extent of the fog over Lexington. Suddenly the plane nosed over and plummeted to the river. The elder Johnson died of skull and internal injuries. A broken neck. Part of an instrument in the plane penetrated his son's eye and entered the brain. The boy was removed after the plane had been towed to shore by an auto wrecker. The boy was Mr. and Mrs. Johnson's only son.

Johnson was a veteran of World War II and a brother of Major Ralph A. Johnson, noted wartime aviator. He was the brother of John M. Johnson, Pike county treasurer, and Cora Roberts Johnson, wife of Dr. Edward P. Johnson, daughter of Ford Porter and a niece of B. L. Porter, of Emma.

Truman Wins Startling Victory

FLOYD COUNTY TRUMAN LEAD ABOVE FDR'S

Leads by 5,696 Votes; Majority of Perkins Over Meade, 5,895

Floyd County was more solidly Democratic Tuesday evening before in a mood-err-day Presidential election, a review of vote tabulations dating back to Franklin D. Roosevelt's first New Deal campaign shows.

President Truman's majority over Governor Dewey, which in a total of 11,955 votes cast, was 5,696. And that exceeded the lead of even FDR in his landslide victory over the late W. Franklin D. Roosevelt in 1936 when his majority in this county was 5,389. That year, the county polled probably its greatest electoral victory, with a total of 12,811.

Along with Mr. Truman every other Democratic candidate was swept off the ballot not only in this county but over the Seventh Congressional district.

Carl D. Perkins, Hindman Democrat, actually topped the Truman majority in this county, polling 8,781 votes to 2,886 by W. Hoves Meade, Paducah, Republican incumbent. Over the 10,000 vote Tuesday afternoon Mr. Perkins had polled a majority of 6,000 and his victory was considered certain. The Democratic candidate polled 2,300 votes in heavily Republican Johnson, home county of Congressman Meade, and held the Meade majority there to 1,563 votes. In Martin county, even more solidly Republican, he polled 886 votes to Meade's 1,787. In Pike county, with only 16 precincts counted, he had a lead of 350 votes and it was predicted that earl margin had established a trend for the entire county.

The Perkins final majority is expected to mount upwards of 15,000 votes.

Perkins had the support of Cooper, of the same party, but not so Virgil Chapman, Paris Democrat, who uneated U. S. Senator John Sherman Cooper, of Somerset, Chapman, of Hindman, former Truman-Barkley ticket and Perkins in this county with 6,703 votes to 4,583 for Cooper.

Roy Meade, Hazard attorney, apparently has defeated Judge Eugene Siler, Republican, for the Appellate court seat. Floyd county voters gave him 7,985 votes to 2,837 for Siler.

Other Presidential candidates, as expected, received little attention. The county's Henry Wallace received a total of 28 votes; J. Strom Thurmond, 19, and Norman Thomas, an even dozen.

HOLD CASTLE WAS SLAIN Body of Missing Man Found in Big Sandy, Near Paintsville

Paintsville, Ky., Oct. 30.—A two-week mystery over the disappearance of Vernon B. Castle was solved last night with recovery of his body from the Big Sandy river.

County authorities indicated he had been slain. Castle, 22, was last seen October 18 at drinking party in a night spot at the mouth of Buffalo Creek. County Judge Rexford Trimble said equipment was not available here to determine whether Castle had been drowned. He directed that the body be taken to Huntington, W. Va., where tests will be made.

JACK HOWARD IS MENTIONED To Succeed Barkley As Observers Guess Choice for Senator

Election of Kentucky's Albert B. Barkley to the Vice-Presidency will make necessary the filling of the Senate vacancy by appointment and among those considered as possible appointees was J. W. (Jack) Howard, former State Senator and Prestonsburg attorney.

Mr. Howard, mentioned in Frankfort speculation as to Barkley's successor, is a former classmate of Governor Clement's. Until his name was mentioned in a radio newscast Tuesday evening Mr. Howard had not considered the possibility.

One guess was that Clements might resign and be appointed to the Senate by Lt. Gov. Lawrence Wetherby—as G. A. B. (Happy) Chandler did in 1959.

