Let's Not Talk Overlong

NUMEROUS Floyd county citizens and groups are interested in a Floyd county sesqui-centennial celebration this year; yet, we run the risk, this month year of the county's history, of talking overlong.

A county-wide organization is needed. Every committee in the county needs contacting, that each may be represented in the observance. This is Floyd county's opportunity to write its own story, to tell its history, to point up its present and lead together to the future. It is not the task of any one community or of any certain group. A lot of work needs to be done, and all will have to join in the doing if it is done right. If the job isn't done right, better that it not be undertaken.

The Fair Benefits

THE Court of Appeals decision voiding the contract whereby one man would have made the provincial killing through operation of a racetrack and pari-mutuels at the Kentucky State Fair, is a life-saver for the Fair. When one man's interest becomes too important in the affairs of a public institution, the interest of the public rightly wanes. And the Fair, which at best is far from perfect, cannot afford to lose ground with the rank and file.

Time of Decision

THE next thirty days may be the most momentous period of like duration in the history of the Big Sandy valley. For the next month may see the success of the move for canalization of the river, or the failure.

This is "it." The time of decision is a matter of a few weeks at most. With more friends in official Washington than ever before in the long history of the canalization fight, the opportunity for complete victory is so great that failure now would be more absolute than ever before. President Truman is a staunch advocate of waterways. As of today Thursday, Alben W. Barkley became Vice-President of the United States, and he, a Kentuckian, is pledged to work for Big Sandy canalization as a thing vital to his home state and an asset to the nation. A native of Louisville, Fred M. Vinson, is Chief Justice of the U.S. Supreme Court, and his sympathies naturally are with the river improvement. Kentucky's Congressional delegation is solidly for the undertaking. Governor Barle Clever and others prominent in the state administration are contributing their support.

But leaders cannot fight a winning battle without the aid of the man in the ranks. It's up to the rest of us now to do the work of the foot soldiers and of the men and women behind the front. Invest now in what appears to be a splendid chance for victory. Money spent now will mean a contribution not only to your own economic future but also to the maintenance of the section's schools and churches and to the development of scores of communities. This time, our help must be either too little or too late.

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING

Has the shotgun reached its ultimate development? The gun reached practically its present form in England about 200 years ago. Since then there have been only two marked improvements: the choke, developed about 1850, and improvements in ammunition during the last 50 years. And there development has stopped, at least temporarily, writes Col. Townsend Whelen, noted arms and ammunition authority.

In a process of elimination British gunmakers and sportsmen found the most efficient weapon for killing flying birds was a smoothbore gun of approximately 12 gauge, with a barrel about 26 to 30 inches long, shooting about 1 to 1 1/2 ounces of shot propelled by about 3 to 3 1/2 grams of black powder, the gun weighing seven to eight pounds with a stock about as this made at present.

If the barrel was longer or the shot made heavier, it became too heavy for wing shooting. A shorter barrel did not burn enough of the powder charge to give the velocity and penetration necessary to hit and kill. A lighter gun or a heavier charge gave too much recoil. A larger charge of powder spoiled the game, given proper care.

Smaller gauges down to 20 and up to eight have been used for special purposes, but from the very beginning the 12-gauge proved to be the best all-round bore, and still is. With this balanced design gunmakers seem to have been stopped, and one need fear for the two improvements noted above, they are still stopped today.

There is nothing much that is new to write about the types of shotguns—double-barrel, either side-by-side or over-under, pumps or automatics, the double hammer gun, introduced in perfection about 1890, the pump about 1897, and the Browning automatic about 1905. All will shoot the same, given proper care, and the choice between these types is a purely personal one.

Discussing quality or makes is leading on dangerous ground, but we might safely put it this way: Guns selling at less than about $50 to $60 are 20-year or 20,000-round, but give proper care, those above this price are lifetime guns.

KENTUCKY ON THE MARCH

By EWING GALLOWAY

When, in 1834, the Johns Vogels, just out of Moody Bible Institute, invaded the mountains of Whitley county, Ky., their worldly possessions consisted of a small trunk full of clothes and $20 in cash. There was a three-year-old daughter, Gladys, a considerable responsibility with a family with only $20, no friends, no place to live. At that time their ambition was to save souls.

