Her bridal bouquet was of white carnations with an orchid in the center arranged in a white Bible. The father of honor wore a black figured silk print dress with black accessories.

After the ceremony a reception was held for the relatives and a few close friends of both families. Immediately following the reception, the bride and groom left for Cincinnati.

RESOLUTIONS

Whereas, it has pleased Almighty God in His infinite wisdom, to call from earthy labor to her eternal home on high, our beloved sister, Mary Davidson Allen, on July 25, 1951, and whereas, in her passing, Miriam Rebekah Lodge No. 31 has lost her last charter member, ever devoted to the principles on which our Order is founded; the family a devoted mother, whose most enduring memorial is written in the hearts of those who walked with her and loved her; the community a good and much-loved woman; therefore, be it Resolved that a copy of these resolutions be spread on the minutes of this lodge as a permanent memorial, a copy be sent to the Floyd County Times for publication on dear Sister, life as it was. Has not been lived in vain, but sheds an influence, rare, divine in lives that have remained bright. Edith G. Hendrick, Goldie Banks, Garnet May, COMMITTEES.

WithAL A GREAT GUY The Georgia Farm Bureau News is the origin of this piece which is given and comes out even at the end of the year. Nobody knows how he does it. He doesn't even know himself.

A farmer is a man who starts out with nothing, loses on everything and ends up with a few scraps of land. That's what he is. The smartest man would start, but not the farmer. His wife wouldn't let him starve, he'd make more of the scraps whatever she has.

Anyone looking over his farm would think the smartest man in the world would starve trying to feed it. That's what he is. The smartest man would start, but not the farmer. His wife wouldn't let him starve, he'd make more of the scraps whatever she has.

Is the world's greatest optimist. He believes that the fact that he has a few scraps of land, he can continue to the end. He buries last year's disappointments with the spring plowing and lives for the future. His faith is not in himself alone.

Mr. Remus Pratt, Washington, D. C. served as best man. Uthers were Mr. Gordon Hines, Elkhorn, and Mr. Kenneth McKiff, Lexington.

Mrs. J. B. Clarke, mother of the bride, wore an ice blue dress with jeweled buttons, black accessories and a corsage of pink asters. Mrs. Fugate's mother of the groom, wore a navy blue dress with a corsage of gardenias.

Farm NEWS and VIEWS
By HAROLD B. RICE, Floyd County Agent

CONFINEMENT PAYS
Confined chickens outlay their wandering cousins. This has been known for a long time by commercial poultry growers. Now farmers with small flocks are beginning to learn that hens that live on grasshoppers and June bugs don't lay enough eggs to pay their keep.
Records that were kept for several years proved that hens that were confined produced more eggs and made more clear money. The confined hens produced 193 eggs each, while the wandering hens only averaged 163 eggs. The confined hens cleared seventy cents more per hen than the non-confined hens.
A great majority of flock owners in this county don't practice confinement because they don't keep hens for profit. They only want eggs and meat for home use. Too often the eggs cost more to produce than it would cost to buy them. By keeping hens confined only about thirty hens are needed to produce all the eggs an average size family needs.
Confinement permits disease and parasite control. For example, pullet flocks that mingle with contaminated hens and run in the yards where poultry has been running for years came down with colds and other group diseases in the fall of the year. It has been found that necks that have been separated from older hens and raised in confinement seldom have yaws disease.
Fresh air and exercise are also thought by some to be good for the hen. Yet, it is known that a hen bred to lay does not have a lay bone in her body and does not need to take that extra exercise. The hen that runs down the bug she dies up the worm usually forgets to go back to the hen house to lay.

T/SGT. TUCKER AWARDED GOOD CONDUCT MEDAL. HQ. 15TH BOMBARDMENT WING, GUAM, M. I., June 5, 1951.

Sgt. Archie R. Tucker, husband of the former Leora Hill, Hippo, Ky., was recently awarded the Good Conduct Medal at a Far East Air Force Base in Guam.

The Good Conduct Medal is awarded to men who have shown exemplary conduct for three consecutive years of service. Sergeant Tucker is also the holder of the European Theater Ribbon with four battle stars and the Bronze Star Medal.