CITY RACE, CLOSE Administration Wins All Three Positions At Stake in County

Administration forces retained control of both the Prestonsburg and County Boards of Education after Tuesday's election in which two city board members were elected and three for the County Board, to Educational Division No. 3.

Dr. O. T. Stephens, present member of the City Board, led a four-man field for the two posts to be filled but Ray Stephens defeated his running-mate, Lon S. Moles, incumbent, by four votes. Ray Stephens' running mate was Harry Ranier.

The County Board totals: Division No. 3.—Alonzo Stratton, 1,189; Andy L. Tackett, 888; Glenn H. Blackburn, 426; Division 3.—Dr. Osborne, 1,529; Homer Tackett, 628.

Never-Say-Die Fight Upsets GOP at Polls Truman-Barkley Sweep Claims For Democrats Both Senate And House; Perkins Wins

The little guy who would not be licked was re-elected President of the United States Tuesday in the nation's most startling political upset.

The winner of the Presidency—a combination of sheer determination and political miracle—is Harry S. Truman.

His election was conceded at 11:15 a. m. Wednesday by Thomas B. Dewey, Republican standard-bearer, the man every public opinion poll had declared without exception to be the next occupant of the White House.

As of Wednesday night, Harry S. Truman had safely tucked away 302 electoral votes and a popular lead over Dewey approximating a million and a half votes.

The astonishing feat which was hailed jubilantly by Democrats and ruefully, though god-forsakenly, by Republicans was a march on a large part of the country. As President Truman showed apparent early strength his supporters as well as Dr. Gallup, Mr. Roper, et al, discounted the possibility of an upset.

Many retired early on election night to fortify themselves for the bitter end of the morrow by a good night's sleep. Others stuck to their radios to hear, detail by detail, the story of the GOP conquest.

Those who retired awhile Wednesday morning to hear that Truman was well along toward sensational victory, a few hours later, as Ohio and Illinois fell into the Truman column, victory became official with Governor Dewey extending congratulations to Truman.

With Truman and Vice-President elect Alben W. Barkley, of Kentucky, were swept into office Democratic majorities in both houses of Congress.

Thus were the tables turned, almost, at the eleventh hour, by the man who would not admit defeat or be licked. He won his party's nomination at Philadelphia only after facing bitter opposition. The State's Democratic group headed by Democrat Thurlow split the traditionally loyal segment of the Democratic party. Henry Wallace took with him thousands of votes hitherto in the Democratic ranks. The party itself was lethargic, leaders sensing serious defeat. One state of the "Solid South"—Alabama—even denied Truman a place on its ballot.

But the Missourian took to the air. He called on the voters to "give me hell." His running-mate, the veteran Barkley, toured the country by helicopter. Except for a few scattered Democrats, who left the Democratic ticket had incorporated its 302 electoral votes from the states of Arizona, Arkansas, California, Colorado, Florida, Georgia, Idaho, Illinois, Kentucky, Iowa, Massachusetts, Minnesota, Missouri, Montana, Nevada, New Mexico, North Carolina, Ohio, Oklahoma, Rhode Island, Tennessee, Virginia, Texas, Utah, Washington, West Virginia, Wisconsin and Wyoming.

Hi-Ho, Mister!

You want to know how to get rich easy? I don't know. Want to know how to cure a cold? I don't know. But I know how to bake biscuits. Good biscuits, that is. Most important thing is to use Silver Mist Flour. That's the way to bake biscuits with flavor, heat-to-a-golden-brown flour that's made a good long time ago and has that fine sugary sprays and rabbits those round dogs. Specially when those Silver Mist biscuits are floating around in your gravy. Or cream gravy. Or sorghum. Or even left over cold, wrapped around sausages. Sure, because the folks who mill Silver Mist Flour (they been at it since 1753) manage somehow to get the flavor of the wheat into the flour itself. The Missus tells me they enrich it, too, so you get something called 6 way nourishment, which I reckon is good for what ails you. Anyhow, is good for what ails you. Anyhow, is good for what ails you. Anyhow, is good for what ails you. Buy Silver Mist Flour.

By TED KESTING

One of the best ideas for helping curb the rising toll of hunting accidents that we have heard come from Outdoor Writer George X. Sand, Ok., he agrees with those who say that better training of youngsters in handling firearms, stricter hunting laws and greater safety programs are needed. But that is not enough. With added thousands of hunters going afield each season, many more deaths and maimings can be expected—unless we act quickly to stop it now.

