ALL-NEW 1953 PLYMOUTH TO BE PRESENTED NOV. 20, EDWARD MUSIC ANNOUNCES

The 1953 Plymouth will be presented to the public throughout the United States on Thursday, November 20, Edward Music, president, Music Motor Company, announced today.

"Advanced engineering and styling make the new Plymouth more than ever before the outstanding car of the low-priced field," Music said.

The 1953 Plymouth models will be on display at Music Motor Company, Inc., U.S. 23, Prestonsburg, Ky.

The 1953 Plymouth is the most completely new Plymouth to be presented to the public in the quarter-century since the original model.

Plymouth Motor Corporation executives predict motorists will be delighted with the new, streamlined exterior, the luxuriously tailored harmonizing interiors, the increased power and the scores of engineering innovations in the 1953 line which goes on display in dealers showrooms, November 20.

This year's Plymouth is introducing a new concept of automobile design in the low priced field; President John P. Mansfield declared in describing the 1953 models. "Superior styling is coordinated with radical engineering developments to produce the truly balanced car for easy, safer and more comfortable driving."

Height of the new Plymouth has been reduced for improved appearance. Yet engineers have designed every room into the car to increase interior and luggage compartment.

The 1953 model has more headroom, greater legroom and more hip and shoulder space than ever before.

The lively and dependable Plymouth engine has been given even greater power. For 1953 the horsepower has been increased to 100 and the compression ratio stepped up to 7.1 to 1.

"This car is a tribute to the engineers," Mansfield said. "They have succeeded in controlling to an unprecedented degree the three movements which have plagued designers since the first automobile was built—roll, pitch and bounce."

Virtually zycosopic stability with consequent easy handling of the car on turns has been achieved.

Easier riding, two-inch wide angle mounted rear springs absorb small road shocks and in combination with the time-tested Chrysler shock absorbers complete the car's truly balanced suspension system.

There is sweep and grace in the styling of the new bodies. The 1953 Plymouth is lower and completely streamlined; Chrome trim is integrated as part of the design to further enhance the long, low, wide appearance of the car.

Horizontal character lines are incorporated in the sheet metal of front and rear fenders. Chrome trim strips are available as special equipment at slight extra cost.

"Control Tower" visibility is provided through a one-piece, more uniformly-curved windshield and a new, larger, one-piece rear window which extends into each rear quarter panel. Total glass area has been increased almost 16 per cent for visibility.

comes a Six-Passenger Club Coupe. Ruggedness is added to the body structure by rear fenders which are integral this year with the quarter panels. Further rigidity results from the use of a sill below the deck lid opening, linking the rear fender structure from side to side. The new, wider deck lid, extending outward to the fenders, provides strong, horizontal lines that add materially to the wider, lower look of the rear end.

Internal hinges of the deck lid are mounted at the extreme outward edges, resulting in easier access and more usable space. The 33.1-cubic foot trunk is almost 30 per cent larger than previous models.

Rear fender appearance is improved through relocation of the gasoline filled pipe at the left corner of the rear sill, which also provides for easy fueling.

For increased driving comfort and economy, Plymouth Automatic Overdrive may be added to the famous Synchro Silent Transmission at moderate extra cost. The overdrive increases fuel and oil economy, lengthens engine life, and as a highway "fourth" speed, it greatly adds measurably to driving and riding comfort.

The overdrive unit reduces, gasoline consumption by cutting down the engine speed by 30 per cent while the car's speed is undiminished. As a highway cruising gear, engineers estimate it will save 10 per cent of gasoline. An additional gear ratio in each of the other two forward speeds is also provided by the unit. Overdrive is especially useful for traffic driving in second gear.

Plymouth's prime objective for 1953 was a car that was easier to park, easier to handle and easier to ride in. A trial ride quickly proves that this objective was attained.

Moving the engine forward more than two inches gave more body room. Relocation of wheel housing gave more hip room.

The axle was moved closer to the frame end of the rear spring, almost eliminating the rear wheel hop when accelerating on uneven roads or in sharp turns.

All of these features combine to give the 1953 Plymouth owner an automobile that is unequalled in its price class for riding and driving enjoyment, performance, beauty and economy.

Nine different body styles are offered in the two Plymouth lines for 1953. In the Cambridge line are the Four-Door Sedan, Two-Door Sedan, Business Coupe and the exciting and popular Suburban. The Cranbrook line this year includes the Savoy, a Four-Door Sedan Club Coupe, Convertible Coupe and the Dashing Belvedere Hardtop.

The smartly styled Business Coupe is available with a removable rear seat. Without this seat the car provides a spacious, unobstructed area for sample cases or luggage. With the seat installed—a matter of only a minute for one person—the car becomes a four-door sedan.

