SEZ HE
Fearing that a married gal of his acquaintance may have low blood pressure, he is repeating a paragraph quoting Prof. Lowell S. Townbridge of Boston U., who declares American boys are loving married younger and younger, simply because they're too lazy to work. Mind you, it was Townbridge, not Lowbridge, who said that. To quote him: "How much easier is it to slip into a hammock, put on the persimmon, push down the taster, kiss her sweetly, and then go to the after-breakfast cigarette and the morning paper?"

THEY'VE HAPPENED
We hasten to press with the story of the two countries which quarreled and quarreled.

"You're a jackass yourself," came the reply.
Then, after an endless round of jabs, with some other diplomatic caustic thrown in for good measure, both up and started quacking, both on each other.

"And that's how they made jackasses out of ourselves."

MORE NAME-CALLING
Looks like it's going to be a hard year on the name-calling front. Reports that a wasp-like insect—only it's black and is three times bigger—is following Kentucky right and left in all these places and is eating them up from their front door and there nearly piling them up on a plank. In broad daylight.

Being a little rusty on his Hesiod, Myrtos, etc., Fred called on the group of scientists always hanging around this office for identification.

"Japanese beetle," he pronounced. "Wrong," said "we differed."
"Well," demurred the boy, "it was the worst thing I could think of to call the wasp."

"We were surprised. Thought he might have called 'em Democrats."

TEST AT LAKE NOT CHEERING

Rough Fish Numerous,
Bass Few, Is Report
Following 2nd Test

The summer's second test of Dewey Lake made this week to determine its fishing possibilities again failed to disclose the presence of bass in large numbers.

The Clark Branch inlet of the lake was poisoned, and many fish had risen to the surface by Wednesday morning, after they had been treated. But the search for bass again was disappointing. The Times was told.

The first test, made late in June in the Goble Branch area, showed a heavy percentage of rough fish. The latest test brought more crappie to the surface than ever before, there was the usual large number of bluegill, but said predominated.

ACCUSED MAN
FLEES ARREST

13-Year-Old Girl Says
She Was Raped; Others
Facing Morals Charge

Valis Prater, Middle Creek man, was sought in vain this week by county officers after a 13-year-old girl of his community had reported he had raped her.

The girl submitted to an examination, but the letters she mailed to her father were not established. Authorities indicted the charge against Prater would be changed to that of detaining a minor against her will.

Ray Hicks, who with a second girl was car-driving with the 13-year-old and Prater on the night of the alleged offense, was arrested Tuesday and surrendered to answer to a possible charge of being a conspirator in the crime. He was admitted to bond.

Another morals case involved a white woman, listed at the jail as Sylvia Mae Bays, and a negro, John Milton, who has not been arrested. The Bays woman executed bond, Monday.

In yet another case Janis Layne and Sonias Hicks, who were arrested by Deputy Sheriff Owe Ousley and Serge Daniels, were fined $62.50 each by Magistrate M. C. W. Adams. Others arrested for major offenses during the week:

Lamon Robinson, drunk driving, arrested by Deputies Ambrey and Compton; Farmer Perkins, improper driving, arrested by Compton and Ambrey; Jesse Ramsey, drunk driving, arrested by Deputies Harold Jones, chief of detention, arrested by Deputy Sheriff Al Pearson; Ranel McKinney, false promise to a woman, arrested by Frank Crum, John Hopson and Hall.

TWO CONFESS STORE BREAKS

Men Arrested by FBI
In Charleston Admit
Looting Three Stores

Arrest of two men in Charleston, W. Va., Monday by agents of the Federal Bureau of Investigation in connection with auto theft solved the recent robbery on a single night of three Floyd county stores.

The two, Oliver Lee Justice, Pikeville, and Lynn Elroy Hough, Brookly, Mich., confessed they broke into the stores at Harold and Betty Layne of Magistrate Edgar Howell, Bill Hall and John Hall.

Arrested in three stores were made on the night of August 14. Bill Hall's store sale was taken by the looters and it had not been reported to the sheriff's office. The merchant has not given an estimate of his loss in cash and merchandise.

BOARD PLANS
3,500 FEWER
ON VOTE LIST

Purgation Boards Finds
One Precinct with 18
Dead on Voting Rolls

Two members of the three-man Floyd County Purgation Board estimated Tuesday they will clear the voting registration rolls of the county from 3,500 to 4,000 names of persons who are dead or who have moved to other voting precincts, counties or states.

