Floyd County's Hope—New Industry

All petty prejudices and community rivalries become more trivial even than they actually are when one attempts to look beyond the present at the Floyd county economic picture.

Thoughtful consideration of this matter, on which depends the future of all of us who expect to continue to live in Floyd county, should convince all concerned that there are more important things than neighborhood disputes and personal ambitions.

While weicker and work up an unhealthy feeling between communities over the proposed county hospital, we lose sight of the overall picture and the bigger objective. If the economy of the county does not flourish, the new hospital will be a failure, wherever located, and those already in existence will be more than adequate, with Floyd county's population diminished as the people seek gainful occupations elsewhere.

This county, under present conditions, is chained to the mining industry. Employment depends almost entirely on that one business, for there is no other to employ large numbers of workers.

Even if mining should be a boom industry now, which it is not, Floyd county cannot depend on it for the future. The demand for domestic coal, such as that produced in this section, has dropped alarmingly during the last two years, and the end to the drop is not in sight. Crude oil, which has bitten deep into the market. And, even if the demand should return to that of yesterday, much of the highest quality coal is already gone from Floyd county.

All this should prove the necessity for Floyd county—not merely one community—to begin making a serious and determined effort to attract new industry here.

Not long ago, there was talk of a multi-million-dollar by-products plant being installed in the Eastern Kentucky area for operation in connection with the gas industry. This was a plan, we were told, which would require as much as thirty-five acres of land for a site. It would employ, on a two-year month basis, many men in the area where located.

But did anybody get excited about this possibility? We answer, a dead 'No'.

We contend such a plant should naturally gravitate to the neighborhood of one of the county's big gas compressor stations—Dwale or Waco, say. And we add that, though those two communities would more directly profit from such business, all Floyd county would profit.

It should be apparent to Floyd county, of all counties, that you can't keep Floyd countians altogether at home to spend their money. Pike and Johnson counties know that. By the same token, no community can expect to build around itself a trade barrier to the exclusion of all other communities.

A diversity of industry, small and great, and a community of energy and planning should hold top spot in Floyd county, thinking now, for the good of us all, later.

Rev. Baynes Begins Ministry at Martin

The Rev. Herbert Baynes, who for the last three years has been pastor of East Superior Church of Christ, Alma, Mich., has begun his pastorate of the Church of Christ at Martin.

A graduate of Kentucky Christian College, Grasson, the minister did outstanding work with the Michigan church, and Mrs. Baynes led the youth work of the church there with great success.

GOVERNOR TO SPEAK AT SCOUT FUNCTION

Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby will speak at the annual Appreciation Dinner of the Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, at Wheelwright, May 7. Expected at the meeting are Scout leaders from the 19 Kentucky counties and five Virginia counties that comprise the council area. The Kentucky counties are Johnson, Floyd, Pike, Letcher, Perry, Martin, Magoffin, Knott, Breathitt and Leslie.

Lonesome Pine Council has 1,500 Cub and Explorer Scouts and 900 Scouts.

Virginia counties in the Council are Wise, Buchanan, Dickinson, Russell and Lee.

Miss McGinnis Named District FHA Leader At Meeting Saturday

Floyd county Future Homemakers won a liberal share of honors at the district FHA meeting held Saturday at Oil Springs.

Miss Mary Elizabeth McGinnis, of the Prestonsburg chapter, was elected president of the Ashland district for the 1951-1952 year, and Miss Virginia Morrison, of the Betsy Layne chapter, was named first vice-president.

At the same time, Miss Vera Hollidge, of the FHA chapter here, was nominated as the district's candidate for state historian, and Prestonsburg chapter's scrapbook won a Superior rating.

Education Council Names Reed, Others Recently Nominated

All persons previously nominated for offices in the Floyd County Committee for Education, the lay group which was organized to work with the Kentucky Council, were elected at Friday's meeting here of the Council.

These officers are: B. Alvin Reed, DIRT, president; Bert T. Combs, Prestonsburg, first vice-president; George E. Evans, Estill, second vice-president; Mrs. Beecher Hardwick, Justist, treasurer; Mrs. Lewis Warren, Martin, secretary.

