A Beauty directs beauty contests—Here, center, is Miss Betty Jean Martin of McDowell, executive director of the 15 county-wide beauty contests being staged in Eastern Kentucky for selection of a queen for the Floyd County Sesquicentennial celebration to be held in Prestonsburg July 1, 2, 3, and 4. At the left, beside the pretty 18-year-old University of Kentucky graduate, is Robert S. Wellman, Prestonsburg attorney and member of the city's Junior Chamber of Commerce which is sponsoring the contests. At the right is Paul E. Hayes, also an attorney of Prestonsburg, a Jaycee, and Wellman's law partner. Both young attorneys are former teachers at Wheelwright high school and both are graduates of the U. S. College of Law. Wellman's parents now reside in Morehead and Hayes is from Hill Hat.

AREA BEAUTIES TO COME HERE

Representing Respective Counties in Competition To Name Beauty Queen

By JACK C. YORK

Eighteen-year-old Betty Jean Martin, a three-years graduate of the University of Kentucky, was today (Thursday) deep in the job of directing some 15 beauty contests which will result in the selection of a queen for the Floyd County Sesquicentennial Celebration to be held here July 1, 2, 3 and 4.

Pretty enough herself to win beauty contests, Miss Martin was assisted by the sesquicentennial celebration's general committee to direct organization in all the 15 counties which, 150 years ago, made up the original Floyd county.

Since starting work this past week, Miss Martin has already arranged for contests to be held at Hindman, (Knox county); Hazard, Perry county; Paintsville, Johnson county; and in Inez, Martin county.

In Hindman the contest will be held in the Hicks theater, Miss Charlotte Smith was named by Miss Martin to have charge there, aided by Ora Leff Frango, president of the Hindman Women's Club.

Past entrant for "Princess of Knox County" was Miss Geraldine Stone, of Hindman.

John Bostick, editor of the Hazard Herald, and L. O. Davis, manager of the Virginia Theater there, will be in charge of the contest for Perry county. Girls may sign up for that contest at Don's Drug Store, the Virginia Theater, the Family Theater, The Herald, and at Radio Station WKRC, in Hazard.

At Paintsville, Ky., the contest for Johnson county will be held in the Sipp Theater at 7 p.m., Tuesday, June 27. In charge of that contest are Mrs. John Wheeler, editor and publisher of The Paintsville Herald, and W. T. Cain, Jr., owner of the Sipp Theater in Paintsville. Beauty contestants may sign up at the Sipp Theater or the offices of The Paintsville Herald.

The Martin county contest will be staged in the Fred Fairchild theater at Inez, Ky. Miss Martin has announced that Mrs. H. G. Rowberry, of Inez, will have charge of the contest there.

In Morgan county the beauty contest will be held there June 27. Albert K. Moore, editor of the The Salversville Independent, is aiding in promoting the contest in Salversville.

Over in West Liberty, Morgan county, they are planning on a real "Beauty and Beast" contest. For that, in connection with their selection of a Morgan county princess, members of the Kiwanis Club of West Liberty will also stage a "trog derby" next week. W. Major Gardner and H. B. Hays will have charge of the Morgan county competition.

In Sandy Hook, Elliott county, the beauty contest will be staged in the Sandy Theater June 23. In addition to The Elliott County News those who are helping to promote the contest there are Johnnie Redwine and Miss Ruth West.

The Trail, Theatre, managed by Tom Maxdon, will stage the beauty contest for Morehead, Rowan county, on June 27. Editor W. E. Crutcher of the Rowan County News is aiding with details.

Malcolm H. Holliday, editor of The Jackson Times, along with Crawford Atkins, manager of the Jackson Theater, will be in charge of the Breathitt county contest which will be held in Jackson, Ky. Aiding them are, Phil Smith, secretary of the Kiwanis Club, Jackson.

Arnold News, County Superintendent of Schools, along with Burt Baumgardner, manager of the Wolfe Theater, will help stage the contest in Campbell, Wolfe county. Mrs. Beva Howard, president of the Campaign Women's Club, is helping with that contest, along with Mr. Holliday, editor of The Jackson Times, and other Holliday publications of that area.

Morehead, Miss Martin continues touring the 15-county area, arranging for other contests for the selection of princesses of the various sections.