Sergeant Tucker is working as a warehouse supervisor. His organization is one of the many important factors of the Korean Support Program with the Far East Air Force.

Sergeant Tucker enlisted in the Air Force in July 1949 and prior to his present overseas assignment in February 1951, he served at Warner Robins AFB, Ga. During World War II, he saw duty in England, France, Belgium, Holland, Germany and Austria, then returned to the United States in September, 1945.

A detailed study of the record of wars from 1400 A.D. forward offers a scientific basis for the belief that maximum war activity recurs in cycles of about 22 years. Important periods of international conflict may thus be partially predictable. If past tendencies continue there is reason to believe that a maximum number of international battles may occur in the late 50's.

If This is the Law—Change the Law!

If the decision of Circuit Judge William B. Ardery, of the Franklin circuit court, stands unchanged, making a recount in a state election possible only if the campaigning candidate can afford to, and will, pay the expenses of a statewide recount, then there's another way, according to me done by our legislators on Kentucky's election laws.

It is quite probable that Judge Ardery correctly interprets the law. But there is something wrong with a law which permits anything to go into the record, unchallenged. And that, in effect, is what the law, as interpreted, does: for only a rich man, or some quixotic individual willing to risk all his resources, will ever question the results of a state election if the ballot boxes of all the 120 counties of the state must be transported to the candidate for counting at the candidate's expense.

So it is that if you can get the tabulators in enough counties to count for you, and enough election commissioners to go along as accomplices, the figures will stand, regardless of what the ballot boxes contain.

So it is that a county like Logan can be certified as giving the Rev. T. Herbert Tinsley a super-grand-total of 5,209 votes to 49 for his nearest opponent, George Glenn Hatcher. This machine politics such as Floyd county never knew stands without challenge, under the protection of Kentucky law—if Judge Ardery's concept of the law is correct.

George Glenn Hatcher is the present Secretary of State. He is a veteran of the political wars, and is well-known to the voters. He polled majorities in four counties around Logan. So it simply does not follow that only 49 persons in Logan voted for Hatcher while 5,209 remembered Tinsley from Warsaw in northern Kentucky.

Judge Ardery is not to be blamed for his interpretation of the law. Kentucky is to be blamed for permitting injustices to stand uncorrected through the protection of the law.

To our untechnical and unlegalistic way of thinking, the law should be changed to permit a losing candidate the right of recount of any number of counties, with the privilege granted to his victorious opponent to look into the ballot boxes of the counties where the loser piled up a suspiciously high vote.

People have shown a tendency to join churches in greater numbers at nine-year intervals, a study of church membership records over the past 120 years indicates.

The churches represented by these membership studies include the Presbyterian, both North and South, Methodist, Congregational, and Episcopal. However, it is believed that these cycles apply generally to nearly all Protestant denominations.

IT'S A GOOD WORLD

BY WILMA Y

(Opinions expressed herein do not necessarily reflect those of The Times.)

The very intensity of "Snake Handlers," by Reba H. Mayo, takes our breath. No wonder the painting is hanging in New York, for weeks in a Lexington exhibit and later in Lexington. It has something indescribable.

Betty Martin, Garrett, and Sallie Hatcher, Pikeville, demonstrated an oven meal, cooked by electricity, in the home of Mrs. Wayne Hagans, so efficiently every mouth present watered far ahead of time.

Mrs. Lon Hill, of Prestonsburg, chairman of the County Chapel Speakers Service, lives up to her job of being the niece of Judge Florence Allen, and her energetic young husband is equally convinced.

Maytown is lucky to have Mrs. Maude Hagans supervise the lunchroom, because of her extensive experience in this line. She will be ably assisted by Mrs. Raymond Hobson.

Our boss, in Chicago, made the family a present of "Mr. Jones, Meet the Master" by the late Peter Marshall, chaplain of the U. S. Senate. One chapter, entitled, "Keepers of the Springs," is worth the cost of the book.

Despite the bad season for flowers, Mrs. Mary Flower Show will not fail, with Moseleste Patton, Erma Tallent and Goldie Osborn at the helm. Mary will come just to hear the music and the morning program on Flowers and Gardening.