Diabetes Detection Week Scheduled, Nov. 16-22

The fifth annual Diabetes Detection Week will be observed nationwide, Nov. 16-22. Sponsored by the American Diabetes Association, the week is designed to find an estimated 1,000,000 unknown diabetics in the United States.

Diabetes Detection Week in Kentucky will find private physicians, local hospitals and clinical laboratories cooperating in the performance of urine tests for sugar.

Dr. Bruce Underwood, State Health Commissioner, has asked all Kentuckians to support this campaign to find diabetics, since in 1951 diabetes ranked as high as 11th in the major causes of death in the state. Kentucky Department of Health Statistics reveal that there were 872 deaths resulting from this cause.

Farmers in Montgomery have purchased more than 2,000 northwestern ewes.

Cats Lick Paintsville, Win Loop Title

End Season Tonight In Big Sandy Bowl

The Black Cats of Prestonsburg high school emerged from last Friday's annual passing interest in the football classic against the Paintsville Tigers on the long end of a 32-12 score and with the Big Sandy Conference football championship for 1952.

But for the rivalry built up over the years between the two schools, the game would have been of no more than passing interest. The visitors clearly were outmatched and there was little doubt of the outcome from the initial kickoff.

The game was marred by frequent collisions and penalties. The play of the visitors who apparently had singled out all-star quarterback Delmar Hughes, of Prestonsburg, as a target. The hooves' tactics were bitterly resented by fans, and the penalties incurred from roughness cost the Tigers heavily.

Hughes stuck the game out until Coach Ferrell sent in his reserves in the last quarter, and flung two touchdown passes, bringing his total of pay-off aerials to 31 for his high school career.

His younger brother, Lowell, freshman halfback, suffered a collarbone and a rib fracture. Wells, a power in the Cat line, left the game with a broken nose.

At the time of his injury which came at the end of his 20-yard run late in the game, Lowell Hughes had gained a total of 117 yards on ground plays and had taken one eight-yard pass from his brother, Delmar.

Two roughing penalties and ground gains by Dixon, L. Hughes and Shepherd set up the first touchdown by Lowell Hughes from the Paintsville two. Delmar Hughes kicked for extra point was good.

Paintsville came back with a 20-yard pass from Brown to Bland at end at the Prestonsburg 11, and there Knight circled end for the marker. Paintsville failed to convert, and the two teams left the field at the half with Prestonsburg ahead 10 to 6.

Paintsville drew another 15-yard penalty early in the second half, and Dixon picked up 4 yards, then Lowell Hughes on three runs gained 12. D. Hughes took it to the 1 and from there Lowell Hughes scored. Again the kick was good.

Less than five minutes later, Shepherd intercepted a Paintsville pass and after Lowell Hughes had dashed 18 yards on one play and one on another, Delmar Hughes passed to Johnny Hill for 15 yards and Prestonsburg's third score. The kick failed.

It was on the next Prestonsburg drive for 5 marker that Lowell Hughes was hurt. He picked up nine yards through the Paintsville line, then two passes failed. Shepherd gained 6 yards each on two smashes with Lowell Hughes picking up 6 and 12 yards in two successive plays. Then D. Hughes tossed his 51st high school touchdown pass with Ousley receiving the ball. The play went for 6 yards. The conversion attempt failed.

Ainst the Cat reserves Paintsville scored its second touchdown late in the fourth quarter when Brown passed to Wynn for 45 yards. The Cats came back, with Shepherd, Dixon, Goble and Baldrige eating up big chunks of yardage. Alexander passed to Ousley for 13, then Newsome and Goble juggled the ball to the 1, from which point Goble went over for Prestonsburg's fifth touchdown of the game.

The statistics chart showed: First downs: Prestonsburg 17, Paintsville 5; passes attempted: Prestonsburg 9, Paintsville 12; passes completed: Prestonsburg 5, Paintsville 8.

Although the game clinched for the Cats the Conference title, it took close application of the Dickinson system—regulations to provide the necessary margin. The Cats and Benry Pirates tied with the same number of points, 115, but one clause of the Dickinson ratings cut the knot.

Paragraph A of Section D of the complete Dickinson system says, "If two teams have the same average points for the entire season, the victory in the game played during the season shall be ranked above the loser. Obviously, if they have not met during the season, they remain tied in the final ranking."

Prestonsburg defeated Benry 28-14 during the season but lost to Jenkins 7-6. Later, Benry beat Jenkins 12-6.

Benry kept its title hopes alive Thursday night by beating its arch-rival, Pikeville, 7-0 as wingback Ralph Moran and a determined defensive line turned in a spectacular performance to give the Pirates the Pike county championship.

