COMMENTS

WOODROW ALLEN

The immediate problems which are created at the death of a member of a family, or another dependent, always come at a time when freedom from worry and responsibility is more desirable than at any other time. And handling these problems requires immediate cash.

May I show you how a Commonwealth Life Insurance plan will solve these final-expense problems in a dramatic way like to discuss this with you soon.

ous drop in prices which would bring chaos and disaster to the industry.

He said any coal operators and locals of the United Mine Workers are backing his proposal.

In many respects, his bill is similar in purpose to the old Cuffey Coal Act of 1937, which expired during the war.

Kittore said his bill, like the 1937 law, would outlaw unfair methods of competition, bring penalties for excessive and discriminatory sales and bring the officially set minimum prices.

These prices, he said, would be established so as to yield a return not less than the average cost of producing coal in the minimum price areas. In fixing such prices, due consideration would be given not only to the cost of producing the coal, but also to coal's competitive position with other fuels.

WESTERN UNION INCREASE SERVICE BY COMMISSION. The Public Service Commission has authorized the Western Union Telegraph Company to increase its rates in Kentucky by $16.75 a year. The new schedule brings Western Union's rates in Kentucky up to those it now charges for interstate service. PSC Secretary Ralph T. Kestner said Western Union had been permitted to do this in 42 other states.

Western Union said its rates brought in $151,396 last year. It reported that the $16.75 rate differential would get its Kentucky business out of the red.

The PSC also has approved Southern Bell's petition to install dial service in Crestwood, where it serves 575 customers. The conversation will cost $215,700. Southern Bell said.

LOOK WHO'S TALKING! I am in receipt of a letter putting me up to the fact that the week of April 22 is Mental Health Week and I am impressed even more than I was. For this letter started off with this paragraph: "The most effective way to judge the art of child rearing of yesterday is to look at the adult product of today." The Mental Health Week newspapers are filled with stories indicating that many of the parents of the adult product do not necessarily have the right ideas about how to rear children.

I take it that this means we should look at the present of today (yep!) in the light of the failures of yesterday. We are to be able to avoid the same mistakes tomorrow. Which seems all right to say, but let's go to the source—let's quibble about looking at the adult product of today might cause one to start brooding on the decent man, man's inhumanity to man, etcetera.

That out of the way, I am left little to talk about, except that I am going to put in my own for the present of day before yesterday and declare to all and sundry that if we would give some of this Twentieth Century United States and get back to some of the fundamentals the old-timers saw, accepted and put into practice, there would be a lot less to do in future Mental Health Weeks.

weakness, lung infections and the like may most rapidly develop, Dr.
Ransdell said.

"Tuberculosis is not inherited," was the topic for a statement by Dr. Ransdell, chief of Health Department, at a meeting of the Board of Health last week. The statement follows:
"Old-fashioned beliefs and false notions about health and disease are more prevalent than they should be in this 'enlightened' modern age.
Dietary fads, self-cure with patent medicines, amputation of limbs, about the source and outcome of chronic diseases are freely exchanged and, unfortunately, readily accepted by the masses. It is a common mistake to believe that tuberculosis is inherited. No one inherits tuberculosis.
The disease, which is caused by a germ known as 'tubercle bacillus,' is transmitted from one person to another person. Everyone who has tuberculosis gets it from some one else who has the disease. Tubercle bacilli are everywhere in the air.
The fallacy about inheriting tuberculosis might be difficult to correct in the minds of some people who have inherited tuberculosis.

germ known as 'tubercle bacillus,' is transmitted from one person to another person. Everyone who has tuberculosis gets it from some one else who has the disease. Tubercle
bacilli are everywhere in the air.

One such false notion which can and has done a great deal of harm is the idea that tuberculosis is inherited. No one inherits tuberculosis.

Two pictures of the future of coal is gained from recent newspaper

St. Louis where thousands of home-

Floyd County Times
Official Organ of Floyd County, Ky.
Published Every Thursday by Prestonsburg Publishing Co.

Entered as second class matter June 15, 1927, at the postoffice at Prestonsburg, Ky., under the act of March 3, 1879.

This Legislation Was Needed

ONE of the better bits of legislation enacted at the recent General Assembly was that which enables counties such as Floyd, Harlan, Perry and others of a population of 40,000 or more to employ a district detective to work with the Commonwealth's Attorney.

The Times has previously urged a trained investigator for this county, and it finds considerable gratification in the fact that this county's Paul H. Hayes was co-sponsor of the bill and that Floyd's other Assembly members, Senator Doug Hays and Representative Henry C. Haly, were the legislation their full support.

The fiscal court of this county should, as soon as the money becomes effective, employ a county detective, name an individual who not only is intelligent and capable of learning through study and experience but who also is thoroughly honest and stubborn. Such an official can put the end of a string of crimes in this county. If energetic and well-trained he is determining to do right, regardless of political pressure and other influences, he can be of incalculable aid to enforcement officials, the courts and all who would see the perpetrators of crime given the full measure of justice.

Whoever is named should be placed on the county payroll from the time he begins training. For it is certain individual named for this work will need special training in the finer points of crime detection.