If we knew how gun mishaps occurred, we could study how they might have been prevented and then do something to prevent future accidents. Sand suggests that if each state kept a complete and accurate file of all hunting accidents, we would have a foundation for building a nation-wide accident-prevention program.

How many states keep such a record? Results of a survey are discouraging. Almost one-half of the states fail to keep even such a simple record as the number of fatal and serious non-fatal accidents occurring within their borders. Over 25 per cent of the states keep no record at all.

Those states which have made an extra effort to reduce hunting hazards, and which keep data on all accidents, have some of the best safety records in the country.

If all states compiled accident information, and exchanged it freely in a national safety program, the number of hunting accidents could be greatly reduced.

It is, of course, indisputable that hunting safety is a state problem. Nevertheless, state safety committees by analyzing the causes of gun mishaps and coordinating their efforts should be able to bring considerable improvement to the national hunting accident picture.

But the individual hunter must do his part by taking greater precautions than ever. Remember that carelessness is the greatest killer of all. For example in Colorado 60 per cent of the accidents were caused by careless handling of weapons in or near automobiles—not in the field. Be sure that what you shoot is same, not your hunting partner. Leave your bottle home.

THE Courier-Journal aptly points out that beef cattle should flourish in Eastern Kentucky. They do flourish wherever given a chance. And those who have turned from the traditional hillside corn crop to alfalfa and clover pointments to the growing of beef quality cattle have profited.

Generally speaking, corn is not a paying crop in this section. It cannot be produced in quantities sufficient to be sold at a profit. Alfalfa, on the other hand, can be produced as feed for hogs which is the big money crop—product of corn-growing sections.

The terrain is not suited to corn-growing, nor is the soil except on limited level acreage.

The same hillside which are not adaptable to corn, however, could become rich pastureland. Thus could be grown beef cattle with less labor and more profit, and at the same time a barrier built against erosion, Eastern Kentucky's particular scourge. And one or two acres of alfalfa, fed to cattle, will give greater financial returns than the same acreage planted to corn.

The hill-man will not surrender his dogs without bitterness or worse, and so sheep-raising, another industry which could be profitable in Eastern Kentucky, is a thing of the distant future. But dogs and cattle can roam the range together, without injury to either. So cattle is our best bet.

Let One Board Handle It

THIS is written on Election eve. Whatever the results of Prestonsburg's City Board of Education election, we hold that the situation will be unchanged. So the Times suggests that the partnership between the City and County Boards of Education be terminated, to be ended by Prestonsburg receive the physical equipment, including more classrooms, necessary to the growth, even the life, of the school.

Only a Board of Education looking to Prestonsburg voters for support will be able to consider residents of the town their constituents. As matters now stand, with the City Board elected by the voters here, and the County Board elected by persons living outside Prestonsburg, the school system here is something of a step-child to the County Board.

For this unfortunate state of affairs the County Board members do not deserve all the censure Prestonsburg residents may be inclined to voice. Their failure to meet Prestonsburg's needs while attending to those of other schools is quite natural and very human. Men dependent upon votes to retain their position must work where the votes are, it must be conceded, if we view the matter from the standpoint of expediency or politics.

So the only solution is a final dissolution of the unhappy partnership between the two Boards. Either the City Board should throw the whole thing into the lap of the County Board and cease to exist, or it should acquire the county's interest in the high school here and operate the entire system itself.

This latter alternative presents many difficulties, particularly financial ones. So it would appear that Prestonsburg's soundest move is to join the county school system and with its votes demand and get what is needed.

It is better to proceed and err than to remain stagnant pleased.
Rudolph A. Sacco.

FEDERAL RESERVE RESEARCHERS SEE TRADE RECORDS BROKEN

 If a Governor vacates his post after having served half his term, the Lieutenant Governor takes his place for the remainder of the term. But if he vacates prior to serving two years, a special election must be called by the Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals on 30 days' notice. The Lieutenant Governor meanwhile acts as Governor until after that election. Then he becomes lieutenant Governor again, unless he should run and be elected chief executive.