Teams coached by Ferrell have lost only two games in the last two years, and these by a total of only two points, and for the third year in a row takes his team to a post-season bowl contest.

Tonight (Thursday) the Black Cats are at Paintsville, playing against undefeated Lynch in the Big Sandy Bowl. The team has practised indoors this week, and is not at its peak physically after last week's grim contest, but is expected to give a good account of itself against the best team in Southeastern Kentucky.

HINDMAN NIPS MARTIN TEAM

Knott Countians Win On Foul Circle Shots By Score of 46 to 42

Two of the section's top-ranking basketball teams opened their 1952-1953 campaigns Friday night at Martin when the Purple Flash of Martin high school met, and were defeated by Hindman high school's Yellow Jackets.

The Knott countians, a crew which is expected to be a power force in the future, defeated Martin, 46 to 42, largely on the strength of exceptional ability at the foul circle. Martin took more shots from the field and actually outscored the visitors in that department, although off form in sinking fielders. The Flash hit from afar on only 27 per cent of its shots but outscored Hindman, 13 baskets to 12. Hindman hit on 38 per cent of its shots from the field.

In the last half the Yellow Jackets connected on all 13 of their foul shots, and that told the story. On the following evening, Coach Penzil Habert of Martin used every man on his traveling squad against Auxier, and still the score mounted, ending in a 55-50 Martin victory.

That the aforesaid, the defendant, Norberg attained his tonnage by spending most of his welfare money on beer, which he personally drank, and on an occasional steak which he ate while the little woman and the chillun feasted on bologna and potatoes.
Yes, there is justice left in the world, although it sometimes seems tempered with an overdose of mercy. The judge slapped said defendant in the pocket for a term of 30 days. Moreover, he promised said defendant that when he got out of the aforesaid policy there would be a job at which he would have to exercise the few muscles he had left. And, furthermore, said the judge: "You are also going to pass the food to everyone else first from now on. What's left, you can have."
Pass the biscuits, Pappy!

OUR OWN TRAGEDY
And now to the sober side, a downright shameful phase. We refer to the forest fires.
What the forest has been no man will be able to assess, for the appraiser cannot look into the years ahead with sufficient vision to say how much topsoil has been lost and will be lost, how much has been contributed to future floods, how sorely this area has been affected in timber and wildlife losses.

On one creek where the fires raged, they tell us, squirrels, slowly suffocating in the smoke, hung from the tips of tree-branches and the rims of their nests. The firefighter who told of this said he was surprised to learn how many ruffed grouse were in that section. These had taken refuge in an island of safety created by a fire-ring.

And then there is the tragic incident of Vester Kyalay's squirrels. Early in the hunting season the Prestonsburg man found five young squirrels which apparently had been orphaned. He took them home, fed them, using an egg yolk. They all had died by the time he was able to find for themselves.

This he said. It was during the drought, and the squirrels returned to his home at two-or-three-day intervals for water. Two fell prey to a cat. Then during the fire on the hillside at the upper limits of Prestonsburg another tragedy was written.

One night, one of the babies he and his wife had so carefully nursed to strength came to the house. It had run the gamut of fire. Its bushy tail was almost burned away, the soft fur along its side was gone, the claws of its rear feet burned off.

Again a job of nursing. The squirrel went back into its old cage. But two days later, it died.

How many thousands of times was that tragedy repeated during recent weeks?

And we wonder why this mountainous, forested section doesn't harbor more game!

In Rockcastle county, 149 families improved their home grounds the past year through planting, clearing or setting of removing trees.

Cause of Taxpayers' Case Being Delayed

Judge Hill disqualified in the W. W. Burchett case, and on the 3rd day of September, 1952, he entered an order on the order book in the Circuit Court Clerk's office directing the Clerk to certify the same to the Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals, with the request that a Special Judge be appointed to try the Woorow Burchett case. Several weeks passed and the Circuit Court Clerk refused to comply with the order although the attorney for the Tax League had called it to his attention a month and one half after the order was first entered. Mr. J. K. Lewis, attorney for the Tax League, again called the Clerk's attention to the order entered on September 3, 1952. He demanded to know why he had knowingly and deliberately refused to comply with the court's order, and the clerk replied, "The reason was that Woorow Burchett told him to not send the order in." So Mr. Lewis in the latter part of Oct., 1952, wrote the Chief Justice of the Court of Appeals and complained of the action of the clerk and others in their attempt to stifle the prosecution of the Burchett case. Sometime around the first of November, Mr. Lewis was notified by the Chief Justice that the clerk had finally mailed to him the certification that should have been mailed to him on September 3, 1952.