Look to the Hills, Mr. Lewis

CANALIZATION of the Big Sandy river would reduce freight rates, one of the big factors of the coal business in this section. It would place this field in a position to compete with the mines of other fields more favored by freight differentials.

This means that more miners would work more days of every year. Canalization would mean the difference between prosperity and the bleak future of a mere existence for workers and industry alike in the Big Sandy.

This being true, the industry has ever produced figures to prove it isn't true. John L. Lewis, president of the United Mine Workers should look more closely into the situation which confronts his people in the Big Sandy. They deserve his attention and deepest thought and consideration, regardless of the interests of other coal fields.

For here in the Big Sandy John L. Lewis has his most loyal following. In other fields a few locals may balk at his word, but here—never. Here loyal miners must have work to live! On the coal industry they are dependent for that work. Mr. Lewis owes to these, his faithful, his support of canalization and decades of prosperity for an industry vital to them and their children.

Winchester Woman, Girlhood Resident Of Floyd, Is Victim

Mrs. Belle Clark Hickerson, who spent her childhood with relatives on Brady Row and Johns Creek, this county, died Friday at her home in Winchester at the age of 79. Mrs. W. A. Hickerson was the grandmother of J. W. McIntosh, of Prestonsburg, a cousin of Dr. John Slemore, Prestonsburg, and had many other relatives in this section. A native of Menifee county, she was a daughter of Dr. N. T. Clark and Sara Osborne Clark. Mrs. Hickerson was long a member of the Central Baptist Church, Winchester.

Surviving her are six daughters, one son, three sisters and three brothers. The funeral was held Monday, the Rev. Paul Fox and Dalton Leath officiating, and burial was made in Winchester cemetery.

row road leading from Clear Creek to the Winsted home. Then he set down and waited.

Finally, around 3 a. m., the door opened and Winsted stepped in. "Well, I'll be damned!" was his startled comment when he saw the Sheriff. He surrendered without protest.

At the hospital Monday night, Mullins gave his version of the trouble in a statement to County Attorney W. W. Burdett. The account, however, did not constitute a deathbed statement, since the wounded man did not say he would die if the wounds "look like I'll have a fine edge of it," was his comment when questioned about how he felt.

Mullins claimed Winsted last year forced his wife to hoe corn and work in the fields and this year told her if she did not get busy on a "new ground" and get the potatoes planted, she could get another plate to stay. Resenting this treatment, the wounded man said, he gave his sister $20 for a train, she went to Paintsville. Winsted called at the Mullins home, a quarrel followed and Mullins hurled a club at his brother-in-law, the statement continues.

After Winsted followed his wife to Paintsville and brought her home with him, Mullins went to the Winsted home and with Mullins averring "to see their baby and take it some candy." There the two discussed the matter of Mrs. Winsted working, with Mullins averring it wasn't right for her to have to do such hard work. Mullins then said his sister could go home with him, and the woman started, he said, he had unhitched his mule and started to mount when the shotgun blast killed him, Mullins claimed.

Winsted told Sheriff Meade Mullins had come to his home and told his wife to leave, an order which she obeyed, and that he later brought her home from Paintsville. He stated Mullins, a more powerful man than he, hurled a club at him, climaxed an argument, and told Winsted that he was coming to his home to get the Winsted's baby. This Winsted said he warned Mullins against. When Winsted appeared at the home, he said, the shooting took place.

Fire Department Answers Two Week-End Fire Calls

Two calls were answered within 24 hours by the Prestonsburg Fire Department over the week-end. Fire Captain Tom Blackburn reported Saturday at 2:30 p. m. a run was made to the garage on the Elbert Dolsen property at the end of the Middle Creek bridge where a blaze had originated from a gas heater. Sunday at 2 p. m. a call took the firemen to the Big Sandy Motel to quench a flame which had its origin with some rags stored in a closet. Blackburn said.

Kentucky Has New Governor This Week

Kentucky has a new Governor this week—well, for a part of the week anyway.

State Senator Lewis Cox, Frankfort, became acting Governor of Kentucky Monday. Lieutenant-Governor Lawrence Wechsler, acting in place of Governor Earle W. Clements, left for a brief vacation in Florida in the manner of the "gubernatorial recess" which is presently occupying time for Clements. Cox, president pro-tem of the state Senate, automatically took Wechsler's place. Clements is expected back from his Florida vacation some time this week.

The Middletown negro 4-H Club in Rockcastle county has more than 50 boys and girls enrolled.

Prestonsburg School Head Is Appointed On Southern Educational Committee

Chalmers H. Frazier, superintendent of Prestonsburg schools, has been appointed by Bowtell Hodgkins, Superintendent of Public Instruction, to the Southern States Cooperative Committee for the study of Elementary Education. It was announced in Frankfort recently. His appointment fills a vacancy on the committee.

The committee's purpose is to improve southern area elementary schools, with the idea eventually of radiating all schools on a 13-grade system. Adoption of this system would mean that a high school would not be accredited unless the eight grades in the elementary schools met required standards.

we go as far as the Moon to serve our customers

When most people say they'd "go as far as the moon" to please you, they're talking in figures of speech. When we say it, we really mean it. The figures we use are right off the speedometers of our company cars and company trucks.

