MAN WITH CAR wanted for route work. Also for a few weeks. The repressors will start to work in most counties, the workers will take six months or longer leaving existing each piece of property, classifying improvements and checking inventories.

The reappraisal will list the actual market value of all property within the county. But this does not mean the taxpayers will have to pay on this full-value base.

Decided the final cost, alone will determine what ratio the final assessment will bear to the actual market value. In fact, the state requires the final cost of the county to be no larger than one-third the value before-plus, of course, any unexpired property which may have been located.

During the reappraisal, the county tax commission's work closely with the experts so that he can advise them and see how they arrive at the various valuations.

The final valuation will be valuable in many ways. It will show the fiscal cost of the county's total tax potential; it will enable a county to set its assessment ratio at, say, 90 per cent if that level will produce the necessary revenue to operate the local government. The data will be a valuable aid in attracting new industry to the community, since an accurate evaluation of the industry's probable tax position can be determined.

"What we are after is tax justice," declared William G. Herzel, acting commissioner of revenue. "Our primary concern is to get all taxpayers on an equal level as possible, so that identical types of property are assessed identically within any tax area."

"The important thing isn't who owns the property," Herzel added, "but what the property is worth."

The staff has gone further. It has built up the data in the last two manuals, and has published a simplified guide to more equitable assessing. This probably will be ready for distribution to tax commissioners this month.

The result: Today, 99 of the 100 people of the commonwealth have agreed to start using the new valuing methods this year. During the months until January 1, 1951, a 99 per cent of the property will be reappraised and listing each parcel on a permanent record card.

In most cases, tax commissioners are in the political hot line of assessor. They have been unwilling so far to abandon the bad practices of the past for any "new-fangled" ideas.

In addition, six counties have asked the state to help them re-evaluate all property within their boundaries—Jefferson, Garrard, Magoffin, Ohio, Rowan and Simpson. The Legislature appropriated $150,000 to the Revenue Department to be used for this purpose.

According to Herzel, here's how the state-aid plan works. First, all the people of the commonwealth must be sincere in wanting to do something about their assessments. There is no compulsion from the state. In fact, with so many counties requesting aid may be passed over in favor of those whose citizens appear more anxious to co-operate.

When the county's request for state-aid is approved, the Revenue Department advertises for bids to do the job. There are about a dozen firms in the United States that specialize in doing a few weeks of the lowest and best bidder gets the contract.

But the out-of-state experts don't rush into the county, sweep everything aside, dig for a few weeks and then come up with a new assessment. Instead, they will use this procedure:

The reappraisal experts will meet first with a local committee made up of realtors, bankers, insurance men, Farm Bureau personal and others familiar with property values locally.

They will agree among themselves on base values for various classes of land within the county—urban commercial and residential, rural commercial, agricultural, timber, mineral, etc., etc.

After the base values are fixed, the reappraisers will start to work. In most counties, the workers will take six months or longer leaving existing each piece of property, classifying improvements and checking inventories.

The reappraisal will list the actual market value of all property within the county. But this does not mean the taxpayers will have to pay on this full-value base.

Decided the final cost, alone will determine what ratio the final assessment will bear to the actual market value. In fact, the state requires the final cost of the county to be no larger than one-third the value before-plus, of course, any unexpired property which may have been located.

The Whiskey Question

By S. D. OSBORN

The following conversation was held on the streets of Martin, Ky. Jim—"I have always voted dry on the whiskey question but the next time I vote on it I shall vote wet."

John—"What is your reason for that?"

Jim—"Because the law is not enforced."

John—"Don't you believe it would be a blessing if a dry law was enforced and enforced?"

Jim—"Sure I do."

John—"One of your children was to get sick and when you got a doctor he insisted on treating the one who wasn't sick, wouldn't you think the doctor was a fool?"

Jim—"Certainly I would."

John—"Jesus once said, 'They that are whole have no need of the physician; but they that are sick; and according to your own statement the law isn't sick but the enforcement is. Why not doctor what is sick?' Jesus also said 'If thy right hand offend thee cut it off and cast it from thee; but if your eye is sinful thy right hand offend thee cut off your left foot and cast it from thee.'

Everybody knows that the whiskey laws are not enforced as they should be and they could be, but I can prove by the facts that they are not. I can prove it by the fact that in a wet and dry election the wet always vote wet. If the law wasn't enforced at all there would be no objection to voting wet. That the wets try to claim that they are dry and dry is wet. In order to get the dry to vote wet, but they never force themselves that this is true. If they did they would all vote dry. Another way that I can prove it by the law when it goes wet, but instead of that when it goes wet and we give John Smith license to sell whiskey we have to enforce the law for John Smith's sake and not for the country's sake.

