Feed Prices Too High... Farmers Take Action— Slash Southern States Prices!

Farmers are squeezed by feed prices that are too high in relation to prices received for meat, milk and eggs. The farmers who own and use Southern States Cooperative—272,000 strong—are doing something about it.

Southern States Cooperative has made a sharp reduction in its mixed feed prices—is pricing them at less than actual cost.

Southern States Service Agencies, working hand in hand with the farmers they serve, have reduced their handling margins to approximate actual cost. The result is a reduction of $4.00 to $5.00 per ton (20 to 25 cents per bag) in Southern States feeds which were already low priced as compared with commercial feed of comparable quality.

This program of self-help by farmers will continue until it forces the price of commercial formula feeds to a more reasonable level from the standpoint of farmers. A big crop of corn and other feed grains will soon be pressing on the market. This also helps.

Support this cooperative effort to pull down the too high price level on mixed feeds—save real money too by using quality feeds cooperatively manufactured by farmers in their own mills. See us for details. You'll be amazed at the new low Southern States feed prices.

Defendants Say Suit An Attempt To Smear

This suit is an attempt to smear certain people who held public office or who may be candidates for public office in the future and is being used for the purpose of prejudicing the minds of the people against certain county officials in order to affect next year's elections.

There is no legal basis or foundation for the suit. The defendants of Kentucky Revised Statutes provides that Justices of the Peace shall be paid $5 for each day of attendance of the meetings of the fiscal court and for each day they serve in supervising the county roads in their respective districts. On January 18, 1943, Fiscal Court Order Book 5, Page 140, an order was entered appointing the magistrates in their respective districts at six dollars per day. On April 1, 1947, in Fiscal Court Order Book 3, page 182, a similar order was entered and fixed the pay of the magistrates at six dollars per day for supervising county roads and for attendance at fiscal court meetings.

Under these appointments these magistrates performed the services they were authorized to do and furnished their own automobiles and paid their expenses in supervising the county roads in their respective districts and attending the meetings of the fiscal court. The people of this county are aware of the fact that these men worked diligently and did their best to perform a service to the public. They did not receive any compensation which they did not earn or which was not authorized by law.

It is alleged in the petition filed that they received ten dollars per day for their attendance in fiscal court meetings. The records show that they only received six dollars for their attendance at fiscal court meetings.

This answer is being written to inform the public of the actual truth of the payments made to these magistrates for their official services and to keep people from being misled by unwarranted statements made by people who have no authority for the truth of their allegations and who are using the courts and the Taxpayers League to further their own political interest.

The Taxpayers League has good objectives and would be a fine organization for the betterment of Floyd county government if it were properly organized and operated, but when it is used by a few disgruntled politicians to grind the personal axes and further their own political interest at the expense of duly elected officials who have been and are now doing a good job for the people of this county, then it becomes a dangerous organization. It ought to be used for the betterment of Floyd county and its people and not as an instrument for revenge.

He moved on in the direction his buddies had gone and soon stumbled over the bullet-riddled body of one. He took the message, identical with the one he was carrying, from the inert body and moved again. He was beginning to feel the utter loneliness of no-man's-land. The Army sergeant who was back on the outer rampart of the dread area in which 100 muzzles and rifles coughed and coughed ahead, too, were advance posts of the 118th. Just where one clung to the earth to cover retreat, and the other probed and advanced, he did not know. But his faculties told him he must know soon—must know to live.

As he had found the first messenger came upon the second, cramped and sprawled as only one can fall when dead before they reach the earth. Another message was picked up and now he was the bearer of it. He was on the ground and another man who in a detached way moved and drifted in no-man's-land.

Forward again, some 30 yards. The rat-tat-tat of machine guns over his head. He threw himself on his belly and lay pressing his abdomen against the pouch of grenades that did not hurt him. The earth, he began now to move slowly in an effort to unload his ammunition, for his bulk under him propped his body up in the whining bullets.

A whistle sounded back of him, near the sunken road. Its significance did not become apparent, for he was not looking at it. He was looking at the earth, and he was concerned with that. To turn was death. He must keep his head, push up with his arms, just as it was. That and nothing else, just now.

The whistle again. Still it rans no bell in his mind. He clings to his body, still attempting to get the grenades out. He wanted them out from under him, not to throw, but that his body could sink more prone on the earth. Finally, with deaf fingers and the co-ordinated case of his body, he removed the grenades.

