THE MENARD PRISON

THE MENARD PRISON, which is the largest of its kind in the world, is situated on the banks of the Ohio river. It is a large, imposing building, and is surrounded by a high wall. The prison is a place of confinement for criminals, and is a place of hard labor. It is a place of suffering and pain, and is a place of despair. It is a place of hopelessness and of death.

FLOYD CASTS FEWER THAN 4,000 VOTES

In Dullest Primary In Years; Clark Gets Congress Nomination

With only one countywide race attracting voters to the polls last Tuesday's primary was perhaps the dullest known in this county within a generation. Less than 4,000 ballots were voted by members of both parties and one Floyd precinct, Hen Hall, the election officers were not interested enough to open the polls.

The Democratic pulled 3,169 votes in their only race of countywide stature while the Republican party, with Mayor Charles Clark, Prestonsburg, its candidate for Congress and opposed by three others mustered only 694.

The countywide race on the Democratic side of the house was warm enough to stir up some interest. It was won by Carter, the present Governor, over Mack Harmon, Carter polling 2,122 votes to 828 for Harmon. Honnie E. Dickerson appeared on the ballot with two others but he had withdrawn in favor of Carter.

Mr. Clark got all 30 of the 624 votes cast by the Republicans in this county, and he was an easy winner of the G. O. P. nomination to oppose Congressman Carl D. Mack, incumbent for Seventh district, seat in the national House of Representatives next November. J. M. Morrison got 23 of the Floyd vote, C. Tom Hawkins 18, and Elmer C. Roberts 9.

Congressman Perkins had no opposition. The count of the Floyd vote was completed in short order Saturday night.

The first Magisterial district race among Democrats for the unexpired term for Constable David Clark was won by Jewell D. "Stinky" Fitzpatrick in a field of three. He polled 600 votes to 400 for Constable, Burner Burdick, and 195 for Senator Thomas R. Underwood. The race was won by Cooper and five others but he was opposed by others as he had lost in West Virginia. He has already lost in the election for white Sheriff, Sheriff Wade said.

Early last week the Dewey Lake race was marred by Sheriff's deputies taking a year's bid for the county. The race was marred by Sheriff's deputies taking a year's bid for the county. The race was marred by Sheriff's deputies taking a year's bid for the county.

Two Prestonsburg cab drivers were fined and one arrested for driving a two-year-old child whiskey, arrested by Deputy Martin Marlin and Napier; Paul Cooper, Donald Watkins and William B. Centers, arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Frank Crum, John Holton, Al Patton, Ed Ambury and Hall returned to Indiana to face possible felony charges; H. D. Reed, drunk driving and no operator's license, arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Frank Crum and Sheriff Al Patton; Sam Salisbury, possessing beer, drunk driving and resisting arrest, arrested by Deputy Sheriffs Al Patton and Rease Marcum.

WRIT ACCUSES IVEL WOMAN

Widowed Mother of 5 Says She Is Slander Victim of Neighbors

Brought here for questioning on a warrant accusing her of concealing the birth of a bastard child, a 29-year-old widow and admittedly the mother of five children Wednesday maintained that the 42 residents of 1st St. who had been accused of alleging her guilt had cruelly slandered her.

"I wouldn't have thought I had an enemy in the world who would do a thing like that," the accused woman, Lucy Osborne, of Ivel, told Commonwealth's Attorney Harris Martin, Commonwealth Detective Alex L. Davidson and arresting officers.

And Davidson, Constable George H. J. Depp, constables J. P. Rice and Deputy Sheriff Frank Crum had no tangible proof of her guilt after they had made a search of her home and the surrounding grounds for evidence that a child had been born and its body secreted there.

Moreover, the woman's sister-in-law, Grace Mulkey, who was named in a warrant charging her with aiding and abetting, said she had heard the story told by Mrs. Osborne in every detail.

Yet Mrs. Osborne would not submit to examination by a physician. "I'm studying this all over and get over my mad spell I may," she said. Her questioners reminded her that she could not be forced to submit to examination but that if she innocently the test would prove she had been unjustly accused.