As an example of the condition of the registration lists, they pointed out that on Monday alone they received returned notices varying which had addressed to voters who are dead, and these 18 were on the voting list of only one precinct, Prestonburg No. 1. Although No. 1 is the county's largest precinct, the number of dead expected to be found on the lists of other precincts is probably high, members of the Board believe.

Floyd county's voting registration rolls now contain the names of more than 40,000 persons—more than half the county's total population.

The Board is enlisting the aid of county letters mailed to voters or the help of persons intimately acquainted with the residents, to procure lists of "doubtful" voters, and the letters are mailed to these registrants of doubtful status are notified that their names are listed for purgation. Then unless the person objects within five days, his or her name is dropped from the voting list.

County Judge Henry Stumbo is awaiting conclusion of the work of the Board, it was said, before splitting the precincts of the county so that no precinct has more than 300 voters, as required by law. He hopes to complete the work by September.

JAIL OFFICER FOR SHOOTING

Of Hicks at Martin;
Recovery of Victim Considered Doubtful

The town of Martin's only policeman, Hershel Lester, was a prisoner in the county jail here Wednesday afternoon after he had shot and probably fatally wounded Ed Hicks, 34, Martin store owner, with a bullet from high-powered rifle.

Hicks who was shot about dusk Tuesday evening just outside his place of business, is in the Beaver Valley hospital, Martin, where his chance of recovery was described as depending upon developments within 48 hours after the shot.

The rifle bullet entered Hicks' body two inches back of his right seam of his shirt and the same distance below the seam in the armpit and emerged near the center of the abdomen, between the two men and begged the officer not to shoot her husband. Lester then returned his gun to its holster, left the building and drove down the highway toward the business center of Martin.

After Lester's departure her husband, who was shot, was taken to a hospital and was standing there when a car, driven at low speed, approached. As it stopped and Lester emerged, armed with a rifle, Hicks ran toward his own premises. Lester fired as Hicks reached his yard gate and shot him in the chest near the corner of the house. At this second shot Hicks turned and lifted his hands in surrender.

When Sammie Hicks was interviewed, he said Hicks was unarmed, Davidson stated. Asked by the Times for his version of the shooting, Lester said he preferred to talk with his attorney first. He said he would probably make a statement, but would not comment on the case.

Sheriff's deputies gave this version of the shooting, which they attributed to Lester: Lester saw Hicks sell a man a bottle of whiskey and the officer,

HIGHWAY BIDS FORTHCOMING

Department Assures
Officials of Work
For Rural Routes

County Judge Henry Stumbo and Sheriff A. B. Meade were given assurance in Frankfort Tuesday afternoon that bids will be asked at once on improvement of two Floyd county roads and that construction bids on a third will be sought immediately after circuit court judgments against the county rights-of-way are filed with the State Highway Commissioner.

Highway officials promised the Floyd contains bids will be sought at once on blacktop surfacing of 5.3 miles of the Abbott Creek road, 2.6 miles of the Bull Creek road from Prestonburg to the forks of Bull Creek.

They said, however, that a new ruling requires that rights-of-way judgments be on file at the Highway Department's Frankfort office before construction bids will be asked on the eight-mile route from U. S. 23 at Harold up Prater Creek and across the Sammie Clark branch to the Little Mud rural route, thence to connect with the Harold-Low highway.

There are 67 parcels of right-of-way to be procured on this route, and settlements have been reached with all except six seven property owners. Judge Stumbo said approximately 700 feet of right-of-way were secured and County Attorney Woodrow Bruchett added that judgments should be in the hands of the Highway Department within 10 days. If this happens, county officials have promised advertisement for bids late this month.

135-Year-Old Home Here
Was Wilderness Mansion

The above house, constructed near Prestonburg in 1817 by Samuel May, stands as a monument to its builder who died in the California gold field.

The May home at Cliff is Floyd county's oldest Kentucky Home. Its style of architecture is Colonial, the preferred construction of the English founders of Kentucky who built the Williams Whitley House or the Old Kentucky Home that inspired Stephen Collins Foster to write his immortal music.

Samuel May, who built the Floyd county home in 1817, was born in 1783, the son of John and Sarah Phillips near John May, father of John May, was a Revolutionary soldier who after his marriage and the birth of two or three children, of whom Samuel was the eldest, came to Carter county, Tennessee, near the town of Roan's Creek. That was in 1798. He died he came to the present Pike county, settling on a shabby Creek. He lived in 1813.