The whistle sounded again, sharp and clear above the rat-tat-tat and the whine of death. "That was the third time I had heard that whistle, and I recognized it as the captain's. He was standing on the edge of the sunken road and motioning to me, signaling that there were machine guns off to my left. His left hand was moving as a signal. The bullets cut it off at the wrist and he rolled back into the sunken road."

The smoke cleared and he saw the German dismount, one few yards to his left. And just by coincidence, when the smoke cleared the rat-tat-tat of the guns slowed and died. The one break, the wholly unexpected one 1000-to-1 piece of luck that could come in the lone hour on the earth of no-man's-land had happened. The guns had died. "Hell, I was scared," said Pete. "Hell, I was scared to death. Don't let anybody tell you you weren't scared in such a case. I don't know who made me do it, but I pulled the pin from a grenade and pitched it in. I pitched it in another and when the Germans began to pop out."

While Pete was pitching hand grenades he was using to his feet, throwing in the third the Germans began to pop out.

He noticed the drifting smoke, how it billowed and spiraled at times but in the main how it floated forward a few feet above the ground. Near the earth the air was clear.

"You've looked under a fog," Pete recalls, "and have seen how clear it can be on the earth. That was the way of the smoke. It was clear on the ground but a foot or two above it was impossible to see farther than about 10 feet."

He moved on than Pete was upon them with his bayonet. "I took 17 out, but I left seven of 'em lying there dead." When he was lying there dead, he was lying on the tilted chair against the porch post and went into the struggle. In a moment he was going over the strangle awn, and the turmoil in his soul had wrenched him to his feet. He was wryly laughing. Germans now were swarming out of the dugout and crying "Kamerad! Kamerad!" "Kamerad, hell, it was just Pete," he said wryly. He took the enemies' guns and went down into the place. A German was lying, suspiciously inert and Pete kicked him into his hole. "He was dead, all right," he said.

In recounting the story of the struggle Pete is laconic and brief as if he would hurry it from his mind. All the detail of rounding up the enemy is lacking but when the disarmed Germans were on their way and of another man who in a detached way moved and drifted in no-man's-land.

Writers said that he was lost but he never got. "I was off my course," he said. In saying this he was talking like a mountaineer, for he was off his course. He was lost as they go in neither of the cardinal directions, but by natural objects as bearings. He was off his course, but the unfamiliar terrain and the smoke.

Forward again, some 30 yards. The rat-tat-tat of machine guns over his head. He threw himself on his belly and lay pressing his abdomen against the pouch of grenades that did not hurt him. The earth, he began now to move slowly in an effort to unload his ammunition, for his bulk under him propped his body up in the whining bullets.

were told would be found a correct diagnosis. There were consultations, X-ray and examinations. At last one morning they stood in the doctor's office and Pete was called into another room. He was told there was no hope, that the optic nerves were destroyed and that no miracle of science could restore his son's sight. The son, the doctor said, should be told the truth.

Pete had faced death in his time but to stand by his son and tell him there was no hope was more than he could do. After an appeal from Pete the doctor himself consented to convey the dread message.

These three stood together in the inner room of the office and the doctor talked. He said: "Son, you will never see, again, in this world." When he ceased there was silence for a moment. At last the son said quietly: "Pay the doctor, Dad. I may not see in this world but I'll see again."

The old doctor had seen the whiting of the boy's face as the words went meaning in his mind but had seen, too, the sudden, stern control of a course came to him. Courage—like father, like son. "Young man, there will be no fee. I would rather see every avenue of hope.

Hope does not reign eternal in the human breast. Hope can be shattered. Hope can be snuffed out. Hope can die. Hope can be snuffed out. Hope can be snuffed out. Hope can be snuffed out. Hope can be snuffed out.

Cats Drop First Game; Face Pikeville Here Friday Night

Prestonsburg's Black Cats last Friday night permitted their goal line to be crossed for the first time this season, and that one crossing was all that the Jenkins high school Cavaliers needed to score the biggest football upset in the Big Sandy Conference.

Jenkins won the game, 7 to 6, and it was that close all the way. Prestonsburg scored first and failed to convert. Jenkins scored and the conversion attempt was good. And that was it.

The big Cat line failed to function with its usual effectiveness, permitting the invaders' forwards to pour through and harass the ball-carrier and to rush Prestonsburg's stellar quarterback, Delmar Hughes on every pass attempt. It was a matter of passing in the run for Hughes. Yet he made good on six of 11 tosses for gains totaling 127 yards.

