'Something Better To Throw than Rock' Says Secretary of Boston Boys' Clubs

"We give a kid something better to throw than a rock," says Arthur Burger, executive secretary of the Boys' Clubs of Boston.

"We give him a basketball. He makes a basket! More fun than busting a street light. Chances are he'll be out of the way before he does it. If he doesn't catch it from his parents, it falls off an arm from one of the boys in the club house."

More than 425 Boys' Clubs throughout the United States, with over 400 members, are providing basketball, baseball, boxing and other sports, wood working, drawing, stamping, printing, chess, ping-pong and libraries—as substitutes for rock-throwing and other teen-age mischief and crime.

In a February Reader's Digest, William L. White emphasizes that the Boys' Clubs association has salvaged problem boys every day, the boys who've "blat" from the folks at Haysville. The statistics whom the Boys' Clubs keep

Basketball Talk

Basketball teams are struck by the victims of injuries when break out in epidemics, or at least the folks at Haysville believe so. Boasting one of their finest teams in years, the injury list began with their fine center, Lew Morgan, who broke his collar bone last week end, during the Pennsylvania International Sports and Amusement association basketball game in his home which had begun an opportunity. Dan Jones came this season three of the Ray Lavin performers were hit on their backs, seemingly from nowhere as a result of freak accidents.

If this seems like "wee-wee" well, it is. Take the case of the Prestonsburg member, Bill Glasgow, who has broken his collar bone who say that practicing in the old high school, now converted into a gym, is too hard on them. With the two subtracted from the squad, Bill has run for practice, enough for scrimmage.

It was that practice session that the "gym" is never warm. The boys cannot run hard in their practice clothes and breathe properly. Prestonsburg boys are too hard on them. With the two subtracted from the squad, Bill has run for practice, enough for scrimmage.

But what do you have to say about it? Well, Bill has attempted to teach the boys the fundamentals this year while practicing in a gym where a hurt practice.

Star Guard Lowell Hughes was quick to defend his coach when the squad was accused of being too conditioned. "We can't get away from it. We have to run hard, we have to run hard, we have to run hard," he said. "We have to run hard, we have to run hard, we have to run hard."

What do you have to say about it? Well, Bill has attempted to teach the boys the fundamentals this year while practicing in a gym where a hurt practice.

IT'S A GOOD WORLD

(The views expressed herein do not necessarily reflect the views of The Times.)

The Governor could not have made a wiser choice for the state Board of Education than H. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr. His family, on both sides, has stood on the front line of everything. It is said the Mayor in Floyd county, his maternal relatives have produced more outstanding leaders and educators than any other family.

No parent or teacher should miss the January Readers Digest article "European Children Smarter Than Ours?" It is the crux of an educational problem. The U. S. program emphasizes children's activities along with people and history, not socially. The European program stresses learning. Experts say never has school graduates here every year can carry higher math and sciences, the very subjects of which national pride is based. This summer, the personnel director of a large university said he sent home over four hundred freshmen every year because they cannot do the work though most of them made straight reports in high school, and many were star students. He said he saw no hope of a return to emphasis on subject matter in the U. S. a plea that had probably made previously.

SECOND PLACE WINNER GIVES REPORT ON 4-H PROJECTS

By Mrs. May Sabers

I am glad in my seventh year of perfectly rewarding 4-H Club experience I have carried many projects and am not so unhappy as the experience I have had in completing these projects. I have enjoyed and profited from these projects. I am a home economist and my projects are in that line. Among my projects have been the following: clothing, home management, home economics, home leadership, homekeeping, home labor, home improvement, room and home improvement. In addition to these have had to do with my life by participating in activities such as public speaking, citizenship, conservation, music, recreation, health improvement and safety.

In homekeeping I have worked approximately 6,000 hours. I am the oldest in a family of seven children the majority of which have been at home. This summer I stayed at my grandparents' home and did all the housework and cooking. I have learned a great deal about the proper way of doing housework and cooking. I have carried this four years.

In home improvement I helped in the rooms in our home by myself. I painted the inside of my grandparents' home. I made several articles for the rooms such as cushions, curtains, spreads etc. I earned this money three years in total amount I learned how to sew.