About the same time Judge Speckman of Louisville wrote the clerk a letter informing him of his appointment and asking that a room be reserved for the night of November 5, 1952, and asked the clerk to notify the lawyers on both sides and that he would be here on Nov. 6, 1952, and to have all their pleadings ready to file; that if Nov. 6 was not suitable to notify the parties that he would not be able to be here until sometime after Nov. 24.

Mr. Lewis came to Prestonsburg, Ky., on Saturday, Nov. 1, for the purpose of talking the detention of ex-Magistrate J. E. (Speed) Harris, who had previously been summoned, notified and warned that his deposition was desired, but who consistently ignored all such summonses and notices and as of this date has refused to have his deposition taken.

On Saturday, Nov. 1, 1952, Mr. Lewis went into the Circuit Court Clerk's office and asked in the presence of Joe Holston, another attorney, that Mr. Lewis be appointed to try the Woorow Burchett case. Mr. Lewis was not suitable to one of the attorneys in the case and that he understood that Mr. Cooley had already written Judge Speckman not to come on Nov. 6. Mr. Lewis left the Clerk's office and went to his home in Lexington, Ky., not expecting to return to Prestonsburg until sometime after November 24. On Nov. 6, Judge Speckman appeared in Prestonsburg, Ky., and the lawyers for the Fiscal Court and Mr. W. W. Burchett appeared with him. To the consternation of the Circuit Court Clerk, Mr. Holston and the other officials and in a most unexpected manner in walked Mr. J. K. Lewis, the Tax League attorney, who immediately explained the set up to Judge Speckman, who answered in the presence of W. W. Cooley and all that he received no letter from the Clerk. Mr. Holston vouched for the fact that the Clerk in his presence had notified J. K. Lewis not to be there on Nov. 6, 1952.

About 11:00 o'clock on Nov. 6, Mr. Lewis attempted to file in the Clerk's office an amended petition and requested that summons be issued on Sunday. He was refused in both instances and not until about 2 or 3 o'clock did the Clerk's office allow the papers to be filed and summons issued, and not then until Mr. Lewis had expressed an intention to take action against the Clerk.

Floyd County Historical Notes

By HENRY P. SCALF

The Harman story in The Times mentions a Rachel Harman, daughter of Col. Daniel Harman, the early settler. This was an interesting fact that no such person existed because certain family historians hadn't mentioned her.

Mrs. Josephine Goble of Lanier, has in a past issue an old Bible, the property of Rachel Harman. Rachel was born in Tazewell county, Va. July 25, 1842, and married S. B. Lockhart, Feb. 8, 1870. They were married in the county of her birth. Mrs. Goble advised Rachel died May 27, last. Rachel's husband, Lockhart was the grandfather of Mrs. Goble.

Knowing that Col. Daniel came to B. S. Sano around the turn of the nineteenth century and settled on Shiloh Creek, this marriage of Rachel in Tazewell county would sound contradictory until it is remembered that the early settlers and their Virginia kinsmen of the same name were continually visiting back and forth through the mountains.

The Rachel Harman incident in these columns is to mind the many little frustrations of historical and genealogical research. The present writer was anticipating a lot of work to have to do to dispose of a Rachel, daughter of Col. Daniel. But there it was—a record of the family with her descent at Lanier.

It reveals another such incident. This column was trying to locate the descendants of Samuel G. Stratton, son of Solomon H. Samoil, who disappeared westward. One day Rev. Isaac Stratton, of Banner, who is a nephew of Samuel, showed the writer a mark that Samuel went to Grant county, Oregon, and that he had visited with him while a young man.

The pastor, he said, was Samuel. Of course, a dealer in genealogy shouldn't have passed up an inquiry to a nephew in the first place. But you do. You move around and give the very fact that you are pursuing and are unaware of it. Still not much is known of Samuel G. Stratton's life and descendants, even now.

This column recalled the Oregon Historical Society assisting in locating the Samuel G. Stratton record in that state.

Under date of Sept. 11, 1931, the Oregon Historical Society writes: "None of our files has turned up anything on Samuel G. Stratton. He does not appear in the pioneer files (through 1839), and though they are not complete it seems more likely that he came to Oregon during the Civil War. At this point our records on people arriving are pretty completely incomplete, unfortunately.

None of our newspaper indexes since that time as they are, contain any reference, and samples of the Portland Directory every five years from 1867 to 1930 seem to indicate that he did live in Portland. Most people from the southern United States settled in eastern Oregon. But without any knowledge of what county or town he might have lived in, I'm unable to check our microfilms of the 1870 census, or that for 1880.