The body drowned after diving at a Burlington swimming place. Witnesses expressed the belief his death was the result of the pool. The body was recovered 20 minutes later.

The victim was a son of Heart and Nellie Shepherd Campbell, former residents of Hippo, who have resided in New Jersey the last five years. Surviving besides the parents are four daughters and four sisters: James Roy, David, Joey, Vina, Edna, Violet and Anna. Laura Campbell, all of Burlington, N. J., and James Campbell, of Hippo, and his maternal grandmother, Mrs. Della Hale Shivers, of David, are present.

She got too hot carrying wash water from the river about a week ago, two aspirin tablets, and the Monday after the Saturday in question, she said, she was able to go to the store and postoffice.

'Rusty' To Demonstrate Skill at Annual Fish Fry

Now 18, 'Rusty' Reed (shown above) has had his first prize in the gold-plated Henning casting rod and reel.

The cool drag, a morning feature of the all-day event will be sponsored by the Floyd County Game Club's fish fry at Allen on Sunday. Two black was so popular that he is being returned for the club's 10th annual fish fry at Allen on Sunday.

A modest youngster for all the publicity and recognition his shooting has earned him, Rusty specializes in moving objects. Watch him go about pulverizing a target before it hits the ground or toss two eggs between his legs and to his rear, then whirl and burst them in mid-air, and you will begin to get the idea.

Officials of the game club announced this week it is making a gold-plated Henning casting rod and reel. The club at that meeting voted to contribute $100 toward expense of a bait-casting tournament which will be held in the county and the Mountain Anglers at the national casting tournament in Peoria, Ill. this month.

BOARD VOTES TEN CHANGES IN WORKERS

Bus Drivers, Janitors Affected; Denies Moore Request for Contract

The Board of Education made six changes in its list of school janitors at its Tuesday meeting. With the changes to become effective after drivers and janitors previously employed had worked one month.

The board had hired bus drivers and janitors before expiration of his term as Superintendent, but their contract was on a month-to-month basis. In most cases, Superintendent Virgil O. Turner said, they employed were understood and approved changes as possible were made.

At the same time the board dealt with another matter which may find its way into the courts for a final decision when it rejected the request by Gordon Moore, Prestonsburg, to be school supervisor under the new administration, for a continuing contract as a teacher at his previous salary.

Miss Harwood, Don Hutchinson, Elias Adams, John Young, Willard Stephens and Dewey Wallen were hired as bus drivers, supplementing other drivers. They will take the places of Tivis Reynolds, Scott Howell, Lee Owens, Jerry Harvey, Walter Porter and Press Farver.

SEARCH MADE FOR ROBBERS

Off Three County Stores; Hall's Store Safe Taken, Magistrate Suffers Loss

At least two men and possibly four are wanted for questioning in the robbery of three general stores shortly after midnight Sunday, August six, this week.

Magistrate lost this week three hundred dollars when the three men, known as Bill Hall, farmer deputy sheriff, whose store was carried off by the burglars, along with several cartons of cigarettes. How much cash the safe contained has not been learned here.

Other stores looted were those of Magistrate Edgar Howell and John Hallist Harold. Howell's loss was a small amount of change, cigarettes and canned goods. John Hall's loss included a cash register and a safe. Sheriff A. B. Meade and deputies and Commonwealth's Detective Alex L. Davidson and excellent fugitives were found at the stores and they expressed the belief they would lead to early arrests.

While Steele, Jr., service station at Harrod, told of having been called on during Sunday night by men who are believed to have committed the three robberies. He said to borrow a auto jack-handle which they took to their car, a 1930-1934 or 1947 model Oldsmobile, parked at a and pit a short distance down the highway. They did not return the jack-handle but drove past the station to a point near the home of Ex-Magistrate Dewey Roberts, above Harrod, and tumbled. The car was gone. Steele said about 40 minutes, then roared down the highway with a high speed. The jack-handle was found outside the window of Magistrate Howell's store. It apparently had been in pry-like iron grating, protecting the window.

On God's Coattails?