Mr. Combs, since his nomination for his council post, has become a judge of the Kentucky Court of Appeals.

The Council's executive committee will consist of three officers and six individuals who will be elected for two-year terms, with the County and City Superintendents acting in an advisory capacity, but without vote. By-Laws of the Council provide for two types of memberships: organizations, whose fees will be in the form of contributions; and individuals whose membership dues a year will be $1.

CPL. LITTLE IN ENGLAND UNITED KINGDOM, April 30—

Corporal Lavonia Little, of Wayland, is presently stationed in the United Kingdom with the 38 Antiaircraft Artillery Battalion, 32nd AAA Brigade, here to engage in joint training with the United States Air Force, Royal Air Force, and the British Army.

Corporal Little, whose father, Elbert J. Little, also resides in Wayland, enlisted in the army in October 1949 at Prestonsburg, and after completing basic military training at Fort Meade, Maryland for antiaircraft artillery training in 1950. He remained at Fort Meade until he accompanied his unit in January 1951 to its present station in England. His unit, together with the others that comprise the 32nd AAA Brigade, are the first United States Army personnel to be stationed in the United Kingdom since the end of the war.

CPL. SCOTT, OF GARRETT, AND HIS BUDDY ON EXPENSE-PAID WEEK-END IN NEW YORK AS HE'S NAMED CAMP 'SOLDIER OF WEEK'

Cpl. Ralph R. Scott has had the distinction of being chosen to represent his unit, "If we only could do all of this every week-end." No doubt they won't be able to as funds will not permit. Cpl. Scott was selected by his battery commander as the "Soldier of the Week" after tough competition on the basis of outstanding character, ability, neatness and soldierly attitude.

Cpl. Scott is the 20-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Hawley Scott, of Garrett. He entered the service in September of 1949 and has been a member of "B" Battery, 529th AAA Gun Battalion since January, 1950.

They were west-end guests at the Prince George Hotel, including breakfast in bed on Sunday morning and their evening meal at the hotel. They were rooting for the Dodgers at the Polo Grounds. On Sunday afternoon they were the guests of Circle Lines on a sightseeing tour of New York. They returned to the city for dinner at Howard Johnson's Restaurant. Tickets to the show at Radio City Music Hall were waiting or them at the box office.

FOR REPRESENTATIVE We are authorized to announce DONALD L. (DOONEY) HORN of West Prestonsburg, Ky., as a candidate for REPRESENTATIVE of the 96th Legislative district, subject to the action of the Democratic party at the August, 1951 primary.

I pledge my vote for a dry Kentucky, election of County School Superintendents by popular vote of the people, and a new purgation law to take some of the crookedness out of politics.

In Regional Bee

Johnny Cook, eighth grade Prestonsburg student, represented the schools here in the Tri-State spelling bee held Saturday at Huntington. He is a son of Prof. Leon Cook, principal of Prestonsburg high school, and Mrs. Cook.

Though the word "ostracize" banished him from the contest, Johnny ranked eighth in the bee. Roba Joyce Salyers, of the Maytown consolidated school, was ninth. She found "mercurochrome" too elusive.

Wyatt; class will, George Wyatt; prayer, Dede Neely; and Ebbbie Williams; class poem, Polly Lois Prater; remarks, Mrs. Betty Stephenson; special awards, Mrs. Grace Marlon Neely; class history, Phyllis Lay Sipes; presentation of diplomas, Donor Hall.

SAYS MARTIN HAS RECOURSE

But Coach May Not Resort to Law, Says He's Seeking New Spot

Garnis Martin, head basketball and baseball coach and assistant football coach at Prestonsburg high school, has been told by the attorney General's office he has an ally in the law if he wants to hold his job here, but he isn't sure he wants it under those terms.

Mr. Martin was not re-hired when the Prestonsburg Board of Education filed the coaching jobs here at its April 16 meeting. Bill Damron, currently the coach at Auxier high school, was named in his stead.

Martin reported the case to the Attorney General's office to ascertain his rights. Assistant Attorney General Owen Keller replied that the Board of Education is required by law to notify teachers under a limited contract that they will not be re-employed for the coming school year, prior to April 1. Martin said he was not so notified, and Keller held that he is in the limited contract class. So he suggested that the coach see a private attorney.

