Brownies Are Hostesses To Mothers At Dinner

Brownie Troop No. 15 climaxed its year's program with a Mother-Daughter dinner, June 5, at the Methodist Church, with the girls acting as hostesses with their leader, Mrs. Sae May, to their mothers.

Table decorations, place cards and the book-printed paper napkins and hand-painted flower vase were made by the girls themselves. In fact, they did almost everything except the cooking and they helped with that. The dinner was one of several of the year's objectives, which included cookouts, nature hikes, making of invitations, gifts, place cards and the like. "Brownies are not awarded a proficiency badge—if so, they would have merited them for their splendid work at this event and during the year," commented one leader.

Members of the troop are Virginia Ann Allen, Judy and Mary Alice Allen, Martha Ann and Sally Burchett, Betty Gai Haggard, Barbara Harkins, Judy Howard, Martha Sae May, Jerry Mahan, Terry Webb, Penny Beth Whitten, Leslie Ann Shaw.

described as hours of bickering between the husband and wife as they operated the Star Cafe on the Main Trail here. Mrs. Adkins had spent the preceding night, or most of it, away from home, it was said, and this was given as one of the reasons for their quarrel.

John Crum, 10, and her cousin, Dottie Jean Crum, 9, both nieces of Adkins, told authorities of the quarrel between the couple. Police gave this as the version of the tragedy told by the little girls, and county authorities said this was, in effect, the statement made by the children before them.

Adkins was angry because his wife had stayed away from home, Sunday night. She said, "I can take you and show you where I stayed. I stayed with Maude Dye. Come on, Adkins, come here and see. If you see, I'll kill you." Mrs. Adkins replied, "Well, I'll not go." Then two shots were fired.

The children were quoted as saying, also, that Adkins locked the rear door of the restaurant before the shots. They said both Adkins and his wife were drunk.

The husband told police his wife had been trying to kill him for a week and that she had a pistol and a knife.

Franklin Moore, of the Arnold Funeral Home, where the body was taken, reported to Sheriff A. E. Meade, shortly after Mrs. Adkins' removal to the mortuary, that he had found a butcher knife in the kitchen of her dress. The knife was given to Sheriff Meade, who said there was mustard on the blade.

Policeman Gray said that when he entered the restaurant, a few steps ahead of Chief Lafferty, Adkins was standing over his wife as she lay sprawled on the floor. "I got set the gun," Adkins said after Lafferty had arrested him, but the officer told him he would attend to that detail. The officers said the revolver had three loaded cartridges in its chambers and that three empty shells were on the kitchen floor.

The Adkinses, former residents of Allen, had operated the restaurant here for the last several months. The couple had no children. Adkins was previously married and one son, now here, is a member of the armed forces.

Mrs. Adkins was a daughter of Jack Williams, a former resident of this section but now of Corona, California. She is survived by two brothers and two sisters, Everett Williams, Pittsburg, Pa., Victor Williams, Delta, California, Mrs. Agnes Lockwood and Mrs. Gertrude Crowbridge, both of Corona, California.

The body is at the Arnold Funeral Home. The funeral was held this afternoon (Thursday) from the Arnold chapel, the Revs. G. R. Parrain, J. E. Johnston and Mrs. Core Johnston officiating. Burial was made in the Adkins family cemetery on Arkansas Creek.

Funeral arrangements of Adkins may be held Friday.

for them to hitch a car or truck on the highway above. Meanwhile, others tried to dive and extricate the veteran from the interior of the car. The car lay with two wheels showing above the surface of the water.

The tragedy occurred approximately midway between the mouth of the cove in which the dock is located and the Tandy Stratton Branch. The car plunged into the lake at 6:30 p.m. and Meade's boat was not recovered until 40 minutes had elapsed.

Artificial respiration administered immediately and later for a long period with the resuscitator of the Prestonsburg fire department, likewise was in vain.

The child, it was said here, had wandered from home, following other children to the river where they were fishing. Soon the tot was missed and frantic search was begun. Body of the child was found, almost two hours later, floating in the backwater where a small branch runs into the river. The body was rushed here, and again the fire department resuscitator was used for a long period.