Some people say that they will vote for whiskey because it will be sold anyway. If a gang of men came along the road and told you that they were going to kill a man and wanted your consent, would you give in on the grounds that they would do it anyway? 'Wee unction that give his neighbor drink,' says the scripture, and people who are on the side of whiskey are under the curse of GOD. The man that sells whiskey gets a little money for his soul but he's not voting for whiskey. It's not a profession that he has and gets nothing in return. The wets tell us that it does no good to vote dry even if it wins, but experience tells us that the wettest dry we have is drier than the driest wet and when we had prohibition I prophesied that it was repeated there would be three times as much whiskey sold and drunk than there was under prohibition. It was mistaken because three times for after it was repealed there were 10 gallons sold and drunk where there was one under prohibition.

Did you ever read in the newspapers where prohibition was a failure? The next time you do, turn over a leaf or two and there you will find pictures of whiskey bottles and advertisements telling of the virtues of whiskey. When the newspapers go to printing about the evils of prohibition you would think from their talk that they had never heard of the evils of whiskey but newspaper men are not so big fools as they pretend to be. They know which side of their bread is buttered. I believe in a free press but we will never have it as long as newspapers are allowed to advertise whiskey. Stop them from such advertising and they will see the evils of whiskey at once.

Nations as well as men must pay the penalty for their sins and when this nation repealed prohibition it

KENTUCKY'S Flying CLASSROOM

by George Yates

Brussels, Belgium, May 22 (Sp)—Belgium has recovered completely from the scars of war and it is a prosperous country. This has been achieved through free enterprise and they want no part of any nationalization.

The Belgians are proud that they have avoided nationalization of industry and have attained their high degree of prosperity through free enterprise. This is a hard currency country, which means their money is readily converted in any other country. Only one other nation in Europe can say the same and that's Switzerland.

Business is booming throughout the country, the stores are full of commodities of every kind and there is very little unemployment. The real wages of the workers are much higher than in 1936.

The Belgians themselves did not need Marshall Plan assistance and the aid of dollars here has been minimal. Their financial assistance has consisted of payments for credit in products to other countries which need what Belgium can produce, but are not able to pay for it, mainly France, Germany and Italy.

Belgium has abandoned its dream of neutrality. It is a member of the Atlantic Pact and also the Brussels Pact which is composed of Great Britain, France, Holland and Luxembourg. These five countries have agreed to assist one another in case of aggression. Arms are now pouring into Europe and into Belgium in a steady flow from the United States.

There is no feeling here that we are intending aggression ourselves, but a confidence that we address ourselves to the defense of Europe and democracy. The level of security in Europe is low and it seems logical to protect with arms the economic level which we are building with American dollars.

The question of a federated Europe is talked here. It was suggested that if the idea was ever to materialize it would require the leadership of a strong nation. There is no such nation in Europe at present. From whom will the leadership come? The United States is the dominant leader now, but we are scheduled to pull out in 1962, at least in financial help. If we do that we want to assume the role.

Our stay in Brussels has been made very pleasant by both government and city officials. We were met at the Dutch-Belgian border by the Belgian Minister of Education, Leo Mundeleer, who later entertained us jointly with Prime Minister Evens.

This is significant since the two are political opponents.

Mundeleer told us: "We welcome you to Belgium, not because of the Marshall Plan, but because you have twice given us the greatest gift of all, freedom. This is your country. You will find us much like Americans."

We could see the genuine seriousness of his welcome written all over his face and in his actions.

Denmark's big new aircraft overhaul facilities at Kastrup Airport, Copenhagen, are expected to attract foreign European airlines to this overhauled base.

Once again death hath summoned a member of our lodge, and the lodge, as a gateway to the Eternal City has opened with a welcome to home. The work of ministering to the wants of the afflicted, in shedding light into the places of misery is completed, and as a reward has received the plaintiff, "well done," from the Supreme Master.

And whereas, the all-wise and merciful Master has called our beloved and respected member home;

And whereas, having been a true and faithful member of our lodge, therefore, be it

Resolved, that Zebulon Lodge No. 273 Free and Accepted Masons, Prestonsburg, Ky., in testimony of its love, that we tender to the family of our deceased member our sincere condolence in their deep affliction and that a copy of these resolutions be sent to the family.

Greenap Trial of Adams Reset For July 10

Greenap, May 20 — The second murder trial of Fred Adams 33, of Aloxon, and formerly of Floyd county was continued for the second time in 11 days.

Judge J. R. Sowards reset the trial for July 10 after the defense said he had found two new witnesses and needed more time to question them and further prepare its case.

Adams was convicted last September and sentenced to life imprisonment for the slaying of Willard Wampler. He appealed the conviction and was granted a new trial by the Kentucky Court of Appeals on the ground the judge erred in his charge to the jury.