But this week, Martin declined to say he plans a court battle of it. "Right now, I'm trying to find another place. But it's awfully late, and if I can't find a job there might be something more about this," he said.

Keller wrote Martin that his salary should not be reduced unless there is a uniform reduction of all teachers salaries in the Prestonsburg independent district.

Gov. Wetherby Names Judge Hill To Serve On Safety Committee

The appointment of Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill to serve as a member of the Motor Vehicle Administration Committee of the Kentucky Highway Safety Conference was announced this week in Frankfort by Governor Lawrence Wetherby.

The Governor stated that eight small working committees are being appointed to study problems relating to highway accidents. Each of the committees will prepare recommendations to be submitted to the Conference which will be held at the University of Kentucky in Lexington on May 18.

"Our tragic rate of fatalities resulting from street and highway accidents constitutes a menace to the life of every Kentuckian," the Governor said. "I am confident that by cooperative and militant action of citizens working with their public servants, we can reduce materially the losses we are now sustaining."

The Governor previously extended an invitation to "all Kentuckians interested in highway safety" to attend and participate in the conference on May 18.

P'Burg Hi Girls' Trio Rated 'Superior'; Five Groups in State Fest

Prestonsburg, the only high school in Floyd county to compete in the vocal division of the Kentucky high school music festival on the campus of the University of Kentucky, Lexington, Friday and Saturday, entered five groups, winning one superior, two excellent and two good ratings. Mrs. Evelyn Moore, director of music in the school, announced this week.

The girls' trio, composed of Margaret Harmon, Jean Varney, and Bonnie Wells received a superior rating. The girls' quartette, composed of Mary Belle Layne, Katharine Akers, Betsy Spurlow and Bonnie Wells received the rating of excellent. The boys' glee club also received an excellent, with the girls' and mixed glee clubs receiving ratings of good.

The state instrumental events will be held in Lexington, May 11 and 12. Prestonsburg will have seven soloists entered in this division. Harold Lloyd Hoop, of Betsy Layne, also is expected to enter this division of the festival.

MAYTOWN

Flower lovers are asked to remember the fall flower show set for September 15 in Maytown. Order dahlias and other flowers now and plant soon, to win next fall, when the first flower show in Eastern Kentucky will be held. Be original and have something different. You may take first honors with an odd flower or unique arrangement. The ladies must not let the men beat them, for the men are becoming enthusiastic about the flower show, too. Chairmen will be announced for various entries later. Maytown organizations plan to make this an annual affair.

TO VIEW NEED FOR BUILDINGS

At Regional Meeting Of Educators May 10; P'Burg Schools, Host

With the parochial school issue apparently having federal aid to education stymied in Congress, a more is reported under way to get federal aid from another angle, that of supplying funds for school building needs, it has been indicated.

So strong has become this possibility that the State Department of Education will hold a national meeting here next Thursday to gather information on the building needs of the state's schools. City Superintendent C. Walter H. Frazer said this information would be presented to Congress when, and if, federal aid of this sort comes up for consideration.

Mr. Frazer said that several representatives expected to send representatives here are Knut Johnson, Martin, Mauffin and Wolfe. Congressman Carl T. Perkins of this district, has been a leader in the fight for federal school aid, but the legislation has not met as the church school issue was aid for building purposes would have the effect of providing other aid for education, it is felt. Frazer said relief from spending for building would permit school funds on hand to be diverted to teacher pay and other needs.

HERE'S OURS!

If you feel like passing out a few hushpuppies, you might well remember Jesse Elliott and the music instructors of the county who again are staging, this week-end, the Floyd County Music Festival. This is a labor of love for these folks. They are not paid a cent extra for all the work they are doing, and we have an idea this affair runs into what would pass for honest-to-goodness work.

Green Cooley brought to this office Tuesday a spoonbill catfish which he had bought from two small boys. The fish had gizzed the 40-inch 11-pounder, below the Dewey Dam. . . . And to show me what I was missing "Sonny" Goble on two consecutive mornings pranced in with big bass, one stretching to 17 1/2 inches. . . . Oh, me!