"Prepared by the Research Staff of the Federal Reserve Bank of Cleveland, headed by Merle Fetter, over WGAR, Cleveland.)
 According to present indications, retail trade is going to break all former records this year. It is true that holiday shopping has scarcely started and that the remaining eight weeks are very important ones for many a retail business. Some merchants may have set their sights too high and may be disappointed with their share of the holiday trade. But others will do more business in a single week than they did in an entire month in the off season.

The new records being established this year can be explained on several grounds. Many individuals in the labor force today never have had as much of their current income as being more or less permanent, and to use that income more liberally than do those who still have vivid memories of layoffs and pay cuts.
 Other individuals, by sheer force of circumstance or because of reluctance to adjust their living standards, supplement their current expenditures by dipping into savings, and by using their credit more extensively. In this connection, it might be mentioned, however, that here in the Fourth Federal Reserve District, about 50 per cent of all purchases at department stores in 1941, and earlier, the proportion of credit sales was slightly larger than it is today.

Another reason for the high level of sales is the fact that for a large number of people the monthly bill is absorbing a considerably smaller portion of personal income than was the case in prewar times, which leaves that much more to be spent in other ways.
 One of the pronounced characteristics of this year's retail business is the changes that have occurred in consumer preferences over the past year. Some kinds of merchandise have priced a considerably larger portion out of consumers' pocketbooks than was the case last year.

In many instances this tendency can be explained by price increases. For example, people are paying more for coal and gasoline. To that extent these products are retail have increased almost automatically because of these price increases. It is difficult to reduce consumption. More money is also being spent for automobiles and for automobile repairs, for hardware, for household appliances and furniture.
 Some of these increased expenditures are a direct result of the high level of new home construction, and some are attributable to the wearing out of existing equipment and home furnishings. It is hardly likely, however, that many television sets are being purchased to replace worn-out units. As a matter of fact, it is most questionable as to just how much of today's buying is really necessary buying. Some part of it undoubtedly is merely a reflection of a record level of personal income and a disposition to use more of that income than ever before for current purchases.

The inclination toward increased expenditures is not being felt equally among all types of retail business. The florist trade, for example, is experiencing relatively check business, for reasons which may be known only to customers who do not buy. Jewelry store sales have been lagging for over two years. In fact, they were among the first to feel consumer resistance—or indifference. Books and stationery stores find it difficult to keep up with the sales record of last year. Less money is being spent at eating and drinking places, and at liquor stores than was true at this time last year.

Men's clothing is moving out of the stores less rapidly than in the same months of 1947, and men's shoes are selling more slowly than other hand sales of women's ready-to-wear apparel and accessories are showing noticeably ahead of last year. No doubt each member of the listening audience will readily venture his or her own interpretation of this particular divergence of consumer preferences. In all fairness it should be explained that a year ago at this time, the new look in femininity was encountering some degree of consumer resistance, while men's apparel stores and departments had not yet completed replenishing the clothes closets of those who had been in military service. This year male shoppers for one reason or another are deferring some purchases while the feminine contingent is less reluctant to bring its wardrobe more nearly up to date.

A second feature of trade this year is the conservative inventory policy pursued by merchants. Shoppers frequently complain regarding the lack of selectivity in merchandise available and sometimes it is necessary to call at several stores to find the desired article. Although most stores carry a greater variety than a year or two ago, the fact remains that retail trade in general takes a vacation from what happened after World War I. The 1920 collapse in sales found many storekeepers unprepared, and now their successors are adopting a precautionary attitude and would rather lose a few sales than risk a substantial loss through markdowns. This question of inventory policy will be discussed in greater detail in a future broadcast in this series.

It should like to mention one additional thought in connection with the record volume of business that has been attained in retail trade and that is the difference between dollar volume and unit sales.
 The number of packages carried out of stores, or delivered by stores is not much larger than a year ago. In some lines it is smaller. A mere increase in price does not create more jobs unless it is accompanied by a gain in the number of pieces sold. That gain has been relatively moderate in recent years.

 The General Association of Baptists and would rather lose a few sales than risk a substantial loss through markdowns. This question of inventory policy will be discussed in greater detail in a future broadcast in this series.