MEMORIAL DAY TRIBUTE

To America's Valiant Dead

On this Memorial Day the nation turns once more in solemn remembrance to the quiet places of the earth, where those who gave their lives for America lie at rest. There the fallen soldiers of democracy sleep in peace. We honor them in our ceremonies and in our hearts. . . Knowing full well that nothing we can do, nothing we can say will give complete expression to our gratitude and our love. Only as we match their faith and their sacrifice in our striving to preserve the freedom for which they laid down their lives, can we truly honor them. To us, the living, it means work and great devotion. God grant that it be enough!

TONES OF FIRST LIBERTY BELL TO BE HEARD HERE ON JUNE 5

When Kentucky's copies of the world-famous Liberty Bell come to Prestonsburg, June 5, residents of the nine neighboring counties will have the opportunity of hearing the sweet tones of the first Bell which rang at the birth of the nation. "Proceeded objects to all the bells," H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., Prestonsburg, chairman of the Independence Road Drive in this county, has said. The composition, setting and construction of the replica are the same as the original Liberty Bell, which was cast in 1752.

The tones of the first Liberty Bell were last heard in Washington, D. C., on the morning of September 17, 1792. The bell which rang at the signing of the Declaration of Independence was a "foundry" bell, made in the same way as the original Liberty Bell, but it was not the original Liberty Bell.

Thirteen replicas of the original Liberty Bell were made by bell-makers in a little French town, at a cost of more than one million dollars. The first of these replicas was cast in 1835. The Liberty Bell is now in the possession of the National Park Service, Washington, D. C.

After the end of the bond drive, July 4, the bell will be shown to the public in Kentucky, Pennsylvania.

Attorney General Rules A County Can't Borrow From It's Sinking Fund

Frankfort, Ky., May 21 (Sp.)—A county can't borrow money from its sinking fund surplus, even if it pays interest to the fund, Assistant Attorney General W. B. Hollifield informed William A. Hamm, a London attorney, in a letter last week.

Hamm wrote that Laurel county always had to borrow about $100,000 after the start of each fiscal year on July 1 to operate its road machinery. The money is borrowed against anticipated revenue and costs around 4 per cent annually.

At that time of year the county has a $20,000 to $30,000 surplus in its sinking fund. Why not give the fund the benefit of the interest? Hamm asked.

Hollifield, however, quoted statutes and cited court rulings prohibiting diversion of sinking funds for any purpose.

Floyd Reports $2,309.75 In March of Dimes Drive; State Gives $367,469.99

Louisville, Ky., May 22 (Sp.)—Kentuckians contributed $2,309.75 during the 1950 March of Dimes drive, it was announced here today. This represents an increase of almost 25 per cent over the total pledged in any previous campaign and gives heartening assurance that the fight against polio will be continued, according to C. G. Porter, state chairman of the 1950 March of Dimes. The drive was conducted from January 14 through May 21.

James R. Hurt, chairman of the Floyd County March of Dimes, 1950 drive, reported a total of $2,309.75 raised. This represents 4936 cents per person in the county. In her final report, Mrs. Neez K. Ligon, who retires May 31 after five years service as executive director of the Kentucky Chapter, National Foundation for Infants Paralysis, revealed that this represents an average contribution of approximately 12 1/2 cents "for every man, woman and child in the state, or about two cents more per person than was contributed during the 1949 drive." Howland C. Orr, Pewee Valley, is Mrs. Ligon's successor as executive director of the Kentucky Chapter.

The reports point out that during the polio epidemic in 1949 practically every Kentucky county reported at least one case and that total cases in the state reached the 698 mark. This is added to the already large number of patients requiring care in previous years. Mrs. Ligon said and "poses a serious financial problem."

Half of the March of Dimes funds remain in Kentucky, while the other 50 per cent goes to the National Foundation in New York for research aimed at finding means for eradication of the crippling disease, for professional education to provide necessary personnel for treatment of victims, and for epidemic aid to communities whose funds have been depleted by polio epidemics.

When Kentucky's funds were deposited last fall, $128,800 was received from the epidemic fund for use within the state.