Samuel May grew to manhood on the Shelby Creek farm and married Catherine Evans in 1808. She was born in Wales. It was his father-in-law, Thomas Evans, who built the first log courthouse for Floyd county near where the First National Bank in Prestonburg now stands. A month before the marriage of Samuel and Catherine this court-house, as yet unrecruited by the English founders, burned to the ground. The contents of the court-house, including the county fathers to pay for the burned courthouse, reason-ably with them that it was easier for many to assume the burden of the loss than for one to shoulder it all.

SUIT CLAIMS
BIG MILK BILL

Chappell's Says $33,093
Due; $25,000 Action
Filed in Harris Death

Chappell's Milk & Beverage Company, filed suit in the Floyd circuit court Wednesday to collect the largest milk bill known to accumulate in this county.

The company alleged that William and Paul Lyon owes it $33,093.47 for milk they purchased as distributors in Floyd and adjoining counties during 1929 and 1930 and that second action against the same defendants and Henry Lyon seeks to collect a $10,000 promissory note dated June 2, 1930 in the milk bill suit. The plaintiff claims William H. and Paul Lyon paid $90,863.55 worth of milk and dairy products during the three years and bought the company $57,889.47. Both suits were prepared by a law firm of Comb & Comb, Prestonburg.

Damages of $25,000 are asked of Wade Holbrook and his wife, Draxie, in a suit filed by Graham Burdett, administrator of the estate of T. J. Harris. The action grew out of the death of T. J. Harris, May 25 last, when he by a car driven by Edward L. Holliday, 1931, 23, near Emma, and carelessly and negligently operated of the auto are alleged.

Last week, damages of $1,000 were asked by William W. Allen of the East Kentucky Beverage Company in a suit claiming a soft drink bottled by the company contained a roach "of the kind of ale and that she became violently ill after it reached her mouth from a bottle of the drink she bought at Elkins' store in Frankfort, Ky., on Tuesday, Edward L. Allen, claims.

The Smalltown Boy Escapes Swindle Scheme
But City Slicker Succumbs to Lure of Money
Presented Him by "Poor" Mexican Prisoner

Before the Good Neighbor Policy reshaped the term of the common parlance, they were known as "Greasers," those Mexicans. Now, they are no longer, a few of them are busily greasing the palms a la expense of gullible Gringos.

Several letters have been received from the Mexico City, where the prisoners, each has told a tale of a poor prisoner having a huge sum of money "stashed away" where he was unable to reach it unless someone came to his rescue with some cash laid on the barrel-head.

Only last Saturday, Dr. George Archer, of Prestonburg, received one of these communications, this was indicated only a third was offered because the writer's "dear daughter" needed part of it.

The letter was saved from the postoffice wastebasket by the presence of a representative of this newspaper which Dr. Archer was reading it. This "small-town" doctor wasn't falling for the ancient "Spanish Prisoner swindle," but only this week the daily newspapers were telling the story of the New York City doctor of 40 years experience—a "city slicker," you might call him—who swallowed the bait, hook, line and sinker, went to Mexico City, met the men posing as prisoner and guard, put up $8,000 and left the hands of Manana a sadder but wiser doctor.

One consolation the New Yorker had, the $8,000 in tax deductible. One of philosophical advice he also got for his $8,000. The swindler wrote him a parting letter: "Do not become impatient, as calm is the solution for every difficult case."

UNITED FUEL WINNS RAISE

In Gas Rate But Falls
To Get Full Amount;
De Users $130,000

The United Fuel Gas Company, which sells gas to consumers in Lexington, has announced that it was granted a rate increase of $194,000 a year by the State Public Service Commission late Monday.

The $194,000 increase allowed the company will be used to cover the cost of the gas, which is sold to consumers in rural section of the county. The rate increase is to meet wage increases, higher cost of expansion and higher charges for gas it buys from the Tennessee Gas Transmission Company, which operates the gas lines through the towns of Betty Layne, Harold, Drift and McDowell and various consumers in rural section of the county.

The commission took the position that $194,000 would make United Fuel's gross revenue $1,504,708. It added that would enable United to pay its operating expenses at a rate of 1.23 per cent a year on the net original cost of its property which is used to serve Kentucky customers. The commission said it regards that percentage as sufficient.