Some of these increased expenditures are a direct result of the high level of new home construction, and some are attributable to the wearing out of existing equipment and home furnishings. It is hardly likely, however, that many television sets are being purchased to replace worn-out units. As a matter of fact, it is most questionable as to just how much of today's buying is really necessary buying. Some part of it undoubtedly is merely a reflection of a record level of personal income and a disposition to use more of that income than ever before for current purchases.
 The inclination toward increased expenditures is not being felt equally among all types of retail business. The florist trade, for example, is experiencing relatively check business, for reasons which may be known only to customers who do not buy. Jewelry store sales have been lagging for over two years. In fact, they were among the first to feel consumer resistance—or indifference. Books and stationery stores find it difficult to keep up with the sales record of last year. Less money is being spent at eating and drinking places, and at liquor stores than was true at this time last year.
 Men's clothing is moving out of the stores less rapidly than in the same months of 1947, and men's shoes are selling more slowly than other hand sales of women's ready-to-wear apparel and accessories are showing noticeably ahead of last year. No doubt each member of the listening audience will readily venture his or her own interpretation of this particular divergence of consumer preferences. In all fairness it should be explained that a year ago at this time, the new look in femininity was encountering some degree of consumer resistance, while men's apparel stores and departments had not yet completed replenishing the clothes closets of those who had been in military service. This year male shoppers for one reason or another are deferring some purchases while the feminine contingent is less reluctant to bring its wardrobe more nearly up to date.
 A second feature of trade this year is the conservative inventory policy pursued by merchants. Shoppers frequently complain regarding the lack of selectivity in merchandise available and sometimes it is necessary to call at several stores to find the desired article. Although most stores carry a greater variety than a year or two ago, the fact remains that retail trade in general takes a vacation from what happened after World War I. The 1920 collapse in sales found many storekeepers unprepared, and now their successors are adopting a precautionary attitude and would rather lose a few sales than risk a substantial loss through markdowns. This question of inventory policy will be discussed in greater detail in a future broadcast in this series.
 It should like to mention one additional thought in connection with the record volume of business that has been attained in retail trade and that is the difference between dollar volume and unit sales.
 The number of packages carried out of stores, or delivered by stores is not much larger than a year ago. In some lines it is smaller. A mere increase in price does not create more jobs unless it is accompanied by a gain in the number of pieces sold. That gain has been relatively moderate in recent years.

foring highway and traffic laws, but that it also is available to help local police officers do their work.
 On two occasions Louisville, by special agreement, permitted the state police to come in there. Fully 100 officers were assigned to the state fair and 40 were sent in to help handle the crowds during President Truman's visit. Crowds said.

County Grid Championship At Stake Saturday Night

The football championship of Floyd county is at stake Saturday night when the county's only representatives of the sport, Wayland and Prestonsburg, meet on Lions Field, Wayland—and one of the biggest crowds to gather for a grid game in this section this year is expected to be on hand to see who emerges the winner.

Although the game has no bearing on the Big Sandy Conference championship it holds local interest approaching the year-old rivalry.

between the Prestonsburg Black Cats and the Paintsville Tigers. Wayland is determined to win this year. Prestonsburg is equally determined that the Wasps shall not. As for season records, those go out the window—what the two teams do in this game is what will be counted.

The Black Cats lost their first Conference game Friday night to Beltry, 7 to 0 almost as the timekeeper was drawn in his six-stroke to end the fray. Coach Ted Bendel's boys, minus the regulars, pushed his brother Billy Pirates around considerably during the course of the evening but could not summon that extra power needed when pay dirt was in sight.

Some time around two minutes before game end, the Cats took the long gamble to prevent a tie. They decided to pass, and did, but the high, wobbly toss fell into a Beltry player's arms. And that was that.

Gene Boyd, the Cats' speedster, did not make the trip to Beltry. He has been out with a severely injured foot since the Louisiana game here and is still favoring the foot this week. Others whom Coach Bendel had designated of turning in the game they are capable of were also among those missing.

At Wayland, meanwhile, the Wasps were having a big evening of it all at the expense of Elkhorn City. With Castle, Wasp captain, contributing three touchdowns, Wayland won, 33 to 0. The winners used their reserves freely as the score mounted and not till the third quarter were they obliged to punt out of danger, and then only two occasions.

