Why Pupils Quit School

Topic of Study Discussed at Meet; Parents Are Blamed

Why pupils quit school was the subject of a conference held at the grade school building here Tuesday...

Starting with figures showing that over the nation only one of 10 pupils who start in the grades complete high school...

Sixteen quit because of lack of interest; four, to go to work; five, because of illness...

After all available data was studied, the feeling persisted that back of all this failure of youngsters to continue in school was the lack of parental interest.

The study will be continued, Mr. Edwards told the gathering of 24 of whom represented Floyd county.

Freed, Thankful Gloria Kramer Vows To Steer Clear of Crime

Mrs. Gloria Kramer's troubles with the law are over, unless she gets involved all over again...

The Louisville woman, who last week for the second time went on trial for the unlawful imprisonment and armed robbery of Nolan Worley...

A larger automatic with which she allegedly had threatened Worley was taken from her by Deputies Frank Gunn and Frank Parsons...

At her two trials Mrs. Kramer denied forcing Worley to give her to this county, but in a letter written at the county jail Tuesday to Circuit Judge Hill the woman expressed the hope that "Nolan Worley will forgive me..."

Her letter to Judge Hill follows, in part: "It is daylight now and I follow your decision pretty soon. I want you to know that I will take prison with an humble and respectful attitude, and that at no time while I am there will I do anything to make the people of Prestonsburg know how much I appreciate what they have done to give me a trial..."

DRAFT CALLS HIT TEACHERS

Replacements Lacking School System Seeking Temporary Deferrals

Demands of the military draft are hitting Floyd county's schools hard, Superintendent Virgil O. Turner said Wednesday as he discussed past and prospective losses of key teaching personnel...

Moreover, said the Superintendent, it isn't certain what can be done to relieve the situation. State selective service headquarters have declined to take action to defer teachers...

Turner said that a check with the several teachers colleges has failed to find replacements for members of the Floyd teaching staff called up for service...

The subject arose this week when 20 of the teachers were listed among the 20 notified to appear here Monday for induction. The induction lists follow:

Clyde Wayne Lee, Wayland; Haskell, Gene Sturgill, Harold; James Oliver Dings, Martin; Marvin Sexton, Drift; Edward Mann, Wayland; Curtis Sanford, Conn. Printer; Raymond Stephens, Manton; Irvine Arrowswood Center, Betsy Layne; Press Johnson, formerly of Bevinville, now of Zion; Wheeler Stephens, Pineville; James Wesley Keathley, Osborn; Clarence M. CLARK WILL GO TO KNOTT

Before Grand Jury If Wanted; Cooper At Hindman Monday

Curtis Clark, Republican nominee for Congress at the recent election, in a telephone conversation with Knott County Attorney Cordell Martin, offered to appear before the grand jury at Hindman if he "was wanted" it was said Tuesday...

Senator John Sherman Cooper had appeared Monday and was closeted with the Knott grand jury for half an hour. Clark's non-appearance was not due to the fact that he was not subpoenaed, he says, but after detailing certain irregularities in the Knott election to County Attorney Martin in the telephone conversation he was only asked to appear if he wanted to do so...

Subpoenas had been issued for Senator Cooper and Congressman Thurston B. Morton to tell the grand jury there what they knew of irregularities in Knott county during the recent election...

No subpoena was served on Senator Cooper, he said, but he went to Hindman because he had seen newspaper reports that he was expected to appear before the grand jury. "I am here to do that, if they want me," he said.

A few minutes later, after a brief conference with Circuit Judge John C. Cornett, Senator Cooper went into the grand jury room.

"I can only repeat what I said on election day," the senator from Somerset declared, "that I had heard reports on election irregularities in this and some other counties."

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

THANKS MRS. DINGUS
Editor, The Times:
If there is anybody this county owes a vote of thanks to, it is "Aunt" Manda Dingus and her kind friends, who so graciously permit the use of their lovely hillside for the Passion Pageant, free of charge.

Aunt Manda is known as one of the most devout women of this section. Many are familiar with the strength and power of her prayers. Had it not been for her vision and generosity, there would be no pageant.