United Fuel, a subsidiary of the Columbia Gas System, also sells the gas to consumers in Ashland, Chateaubourg, Greenup, Hindman, Inez, Louisa, Raceland, and their rural areas. In addition, United sells gas to industrial plants of Central Kentucky Natural Gas Company, but only retail rates were involved in the case.

Under the P. S. C. plan approved to date were announced by P. S. C. Secretary Lyle M. Wilson: last: 3,000 cubic feet, $1; next: 30,000, $10; next: 1,000 cubic feet, next: 20,000, 42 cents; next: 50,000, 40 cents; next: 125,000, 38 cents; next: 400,000, 36 cents and all above that 28 cents per 1,000 cubic feet.

This year the gas company asked the P. S. C. to approve an additional $100,000 a year, but under a 1932 legislative amendment to public utility statutes, the company could not post bond and add the additional charges pending action by the P. S. C.

COURT DOCKET
OF 125 CASES
UP FOR TRIAL

At September Term,
With Child Desertion
Cases Most Frequent

Child desertion is the offense which occurs most frequently on the docket of the September criminal docket term here—in fact, court records show that exactly one-fifth of the 125 cases listed for possible trial during the term grew out of that offense.

Although three murder cases are docketed for trial, only one of these, that in which EMT Hunt is the defendant in the killing of Jake Salsburg, may be heard. The other defendants are Willard Hughes, who was indicted in the slaying of Bert Shepherd near Hueysville, and Sid Goble, charged with the slaying of the wife of Wheelwright, Hughes' father. Billie Hughes, is now serving a 21-year term in the Shepherd slaying case.

One of the philosophical advice he also got for his $8,000. The swindler wrote him a parting letter: "Do not become impatient, as calm is the solution for every difficult case."

NEW CASES UP
TOTAL TO 12

In Floyd Polio Sweep;
County Is Now Classed
As The Epidemic Zone

With at least 12 polio cases officially reported and perhaps two or three more hospitalized but not yet reported to the Floyd County Health Department, Floyd county this week reached the epidemic stage of the disease, with more than 10,000 population.

Three new cases were reported from this county within the week. They are six-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. James R. Camelia, of Prestonburg; Denver Ray, eight-month-old son of Mrs. Max Fitch, 1411 1/2 E. 1st, and Bertha Hall, 13 months old, of McDowell.

These were classified as mild cases and not serious outbreaks of the malady in this county about the first of July has any case been classed as severe. All three of the children were taken to Morris Memorial hospital in Milton, W. Va. Numerous cases of severe throat, accompanied by temperature, have developed here and elsewhere in the county, and medical men suspect that some of these children may have suffered polio which will develop the dreaded paralysis.

Besides Floyd, seven other Kentucky counties have reached the epidemic stage, with Jefferson county alone having 212 cases. The state as a whole had 370 cases reported by August 11, and 25 counties in the last epidemic year, 1930, Kentucky had 225 cases reported by Aug. 11.

BOARD CALLS
13 INDUCTEEES

Draft Tempo Step-Up
Seen; October Calls
Will Induct 47,000

Next week will see 39 men ordered for pre-induction tests and 12 for induction in Floyd county it was revealed by Local Board No. 25, Wednesday. Those called for pre-induction examinations will report August 18 and the men called for final induction will appear August 21.

All of the August call-up for men born or after December 21, 1931, but as an indication the draft age is being gradually lowered through the month of September as the months younger, that is, born on or before June 30, 1932.

The lowering of draft age groups take 18-year-olds was indicated as a future possibility in Washington, Monday of this week. So far, no increase over the 30,000 and older are being called at present, but increased needs for man power may force Selective Service to turn to the younger category.

The stepped-up tempo of the draft was emphasized by a call Monday for 17,000 draftees in October—10,000 increase over the 30,000 men being called in September.

WOMAN'S BAIL
SET AT $4,000

After Examining Trial
Held Here; Neighbors
Appear As Witnesses

Mrs. Lucy Osborne, 29-year-old level widow, was held to $4,000 bond by County Judge Henry Stumbo at the conclusion of her trial Friday on a charge of concealing the birth of a bastard child, and faces possible Grand Jury action at September court term.

The charge against Grace Mulkey, her sister-in-law, who had been accused as her accomplice, was dismissed. Judge Stumbo as first set the woman's bond at $5,000, then reduced it to $4,000.