When selected by their respective counties, these princesses will compete in a huge final contest for the naming of queen of the Floyd County Sesquicentennial Celebration, which will be held in Prestonsburg, Saturday July 1, opening day of the four-day festivities.

Along with the Sesquicentennial queen, a King of the Beards will be chosen to act as consort royal to her majesty. Crops of whiskers are now being cultivated by males throughout the original Floyd county area.

Prizes in the final contest will be selected according to rules laid down by the American Beauty Pageant held each year in Atlantic City.

One of the prizes which will be bestowed upon the Sesquicentennial queen will be a trip to London, England.

Those who wish to compete with other beauty queens from all over the state for the title of "Miss Sesquicentennial" winner should call on the national contest in Atlantic City.

OPEN HOUSE AT DEWEY DAM AS U. S. ENGINEERS OBSERVE THEIR 175TH ANNIVERSARY

Tomorrow (Friday), the Corps of Engineers, U. S. Army, will observe its 175th anniversary at Dewey Dam, the lone Big Sandy project now under the engineers' active supervision. The dam will be open to the public for inspection during the afternoon as a part of the observance of the occasion planned throughout the Huntington district.

Another part of the observance of the dam will be the awarding of a 10-Year Service Emblem to Roy E. Moore, reservoir manager. Ceremonies in honor of the occasion are being planned by Col. D. T. Johnson, district engineer. These agencies contemplate the presentation of 351 service emblems to civilian workers in the Huntington district for the completion of 10, 20 and 30 years of service in the Department of the Army and open house to the public at the major corps of Engineers installations over the district.

In 1826 the Corps was given the responsibility of controlling floods on a nation-wide basis. Today, the Engineers, at the direction of Congress, are hard at work on the comprehensive plan for long-range, inter-basin plan for flood control in the country's major water sheds. The plan will be protected from serious flood damage and the waters put to work for the benefit of the American people.

In the Huntington district there are 35 flood control reservoirs, 11 flood walls and 5 channel improvements. pany income being set aside each month for plant depreciation starting January 1, 1950.

4. A general wage increase. The Public Service Commission petition for company employees in November, 1949.

8. Shortening of employee working hours. The Public Service Commission petition during May, 1950.

Southern Bell's previous three higher rate requests also were pending on voting costs of operation. The first two rate increases, in January and July of 1947, totaled $2,385,500. The Public Service Commission approved $1,622,100 and disallowed $434,000. The latter amount was refunded to customers.

The third request in July, 1948, totaled $2,063,000. All of this was disallowed by the Public Service Commission, but Franklin Circuit Judge William B. Anderson reversed the decision and sent the case back for further study. The Court of Appeals declined to review the case. The Public Service Commission attorneys failed to file an appeal from Judge Ardrey's decision within the 60-day limit.

The status of the third case still is in question. Southern Bell, which has been collecting the extra $2,385,500 a year, has its company lawyers to win a clear-cut right to charge the higher rates under the court decision.

The Public Service Commission takes the position that the case is back in its hands, where Judge Ardrey returned it after disallowing the rate increase. Further hearings on the third rate request may be scheduled. It is possible that the fourth request on the third case may be combined and heard jointly.

Southern Bell says its latest rate request will increase its income $2,814,000 a year, but the company will get only about $1,500,000 of the increase. The rest will go for state and local income taxes.

The increase amounts to about 12 per cent over all.

Residential rates will be from 25 to 30 cents a month. Business charges will be $1.25 to $2 a month more. In addition, intrastate toll calls up to 96 miles will cost 5 cents more. For greater distances, the charges will run 10 cents more than at present.

CO-OP LEADER LISTS PRIZES

To Be Awarded Here At Annual Meeting On July 6 and 7th

"Big prizes and a chance to compete for bigger ones—that is the opportunity which members of the Big Sandy Rural Electric Co-Op will have if they attend their annual meeting at Prestonsburg on July 6 and 7, and compete with their fellow-members."

The Co-Op's manager, D. J. Gambell, said four major contests—beauty, cake baking, speed quizzing and tractor driving, will be held at this year's meeting. He listed prizes in each contest as follows:

Beauty—First, lawn mow, cup and ribbon; second, portable radio and ribbon.

Cake baking—First, $25; second, $10; third, $5.

Speed quizzing—First, $10; second, $5.