Last year these 119 Kentucky and West Virginia vehicles traveled 1,877,842 miles . . . in building and maintaining lines, connecting new customers, answering hurry calls when something needed fixing, on all sorts of trips to help homemakers, farmers, and businessmen get the most out of their electric service.

This distance they traveled is equal to three trips to the moon (and back) and enough additional mileage to circle the earth nearly 18 times at the equator.

We know that our cars and trucks don't look like inter-planet space ships when you see them on the streets. They're business-like, work-a-day vehicles that you take pretty much for granted. But in running up their astronomical mileage on routine and emergency trips, they are one of many reasons why you can take your electric service so much for granted, too.

KENTUCKY ON THE MARCH

BY EWING GALLOWAY

The people of Paintsville made civic-progress history the other day. The occasion yielded only $5,000, to augment a fund of approximately $150,000 for the seven-acre playground. It was the method that made news.

People of the town donated articles they could do without, from nannies to antiques, from baby grand pianos slightly out of tune to washing machines. Some items were made especially for the occasion, cakes and pies particularly, all of those latter baked by men. Youthful Mayor J. B. Wells donated a pie he had made with his own hands, and, worth $125.

The auction was in the Paintsville Radio Center auditorium and sometimes there were as many as three amateur auctioneers working at the same time. The auction was broadcast, of course. Many bids came in by telephone.

The recreation center project got off to a good start with the City Water Commission to build an $80,000 swimming pool. Then came $20,000 by public subscription, followed by a $50,000 city bond issue. The radio auction was organized by the Junior Women's League, with abundant help from the local radio station. The ladies did a fine job of whipping it up.

I know that in other Kentucky cities, some of them much larger than Paintsville, recreation center projects have been lagging for two years. All these cities have to do is profit by Paintsville's novel experience. In most places leadership of exactly the right sort is lacking.

Don't be frightened by the cost of the Paintsville project. Adequate play centers in other towns might be built for one-fourth of $150,000. I have been watching civic projects for the last three years, and have come to the conclusion that it is not unwillingness on the part of the people to spend money for things their communities need but the failure of local leaders to ask for subscriptions in the right way.

Hopkinsville this spring is expected to chip up the last dollar needed for a recreation center that will include a large swimming pool. B. M. Mansfield, owner and publisher of the Union County Advertiser, which mails out this column, told me the other day there hadn't been a single juvenile delinquency case in County Judge Tom T. Richards' court since Morganfield established a fine youth center two years ago in a building formerly used by the USO.

FEW FLOYD FARMERS FILE PLANS WITH PMA; WARNED OF DEADLINE

Only a few over 800 of the county's 2,400 farmers have filed farm plans with the Floyd county Production Marketing Administration office here, and the deadline for filing is only a few days more than two weeks away.

Reminding farmers of the last day for filing, an office personnel member said that unless they do this year they will not be eligible for time, phone, and seed. The act of filing farm plans, he added, does not mean that the farmer must make his request for soil-building materials or seed now. This can be done later in the year.

'The Best Sporting Goods Store I Ever Saw in a Small Town...'
That statement was made by a visitor to our store, recently.
Frankly, we quote it here in order to do a bit of boasting, ourselves.
We are proud of what we have done since 1946 to give Floyd county a center where sportsmen can find just about anything they would be able to buy in the larger cities.

Here, right before your eyes, are the hundreds of items you fishermen and hunters look for from season to season. No ordering by number and hoping it's what you want. Here is, to see and hear for appearance, weight and balance.
A lot of items must be stocked and held against the day when you will need them. And they represent a lot of money. But, if we bought only those things we felt you would buy within a few weeks' time, we would not be in position to supply you at the very moment when you have the urge to go fishing or to buy that equipment you have dreamed about for your next hunting trip.

To get a complete picture of what we are trying to do, visit the store and look over the hundreds of bait-casting lures, hundreds more of fly patterns, and rods and reels produced by a dozen manufacturers, the lines, hooks, sinkers—every small item you could conceivably need.
You'll find even spinning rods and reels and lures on display. And, believe it or not, we have reels for salt water fishing!

Or, say you're going hunting. Rifles, shotguns, revolvers, ammunition, gun cases, cleaning paraphernalia, and so on.
While we're about it, we might mention that in the sporting goods line we have what you'll need to wear to be comfortable and what you'll need to take along for your camping trip or simple day's outing—everything from boat, motor and oars on down to ice boxes, thermos jugs, life preservers—what-have-you, or what will you have?
We'll not realize any cash on many of these things for a long time yet. But we will have them for you when you need them.

While we're about this business of boasting, we'll add that we think Floyd county has the finest and most enthusiastic sportsmen we have ever known. So why shouldn't we try our damndest to give them a sporting goods center worthy of the best?

'Whites' Defeat 'Reds,' 7-6, In Blackcat Intra-Squad Tilt

1949 REGULARS IN LOSING TEAM LINEUP
The 'Whites' defeated the 'Reds,' 7-6, Friday night here in a Prestonsburg Blackcat intra-squad game which offered a nice crowd of football fans an insight to anticipated 1950 performances of the Cats this fall and marked the improvement made during spring practice.