Longest run of the game was Evans' 25-yard dash after intercepting an Elkhorn City pass. All Wayland's markers were scored on line smashes and end runs. The fifth touchdown was passing by Hayward, fullback.

The losers' passing combination threatened at times, but most of their aerial games were short. The Pirates' key came to the Wayland goal was the 30-yard line after the Wasps had been penalized 15 yards. For those who like their conservative scores, it may be added that Beltry, earlier in the season, defeated Wayland, 25 to 24. Captain Castle, however, was out of the Wayland line-up, that evening, and the Pirates scored their markers in the last quarter.

Saturday night's game—then the season's climax here with Paintsville's winless Tigers, Friday night, Nov. 12.

Martin Alumni Plans Homecoming Net Game And Other Festivities

Martin high school's alumni association will be re-organized at a luncheon in the school lunch room Nov. 13, Dennis Halbert, coach of the Martin basketball team, announced this week. All alumni of the school have been invited to attend and have been asked to make reservations for the event at once.

The luncheon itself, however, will be a team affair, compared to what is to follow. Immediately after the alumni meeting, the Martin Purple Pleash and the Maytown Wildcats, old-time net rivals, will meet in a homecoming basketball game at the Martin gym.

A parade will start the homecoming ceremonies with floats of the various Martin school clubs competing for prizes. Miss Barbara Allen, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Allen, of Allen, will be invested as Miss Purple Pleash, 1948-9, the players, coaches, cheerleaders, managers and officials of the two schools will be presented and the combined bands of the two schools will play during the pre-game ceremonies and at the halftime intermission.

4 FROM FLOYD ON PIKE TEAM

Bears Expect Boys' Height To Increase Cage Team's Power

Four Floyd county boys are on the Pikeville College basketball squad for the current year, Coach Bill Houchin announced this week. Of the 17 members, 12 are six feet or taller, which makes this the tallest group Pikeville has had for seven years. All the Floyd county members are six feet or over.

Jack Wells, letterman from last year's team, plays forward and center. He measures 6 feet 11 1/2 inches and graduated from Auxier high school. He also played basketball in 1947. Wells served a year in the army and was on the first team last year.

Bob Klep, another sophomore, also plays forward and center. Bob's home is now in Garrett, but while in high school at Hindman he went out for basketball, baseball and track. He also played a year on the Oak Ridge, Tenn. team, and his specialty is one-handed crop hits. His measures 6 feet.

Al Snyder, Betsy Layne, and Hubbard Francis, Prestonsburg, are freshman members of the squad and have look good. Al was graduated from Morristown (Tenn.) high school last year. He plays forward or center and is just six feet tall. Hubbard graduated from Kentucky Military Institute, where he went out for basketball, football, and track. He also plays forward or center, and is 6 feet, 1 1/2 inches.

Other returning men are Bill Ray, Inez, Roger Roberts, Pikeville; and Arthur Adams, Fleming, Newell; include Clarence Mills, Inez; Tommy Hill, Beltry; Rudy Rutherford, Pikeville Academy star; Bob Scott, Pikeville; Tommy Elwick, Pike high; Vernon Syck, Pikeville Academy star; Andy Renick, Bowling Green; Jim Eason, Wartfield; Bill Stimpert, Elkhorn City; William B. Hall, Dorson.

With the tallest and largest squad in recent years, the Pikeville College Bears hope to wrest the state junior college championship from Cumberland College. Twenty-two games have already been carried, and Coach Houchin is looking for two more games with either the Morehead or Western State freshmen, or with Berea or Georgetown. The schedule follows:

Martin Net Team Features Four Pairs of Brothers

Coach Dennis Halbert's 21-man Martin net basketball squad has some of the starlets of the big time this year, and there's a reason.

There are four sets of brothers on the squad, with four members of the first team. And among the two blondes, two brunettes and one red head, two are cheerleaders there are a set of sisters.

The first-team brothers are Elmer, Charles, Douglas and Donald Lafferty, sons of the late Bill Lafferty, of Allen. Other brother combinations on the squad are: the Taylor brothers, Bob and Bill; the Webbs, Cecil and Bob, and the Virgibus, Charles and Pete, Jr.