Tractor driving—Cash or merchandise. (Only 4-H boys may enter.)

Winners of these contests may compete for statewide championships and bigger prizes. Beauty winners will compete at the State Fair. State beauty winners may compete in a four-date contest for a chance to try for the national title, "Miss U.S. BEA" at the national convention at Cleveland in March, 1951.

Besides the prizes given in these contests, co-op members will have a chance at the big electrical appliances—range, refrigerator, home freezer, water heater, mixer, roaster, toaster, coffee maker, 12-inch oscillating fan and hand iron—to be given away on the last night of the meeting, which is an established feature of this co-op's annual meetings. In addition, several "surprise prizes" will be given in contests to be announced at the meeting.

Special events will also be held for our friends in towns on the night of the 6th, and we want them to feel free to enjoy this meeting with us," Mr. Gambell said.

This year's meeting is part of the Annual Meeting and Electric Fair Show Caravan being made available to 21 Kentucky electric co-ops on a self-help basis in cooperation with the state Association of Electric Co-ops. Approximately $30,000 in prizes will be given at the 21 meetings this year.

Permit for Jenny Wiley To Wed Was Found Here

By R. LEE STEWART (The newspaper story Mr. Stewart here refers to was originally published by The Floyd County Times—Editor)

Floyd county, founded in 1800, will observe, with fitting ceremonies, its Sesquicentennial from July 1 through the 4th. Born and most of the counties of Northeastern Kentucky were a part of the original Floyd.

In going through my newspaper clipping the other day I ran across some interesting history about Jenny Wiley, whose name is linked throughout early Kentucky history. The item is from a micro-breed paper, published in 1927. It reads:

"After surviving 117 years (now 140 years) since it was issued and owing to the obscurity of dusty files for all these years, a marriage license, believed at first to be that of Jenny Wiley, but more definitely and definitely as that of her daughter, was recently found in the office of the county clerk.

"This paper, yellowed with age, upon which are the markings of a goosequill pen, is closely connected with one of the most historical episodes in Kentucky history—that of Jenny Wiley, the pioneer woman who was captured by the Indians and wrote a chapter in American history with her perilous flight from her captors.

"The marriage bond plainly states that a marriage is shortly intended and solemnized between the said William J. Mayo and the said Jenny Wiley and Jenny Wiley. This gave rise to the belief that the woman referred to was the Jenny Wiley of historical fame, but the date of the marriage—1810—makes it plain that this was probably her daughter.

"The fact is that, may, the recently discovered documents bear on their yellowed pages things of special interest to Eastern Kentucky, through which Jenny Wiley roamed with the Indians and through which she fled. Her descendants number many outstanding Kentuckians and West Virginians.

Thomas Wiley's consent to his daughter's marriage addressed to William J. Mayo clerk of the Floyd county court, reads: "To Mr. Mayo, clerk say, I would consent the favor of you that you would grant license of marriage as all parties are satisfied to the same covenant of marriage between Richard Williamson and Jane Wiley. Given under my hand, Thomas Wiley, Attest: Heskiah Wiley and Shadrach Ward."

Trail Blazers consumed an estimated 73,000 tons of bituminous coal in 1949.
In 1949 the market demand for stoker coals was 16,500,000 tons, but this multiplied to 16,800,000 tons in 1949.

The 1949 map improves on the present-day map in the matter of names from the modern point of view. Mansell lists Lick Creek Mill Creek and Georges Creek in what is now Lawrence county, Tony's Creek and Big Beaver in the present Johnson, and in the boundaries of the present-day Elrod he placed Abbott Creek, Middle Creek, Bull and Cow Creeks, Mars Creek and Mud Creek. Beaver Creek is listed, but Left Beaver Creek was identified as Merceson Fork. On Right Beaver are mentioned El Rodk Fork, Martin's Fork and Puncation Camp.

On this map Prestonsburg is the only town named, except Galletsburg, at the mouth of the river.

THE WORD IS MUM

Curtley Cinsley and his father-in-law, John Wicker, over in Knott county, aren't on speaking terms and the state of affairs appears to have saved them and perhaps others from speaking terms in future.

The Hindman News told the story of family turmoil and strife during which Cinsley, by his own admission, whipped Wicker and gave him a good one, so to speak, the covered Wicker "wore a life on him and he thought he would die. It was Cinsley in court.