Closeness of the score indicated a well balanced squad in view of the fact that the 'Reds' were composed mostly of last year's veteran first-string performers and no long runs featured any gains. All yardage was realized by man grunt-and-go tries.

The 'Whites' touchdown came when quarterback Delmar Hiltz completed a 23-yard pass to 'Wah Wah' Caudill who went to pay dirt. Fullback Bill added the extra point which provided the winning margin. The point was the fruit of a wedge off center.

For the 'Reds,' Delong dashed off twice for a touchdown but failed convert for the extra point.
'This game convinced me more than ever,' Coach 'Doc' Perrell commented, 'that no position is served up by any one performer on the 1950 Blackcat team.'

The squad, as a whole, showed good 'game tacking' and displayed definite ability to smother a runner before he had a chance to get started. Sparking the demonstration was the willingness of more than two boys to hit the ball carrier.

'It was the best hitting and lateral body contact demonstrated since I've been here,' Perrell exclaimed. 'I'm well satisfied with individual efforts but we certainly have to improve our teamwork in order to adequately meet the capability of the team we rightfully expect,' he said.
Admissions charged at the gate, Perrell explained, will help to pay expenses of taking the boys to Lexington, April 21, to see the annual Blue-and-White UK grid game and mingle with the collegiate Wildcat football players. Perrell, a former UK gridiron performer, stated that the experience will greatly benefit the Blackcats.

Friday night's tilt saw a brilliant defensive by Hopsan of the Reds. James Delong looked good on offense and defense. Bobby Daniels, a newcomer in the Red lineup, showed a great improvement. Junior Mayo, Dan Carver, Clyde Latney and others on the Red team displayed good offensive.

Hughes and Hill, of the White team, were outstanding. The running game of 'Wah Wah' Caudill showed up to advantage. Glen Dixon gave signs of definite promise. Defensive work of Bill Paulin, Eddie Sausville and others were gratifying. Perrell stated.

Performers with only three weeks of experience, Perrell pointed out, were Smalley, Coble, Fitzpatrick, Patton, Dixon, Daniels, Prater and Carver.

Sept. 15—Open.

COVERING THE WATERFRONT MAY BE CHIEF DIFFICULTY IN GOOD, BAD ANGLES

BY TED KESTING
The chief difference between the two cases, in the hands of the one who doesn't is that the former covers every bit of possibly productive water, and the latter doesn't. The skilled stream fishermen, for instance, will start practically at his feet and work out from there, covering each cast and beat for a hundred every square foot of water.

And next to persistence (which implies careful thorough fishing and fishing things, so here are some do's and don'ts) the surest way to get on the water is to get on the water. You put the suggestions into personal experience. But you can draw upon the experience of others, for instance, two people cast, and don't contribute by Bill Wolf, who knows fish and fishing from coast to coast.

Don't fail to clean your fish soon after they are caught, and pack them in damp cloth, grass or ferns. Don't expect to catch a fish in the creek and stand up in cast in narrow boats or canoes. Shout or swear, but don't bump the bottom of the boat. Don't have more than two people cast from a small boat at a time.

'Time of day—fish may feed at four o'clock but in and out of the water before sunset and at night. The big ones feed at night. If you have them, two people cast. First, surface lures work well then, try large dry flies (really huge ones); use slow-moving or noisy surface lures for bass. And at night, the larger lures the better.

'Frog casting—Get the best frog you can find, or light one and a fairly long rod. Small fine wire leaders with snags at the end are ideal for quickly changing underwater plugs, spoons and other lures; don't use them with floating plugs. Whether fishing a surface plug or an underwater lure, 'very' your retrieve. Your outfit should contain some underwater, semi-surface lures, a couple spoons and some frogs for using rock hind or chunky bait—Other than the worm, which is good anywhere, anytime, there is no 'best' bait, so consult fishermen. Only a few generalities are possible here. Minnows, crawfish, worms and hellgramites are the big four among baits—dependable, quality material. One of the four is certain to appeal to almost any kind of fish. However, don't overlook beetles, grasshoppers, crickets, grass caterpillars and other caterpillars—or anything else small enough.

Baselines—A sturdy fly rod, a level line and a short leader work best here. The leader should be about four feet long and strong. The one absolute necessity is a well-grounded line. The cork, bakelite or deer hair lure should lift easily off the water.

Week-Night Basketball, Spring Football Practice Under Fire

Proposals to eliminate Tuesday night basketball games, practice popular among a majority of Eastern Kentucky high schools, and the banning of spring football are scheduled, among other recommendations, for prime consideration by the Kentucky High School Athletic Association executives who meet in Louisville tomorrow (Friday), according to an announcement of K.H.S.A.A. Commissioner Ted Sanford.

WESTERN HILLTOPPERS TO FACE 'DEEP SOUTH' COMPETITION IN 1950
Bowling Green, Ky., April 10—(Sp.)—Western Kentucky State College Hilltoppers will open and close their 1950 football 10-game schedule with a double-header, victories contrary to representative influences from two different portions of the 'Old Deep South.'

According to grid manager Jack Clayton, the Hilltoppers open their season, September 23, at Bowling Green against invading Howard College from Birmingham, Ala. They end the chilly end of their schedule against a first-time foe, Stetson University, at sun-baked Daytona Beach, Fla., on November 25.