Apparently, the Black Cat were "down" at the time when they needed to be "up." That and a determined Jenkins defense kept the offense floundering at points when a quick opening, a long dash or a successful pass would have meant a score.

After a scoreless opening period, Prestonsburg scored early in the second quarter. Chester Shepherd intercepted a pass hurled by Rick-ettis, Jenkins quarterback, and the Cats scored with an ease that deceived the big crowd into thinking this one, too, would be easy. On the fourth play after the interception, Delmar Hughes went across from the three. The snap from center for the place-kick was high and the kick after the ball was hurriedly placed down as wide.

In the third quarter Jenkins marched 80 yards for its quarter, Ricketts completed four of five passes, the average here 43.04. Reservoir Manager said he was based on spot checks, sound of water and bank and observations at various points of access had the total on that date as $11,539 since Jan. 1. The total for the year was far ahead of that of last year. It was predicted, with improved fishing and the duck-hunting season drawing larger crowds of sportsmen.

Because of the continued drought which has cut down the inflow of water into the reservoir, and the necessity of keeping a certain volume of water flowing in Johns Creek below the dam, the lake has fallen approximately a foot. No provision for storage of more water to meet such conditions has ever been made.

It is claimed local supporters of the plan for a minimum of at least five feet more water during the dry season, gas companies in the area would give their cooperation. This mud water could be added with little expense and with minor alterations in control installations at the dam.

on foundation for the suit," the defendants pointed out that Section 67110, Justice Revised Statutes, provides that Justices of the Peace shall be paid $5 a day for each day of fiscal court attendance and for each day they serve in supervising the county roads in their respective districts.

The suit makes these allegations:

1. Stumbo, Roberts and Burchett are defendants in the fiscal year ending June 30, 1946 $1,200 "supposedly" for attending 200 meetings of the fiscal court, and may received $24 for a "supposed" 90 meetings.
2. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1947 each received $1,200, "supposedly" for attending 200 meetings of said fiscal court at the rate of $6 per diem.
3. For the fiscal year ending June 30, 1948 each received $300 for "supposedly 30 meetings" at the rate of $10 per diem and in addition received $1,200 each for Committee duties.
4. During the fiscal year ending June 30, 1949 each received $300 for court attendance and $1,200 for Committee service.
5. For the last six months of their term, which ended Dec. 31, 1949, Roberts received $350, Mr. $750; Burchett, $750, and Stumbo, $750. The suit ascribes these amounts as pay for fiscal court meetings.

"Every meeting of the fiscal court appears of record on the fiscal court order book," said Judge Stumbo. The official said he was puzzled as anybody else about the references to the large number of fiscal court meetings claimed in the suit.

It was pointed out by the defendants that on Jan. 18, 1943 an order was entered appointing the Magistrates a committee to supervise the roads in their respective districts at the rate of $6 per day. The same order was again entered April 1, 1947. They added that the allegation that they received $10 a day for fiscal court attendance is untrue, that records show they received only $6 a day.

Hagewood Re-Appointed To Water Commission; Dog Control Talked

Russell Hagewood, cashier of The First National Bank here, was re-appointed by the City Council Tuesday evening to the Prestonsburg Gas & Water Commission. The other two members of the Commission are Burl Sparlock and Leroy Combs.

A proposal by Councilman Watt Hale that the city construct and maintain a dog pound failed of passage. The idea grew out of the poisoning last week in West Prestonsburg of upwards of a dozen dogs.

The Council did, however, decide to invoke the power of an ordinance enacted some time ago, beginning November 1, and will order police to kill all dogs in the corporate limits which are permitted to run at large and which have not been immunized against hydrophobia.

First Local man many visitors meet

Visiting motorists often form their first impressions of our town from this man... and because of his desire to be of service, it is usually a good one.

He's done as much to boost his community as almost anyone you can mention. His judgment and directions to local stores, hotels, and places of interest is constantly sound, and his recommendations send a stream of customers to local businesses.

At the service of motorists during fair weather or foul, he's the man who changed a word in our vocabulary. A man who by his eagerness to serve, taught the motorists of the South that he operates not a "filling station"—but a Standard Oil service station.