The lake victim is survived by his father, Henry Meade, and one sister, Mrs. Bess McGuire, of Detroit, Michigan. He was with a medical detachment of the 15th Infantry during World War II, serving from March 19, 1943 till Nov. 11, 1945. His funeral was conducted Wednesday afternoon from the Meade residence, the Revs. H. C. Church and Oscar Robinson officiating. Burial was made in the family cemetery.

The child-victim of drowning is survived by the parents, one brother, John Gordon Belcher, two half-brothers, Billy Ray and James Edward Osborne, and one half-sister, Mary Lou Osborne. Funerals were conducted Sunday from Horn Chapel, the Revs. Woodrow Branham, L. P. Tunney and Harold Dooly officiating. Burial was made in the Branham cemetery.

Funerals and burials of both victims were under direction of the Arnold Funeral Home.

IT'S A GOOD WORLD

BY WILMAY

(Opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect those of The Times.)

Rhetoric and Roy May, two of Ziegler and Philby's line, dropped in one evening and Rhetoric looked cute in pants and shirt as Snow White had in white organdie. "Hi, Rhetoric," I said, turning to Roy. "I argued, 'That's meant for you.' He looked at Libby Ree and grinned, and with the spontaneous May will said, 'I thought you said she's white!'"

The May humor at the house was being worked overtime lately with the Better Half adding the life of the weaker one over the amusing episode, which was less funny at the time. He says I owe an apology to Johnnie Hall, the ambulance driver, for cursing so much on route, every time the dejected wife refused to come to mind. (The Times editor should have been along to fill in) Eg pardon, Johnnie, but not guilty in my right mind! Any occasion will so testify. Not much telling what a body will say when nervous, delirious, or confused believing in the power of making that journey, not that you could ever prove it by me. But they said you had been out all night and then, instead of going, when told your patient preferred you to a stranger as chauffeur.

The whole shebang pointed into insignificance the moment we read the account of Robert Voegler's seventeen months imprisonment, in Hungary. Those mealy (catch that one, Mr. Editor), seventeen days are downright pathetic in comparison, not worth mentioning, except to describe, later on, more of what goes on in such places.

Shirley Stewart, Moseleto Patton and Emma Tallent, all from my Nursery Mothers group, were by my side along with lovely girls and boys to say their prayers and to pray. We too on the hill brought lovely bouquets of gorgeous wild flowers in the customary style of one of the hardest aspects of a long recuperation.

Some of the Boy Scouts came by and were so enthusiastic about the coming camp at Lake Dewey it took one hour to chisel out about the time in. One sweet, little, bright youngster present cannot go, for made red and uniform, it was learned through a reliable Scout channel. Two dollars are now on hand, soon as some one takes hold to make the total what is needed. How about you, Herb? Some good writer once said, "It is better to build boys than it is to repair men." Quite true.

What a treat to run into Bola Cottrell from Winchester, "other day in Pruneh while I rested in the car and let E. R. write up the grocery list. Bola was on the Maytown high school debate team in 1928, with G. Allen, Lee Dyer and Graf Flannery. The McVary-Haugen Bill was the topic. If my memory serves correctly, anyhow, she was a grand student and got called home to Maytown last week when her mother, Mrs. Will Webb, had a heart attack. Glad Mrs. Webb is improving nicely.

They say Ed Gearheart, of Salt Lick, who has been bedfast about six months or more at the Beaver Valley hospital, following a car wreck and serious spine injury, is going home in a few days. Ed, ashamed to admit never having dropped by his room, because we did not know him. This recent personal experience shows that acquaintance makes little, if any, difference.

Hoping to have something new and good for the column pretty soon, but waiting to get permission first.

It's a jolly time of year, with so many kids coming home from school or for vacation with Mom and Dad.