Between those dates, Western samples another bit of deep-south competition when the Hilltoppers go to Cleveland, Miss., November 4, for a date with Delta State. Western invades eastern Kentucky on a date with Morehead, Oct. 14. They entertain Marshall College here, October 7, in a first meeting between the two schools since 1942 when Western won, 19-13.

The Hilltoppers are approaching the end of spring practice with approximately 60 candidates out for the spring drills.
'The complete schedule is as follows:
September 23—Howard College, Bowling Green, Ky.
September 30—Evanville College, Evansville, Indiana.
October 7, Marshall College, Bowling Green, Ky.
October 14, Morehead Ky. State, Morehead, Ky.
October 21, Georgetown College, Bowling Green, Ky.
October 28, Tennessee Tech, Cookeville, Tenn.
November 4, Delta State, Cleveland, Miss.
November 11, Eastern Ky. State, Bowling Green, Ky.
November 18, Murray Ky. State, Bowling Green, Ky.
November 25, Stetson University, Daytona Beach, Fla.

Coaches shall be required only such certification as is required of them by the Kentucky Board of Education.
'No member of the Board of Education, who has served a full four-year term, shall be eligible to succeed himself.'
'A practice game played without advertising or charging admission shall not be considered a scheduled game.'
A dimmed meeting will be held Friday evening at 6 o'clock in Coach Blanton, Collier of the Cleveland Browns as special speaker.

James Caudill, veteran Lousa coach, has been named as head coach of Hazard high school. Caudill, whose team at Lousa won 58 games and lost two in the last four years, succeeds Earl 'Pop' Collins, who will remain as a classroom teacher. Caudill will name his own assistant coach.
The new Hazard mentor is a former grid star at Morehead State College. Collins had coached at Hazard since 1926 and had been head coach 2 ne 1942.

VETS WARNED OF JULY 25 DEADLINE ON GI TRAINING

Washington, D. C.—The Veterans Administration warns veterans that the date to education and training under the GI Bill will be locked July 25, 1951. All inside the program by that date can stay there until their entitlement runs out or until their "course" ends on or after July 25, 1951, whichever comes first. Most others will stay out.

One reason for this move undoubtedly was the howl brought on last fall when the VA put out a pre-emptive regulation, known as I.A. Presently from veterans, Congress and schools forced the VA to withdraw I.A. although its bid timing was not the only reason. The strongest objection was that it compelled all veterans wanting to change a course to prove the new course was "necessary to employment."

The VA is taking no chances on the possibility of any veteran's misinterpreting the significance of the July 25, 1951, deadline. In a long report sent to Congress Jan. 23, the VA took six thousand typewritten pages to present its interpretation of the cut-off date. It recognizes that the GI Bill could be interpreted several ways with regard to that date.

The language in the law goes this way: "That such course shall be initiated not later than four years after either the date of discharge or after the termination of the present war, whichever is later." The "termination of the war" for this purpose is July 25, 1947, so there is no problem there. Four years later is July 25, 1951. (Almost all veterans were discharged before July 25, 1947.)

But what, the VA wondered, did Congress mean by "initiate a course?" It decided it meant that a veteran would have to be in or working on an education or training course by that date unless he is in a "vacation period, or is sick, etc.)"

Get into a certificate of eligibility with the intention of enrolling a course would not do. The course would have to be under way. Nor would this do:

Suppose a veteran is taking a college course today. He gets his degree in 1950. He decides to take a course in 1951. He would have to be in or working on an education or training course by that date unless he is in a "vacation period, or is sick, etc.)"

HALL'S CONCRETE BLOCKS

8" x 8" x 16" ... 24c Each

NEW CONCRETE BLOCK PLANT

Now operating on the South side of Allen "Y" on U.S. Highway No. 23 is one of the most modern CONCRETE BLOCK plants in Eastern Kentucky. This advantageous location permits SPEEDIER SERVICE AT LESS COST, thus proving itself a real MONEY SAVER for those who desire high quality concrete blocks at low cost. This new, modern plant is the result of four years of successful operation of a plant located at Banner, Ky.

Edgar H. Hall realized that high quality products at the lowest possible prices were to be produced at this plant. Therefore, he employed factory engineers, draftsmen, etc., to make this plant by far the most modern in the Big Sandy valley.

Half invites YOU to visit this new plant whether you need concrete blocks or not.

PLenty Well Cured UNITS ON HAND

IMMEDIATE DELIVERY

"Remember, Walls Last When Hall's Blocks Are Used First."

NEW CONCRETE BLOCK MACHINERY AND EQUIPMENT

The heart of the new plant is a "GoCoop, Jr." production machine which is rated from 1,500 to 2,500 8"x8"x16" concrete blocks per 8-hour day.

The machine, like all modern block machines, produces blocks by vibration under hydraulic pressure. This latest method of manufacturing blocks insures each unit to be well COMPACTED. Solid type mold box, with electric height control, guarantees all blocks equal in height which gives an absolute HORIZONTAL LINE when laid into the wall.

This machine produces GROOVED MORTAR BEDS on all sides of each block. This gives a BETTER BOND between blocks and block.