Testimony of five or six neighbors of the bed woman, mother of five children by her marriage to Earl Osborne, who died almost two years ago, was heard. All but one of these were women and the burden of their testimony was to the effect that they had seen her during her pregnancy prior to the birth of five children and that her appearance immediately before the trial was similar to that which they noted on other occasions of her pregnancy, and that after her July 23 illness her appearance became normal.

Mrs. Osborne, who did not testify at the hearing, told authorities last week that she had gained perhaps 10 to 15 pounds in weight and that she lost weight before and during a brief "slid spell" which culminated in severe nausea to submit to examination by a doctor.

In its investigation of the case the Commonwealth lacks physical evidence that a baby was born and it was born, lacks the corpus delicti. A similar case of a few months ago was dismissed without trial in circuit court, despite the fact that the accused woman had confessed to giving birth to a child whose body was found in the Big Sandy river near here.

Names of grand and petit jurors to serve at the court term, which will convene Sept. 2, were announced this week by Circuit Clerk W. W. Copley. They are:

Grand Jurors
Claude Hale, Prestonburg; Henry L. May, Langley; B. T. Harris, Amoy; Mrs. Alice Ball, Prestonburg; Oscar Camelia, Langley; Spurrel Stranton, Betty Layne; Lee Holbert, Prestonburg; Arthur LaFollette, Carter; Lenny Spradlin, Prestonsburg; Tom G. Dingus, Prestonsburg; Palmer Scaufield, Water Cave.

(Continued from Page 1) five children when they started the construction of the brick mansion here in the wilderness of Floyd county. Indeed it had not been a year since the Indians had vacated their village site where the old home now stands. Samuel May, the other founder of Kentucky, would build a fine home where he had the wigwags of the aborigines. The totems of the savages would yield to the "dinner" bell of a great estate.

Out of the soil rose the home. The brick was "burned" on the farm and the remains of the kilns can be discovered even today after a lapse of 135 years. We do not know the names of the old artisans who made Samuel May. Perhaps it is, as local tradition in the May family has it, that slaves did the work at the kilns. Only mute evidence of clay dust remains and we do not know.

It is a big house but has few rooms. In all of its two-story floors it contains only six rooms and a great living room once rang with the space. The halls are large, some of the rooms are 18 by 20 feet. The great living room once rang with the sound of the violin as belles and beaux of pre-Civil War days gathered at this center of social activity. Here were the six sons of the builder. Gracing the festivities were the eight daughters who can be traced to the same functions in what was the finest home in northern Floyd were the Spurlinks of Prestonsburg, the matriarch of Blackhouse Bottom and the sons and daughters of the laird of Graham's Bottom.

Nine of the 14 children of Samuel and Catherine May were born in the home. As the years rolled on the laird of the fine home and the great estate of bottoms entered politics to die in the Kentucky Legislature, 1832-34, State Senator from 1835 to 1839. During his campaign for these offices he was necessary to travel to the head of the Kentucky river, for that part of Letcher county was a part of the original Floyd county. The present, Nathaniel Collins, afterwards the first county judge of Letcher county, in debate. The site was a rock on the river bank.

The incumbency of Samuel May in these offices was marked by his ability in debate. It has been said of him that he was an interesting conversationalist and a great wit. As a token of esteem the Governor of Kentucky presented him with a cane combined with a sword of excellent workmanship. The cane came on down through several generations of May to disappear with the present generation.

In 1842 Samuel sold the farm to his brother Thomas and moved to Prestonsburg, building another home. He was the present residence of J. W. Howard now stands on First avenue. This house was for years the home of the John Layne house. Samuel must have suffered a great financial loss to have been forced to sell the fine, old house at CHIT. It is seen this same supposedly financial loss that induced him to join the '49 gold rush to California.

Andrew Jackson May, a son 20 years of age, and another 20-year-old man named White accompanied Samuel to the California diggings at Placerville they sought their fortune. They found some of the metal that is and have thought from the East but no vast fortune accrued to either of the trio.

The privations of the gold fields brought illness to Samuel. He was not a young man any longer and the weight of 64 years on the frontier was taking its toll. He lay down to die in the winter of 1851, attended by his son and White.

Here, far from the necessities and comforts of life in the East, he lingered. Most of all he wanted coffee. He could smell the aroma of it, he would tell his son. And so he and his wife, Catherine, rode for miles around the diggings asking for coffee. But this item of food was a luxury most prospective miners could not afford. However, Andrew's persistent search brought him to a camp larger than the others. Upon asking for coffee he was told there but there was none for sale.