FEW who have stopped to analyze political effusions have failed to notice that at election-time all the boys are anxious to jump on God's bandwagon for a brief ride till the voting is over. Few of the speakers at the Republican and Democratic national conventions failed to use His name as a rallying cry and most of them wailed till late in their speeches about the greatness of God. As they soared to empyrean heights of oratory they invoked the higher power, not as a deep, unifying theme, but by way of climactic effect.

Fine and humble as Democratic Presidential nominee Stevenson's acceptance speech was, it had one glaring weakness. His reference to the agony of Christ as descriptive of his reluctance to assume the great responsibility of leadership ("Let this cup pass from me") was as a literary effort bathos and a poor parody. After the Republican convention had had its innings of invoking divine power, and as the Democrats prepared to do likewise, The Christian Century vigorously blasted this hypocritical "On God's coattails" in an editorial.

The politicians who are always looking around for a place on which to ride into office are leading in platoons on the trailing garments of Divinity. Men not previously known for piety and sanctity have suddenly become profane and profuse in their public references to God. Others who seldom darken the doors of a church openly identified themselves and their causes with religion. Scriptural references came unexpectedly in addresses, and sometimes the holy name of God is mentioned in the body of a political speech. Invariably it appears at the end. The speech-writers' union must have ruled that a conclusion which invokes the name of deity simply cannot fail to bring down the house.

Perhaps we ought to be grateful that the funeralists are getting all this attention, but it makes us sad and a little sick. Nobody doubts that many men in political life are as good and sincere Christians or Jews as anybody else and that they have a right to express their views. Such men are entitled not only to respect, but to support and encouragement. But the churches do have valid cause for complaint over the exploitation of religion for political ends. It was never so evident as in the present campaign. Too long this exploitation has been tolerated as just another peculiarity, like baby-sitting, of the politicians on the prowl. But these times are too serious for that. Even more important, it is wrong to treat true faith in God as if it were something that is worn once in four years, like a campaign button. It is either far more than that, or it is an offense to heaven.

Part of the trouble is that both parties are in the grip of public relations experts. Once a public relations expert has spotted a trend, all his fellow practitioners rush to join the procession. Religion, say the trend-spotters, is becoming more popular. Its influence might be decisive in a tight election. So there will be no escaping the political exploitation of religion in the next few months unless the churches rise up and call a halt. Both parties have many men who often employ the language of faith to serve their political aims. President Truman does it frequently, but he is not alone. In the recent Republican convention, Chicago saw an attempt to put over one candidate by tireless identification of his "Onward Christian Soldiers" played over and over by hired bands. In another demonstration, it saw men carrying signs: "God and MacArthur." In the Democratic convention that is opening as this paper goes to press, we expect to hear one speaker after another call upon the name of the Lord. The religious leaders who are asked to do the praying at the conventions seem to have entered, with few exceptions, into the conspiracy to exploit religion for partisan purposes. They know they are selected with care, as they should be. But what is the purpose of the program committee which is so anxious to select men whose devotion and spiritual stature are so unmistakable that their prayers will be heard by God, so to the convention will be invited to give divine guidance? Or is it to choose men from churches having in their ranks the largest number of votes? The roster of the cardinals, bishops, rabbis and other clergymen who were asked to lead in prayer answers that question before it is asked. Do they agree with the politicians that God is on the side of the heaviest voting battalions? Their prayers indicate that they do. Were these politicians really addressed to God, who judges the heart and is not impressed with windy intercessions? Were they talented as if they were political speeches, to the television audience? The length and especially the substance of many of the prayers indicate they were designed for human, and not divine, ears. So the candidates will go down in history as the political assemblies which occasioned the most eloquent prayers ever addressed to empyrean heights of oratory they invoked the higher power, not as a deep, unifying theme, but by way of climactic effect.

It is the duty of the churches to bear witness to God. In an election year, it is their job to protest when His name is taken in vain. Somebody has to stand up and point out that He alone is sovereign, and that His rule covers all mankind and all ages. God is not a Republican, much as that assertion may dismay the voters of Maine and Vermont, or a Democrat, even though that may be disbelieved in the Solid South. He is not even an American, although as it may seem to say it, and it is just possible that he thinks no more of the "Star-Spangled Banner" than he did of the battle cries of the Philistines or the war whoops of the Navajos.