They found shelter in a one-room log cabin with a leaky roof, which they rented for $2.50 a month. Preaching wherever he could attract an audience, Frescher Vogel, as the natives call him, soon gained the confidence of the mountain people, which he strengthened by distributing used clothing to the needy—garments sent by people in John's home town, Oaklawn, Illinois. There something happened to change the young man was shot. Soch afterwards the father of the baby asked the mother, Vog to help him remove it from the mother, whom the unweaned father accused of neglecting it. Vogel and the young man found the mother unregarded by her father, and took the child. The father, unable to provide a home for it, left the baby with the Vogels.

That incident marked the beginning of what is now called the Gallatin Children's Home, which does a fine job of bringing up 65 children. Here children were taken in—orphans, waifs, unwanted tots—and nearly every day brought new problems, such as getting food, clothing and additional house room.

Missionary Vogel hewed logs with which to build cabins, cleared land to grow vegetables, while Mrs. Vogel kept house and looked after the increasing number of waifs. Mountain people shared their food with the Vogels. When hogs were slaughtered one carcass was sent to the Vogels, potatoes, flour and corn meal were shared. But despite the generosity of native people and strangers, food for next week is still uncertain.

The Vogels insist that the Lord will always provide, meaning, of course, that people with Godly impulses bring in the things that are needed. And they don't solicit a penny from anybody.

Today the institution is incorporated as the Gallatin Children's Home. It has as many children as can be sheltered with the buildings it has. And there are trained assistants who help bring up the 65 children, which work, of course, includes first-rate elementary schooling.

OF INTEREST TO VETERANS

A total of 4,155 veterans in Ohio, Michigan and Kentucky are amputees as a result of service in World Wars I and II. The Veterans Administration Branch Office in Columbus, Ohio, reported this week.

Volrth W. Baker, chief of VA's Prosthetic Service in the three states, said the total includes 100 and arm amputees and those with partial amputations of the feet or hands.

There are none of the so-called "basket" cases—loss of both legs and both arms—in the three states, Baker said.

The number of amputees includes: Ohio, 1,722; Michigan, 1,433; Kentucky, 980. VA is paying disability compensation to all of these veterans.

Baker said in many cases the VA has assisted in the rehabilitation of the amputee veteran.

Five veterans in the three states suffered loss of both legs and one had a 59 lost both legs or feet, eight lost both hands and six lost one hand and one foot.

Insurance policies to replace temporary certificates on most forms of insurance will be in the near future by Veterans Administration Central Office in Washington.

No action on the part of the veterans will be necessary to obtain the new policies, which will contain provisions of the NSLI contracts as outlined in the NSLI law.

Policies will be issued on renewed term contracts and for those converted to any of the six permanent jobs. Contracts that have been issued on the original term insurance will remain in effect until renewed.

(Continued from Page One) Big Sandy area of Eastern Kentucky. They described it as the start of another depression that would end the relief rolls skyrocketing.

Dr. Thompson stated that Pike county was being over three-quarters of a million tons of coal monthly because of the unavoidable freight differential, also the coal production for the nation as a whole for 1948 decreased 5 per cent while in our section it had decreased 35 per cent to 40 per cent. And unless something is done we are going to be in dire financial circumstances.

Bank officials in the delegation stated that banks in our section were losing deposits at a rapid rate in the last few months, because a number of mines were closed and "people are eating up their money."

They further stated that many are drawing Unemployment Compensation now and when that's gone, they'll be looking to Washington for relief as they did in the 30's.

Wholesale and retail merchants said that trade in the Big Sandy area had fallen from 50 per cent to 50 per cent. Public officials said they had not a decided collapse in the economy set-up.

Other speakers pointed to the abundant natural resources including high quality coal, oil, natural gas, limestone, iron ore, timber, shales and salt water for chemical industry and their importance to the welfare of Big Sandy Kentucky.