Tradition preserves the dialogue between young May and the digger, even today. "But I must have coffee," young Andrew said. "You'll get no coffee here. Coffee is scarce," the digger replied. "But my father is dying and most of all he wants coffee. If you won't give me coffee for my father, I'll stay here." The digger's countenance changed. "Why didn't you say so in the first place?" he asked. Andrew got the coffee for his dying father.

Now that this small consolation for old Samuel had been supplied by his son, the digger approached. Seeing that the end was near he aroused himself and made directions as to his burial. The disposition of the gold they possessed and of their return to Kentucky. With an effort he placed his hands upon the heads of his son and daughter to pronounce a benediction. "God bless you both" he died. Years later, when Colonel Andrew Jackson May, the son, was at the height of his Virginia legal career and after a distinguished record in the Confederate army, he returned to the old diggings near Placerville, Calif., to locate and mark his father's grave. Time was in 1868. The place was so changed he could not find it. Catherine Evans May (1787—1851), daughter of Andrew Jackson Burnett, at Prestonsburg for some time after the death of her husband. In later years she stayed with another daughter, Mahala Jane, wife of Dr. Pierce Randall, of Louisiana, at whose home she died. Homes gather memories with the dust of many years. If the old brick house built by Samuel May had gathered unto itself a written or oral record of all the Mays that were born, married, lived or entered its halls, the story would be volumes in length. Besides the life of the builder and his tragic death there would be the story of the many children born to Samuel and Catherine. Some lived and died in the section where they were born, most emigrated west—some to Indiana, Wisconsin, Missouri and the Indian Territory. Thomas May, who acquired the house in 1842, died within its walls. His sons, William James and Samuel, did their own housekeeping in it until Samuel married Mary Osborn. They continued their joint residence in it until William married Elizabeth Jane Harman, of Virginia, in 1845. After her death William married Cynthia Ann Powers in 1851. William James and Samuel divided the ancestral acres. The former died in 1883 in the old house. Beverly Clark May, long prominent in Floyd county politics and who served as county judge, was born here in 1856. He died in 1929. Elijah May, who at present occupies the old brick house, is a grandson of William James May. The old house stands as the evidence and the witness of a great era in the life of a people, tide and history.

IT'S ALL FINE—BUT . . .
 Between Winchester and Lexington the State Highway Department has numerous employees and a not inconsiderable supply of machinery at work, not on the road but on the roadside. These men and this machinery are busily working the soil, plowing, raking, making a seed bed for grass, sowing, covering, then putting over all a nice, protective layer of straw—all this to make certain that the roadside is beautified next Spring with a stand of grass. And when that grass grows other men will be kept busy keeping it moved.

It will be very beautiful, and we are all for roadside beautification. But—
 What we'd like to know is what the same Highway Department proposes to do about this U.S. 23, U.S. 400 or the Mayo Trail of ours? The road is so bad that we can't permit our eyes to stray from it to the neighboring scenery. So we won't worry about the scenery for the present and just hope for a road.

 It was made as follows: There was a flood in Beaver Creek and people who lived in the lowlands had to gather into a home upon a hill and while staying there they passed the time away by telling stories, reciting poetry of their own make, etc., and this book is a record of what they brought forth.
 I have had a limited number of these books made and if you want a copy send me one dollar and I will send you one postpaid, or, if you want it sent C.O.D., let me know and then it will cost you a few cents more.

(Continued from Page 1) After first arresting the buyer, entered Hicks' place, found beer and whiskey and arrested him. As he was carrying beer outside to his car Hicks broke and fled inside the store where he procured a shotgun. Thereupon the officer left, returning later with a rifle. Hicks stood at or near the corner of the highway and fired his shotgun at Lester, who opened fire as Hicks whirled to run.

Commonwealth's Detective Davidson said a young daughter of Hicks' one of seven children, unlocked the door of her parents' home and took them to a clothes closet where she pointed out for them her father's two shotguns. Davidson added that neither was loaded. Examining trial will probably await outcome of Hicks' wound. Lester was brought to jail here on his own request, by "Red" Tom of Martin, Deputy Sheriff Frank Crum served on him a shooting and wounding warrant which had been sworn out before Magistrate M. C. ## IT'S A GOOD WORLD

BY WILMAY

An error last week: The joke was how a man can get the rattle out of his CAR, not his ear, as given in this column. The answer: "Let her drive."