She alone is indispensable to the pageant. It can do without every one else. In a quiet, behind-the-scenes way, she has been a vital force and moving factor in it, seeking no limelight, getting little praise and thanks, but her influence is deeply and constantly felt by the leaders.

The task is so huge that only recently everyone felt inclined to give up the undertaking, which brought rapid fame to the small mining village last spring. Somebody asked Aunt Manda to pray and in no time new life was felt creeping into the organization.

Aunt Manda may not live to see the complete fruition of her dreams; she has always prayed that the hill might some day be used for the glory of her saviour. She may not be here when the pageant reaches the heights expected, but she has done more than any one else to make it possible, and Martin will long remember her reverently for it.

WILMA MAY
SAYS RACKET EXISTS
Editor, The Times:
There appears to be a vicious speed trap racket, being operated on Right Beaver Creek in Magistrate M. C. Wright's district. Motorists have been arrested for speeding when, as far as they knew, no speed limit exists. These arrests are being made by deputy constables, one of whom is Dewey Mosley.

If you are caught, you pay a $22 fine.
The only interest the writer of this letter has is seeing that this racket is broken up. It's not right that deputy constables parade the highway like road-runners preying on innocent people.

and the Legislature enacted legislation enabling that purpose. Then, on Dec. 31, that year, the fiscal court had its special meeting with Magistrates Burchett, Stumbo and Roberts attending. The salaries for the four-year period were set at that meeting, as follows: County Judge, $3,500; County Attorney, $3,000; County Clerk, $1,200.

County Judge Alex L. Davidson presided at both meetings. It was said here this week that the court had an Attorney General's opinion saying the procedure was legal, in view of the fact that salary raises had been provided by the Constitutional amendment and by legislative action.

The Tax League contends, however, that the fiscal court during 1950 and the two succeeding years levied taxes for public purposes and that the court was authorized only to budget, appropriate and expend funds for laudible public purposes and that the court was authorized to pay the Judge only such sums as were voted by the court at the April, 1949 meeting.

The suit attacks payment of salary amounting to $450 a month to Judge Stumbo during 1950, 1951 and 1952.

The petition prepared by Jesse K. Lewis, Tax League attorney, names M. C. Wright, J. E. Harris, Edgar Howell and Ellis Martin, Magistrates, as co-defendants with Judge Stumbo. The list of plaintiffs includes League directors, John Warrick, Gorman Collins, Joe H. Cooley, Polk Saunders, Henry P. Scalf and Dr. Edward B. Leslie.

A total of 1,779 people participated in the 4-H fair and parade in Pike county including 27 clubs and four bands.

PRAYER, PRAISE AND PROPHECY REWARDED

For fear I will be misunderstood by wise men I would be thankful if you would point another article for me, to prove to saints and sinners, Democrats and Republicans that my letter-writing has been divinely guided, as I proved in Floyd county circuit court Feb. 13, 1948. I have a letter from a man in Washington, D. C. that prophesied on divine guidance of Dwight D. Eisenhower, President-elect and he uses the No. 7.

I can use the No. 7 and prove at my points. I work with Bible numbers.

Oct. 7, 1945, I wrote a man a letter with divine guidance I wrote it on a Bible with a bloodstained pen. I proved it to be a true letter, and I am still writing letters with divine guidance. I am the first-born of 40, the mother of 7 children. I am the mother of 7 children. I was 3 times seven when I was first married. I was 4 times 7 when I was first widowed by death. I believe 4 and 3 are numbers that link divinity and humanity. I was born the 4th month, 3rd day.

I know the Bible says the widows were neglected in the days of the apostles and I know they are neglected today. I know the Bible says (Acts 6:3) to look out 7 men of honest report full of Holy Ghost and wisdom to look after the neglected widows.

I know Psalms, 146th chapter 8th verse, says: "I, the Lord, preserve the fatherless and widows. But the way of the wicked He turneth upside down." I had a printed prayer on my safe and picture of man and woman that was sent to me from Washington, D. C. called the White Robot of 40. I use the No. 40. I have to work alone. If it takes 40 days to get a special prayer answered, I work until a voice and a knock on my door tell me my prayer is answered.