The delegation from the Big Sandy Valley included State Senator Doug Hays and Marvin Music, of this county, Richard Wells, Sr., K. J. Day, George Coleman, Judge Irvin Pruitt, Pierce Keese, J. E. Sanders, Dr. O. W. Thompson, J. T. Dyer, D. C. Moore, Dr. J. E. Johnson, Johnnie Smith, Dan Chambers, Dr. Paul B. Hall, Bill Garland, J. B. Moore and J. T. Britt.

Commissioner Henry Ward, representing Governor Earle Clements.

Commissioner Ward stated to the Kentucky Congressmen and Senators that "there is a real demand for Eastern Kentucky coal by in the West because of its superior qualities, but they are not buying our coal because of freight differential."

The delegation returned from the capital, more optimistic than ever before of success.

(Continued from page One) back and shot one time and it went over George's head. Then Matt fell and George walked around the counter and emptied his pistol at him. George then took the empty shells out of his gun and dropped them on the floor and reloaded his gun and went out.

Mrs. Mullins said that, although four or five men were in the room when the argument began, only Lee Tackett was there when he entered from the back as the firing began.

Tackett corroborated this statement. He said he heard one man say, "Don't do that," but did not identify the speaker. He said he fell to the floor at the first shot and did not see the slaying.

Officers said the bullet, which apparently was fired by Matt Johnson entered the wall over the doorway.

The victim was a son of Hiram Johnson. He is survived by his widow and four children, Opal, Lily, Bervie and Virgie.

Funeral rites for Johnson were conducted Wednesday from the residence at Bypro, the Rev. Jerry Hall officiating. Burial at Buckingham was directed by the Ryan Funeral Home.

And this year, Oldsmobile has struck a new balance of power with two great engines for these Futuramic cars. The new "Big Six" Engine in the '76 is more powerful than ever. EATING up the miles as it roars along the smooth highway... grunting like a laboring Forcherman as it mounds the long, hard grades, the Interstate Buick... on time again... respects dependability.
It's long, well-crammed for an organization to reach the goal of complete public confidence. We take pride in having tested that goal... to have gained our reputation for Dependability.

Try Hudson!..See why
...it's lower...it's better!

Here's the only car you step down into—the lowest on the highway—a stunning beauty with the liveliest, smoothest and safest way of going you've ever known!

The whole world knows that the lower a car is built, the more graceful its lines can be made, the better it rides, handles and performs, and the safer it is.
And now you are invited to see and drive the lowest-built car on the highway—the New Hudson!

The New Hudson—only Hudson—has recessed floors. Thus, lounge-size seats are lowered to harmonize with the new, lower top.
Because you step down into Hudson, you get more head room and roomier seats than in any mass-produced car built today... and all of this along with ample road clearance!
But you'll soon find that amazing roominess is only one of the wonderful things you get in this unique new kind of car. We believe you'll want to read about more of them in the column to the right. Then see your nearby Hudson dealer who will gladly arrange for you to drive this sensationally low-built automobile.

BETTER design: Because the "step-down" principle is so basically right, it enables Hudson to achieve pleasing proportions and symmetrical free-flowing lines.

BETTER performance: Hudson's all-new, high-compression Super-Six engine—the masterful Super-Eight, perform at its best because this car is so thoroughly streamlined.

BETTER roadability: With the lowest center of gravity in any American-made car, Hudson really hugs the road, especially on curves. Hudson's Fluid-Cushioned Clutch, Center-Point Steering and Triple-Six shafts contribute mightily to a wonderful feeling of assurance.

BETTER value: One look, one ride will quickly tell you that here is an automobile so far ahead it is a protected investment.

Everybody knows ELECTRICITY does a CLEANER job

That goes for COOKING too!

YOU know why electricity is the best way to light a home. It's dependable, odorless, safe and clean.

It's the smart way to COOK, too—and for the same reasons. More and more women are finding that out every day.

Yes, electricity is the cleanest source of heat in all the world. And an electric range is the finest cooking device ever invented. Don't take our word for it! Ask any professional chef who's ever used one. Ask any housewife who knows the thrif, the flick-a-switch convenience, of a modern electric range. Ask yourself... "Why should I be without one?"
