Ambury, One of Two Kentuckians To Get Medal for Heroism

BURTONWOOD, England, Oct. 5 (Special) — Two Burtonwood air-men have been recommended for the Soldier's Medal for their quick thinking and bravery which may have saved a fellow airman's life in a fire started by an explosion in the Vehicle Paint Shop of the 159-16 Vehicle Repair Squadron, RAAF, Siles.

Cited for heroism were 8-Sgt. Harold C. Thomas and A-3C Royce Ambury, both of Kentucky.

Hospitalized with severe burns on the face, arms and body, is A-3C Chasney C. Morgan, of Maiden Rock, Wis.

The explosion which blew out two sections of the building's roof, occurred in the interior of a 4,000-cubic-foot room which was being repainted.

Flames occurred out the open man-holes of the tanker following the explosion and the fire trapped Morgan, who had been painting in the fuel compartments with a thermolite spraying mixture.

Impact of the explosion threw Ambury, who had seen on top of the unit feeding air to Morgan, to the floor below.

Hearing the explosion, Sgt. Tom rushed to the scene and with the help of Ambury, who had recovered from his fall, rescued Morgan from inside the burning tanker and evacuated him to a safe place to await the arrival of an ambulance.

The fire was put out in about ten minutes with fire extinguishers on hand in the paint shop.

The recommendations praised both men for their acts, which were described as having been performed without regard for their own safety and as constituting to the saving of Morgan's life.

THREE STEPS TO SECURITY

At four out of every five persons gainfully employed in the United States are covered by the old-age and survivors provisions of the Social Security Act. Ernest Fitzpatrick, local representative of the Ashland, Ky. Office of the Social Security Administration said.

Total payments to many of these people and their families could reach as high as $25,000, or more, he said. However, the amount of old-age and survivors insurance to be paid the worker or his family can be assured only by his precautions on his part.

Your wage record is correctly reported. To be certain yours is correct, he suggested these precautions:

First: Be sure to show your account number card to your employer when you start to work. If you have lost your card, you can get a duplicate through your nearest Social Security Office.

GOSH!

Fellow was describing to me, the other day, a couple of homes, presumably one that had rug you sunk up in a dining table to use an inter-com system was needed, chandeliers, soft chairs, every conceivable. But he said, "You could see two of yourself every way you looked."

If the walls have ears, it's a damned shame they can't talk too—before a grand jury, sometimes.

IM LET DOWN

The fishing season having sort of petered out on this column, leaving in it and its writer an itching void, a unit that some may call another fish—namely, television.

We firmly grasp the cudgel to belabor some of these TV plays. We all of them but some. The kind that break off two-thirds of the way and just plumb run what started out to be a corkin' good yarn.

Take that "Television Playhouse" production, "The Train to Trouble," the other night. Take it— we don't like it. Here they have a railroad good yarn unraveled 'fore before your eyes, and wind up with the distinct look of a train whistle as the hero leaves the little woman and his son behind to go off yonder; and face as dirty a villain as those have ever seen. That's all. Pinkie Period.

Sure, I know the long-haired set would say, "Use your imagination for the missing agent." But I don't mind with such theories when it comes to visual entertainment. If it reads a story, I can abide the challenge. The imagination sometimes even enjoy it, because the medium exercises that function of the mind. But if you are going to lay your story out there on the line or screen, you leave precious little to the imagination, and there's no need to go all the way about it, just because you can't develop the plot further or are cramped for lack of time.

Me, I belong to the old school. I want to see the hero get his gal, the villain get his come-uppance, the heroine get kissed as she was never kissed before. What am I looking at in this picture for if it isn't actually to see the whole business done up right?

That train whistling in the distance reminds me of a train that ran on the line or screen for trouble with a scawling, with a woman and a boy left behind to worry. I didn't jell with me. I wanted to see the meeting of the two men. I wanted to see the villain with both eyes so black he would look like a raccoon.