I sent the copy of the prayer to County Judge Henry Stumbo for a witness, and I reserved one for future reference to any one who is divinely guided to my rescue. I had on my safe the picture of Judge Bert T. Conks in 1951. Divinely guided and rewarded. I had on my safe the picture of Coroner James J. Carter, Aug. 1951. Divinely guided and rewarded. I had on my safe a picture of Dwight D. Eisenhower, President-elect. Divinely guided and rewarded. If that is not enough proof, read Rev. 22:17: "And the Spirit and the Bride say, Come."

EVA MEADE HALL

The prophecies of Dwight D. Eisenhower's destiny are printed below:

June 30, 1948
Mr. Dwight D. Eisenhower, President Columbia University, New York, N. Y.

Dear Sir:

Under the direction of the Spirit of God, I write you this letter. It was under the guidance of the Holy Prophets of old that God made sure and unfolding the steps of men who were ordained by Him to lead His people.

Your rise to political influence has not been the product, nor has it been by the will of men but by the will of God. God raised you up to serve His people—America, made up of every kindred and tongue... living under one flag in peace. Your humble and unselfish spirit declares this to be true. These characters mark your greatness:

The Number Seven, which is God's Perfect Number for God works only in cycles of seven, has climaxed and confirmed your every move which established the fact that you are under Divine Guidance. You rose to prominence in a war that this country was ushered into by the hardy attack of the Japs at Pearl Harbor, December 7, 1941.

You began your operation as Supreme Commander of the Allied Forces against the Germans in Africa on November 7, 1942. Tunisia fell on May 7 under the attacks made under your command. The period from November 7 to May 7 is exactly seven months. "V-E" day came in Europe on May 7, 1944; it was officially announced in America on May 8, "V-J" day came on the 14th of August, which is a multiple of seven. You retired as Chief of Staff on February 7, 1948, and were officially sworn in as president of Columbia University on June 7, 1948.

From your humble servant, in the service of God and humanity,
Elder Lightfoot Solomon Michaux

April 3, 1952
General Dwight D. Eisenhower
Supreme Commander
Allied Powers Europe
Paris, France

No. 1, Rue De Presbourg
Paris, France

Dear General:

The "Sevens" are up again. God's Perfect Number (7).

Enclosed you will find a copy of the letter I sent you in 1948. Also enclosing a sketch that God moved me to make of your start to the White House. I got our church artist to draw it for you and Mrs. Eisenhower. The lady in the drawing is Mrs. Eisenhower.

The 7 votes in New Hampshire were cast for you; all the 14 delegates were given to you. Seven votes and 14 delegates total 21, which are three sevens. "Twenty-One" means MAN, or to speak more pointedly, YOU ARE GOD'S MAN!

From your friend,
Elder Lightfoot Solomon Michaux

Tackett Leads Martin In Defeating Garrett And Maytown Teams

After losing its season-opener to the powerful Hindman Yellow Jackets, 46-42, the Martin Purple Flash stormed back to defeat two of its strongest Floyd county net rivals, Garrett and Maytown, over the week-end.

Led by Tackett, sensational center who scored 60 points in the two contests, the Flash defeated Garrett at Martin November 7, 81 to 48. Away from home the following evening, they downed Maytown 64-50, in a much-closer and more interesting game. Tackett scored 33 points in the game against Garrett. Against Maytown he netted 27 points and his teammate, Click, at forward scored 20. Turner led the Martin attack at Guard with 21 points.

DAYS AND WEEKS ...

AND DAYS ...

This month and next, I stand reminded, are just full of days and weeks. Not just 30 days and four weeks each. But particular Days and Weeks. If you follow me.

November, for instance, started off with National Authors' Day. My source material suggests that's time to buy the editor a cigar, but it strikes me we've run across that a little late. The first week of the month was National Art Week, and as far as I'm concerned that left at least one editor completely out of the running for anything.

Nov. 1-9 also was National 4-H Club Achievement Week—recognition of our finer youngsters—and the very next seven-day period was National Beauty Salon Week, whatever that's supposed to do for the community.

We were aware (and did nothing much about it) that Nov. 10-15 was National Education Week. Beginning a day after NEW (presuming you know your alphabetical listings after all these years), and lasting two days longer was National Cat Week.