LARGE CORE SPACES provide the finished wall with more dead air space, thus eliminating the larger part of "wall sweating." A troweling action is imparted to each block as it leaves the machine. This tends to make each block HIGHLY WATER RESISTANT.

But most important of all is the low price of this unique block: 8"x8"x16" BLOCKS 24c AT ALLEN. We deliver.

"HALLING blocks our specialty."

NEW MODERN METHODS OF MANUFACTURING CONCRETE BLOCKS

You will be pleased to know when you get your concrete blocks at Hall's new plant that each block is cured in a modern, low-pressure steam kiln which has been especially designed for curing concrete products. Furthermore, after proper kiln drying, the units are stockpiled for at least two weeks before they are offered to the market.

These extra precautions in curing each block well before it is laid in the wall insures you that we have taken the utmost care to guard against your FINISHED WALL CRACKING BECAUSE OF SHRINKAGE. As perhaps you know, many walls crack because uncured or "green" blocks were used when the wall was erected.

The use of WASHED AND SCREENED OHIO RIVER SAND AND GRAVEL as aggregate in all our units have proven very satisfactory to our many customers. But all this boasting is not enough. WE CAN SHOW YOU FAR BETTER THAN WE CAN TELL. YOU VISIT THE PLANT AT THE ALLEN "Y" AND SEE FOR YOURSELF.

SON OF SOLDIER FATHER ESTABLISHES HURD FAMILY IN EASTERN KENTUCKY

HENRY P. SCALF

It was during the Civil War. There lived a tenant farmer on a great plantation in Scott county, Va., whose name was David Hurd; his wife, Lockie Moore Hurd. They had six small children.

The call of the martial times and perhaps the urge of his compatriots caused David Hurd to enlist in the Confederate Army, but he was never required to separate permanently from his family for any great periods of time. He visited them at intervals and as the war years dragged on saw the family growing up. One child was born while he was in service and immediately after that David Hurd died in the army. He never saw his child that Lockie called Wright.

Southwest Virginia in the post-war years was a different Virginia from the lush era preceding the conflict. The great plantations were in ruins, everywhere was desolation, broken homes and broken hearts, and in the government were the scalawags, expert beggars and negroes.

Lockie Hurd learned of Kentucky of that land beyond the Cumberland that has ever had an attraction for Southwest Virginians. She decided to emigrate in 1895 to the Licking river valley, and, having bought a small wagon, hooked her own oxen to it and came to the Howard Branch. Here she settled with her six children, but, finding work and means to live hard in any land for a poor widow with a family, she moved again to somewhere on Middle Creek a few miles from what is now Prestonsburg.

This move did not better her condition, and as the children were growing up there was talk of moving back to Scott county, which they did. Here the children reached adulthood and, often as the years went by, these children made long trips to Massillon county, one finally marrying a Howard girl and settling there.

But Lockie Hurd did not come back to Kentucky—old age came on, and she died and was buried in Scott county. A very old descendant says of her family, the Moores, that they were a restless people, ever moved by some restless urge to go to far places. Some of them had immigrated to Missouri, P. A.

BANNER MAN, WHO LEFT WARTIME SERVICE TO ENTER POST-WAR BUILDING BOOM, OPENS NEW PLANT OF 1,000-BLOCK DAILY OUTPUT

By Local Club Head

Edgar F. Hall, Banner man who returned from wartime army service to take part in the post-war building boom as a concrete products manufacturer, is now producing 1,000 standard-size concrete blocks a day at his new plant which he opened recently at the "Y" at Allen.

This output was reached through the use of an entirely new block making machine, which employs vibration plus hydraulic pressure in the making of blocks. The machine Mr. Hall began operating at his new plant was said to be the seventh now in use over the nation.

Upon his return home from the army, Mr. Hall began the concrete

Representative Paul E. Hayes Reports to Floyd Countians On Ky. 1950 Lawmaking

The 1950 General Assembly has probably received more unfavorable criticism than any other legislature in the history of our state. It being an easy matter to find fault, critics have been quick to pounce upon the following occurrences which created hard news reports with big headlines:

1. A Gun Was Flashed on the Floor of the House.
 Few reporters took the trouble to mention that the gun was drawn by the Sergeant-at-Arms who is entitled by law to carry a gun and directed by law to keep order. This was a regrettable incident, directly involving only three or four of the hundred or more present, which occurred in a momentary heated passion and one of deep regret which we humbly hope will never again happen, even though it was given the "mountain-top-or-molehill" treatment.

2. Bills Were Passed Without Necessary Reading.
 Although the constitution provides for three readings of all bills, the actual readings are by title only, and no legislative business is done until a reading of 30 or 30 minutes is held. Had not the Legislature overlooked the one occasion only when the reading of bills was justifiably overlooked, a bill affecting Workmen's Compensation, and another raising the benefits to the unemployed would have failed to receive consideration.

3. K.E.A. Tax Bills Decried.
 The school aid bills, proposing raises in taxes on alcohol, tobacco, horse race betting, and coal were endorsed by K.E.A. leaders who knew or should have known that strong blocks of legislators from the production areas affected counties with each other to defeat individually these taxes which so affected the vital industries of the state. The fact of the matter is that all of these bills were held in the Revenue and Taxation committee, not a member of which committee failed to be affected.