Women Democrats Plan District Convention Here

A district meeting of the Democratic Women's Club of Kentucky will be held here in January if plans for such a meeting are completed. It was stated this week by members of the local organization. Mrs. Lola Roberts, Carbon Grove, Ky., district director of the Democratic Women's Club, spoke here recently at a meeting of the local club and discussed with them the proposed convention. Mrs. Wall Hamilton, vice-president of the club, introduced Mrs. Roberts at the Oct. 27 meeting here. The district director explained the purpose and aims of the organization.

Other speakers on the program were Mrs. Betty Stephens, Mrs. Ralph Davis, Mrs. DeRan Moore and Mrs. Lou C. Hill. Mrs. Hill stressed the importance of women participating in present day issues.

Entertainment was furnished by the Fatsy Trio—Misses Sue Thompson, Clara and Shirley Hager. The invocation was by Mrs. Davis after which a buffet dinner was served. Mrs. Gladys Allen, secretary, stated that any woman is eligible for membership in the club. The next meeting will be held on the second Friday of January at the courthouse.

FARM NOTES

By Floyd County Extension Service

Though farmers are concerned about how to feed their livestock this winter, it's not too soon to begin thinking about the prospects for early pasture next spring, says O. E. Hogan, county agent. Most seedings of grasses and legumes made last spring and summer have died, and new seedlings that would have been sown this fall have mostly been put off in hopes of better weather.

Permanent pastures are also in bad shape—most of them being half to completely killed by the frostbite. The best chance now for early grazing next spring is to sow, as soon as possible, either Bahoa Ryegrass, winter or hairy vetch mixed with the grain at about 15 to 25 pounds per acre, or a mixture of timothy and alfalfa until rains come, and then winterkill if the winter is severe, but the chance seems worth taking for much needed early grazing next spring.

Much land in the county is in good condition for seeding of grain and hay crops, especially hard freeze earlier seedings have failed or which was in corn or other cultivated crop. Seedlings these loose and bare lands to small grains will offer some protection against frost. If the winter is fairly mild and open and it rains come later this fall, in general, 300 to 500 pounds of high nitrogen fertilizer should be applied per acre with these emergency seedings.

Hunting With Guns Banned Till Nov. 20th Except on Waterfowl

Funkfory, Ky., Nov. 5 (Sp.)—All hunting with guns in Kentucky between midnight November 5 to midnight November 19, except for waterfowl shooting from noon November 17 to midnight, Nov. 19, has been barred by a regulation of the Fish and Wildlife Resources Commission. It was announced today by Earl Wallace, Commissioner of the Department.

A called meeting of the Commission was held on November 4 at which time it was declared an emergency exists in that the wildlife is in danger because of anticipated out-of-season hunting during the above designated period and to combat this emergency it was decided to close hunting for all types of birds, animals, amphibians and turtles. The lone exception is set out above in keeping with a federal regulation.

The squirrel season ended on November 5 and the rabbit and quail seasons close on November 20. It was pointed out that all hunting with guns during the period is a violation of the law as set out in the new regulation which has been filed with the Kentucky Statutes Revision Commission. The regulation sets out that all laws or regulations in conflict with the new one are automatically rescinded. The 25 days now during the ban on hunting of squirrels during the first hazard will be given back during the first 25 days of the rabbit and quail season.

IT'S A GOOD WORLD

BY WILLIAM

(The views expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the views of The Times.)

And Kentucky stands a new chance, with the props from under 186. No county can be more fortunate than Floyd in the legislature. We do not know our representatives, but we know Lon C. Hill will have no superior in Frankfort, and education is his forte. Well may it be, since he and Corrine have some little hills coming along!

Someone said Paritt and Ermetz Hayes, laughingly told me that Prock Hayes, before the election, that if he did not win for jailer this time they would buy him a jail. Try to beat local wit!