WEEKSBURY CHILDREN ALLOTTED TWO WEEKS AT RECREATIONAL CAMP BY COAL COMPANY; TO BE AMONG 800 EXPECTED FOR SEASON

Children from the Weeksbury mining community are allotted two weeks this year, from Aug. 19 to 24, at Camp Thomas E. Lightfoot, located on the Greenbrier river near Hinton, W. Va., according to an announcement this week of Virgil M. Beckett, camp director. The camp, which will open its 15th season June 26, is operated by Eastman Gas Field Associates as a summer health and recreation center for children of its mine workers. Registrations for camp now are being received at the mine offices in all EGFA communities. Eight hundred children from 18 EGFA mining communities in West Virginia, Kentucky and Pennsylvania will have attended one of the two-week camping periods by the time the camp concludes its 1950 season on August 24. Eighty acres of private grounds with modern cabins, dining room and recreation hall and a supervised swimming beach on the Greenbrier river are provided for the children while they are engaged in mind and body-building sports, crafts, nature study and recreation. The camp is named after Thomas E. Lightfoot, director of welfare for the coal organization, who developed the camp idea, a home nursing service and annual free clinics for EGFA miners' children, which are operated by EGFA for its workers.

Bluegill, which were transferred from the pond at the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company's compressor station at Dwalie to the Big Sandy river two years ago, apparently have worked up John Creek. A double catch of this species was reported at the lake Sunday.

The lake, which now is actually assuming the appearance of a lake—still has approximately 14 feet to rise to reach the conservation pool, Ray Moore, reservoir manager, said at noon today. The water has been rising this week at a rate slightly below a foot every 24 hours, but this rate is now being lowered because of rainfall along the Johns Creek valley.

Why Spare Some?

The Times doubts if any good effect was achieved by the voicing of recriminations at last Sunday's meeting here of members of the Big Sandy Valley Association.

Three, four or even six months ago, when there was time to show members of the state's official family in Frankfort and Washington, how they could serve us of the Big Sandy, or wherein they were failing us, this would not have come under the heading of "Monday morning quarterbacking." At this late date, however, by bitter criticism we achieve little but create dissonance and tend to antagonize personalities and groups which could be invaluable to us later.

A few months ago when the atmosphere was clear of politics, The Times sought from Mayor Wells, of Rainesville, his views on what was not being done for Big Sandy by those in position to do something. That statement was not forthcoming—it probably was postponed for the valid reason he feared it might injure Big Sandy's chances—and now that it is belatedly made, many smell the smoke of political battle.

It occurs to us that if Saturday's barrage of verbal blasts was intended only to prepare the way for a new onslaught on those forces which yet hold the Big Sandy in (brawl, the coal operators of this section would not have been spared. The United Mine Workers, recent converts to the cause of canalization, were fired upon but not one word was said of those who have low-tow-ville, the wishes of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company, the only real enemy canalization of this valley has—unless we drive some of our friends into the enemy camp.

Wells' speech was met with a storm of applause. Repeatedly during his talk, Association members arose when he referred to Governor Clementie or Congressman Perkins.

Following his talk, the mayor was asked by individuals to elaborate on certain parts of his charges and criticisms. That he did in detail while repeating his blasts at the two officials.

Mayor Wells opened his talk with this statement:

"Badly as I hate to inform this membership, the Big Sandy canalization project, as it stands today, is dead as Marley's ghost. Only this organization can revive it."

Dr. O. W. Thompson, Pikeville, Association president, made about the same statement in his opening and closing addresses before the gathering.

"Admittedly, things do not look so good," he said. "But we are in there fighting. We'll go forward for canalization of the Big Sandy with the same progressive spirit of the postage stamp—stick with it until you get there!"

"We may have friends in Washington, but too few of them have any sayings for us."

Dr. Thompson gave considerable statistical data on the advantages of canalization of the Big Sandy, pointing out that the economic ratio of the canalization project is $1 to $14 while other projects which the House of Representatives bill has approved run so low as $1 to $2.

"We can't live up the Big Sandy without making coal, and we don't want coal subsidized," he declared.

"I've pointed out in Washington the means of unemployment in the coal industry, and the results of same. Then, I was told in Washington that the Big Sandy unemployment matter is its own problem."

"I was told that if the Big Sandy can't find employment for its people that its people must go elsewhere—and that the government is providing money to move families to other work areas."

"Of such is bankruptcy made!"

The doctor further pointed out that canalization on other rivers had actually proved a greater tax burden to counties affected. Also, he declared, canalization has proved increased revenue to railroad carriers of the area.

Said Congressman Perkins, in Washington:

"Such methods, I insist, is no way to achieve canalization. Federal officials are reluctant to go into a community where a project is the subject of a political general. Here, therefore the entire region has worked together without regard to politics or beliefs."

Chief General Lewis Pick and his Army Engineers are under orders of Congress to resume the proposed project. All residents of the Big Sandy Valley should work together for canalization.

"It is easy to be critical when one is not equipped with facts. It is easy to be rampant when selfish ambitions are at stake. In the past, I have ignored such destructive criticism. Today, however, I have decided to answer those individuals who are ranting on the home front

Briefly, here are some of Mayor Wells' criticisms and charges:

"Governor Clementie's approval, of the canalization project, if any, is a masterpiece of doubletalk."