While serving as a model recently, little Bettie Heaman kept lowering her head. "Dred, Bred?" someone asked. "No, I'm not, but my head is," the seven-year-old solemnly replied.

The Maytown Woman's Club goals under the enthusiastic leadership of Shirley Stewart, are out to incorporate the town, which once held quite an advantage over several communities that have since surpassed it in growth. When one notes the progress of these communities following their incorporation, we think of short-sighted citizens who opposed previous moves to incorporate Maytown.

The wholesale cheating at West Point proves every school curriculum should include Character Building as a routine part of the lowest through the highest grades. Human nature never gets too old to yield to temptation.

Young Dr. Micholek in South Dakota, must have felt tempted to cover up the mistake he made of giving the wrong drug to two test patients, who died from the resulting toxicity. Hearts go out to him because he was honest enough to admit his error, when he could have removed the wrong drug and left another in its place, to hide his guilt. He chose wisely by doing the right thing, confessing, doing everything possible to save those two lives, instead of committing to clear himself. The fact that he refused to count what it might cost him in a professional sense entitles him to mercy from God and man.

It will be a privilege to hear Rev. Henry Mahan, of Birmingham, in the Martin tent revival again, through August 31st. He is about as dynamic a preacher as one can find.

Ran into Rebecca Roberts, of Martin, and her sister, Nora Belle. Brought back the old days when they used to attend Maytown High, with Jennie and some others now gone on. Rebecca said many wonder what to do to get into the Wilma column. Now she knows—just be plain people! Trouble is there are more folks than news space, Beckie!

We had a genuine treat in the form of a brief visit with Mrs. Alice Lloyd at Pippas recently. Someone should "do" her for the Digest, under the heading, "The Most Unforgettable Character of Our Time." Perhaps no educator has done so much for Eastern Kentucky as Mrs. Lloyd. Despite her years, she is still devoted fifteen hours daily to her work, and likely will to the end. The new county Development Association should page Mrs. Lloyd to speak on education for a county-wide meeting. Few are so well qualified to give the past, present and future of our schools.

A Little Wait—or a Big Compromise!

Standard equipment, accessories and trim. Illustrated are subject to change without notice.

If you have a Cadillac on order—or if you are giving thought to placing your order for one—we want to talk frankly with you about the matter.

There is, of necessity, some delay in delivery of new Cadillacs. You have to wait a while to get one—the time depending somewhat upon the model you select.

Naturally, you are being urged to purchase other makes of cars—which can be had almost as soon as your signature is on an order blank.

For the sake of your own welfare, we hope you will turn a deaf ear to all this—and hold firm.

If your order for a Cadillac is already in—let it stand, and be patient until your car is ready.

If you want a Cadillac, but haven't yet ordered it, do so at once—so the delay may be as short as possible.

It is a simple choice you have to make. You must choose between a little wait—or a big compromise.

You must make this choice because there is no substitute for a Cadillac.

There is no substitute for the deep world-wide respect in which it is held—

—there is no substitute for its marvelous over-all performance... so smooth, so quiet, so steady that to drive is to relax and to ride is to rest—

—and there is no substitute for the sheer joy of owning and driving it, so great that you will actually think up excuses for taking to the highway!

If you want a Cadillac—stand firm until you get it.

There is nothing else like it—nothing in all the wide, wide world that can take its place!

TIDBITS OF KENTUCKY FOLKLORE

Western Kentucky Teachers College Bowling Green, Ky.

"IN THIS MOUNTAIN"

Everybody, I suppose, has a favorite passage of Scripture. My favorite, in many ways, is the account of Jesus at the well in Samaria, where he reveals to a woman, not a very good one, either, the strange, new wonder of his message. In her quaint phrase she asked Him where God is. Her people had a separate temple from the one at Jerusalem as a simple soul she was puzzled. If God dwelt only at Samaria, then the God at Jerusalem was false, and vice versa. The woman, quite naturally for that time, supposed that God dwelt only in "this mountain," the location of the temple of the northern Jews. In language as simple as any parent ever explained a great idea to a child, Jesus told this woman that God is everywhere, that divinity pervades the whole creation, that wherever there is a human being, close by is God. Whether the simple woman actually comprehended this revolutionary doctrine it would be hard to say, but the marvelous insight of the impressive man who spoke to her made her know that he was unusual in his knowledge. It has taken the world a long time to catch up with this simple lesson taught at a public well no longer used.