Eight players are returning let-terms. Other squad members are Gordon McCarrty, Curtis Campbell, Edd Stumby, Wade Porter, Jr., Ezra Cluck, Ronald Tackett, Billy Dingsus, B. Carr, James D. Salsburg, John Lee Lafferty, Dean Peters.

HARMON NETS RECORD FISH

Former Floyd Countian Misses $1,500 Jackpot By a Matter of Weeks

Florida is a long way to go for the week's fishing report, but when the fisherman is a native of Floyd county, it is not so far. Lee Harmon, of Prestonsburg, the fish was landed on the Florida coast in year—then distance doesn't stand too much against the yarn.

The fisherman is G. O. Harmon, of Tampa, a brother of Lee Harmon, of Prestonsburg. The fish was a tarpon—all 171 pounds of him. And Harmon had witnessed—So Prestonsburg Times, William T. Shriver, and Joe Sherman, publicist, who drove up with the fish was being landed. Wrote Fleischman of the catch:

"... Seeing a large shape roll near the draw of the Bay, the angler lured a large hook with a small lure. He caught the catfish several feet below the salt water surface and the tarpon smacked his lips and dug in."

"The one hour Harmon had a struggle that you seldom see... Five times, the huge silver king leaped clear of Tampa's green water and three times Harmon played his unexpected guest like a champion."

"Harmon had to drag his prize along the water for several hundred yards and beach him on the sandy sands of the Causeway... "As far as actual records are concerned, this is the largest game fish landed successfully from a pier or bridge on Florida's west coast. Certainly it is the largest tarpon landed in these waters in a decade."

One tragic note concludes this yarn: "The fishing contest sponsored in Florida, with St. Petersburg awarding a prize of $1,000 and Tampa another $500, ended six weeks before the former Floyd countian landed his tarpon, in a decade that the winner by almost 30 pounds."

Gear Shift Control Inboard Motors

A new outboard motor featuring neutral, forward and reverse, accomplished by gear shift control, was disclosed last week by Johnson Motors, outboard manufacturer, to their local dealer, C. H. Smith Motor Co., Prestonsburg.

The new motor, known as the Johnson Model QD, develops 10.9-20.9C certified horse horsepower at 4,000 revolutions per minute and weighs only 56 pounds (without the separate fuel tank). The QD is said to be not only a brand new motor but a new kind of motor in that it gives the owner control and performance not previously available in this field.

It has been customary to carry fuel in an integral tank holding about an hour's supply. This has added 10 to 12 or more pounds to the motor weight. An auxiliary supply in a separate can has been essential for a satisfactory cruising range. Now, in the new QD motor, the 5-gallon Mile-Master tank is separate from the motor, making possible the two-hand carry motor on one hand, fuel supply in the other. A 12-foot flexible fuel line is equipped with a self-sealing connector which plugs to the motor, like an electrical toaster. Thus, what has been an extra fuel supply now becomes the regular supply, ample for hours of full throttle operation.

With the new QD, absolute and complete back control is provided. Steering in neutral, the dock; shift into reverse and back out; under full control; shift again and the boat is on its way with "hold-your-hat" acceleration.

Those are only the two most unusual QD features. There are numerous other such as one lever speed control, automatic speed limitation in neutral and reverse, the new vari-volume pump for cooling; slow consistent trim speed; equipped; underwater exhaust gas diversion in reverse to prevent cavitation; rubber coated propeller and many others. Taylor, Veteran Member Of Itami Grid Team

Fifth Air Force, Itami, Japan—Sergeant Joe J. Taylor, son of Mrs. Tommy Robinson, Betsy Layne, Ky., presently serving with the Paratrooper Air Force in Japan, will play as a member of the Itami Air Force Base football team at the position of guard during the 1948 season. It was announced here recently by Colonel Preston P. Pender, commanding officer of the 38th Bombardment Wing, Itami, Japan.

Two months ago, when the call for volunteers was made, over 100 men from this air force station answered the call, and after six weeks of intensive training, practices and scrimmages, the team has been narrowed down to a traveling squad of 23 men. Of this number Sgt. Taylor and 10 other players are veterans of the 1947 squad which lost the Fifth Air Force championship by the slim margin of one-half game, and only had one touchdown scored against them on their home grounds during the entire season.