D. Osborne, of Bypro, on Sept. 20, the 45th day before the election. The statute governing filing for the office provides that a candidate must file not less than 45 days before the date of election. The Attorney General's office says County Clerk DuRan Moore is ruling to the effect that to be eligible for a place on the ballot the candidate should have filed before midnight, Sept. 19.

Continuing to take a chance either way—perhaps the ballots printed with McCona as a candidate or with his name omitted—County Clerk Moore sought a court decision.

Current Judge Hill is expected to rule in the case at once.

is serving about 700 persons under the H. H. Brock Act which requires gas companies to sell gas to longshanks over whose property gas lines pass.

Assed the company's reaction to the Public Service Commission's order, Thomas H. Evans, general manager of Kentucky West Virginia, said he could not make a statement as to what recourse his company will take until he receives the commission's official order.

Owners of the Allen & Deale Gas Company — John Allen, Russell Hagedorn, Burl Sparlock and James Webb, Jr. — estimated an additional peak load of 200,000 cubic feet of gas per day would be required to meet the needs of the town of Allen.

A few months ago, the Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company cut off its supply for Allen, claiming James Webb, Jr., had without authorization placed a gas line into Allen with the Kentucky West Virginia supply. The Kentucky West Virginia Gas Company claimed that previous commitments made it impossible for it to divert gas to meet the needs of the community.

fourth in casualties and cost in the history of the United States. "If our defense effort is too small, we are in danger; if it is too large, we threaten the economic stability of our country," he said.

Cooper attacked the freight differential existing between this area and other rail fields, classing it as discriminatory and ruinous to the industry in this section. He assailed this freight rate as existing under the Democratic party and also jibed at the lien required of recipients of the aid.

"The old folks got their money without giving a lien on their property" when the Republican Congress enacted the law providing such aid. "Noboddy ought to make them afraid in the sunset of their lives," he added, referring to the lien.

Cooper said he put his country first in casting his vote as a Senator on various pieces of legislation and that he would be voted for 180 bills for veterans.

"I do not believe in America being Santa Claus for the rest of the world," said Mr. Clark, Prestonsburg's Mayor who seeks to unseat Congressman Carl D. Perkins. He argued that this country send tanks and guns but not its boys overseas. The war in Korea would have been over 10 months ago, but for Perkins, he declared.

Clark hit out at Congressman Perkins, alleging that Perkins did not support the use of diesel oil by trains which reduces the section's coal market and that the Congressman represented Alabama interests in his protests against TVA use of gas for fuel.

He advanced $50 a month for nearly 40 persons who are not now receiving old-age benefits.

W. M. Darby, county Republican chairman, introduced the speaker, a $5-per-plate fund-raising dinner planned by Floyd County Republicans will be held Oct. 18 at the Kentucky Theatre building in Martin, with former Attorney General Eldon S. Dummit as speaker. Senator Nixon, the GOP candidate for Vice-President, has been asked to appear as a speaker.

Many a Party Candidate Deserves Nonpartisan Vote

(Editorial from Life Magazine)

In 1946 Kentucky did itself and the nation a great service by sending Republican John S. Cooper, 51, to the Senate where he speedily made a reputation for fairness in domestic and foreign affairs. Despite labor support he was beaten in '48 and was thereupon drafted by the State Department as consultant and U. N. delegate. He is one Republican candidate for office who can criticize Democratic foreign policy from the inside. This he is doing with force and precision. If elections were won solely on character and intelligence, he would be a shoe-in. Unfortunately his opponent, the factious Senator Underwood, is backed by the extremely effectively Clements machine.

Rural Electrification Administration was established in 1935. The purpose of REA, as it is called, was to lend money to the power companies in the United States to build power lines to the homes of rural people. But for some reason this program did not work out successfully. So, in 1937, the first Rural Electric Co-op were formed. These co-ops were made up of farmers who were interested in getting electricity to their homes as quickly as possible. Now, these co-ops serve 3,500,000 consumers in the United States.

Mr. and Mrs. Gabe Music, of Bonanza, were the lucky winners of a complete water system for their home. They had won a kit of tools at the annual meeting at Prestonsburg in July of this year. Their names were in Louisville to the State Fair to win a water system.

In 1935 only 10 percent of the farms of the United States had electricity; now, 83.8 percent have electricity. These farms still never got a complete water system for their homes. There was no electricity to be had at the farm. The comforts of the city have been brought to the farm. These conveniences are responsible for relieving the crowded conditions of the city.