The Gunn gals never failed to do things in twos. Just as E. R. was thinking to wire Sister Gladys out in Evans, about coming to head the nursing class of keeping Mom in bed plenty for several weeks, since Sis is the official Nurse of the men here, here came her message saying she had her gall bladder removed last Friday, to pray for her. Seven years ago laid fall when the "moby," Dr. Werthammer, Viennese pathologist, calls the pests, were first identified, and we needed his mind 'cause the war almost prevented anybody from getting special nurses. Sis came down for another major operation.

Ballied men of the Continental Marines wore green shirts, green coats with red facings, breeches light-colored cloth, woolen stockings and round, green hats with white linings.

AN OPEN LETTER TO ALL ORGANIZED LABOR IN FLOYD COUNTY:

Every active Union man in Floyd County realizes the desperate fight Organized Labor in Kentucky, including both International Union and District Organization of the U.M.W.A., waged in the last three sessions of the Kentucky Legislature for the enactment of a law to improve the state's mining laws which included the much discussed Mine Safety Bill.

During the last two sessions of the Kentucky Legislature the Kentucky Coal Miners lost the fight to secure passage of the State Mine Safety Law and absolutely no improvements were made in the mine laws because of the successful fight of the Coal Operators who wielded terrific influence with the political powers that be in Frankfort and defeat of the Miners' efforts to pass a law that might have prevented many miners from being injured or killed while working.

The last changes made in the Mine laws were made with the active support of Bill Biggers who worked with Sam Caddy, president of District 29, U.M.W.A., and other representatives of the organization. Through these combined efforts deplorable changes were made.

Mr. Biggers sponsored a law requiring Coal Operators to erect dust their mines, thus preventing such disastrous explosions as Straight Creek, Ky., and Mr. Biggers supported a bill to increase appropriations for the schools of Kentucky which meant more pay for teachers.

Every Floyd citizen knows of the ardent support of Mr. Biggers of a bill to bring to Floyd county one of the Tuberculosis Sanatoriums that were started during his term in the Legislature.

In view of the above facts we believe that the coal mines in Mr. Biggers' district should take an active part in securing for him the nomination and election as Representative from his district.

We also ask that each Local Union write Mr. Caddy and Mr. Ramey asking their active support in directing the campaign in behalf of Mr. Bill Biggers.

We believe that Mr. Biggers can truly represent the mountain people and can help the miners out in their future problems in the Kentucky Legislature.

Why?

The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company has just released an attractive and informative brochure which is intended to show industrialists the opportunities which lie in Eastern Kentucky and other places served by the C. & O. Railway.

The thing which strikes us most forcibly is that, of all the area served by the C. & O., none is so barren of processing industries as this Eastern Kentucky area. It would be interesting to have the railway company's view on just why this section, rich in the natural resources necessary for production of the "finished article," is by-passed by such industry.

We have stated what we think are the reasons, but the C. & O. might throw new light on the matter.

Don't Blame the Lake

Folks are blaming Dewey Lake for the tragedies which have happened there. Some are wishing it out of existence.

We regret very deeply the loss of three lives there. We make no attempt to minimize the terrible tragedy of death. But we ask all and sundry if they have ever thought US 23 or Route 80 or any of the other highways which have taken a terrific toll of human life--sometimes, simply because somebody was drunk or somebody operated a motor vehicle recklessly or carelessly--should be eliminated.

Man has been given the highways, the air and the water for thoroughfares. None of these is perfectly safe. Nor is the matter of taking a bath without its dangers. Tragedies will continue to occur whenever people live, particularly where people congregate.

If every automobile or boat operator will stay sober and if they all will consider the rights of others to life and the enjoyment of life in safety, Dewey Lake and all our highways will take no such gruesome tolls.

POWER-PACKED -and then some!

There are a lot of reasons you can expect a new GMC to keep hauling a lot longer than any other truck you can buy.

First is the fact of horsepower. Whether it's a gasoline-powered 1/2- to 2-tonner with horsepower unbeaten in its class, or one of the new heavy-duty Diesels—you can't beat a GMC for "go!"

But the extra value you find in these great trucks doesn't end at the power plant.