Newspapers were told that dealers in pets and puppies were good advertising sources during National Cat Week, but we failed to get the connection. Also failed to get any ads in that department.

On that next day we have our informant up a tree. It says here that Nov. 13 is Sledge Harkins Day.
Now if there is any Day I know anything about, it's SHD. And it ain't been run off this year. Old Man Kose made his prediction, all right, but the Day itself is next Saturday—and may the best gal win!

Diabetes Week was Nov. 16-20, and National Hide Harkins Day was scheduled to begin even as this was written. Nov. 25, winding up Dec. 1.
Too, there's that wonderful event of this Thursday.

And then we start December off,
we are told, with National Propriety Week. If this means anything, maybe the editor can buy his own cigars.

We hail the 4-Hers, National Education Week, Diabetes Week and Thanksgiving and the week to start,
Dec. 7-14—National Golden Rule Week. Oh, brother, we could do with a lot of this one!

And then there's Christmas, full stockings and flat pocketbooks. This year, it is suggested, take the editor to church. And that isn't a bad idea for us all. . . . Why do folks think only the editor needs to be there?

ATTEND MEETING
Lackey—Dr. and Mrs. M. M. Collins attended the C. & O. surgeons' meeting at White Sulphur Springs, W. Va., this week. They were guests of the C. & O. at the Greenbrier

LAKE SECTION NOT CLOSED

To Hunters This Year As Postings Incomplete; More Turkeys Liberated

Contrary to reports which were widespread, the Dewey reservoir area has not been closed to hunting this year. R. L. Johnson, district supervisor, Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, said here Saturday.

The area has been planned as a game refuge and would have been closed to hunting this season, it was said, had there been time to post it so as to make enforcement possible.

Mr. Burke also announced that 46 wild turkeys have been released in the area within the last 10 days. These, added to turkeys previously liberated there, brings to more than 100 the number used in an attempt to stock the reservoir section with this type of wildlife.

Kentucky's nimbros start on their annual pilgrimage in quest of quail and rabbits this "Thursday morning" and early indications are that they should have better than average success. Reports from throughout the state, the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources claims, indicate that hunting for both rabbits and quail generally throughout the state should be better than for the last season. In many sections, great increases in the supply of rabbits and birds are claimed, while in other areas it is reported that the populations are just about the same as for last season.

The ruffed grouse hunting season also opens today, as well as hunting with dogs and guns for furbearing animals. The trapping season, beginning at the same time, continues through Jan. 18. The duck season opens Monday at noon and will continue through Jan. 10. The season closes on rabbit, grouse and

New Grade Net Loop Begins Its Schedule

T. J. Allen. The ouster was upheld by Floyd circuit court, but reversed by the Court of Appeals on the first appeal.

Then, Martin having advanced to a fourth class city from the sixth class passed an ordinance to abolish the water commission, creating a waterwork committee instead. T. J. Allen, C. F. Allen and Z. C. Dugas were named members of the committee.

The high court, in an opinion by Judge Parker Duncan, said last week that if the Council's right to "weest control in the indirect method" were upheld, succeeding councils could do the same.

"The plant would then be subjected to the very evils" which the original ordinance sought to eliminate.

The court held that the original ordinance was "contractual in nature" and cannot be repealed as long as the bonds are outstanding.

It was claimed that Hicks was shot as he ran, unarmed, and while offering no threat to the officer.

After the Thanksgiving holiday today, court will resume Friday with the trials of Herzhell Hall, accused of carrying a concealed deadly weapon, and Eva Hall, charged with false swearing.

The next major trial will be the murder case of Milt Hunt, charged with the slaying of Jake Salisbury at Harlot. The trial was postponed earlier in the term when it was claimed that Mrs. Hunt, one of the three defendants in the case, was unable to make her court appearance.

Last Wednesday, the court ordered that Arnold Artip show cause at the first day of the January, 1953 term why probation of his sentence on a child desertion conviction should not be revoked. On his failure to do so, the order provided, his bond will be forfeited.

This week saw little activity in the court. These cases were dismissed:

Herbert Blevins, assault and battery with an auto; John May, carrying a concealed deadly weapon, lack of evidence; Marion Hatfield, entering and conspiracy, lack of evidence; John Rice, child desertion, and Homer Prater, assault and battery.