KOREA BLUES Across the river from Japan Korea is the spot. Where we are doomed to spend our time. In the land that God forgot. With rice mummies and honey buckets. Where a man gets mighty blue, Three thousand miles from everything and you. We sweat, we freeze and shiver, It's more than a man can stand. We're not supposed to be convicts, Just defenders of our land. We're soldiers of our country Earning our monthly pay. Guarding people with millions For two and a half a day. We're living with our memories, Waiting to see our girls. Hoping, just hoping, they don't marry our pals. Nobody knows we are living, Nobody gives a damn; Our lives we have forgotten— We belong to Uncle Sam. The time we spend in Korea, At home we are forgotten— Boys, don't let the draft board get you, And for God's sake don't enlist. When we get to heaven, "St. Peter," we will yell, "We're soldiers from Korea, We've spent our time in hell." Written by CPL. WILLIAM C. RAY Co. P. 15th Inf. Regt., 3rd Div. Miss Kentucky of 1950, 2 Others from County Pass State Bar Exam

Three Floyd countians, one of whom, Miss Mary Louise Osborne, of Wheelwright, was "Miss Kentucky" for 1950, were among the 93 persons who passed the Kentucky bar examination held in June. It was announced Saturday by Joseph E. Richardson, Glasgow, president of the State Examining Board.

Others from this county to pass the test were Farmer County clerk, Jarvis Allen and Charles M. Tackett, both of Prestonsburg.

Miss Osborne and Mr. Tackett were graduated in June from the University of Kentucky law school. Mr. Allen received his degree at that time from the University of Miami (Fla.), and was admitted to the Florida bar.

Tackett and Allen are expected to practice law in Prestonsburg, although the former will probably do a hitch in the armed services first. Miss Osborne, it was reported here, may teach temporarily.

Others from Eastern Kentucky to pass the bar exam were two West Liberty men, Thomas M. Davis and Lawrence Rose.

You Can't Buy Freedom... BUT YOU CAN Sell It!

Vote-buying is a violation of the law. Vote-selling is also a violation of the law. You wouldn't sell something very precious to you like your child, would you? If a man sells his vote he sells something as precious as his own child—his freedom.

Vote-buying and selling is as reprehensible a practice as ever fastened itself upon any body politic. Democratic votes to exist when mass vote-buying becomes a general practice. With mass vote-buying demagogues and the "well-fixed" financially take over the offices that should be the free gift of the people.

Buyers and Sellers are equally guilty in this reprehensible practice.

choice of experience "My range looks so good," says Mrs. Birge, "it is hard to convince my friends that it has been in use 16 years."

During 39 years of keeping house Mrs. E. C. Birge tried practically every method of cooking. Her last change, however, was she switched to electric cooking. Since then she has never wanted to change to anything else.

"I've cooked 3 meals a day for the past 16 years on the same electric range," says Mrs. Birge, "and it still cooks as good as it did when it was new. It's fast, accurate, economical, and foods taste better when cooked electrically."

Women all over the country are switching to electric cooking and finding it just what they wanted. You will, too—so why not make your next range an electric range? You'll find new terms to suit your budget.

MINGO-CO. WHITE OAK TREE SPROUTED IN YEAR 1356

Big timber men conjure up the story of the white oak Mingo landed in the West Indian sea...

old when Christopher Columbus visited the West Indies. The very name, "Horton Creek" makes us reasonably sure that the oak grew in the path of the treacherous waters of the Mingo...

There is no written record to say when the Mount Baldies disappeared from the American scene, it seems possible that the great oak was a sturdy young sapling when these people were manufacturing their marvelously sculptured effigy pipes, woven cloth, their ornaments of bone and shell and rough pottery.