4. Defeat of Other Good Measures.
 Such as mine safety, regulation, and purgation, strip mine regulations, veterans' bonus, etc. No doubt many meritorious bills failed to receive adequate consideration, and passage. Criticism of this type is valid and undeniable. Floyd countians sponsored and fought hard for the mine safety bill, the veterans' bonus bill and the purgation bill but they were lost nevertheless. It is always regrettable that everything which school people felt proud of indirectly for the common schools.

5. "Do Nothing Legislation."
 This description was often applied to the 1950 General Assembly during the first half of the session. However, it should not be forgotten that the 1950 Assembly passed some 366 bills, only 16 less than the 1948 session, and made more actual changes in the law than has any other General Assembly in the history of our state.

This list of criticisms could be extended but those given above with explanations should be sufficient to indicate that newspaper accounts can be misleading in pointing up the bad without properly crediting the good. Many of our citizens do not realize the difficulties involved in being a member of the legislature. Many are prone to condemn rather than praise the work of any General Assembly. Few realize the amount of work, the long hours and continuous pressure, the wear and tear upon the nervous system, and the physical and mental strain that goes with the job of being a conscientious legislator.

So far it would appear that the purpose here of this writing is to excuse the work of the 1950 General Assembly. Quite the contrary, the purpose here is to acquaint the people of Floyd county with the true nature of the accomplishments of their own legislative delegation.

Without fear of contradiction, we may say here and now that the people of Floyd county benefited as much, or more, from the work of the 1950 General Assembly than did the people of any other county in this Commonwealth.

Now that the smoke has cleared and the race is finished, let us look at the facts and see what benefits the 1950 General Assembly rendered the good people of this county through the support and hard work of their representation.

Floyd Gets Separate Circuit Court.
 Previous sessions of the General Assembly throughout the years in distinguishing Eastern Kentucky circuit courts have boded Floyd countians into various associations with Knott county, Magoffin county and Martin county. For a county as large as Floyd with over 60,000 people, to be forced to share a circuit judge and commonwealth's attorney with other counties has resulted in necessarily long delays in both criminal and civil trials bringing about increased crime and added costs to the people obtaining justice. Due to the work of your legislators in the 1950 General Assembly, Floyd county will, on August 28, 1950, become a separate judicial district and the circuit judge and commonwealth's attorney will be able to give exclusive attention to enforcing the criminal law and in bringing about speedy justice in civil actions for this county only.

Increased Aid to Education for Floyd.
 With the full support of the legislators from Floyd county, a bill was passed raising income taxes in the higher income brackets and increasing nearly $3,000,000, the additional revenue therefrom to the common school fund going to poorer school districts was increased.

Those interested in school aid should realize that these bills, not only increased the equalization percentage but included a revenue-raising measure which added to the common school fund nearly $3,000,000, or approximately 1 1/2 of $1,500,000 additional aid asked for by this legislation Floyd county will receive, according to estimates from the Kentucky Department of Education, an increase of $103,022.25 from the state over and above the greater amount the state has ever before furnished this county for public schools. Or, to put it another way, if this increased aid were applied to the payment of teachers' salaries and divided among the estimated 398 school teachers in Floyd county it would amount to an average raise for each teacher of $13 per month. In this respect Floyd county was benefited more than any other county in the state excepting Harlan and Pike counties.

Extra Benefits for Retired Teachers.
 Retired teachers received extra good treatment at the hands of the 1950 General Assembly. Effective July 1, the minimum annual payment to retired teachers with 30 or more years of experience was increased from $300 to $450 ($25 to $40) per month. With 20 years experience a disabled teacher need no longer wait until age 50 before being eligible to retire with a disability pension, and a teacher with 30 years experience need no longer wait until 50 years of age to receive retirement benefits. One of these bills was sponsored by Floyd county legislators.

Floyd County Can Now Have a Commonwealth's Detective.
 A bill sponsored by a Floyd County legislator was passed by the 1950 General Assembly allowing Floyd county and five other Eastern Kentucky counties, having a population of over 40,000 persons, to appoint a Commonwealth's Detective to investigate crimes and prosecute criminals. The need for an official of this kind in Floyd county is obvious.

Benefits For Unemployed Persons Raised.
 The 1950 General Assembly boosted the maximum payments of jobless workers from $29 for 24 weeks to $24 for 24 weeks. Under the same bill immediate and past employees will not be required in building up contributions when an employee quits his job without cause or is fired for misconduct. This latter contribution will lighten employer's resistance to employ claims for benefits. Floyd county legislators supported the bill.

Workmen's Compensation Benefits Increased.
 Maximum weekly payments to dependents of injured or killed workers under the Workmen's Compensation law were boosted from $35 to $50, with a total maximum of $2,500 instead of $1,000. Where previously disabled workers have received $25 per week up to $9,500, under the new law they will receive $24 a week up to $10,000. For partially disabled workers the maximum weekly payments were increased from $18 to $21 and the ceilings from $6,100 to $8,500. Needless to say your representatives from this county were solidly behind this bill. A law sponsored by Floyd county legislators increases the maximum medical allowance to injured workers from $500 to $2,500.