So the word-of-mouth goes after the Little Women's fall, and with a writ of her own execution. Wicker of the matter was, he said, held under peace warrants, Wicker being in other members of the Cinsley family, swearing out peace warrants for Bill and Dovey Cinsley, parents of the son-in-law.

And there they were, nobly able to enforce bond. An indefinite stay in jail frustrated all his concerned.

So, if you consider, well, about, breaking and saving and such, they get down to signing an agreement which would at least permit everybody to go home.

Curtley-Cinsley and father of the one part signed an agreement, never to speak to or do a Wicker again, and the second Wicker of the other part, likewise agreed not to speak to, or do, Wicker and Mrs. Cinsley, who are members of the same church, are to be permitted to speak to each other and discuss their church.

Speakers of politics, as you know, are really an underground mass production of the coal to the surface.

The modern bituminous coal mine is as safe as it was fifty years ago, and is conducting an hour's work, and is four times safer, in terms of tonnage produced.

For each ton of coal taken out of the ground during U. S. history, there remain 104 tons still in the ground.

And there they were, nobly able to enforce bond. An indefinite stay in jail frustrated all his concerned.

So, if you consider, well, about, breaking and saving and such, they get down to signing an agreement which would at least permit everybody to go home.

Curtley-Cinsley and father of the one part signed an agreement, never to speak to or do a Wicker again, and the second Wicker of the other part, likewise agreed not to speak to, or do, Wicker and Mrs. Cinsley, who are members of the same church, are to be permitted to speak to each other and discuss their church.

In 1839 there were well over 15,000 mining laws in use in this country, although its coal mines.

A good potential market is seen for bituminous coal, with the mechanical steel industry for users. It is the first-coming of tobacco by a three-foot process.

And it costs so little to buy.

"And you go for so little money!"

The 1813 map improves on the present-day flood he placed Abbott Creek, Middle Creek, Bull and Cow Creeks, New Creek and Mud Creek, Beaver Creek is listed, but Left Beaver Creek was identified as Merrap Fork. On Right Beaver are mentioned Rock Fork, Martin's Fork and Punchline Camp.

On this map Prestonsburg is the only town named, except Colettsburg, at the mouth of the river.

For Father's Day

Just before Father's Day, 11 years ago, Frank Musick, a Floyd county soldier, wrote from his post in the Zanzibar zone to his Dad, Frank Musick is now dead. What he wrote follows:

Dad,
Here is a little poem which I wrote a few nights ago, as I was sitting at my desk, thinking of the one who to me is the greatest man in the world. I am sorry that he is not the golden pen of the old Masters, so that I could write an ode worthy of the subject, but I did my best. Some day when I have more experience at writing, I hope to write a poem that will capture the strong, indomitable, sturdy honest soul that lives within your body. Now the poem:

THIS IS OUR STORY

FLOYD continues—that is to say, residents of all this huge 16-county area which comprised the original Floyd county—will have the opportunity, beginning July 1, to show the rest of Kentucky and observers in other states that they can achieve a civic success as signal as any other section can attain.

July 1 marks the beginning of the original Floyd's Sesqui-centennial Celebration in Prestonsburg, the county seat of the Floyd county of 150 years ago. And what the leaders of all the counties which, back then, composed this county do will be told by the press and radio on a large section of the country.

We have been wanting "favorable" publicity. Here's our chance. Pre-Sesqui-centennial publicity already has brought Floyd county to the respectful attention of thousands of newspaper readers and radio listeners. That publicity has promised much. Let us not fail. Succeeding, we shall prove that we are in 150 years of the Confederacy progress, we have founded our culture soundly and, for all our years, are active.

We shall thus write our own story, our own "favorable" publicity.

Confederate Flag Flying Over Capital 1st Time Since '62

Frankfort, Ky., June 10—The flag of the Confederacy flew over the old State Capitol here for the first time since 1862.

The flag-hoisting was sponsored by the Confederate Memorial Day by the Confederate Club of Kentucky through its governor, Col. George Fowler, Frankfort.

The Confederate Flag had flew over the old Capitol in November, 1862. Fower said, when Bragg's Southern forces invaded Kentucky and Confederate Governor, Hayes was inaugurated here, it was hauled down a month later, a few days before the Southern defeat at the Battle of Perryville.