The idea that, only in certain places and at certain times do great events take place is hard to deny. All of us give lip-service to the idea that genius can and does arise anywhere, but it still seems worth while to watch for it. In certain places and to ignore them if they appear elsewhere. We live in a state that still fears that certain areas have produced most of our best and will continue to do so. Even when greatness appears elsewhere, it is likely to get little notice or to be connected by some underground channel with the areas that are supposed to have the best blood. The thing about this that irritates me is that many people who know better allow themselves to be drawn into this sort of old-time belief that only "in this mountain" can great things be done.

The passing of the neighborhood church or schoolhouse or even store is in many ways a sad event, for it ends a period when the remotest place seemed to have its own right to be. Small places are expensive places, to be sure; but we must not forget, in the expansion of the big towns and cities, that little Tidbits and Podunks have often contributed their humble share to the body politic. When the community really takes to a common center, their accumulated hopes and aspirations, then the consolidated school or church is a gain, not a loss. But too often the local leadership takes over, and the leaders from remote places have to take a second place in the new set-up. One of the difficult problems of our times is this putting to use the complicated energies and accomplishments that the small place brought into the larger whole. Merely standing back for fear the old days will vanish is not enough; destiny faces toward the larger unit; it is our business to see that most of the virtues of the small neighborhood have room to flourish in the larger one.

State pride, regional pride, and all similar things may be virtues or vices. It is refreshing to meet a Wesierner, from some state that has sprung up since the times of the early colonies or even the states in the Mississippi River valley. Without being offensive, these Westeners are proud of their country, are walking delegates representing their area. It is especially pleasing to sandwich in a few of these new people with some from farther east who never allow you to forget their remarkable ancestry. Fortunately, my part of the country has many ancestors, other than recognizing that they are necessary evils. Once in a blue moon I meet a fellow who has introduced a dozen ancestors in a ten-minute chat at the bus station or the chain store. Rarely does this chat of great blood seem to have wondrous exceptional wonders in my own time. Emerson had a word for it: "Blood is blood that circulates."

Before me lies a list of figures, the 1950 census of the Jackson Purchase counties, which have lost an average of a thousand people per county in the last ten years. How easy it will be for the people down where I used to be to talk glibly about the greatness of the area when it was more densely populated, when every crossroads had a school, when there were country churches by the dozen! And how sensible it would be to remind my relatives and ex-neighbors that there still exist in their own little mountain as many chances for greatness as existed in more populous days! The area still has the same majestic boundaries, the same location on the map.

McCoy, Last of Family Taking Part in Feud, Dies

Pikeville, Ky., Aug. 17—Jasper McCoy, 84, said to be the last founding member of the McCoy clan, died yesterday at his home in Zebulon.

As a boy too young to take a shooty part in the feud, he is supposed to have kept his family posted on the movements of the Hatfield family. His uncle, Randolph McCoy, was the leader of the feuding McCoy's.

Jasper McCoy later worked at lumbering, hauling logs to the Big Sandy river by ox team and floating them down to Gallatinburg in rafts. After marriage, he settled in the mining community of Zebulon, near Pikeville, as a merchant and farmer.

The funeral will be Sunday at Zebulon. Five children survive.

PROMOTED TO CORPORAL
WITH THE 7TH INF. DIV. IN KOREA—Robert L. Johnson, son of Mr. and Mrs. Logan Hicks, Garrett, has been awarded a combat promotion to Corporal for excellent performance of duty in Korean action. Johnson is a member of "H" Company, 32nd "Queen's Own" Infantry Regiment.

Between 1919 and 1939 residential building construction followed regular cycles, reaching a peak approximately every 33 months. The war years caused a distortion but the pattern resumed once more after the war.

Automobile sales figures from 1933, when the Duryea Brothers' first gasoline driven vehicle appeared, to 1950 show a definite six-year cycle. Of the thirteen highs and lows indicated all but one have come exactly on time or within a year and a half of perfect timing.