"If you can name me one act that Governor Clementie has done for canalization of the Big Sandy, I'll make you a watch."

"Name me one thing that Congressman Perkins has done for the canalization proposal and I'll make you another watch."

"Perkins has sold his soul to the United Mine Workers who only approved the canalization plan after they thought it was dead."

"Perkins is the whipping boy of the United Mine Workers."

The mayor further charged that the canalization project "is being handled about from pillar to post" and "is rapidly becoming a political football."

He started his speech with a short history of the past year's activities on behalf of canalization of the Big Sandy, and then launched into his attack on the governor and Congressman Perkins.

"Carl Perkins promised that he would do everything in his power to help when the project came up," Mayor Wells said. "Perkins has helped keep it off the floor, or has done nothing to help get it there."

"We have Perkins as stated for membership on the House Committee of Public Works so that he could help get this project through the committee."

"Perkins declined the appointment."

"We did the same for Virgil Chapman in the Senate, and he graciously accepted."

"I claim that Perkins is not now, nor never has been interested in this project. He deliberately went to the speaker of the House and asked that the project not be considered. He denies this but I can substantiate this fact by two high members of Congress who accused Perkins, and several members here present have heard those Congressmen say so."

"As for the Governor... he has done nothing for this proposed canalization except give out with doubletalk—just doubletalk."

while others are fighting for progress on the battle lines."

Other speakers at the meeting included Mrs. Sally Baker, Pikeville, recently named "Queen of America" on a radio program; Kelly J. Day, Pikeville; W. H. Meade, Paintsville; Charles F. Trivette, Virgo; Dr. Paul B. Hall, Paintsville; Mayor Curtis Clark, Prestonsburg; B. R. Fashin, Ashland; and Jack C. York, press representative of the Floyd County Sesquicentennial Celebration.

Mayor Clark and York each spoke in behalf of support of and participation in the Sesquicentennial Celebration to be held in Prestonsburg July 1, 2, 3, and 4.

At the close of the meeting, the following were re-elected to head the Association: Dr. Thompson, president; Mayor Wells vice-president; Walter Walters, Pikeville, treasurer; and J. W. Wimo, Jr., Pikeville, secretary.

Floyd countymen elected to the Board of directors included: Dr. C. L. Frutsinger, J. D. Harkins, Jr., Sheriff A. B. Meade, N. M. White, Jr., Marvin Mankie, Burl Sparlock, W. A. Watson, A. J. May and Mayor Curtis Clark.

SUNDAY-MONDAY-TUESDAY

said the General!

The time was when the word "Nuts" was about as permissible in polite conversation as many another four letter word. But when General McAuliffe said it in answer to the German demand to surrender at Bastogne, it opened a thrilling new chapter in the annals of American gallantry.

The general couldn't have said it, however, if it hadn't been for the guys dodging the German lead; the cold, hungry, wage-cracking Jews who didn't feel the least bit like heroes when they said: "They've got us surrounded—poor devils."

"Battleground" is their story, written by Robert Pirosh, combat infantryman at Bastogne, with the 35th Division. It's a great story!

Scenes like these from "Battleground" fasten themselves vividly in your mind: jeeps and half-tracks nosing through the fog on their way up front and coming dreamlike to a stop near Denise, a lovely French girl who is "very friendly" . . . Holley (Van Johnson) dodging snipers' bullets, but worried only about his six stolen eggs . . . Snow, magic white stuff for Rogrigues (Ricardo Montalban), who has seen it from his sunny doorstep way off atop California mountains . . . foxholes under barrage . . . digging . . . digging . . . Jarves (John Hodiak), reading his home-town newspaper to find out about the war . . . Pop (George Murphy), humor touched with pathos, awaiting out that discharge in the midst of the war's most crucial battle . . . Snow . . . Fog . . . Dawn attacks . . . Disaster . . . Then, shadows on the snow . . . sunshine . . . planes . . . C-47's . . . droves of them . . . showering supplies . . . a sky filled with billowing parachutes . . . ammo, rations, desperately needed . . . "Hey, wiseguy, who said it didn't do any good to toss in a little paratrooper!" Here it is excitement, belly-laugh in the midst of terror!

Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer has given us a film that rates thunderous acclaim in "Battleground." Some of the screen's finest actors are in it, and there are some new faces you'll doubtless be seeing again. With the veterans of the 101st Airborne they do a knockout job. One that goes stinging right to your heart. It is, beyond a doubt, a film that no American should miss.

Jest Among Us

Once again the picnic season is upon us. And once again it's time to consider a subject that always makes us smile. It is picnic time. Snakes. Authority for the following information was the late Dr. W. D. Funkhouser, eminent University of Kentucky zoologist and one of the best friends a snake ever had.