Fox and 'Coon Hunt Ban Lited by Commission

The ban on hunting coons with dogs only, fox hunting and birdshot trials, which was invoked due to forest fires, has been lifted by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources as of Monday. There still is no open season on any game that may be taken by guns, and the "gun" season will not open until November 11 when ducks and geese may be killed. On November 20 the season for killing quail and rabbits opens as well as the taking of coons and opossums with guns.

The announcement of the lifting of the ban was made Monday morning by Earl Wallace, Commissioner of the Department, following widespread rains over the week-end which lessened the threat of forest fires.

First of McGuire Family Here Was Magistrate and Minister

By Henry P. Scalf

The history of any family begins in the dim past—far back into the earliest days where you can pin down the first authentic fact or recover from the record the first name. It is thus with the McGuire family.

Centuries ago, they lived in the highlands of Scotland, and their cousins of the same name (but perhaps with a variant in the spelling) lived in Ireland. They were O'G and Gaelic descendants of the Picts and Scots who emerged into the first faint light of the historic period as residents of Scotland.

These first McGuires lived under the cross of the Scottish Highlands. Their brothers wandered over the hills and, crossing the Irish Sea, settled in Ireland. Restless, as many a people under the stimulus of stories about America were, some of the family came here. Who was the first and where they settled we do not know. Like the Scotch-Irish of which so much has been written, these first McGuires entered the wilderness of the western woods and penetrated over the Alleghenies.

We find the first McGuire in Augusta county, Virginia, which at the time of its establishment in 1793 was a vast domain including all of Western Virginia and that part now West Virginia, a great segment of Pennsylvania, Kentucky and the wild, uninhabited wilderness on the Ohio. In this vast land of Augusta the McGuires lived and left their name upon the record. From the court records of Augusta we pick up the first names.

There was John, William and a Jesse. Just names on a deed or some official record that had to be recorded at Staunton. These are old family names. When they intermarry with other families, they seldom broke the chain of Johns and Williams.

William McGuire and his wife Mary, lived in that part of Augusta that is now Tazewell county. His name is on the Augusta and Tazewell county records as well as that of Floyd county, Kentucky. He grew old on the frontier. In his lifetime he knew all the prominent men on the Big Sandy. Men like John Graham, John Hatcher, Harry Stratton and Spencer Adkins. These men had in him a confidence to the extent that they deposited with him papers of an official nature for safe-keeping on the frontier where court-houses were few and far away.

William McGuire came to Big Sandy but did not take up permanent residence.

He acquired land here for a fee-simple title as his by purchase or pre-emption. Being old and vexed with a law suit to take his lands by Richard Dameron, he executed a power of attorney to John Hackworth, of Floyd county. The date of the instrument is April 20, 1816. Hackworth was to have power to act for him in the suit.

William McGuire and his wife, Mary, were witnesses in one of the most important lawsuits of the early days. This was the suit of John Hackworth vs. John Graham, brought in 1817 in Floyd county. The latter had in controversy was Graham's Bottom, consisting of 150 acres, later to form the nucleus of the Graham homestead at the present site of Emma. John Graham had leased the land, which was in reality a part of the John Preston Grant to Hackworth and Moses Preston. Hackworth says in the old suit that he bought out Moses Preston and, later, John Graham. The latter had been deposited with William McGuire in Tazewell county.

One day John Graham and John Hackworth came riding over the Tazewell hills and arrived at the McGuire home. Their business was to lift the agreement from the McGuire and re-posit it with John Hackworth. So that part of the original agreement between Graham and Hackworth is a part of the original agreement supported by William and Mary McGuire, John Sellards and others.

William McGuire died and is buried in Tazewell county. His relationship to certain other McGuires is uncertain. He was, and this is a mere guess, probably father of Cornelius, the early Methodist minister in Floyd county. Jesse may have been a brother. Certain it is that these three were close relatives.

We digress here from the Big Sandy McGuire to call attention to others of the name that came to early Floyd. These were the McGuires of the present Morgan county, which was a part of the original Floyd county. The connection of this family to the Big Sandy McGuire is not established and is probably remote.