There's the smooth GMC Synchro-Mesh Transmission linked to a sharp-shooting drive line, pouring every ounce of power back to the rugged rear axle. And the solid wavy horsepower becomes wheel action—you know right there's extra depth of truck performance—engineered right down through the broad-shouldered frame of a GMC!

And standing guard over these long-time trucks are husky brakes with more area than most—the surest, easiest steering ever devised to direct a pay load home—all controlled from a spacious "Six-Footer" Cab that's Weatherscald for a lifetime.

GMC's are made in the widest variety of engine-body-chassis combinations to meet any trucking need. And the prices? No better buy anywhere! Come see for yourself.

Get a real truck!

Jest Among Us
By Jack Wink

I had noticed the sign of the 4-Paw Hotel in London on numerous trips through that progressive little city and had wondered why this wacky inn should be so named. But not until my latest excursion into Kentucky's hill country did I stop to investigate.

The 4-Paw Hotel is small but picturesque. Upon the lobby walls hang paintings of wild animals, and across the heavy frame of each picture are iron bars behind which the caged beasts appear to be pacing restlessly to and fro. At the entrance to the dining room a small white-haired woman perches on a high stool at the cash register, greets the incoming customers, and tells them in a friendly way to just sit down anywhere.

Her name is Mrs. Johnny Shropshire, and she is proprietress of the 4-Paw. The Shropshires—husband and wife—traveled with circuses for three years before settling down in Laurel county in 1946. It was only natural that they should identify their hospitality with the big-top and 4-Paw tent of a circus.

THOUGHTS AND THINGS: Kentuckians have a yen for naming places after the furry beasts. Bruno (Bill) county, Buffalo (Laurel), Fox (Estill), Hare (Laurel), Hippo (Perry), Porcupine (Daviess), Wild Cat (Cass), and Wolf (Carter), for instance. . . . Students in the University of Kentucky College of Law come from many different schools throughout the nation—83 institutions in 16 states during 1949-51.

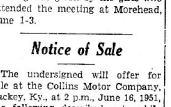

Maybe you can't live on love, but can you think of a nicer way to take your life?

Capt. Kephart Reports For ATC Mobilization

Washington, D. C. — Capt. Cecil L. Kephart, USAF, Hagerstown, (Ind.) Chamber of Commerce member and owner of C. L. Kephart Real Estate Brokerage, has reported for a 15-day mobilization assignment with the chief pilot's division of headquarters Military Air Transport Service (MATS), here. It was announced this week.

Captain Kephart is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leslie Kephart of 801 South Potomac St.

An alumna of Hagerstown High School and Johns Hopkins University, the Maryland officer first entered the service in 1942. He is a veteran of World War II duty with the Air Transport Command as a "Hurry" pilot in the China-Burma-India theater. He returned to inactive duty in 1946.

His present assignment, MATS, is a world-wide air route command composed of personnel and equipment from both the Air Force and Navy. It is supporting UN troops in Korea with an around-the-clock airlift of cargo and personnel to the Far East and the air evacuation of American wounded to U.S. hospitals.

Captain Kephart is married to the former Dorothy Ann Hubbard, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. I. C. Hubbard of Auxier, Ky.

The State Fair Trade law on whiskey prices received a temporary hit a few days ago when the U. S. Supreme Court held contracts made to fix prices between retailer and distributor were void. Attorney General A. E. Funk said at first that "apparently" Kentucky's law had been knocked out.

After receiving the formal text of the opinion, Funk recanted, held the law not touched, and State Alcohol Beverage Board officials warned whiskey dealers to continue compliance with Kentucky's forced markup law—fifteen per cent by wholesalers, thirty per cent and one-third per cent by retailers over the cost of the product.

Clyde B. Allen
Pledges a Progressive Legislative Program

I am fully aware of a fact which the people have learned through experience with political promises—and that is this: One man, one Representative in our State Legislature, cannot correct all bad legislation and get enacted all the good laws we need.