Last week we did not know the sum taken in from Wayland grade school Halloween carnival, in time to report. It was $897. The faculty expresses deep appreciation to parents for their fine cooperation. Readers and story books will be entered this week with other items bought shrewly.

Everywhere we have taught, lived or visited there has been much said concerning how local school receipts are used. Since schools today are highly commercialized, complaints are more numerous now when no one suspects dishonesty. Some folks are suspicious by nature. They prefer to criticize without knowing rather than ask where the money goes. All of us should trust anyone till there is proof to the contrary. What people say is often far from correct.

False accusations or insinuations are not funny. Lies about the Pension Payment would fill a book. Someone told one family donated a thousand dollars and wanted to know where it went. Luckily, The Times had received the financial report the week before the rumor started. It was delayed one week. Actually, the family had given fifty dollars when asked for ten. They had misread the check to the treasurer, as all were asked to do. Almost half the Pension funds for 1933 are in the First Guaranty Bank now for 1934. Booklets and all else are paid for. A complete report was and will be published, and posted in the bank window, yearly, according to the constitution. When the Board voted to change admission to try to buy the site, a report was mailed the Bureau of Internal Revenue. But people here also deserved to know how the funds are used.

When we campaigned for the school board years ago we found numerous parents tired of having no report on the handling of local school funds. They are not satisfied to have reports made only to the county and state offices. They help earn or contribute the money, and we have always agreed they have a right to know how it is used. Any one can evok a report if desired. The only way to avoid criticism is to have an impartial auditing check the report, all receipts, cancelled checks, signed bills and receipts accounting for expenditures. Then post and publish this annually to every one can see and know. An alternative some recommend is to let the PTA handle all funds.

One principal, whose school last year presented every parent with mimeographed copies of its financial report, suggests having Parents' Day, so parents can see the items bought and see the children's work and exhibits.

Many who wonder where school funds go have little idea of what it costs to operate a modern school. We have seen how careful some treasurers are. It is not easy to write five and ten-cent entries, dozens of them daily.

We agree with treasurers who insist that all raising or spending funds separately must report in detail centrally. And we predict what we preach. We have always handed superior reports, plus cancelled checks, and shown the children articles bought, also posted for them a report on the bulletin board. We have used class treasurers sometimes, too. These school funds have been limited in amount, but the school has no complaints against our regime in the county relief office years ago. These statements are not boastfully made. Thousands adopt the same procedures, knowing anyone in charge of public funds should be glad to do it. A majority do voluntarily.

Some parents are not mistaken unless they see the reports, even though their best friend may be in charge. They are entitled to know when this procedure is followed, school and public relations are ideal. May we add that this situation is by no means confined to our county. It is mentioned because of the usual pro and con discussion yearly.

Several farmers in Edmonson county are planning to install irrigation systems.

Fee, Commissions Only Source of Pay For Comptroller, Rule

Comptroller may be paid by counties such as Floyd only of fees and commissions for their services, and not by salary fixed by the fiscal court, wrote Assistant Attorney General M. B. Hollifield in reply to an inquiry from this county. The query was made after credence had been given to a report that a new law had granted fiscal courts the right to fix salaries for comptrollers. Hollifield quoted Section 94.190 as governing the method of pay for such officers.

'Bear' Facts
UK Football Coach

By PAUL RYANT

LEXINGTON, Ky.—No matter what line of activity you participate in, anytime you can get up off the floor and start delivering "knock-out punches" against tough competition you deserve a lot of credit. Just such a comeback has been made by the fine boys who make up our University of Kentucky football team. Whether we win another game or not, I'm mighty proud of them for "getting up off the floor" after two straight defeats to knock off three nationally-ranked opponents who were regarded as two and three touchdowns favorites.

You'll remember I offered the advice in this column before the season got underway not to give up on our boys if they get off to a slow start and later warned that we are not "out of the woods" yet. I hope that all of our true followers will keep this in mind. The team has come a long way and they have just as long a way to go before the tough competition ahead is knocked out.