Miss Ella Faye Faulkner, who won the title MISS BIG SANDY, has entered school again. She is a sophomore at Maytown.

The state of Kentucky became a part of the rural electrification movement. Now there are 27 rural electric co-ops in the state with an organization known as Statewide This Association, known as The Kentucky Rural Electric Co-operative Corporation, is located in Louisville, Ky., and performs a great number of free services for its member co-ops. However, only 23 co-ops belong to this organization.

This discussion brings us to the Big Sandy Rural Electric Co-operative Corporation which serves 3,500 members of the rural areas of Floyd, Johnson, Martin, Lawrence and Knott counties. It has a potential membership of 6,000.

Big Sandy REA believes in services to its members at cost. It has as its goal: Electricity at cost and complete satisfaction for all its members.

The management invites you the members and owners of your local co-op to come in and visit with us. The records are open for your inspection. We want you to know your co-op and to find out for yourself that it is being operated honestly and efficiently. (Advertisement)

The Taxpayer's Case

Mr. Taxpayer, we want to talk to you. Yes, you. Just listen in your easy chair for some minutes while the Taxpayers League states a case. Perhaps it is only a new angle to an old case, but we want you to listen to it.

We begin by stating our case for you. You must remember we are pleading your case before the bar of public opinion and before the courts. It is our case, too; as we are taxpayers like you. It is the Taxpayer's case against anything and everybody that does not represent our interest.

This case has many faces. One face is turned toward the Prestonsburg courthouse and inevitably the Court of Appeals where we are prosecuting a case in the taxpayers' interest.

There are other faces to this case of the taxpayers against all of the things we are against your interest. One face of the case is vote-buying. If there was ever a condition that outrages the feelings of decent men and women it is vote-buying and selling. Plenty of people have done it. Yes, but plenty of people, ashamed of the corrupt practice, have quit. Time everybody quit buying and selling. If there were no buyers, there would be no sellers.

In our case we plead, too, that the money paid into the sheriff's hand for taxes and winds up in the county treasury should be spent wisely. If we could we would write the word wisely in box-car letters. It is not spent wisely when it is wasted. It is not spent wisely when some man works a few hours on a road and turns in triple time and is paid. It is not spent wisely when it is given as a bribe to a contractor for dubious services. Some state this is not done in Floyd county. As to that we do not plead, but we state the matter to show you some of the things we intend to plead, if need be, in your case.

The defense propagandists state we should not have sued Woodrow Burchett until we could have sued others. We answer that by saying we are not out to "get" anybody. We are out to clean Floyd county up. If we sue one now and no other suit is brought for a while it does not mean we have quit. It means we are digging for money to carry on the fight. This very week we got together enough money to hire an auditor. Yes, we are hiring an auditor despite the fact that the fiscal court fired one. That's their audit with which we would have cooperated on your terms, but since we couldn't we let them take their audit and we will take ours.

We asked our attorney, Jesse B. Lewis, of Lexington, to procure for us an auditor of unquestioned integrity. Only this week he called to give us the name of a prominent accountant in Louisville who would meet our requirements. Two of our directors went to Louisville this week to discuss price. We think we have money enough to meet the obligation. That money is yours, of course. We begged it from you. The money paying the courthouse auditors is your money—your tax money.

We have one of the best lawyers money can procure. He is the man who cleaned up Henderson county and forced the sheriff there to resign. He has a record we are proud to offer you. Your money hired him. We begged it from you. The Hon. Jack Howard represents the fiscal court in the Burchett suit. If he gets a fee for awhile you are going to pay "going and coming." Well, you've been doing it for years and didn't know it. Now you know it.

Don't let anybody tell you that we will fold up after the next primary. We have self-respect, honor and integrity just like the rest of the people. We expect to live in Floyd county and herd our good names are at stake. The only way to keep faith is to clean Floyd county up. Just give us time and help.

We have lived "in the woods" long enough. Vote buying, vote selling, excess salary payments, wasted tax money, and all other reprehensible practices are things that belong, not in a civilized community but in those dreary years of the past when men were learning the simple and fundamental processes of democracy. We have learned. Those things are not in our book. We want our children to learn of them as history, not as a present-day practice of Floyd county democracy.

Help us to clean Floyd county up. Help us by contributions and faith in our honor and integrity. By virtue of an united will we can succeed.