Floyd Gets Second Fourth Class City.
 Upon the popular demand of the citizens of Martin, and a proper showing of qualifications, the General Assembly proclaimed the town to the fourth class of cities, thereby granting to those people greater benefits by which to govern themselves. Those who look upon this measure as one enacted for local opinion purposes fail to realize the immense possibilities for growth and progress for this already progressive town at the mouth of the two Beavers.

Two Resolutions Directly Affecting Floyd:
 After a hard fought battle the Floyd county legislators managed to pass through the Senate and House a resolution requesting Congress to approve the canalization of the Big Sandy River Valley. The president of the Big Sandy Valley Association, Dr. O. W. Thompson characterized the victory as "a shot in the arm" for this valuable project. Another resolution sponsored by your representatives was passed showing the assembly unanimously in support of the people of Floyd county on the occasion of their sesquicentennial Celebration July 14, 1950.

Others Affecting Floyd:
 Among other significant forward looking measures passed for the benefit of all our citizens was a budget bill that provides the largest appropriation in the history of health and welfare. Funds were made available for opening five new tuberculosis treatment centers and for those diseased in body and mind. A comprehensive salary bill passed raising state officers and leaving with the local county units the power to set the salaries of local officials within the bounds of their respective budgets. Incidentally the salary bill included a raise for grand and petit jurors from $3 to $5 per day. The Insurance and Motor Transportation Laws were codified and made more effective to protect the public. A Functions and Resources Committee was established to study and recommend remedial steps to provide more state aid for education, health and welfare. Enabling legislation for more rural telephone service was passed which will stand as a milestone in this field. A direct benefit from the rural telephone bill may be realized in the Left Beaver section of Floyd county as well as other sections of the county where it is badly needed. All of these measures received the support of your legislators.

Your representation was instrumental in deferring a proposed license tax on coal which would have further crippled the coal industry in this section already burdened by a high freight differential.

Space does not permit a complete coverage of the 1950 General Assembly in this article, nor of the complete accomplishments of your representation in Frankfort. However, I feel assured that I speak for Senator Doug Hayes and Rep. Henry C. Hale when I say that we feel proud of the 1950 General Assembly for what it has done for Floyd county, and that we find satisfaction in the knowledge that we did the best we could under the circumstances.

Sincerely at your service,
PAUL E. HAYES

The Mississippi, Missouri & Ohio Valleys Need The Big Sandy Canal

Relation of BIG SANDY VALLEY to INLAND WATERWAYS & MARKETS COAL PRODUCING AREAS

The Big Sandy Valley is a vast storehouse of high quality coals notable among which are the Millers Creek Block and the Elkhorn, Pond Creek By-Product Coking Coals. The U. S. Engineer Corps estimates over two billion tons of these coals to be within ten miles of the Big Sandy Waterway. A large percentage of this vast reserve can be loaded into river barges cheaper than into railway cars. These coals can be delivered to ultimate consumers in the Upper Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio Valleys at a net savings in cost, f.o.b. consumer plants, of $1.50 per ton. Savings f.o.b. barge are $2.15. There is a riverside market, for thirty-five million tons per annum.

Freight rates to Mississippi, Missouri and Ohio River destinations on Big Sandy coals have been increased 96 cents per ton since June, 1946.

"Without the high grade, by-products coking coals of the Big Sandy Valley region at reasonable, water-borne rates, the Mississippi Valley will never have an independent metallurgical industry,"—Lachlan Macleay, Pres. Miss. Valley Assoc.

The National Rivers and Harbors Congress passed a resolution endorsing the Big Sandy Waterway, placing it in Class 1. (This means that the project is sound, needful and sufficiently advanced in status, and should be promptly constructed in the public interest.)

The Ohio Valley Improvement Association, passed a resolution asking Congress to authorize the Big Sandy Waterway Project.

Both Houses of Kentucky Legislature passed resolution asking the U. S. Congress to authorize Big Sandy Canalization project.

Big Sandy Valley coal is not competitive with the coals of Indiana, Illinois and West Kentucky.

It will find its own new markets where coking coals are required.

On the basis of quantity, quality and accessibility, the Big Sandy valley constitutes the greatest known by-product coal field in the world.

In spite of the fact that the Big Sandy Waterway was the fifth in size and had the third highest rating, by the United States Board of Engineers, of any of the ten largest navigation projects included in the Rivers and Harbors Bill passed by the 79th Congress, it was the only project (out of a total of 69) eliminated from the Bill. The Railways' nationwide lobby was concentrated on the defeat of this one meritorious project.

This defeat automatically referred the project back to the Rivers and Harbors Committee but did not eliminate it.

The Senate committee on rivers and harbors of the first session of the 81st Congress passed a resolution stating that from the evidence the Big Sandy project seemed meritorious and asking the U. S. Board of Engineers to bring it up to date as to costs and benefits. On April 1, the Big Sandy and 200 other projects, large and small, will be reviewed by the committee.

The Big Sandy Valley canalization project must be included in the next Rivers and Harbors Bill.

Your continued support is solicited. Won't you secure its support by your local representatives in Congress?

Listen each Sunday from 3:00 to 3:30 p.m., to Big Sandy Radio Network.