Not long ago a friend visited a large city church of his own denomination. His description of the visit reminds one of the story of dear Dr. E. E. Lee, retired BPTC field secretary of the Southern Baptist Convention, used to relate at the state convention now and then, to illustrate a good point.

Once a country boy was saved while a famous evangelist visited in his church. Soon afterwards the youth went to the city to work and found himself in the church of this man. He presented himself for membership. The pastor dared not ask his 600 to accept the boy, whose trousers were somewhat above his shoe tops. He suggested that he think it over and come back.

That night the youth returned and again walked down the aisle. The minister hastened and then whispered that he would be around to pray with him first. Next day he met the youth on the street and decided to get it over with while opportunity offered a means of escape.

The boy told him he had been praying and that the Lord had told him not to join that church. "That's fine," said the preacher. "I knew you'd see it is better for you not to, if you talked with God about it."

"Yes," replied the youth. "God told me he has been trying for over a hundred years to get into your church, and that I ought to have better sense than to try to do what He can't do."

Kay and Ann Allen, the five-year-old twins of Kate and Ray, of Martin, came today for a puppy. The joy in their beaming eyes when they hugged the pup to them well repaid their parents for having pups underfoot constantly. Their own doggie got killed recently. Kay and Ann regarded the pup as their good fortune, for they have two birthdays each, their regular one in December, and the second, a few days later, when the Allens decided to adopt the two baby girls who have brought such happiness to their home.

We hope before too long to have a story here of a Floyd county couple who have reared a house full of children who were not theirs and who are still at it, though past middle age today. It takes good people to do what this couple does for youngsters who need a home.

So much happiness would be added to our world if every individual would do the Scout code of doing one kind deed per day.

We have just listened to the Saturday evening broadcast of the First Baptist Church of Allen, which has long been on the map in every sense, spiritually, financially, numerically and otherwise. It is doubtful if a stronger small church can be found in this section. Most of its members are titheers, good Bible students, believers in prayer, and soul winning. And their new pastor, Burt Caldwell, is tops in everyday language. Hear the man tell what infantile paralysis did to him when he was only nine months old. See his fine family, note the marvelous work he does, then listen to him preach, and you will wonder why anyone is ever sorry for a handicapped person. Most people would envy Brother Caldwell. No one would think of pitying him. If ever there has been a live wire he is one.

You Can't Buy Freedom... BUT You CAN Sell It!

Vote-buying is a violation of the law. Vote-selling is also a violation of the law. You wouldn't sell something very precious to you like your child, would you? If a man sells his vote he sells something as precious as his own child—his freedom.

Vote-buying and selling is as reprehensible a practice as ever fastened itself upon any body politic. Democracy ceases to exist when mass vote-buying becomes a general practice! With mass vote-buying demagogues and the "wheelmen" financially take over the offices that should be the free gift of the people.

Buyers and Sellers are equally guilty in this reprehensible practice.

A St. Frank D. Mullins writes from Korea: "As you can see I'm in Korea and it's no pretty place, I can tell you! I wish I was back there in Martin at your place, where all the pretty girls are and I could eat some more of your wonderful cooking. I'll really be coming back there some day."

Hartie Cpl. Harry Fredelash, Barber's Point, Hawaii: "I went over to the hobby shop and did a little more carving and tooling on your puzzle. It won't be open again until Wednesday and I'm supposed to go out again before Friday to Korea or Japan. I'll finish it before long, then."

A 3c Post Frazier, from Shaw Air Base, S.C.: "The heat here sure is awful. Sure hope it rains and cools off some. By the way, I'm going to donate a pint of blood here Friday."

KEEP COSTS DOWN, PERFORMANCE UP, WITH A DODGE!

"My Dodge trucks save a lot of money on gas!"

says H. A. ROBINSON, Contract Hauler, Mobile, Ala.

"On a 200-mile run I save 1 1/2 to 2 gallons of gas. I get this saving seven days a week, and on my two trucks that means I save over $300.00 a year on gas alone. That's good, because each of my trucks makes an average of 50 stops per day hauling mail.

"My first Dodge truck cost me only $54.00 of repair expense in two years. I ran my second Dodge over 103,000 miles in two years and spent only $15.50 on it for repairs.

"If I'd known what I know now about Dodge trucks, I'd have switched to them long ago and saved myself a lot of money."