"There were some Strattons in Oregon in the 1820's—chiefly a Methodist Episcopal minister, C. C. Stratton, and Riley E. Stratton, who became quite prominent in Eugene. Both these men seem to have come to Oregon from Indiana.

"It's possible that the State Library in Salem may be able to turn up something for you. The State Library has a genealogical collection and I'm sure they would be delighted to have a copy of your Floyd county history. I'm sorry we haven't been able to turn up anything."

Then a letter went about the locality and postoffice of Seneca. On Sept. 22, the Seneca note: "Seneca did not become a postoffice until 1863, according to Oregon Geographic Names; however, I have checked through the Seneca census of 1850 and 1860 for Grant county. No Stratton appears. Presumably he missed the census or came to Grant county later than 1860. Since the detailed records of the census for 1860 were destroyed by fire, it seems you'll have to resort to that of 1850. Neither the Historical Society nor the State Library has anything more recent than the 1860 census, so you'll have to write to the National Archives, Washington, D. C., to check on the 1860 census.

"We have a history of Grant county—Illustrated History of Baker, Grant, Malheur and Harney Counties—published by the Western Historical Publishing Company in 1902, and though this mentions Seneca on p. 451, there is no reference to Samuel G. Stratton.

"I'm sorry again—but no results." Well, anyway, this column knows that he went to Grant county, Oregon. After the sojourn of Isaac Stratton with his uncle and cousins in Oregon, they may have emigrated "lock, stock and barrel" to some other state. We only know for sure that he left Floyd county and went to Oregon.

Samuel G.'s brother, Lindsay, went to Kansas and settled at Louisville, a place probably named by migrating Kentuckians. Essie M. Stratton, married a grandson of old Lindsay and is postmaster of Louisville. Through her kind offices the family history of Lindsay has been reconstructed.

KENTUCKY ON THE MARCH
By Irving Outlaw

—Ego—some spark within us which leads us to believe we are better than we are, and which is often instrumental in proving it.—Frank Irvin Fletcher, quoted in the Reader's Digest.

That is putting it entirely too mildly. Ego is a major factor in the lives of nearly all men and women who achieve a considerable degree of success. Also, it is the fuel that every day keeps many a human engine going. Yes, one might say it is abundant in all persons who accomplish things, and practically absent in people who do not try to rise above a humdrum existence.

With your weekly correspondent it is a case of ego always in a struggle to overcome himself. And let me tell you, brothers and sisters, it takes a lot of ego to overcome lethargy. Every now and then the old battery of the mind insists that a letter the other day from a fellow newspaperman in Cynthiana, the name omitted, wrote about re-

Vehicle Rules Revision Effective December 1, Announced by Kinnaird

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 10 (Sp)—A complete revision of rules and regulations affecting taxicabs, buses and trucks will take effect Dec. 1 following filing by the Department of Motor Transportation with the State Vehicle Commission of the new rules of the agency.

The proposed changes are the first complete revision by any agency of its rules and regulations filed with the Commission, under terms of the 1952 law requiring such filing. "We have endeavored to make necessary adjustments in the rules to meet changing conditions and yet to deal with all segments of the transportation industry under our jurisdiction equitably and in conformity with the spirit of the law," observed Commissioner of Motor Transportation John M. Kinnaird. "We have sought the co-operation and advice of the industry in formulation of the rules to the end all are treated justly."

The changes generally remove ambiguous and uncertain ties from existing procedures, recognize outstanding changes effected by the 1952 legislation and tighten safety requirements on the part of all operators.

In the field of safety, new bus rules forbid the passengers crowding into the rear seats and passengers from standing in the stair well of buses. It also forbids taxicabs from carrying more than one passenger in the front seat of the vehicle.

Every bus line must file its time and fare schedule with the Department of Motor Transportation under the revision.

A rule listing each taxicab driver with the Department was relaxed. However, because of frequent turnover of personnel in this category, the list must be kept in the office of each taxicab firm.

In an effort to stabilize the taxicab industry, the leasing of vehicles by individuals is forbidden. Frequently, the holder of a certificate operate 20 cabs would himself own only two or three vehicles, and lease others, with the result that an unstable condition was created.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court, rendered and entered at the November term, 1952, in the above-styled cause, I shall proceed to offer for sale at the courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Ky., to the highest and best bidder, at public auction, on the 1st day of December, 1952, at one o'clock P.M., same being a regular judicial day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, upon a credit of three months, the following described property, to-wit:

And So We Lost Again

FLOYD county and the eastern part of Kentucky were the losers again recently when the two giant power-producing plants to supply electric energy for the atomic plant near Portsmouth, O., were located near Gallipolis O., and at Madison, Indiana.