However, I do want to compliment, at this mid-point in the campaign, the tremendous showing made by our team against heavy odds of impossibilities and surprisingly high calibre opposition. If, for one, will not complain if they do manage to win another game. They have already, continuing line movement and have won a "tur pipe" on sheer courage and determination.

You can't easily single out individuals responsible for our show-off, but I believe men like Ray Correll, our senior guard and co-captain from Sonneret, and Steve Malinzer, the greatest clutch player in the books who has played at halfback, quarterback and end, deserves a lot of credit. Then there has been such surprise packages as Padonick's Bob Hardy, halfback Ralph Pollock and halfback Joe Black, the boy from out of nowhere. A lot of progress has been made by fellows like Bill Wheeler of Pikeville and Harry Kirk of Mt. Vernon, who have bolstered our team at its weakest link—tackle.

The younger boys on the club have pitched in and worked hard without complaining. I'll be very much disappointed if we don't begin getting help soon from boys like Delmar Hudson, of Prestonsburg, halfback Don Netteknie, Louisville's Dave Kuhn and Ken Lutz, Steve Walton of Lexington, Hooper Phillips and Pikeville. Ashland's mighty mite Ivan Curmiste, Billy Mitchell of Georgetown, the Hawaiian boy Henry George, Ralph Morgan of Berry and Peink Petiet of Tompkinsville.

Charles Everett Mink, Former Floyd Resident, Succumbs in Lexington

Charles Everett Mink, 85 years old, former Floyd teacher and Highway Department employe, died at St. Joseph's hospital, Lexington at 1:30 p.m. Saturday, a victim of infectious hepatitis. He had been ill eight months.

Mr. Mink moved from this county to Morehead, about 18 years ago, and his family resides there. Until his last illness he was a construction engineer for the Kentucky Road Oiling Company. He was well known in this section, having formerly resided at Dinwood and Prestonsburg.

A native of West Virginia, he was a son of the late George and Lily Leach Mink. He is survived by his widow, Mrs. Eva Hinkle Mink, one son, Winston Deane, and a daughter, Wilhelmina, all of Morehead. He also leaves two brothers and four sisters: Cecil Mink, Columbus, Ohio; William Mink, Kentucky; Mrs. W. W. Manning, Chicago, and Mrs. Mary Hope, both of Columbus, Ky.; Mrs. W. W. Manning, Chicago, and Mrs. Mary Hope, both of Columbus, Ky.

Funeral services were conducted Monday from the Baptist church, at Allen by the Rev. Bert Caldwell, and burial in the Harry Martin Cemetery, was made under the direction of the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

Individuals from whom the court seeks to collect on the credits to which they may be entitled, and without affecting the rights of the parties. Judge O'Connell's orders did not affect the rights of the fiscal court to make a settlement with the appellant, providing such settlement is made in good faith.

In the case of former County Judge Alex L. Davidson the same order was made, except for the addition of Grauman's approval of the fiscal court's order of April 28 which allowed $900 a year automobile and travel expense to Davidson for the years 1947, 1948, and 1949. County Judge Henry Stumbo for the period, 1947 through 1951.

During the appeal of Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill, the special judge held that the fiscal court's order of March 30 setting aside the previous order suspending Hill's salary $900 a year is of no effect. His order entered in the case pointed out that the fiscal court cannot reduce, change or increase the supplemental compensation voted Judge Hill.

In the case of the Commissioner of the State of Ohio, Judge Alex A. B. Meade, County Judge Henry Stumbo and County Attorney W. W. Burchett, Judge Grauman overruled motions of Thompson, Longis representative to vacate the judgments already entered. He also overruled motions of plaintiffs to transfer the first three actions named to the equity docket.

The special judge's orders in two other cases had not been transmitted and filed at the Circuit Clerk's office as of Wednesday morning.

Certs in the appeals were directed to be shored equally by appellants and appellees, except in the appeal of Judge Hill. Costs in this case are to be paid by the fiscal court.