Keckly Snakes. There are only 27 different species of snakes in Kentucky, and there aren't many of each species. A few common forms, such as garter-snakes, water-snakes, and milk-snakes, are found in practically every county of the state. They are being killed off rapidly by man, however.

Abhorrence of Snakes. The average person hates snakes, probably from childhood. Mother screams in terror when George picks up a garter-snake he's captured, and the boy thus grows up with the idea that snakes are to be feared. Kentucky has three poisonous snakes—the copperhead, rattlesnake, and water-moccasin—and they should be left alone. Most snakes are not dangerous. They kill pests and do no harm.

Habit of Snakes. Most snakes "hole up" when winter comes to Kentucky. They are a cold-blooded lot and don't live warmly if you plan to carry a snake around with you in cool weather, a good place to keep it is inside your shirt where it will be warm and contented. That's why Dr. Funkhouser said:

Next week—room snake superstitions.

To Compete in Regional Meet Beginning at Grayson Today

Champs Eliminate Wayland, Martin and Inez Here

Betsy Layne's high school Bobcats are the new prep baseball champs of this district, comprising Floyd, Johnson and Martin counties, and will carry the title to the regional tournament at Grayson, which is being held today (Thursday) and tomorrow, in quest of the regional crown and the right to enter the state tournament.

CHURCH LOOP IS ORGANIZED

Officers Elected, Rules Set Up; 7 Accepted, 20-Team League Planned

Organization of a Floyd County Church Loop baseball league was effected Thursday, May 11, at Martin in a meeting of various church representatives, it was announced this week.

Officers elected were president, Ben Westfall, Allen; vice-president, James Salisbury, Martin; secretary, Pauline Herrold, Prestonsburg.

Seven teams representing the Prestonsburg Methodists, Martin Methodists, Martin Methodists, Allen churches, Wayland Methodists, Martin Methodists and the Drift churches, were admitted to league participation, it was reported, and plans were adopted to increase the loop to a 20-team membership.

All league games are slated to be played each Saturday afternoon. Game time is 2 p.m.

Playing rules and requirements set up in the meeting require that a team member must be 18 years of age or under. Another eligibility rule of the loop requires each participating player to attend Sunday School at least three times and church services at least once in each month.

The Bobcats acquired the district title by defeating the Wayland Wasp, 7-3, here Saturday afternoon in the final of the annual district high school diamond-jest. They grabbed an early lead and held on.

The champs made seven hits good for as many runs and committed two errors. In three games of the test, they had only three mistakes charged to them. The Wasps got their three runs on five hits and committed three mishaps.

Stratton, the winning pitcher, struck out eleven Wasps and added to his victory efforts by hitting a double and scoring a run in the third inning. His teammate, Martin, playing at shortstop, had a perfect day at bat with two for two, Hinchman collected two hits and one run in four times with the lumber.

The Bobcats reached the final by defeating favored Martin high school, 8-1, in the semi-final test on Thursday. Another early lead told a short story in five innings which saw the Bobcats pull three base runs against the winner. Martin threatened a telling rally in the second and third innings.

Betsy Layne's march through tournament play was marked by their unusual success at base stealing. The Bobcats pulled three base runs against Martin, and four against Inez in first round play on Saturday.

Close Results Mark B.S.L. Play

Hi Hat, Martin, Elkhorn City, Harold, Indian Creek Triumph

Big Sandy Baseball League's week of play saw close results, one of them an 11-inning stretch, last Sunday and a tumbling-and-scoring shuffle in standings of the loop after final computations to date were made this week.

Hi Hat scored to the top of the loop in a crowning achievement Sunday at home by taking 11 innings to make putty-in-hand of Henry Clay's effort, 10-9. Hi Hat received a pre-Sunday boost when BSI, Prestonsburg, W. A. Melone voided the Hi Hat-Prestonsburg game because of a Prestonsburg misunderstanding in the seventh inning. Chalmers Frazier explained to The Times Tuesday night Prestonsburg won, 12-4, in the postponed game when was played here on Sunday, May 14.

Allen, perched last week at the top of Standings, slipped into second place after Sunday play and Elkhorn City, by virtue of a same, upped itself several percentage points into a second-place tie with Allen by substituting the Allen heavy hitters, 7-9, in a home game.

Allen's three errors aided in the downhill slide. Elkhorn City was charged with no dirty marks on the game record. Allen's Lafferty brothers, Elmer and Charles, put in some extra heavy lifts. Chalmers rapped out a double in the fourth inning and Elmer slammed a triple in the sixth. Dale was the losing pitcher.