It is difficult to realize just what that 579-year-old means. The Mingo oak sprang on a hillside on the Trace Fork of Pigeon Creek in what now is Mingo county in the year 1356. At that time the low, raking valleys of these fierce savers, the Norsemen, were plying back and forth between Norway and Greenland.

The big oak may have attained its ultimate majestic height when Governor Berkeley of the English colony of Virginia sent the Leader on three westward expeditions in 1669-70. A year later Fur Trader William Wood had sent Thomas Batts and Robert Fallam from Petersburg, Va. They claimed to have discovered the New River and descended it to what must have been the mouth of Gulpie in the falls of the Kanawha.

Perhaps some of the buckskin-and men who marched with Lewis to Point Pleasant may have passed the Mingo white oak. Later on, some of these frontiersmen may have moved by the Trace Fork and Pigeon Creek to join the backwoodsmen who exterminated the British under Colonel William Campbell at the Battle of King's Mountain under the guidance of Jack Sevier.

Cadillac

You Can Whisper—and Be Heard!

We should like to have you come in for a ride in a Golden Anniversary Cadillac. And when you do, we hope you will just sit back and relax... and listen!

And what will you hear?

Well, you'll hear the soft sound of the wind as it slips past the streamlined body... and, possibly, the quiet ticking of the electric clock.

But aside from these—you'll hear almost nothing. In fact, you'll find you can actually whisper—and be heard by your fellow-passengers!

We want you to experience this because nothing speaks more eloquently or more convincingly of motor car quality than—silence!

It tells you, first of all, that here is automotive engineering at its superlative best. For such silence of operation can only come when every phase of the car's performance is in perfect harmony.

It speaks of precision—for only the greatest accuracy in design and construction can result in such remarkable freedom from vibration.

It is a testimonial to fine craftsmanship—to quality materials—and to scientific styling.

And, of course, this marvelous quiet foretells many of the pleasures and satisfactions you would enjoy as the car's owner. It promises rest—and relaxation—and peace of mind... and a minimum of upkeep expense.

So why not take our suggestion—and come in and drive this beautiful Golden Anniversary creation? Let it tell you its own wonderful story through the things you cannot hear!

Passion Pageant Board
Begins Work for 1953

Martin, Ky., Aug. 4 (Sp.)—The board of directors of the Passion Pageant met Friday evening, with Mrs. E. R. May presiding. The resignation of Mrs. Ollie May as secretary was accepted, and Mrs. E. R. May was named to succeed her. Mrs. May remains on the board.

At a previous meeting the board had voted to make the Pageant countywide if other communities responded to the invitation to participate, as more characters are needed. Since only two communities sent representatives to the meeting called for this purpose, this move was rescinded on motion of Dennis Hall, who stated that he would give the Pageant in 1953 alone. The Pageant will be called The Mountain Passion Pageant.

Mr. Holbert was appointed chairman of the committee on Constitution. Dr. Wade Mahood was appointed to purchase postcards and Christmas cards of pageant pictures. It must be stated here that the Mahood Drug Store had no profit in handling Pageant pictures. Their services, like those of others, were free. Charles R. Marshall was appointed to contact Standard Oil about featuring the Pageant in the scenic South. Reports were made on recent publicity, several newspaper articles and various states, and one in The Pipeline, June issue.

Foreword and dedication of the Pageant booklet, nearing completion, were read and approved. This issue of the booklet will be dedicated to the good people of Floyd county who make its publication possible. A special vote of thanks goes to Scott Craft, of the Vanhose Lumber Co., West Prestonsburg, for his generous donation of lumber, etc.

Directors will meet each Tuesday at 7 p.m., in the Methodist Church. A call meeting for Friday, Aug. 8, at 6:30 on the Pageant grounds was announced to the board members, to study plans for stage settings.

Special emphasis was placed on programs on International Relations, American History, Legislation and the Federation. Hostesses and program leaders were selected at this time. At the conclusion of the meeting, Mrs. Hardwick read a card from the editors of American Magazine inviting the reading of an article in the August issue of American, entitled, "Louisville Battles the Belgic," by Vance Packard. Chandler, Miss Alice Williams and guest, Mrs. Clyde Blackburn.