COMPLETE FUNERAL SERVICE

A car's record for trade-in value is the most important single item to consider before you buy. Here's why...

It's the only way to figure a car's real cost. For a car's true cost, of course, is what you pay originally minus what you get back in the future at trade-in time.

And it's the only unbiased yardstick of a car's true worth. It gives you in dollars and cents exactly how the majority of motorists rate a car's performance, styling, comfort and economy—exactly how much extra they are willing to pay for what this car offers.

That's why Mercury is your best buy today. Authoritative market reports show that Mercury consistently rates at the top of its class for trade-in value... and, according to one independent survey on depreciation value, tops all cars in every price class!

So drop around at our showroom. We'll be glad to show you official reports comparing Mercury's trade-in value with any car's. You'll see how Mercury's true cost shrinks to within a few dollars of the so-called low-price field. You'll see how easy it now is to own a Mercury!

Special low-in-year allowance on your present car... Mercury's extra-acting, high-mileage low as operate at a higher-than-average volume with a lower profit per deal. We are now offering the best in monthly. Drop in. Compare!

HEALTH NOTES

By Floyd County Health Department

HOSPITAL CARE FOR TB Could you turn your home into a home for a tuberculosis patient? The nearest hospital, look around, and give you a self an honest answer. Yet, families of tuberculosis patients sometimes try to fool themselves. They try to believe that they can follow the doctor's instructions accurately. The patient thinks he will get well faster at home. The result can be tragic.

Tuberculosis is an infectious disease which strikes about 115,000 persons in this country every year. It kills about 30,000. It is a chronic disease which means it can break out again even though once arrested.

With proper medical care, however, a TB patient can get well and live a normal life. The disease is easiest to cure when it is found early and when treatment is begun promptly. The best place for this is a tuberculosis hospital.

A TB hospital is a treatment center built around one idea: to give tuberculosis patients the best care possible. The hospital is a place where the patient receives the best medical and nursing care under the best possible conditions. Every phase of hospital life is set up to make complete rest, necessary to recovery from TB, easier for the patient.

Home care is necessarily second best. In spite of good intentions, the patient exposes others in the family to his disease. He may eat and sleep at irregular hours. Small disturbances keep him from resting properly. He worries because his illness is upsetting to the family. He lacks the daily medical and nursing attention which a hospital provides. And, despite the encouragement and attention of loved ones his is a lonely battle.

In a hospital the patient is one of a community devoted to fighting tuberculosis just as he is. In their company, he finds it easier to accept his illness, to stay in the hospital until his cure is complete, to prepare himself to return to his home and take his place again as a useful member of society.

16 Kentucky Children Were Whooping Cough Victims During 1952

Sixteen young Kentuckians died in 1952 from whooping cough, states led R. Meza, M.D., director, Division of Maternal and Child Health, Kentucky State Department of Health. Seven were under one year of age; nine were aged one through four. The death of these youngsters was indeed tragic, and possibly could have been prevented.

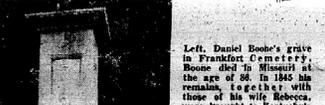

Children should be immunized against whooping cough at three months of age or earlier, Dr. Meza says. Parents should not delay this immunization until whooping cough occurs in the community because immunity takes about four months to develop. It may then be too late, so today's action may save a toddler's life tomorrow.

Three injections of triple antigen (the protection against whooping cough, diphtheria and tetanus) will be an inexpensive life insurance policy, Dr. Meza adds. Booster shots should be given every two or three years through six years of age.

Approximately 40 percent of the 1700 cases of whooping cough in 1952 occurred in those over five years of age, although in whooping cough, the disease is fatal to young children.

A pamphlet entitled "No Danger from Whooping Cough — I've Been Vaccinated" is available from the Floyd County Health Department. The leaflet describes whooping cough, how the disease is "caught," early signs, and further information on its prevention.