Volatile matter in bituminous coal represents that complex of gases and vapors consumed in the burning process in efficient combustion.

To the People of Martin:

I frankly admit, I was for the legal sale of liquor in Martin. That position was taken as a private citizen because I honestly believe it was the better method of handling whiskey.

Now that you have returned a dry majority, however, I am anxious that Martin be dry in more than name. I intend to do my level best to rid the community of bootlegging, and in this undertaking I ask the assistance of all opposing to liquor.

I ask the dry forces and each church in Martin to organize a committee to work with me, to the end that this town cease to be known as a bootlegging center and a place where the liquor tags are violated daily.

Let us do more than talk. I assure you, I will do my part.

W. M. GRIFFITH
Chief of Police

MY FATHER

Today I'm mighty sorry
For the fellows who have not
Upon their list of assets
A father like I've got.

A dad whose every action
Is a lesson tried and true
Who lives himself the many things
He thinks his son should do.

And when the Lord gets ready
For people here on earth,
We'll all be lined up, front to rear,
According to our worth.

Then when the pearls gaudy swing
For fathers good and true,
I'll bet you anything My Dad
Will be the first one through.

—FRANK

FLOYD STUDENTS AMONG RECORDED LARGEST NUMBER OF UK GRADS; 71 FROM THIS AREA

Lexington, Ky., June 10 (Sp.)—Degrees were granted to 1,279 students at the University of Kentucky's 83rd annual commencement held last week in the school's new Memorial Coliseum. The number included 209 from Floyd county who were among the 71 UK graduates listed from eastern Kentucky.

John Sherman Cooper, special consultant to Secretary of State Acheson, delivered the commencement address to the record-breaking number of graduates, more than 1,270 greater than the previous high of 1,270 established last year.

Dr. Lee Sprockles, U.K. registrar, said the 1950 class includes students from 113 Kentucky counties; 30 other states; the District of Columbia; and eight foreign countries. Nine doctorates, 144 masters, and 1,028 bachelors degrees were awarded, Dr. Sprockles reported. Students who completed requirements for degrees at the end of the first semester in February are included in the year-end total.

In addition, honorary degrees were awarded Dr. Hardin Craig, professor of English at the University of Missouri, the commencement speaker; Cooper; Alexander Bonnyman, Knoxville-Village executive; Dr. Henry H. Hill, president of Peabody College, Nashville, Tenn.; Dr. J. D. Williams, chancellor of the University of Mississippi; and Dr. W. E. Wrusher, Washington, D. C., director of the U.S. Geological Survey.

Degrees awarded in each of U.K.'s colleges are as follows: Arts and Sciences, 331; Agriculture and Home Economics, 209; Engineering, 351; Law, 61; Education, 170; Commerce, 239; Pharmacy, 88; Graduate School, 153. Receding degrees at doctor of arts in education were Floyd county Henry Martin, of Easton, and former resident of Floyd, Wallace Hall, age of Lexington.

Department of Revenue May Discontinue Mailing of Income Tax Forms

The Kentucky Department of Revenue may, as an economy measure, discontinue mailing of individual income tax forms. It has been announced.

Heber Johnson, director of the income-tax division, who announced the proposed move, said only about 18 per cent of the forms mailed to individuals actually are returned. Apparently when the taxpayer is ready to make out his return, he has either lost his original form or has found it more convenient to use a blank furnished by his employer or accountant.

Blanks have been and will continue to be available at Revenue Department field offices, County Clerk's offices, banks and trust companies, and at industrial and business firms for their own employees. Individual forms also will continue to be mailed on request.

A survey of the department's operation shows that discontinuing forms would save more than $15,000 a year in this division.

The forms for next year are being simplified and will be more in line with the Federal form, Johnson added.

Deficit for 11 Months Is $3,230,012,100.94

The Government went into the red $3,230,012,100.94 during the first 11 months of this fiscal year, according to releases from Washington.

It is expected that the deficit for the 1950 fiscal year will reach, and possibly exceed, $5 billion next month, the same sources predicted. A Treasury statement showed that through May 31 the Government had taken in $2,640,225,523.96, and spent $5,870,933,924.50.