IT'S A GOOD WORLD

BY WILMAY

It is a glorious day when some of the faculty members from the University of Kentucky get to eat dinner with Miss M. M. Collins, of Lacey, as was the case last Friday. Everyone who knows Miss Collins regards her as a wonderful person, but only those who have sampled her fare can truly appreciate her ability in the field of culinary art. She is a well-known, and we can now learn from the fact.

When Mr. Price and Mr. Clark mentioned how they approve of homes inviting the teachers out to dinner, as was often done in the good, old days, believe it or not, every lady present seconded the motion and went so far as to carry the subject up in the columns. There are many reasons that make it so hard to see this old-time custom disappearing.

We recall the time when the Moyton family dined with Uncle John and Aunt Laura Allen in Warren one evening. Three men sat in the dining room before the meal. But after the supper that same evening broke with no one in it except dear old Mr. Harry Cooley. If that does not prove teachers are underpaid, what will?

All being aside, we must say that Charles Clark is one of the nicest dining men it has been our privilege to meet in some time. We have had the pleasure of knowing others in this family but never met him till this summer.

Thanks to the kind reader who sends material, but won't you drop a note with your name? School work and other activities have us almost too busy at present to do justice to your note, but we appreciate having the interest of others.

An outstanding engineer believes America has entered a golden age of progress. He is confident we are living in a period of history when great feasible changes and enormous advancement will take place. No one objects to this. It is a good thing indeed we keep our feet on the ground and remember from whom all blessings come. But unless our spiritual development can keep up and pace with our scientific progress, with the intellectual growth, we need to keep in mind that even a great business.

The moral decline has created a spiritual vacuum, and we need to remind ourselves that every great nation in the history of the world has lost her power and sunk into oblivion after internal decay occurred. Penton, Turkey predicts increasing cultural development and points out that we spent more on classical music concerts than on baseball games last year, twice as much for books as we did 10 years ago. They are good indications, but when we spend five times as much for liquor combined—twice as much for tobacco for all religious purposes, at home and abroad—we need to take inventory and see whether a cultural veneer, an intellectual snobishness, luxuries, amusements, pleasure, etc., come first in our hearts or if the Cross gave America her wonderful beginning is still the choice of a majority of our citizens. We can't worship idols in America, the same as in Japan, and the almighty dollar is the idol of too many of us today. God gets what is left over, in time, money, talents and service.

Four world governments have risen to power in history, to be followed by subjection and decline. Daniel prophesied a fifth and last, when he interpreted the dream of the old King, Empires of the Babylonians, the Medes and Persians, of the Greeks and the Romans were all wiped off the map. Where and whose will the fifth be and what will its ultimate destiny become? Can America turn back to God and lead the world His way or must crass materialism characterize us?

Tax League Leaders Address David Club

David, Ky., Oct. 9 (Sp.)—There are schools in Floyd county where no drinking water is provided for the pupils, was the statement made by Polk Saunders to members of the David Woman's Club last Friday night.

Mr. Saunders, a member of the Floyd County Taxpayers League, addressed the club at its regular monthly meeting at the home of Mrs. Oliver Marshall. The League chairman, Dr. Edward B. Leslie, urged the women of Floyd county to support the League. He presented Woodrow Horn, of Leacey. Aims and purposes of the League were outlined by John Warrick, and membership cards were distributed. This informative program was presented by Mrs. Ora Howard.

Following the program, refreshments were served to the four guests and the following members: Mesdames Frank Music, Enno Van Geister, Jim Hall, M. H. Thompson, Otis Busey, Francis Harmon, I. C. Spote, Bill May, John Stratton and the co-hostesses, Mesdames Marshall and Walter Crane.

In the absence of the president, Mrs. Francis Harmon presided at the business session. Mrs. Jack Burnett, a prospective member, was introduced. Mrs. Harmon appointed Mrs. M. H. Thompson and Mrs. Otis Busey as delegates to the Seventh District convention, with Mrs. Grace and Mrs. Bert Price as alternates. Several members offered to help with the refreshment concession at the square dance to be held by the Pecco Club on October 4. Mrs. Ora Howard was appointed chairman of the annual Christmas card sale.

The next regular meeting will be held Thursday night, Nov. 6, at the home of Mrs. Frank Music.