There was John McGuire who married Nancy, daughter of William Robert and Elizabeth Buchanan Leslie. William Robert Leslie was the first settler on Johns Creek and choked to death on broiled venison in the first decade of the nineteenth century. Certain family historians state that Nancy Leslie married John McGuire in Montgomery county, Virginia. John, while Hackworth was back in Virginia, and was being given a power of attorney from William McGuire to defend a lawsuit from Richard Dameron, bought from John Graham a parcel of Floyd county land. It may have been, and evidence corroborates that it was, when Graham and Hackworth made the journey to pick up the agreement at William McGuire's that later was the subject of a legal controversy between them.

The land that John bought of Graham was at and around the mouth of "Butler's" Creek for the gap going over into Sower's Creek is mentioned. The date was April 9, 1816. It was for 230 acres and the consideration was $150. The McGuires later sold this land to John Crider and it remained in that family until the Dewey Reservoir was built and the government acquired title. An interesting comment would be comparison of the original $150 purchase price of the 1816 transaction and the large sums paid by the government in 1950.

John McGuire died sometime between the purchase of the land and October 23, 1817—a period of about seven months. This is deduced from the old records. His widow later married Richard Elkins and they went to Hart's Creek on the Guyan River in 1816. Children of John and Nancy were William and Nancy, records of the Leslie family state. It is not very important in the McGuire story, but it is well here to point out what may be a discrepancy in the Richard Elkins and Nancy Leslie McGuire story. Certain it is that she married Elkins in 1816 but whether they moved to Hart's Creek or near the present Logan, W. Va., we cannot say. Rasland in his History of Logan County states: "Richard Elkins of Montgomery county also came with William Dinges and settled near the big island on Island Creek. The island was covered with a heavy growth of cane and Elkins leased it from Dinges and cleared it out and the first year that he cultivated it in corn he raised three thousand bushels or about 100 bushels to the acre." He was the father of a large family, his wife being a Miss McGuire of Montgomery."

We go back to the main stream of the McGuire story with reluctance, for we pick it up with misgivings as to how accurate is the genealogical data we are putting together. Our uncertainty as to what link we are on in the family tree begins with Cornelius McGuire, the early minister who married Esther Stratton, daughter of Solomon Stratton, Cornelius and Esther married in Montgomery county, Virginia, Dec. 29, 1787. For this we are indebted to the research of Joy Sparks, of Ashland, Ky., a Stratton descendant.

Historians of the McGuire family state that Cornelius and Esther had two children named William and Nancy. Shades of confusion! The present writer is inclined to think that this is right as to William but in error as to Nancy and that there were others.

Children of Cornelius and Esther Stratton McGuire were, the present writer thinks, Mary who married Pruitt, Peggy who married Henry S. Mayo, Levia who married George Martin, Jesse, who married Elizabeth Garriott (Garrett), Solomon who married Susanah Garriott, William who married Polly Stratton, Jane McGuire and Harry S. who married Diana K. Friend.

Cornelius was a noted Methodist minister in the early Big Sandy. He was one of the first Justices of the Peace in Floyd county when it was organized as a separate governmental unit, having been appointed by the Governor, Dec. 27, 1799. Henry (Harry) Stratton was another of the Justices. Harry built