The wedding of Miss Marilyn Taylor, daughter of Mrs. O. A. Taylor, and the late Mr. Taylor, and Mr. Franklin D. Fults, of the late Mrs. Frank L. Fults of Sylvania, Ky., was solemnized at the first Methodist church, Rogers, Ky., Sunday afternoon, Nov. 15, 1953.

The Rev. Ralph Wesley officiated at the ceremony. The altar was decorated with yellow and white chrysanthemums against a background of ferns and lighted tapers in candlesticks.

Miss Pats Bolton was maid of honor. She wore blue tulle with tulle and carried a bouquet of yellow chrysanthemums. The bridesmaids were Miss Louise Taylor, of Lexington, cousin of the bride, and Mrs. Kenneth Cleveland of Pikeville, sister of the groom. They wore matching gowns of yellow tulle and net and carried bouquets of white chrysanthemums.

The mother of the bride wore a rose velvet suit with black accessories and a purple orchid. The mother of the groom wore a beige dress with a jacket trimmed with pearls and wore brown accessories. She also wore a purple orchid.

Mr. Fults carried his son as best man and the ushers included Ralph and Harold Taylor of Lexington, cousins of the bride, Raymond and Charles of Newby, Tenn., and Robert Wilson of Louisville.

The reception was held in the church basement.

UNKNOWN DIABETIC CASES OBJECT OF DETECTION DRIVE

An estimated 15,000 unknown diabetics in Kentucky will begin a chance hunt week to choose between long, normal lives or possible suffering and death as the Kentucky State Medical Association conducts its annual life-saving Diabetes Detection Drive as part of National Diabetes Week, November 15-21.

All physicians who are members of the Kentucky State Medical Association, and all hospitals and laboratories have been requested to give a free diabetes test to every person requesting it during the week.

Each previously undiagnosed case of diabetes uncovered through the drive represents a useful, happy life saved which might otherwise be lost.

With the control measures now possible through insulin, diet, or a combination of both, the average person with diabetes may even expect to live longer than many non-diabetics.

Such controls exist, every person should regularly check to see if they are suspect. The Diabetes Detection Drive affords such an opportunity each year "without cost."

LAW UPHOLD
FRANKFORT, Ky., November 9.—Constitutionality of the Kentucky Real Estate Commission law was upheld by the Court of Appeals in holding that it was entirely within the competency of the General Assembly to prescribe tests of "trustworthiness and competence" as a standard for real estate agents and brokers.

WHITE THANKS VOTERS

I wish to take this opportunity of thanking my nearly 3,000 Republican and Democratic friends who voted for me in the recent election, without any undue pressure or promise, and of their own free will and accord.

I wish to particularly thank those who voted for me in several "precinct winners" my "knowledge and with no ammunition. The election was a very general education and I feel certain that all candidates will agree that the West county system is certainly wrong and needs changing.

I wish to congratulate my opponent, Len G. Hill. I feel that our district will be well and ably represented in the next legislature.

Sincerely Yours,
N. M. (BOB) WHITE

RECREATION AREA ASKED

FRANKFORT, Ky., November 9.—The state was asked by civic groups in the Wolf Creek Dam area to develop a recreation area immediately below the dam, on property owned by the federal government.
State Senator E. P. Warfield, Albany, active in the Lake Cumberland-Wolf Creek Dam Association, led the groups seeking state aid on the project. Commissioner of Conservation Henry Ward endorsed the group that he would ask the Army Corps of Engineers about the status of the project, but that for the present all the state can do is investigate the proposal. He reminded the delegation that the state is under immediate obligation to finish projects it has already started.

Ky. Auditor Reports Budget Compliances

FRANKFORT, Ky., Nov. 9 (Sp.) —More trained professional workers, smaller work districts and better supervision of staff members are combining to give Kentucky improved Child Welfare Services.
Mrs. Ruby A. Dennis, State Child Welfare director, reported today that her division now has 66 workers in offices throughout the state in addition to 12 consultants who supervise work on a district level. The number of consultants was increased last July 1 from nine, the previous highest number.