This means no coal from this section will go into these great coal-consuming plants. Costly transportation, an un-ionized field with a non-union field as a competitor, other fields with advantages in the matter of distance and transportation costs, and a highly competitive market in which, because of these factors, we are weak competitors—all this piles up handicap upon handicap for Eastern Kentucky.

And now this, another lost hope.

Left to this section is the forlorn hope that the huge coal tonnage these two power plants will buy from West Virginia, Indiana and western Kentucky will make it possible for mines of this section to find markets which may be neglected by these three fields as they supply the power plants.

Who is to blame for this situation? Are we going to blame our Senators and Congressmen? Or the Atomic Energy Commission? The President? We shall have to find somebody, surely.

Then let's blame ourselves. For the selection of these sites was made by one Mr. Philip Sporn, head of the giant power combine which will supply electric power to the Ohio atomic plant, and by the board of directors of his company.

We must blame ourselves when we consider what the winning communities did to enhance their chances. Gallipolis, for instance, went to work soon after it became known that such a plant might be located somewhere along the Ohio river between Ashland and Point Pleasant. It laid the facts on the line, told the Gallipolis story; it pointed out every possible advantage.

Meanwhile, we did nothing. We merely hoped that Ashland, or some community near that city, would be selected. We merely said to ourselves, "That would be great. Ashland is there and they know it. They should put one of the plants there, since Ohio got the atomic plant itself." And there we rested.

This wasn't a matter of politics or political influence. It was a decision made by business men dealing with hard facts and cold cash. They will spend four hundred million dollars on the two plants and their facilities, and at each will employ from two to three thousand men.

It was a rich plum, this, but no political plum. We again rested when we should have been up and doing. Then, even had we lost, we would have benefitted from our experience, would have found common cause and strength in concerted effort and thus would have been better prepared for the next opportunity—if, indeed, there is another opportunity.

But we slept, all the way from Ashland to the Breaks of Sandusky. Then we began cursing after reading our newspapers about what had happened.

Had there been a certainty that one of the two plants would be located between Ashland and Elkhorn City, then you would have seen every town and village en route battling in full array. For we excel in fighting among ourselves, meanwhile doing nothing when our efforts would mean something to all of us.

Lauds Soldier-Victim

October 21, 1952

Mrs. Julia Whittaker West Prestonsburg, Ky.

Dear Mrs. Whittaker: Confirming the recent notification informing you of the death of your son, Opl. Carl Whittaker, I wish to express my heartfelt sympathy in your bereavement.

Your son died as a consequence of injuries received in an automobile accident on October 21, 1952. He was riding as a passenger in a military ambulance which went out of control and was wrecked as a result of a tire blow-out. The accident occurred near Oro Grande, New Mexico.

As a member of this Command, your son was liked by all of his associates. He was an excellent soldier, performing all tasks assigned him in a cheerful and efficient manner; thereby winning the commendation of his immediate superiors and the respect of his comrades. He was one of the outstanding soldiers of White Sands Proving Ground, and his entire military record indicates the same in his service prior to his arrival at this Activity. News of his death came as a shock to all who knew him and his loss will be felt keenly in your bereavement.

I sincerely hope that the knowledge that your son was an exemplary soldier and died while serving his country will afford you some consolation in your bereavement.

Ordinance Corps, White Sands Proving Ground Office of the Commanding General Las Cruces, New Mexico 10.

On a statewide basis cotton is no longer a major crop in Kentucky, but in Hickman and Fulton counties it is still a million-dollar crop.

Modern City Problems, Merchandising Methods, Subject of Clinic Talks

Main street modernization, solutions to merchandising are scheduled for clinical discussion in three similar meetings to be held in Kentucky next week. A part of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce's broad community development program, these meetings are designed primarily for the retail merchant and civic officials and development leaders, according to R. M. Watt, Lexington, chairman of the KCC Industrial Development Committee.

First of the three clinics will be held at the Paintsville Country Club in Paintsville, Nov. 17. On Nov. 18, the clinic will move to the Phoenix hotel in Lexington, and the final meeting is scheduled for Kentucky Dam Village State Park on Nov. 20. All meetings begin at 10 a.m. local time.

Frank J. Smith, manager of the sales department of the Kawneer Company, Niles, Mich., will conduct the clinic on main street modernization. He will discuss methods of joint action for beautification and remodeling of Kentucky's business districts. Financing and design of modernization programs will be presented.

Michael Twomey, Jr., manager of the Kawneer Company's news business, will conduct a discussion and offer pointers regarding community parking problems. The effect of better parking facilities on retail business and methods of solving overcrowded parking areas will be presented.