Save on maintenance. Rugged engines and chassis have made Dodge trucks famous for dependability. Upkeep costs stay low because of many special Dodge features like 4-ring pistons, chrome-plated top ring, and wear-resisting exhaust valve seat inserts.

Save with long life. Because Dodge trucks last so long, depreciation is low and trade-in value stays up. Long life and dependability are the result of such features as alloy steel transmission, shock absorbers, and Orloff shock absorbers in low-tonnage models.

FREEDOM UNDER GOD. ABC To Fingerprint

Local Option Violators

Alcoholic Beverage Control Board Chairman Guy C. Shearer said this week his department plans to photograph and fingerprint all persons arrested by ABC agents in local option territory for violation of state whiskey laws.

Copies of the fingerprints and photographs will be filed with the Kentucky State Police and Federal Bureau of Investigation, Shearer said.

In addition, records of all persons applying for beverage licenses will be checked by State Police and files before any final determination is made concerning applicants.

"Sometimes we learn too late that persons who procure licenses have past records of violations which are not disclosed or made known to our field forces," said Shearer. "This step is one merely to tighten existing procedures."

Responsibility for procuring the photographs and fingerprints will rest on arresting officers, Shearer said.

I wish to bring out more points and prove to men that God does rule and super-rule in the affairs of men and nations. I feel my work and prayers in behalf of Judge Bert T. Conley in 1951 and Coroner James J. Carter in 1952 are enough proof to men that saints can see farther on their knees than sinners can see from the mountain top.

Prayer and Faith pull the bell-ropes of heaven and shake fruit from the Tree of Life.

Storms may break telegraphic communications and waves may sever the ocean cable, but no winds or waves can disconnect a God-fearing woman from her maker. God permits us to show our love and appreciation of His mercies by self-sacrificing efforts to extend the same to others and He has promised to reward His servants, and He tells them that men ought always to pray and faint not. (St. Luke 18-1). This is the only way in which it is possible for us to express our gratitude to God and country.

So many people do not know the difference in character and reputation. Character is what you really know and God knows who can endure trials and afflictions. Reputation is what the people say but cannot prove. My Bible says prove all things, hold fast that which is good. (1st Thes., 5th chapter, 21st verse.) Prayer for rulers (1st Tim., 2:1-3) I submit therefore that first of all supplications, prayers, intercessions and giving of thanks be made for all men. For kings and for all that are in authority that we may lead a quiet and peaceable life in all godliness and honesty. For this is good and acceptable in the sight of God our Saviour.

Bible Women Mentioned

Eve the woman of curiosity (Gen. 2:14-19). Miriam the ambitious woman (Numbers 12:1-2). Deborah the patriotic woman (Judges 4:4-5). Ruth the woman of constancy (Ruth 1:16). Hannah the ideal mother. (1st Samuel 1:20) Abigail the capable woman (1st Samuel 25:3). The Shunammite the hospitable woman (1st Kings 18:19). Elizabeth the humble woman (St. Luke 1:43). Queen Esther the self-sacrificing woman (Esther 4:16). Mary the woman chosen of God (St. Luke 1:26-38). Martha the worried housekeeper (St. Luke 10:40-42). The woman evangelist. (St. John 4:29). Lydia the business woman (Acts 16:14-15). woman's rights to make contracts (Numbers 30:3-9) to hold property (Numbers 27:8-9), works of a God-fearing woman to praise her in the gates (Prov. 31:30-31).

Favor is deceitful and beauty is vain; but a woman that feareth the Lord she shall be praised. Give her of the fruit of her hands and let her own works praise her in the gates.

Now all you Bible instructors who fight the works of women, I am giving you free of charge, Bible references to read for yourselves. I know God did not perform the first operation on man to make him a woman to be a standby and do nothing. I have always had to work with my hands to help others. When I run down a hard problem I just say, "Lord, I have the willpower to solve but strength and wisdom come from God."

All I have done and said for the Democratic party now in power has been all my own free will—no guide but God, and now I have reached the point to tell you the words of Joshua (Joshua 24th chap., 20th verse): If ye forsake the Lord and serve strange gods then he will turn and do you hurt and consume you after that he hath done you good.

2nd verse: Ye are witnesses against yourselves. When I am for a man I am for his teeth and for an unfaithful man in time of trouble is like a broken tooth and foot out of joint. 20th verse: He that hath no rule over his own spirit is like a city that is broken down and without walls.

The Back to God for America. Sincerely and prayerfully, EVA MEADE HALL