The situation was different on May 31 of last year. At that time the Treasury had a surplus of $1,000,643,205.28.

Why Increased Telephone Rates Are Necessary in Kentucky

Present rates, based on costs of two years ago, are not sufficient for good and improving service under the much higher costs of today

Southern Bell's rates in Kentucky are based on the costs of providing telephone service up to March 31, 1948. Since then our costs have increased substantially — cost increases that were not considered in setting today's rates.

Our Costs Have Risen Sharply Since 1948 Rate Increase

Southern Bell's wage costs in Kentucky went up $926,000 annually as a result of a general wage increase in February 1949.

Employee pension costs went up in November 1949. Social Security rates went up in January 1950. Depreciation expense went up in January 1949. The Kentucky income tax went up in April 1950. Wage costs are going up further as a result of a shortening of wage schedules in May 1950.

From 1939 through 1949, wage increases added $6,900,000 annually to our wage costs in Kentucky. The annual revenue from rate increases since 1939 is failing to cover this one item alone—failing by $2,700,000 per year—to say nothing of other cost increases.

Facilities to Improve and Expand Service Cost Large Sums of Money

The cost of improving and expanding telephone service has risen drastically. Present subscriber rates are based on our investment on March 31, 1948, when that investment averaged $204 per telephone, but facilities for each telephone added since that date have cost $425 per telephone. Subscriber rates intended to provide only a reasonable return for a $204 telephone are, of course, too low for a $325 telephone, leaving an investment of $121 per telephone for which present rates provide no return at all.

Each added telephone increases the value of the service to existing subscribers because they can reach and be reached by more people. Since 1945 we have added 116,000 telephones in Kentucky. Adding these telephones, and improving the service in other ways, has cost $39,500,000 in new facilities.

Good Telephone Service Essential to Progress in Kentucky

A constantly improving and expanding telephone service is essential to the progress and development of fast-growing Kentucky. To meet the telephone needs in the cities, towns and rural areas of the State, Southern Bell is now constructing new facilities in Kentucky at the rate of about $10,000,000 a year—and continued construction at this high level will be needed in each of the next few years.

The money to pay for new facilities does not come from subscribers' payment of their bills. These monthly receipts cover only wages, taxes, maintenance and other day-to-day costs. Capital for new facilities must come from people who can be persuaded to invest their money in the telephone business.

Present Earnings Are Inadequate to Attract Needed Capital

Southern Bell's earnings in Kentucky today are too low to persuade people with savings to supply the additional capital required to meet the State's full telephone service needs. In the postwar period of insufficient earnings, the capital for our construction has been obtained up to now because of investors' faith in the soundness and fairness of Kentucky and its institutions. However, actual earnings and not hoped for earnings must of necessity be the basis of raising capital for future construction.

That is why it is essential to good telephone service that earnings be improved by raising our present inadequate rates.

Kentucky telephone rates have advanced only about a third as much as the overall cost of living. Under the new rates, telephone service will continue to improve and will continue to be one of today's biggest bargains.

SMILE
 I know there's lots of things I might have learned but never did. I know there's lot of ignorance of which I might be rid. I know there's a lot of things I've lost, but one thing did I gain. No matter what the cause may be I've learned to laugh at pain.

For pain will come, and pain will go, but what's the use to fret? The more I know the more I know. Perhaps you're tired, of course you are; and maybe you're all in. But just the same you aren't licked as long as you can grin.

Sure I've got a life to live, I'll do the best I can, I'll take the burdens as they come and bear them like a man. I will not wince nor cry aloud, but struggle on a while. And when I come to cash my checks, I'll do it with a smile.

KENTUCKY ON THE MARCH
 BY BYING GALLOWAY

It has been a life-long habit of mine to look for motives that impel men and women I have known in public life. I try to paraphrase the title of a popular book, to find out "what makes Sammy run." If I learn whether it is passion for personal power, financial gain, public approval or sheer love of public service, I can better understand what keeps Sammy on the move.