And so, as a candidate for the Democratic nomination for Representative from the 96th District (Magisterial Districts 1 and 2 of Floyd county), I promise only the things I can do and work for in an earnest, energetic and intelligent way. This work we need, on the county level as well as the state and I submit it as my program:

1. A progressive school system with higher salaries for the teachers and school administration personnel, which is not only justice for the teachers but also necessary in order to keep in Kentucky the type of women and men needed as teachers.
2. A vital road program—not only maintenance and improvement of existing roads but also new roads to serve neglected communities.
3. A constructive health and welfare program.
4. Legislation for the benefit of those who work in one of the most dangerous of all occupations—coal mining.
5. An increase in pay for the aged and dependent children. A mere pittance is not enough for these helpless people in times such as these when living costs are doubled.
6. Full support of all legislation to better the lot of the farmer.

As Representative I will work and vote for constructive legislation in the interest of the people, not for any special interest to the detriment of the public. I will study all bills carefully, consider what they mean to the taxpayer and the ordinary citizen, act strictly on my judgment and refuse to be dictated to by selfish interests.

Aggressive effort on the part of your Representative can be of real help to Floyd county as well as to Kentucky. I pledge my best, and on that platform solicit your support.

Sincerely,
Clyde B. Allen

TOMATO BLIGHT

Do you remember what happened to your tomatoes last year when we had lots of cool damp weather? If you do and don't want the same thing to happen this year some preventive steps must be taken.

Once blight gets established there is very little you can do about it. To control blight it is necessary to keep a coating of "copper" on the plants. This is best done by using a wet spray of either Copper King, Copper A, Cuprocid, or Cupro. K. Wet sprays are easier applied, give better control, and are much cheaper than dusts. To get effective control by using dust you need power equipment.

The best spray program to control blight is to start now and spray them every week or ten days. It is necessary to spray this often in order to have some copper on new leaves that develop.

In addition to "controlling late blight" this spray program controls early blight. Early blight differs from late blight in that it does not kill the plants quickly. Early blight causes the fruit to be small and the plants die early in the season. Even if there was no danger from late blight it would be profitable to spray for early blight.

THINGS TO DO

Plant sweet corn June 15th and 20th.
 Plants beans June 15th and 20th.
 Plant cucumbers, squashes, cantaloupes, and watermelons.
 Set late tomatoes.
 Set late cabbage, Wisconsin all seasons.
 Step up fight against insects.
 Control weeds.

Answers to America's need for power

There's twice as much electricity available to our customers as there was nine years ago. But America's need for power—to produce for peace and defense—is still increasing.

Here are four big answers to that vital need—the kind of answers that really count. They're the four newest power plants on the American Gas and Electric Company System, of which this, your power company, is a part. Two of these plants are already in operation.

These four plants now being built or expanded will boost the total capacity of the AG&E System by 1,400,000 kilowatts between 1951 and 1953.

Of this, 450,000 kilowatts is coming into service this year, another 350,000 kilowatts in 1952, and 600,000 the year following, to bring the total system capacity to 3,739,000.

You can measure the benefits of this power in several ways: in terms of preparedness, job opportunities, or better living. Use what yardstick you will, the AG&E System is integrated, interconnected. So the benefits of this new power will be available and felt throughout the whole seven-state area this company and its AG&E affiliates now serve.

ESTIMATED 10,000 ATTEND BREAKS O' SANDY DEDICATION

THIS TREMENDOUS CUT through solid rock is one of several major engineering feats necessitated in the building of the new Breaks of the Sandy road in Pike county. A cooperative project with Kentucky and Virginia Highway Departments building sections within the respective states, the road is expected to become a well-used avenue of tourist and commercial travel.

An estimated 10,000 attended the dedication Sunday of the Kentucky-Virginia highway into the Breaks of Sandy area.

Construction of the three-mile Kentucky section of the new Breaks in Pike county is considered one of this state's most difficult engineering tasks. Highway Commissioner W. F. Curdin said thousands of cubic yards of solid stone was included in the necessary excavation which carried the road into the side of the cliffs.