This increase enables us to provide better professional guidance for workers and help them do a good job in the counties to which they are assigned," Mrs. Dennis pointed out.
She said the districts are now smaller than previously and consultants are able to meet with workers more regularly. Districts range in size from eight to 13 counties.
Mrs. Dennis said that an increase in secretarial help in offices throughout the state has also helped increase the work load handled in the offices by freeing workers for more contact with clients and children.
The state now has Child Welfare coverage in all counties, although it is still on an emergency basis in some, the director reported. A shift of workers to more remote parts of the state has left a need for more workers in urban areas, she added.
Rural workers are also still needed, she said.
Salaries range from $200 to $400 monthly, depending on professional qualifications and experience.

In addition to workers in county and district offices, the division staffs Kentucky Children's home at London and Kentucky Village at Gretna for social service. There are two supervisors for Child Welfare services in the central office here, one having been added Oct. 1.
Also added was a supervisor of community services who works with local civic and social organizations on children's problems.
Mrs. Dennis decried as "renewing" an increase in the number of men workers in the division. The staff is now 14 men of the staff, which is believed to be the largest number in history of the division.

FOOTBALL CHATTER

By GORDON MOORE

Three Blue games Friday night wound up the 1953 football season. The winners of the Tri-County League in Mt. Vernon's Invitational, it should receive the national-state championship. Commodore's Ed Lafayette is second-point choice, Calletsburg by 6 over Cumberland in Paintsville's Big Sandy Bowl, and Racedale by 1 over Dayton in their Bowl game.

Cheriton Whitesburg dominated the all-EKMC football team with four players, including end, three, jockeyville, end, and Betty and Prestonsburg one each. Lawson King, Betty's 200-pound center, was the only unanimous selection.

Prestonsburg Beats Paintsville In Teams' Big Game of Season

Prestonsburg's Blacksats closed their 1953 football season last Friday night by downing neighboring Calletsburg 14-7 before some 2,500 chilled fans in the Johnson county seat.

The cheerless win raised the overall record of the Leather team to three losses, and inside the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference Doc Ferrell's lads had a 4-3 state.

Since the beginning of the in-season rivalry back in 1922, Prestonsburg has copied 17 wins. Paintsville, the eight, and five have led in the Prestonsburg team have a 4-1 mark against the Johnson county lads.

Amidst a flurry of penalties, pass interference and fumbles, Prestonsburg's running attack clocked for six-pointers in the second and fourth quarters. Otherwise, the play was dull and uninteresting.

Near the close of the first half, quarterback Lowell Hughes unceremoniously a 25-yard aerial to halfback Clifford Goble who conferred, for 20 yards to the Tiger five-yard strip.

Two plays later, guard Bucky Burchett and center Joe Tackett opened the hole for Goble's handoff drive into the end zone. Hughes split the uprights for the point after.

Paintsville retaliated in the early minutes of the third period on a sustained 45-yard march, and it knotted the score at 7-7.

Both teams battled inside their respective 40-yard lines until the final four minutes. At one point penalties set the Blacksats back on their own one-yard line, and R. Goble, C. Goble, Jeep Alexander and Hughes promptly moved the oval out to the 45, only to have Oney intercept a Hughes pass. Paintsville threatened by moxie to the 17, only to see King's handoff fourth-down kick which turned C. Goble, but an unnecessary roughness infraction killed the drive.

The Blacksats won the fray in the waning minutes as Ronnie Goble booted over from seven yards out. Passes from Hughes to end Paul Halton and C. Goble had been good for 31 yards and were instrumental in spearheading the 70-yard trek to victory.

The team that had been the focus of the press but their fans will have the opportunity of watching the Big Sighly Bowl this Friday night at Calletsburg and Cumberland clash at 2 p.m.