WOMAN'S CLUB MEETS

The Betsy Layne Woman's Club held its regular monthly meeting, Thursday night, Nov. 20, at the home of Mrs. Scott Fitzgerald on the program list. Miss Alice Williams, presented a program on American History, entitled, "Our Native Land." Miss Williams then presented a picture of the Statue of Liberty and read the inscription as it appears on the base of the statue, written by Emma Lazarus. A few moments from the book, "Inside USA," by John Gunther, was read and then a short poem by F. Scott Fitzgerald on the subject. Miss Williams briefly discussed the Constitution of the United States and quoted from Gladstone concerning the constitution, "It is the greatest piece of work ever struck off at a given time by brain and purposes of man." She urged every member to familiarize herself with the constitution. The next feature was a picture story of our country, presenting America as her greatest writers have seen her. Miss Williams attempted to portray the era of our country through this picture story, with brief discussions of each author and the presentation of pictures pertaining to their works on their lives, thus showing the progress of a new young country to a great and wonderful nation. The final feature of the program was a quiz, "What Do You Know About Presidents of the Past?" with Mrs. Glenn Blackburn winning the prize for the highest score. Miss Williams concluded the program with the following quotation from Edgar A. Guest, as it appears in the club yearbook. "For this America began; To make a brotherhood of men." Mrs. Becher Hardwick, club president, presided at the business session. She announced mailing date for the veterans' Christmas stockings that the club members will fill. Mrs. Hancock urged members to enter the short story contest sponsored by the Literar: Division Fine Arts Department, KFWC. It was noted to write a letter to Governor Wetherby and to the county school board, stating that the club wants every Kentucky child to have benefits of driver training. Miss Williams was appointed Art contest chairman. Mrs. Glenn Blackburn reported on the progress of the Brownie Scout Troop and discussed ways of raising funds for the Girl Scout drive. The meeting was closed with a display of gift articles made by members for sale. A salad course was served to the following members: Mesdames T. J. Chandler, R. L. Anderson, Albert Greenwald, Glenn Blackburn, O. J. Williams, W. P. Howell, Becher Hardwick, Miss Alice Williams, and the hostess, Mrs. Layne.

The next regular meeting will be the annual Christmas party at the home of Mrs. O. J. Williams, Thursday night, Dec. 18, with Mrs. Glenn Blackburn, program leader.

Long before Indians or white-men lived in Kentucky, the country was inhabited by a race of people known as "Mound Builders." Little is known of them because they left no written record. However, some scientists have been able to discover, by examining the mounds of earth which they erected, a great deal of how they lived and worked.

BYE APPOINTED

Commissioner of Welfare Luther T. Goheen announced selection of William H. Pyle, head of the Greenback Houses of Reform, as director of the Kentucky Youth Authority. Pyle, former assistant superintendent of the Louisville and Jefferson County Children's Home, will continue as head of the Houses of Reform. The Youth Agency was created by the 1952 General Assembly and will supervise a new youth delinquent program.

CODE OPPOSED

Kentucky's Judicial Conference composed of Circuit and Appellate Judges, voiced disapproval of a proposed major change in Kentucky's new Code of Civil Procedure that will require open hearings in all equity cases—rather than permit them to be heard by deposition. The Circuit Judges' division of the conference voted, 23 to 12, against the proposal.

LAW RULED VALID

The Kentucky Court of Appeals gave its sanction to the 1949 special legislative session act authorizing the state to aid counties in assessment problems and ruled further that the law itself contains machinery for correction of erroneous assessment. It has been doubly charged that the law is invalid, and that under it favoritism had been shown by local officials in making assessments.

Eight farmers in Boyle county are planning to install irrigation systems next year.

FOREST FIRES COVERED AREA

Of 250,000 Timber Acres From Oct. 20 to Nov. 8, State's Forester Newland

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 14 (Sp.)—The recent outbreak of forest fires in Kentucky covered an estimated 250,000 acres of timber worth approximately $3,200,000, according to State Forester Harrod B. Newland. The estimates cover the period from Oct. 20 through Nov. 8.

A total of 854 fires were reported during the period and 26,825 man-hours were spent on the fire lines.

On Oct. 28, 1951 fires—the greatest number burning in any one day—were reported. More than 2,000 forestry and emergency personnel manned the fire lines in an effort to bring the 77,490 acres of burning timber under control.

The greatest amount of damage was reported in the Eastern and Southeastern sections of the state, according to Newland, but to obtain a more accurate account of acreage destroyed, air observers are plotting burned areas in each county.

Damage to farm buildings, crops and seed was reported high but no accurate estimate could be made without additional information, Newland said.

Newland warned that although the emergency has passed, the danger from fires will continue through the middle of December.

Prayer and worship were unusual in this new land. To Harry's knowledge no sermon had ever been preached in the valley. Walking nearer the cabin door he stood and listened to the fervency of a reverent soul as he talked to God. Cornelius and Esther, Harry saw, were kneeling on the bare floor.