From the first time I met him more than three years ago, I have studied Harry W. Schaefer, president of the Committee for Kentucky, during the six years of its epochal existence. I have tried to find out everything that might make Harry run, and I can say that the impelling motive was doing what Schaefer believed to be a much-needed service to the people of Kentucky. That explains my satisfaction in working with him, and which is far more pertinent, the success of the committee. I asked Mr. Schaefer to write me a farewell note for this column, and here it is:

"I want to pay a special tribute to you, as one of the stalwarts of the committee, for the zeal and devotion which you brought to the writing of your weekly column. Your basic common sense made your column so widely accepted throughout the State that the Committee for Kentucky, awarded you at the R.K.A. dinner last month was more than earned. I am very happy to think that the work you will carry on your column on your own Kentucky has need of your wisdom.

"Because this is the Committee's year, and I would like the privilege of a personal word. These last six years have been for me the most difficult, the most trying, yet the most rewarding years of my entire life. I came to Kentucky about 23 years ago, starting from absolute scratch. Kentucky had been wonderful to me, and I had often wondered whether it would be possible for me to express in service to Kentucky my gratitude for that opportunity she offered me. That opportunity came through the Committee for Kentucky, and I was grateful for it.

"It has been truly a privilege for me to have been of some service to the people of Kentucky through this great adventure in social progress. To know that Kentucky is on the march, and to feel that I have had a small part in bringing this about, will be a cause of the deepest satisfaction to me for the rest of my life.

"It is my fervent prayer that Kentucky will keep marching into the future to better days."

Unmarried Widows Of World War II Vets Eligible for GI Loans

Columbus O., June 12 (Sp.)—Unmarried widows of veterans who died as the result of service in World War II are made eligible for GI home, farm and business loans under the terms of regulations issued by the Veterans Administration to its field offices. This was announced recently by Kentucky and Ohio newspapers.

Such unmarried widows become eligible for VA-guaranteed loans as the result of one of several amendments to the GI loan provisions contained in the recently enacted housing act of 1950.

Eligibility requirements for such widows to receive GI loan guarantees in general parallel those governing death compensation payable to widows of World War II veterans.

The veteran must have served in the armed forces at some period between September 16, 1940 and July 25, 1947, and his death must have been a result of service while on duty or from service-connected causes following discharge under conditions other than dishonorable. Another condition is that the widow must not have remarried following the veteran's death.

Widows who are eligible for GI loan benefits because of their own service in the armed forces receive no additional benefits as widows.

GI loans for home, farm or business purposes are made by private lending institutions, with VA guaranteeing the lender against loss of a portion of the loan.

One of the recent amendments authorizes VA to make direct loans to eligible for home purchases after July 19, 1950, in localities where mortgage financing at 4 per cent interest is not available.

ORDERS THAT LIQUOR SALES BE HELD UP

Contest Ruling May Be Handed Down Friday By Judge Stewart

Special Judge J. Frank Stewart recently submitted a motion to hold up sale of alcoholic beverages at Elkhorn City pending the outcome of a contest of the local option election held here last March 27.

The motion was made in Pike circuit court by counsel for the contestants, A. B. Parsons, John Ford and William Rere, Sr., suing as registered voters of Elkhorn City. The men charged that wet forces won the election through illegal voting.

Elkhorn City was scheduled to become officially wet, June 3.

So far only two men, Fon Deskins and Ted Deskins, have published a notice of intention to apply for a retail package liquor license.

Not more than three or four liquor stores are expected to be permitted the community, on the basis of population.

In their contest, the three Elkhorn City voters charged that the wet majority was obtained:

1. By persons voting openly before election officers and others.
2. By persons who did not reside in the precincts in which they voted.
3. By persons not qualified to vote.
4. By underage persons.
5. By persons who accepted money or "other valuable considerations" for their vote.

"Tabulation of the election was 283 votes for sale of alcoholic beverages and 282 against."

At Frankfort, Mrs. Lora Belle Reeve, secretary of the State Alcoholic Beverage Control Board, said no one in Elkhorn City has applied for a state license to sell whiskey and beer.

Bluminous coal exists in diverse varieties, but in general it is 85 to 90 per cent fixed carbon and 15 to 20 per cent volatile matter.

Control and prevention of rabies is a community problem and one which requires full community cooperation. There have been a great many false theories about the cause and cure of rabies as, for example, the use of the mad stone and the idea that most dogs went mad during "dog days" in July and August.

Actually statistics show that animals catch rabies and bite people during all seasons of the year, but the incidence is higher in early spring and fall. The most important point to remember, however, is that rabies can be prevented. One big step in this direction is the annual injection of animals with a vaccine to build up their resistance to the disease.