I have always said that Harold Blue, the Postmaster, minister who is leaving Prestonsburg, is a wonderful person. Now I so a bit further and say, he's a swell guy. He has mumps.

SERVING ABOARD USS ELDER

Capt. J. Francis, quartermaster second class, USN, son of Mr. and Mrs. William O. Francis of Volga, and husband of Mrs. Della Marie Francis, Keyville, is serving aboard the net tender USS Elder operating in the Far East. Francis, who was ordered into the active military service Sept. 6, 1950, first entered the Naval service Feb. 11, 1943.

Before entering the Navy, he attended Lackey High School at Lackey.

WITH THE 34TH INFANTRY REGIMENT, CAMP ZASU, JAPAN—Private First Class Cledis Stephens, 22, son of Mr. and Mrs. James Stephens, of Hereville, was selected the Colonel's Orderly at Treatment Guard Mount on April 19, for his exceptionally neat appearance and ability as a soldier. Because of his selection, he will receive a 3-day pass.

Pvt. Stephens has been in the army 4 years. During this time he has served with the 42nd Medical Collecting Company, 15th Medical Dispensary and the Osaka Army Hospital previous to his assignment with the Medical Company 34th Infantry Regiment, where he is on duty as an armorer for a Rifle Platoon.

Cpl. Robert E. Porter, son of Mr. and Mrs. W. E. Porter, Grayson and a grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Green Allen, Hereville, has been commended by his commanding officer, Col. H. A. Walker.

In his commendation, Col. Walker said that Cpl. Porter, holder of the Bronze Star, Combat Medical Class, and Parachutist Badge, is now doing a fine job with his battalion and is "highly commendable".

In referring to Cpl. Porter's good record, Col. Walker said, "men such as Cpl. Porter are the kind of men that the Army is proud to have serving their country."

CHINA AFFAIRS SPECIALIST IS NATIVE OF KNOTT COUNTY

(The name of Troy Lawson Perkins is familiar to many thousands of students, former students and friends of the University of Kentucky, his alma mater, for it was he who wrote the words for the song, "On, On, U. of K." Mr. Perkins is known by many persons personally in Prestonsburg, where he has numerous occasions visited his aunt, Mrs. French Combs. The following sketch dealing with the native Knott countian's career was written by Ed Edstrom of The Courier-Journal's Washington Bureau—Editor.)

As a youngster in Kentucky, Troy Perkins wanted to be a writer because he thought it would give him freedom to travel.

But it was in the Department of State that he found his life work and the opportunities to see a good chunk of the world. He is now deputy director of political affairs in the Department's Office of Chinese Affairs.

Whether Chinese politics are as complicated as Kentucky politics, Perkins may say. But Kentucky and politics go together as naturally as mint and crushed ice. Perkins comes by a taste for politics from his father, Troy Philip Perkins.

The elder Perkins was a Hindman businessman who also was in the Legislature when Governor Geobal was shot dead. And Perkins is a cousin of Democratic Representative Carl D. Perkins of Hindman.

He was born in Hindman on February 3, 1902. His mother was the former Winnie Lawson. Perkins' father's health became poor and the family moved to Oakshaws in 1914. He went through high school at Davenport.

In 1918, a kid of 16 who wanted to write, he moved out to Hollywood and got a job as a handy boy on the Famous Players lot, later transferring to the publicity department. He decided he needed more education, and enrolled in the University of Kentucky.

There he wrote a weekly column for The Kentucky Kernel, and wrote and acted for the Roman Theater, a joint town-and-country little theater. He did a three-act comedy about teen-agers which got Broadway consideration but never was produced.

One piece of writing was forced out of him by Carl Lampert, head of the U. of K. music department. It still hits Perkins's ears when he attends or tunes in a U. of K. football game.

In "My Old Kentucky Home," Kentucky has "the best song in the world," Perkins said. "But Carl wanted a song for pep rallies. He composed the music and would hum it to me every time we met so that I would write words for it."

The words wouldn't come. Finally, Lampert got Perkins in a room and said, "You're going to stay here until you write those words."