Three miles of guard rails have been installed. "In making vertical-cross-sections our men were suspended by heavy belts and ropes from the tops of the mountain," Mr. Curdin said. "Though the present surface is little bound macadam, a high type surface will be placed just as soon as the base is stabilized and the traffic court justifies. Counts now being taken by both the Virginia and the Kentucky departments indicate that hundreds of tourists are already being attracted to the pinacles of the 'grand canyon' of the Sandy."

In February, 1950, Virginia Chief Engineer C. S. Mullen met with Kentucky State Highway Engineer Dwight H. Bray to perfect the plans for completion of this section of route 80. Virginia started operations on 3.5 miles of road from Heydi, Virginia, to the Kentucky State Line on May 5, 1950, while Kentucky awarded its first contract for 3 miles from near Eikhorn City to meet the Virginia road in July, 1950. Virginia has expended, to date, $200,000 while Kentucky's cost thus far has been $204,000.

Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby of Kentucky and Governor John S. Battle of Virginia headed delegations from both states who gathered at the Breaks to celebrate the completion of the new route. Sunday, U. S. Senator R. C. Clements and Congressman Carl D. Perkins were included in the Kentucky contingent. Other Kentuckians were W. P. Curdin, Commissioner of Highways; Emerson 'Doc' Beauchamp, former rural highway Commissioner; Kelly J. Day, chairman of the Kentucky Breaks of Sandy Association; Dwight H. Bray, state highway engineer; Henry Ward, Commissioner of Conservation; Russell Dyche, president of the Kentucky-Virginia Highway 80 Association.

The Virginia delegation included M. M. Long, of St. Paul, who acted as master of ceremonies, General J. A. Anderson, chairman of the Virginia Highway Commission; Chief Engineer C. S. Mullen, and others.

Study To Be Made Of Legal Procedure

FRANKFORT, Ky., June 14 — A thorough-going study of all phases of Kentucky legal procedure is being undertaken by the Kentucky Judicial Council to the end that remedial steps may be taken to improve judicial administration, Amos H. Eblen, Council Secretary, has disclosed.

Eblen explained that the Council is studying all phases of Kentucky's judicial procedure, in the hope that the next General Assembly will act to remedy any defects that may be found.

"The study includes what the Courts are doing, how well they are functioning and what can be done to improve them," he said. He added that it was hoped that out of the survey being made might come intelligent answers and suggestions on remedial measures.

New suits filed in the circuit courts far exceed the number that are disposed of by these bodies, which makes for congested dockets.

He pointed out that last July there were 3,944 pending cases in the circuit courts of the state. From July 1 to October 1 there were 10,089 new cases filed, while only 7,252 were removed from the dockets by trial or dismissal.

"These figures clearly show," said Eblen "that our court dockets are congested and that the trial judges have been unable to keep abreast of the new cases filed."

Floyd County Historical Notes

By HENRY P. SCALE

Years ago, Floyd contains, in order, large apples on which to "nibble" through the winter, "hollow" them in the earth, somewhat in the manner of the "holer" today. Not all varieties were good "keepers," but among the best for the purpose was the Black Limber Twig and the Mose Meade.

Both varieties are no longer set out in home orchards to any great extent; in fact, the Mose Meade is practically extinct. In the South of Floyd and in northern Pike county, where the Mose Meade apple was once considered a farm necessity, it is no longer cultivated and is fast disappearing. In its day it was a great apple. When immature it was very green but as maturity neared, it suddenly turned a deep yellow. Very firm in flesh, it had an aroma exceeding any other apple and would "keep in the hole" long after the Yule-tide season.

It had an interesting history. A tenant farmer, named Brickley, brought it from North Carolina and planted it on the farm of his landlord, Mose Meade, at or near the mouth of the Sonny Clark Branch of Little Mud Creek. It was only a seedling, but Brickley evidently had suspected some superior qualities derived from the mother tree, back in North Carolina; for he had packed the young tree in moss and brought it to Kentucky for planting. It is not known when he first planted the young tree, but, staying one year only, he had dug it up and carried it to replant on the Mose Meade farm. Brickley stayed a year or so on this farm, and the young tree thrived. After the expiration of his leave, he prepared to "move again" but by now the tree was too large to move easily or with assurance of success in transplanting. Mose Meade offered his remaining tenant one dollar for it and the offer was accepted.