PROGRESS.
...call DIXIE!

MUSIC to Southern ears! The hum of busy factories, crowded stores and streets. The ring of saw and hammer. And more than 26 million telephone calls a day!

There's another cheerful sound—$8,000 Southern Bell men and women busy providing you and your neighbors with the most and the best telephone service in Dixie's history. Service that vital to the Nation's defense—service that keeps you in touch with others 24 hours a day... speeding your business... enriching your home life.

TELEPHONE growth is a striking example of progress in today's amazing South. During the 10 years from 1940 to 1950, the South's growth in telephones was more than twelve times its growth in population. In the first 6 months of 1952 alone, we added 139,250 new telephones. Floyd County Historical Notes

By HENRY P. SCALF

The following letter from Inez Baisden Livingston, of Loyall, Harlan county, is so full of information that it is being passed on to the readers. The many Lane dates may be of benefit, especially to those who have been trying to untangle the relationship of the early Lanes (Layne) and the Southwest Virginia Shannons.

"Thank you very much for the Mead history. I have copied it all and am enclosing your original copy. In working at the Scott county courthouse on our livingstone family, I have found some miscellaneous items about the Meads recorded there. I do not know if all of these items are of the same family but two of them certainly are. They are: Rhodes Mead married Sally Richardson Oct. 7, 1828, marriage book 1, page 32. Moses Mead married Drucilla Marshall, Dec. 25, 1832. Book 1, page 47. William Mead and Susannah Salvers married Sept. 22, 1833, according to the rules of the Baptist Church, Marriage book 1, page 140. Isabell Mead married Joseph Salinger, March 11, 1832, Marriage book 1, page 44. Married by William Willis.

James A. Rhodes married Susanna Bellamy March 3, 1839. He was from Hawkins county, Tennessee, the son of Wm. and Rosanna Rhodes. Marriage book 2, page 9. Hayward Rhodes married Sallie Carter Feb. 3, 1873. He was from Stokes county, N. C. He was 20 and she 19 years old. He was the son of Joseph and Catherine Rhodes. Marriage Book 2. Unless otherwise named all of the marriages above were performed by Nathan Richardson, deputy clerk for John M. Henry, clerk of Scott county, Virginia.

Scott county would have been the last place I would have looked for any record of the Meads.

As I mentioned to you once and you probably don't remember, my husband's great-grandmother was Elizabeth Lane. We knew little more than that until yesterday. We visited a cousin of his who remembered this Elizabeth Lane. She told us Elizabeth had a first cousin named Shannon Lane. This was too much coincidence so we drove out from Gate City, Tenn., a few miles to the old Shannon Lane homestead. Three of his children lived there. They did not know their father got that name but said their Lanes had originally come from England. They had an old family Bible of their great-grandfather and I copied it. I feel sure there is a connection with the Layne family. Perhaps you can see it more readily than I. I am also sending you a copy. We know little of William and his wife, Miss Shannon. Perhaps this is something.

Children of Abraham and Katherine Lane: John R. Lane, born July 20, 1803; Abraham T. Lane, born September 16, 1806; Samuel W. Lane, born May 8, 1808; Joseph T. Lane, born March 22, 1810; Squire J. Lane, born Jan. 23, 1812; James H. Lane, born July 8, 1814; Margaret Lane, born Dec. 15, 1816; Jones W. Lane, born Sept. 29, 1818; Joseph P. Lane, born April 3, 1820; Katherine Lane, born Nov. 4, 1821; Frances Lane, born April 19, 1822; William D. Lane, born June 15, 1825; Martha Lane, born June 25, 1827.

All of the above were included in the Bible. I copied it exactly. The above mentioned Joseph T. Lane had a son whom he named Shannon Lane. Squire J. Lane married Barbara North and when he died she married his brother Abraham.

Thanks again for letting me copy the Mead paper and if I can be of any help to you in any of your work let me know. We get to Gate City and Jonesville quite often in our "digging" and I see a lot of Floyd county names—Willis, Richardson, Osborne, etc.

Yours truly,
INEZ LIVINGSTON