Half an hour later, Perkins was finished, and that's how "On, On U. of K." was born.

He took a summer off to see Paris and stayed there a year. While there, he learned about the

Needy Blind To Get $10-a-Month Average Assistance Increase

Frankfort, Ky., May 3 (Sp.)—Kentucky's needy blind will receive an average of ten dollars more a month in public assistance payments starting in May, Gov. Lawrence W. Wetherby announced today. He also announced that increased payments will be made to dependent children and the needy aged starting in June and July.

The increases will come from a fund of $5,000,000 made possible by a $2,000,000 grant by the recent special session of the General Assembly to which $3,000,000 in federal funds were added. Savings resulting from economical administration by the State Division of Public Assistance during the last fiscal year will also be used, Governor Wetherby said.

The maximum increase for the needy blind will raise the average payments from about $22 to a little more than $32 a month.

It is expected that the increase in payments to dependent children, the Governor said, The average monthly payment in this group will be raised from $38 to $42.

The increases will be completed in July, when checks written for aid are assistance will be raised from a monthly average of $20 to $30. The maximum old age assistance payment will be increased from $40 to $50.

The increases will not be made on a blanket basis, the Governor said. Each grant will be recomputed individually according to the needs of the person receiving assistance.

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING

In recent years sportsmen have shown a marked increase of interest in the retriever breeds. There have been several reasons for this. Upland game and woodcock shortages have made it doubly important that every game bird knocked down be found and retrieved. And the growth of retriever field trials has proved the great versatility of the breed.

Like every gun dog writer, Henry P. Davis is often asked: "What breed makes the best retriever? That is the $64 question."

If we took field trial records as the sole criterion, Davis says the answer would be simple, since the Labrador is way out in front. The golden retriever ranks second in field trial wins, with the Chesapeake third and the curly coated retriever and Irish water spaniel lagging far behind.

But we shouldn't place an unqualified stamp of "Best Breed" on the basis of field trial performance alone. Field trial honors are not based on pure performance but are awarded to the dogs that turn in the best work during the event. Then also remember, the popularity of the Labrador has brought more Labrador entries to trials than either of the other top breeds.

Getting down to the core of the matter, it all depends on the individual dog and his opportunities to learn. There are good ones and poor ones in every breed. But the average Labrador, golden or Chesapeake bred with natural ability and given proper training, will prove his worth over and over again in saving game.

By proper training I mean just that. A promising pup may prove a dud under the bungling handling of an inept handler, when the same pup would have developed into a sparkling performer under the tutelage of an expert.

Before you make your choice, study the characteristics of the different breeds and make up your mind which meets your requirements best. Then pay more attention to the choice of the individual, for there is just as much difference in individuals of one breed as there is in retriever breeds. Get a good book on retriever training. Study it carefully, and then get set to have some fun afield.

Farm TIPS and VIEWS
By HAROLD B. RICE, Floyd County Agent

All of the pasture grasses commonly sown in Floyd county are dormant in July and August and produce very little grazing for livestock. For this reason, it is important to sow a crop that will produce grazing during the hot summer months. A good farmer will be prepared for these hot, dry months by sowing what is known as an emergency pasture crop.

Sudan grass is the most popular emergency pasture. It starts producing forage in the latter part of June and continues producing until September. Sudan grass should be sowed about the tenth of May to produce grazing during July and August. Sow between 25 and 30 pounds of seed per acre, depending on how well the seed bed is prepared.

Sudan grass produces a fair hay crop if it is not necessary to pasture it too close. It will yield two and one-half to three tons of hay per acre.

There is very little difference in the yield of different varieties of Sudan grass. However, Piper and Tift are the most resistant to disease. No Piper seed is available yet, but Tift seed is available in limited amounts. Varieties that are available are Colorado Common, Sudan 23, and Sweet Sudan. There is very little difference in the amount of forage these varieties produce so you can sow the variety that is available.

Lespedeza grows most in June, July, and August. It will provide grazing during the summer months but usually needs a rest period if it is to produce late in the fall. Many Kentucky farmers who are following the Kentucky Cow and Calf plan sow a field of Lespedeza, on which to finish their baby beefs.