Sergeant Taylor enlisted in the Air Force at Paintsville, Ky., on Sept. 6, 1946 and following completion of basic training, remained on duty in the United States until alerted for movement to the Pacific Theater of Operations in December, 1946.

OF INTEREST TO VETERANS

World War II veterans taking on-the-job training under the G.I. Bill and their employers must cooperate in their submission to Veterans Administration of the veterans will receive their subsistence allowances. VA warned recently, VA said training reports for the month of October are due November 1. Subsequent reports will be suspended in all cases where the reports are not received by Nov. 10, VA said.

Since direct VA supervision of veterans training under the G.I. Bill ceased early this year, there has been an increasing number of delinquent reports each month. In order to prevent payment of subsistence allowances to which veterans may not be entitled, it is necessary for VA to receive the monthly training reports promptly. VA said the reports must be maintained by the veteran-trainees and submitted to their employers. VA said on-job trainees under the G.I. Bill total approximately 20,000 in Ohio, 10,000 in Michigan and 7,000 in Kentucky.

VA said subsistence payments will be suspended for every trainee for whom a report is not received by the 10th of each month. If the report is received within 30 days after it is due, subsistence payments will be made retroactive to the date of suspension. Trainees for whom reports are not received in 90 days will be removed from VA rolls.

Deadline for reports does not affect disabled veterans training under the Vocational Rehabilitation Act, farm trainees or veterans in schools of higher learning, VA explained.

Vaccination Issue Before Kentucky Appeals Court

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 22—Whether vaccination of school children can be required by law was argued before the first Kentucky appeals court today.

The first Kentucky test of the long standing law was brought here by two Glasgow chiropractors, D. H. Mosser and W. V. Stuart, after Barren circuit court had upheld the law.

Their contented enforcement of the regulation, or barring children from school violates rights guaranteed under state and federal constitutions.

In addition, it was claimed vaccination for smallpox would endanger the health of the Mosser and Stuart children and that there is no danger of smallpox in Barren county. In behalf of Stuart, it was asserted, vaccination was against his religious belief.

Counsel for Glasgow's Board of Education argued there are always some smallpox cases in the county and that one case in Glasgow might start an epidemic. Soldiers returning from foreign lands might bring a case any time, it was added. Glasgow is the seat of Barren county.

The Board's counsel also stated that Stuart is a Baptist, that there is nothing in the Baptist faith that makes vaccination repugnant, and that no person can sue on his religion as a cloak to enable him to endanger his neighbors.

It was added that the United States Supreme Court approved compulsory vaccination regulations in a test case from Massachusetts.

Dayton—Overloading schools with responsibilities formerly assumed by the home is the chief hindrance to education in America today, Dr. Bernard Bell, author and lecturer, told Central Ohio teachers.

Why do they all cast their votes for ELECTRIC cooking?

FAST. Automatic. Clean. That's the platform for electric cooking. A landslide winner on every count that counts

Fast . . . but with adjustable speed for every cooking job. Automatic . . . you dial the heat you want and automatic controls take over from there. Clean . . . like an electric light, without flames or fumes. And thrifty, too—like everything else electrical.

Yes, here's one candidate that lives up to every campaign promise it makes. Ask a fortunate friend who already has an electric range—or arrange today for a show-me demonstration.

LaViers To Represent Section of New Board

Kentucky's new Agricultural and Industrial Development Board will co-operate with private industry-making groups such as chambers of commerce and boards of trade, as well as avail itself of all research facilities, Earl R. Muir, Louisville, chairman of the newly-named board, said last week.

"It will be the function of the Board, commonly known as the A. & I. Board, to produce the factual tools of agriculture and industrial development, and that of local civic bodies to close the deal and to keep new industry satisfied by helping solve problems of procurement and the like," Mr. Muir said.

"We do not expect to perform miracles and guarantee every community a factory overnight," said Muir. "We do expect to have a thorough study of Kentucky's agricultural and industrial potential made, and when all the facts are available to make them available to all interested groups. We expect through a program of advertising to call attention of the outside world to our advantages."

Harry LaViers, Paintsville, is the member of the Board from this section of the state.