Industrial common stock prices have shown a cycle of approximately nine years in length from the present time. Ten waves of about 9 1/2 years are apparent in stock market prices since 1854. The next crest of the wave is due in the mid-50s if the historical pattern continues.

Miss Crowell Becomes Bride Of Mr. Nash on August 16

Thursday evening at 6:30 o'clock, August 16, at Calvary Baptist Church, Bluefield, W. Va., Miss June Ole Crowell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. C. P. Crowell, 312 Highland avenue, became the bride of Mr. Paul Peyton Nash, son of Mr. and Mrs. G. B. Nash, of Bluefield, Va., in a double ring ceremony. The Rev. H. H. Mouch, pastor of the church, was the officiating minister.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, and her sister, Mrs. Wade Hodges, as her matron of honor, and the bridesmaids were Misses Betty Hatcher, Bluefield, and Betty Spangler and Patricia Dunn, of Petoskey.

Mr. Nash was escorted by his brother, Mr. Alvin Nash, as best man, and serving as ushers were Messrs. Wade Hodges, brother-in-law of the bride; Ray and Jack Nash, brothers of the bridegroom; and Litz Armbrister.

Little Susan Carter, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James Carter, Prestonsburg, Ky., served as flower girl, and Master Stephen Melcher, son of Mr. and Mrs. George Melcher, as ring bearer.

For her marriage the bride wore a traditional wedding gown of white satin, fashioned with fitted bodice, and full skirt ending with train. The gown was trimmed with Chantilly lace at the sweetheart neckline and to edge the sleeves which ended in points at the hand. The lace also extended around the graceful flowing train, while two insertions of the lace were used in the long full skirt. She wore dainty white lace slippers lined with white satin and trimmed in forget-me-nots.

Her three-tiered full-length veil of imported net was caught to coronet of seed pearls in pattern of hills-of-the-valley. As her only jewelry, she wore the strand of pearls which had been worn by her mother, and her sister, Mrs. Hodges, at their weddings.

She carried a cascade bouquet of white roses, centered with orchid and showered with satin streamers and stephanotis.

Mrs. Hodges, the matron of honor, wore in a strapless gown of white lace and net over pink tulle, modeled with close bodice and long full skirt, with bustle effect at the back. About her shoulders was a stole of the material.

She wore an old-fashioned tonnet of pink net and matching mitts and carried an arm bouquet of deep pink roses, tied with matching ribbon.

Gowns of white lace and net over tulle, modeled on identical lines with the matron of honor's costume, were worn by the bride's other attendants.

Little Miss Carter wore a long frock of pink organza over tulle, and old-fashioned bonnet of matching organza. She carried a gaily basket covered in pink organza, and from which rose petals were strewn in the pathway of the bride.

A program of nuptial music was provided by Miss Dorothy Ayers, at the organ, and Mrs. James Carter, Prestonsburg, Ky., soloist. Miss Ayers program included "Ave Maria," Schubert; "Will You Remember?" (Romberg); and "O Perfect Love." During the ceremony, she played "To a Wild Rose," by Macdowell. Mrs. Carter sang "The Cause," by d'Ardelet, and "The Wedding Prayer," by Dunlap.

The wedding was solemnized before an altar formed of palms, chrysanthemums and gladioli, and tall candles in high candleabra. White satin ribbons designated the reserved pews.

After the marriage, there was a reception at the home of the bride.

Mr. and Mrs. Nash left for a honeymoon trip to Virginia Beach and other points of interest, the bride wearing a knee length dress, with matching coat, and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

Upon their return, they will reside at 105 Reynolds avenue, Bluefield, Va.

The bride was graduated at Beaver High school, and at Bluefield college, where she was a member of Phi Theta Kappa, honorary fraternity. She was later graduated at Concord college, where she belonged to Delta Sigma Upsilon sorority, and was graduated with 85 degree in secondary education. This fall, she is to teach at Tazewell High school.

Mr. Nash is a graduate of Graham High school, class of '47, and later attended Bluefield college. He served one year in the United States Air Force. He is employed now by the Farm Bureau Insurance Company.

Out-of-town guests for the wedding included: Mr. and Mrs. A. C. Carter, Mr. and Mrs. James Carter and Mr. and Mrs. Leo Carter, Prestonsburg, Ky.