Center fielder, shortstop Euretch had a double in the sixth and Burrowman blasted likewise in the seventh to account for extra base hits for Elkhorn City.

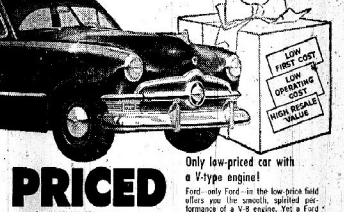

Failing to get started until the latter stages of the game at Indian Creek proved expensive for the Prestonsburg Big Reds who perched momentarily above the lot of Allen in first place last week. Indian Creek edged Prestonsburg, 9-8, in one of the league's close games.

Prestonsburg's rightfielders, Clark and Mosley, were warm performers at bat. Mosley connected for a ninth-inning circuit close, a triple in the eighth, a single in the sixth, and tallied three runs in the melee. Before being relieved by Mosley, Clark wrapped up a double and scored a run in the second. Ann Childers smacked a ninth-inning triple. In extra effort, shortstop Euretch had a busy afternoon in making eight putouts.

Terry, Indian Creek centerfielder, splintered the timbers for two doubles, one in the fourth and one in the sixth. His teammate, leftfielder Hickman, fished a two-bagger in the first. May was the winning pitcher and "Blue" Childers was charged with the loss.

Results of the game put Prestonsburg and Indian Creek in the clubhouse share of a four-way tie for third place along with Henry Clay and Martin.

Board of Agriculture Can Quarantine Dogs In Ky., Says Opinion

A quarantine on dogs can be established and maintained in Kentucky by the State Board of Agriculture, Assistant Attorney General Squire N. Williams said in an opinion given at Frankfort Thursday.

The law directs the board to prevent control and eradicate hydrophobic among livestock. Although the law does not specifically give the board authority to order quarantine, it does give it power to end a quarantine established by a county. Hence, the board has the implied power of ordering a quarantine, Williams said.

This view is strengthened by the mandate in the law directing the board to control communicable diseases among livestock, he said, in an opinion for Agriculture Commissioner Harry F. Walters.

Court Says Harold Fael Must Pay Royalty Claim To Henry Hatcher Heirs

The Kentucky Court of Appeals ruled Friday that the heirs of the late Henry Hatcher are entitled to collect one cent per ton on coal the Harold Fael Company buys from other mines and hauls through Hatcher land.

The company contracted to pay a "haulage royalty" of one cent a ton on coal it hauls through Hatcher land from mines it owns or leases. It claimed it did not have to pay on coal it purchased from other mines.

The opinion affirmed the Floyd circuit court.

Cities Can Get Tax Cut License Fee, $30 Annually After June 15, Is Ruled

Frankfort, Ky., May 26 (AP)—Cities can collect after June 15 $30 license fees from all taxicabs operating within their boundaries, Assistant Attorney General H. D. Howd, Jr. opined this week in a reply to James B. Kennard, an Olive Hill attorney.

Kennard wrote that Olive Hill has imposed a $30 annual license fee. Howd explained a 1950 legislative act, effective June 15, provides for each city fee, but limits them to $30 a year.

Religious Singing Jubilee To Be 'Sesqui' Feature, July 2

A grand and glorious bread-in-the-bush-of-old-Kentucky Religious Singing Jubilee . . .

That's what visitors to the Floyd County Sequenquennial Celebration, to be held here, July 1, 2, 3 and 4, will be treated to on the second day—Sunday, July 2—that that gala four-day event.

One of Kentucky's outstanding music figures, Edith Fitzpatrick James, of Prestonsburg, is in charge of the festival for Mrs. James is nationally known for her knowledge of old-time music of the chautauque and shape-note singers of the Kentucky hill country.

This Jubilee will close that day's celebration which will have non-denominational religious as the general theme. Also, the day will serve as a Homecoming Day, lying directly into the statewide plan of making 1950 Kentucky's Homecoming Year.

Each church will hold its own morning services with special attention to the Homecoming Day. Many will feature breakfast dinners and similar affairs, following the services.

The Religious Singing Jubilee will be staged at 8 o'clock Sunday night, July 2, in the auditorium of the Prestonsburg grade school.

The general theme of the program will show the development of religious music in this section of the hills of Kentucky, tracing the history of music down from its source from the first European immigrants to settle in these hills in modern times church music.

Where possible, the chorists, choir members, shape-note singers, and soloists will be re-created in typical styles of the periods each represents, Mrs. James said.

The program will begin with a specially trained choir of 12 men singing the Gregorian chant. This group is now being formed and will be trained by Mrs. James.

Other features of the program will include a vested choir of 60 voices, about 30 shape-note singers and 15 chorists.