SCHOOL ACTIVITIES
Assistant Attorney General W. Owen Scoble held that auxiliary activities at schools—such as picture shows, athletic, proceeds from the sale of supplies—should be under the control of local boards of education and not subject to the unaided control of certain personnel of the schools as a private venture. Keller called upon schools boards to see that such funds be handled through local boards.

TO MY FRIENDS, THE PEOPLE OF THE 5th EDUCATION DIVISION:

In a recent article submitted to The Times our County Superintendent while disavowing any political ties took it upon himself to, nevertheless, offer his unqualified support of my opponent. Does this gesture contain any political conviction? If there is no politics in this move when are we to assume that Mr. Turner is completely satisfied with the present political policies that the members here is supporting, are following? Let us look over a few of these policies and see whether they are policies for our students' welfare and determine whether they are satisfactory or not:

According to Mr. Turner's article, as I see it, the County Board members are resolved to allow our schools to remain in "run-down," continue to offer salaries to teachers that result in our having to accept "emergency teachers" year after year (never offering these teachers enough to make it possible for them to go back to school and finish their educational training). And in spite of this emergency situation we do not have shop teachers at Garrett or Wayland. Teachers are paid after they have worked their full month and then their money is paid in and after. THE COUNTY BOARD MEETS ON THE FIRST TUESDAY, or some other day they choose, IN THE FOLLOWING month. In addition to this practice the teachers are not given their checks. Instead the present practice is to deposit their checks in some bank because it is feared the teacher will keep their checks and not cash them in a hurry. This supposition is that the teachers get enough to live on from month to month when everybody knows THEY DO NOT. Some schools have dire cases of fire hazards that remain in the same condition year after year and as far as I can ascertain they are going to remain that way until the people raise their voices and demand improvements. Seldom, if ever, do the County Board members take it upon themselves to visit our schools and survey the needs that are so sorely needed. These neglects have been "conscientiously and diligently" performed by the members that Mr. Turner has extended his unqualified support to.

Personally, I have no quarrel with any member of the present administration. I have nevertheless, decided to seek a position on the School Board because I am willing to set down in black and white the things I will truly work for, and for which I shall pursue relentlessly because the people want their children, and I want my children, to have the things that they are entitled to, and for which we are paying our taxes.

It is time for all of us to cease talking in generalities and get down to the job at hand. Year after year we hear of the needs and the improvements that are coming but with each passing year the conditions remain as they are. We have said, "Someday we shall have better schools and finer citizens." If that day is to come it should be soon and now.

- I shall offer as my Platform the following proposals:
- County Board meetings open to the public.
- School buildings in A-1 condition.
- Teachers' pay according to that prescribed by leading educational leaders.
- Teachers paid upon completion of their school month and by check to the teachers themselves.
- Immediate erection of fire escapes wherever they are needed.
- School bus schedules that will get the children to and from school quickly and safely.
- Cooperative planning for the creation of a centralized vocational center to which we can send our youth that usually drop out of school before they have received their diplomas. Many of our young people are unable to go on to college and need to learn some trade that will enable them to make a living after they leave school and are ready to begin their life's work.
- Promote better health and safeguards in our schools.

Furthermore, I shall seek information from you, the voters, on what you think our schools need and together we can gain all the objectives that can only be gotten through sincerity and determined efforts.

I am happy to say to you that I owe no one anything for support in this attempt to put myself in the services of the people of Floyd county. I have a son in the public schools and would have him, together with your children, get the fullest measure of our combined efforts to prepare our youth for the future that lies before them.

YOU CAN BE SURE THAT a vote for me is a vote for the future of all the children in our county.

SOIL CONSERVATION

By L. R. JOHNSON
Soil Conservation Service

The farmers of Floyd county are showing increasing interest in Soil Conservation. A total of 21 farm plans were written for the month of August—eight initial and four advanced and eight basic plans. The basic plans take in consideration every acre of a given farm.

The interest in drainage work is increasing in the county in spite of the dry weather. H. B. Patrick drained a 10-acre field with 1.25 feet of tile on Abbott Creek. E. L.
Reffett put in 665 feet of tile at Lansley. We also staked the lines for Gilbert Ray on left Abbott. Lee Justice on Buffalo, Nero Ousley up
Middle Creek and Ben Maynard on Marc Creek. John Stephens and Edgar Bughan began working on their drainage problems by cutting 1,000 feet of open ditch. Approximately 60 farmers have plans for the drainage this fall as soon as the crops are harvested.