After Lespedeza seed has matured it is high in protein and will really fatten cattle.

Pasture is the cheapest feed that can be produced on the farm so have a well planned pasture program. Sow an emergency grazing crop.

 of 6% per annum and all other cost herein expended, I or one of my deputies will on Saturday, May 5, 1951 at the front door of the Courthouse, in Prestonsburg, Floyd County, Kentucky offer said two cars of coal to the highest and best bidder or as much as may be necessary to satisfy said debt and other costs, herein expended. TERMS OF SALE: Said sale will be made for cash in hand.

Witness my hand this 13th day of April, 1951.

Jest Among Us...
 By Jack Wal

"What the English Think of Us" is the title of a new book by Fred Vanaman, an American who believes that one of every three Englishmen is not real fond of the United States. Maybe he's right.
 Maybe the feeling is mutual. If so, I suspect one for it is the matter of language. Americans speak American, naturally, while those boobhead Brits stubbornly insist upon speaking English.
 See what you can make of the Illustrated London News and the Manchester Guardian:
 "Small mileage car—1946 Buick
 'SALEON'—'Entirely too paste from all CHEMISTS.' 'ROY-AL EXCHANGE ASSURANCE.' 'BIS-CUIT'S of highest quality.' 'POST' your films. There's over 50,000 receiving station—your nearest PIL-LAR BOX is one of them.' 'The glass is empty and there are plenty of orange SPASHES you could put in it.' 'TYRE-BURSTS made harmless.' 'Perfect SANDS and beaches.'
 Translated, the all-capitalized words above simply mean—I think —drugs, insurance, cracks-ers, shall, mail box, crashes, blowouts, and beaches.

And I wonder what some Englishmen might do with the following pure U.S.A. taken from the Podunk Falaver column in the Marshall Courier: "Uncle Jump
 Spry tells the story of an Idaho later that married a Kentucky tarter. They became the parents of a little Miss Tater that grew up and wanted to marry Lowell Thomas, but the parents objected because he was a Kentuckian."
 That's pretty subtle, all right, even for Americans.

I am in receipt of a letter from Brooklyns addressed to Press Agent, University of Kentucky, saying: "I read a sport article about Bill Selye
 'Kentucky's seven-foot 'sail-stream' which states that he was six feet tall at the age of one year.
 I would like to know if the article is true about Selye." The figure was exaggerated, Dear Brooklyns; Sports Fan. Grits did not reach the age of six feet until he was three years old.

By TED KESTING
 I just finished an article on gun handling by Roy Holland. It contained so many interesting things that I'd like to give you a few excerpts:
 "I have never had much use for 'safer' on shotguns because they are likely to lend a false sense of security to the man handling the gun. When he looks down and reads the word 'safe' he is likely to believe it. All that safety snap does is block the trigger so they cannot be pulled. It doesn't block the hammer so they cannot fall and hit the firing pins. Guns become worn with use and no one can tell you to know when they are bad.
 At close range a shotgun is more dangerous than a rifle.
 At luncheon don't stand your gun against a tree for you or your dog to knock it loose. Take out the shells and lay it flat on the ground or across your lap while you eat.
 If you eat at the car, don't lean your pet shooting iron against it.
 Loaded guns have no business indoors, in cars or in boats! If you are sure you know the man behind you.
 There is no excuse ever to pass the muzzles of a loaded gun past your shooting partner.
 It is a good plan to form the habit of looking through the barrel or barrels or aiming at the sky and snarling the hammers before you put your gun in the car. Looking through the barrels is the better of the two habits... mud wasps have been known to use a shotgun barrel for a nest and have been killed in a very short time. A skiff of snow in the muzzle may not hurt the shooter but it will put a nice bell muzzle on his gun, often giving it a lazy effect. Mud in the muzzle also does a good job.
 The accommodation of field sports is the gang's head where four or more men hunt together. You can have it. Once in a while a fellow gets ropped in on such a time. I am too busy watching the other fellows to make sure they don't shoot me and that I don't shoot them.
 A man should never shoot through brush when four or more is ahead of him even though off to one side. Shot will ricochet and do queer things.