The old book, Redford's "History of Methodism in Kentucky," says: "Mr. Stratton thought he would get near enough to hear him and while making the attempt was seized with conviction and, rushing into the house, fell upon his knees and cried for mercy until he was powerfully converted."

It was one of the great moments of life for Cornelius McGuire, but in his long life of consecration to Christ there were many others. Another was when Harry requested that a service be held at his home down the road. Now at this early day settlers were few in Floyd county. When the time for the meeting came there were the Laynes, the Johnses, the Mayos from near Prestonsburg and the Auxiers from Blockhouse Bottom. It was the first Methodist sermon in the Big Sandy.

For a decade longer Cornelius labored for the Lord. In 1809 he was unable to travel the far distances to shepherd his scattered pioneer flock. So he went to the conference and requested the bishop to provide a duly ordained minister to serve Big Sandy. The Sandy River circuit was created and Benjamin Edge was placed in charge. No stone marks where the first apostle of Big Sandy Methodism is buried.

Solomon McGuire, who was perhaps the eldest of Cornelius' children, married Susannah Garriot Jan. 14, 1812. Jesse married Elizabeth, a sister to Susannah, April 17, 1821. Susannah and Elizabeth were daughters of Ebenhook Garriot, Gabriel Garriot (Garret), a son, is the ancestor of many of the people of Floyd county of the same name.

Solomon and Susannah Garriot McGuire went to Edgar county, Illinois, before 1831, for in that year he sold his interest in the McGuire estate here and the deed conveyance states that he was a resident of Edgar county. One son of Jesse and Elizabeth Garriot McGuire was Garrett McGuire, who married Jane, daughter of H. W. and Phoebe Sellards Stratton. Frank and his wife are buried in the Randy R. Stratton cemetery on Mare Creek. William McGuire, who married Polly Stratton, July 25, 1827, lived on Johns Creek upon an estate spacious and large. He died in July, 1888. He had served under Col. Andrew Jackson May in the Confederate army.

The name of William's wife, on the old marriage records, is given as Polly. In the William McGuire will he refers to her as Amy. Under date of Feb. 9, 1896, he executed his last testament and set out his bequests in a precise fashion. In the original he leaves out Louvika McGuire Vaughan, a daughter, and Wesley C. McGuire, a son, but before he died he wrote a codicil leaving each one dollar, explaining that he had made prior advancement from the estate to them.

He devised to Easter Richie (late McGuire), Nancy Jane McGuire, and to the heirs of John P. McGuire. It was John who was killed in 1863 while fighting for Dr. Robert Jackson against the Blackburns under Peyton Blackburn at the mouth of River Branch of Johns Creek. He was buried in the Jackson cemetery near where he was killed.

Other devisees of William besides his wife, are Sarah Foley, late McGuire, Arminia Romans, late McGuire, and Rosa McGuire Dannon. Of his land on the Panther Fork of Wolf Creek he states it is in litigation but if the suit is adjudged in his favor that the land is to be sold and the proceeds distributed to his heirs.

Solomon McGuire, one of the legatees of the will, was a son. He lived on Johns Creek, was a large landholder and a director of the First National Bank in Prestonsburg.

In some references, Polly Stratton McGuire, who married William Stratton, is referred to as Mary. She was a daughter of Hiram and Elizabeth Leslie Stratton. Mary's brother, Solomon Stratton, married Nancy McGuire, who, it is said, was a daughter of Cornelius. This may have been the Jane, daughter of Cornelius, as Nancy Jane was a common double name. After Nancy died Solomon married Mary Jones.

The Floyd county McGuire story that begins in the dim and uncertain past is but a chapter in the full story. In other states descendants, direct and collateral, have written other chapters. They have contributed much to the settlement and development of Big Sandy.

Do you know this about telephone taxes?

You may not realize how large a part of the money paid by telephone users goes to taxes.

Including the federal excise tax, a total of 29¢ out of every dollar received from Southern Bell customers last year was paid out in taxes to federal, state and local governments. To put it another way, the average amount of taxes was $2.67 a month per telephone.

Telephone taxes are necessary to the support of government, but they do mount up. Higher taxes of course have effect on the price you pay for telephone service.

The next time you pay your telephone bill, remember that a good part of it is taxes for government and national defense.