Among the chorists who are not being contacted and invited to participate are: St. Boyd of Edinburg; St. Paul of P. D. Lefery of Slick; Alex. Wallen and Albert Hall also of Sloan; Theodore, Milton and Carpenter Holbrook and John Tyndall of West Prestonsburg; Dan Collins, Cliff; Tom, Fred and Mitchell Smith of Garrett; and Jay Selwyn and Buddy Collins, of Prestonsburg.

Included in the shape-note singers will be Mr. and Mrs. Forrest Burckett, Mr. and Mrs. Bradis Goble, Mr. and Mrs. John Ward, all of near Prestonsburg.

School FHA, FFA Chapters Stage Barbeque in Gym For Parents, Members
The Prestonsburg chapters of the Future Homemakers of America and the Future Farmers of America, instead of their annual joint banquet, held a barbeque in the school gymnasium, May 12, with approximately 50 parents and members attending.

The barbeque, originally planned as an outdoor occasion on the Fitzpatrick farm on Middle Creek, was changed to an indoor location due to the inclement weather. The success of the barbeque this year has prompted the chapters to plan it as an annual affair hereafter.

A square dance and "old folks" games were highlights of the festivities.

Mrs. James has also contacted Mrs. John Travers, trustee of Camp Branch colored school at Tram, inviting her to arrange for that school's group of singers. This particular gathering is made up of native-born Kentucky negroes who specialize in spirituals and camp meeting songs which they will offer at the Jubilee.

Another delightful part of the program will include a group of religious singers who will accompany their songs with all kinds of stringed instruments.

Rob Vest, who, for almost half a century has been a singing master of this old-fashioned music, will train a special group made up of 12 high school boys and girls in shape-note singing. These singers will be attired in frontier costumes.

One of the unique organizations which will take part in this Religious Singing Jubilee, according to Mrs. James, will be the F.A.-S.L.-A. Singers of Prestonsburg, a small group who will offer the type of music which their name implies. This is a kind of music, said Mrs. James, which has faded far into the background of Kentucky hills singing, but is being revived by this intimate club.

"There is no other place in this nation of ours where this delightful type of program, so artfully relating the story of Kentucky hills religious music, could be so fittingly performed," declared Mrs. James.

"For those who enjoy pure, true music—so old and yet so new in discovery—this Religious Singing Jubilee will offer one of the rarest treats possible. The Jubilee will, indeed, be a revelation."

Some rehearsals for the Jubilee have already begun. Others will begin about June 1 under direction of Mrs. James, Singing Master Vest, and Franklin Moore, who, in addition to being a well-known vocalist, is General Chairman of the Sequenquennial Celebration.

Meanwhile, other plans for making the Sequenquennial Celebration the biggest and best affair ever staged in Kentucky are forging steadily ahead.

These plans include a Beauty Contest and Beard Growth Competition and many other outstanding features.

The Sequenquennial Celebration commemorates the 150th anniversary of the founding of the original Floyd county whose vast tract has since been split into its component counties involved in this mammoth celebration are: Breathitt, Elliott, Floyd, Johnson, Knott, Lawrence, Letcher, Mingo, Martin, Menifee, Morgan, Perry, Pike, Rowan and Wolfe.

SOUVENIR PLATES GO ON SALE THIS WEEK

Advances sales orders for the Floyd County Sesquicentennial Celebration souvenir dinner plates were being taken this week at Wright Brothers, Prestonsburg.

The plates, which will be a featured item of the Sesquicentennial Celebration which is to be held in Prestonsburg July 1-4, will be ready for delivery in about three or four weeks—certainly prior to the opening of the big celebration, according to Clifford Wright, one of the Sesquicentennial officials.

A map of the original Floyd county will feature the center of the plates. Surrounding this will be scenes of the Dewey dam, Jennie Wiley's thrilling escape from Indians, Daniel Boone at the salt lick at which is now David's station of a group of hill chatters, and the back of the plate will bear a brief history of the Floyd county area, now 15 separate counties.

Profits from sale of the plates will go to helping finance the 100th anniversary of the founding of the original Floyd county. The souvenirs are being manufactured at a pottery in Covington, Tennessee.

WE CONGRATULATE

Our congratulations to the more than 300 youngsters who have stuck to the job until now they have finished high school and are ready for the bigger job ahead. And may we add a congratulatory word to the parents of these boys and girls, without whose encouragement and assistance their fine achievement might never have been realized. There has been no small task, and they have met the challenge splendidly.

We join all Floyd county in expressing justifiable pride in such boys and girls as whose names appear on this page. With their parents, relatives and friends we shall watch their progress in the years ahead. When we "point with pride" to our industries, our natural resources and material blessings, let us not forget the finer things represented by such as these.