Bids will be received by the trust-

KENTUCKY ON THE MARCH

By EWING GALLOWAY

This is a you-can-and-shouldn't essay but I hope some good will come of it, because the subject is tremendously important to farmers primarily and almost as much to the population generally.

Our story is about the rat, the nation's No. 1 destroyer. I'm interested myself because rats destroy at least 10 per cent of our corn, loss in an average year of about 1,000 bushels, which at the current price is $180. A bushel amounts to $1,800. A farmer producing 1,000 bushels of corn will lose $180 worth to rats.

Paul de Kruif, writing in a recent number of the Readers Digest, quotes numerous authorities in recommending Warfarin, a new poison put on the market recently. de Kruif says 1,500 field tests by domestic and private agencies show that Warfarin will wipe out rat colonies within fifteen days. Other poisons are effective but do not make a clean sweep. You can foot rats for awhile but they soon get wise to the poisons that have been in use for some time.

We are told that rats don't get suspicious of Warfarin even when they see other rats dying around them.

Farmers will have to be told exactly how to use the new poison. I'm going to try Warfarin as soon as we can get to the job.

Writing in the Granite Farmer, a magazine published from his farm at Emmaus, Pa., by Robert Rodale, George Milburn says poison you can use to kill rats is Warfarin. Dr. David E. Davis of John Hopkins University says, "Rapid breeding nullifies any attempt to poison rat populations. Within six months after a given number of rats have been killed by poison they have been more than doubled."

Mr. Milburn thinks the most effective procedure is keeping rats out of grain bins and trapping them as thoroughly as possible. There is a big trap called the Havahart that is recommended.

A lot of farmers would like to have ratproof corn cobs and what get metal cribs even if we have heavy concrete floors. Metal for such purposes is not available now and may not be again until peace is established.

In the Corn Belt which includes all or part of eleven states the department of Agriculture has spent hundreds of millions of dollars for storage cribs that nobody asked for and few grain cribs, if any, use at all. There are 275 of the cribs in Henderson. Not one of them is being used. The bins may be available to farmers eventually but Washington politicians will be reluctant to admit the expenditure was a colossal blunder. I understand the cost of something over $2,000 apiece. Farmers probably could afford to buy them at $1,000 apiece and spend $200 for concrete foundations.

In the meantime I'll try Warfarin if it does not kill our rats. I'll buy some Havahart traps.

If other weapons are effective, I'll wonder if rats from the woods and fields won't come in to the crib and take over when the dead ones left off.

The federal gasoline tax of 1 1/2 cents per gallon now costs taxpayers more each year than the total tax receipts of the national government from all sources 33 years ago.

Police Action in Korea

When all our boys were at home. Everyone was satisfied. Both South and North here in Korea. Decided for a fight.

But South Korea was overpowered. North Koreans had them on the run. Then came the faithful old U.N.—We thought it would be fun.

Police action, they called it in the States. Everyone thinks it's tops. But us boys here think it a rough neighborhood—We need a lot more cops.

Some boys will never be home. Some in hospitals, some as M.P.s. While thinking of our loved ones. Back home across the sea.

Some of us will be well soon. Then go back on the lines. Then small arms fire will get more of us. Also tank and personnel mines.

While everyone is laughing. The police action over here. Tell them to come and help us—We will give three cheers. But when it comes right to the facts.

They dread it, we can see. They know that death is waiting. The same as yourself and me.

But soon we pray it over. Then we'll go home across the sea. To find our loved ones happy And proud of our victory.

FHA and FFA Sponsor Rainbow Festival Here

The F.H.A. and F.F.A. of the Prestonsburg high school held its first Rainbow Festival, Saturday night, April 21, at the high school building.

Square dances and folk dances were enjoyed by those attending with music furnished by the "Berea Cornhuskers" from Berea, Ky. Alta Jean Hicks and Bob Hager, members of the Junior class, were crowned Rainbow king and queen to reign until spring of 1952. Crowned were Jennie Hill and Clyde Burchett, Jr.

A large crowd attended the festival. Added attractions of the evening were a raffle, fortune telling, two cake walks, prettiest girl and ugliest boy contests, and photography.

The proceeds will be used to further the home economics and agriculture work of the two chapters.