For a few years the tree grew and finally bore fruit. Finding in its fruit the answer to the long need of a "keeper," it was grafted from Meade and sprouts for grafting were given to others. For years it was called the Brickley Tree, but after Meade began to propagate it people conferred upon it the name of the Mose Meade Apple. It carried several grafts to a farm on Hurricane Creek, in Pike county, and from there the tree spread out over an extensive area in northern Pike and southern Floyd.

A great tree but like the old Anna Apple, named for Anna, the wife of Col. Harry Stratton, it is headed for extinction.

Ernest Akers, the "Older Creek" horticulturist, who is himself a Meade descendant, is planning a graft from the old tree, and preserve it for those who have a nostalgia for days gone by and taste for fruit that was good when grandfather was a boy.

Speaking of the Meades reminds us of a tradition, handed down about Big Rhodes Meade. If tradition is reliable, he was indeed "big" weighing, it is said, over three hundred pounds. This is perhaps an exaggeration but that he was truly a very large man is stated by all of his descendants. This weight was not mere fat—it was sinew and strength, too. He became to his descendants and to others the Paul Bunyan of early Floyd.

One very old and now-living Floyd Scotland, who certainly is not known for tall tales, relates that Big Rhodes slew a bear with his hands and without the assistance of any weapon. Quite a feat, if true.

But one story told and related because it contained an element of humor was about Meade's wrestling. He had become the acknowledged champion of Big Sandy. There had hidden up to the gate a man who introduced himself as a wrestler from Missouri. He had heard of the big man, even in Missouri, and had come to offer a challenge. Big Rhodes accepted eagerly; but, first, he said, the Missouri must accept his hospitality. The horse was taken to the barn and fed.

While in the hall of the barn Meade indicated to his challenger a barrel of whiskey nearby, with a gourd hanging on it to invite the thirsty. The Missouri drank a drink into the gourd and drank his fill. He then offered the gourd to Meade. The big man brushed the gourd aside and with his mighty arms brought up the Gold In The Hills...

Again we say there is gold in the hills and valleys of Floyd and adjoining counties. It is not the bright shiny metal we once knew, back in "the good old days," but rather in the form of medicinal roots and plants growing wild in this section, and well-known to the hill folks.

Now is the time to earn spending money for the whole family, and while our government is stockpiling material for defense, large quantities of drugs are also needed. These supplies are growing right here at home; you do not have to go to Michigan to find this gold.

We especially need the following:

Slippery elm bark, May apple root, blood root (puccoon), wahoo bark of root, wild ginger, wild lettuce, black cohosh or rattlesnake, anglicia root, snake root and many others.

Prices on most of these items are much higher than last season, so why not get the children some "sang hoes" and let them make some money.

All roots and herbs must be thoroughly dry.

NEW YORKER NEWPORT

It's always interesting to hear about future-looking experiments with new super engines to run on new super-octane fuels...someday. But it's even more interesting to hear today's real life, on-the-highway talk about Chrysler's new super-performing FirePower engine. FirePower takes any regular grade gas you care to buy... and adds its own new mechanical octanes to the power-giving octanes of the gasoline itself. The result is 180 horsepower performance such as no other passenger car built in the U.S. today can equal.

If you haven't driven Chrysler FirePower yet, your Chrysler dealer invites you to do so now. It's the most revolutionary engine in 27 years. It offers highway satisfaction and safety such as you've never known. And it's a sounder engine other ways than any other on the road. Its new design keeps it almost completely carbon-free. It is smooth and quiet... but also rugged and strong and free from need for great attention and repair.

Now remember that this same new Chrysler offers you the new Hydramatic power steering... plus the amazing new rugged road stability of Offroad shock absorbers... plus Water-Proof Ignition, and Vacuum-Base Chrysler Cyclonoided super-brakes... then come see what we mean when we say the car of your tomorrow is right here for you to drive... today, and for years to come!