Reports in the field of retail merchandizing will participate with Twomey and Smith in a panel discussion following the presentation of the parking and remodeling programs. The floor will be opened to questions directed toward the experts.

Watt said that more than 1,500 have been invited to attend the three meetings, and he urges all interested persons—especially merchants, chamber of commerce leaders, and local officials—to attend. This is part of the State Chamber's community development program which began with the Test City program at London four years ago.

Abraham Lincoln was once tried in Kentucky for infringement of ferry rights. The trial took place at Lewisport in 1827 and the 18-year old Lincoln acted as his own lawyer. He was acquitted.

It will be the endeavor of the Authority to save as many children as possible, rather than to commit all of them to Houses of Reform, Goheen explained.

SENATOR BRIDGES ASKS POSITIVE VIEW ON KOREA

IT'S A GOOD WORLD
BY WILMAV

It is all over but the shouting, and President-elect Eisenhower is sure to need our help and prayers. When we hear many predict soup and breadlines and jobless numbers like the C.O.P. was victorious, we feel sorry for them. It can happen with any man or either party in office. It will likely happen, regardless of who is in power, and if the nation ever begins to pull out of the red, wipe out her indebtedness and live within her income, and balance the budget. But which party incurred the more of our present national indebtedness of some two hundred and fifty-billion dollars.

Remember when Mr. Roosevelt was a candidate against Mr. Hoover? He insisted that the debt of several billion dollars was a figure dangerous to the American economy. He promised to balance the budget to pay the debt. Yet when he became American president more than he had at any time in history; furthermore, all of it was not the result of war.

Would we be so ignorant as to blame the war on him? Would we say we would never again vote Democratic because the two World Wars occurred under Democratic Presidents, Roosevelt and Wilson? Certainly not. Yet such philosophy is identical with holding poor, old ex-President Hoover responsible for the last depression, which in many ways was a milder one than the panic of 1898 when Grover Cleveland was in the White House—and he was a Democrat of all things!

It is high time we grew up as parents and teachers and stop telling our children lies. Why not teach them to think for themselves? We can tell them to study history, which clearly shows that depressions have to date inevitably followed every great war in any country, and this recent one will be no exception, we fear. Someone says, "But Hoover did nothing about the depression." Can't we be honest? What man would gain a solitary thing by provoking a depression or through failure to do everything in his power to avert a minimize it?

A third point, in addition to the controversial subjects of war and peace is the corruption. Again we insist that this, too, has occurred and will, with either party in power. The Teapot Dome scandals of the 1920s, during the Harding regime, were a close parallel to the recent ones in Washington. If present-day ones are worse, and in some respects they are, it is because we have more public officials today than 30 years ago, and also because the entire moral fiber of our nation is at its lowest ebb to date. It is not simply because the Democrats have had the reins; however, we do venture to state that either party that stays in power 15 or 20 years will become more corrupt than if shorter terms occur.

We cannot be intelligent without effort, and narrow-mindedness on the part of all or any of us is destructive to the very welfare of our great country. Mr. Stevenson and President Truman have both shown an excellent spirit in the face of defeat. They have set the right example. A Republican victory is a healthy sign, just as the Democratic one was 20 years ago. Our two-party system is not dead. Our citizens are still thinking for themselves. Yet blocs voted against their own leadership. This, too, is a good omen. It is proof that America is made up of men and women who refuse to be led around by anyone if they happen to differ, and as a free and independent people we reserve the right to differ. Our forefathers crossed the Atlantic ocean for just such freedom and it is gratifying to note that their descendants in the Twentieth Century intend to preserve that independence.

There is one other thing for us to keep in mind. World War II, and the Korean War, as well as some of more ancient vintage, are yet to be paid for; and so is all the social programs enacted by the Democrats. Pay-day must come some day. It is not going to be easy, either, regardless of which party is in office at the time. The bill is more than enough to break the back of any camel; moreover, unemployment was never solved in recent years. It was simply postponed by war and government pump-priming which utilized manpower. That is not a slap at the Democrats, Mister. Most readers of men that our population has increased enormously since the 1898 panic, and had the Republicans been in office they might not have coped with it any better. When boys now in uniform are released we may again have a sample of unemployed men!

In 1840, there were 210,981 slaves in Kentucky.

A "positive proposal on Korea," calling for a national policy to protect "the collapse of Communist power," has been submitted to the American people by the ranking Republican member of the Senate Armed Services Committee, Styles Bridges, of New Hampshire. The detailed plan, timed for consideration immediately after the election, is in the November issue of the American Mercury.

"We can't win in Korea," Senator Bridges declares, "but we can't withdraw to peace, so we can't withdraw at all. We have to stay, not in despair but with new resolution. We must stay as part of a world plan with one clearly proclaimed objective: the ultimate disarming of Communism."