Since 1926, general living costs have risen 44 per cent, food has increased 61 per cent and fuel, electricity and refrigeration are up 23 per cent. In the same period taxes on gasoline in Kentucky have jumped 183 per cent. three years.

IT'S A GOOD WORLD
BY WILMA Y

It's a beautiful world, too, now with the spring blossoms in mad array. All who wish to see the prettiest spot in the county should drive to Prestonsburg. From Lancer, on through the city and out the Mao Trail, look to your right on the hillsides at the moss rhodod, now in full bloom, like beds of rosy pink and mauve velvet. This low-growing perennial found there in such lush abundance, is a sight for the eye. Perhaps some day clays will transplant clumps of it to neighboring mountains all along the route to Allen! It would make a gorgeous sight for tourists. Rock-garden lovers enjoy the plant, which blooms white and blue in acid soil.

We met a charming young gentleman Saturday afternoon, who is so handsome we could not resist his endearing ways. Master Philip Arthur Haywood, of West Prestonsburg, was five months, now ranks high on our list of lovable babies. Folks expect big things of him because he chose his parents judiciously.

Thanks, Carlos, young Philip's mother, for the kindly comments about the column. And thanks to all those who speak or write about it, especially to Mrs. Bill Osborne, Prestonsburg, who recently said the religious angle is most appreciated and needed. From the looks of things many other than the Corvairs expect to accept to accept this view. Dr. Frank C. Laubach, scientist, says America must "Lift up or Blow up."

Mrs. Rondel Hayes, of Heysville, has an excellent three-point plan of values for child-rearing. She makes facts in God first, health, second; education, third.

"Letters to Jane," by Schultz, Lippincott, makes an ideal graduation gift for young girls. It is one of the best books of its kind.

Master Mike May, small grandson of Mr. and Mrs. Bill May, Warco, proceeded to the hills all alone recently in search of something for his grandmother's garden. Mike got into a bad briar patch by mistake, and after a few futile efforts to get out gave up and sat down to wait till someone came for him. All the family, plus neighbors and friends, spent two anxious hours searching for him as darkness drew near. His Aunt Arlene found him. "Sis! Sis, I heard Daddy—his name for granddaddy—calling, and I answered every time, but he couldn't hear me." Mike explained, not the least afraid. Sissy got scratched all over, and the kid got a sigh of relief when the kid turned up, since a creek is very near the home.

Arnold Cassidy is full of natural wit and every time the Better Half, it is with him he gets a supply of puns, jokes and pranks that keep us in stitches the rest of the day. When it comes to fishing yarns E. R. is on Arnold's side since the latter brought him such nice fish last week from Norris Dam!

The boss says I am a very good hand when it comes to planning a garden, but he calls attention then to the difference between that and planting one! Both are codes of fun, no fooling.

It's May Day again, and aren't you proud of our festival? We should pause to think of all the work that goes into it. Into each final, etc. Congratulations to Mr. Elliott, Mr. Hall, the music instructors and the loyal parents who help to make it such a success each year. Someone should do movies of the entire parade. Not every candidate can become queen, but recent years have shown what a success the girls are. That is a wonderful spirit.

Who said You can't Afford a Fine Car?

When you look at all a ROADMASTER has to offer, it's only natural to conclude that it's priced with the rest of the fine-car field. Sweeping proudly past you, it has a distinction that few cars can equal. Stepping nimbly away from a stop light, it has the willing surge of power that the very exclusive combination of a 152-horsepower Fireball engine and Dynaflow Drive* delivers. It rides the road with majestic smoothness, and comes to a smooth and gentle halt, in response to the finest brakes Buick ever developed. Inside, it has spacious room, from side to side and front to back and seat to roof—plus a softness of cushions and a richness of fabrics which bespeak the custom standards to which it is painstakingly built.

*All you could want in a fine car is here in abundance. But don't let that fool you into deciding "it's too rich for me." If you've looked into 1951 car prices generally, you'll discover this: You can own a ROADMASTER for just a shade more than an ordinary car will cost—and for several hundred dollars less than the price tags usually found in "the fine-car field."

Why not look into this today?