In home management I have worked approximately 6,000 hours. I have worked in my family and I have learned a great deal about the proper way of doing housework and cooking. I have carried this four years.

Answering Dixie's Call...

A Story of Progress that Benefits Everyone

The past year has seen booming growth all through the South—in business, industry, housing, personal income. Telephone development has surged ahead, too. Since the telephone means so much to everyone, you might like to know some of the ways Southern Bell answered Dixie's call in 1955 for more and better service.

- Increased operator dialing of Long Distance calls straight through to the distant number.
- Covered many exchanges on the new nationwide numbering system, which will eventually make it possible for you to dial your own Long Distance calls.
- Added many thousands of miles of new Long Distance circuits and 11 network routes.
- Installed a bumper crop of new rural telephones, with the aid of newly discovered technical developments and construction methods.
- Carried out interesting tests proving that new-type rural service can be powered by the Bell Nickel Battery, which harnesses the sun's energy for the first time.

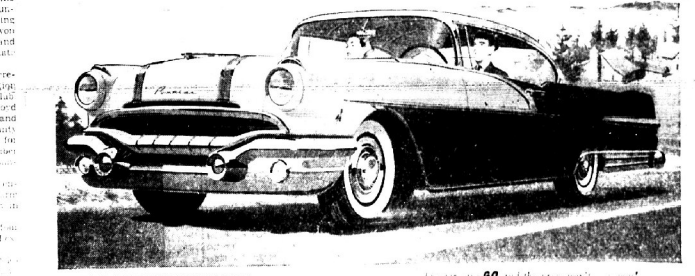

Southern Bell Telephone and Telegraph Company

ANSWERING KENTUCKY'S CALL
In Kentucky, we added 22,500 new telephones in '55. This involved construction of buildings and equipment amounting to over 15 million dollars. In all we have spent over 115 million dollars in expansion and improvement in the State since 1943.

In step with Kentucky's progress, we plan to spend about 26 million more in 1956 on construction to provide Kentuckians with the kind of service they want and need.

This large expansion program makes telephone service more useful and valuable for everyone. And the million of dollars for construction plans make millions we pay in wages and taxes contribute vitally to the State's economy.

Advisory Group Makes Proposals to Reform State Court Procedure

Franklin, Ky. Jan. 23 (Sp.) — A non-partisan selection of the Advisory Committee on the Court Procedure in Family Problem Cases and enlarged the scope of its study and proposed to the General Assembly as the most desirable judicial reforms for the Advisory Committee on the Judicial System, set up to assist the Legislative Research Commission in making a study of the system.

The committee was headed by Circuit Judge Ira D. Smith, High Court Judge Charles H. Adams, Circuit Judge Judge Matt Blackard, Versailles; Robert T. Colwell, Palmer; Gov. Slemmon, Nicholas; Mayor B. Heron, Bowling Green; State Senator A. W. Grant, Prospect; Rep. Paul E. Vancise, Russellville; Rufus L. Lewis, and James T. Fleming, Franklin.

The committee recommended an overhaul of the magisterial district court system, and that further study be given to the possibility of establishing specialized courts to handle particular problems. Among recommendations of the committee:

1. That the study undertaken by the committee be continued by resolution with an increased effort being made to coordinate work of all interested agencies.

2. That a flexible law to be applicable for the Court of Appeals to retain and extend the jurisdiction of such courts be passed by the General Assembly.

3. That the study be undertaken in preparation for a general redistricting of judicial districts by 1962, so that the present districts vary in population from 30,000 to 92,000. Restructuring of judicial districts with regard to adequate conditions.

4. That circuit judges should be reimbursed for out-of-pocket travel expenses while away from home, and salaries of all, ranging from $7,500 to $8,400 a year, should be equalized.

5. That judges should be chosen in non-partisan primaries and elections without designation of party affiliation.

6. Changes in the marshaling laws, especially as they affect warehousing, should be considered with a view providing much needed improvement in the judicial system.

7. Plans should be authorized to assist a friend of the court in family problem cases.