Dr. Marvin Hansell, county health officer, urged all dog owners in Floyd county to have their pets immunized early this year. Although other animals, such as foxes, horses, cows and cats, may be infected by the rabies virus, dogs are still the most common carrier of the disease.

It is important that wounds of such an animal be suspected of having rabies should be treated at once. Simple first aid or mild antiseptics should never be relied on. A physician should be called immediately. The doctor should then notify the police who, in turn, should inform the dog's owner that the animal must be placed in confinement for observation. If, at the end of two weeks, the dog is still alive and well the danger of rabies is practically past, since the disease is 100 per cent fatal in animals within seven to 10 days after symptoms appear.

However, should the dog die, the head should be removed and sent by express to the laboratory of the State Department of Health, 620 S. Third Street, Louisville, Ky., for examination. Should the dog be found to have rabies, your physician will be notified and will determine the necessity of clearing the Pasteur treatment.

Some 4,000,000 tons of coke are ordinarily used during a year for home heating.

One ton of bituminous coking coal which is carbonized yields approximately 1,400 pounds of coke, 11,000 cubic feet of gas, 7.8 gallons of tar, 2.8 gallons of light oils, and lesser amounts of other valuable substances so basic to chemical processing industries.

Arsenic sprays are the most harmful to uses of all insecticides.

Jest Among Us

By JACK WILD

A little story told by Dr. Daniel A. Poling, principal speaker at the dedication of the University of Kentucky's new medical College, is worth repeating:

"One Friday afternoon in March, 1943, I flew into the great base at Natal, Brazil, from Dakar on the coast of Africa. In the senior chaplain I found an old friend, the Rev. Samuel Overstreet, of Massachusetts. Presently I asked him if he could drive me to Natal City—I needed a replacement for the leather wrist band of my watch. The chaplain shook his head and said, 'Sorry, but tonight I'm conducting the Jewish service for the Roman Catholic chaplain.'

"He smiled at my startled expression and explained that, there being no resident rabbi on the base, he and Chaplain Ryan had organized the Sabbath service for 72 Jewish servicemen and that alternating they brought the spiritual message in this service. The men themselves adapted strange and followed their ritual. An R.A.P. pilot was the cantor.

"I smiled at my startled expression and explained that, there being no resident rabbi on the base, he and Chaplain Ryan had organized the Sabbath service for 72 Jewish servicemen and that alternating they brought the spiritual message in this service. The men themselves adapted strange and followed their ritual. An R.A.P. pilot was the cantor.

"Sorry," said Sam Overstreet, "but I'm sure you understand that this is Ryan's night but he is ill and so I am taking his place." And then I replied, "Certainly, I understand. But I am no longer interested in a trip to Natal. I am going to stay right here and watch a Baptist preacher from New England conduct a Jewish service for a Roman Catholic chaplain!"

I guess Edwin Scott Smith, of Ricksport, must be about the healthiest young fellow that never played hooky from school. Edwin went to Thorn Hill Elementary School for eight years. No absences. He went to Elkton high school for four years. No absences. He went to the Naval Training Center at Bainbridge, Md., for six months. No absences. He went to the University of Kentucky for four years. No absences. That adds up to about 3,000 days of school without a day missed. Last Friday (June 2) the 23-year-old scholar received the Civil Engineering degree from the University, completing his work with about a B average. For a year and a half he has worked part-time for the State Highway Department, and he plans to continue in this work. During the four years he attended U.K., he commuted daily from Frankfort, a distance of 28 miles, traveling altogether around 50,000 miles. In all his life Edwin has never been sick enough to stay home from school, and as for playing hooky—well, he just doesn't believe in it.

"I'll meet with Dad and Mother and clip their hands once more. And there I'll praise King Jesus on that celestial shore. No sweet to be together and never to part again. I'll be with all my loved ones and Jesus Christ my King.

IN MEMORIAM

My parents were both Christians. Before they went away, And now they've gone to heaven, Their bodies beneath the clay, They said before they left us, For all of us to pray, "That we could be together On that great judgment day."

The prettiest flowers they said for them

They told us of a Saviour And how He hung and bled! "You should love Him, children," These words so sweet, they said, "They were so kind and gentle."