The Senator calls for a great national debate on what to do now about the Korean war. "This debate," he says, "must be conducted by patriots who are seeking neither American advantage nor the vindication of past position. The issue must be proposed action, and from this debate must come understanding and a new national resolution."

Senator Bridges asks first for national agreement on what he calls the "fact" of the war: "We are at war," he says, "and we are likely to be at war for many years. The President we have elected will be a war president; our economy will continue to be a war economy. Our taxes will be high; and our sons will be drafted into the military."

"There is no parallel of latitude nor national boundary," he declares, "on which we can 'sign an armistice' and 'go home.' We are in a great world power struggle which must end in the disarmament of our enemy or in defeat for America."

The Senator has had a prominent role in all the disputes over our Asiatic policy, including the MacArthur hearings.

He calls for national agreement on a second "fact"—the "fact" that China, the heart of Asia, has been lost and can be regained "only that day, probably distant, when armed Communism collapses in Asia and our idea prevails."

Our immediate task," he sets forth, "is to understand, enumerate, and then to rally our Asiatic allies. And these allies, to the everlasting credit of America, are numerous. For years we have heard little but talk about how many millions of Asiatics are arrayed against us. What we need to recognize now is that there are even more millions of Asiatics waiting on American leadership to be arrayed against Communism."

To implant his proposed policy for applying "maximum pressure against the Asiatic periphery of the Communist world," Senator Bridges makes these suggestions:

1. That there be no political re-

TEACHER RETIREMENT RECEIPTS

Kentucky's 23,000 school teacher members of the State Teacher Retirement System have potential retirement benefits of $72,828,000 due them over a period of years—and the System has on hand $23,000,000—only one-third of the amount necessary to "fund" the system. . . . O. Kimbler, secretary of the Retirement System, explained. The fund is actually sound and is capable of meeting all obligations, he pointed out. Since the system was put in operation 12 years ago it has earned $2,528,000—almost enough to meet annuity payments which have aggregated $2,150,000 over the period.

"By the Side of the Road"

For 34 years I have lived in my home by the side of the road, so many like Sam Walter Foss, man in the famous poem, except that, instead of "sitting in the scorners' seat or hurling the cynic's ban," I have watched the customs go by and be lost down the road in that half of a lifetime. When we first moved here, in 1918, World War I was still in progress; in fact, that dreadful summer seemed almost the end of the world. The famous Armistice Day came the following November, the day that so many of us thought marked the end of all wars. Unfortunately, we were too short-sighted. But that very war hastened the progress downhill of many of our old-time customs. And, as I sat by my window at my desk, I saw the horse-drawn vehicles gradually become fewer and fewer as the years came and went. For some years some old-time buggies came by, probably not more than one new one in 10 years; but as the automobiles grew plentiful, the horse and his vehicle became more like museum pieces. And just this week I heard a strange sound and at first could not recall what it was like. I ran to the window and looked out. A one-horse wagon, somewhat the worse for age and wear, was going by, drawn by a spirited horse that once would have excited admiration. I fear that any driver meeting the odd vehicle wished that such dangerous things—dangerous to cars—would stay off the streets. And this has passed a whole cycle of human life, typified by the horse-and-buggy days.

For some time after 1918 one of my neighbors had his living installing electric-light plants in houses, hotels, and even groups of houses. Places that were far from town thus got a light to drive away the darkness. Not too many years ago before the R.E.A. lines reached Fidelity, I spoke at the high school there and was somewhat amazed at the bright lights from such a plant as the one I have mentioned. World War II somewhat delayed R.E.A., but since the end of the war electric lines have just about gone to the remotest sections. A kerosene lamp now is a sort of antique. Just yesterday I attended a 4-H Club meeting where the children were planning an auction sale to raise money to pay on the new 4-H camp near Dawson Springs. Among the oddities that people suggested for sale were kerosene lamps, and one leader remarked that there ought to be lots of interesting ones in the county. I should think so! It was only a brief time ago that an electric light in any house except in the county seat of that county would have been a nine-days' wonder. Since electricity has come to Fidelity and to remote places everywhere, another era of human life has ended. "Let there be light" probably does not bring such pictures of primeval darkness as the magic words once did.

There was a time and a very long one when tramps, real footsore ones, came by, seeking food or just wandering by. Hitch-hiking was unknown then, unless one wanted to ride across a few miles on a job wagon. I cannot recall when I ever saw an old-time tramp. My horse used to be the last one inside the town; maybe that accounted for so many wanderers. The vacant lots beyond me have about all been filled with houses, and the boundaries of the city have been extended for a very long distance. But I suspect
