IN MEMORIAM

In loving memory of Amos Naper who passed away four years ago Feb. 6, 1892.

Peacefully sleeping, resting at last. The world's weary troubles and trials are past. In silence you suffered, in patience you bore. Till God called you home to suffer no more. Memories are treasures no one can steal. Death is a heartache nothing can heal. Some may forget you, but this verse will stay. But you will remember, he never how long. Sadly missed by the children.

TO SUBSCRIBERS IN THE NEW BANK AT MARTIN, KY.

There has already been subscription in the new bank to be located at Martin, Ky. The original stock has been paid more than $100,000.00 and it will be approximately $200,000.00 by the end of this week at which time the subscribers will close. However, I hope those who wish to avoid themselves of this opportunity should act immediately.

So many of our people who have already subscribed will be pleased by other people who are interested in other banks to do so. We are in this effort which will be only for their selfish purposes and ends. Some people do not want a small amount of the wealth of the county, they want all.

I have never before in my life met with such encouragement and enthusiasm in an undertaking. This bank will be owned by more people than all the other banks of the county combined and in a short time will be the largest bank in the county. Within ten years you will have received in return every dollar you have invested and your stock will be worth $2.00 for every dollar invested.

If you are approached by others to discourage you, give no heed to their appeal because some will feel the same. In order that you may see some idea what bank stock means in value, The First National Bank of Prestonsburg was organized in 1901 by Daniel Hahn, president, John Webb, A. J. May, H. H. May, J. M. Widdiman, J. E. Stanley, Hiram Harris, O. P. Widdiman.

COLEMAN SPARKLES AS WASPS STOMP BLACK CATS, 107-80

The return-top point-producing prodigies, Kelly Coleman and Lovell Hughes, literally tore the nets to shreds as Coleman outpointed Hughes, 63 to 46 in the Prestonsburg Black Cats' 107-80 victory over the Black Cats at Westland Tuesday night.

Coleman defied all Prestonsburg defensive efforts to stop him. Hughes found the range in the last quarter when he and Coleman combined their barrage which may have set a new record for combined scoring for two players in one game—109 points.

Scouts from Furman were on hand for the game to look over the talented Coleman who justified their trip in every respect. In the first half Coleman grabbed 17 rebounds, 14 of 23 shots, and accounted for 32 points. For the entire game Coleman tallied a shooting percentage of 51.8, consisting of 27 out of 52 attempts at the basket.

Col. George T. Derby, career soldier and United States Army district commander of the Huntington office from 1953 will retire May 1. He will join Ashland Oil & Refining Company.

The number of youngsters taking the shots in Prestonsburg Wednesday was cut down because of measles epidemic. Clark and Dr. John G. Archer, who worked at the clinic here, agreed the number of shots for vaccination was reduced by at least 200 for this reason.

Visitors appearing at the clinic here were told not to take the vaccine if they had been given a measles shot recently and all were checked as to temperatures and symptoms.

Members of the health club elected to receive the Salk vaccine extended up to 20 years high school pupils increased the number at the clinic. Another factor in the success of the program is the disappearance of fear of the vaccine.

Mr. Clark and children who did not receive the vaccine this week because of colds measles or other illness may get the immunizing by going to the health department on Monday Thursday or Saturday. One serum supply is adequate to serve all eligible to receive it, and we are anxious that they get it," he added.

He also pointed out that the "polio season" will begin in May and that all children should have received two shots by that time.

Floyd doctors, clubmen and school leaders are cooperating in the immunization work this week as in earlier clinics.

Whiskey county farmers received approximately $100,000 for strawberries the past year, 200 acres will be harvested this year.

home of Faye Allen in West Prestonsburg where Ezra Marslett stayed. Officers said One item was found in a stove others in a bed. Some meat identified as having been taken from the Fildpatrick store also was found in the Allen home. The woman had not been hidden in a warrant Wednesday afternoon.

The officers, among whom were Taylor Shumbo, industrial guard for the Professor Elkhorn Coal company and Deputy Sheriff Frank Blackburn and Policemen B. L. Sturull and Earl Peters, searched the Newsum home Monday night. Policemen Sturull said Harrison Marslett then admitted the theft, saying his brother Ezra was with him. He added Sturull said that Ezra cheated him in the division of the spoils.

Bob Carter identified chickens as the Marslett home as those stolen from his flock. Marslett also denied knowledge of how the fowl got there.

The service station near Davison owned by Mallory Stores, was looted Sunday night. Twenty-five to several car batteries and a cash register were taken. It was said here authorities have questioned the Marsletts and Newsum about their whereabouts on the night when the chickens were taken. The store was entered and approximately $2,000 in cash and checks taken from a cash register, but that break remains unexplained.

Deputy Sheriff Troy Mullins and Constable Hall and Allen, Policemen Frank Crum jailed here Tuesday Gene Yates and Ronald Gene Stone on a breaking and entering charge. Four jailed by State Trooper Arthur Hobrock on the same charge were Roy Adams, Charley Cecil, Willard Cecil and Luyvalle.

Others jailed within the week included Clyde Cluck, accused of having beer in his possession for the purpose of sale, arrested by Deputy Sheriff Ed Amburgey, Charles Floyd, drunk driving, jailed by Deputy Sheriff Willie Johnson, Darbe Gray having beer in his possession, booked by Deputy Sheriff Amburgey.

Home demonstration agent, and to transfer the funds allocated for that purpose to the Emergency fund. Martin, Hobrock and Hoover noted for the measure, with May voting against it.

In the first item of business for the session, that of naming Will Hoopes, of Garrett, commissioner of the Beaver-Elkhorn Water District to fill the vacancy created by the resignation last March of Ray R. Allen, was approved and Martin voted therefor. Hobrock abstained from voting.

AIR SWEET MYSTERY
With all the disagreements between men the world over there is one point of agreement between them. All are pretty well agreed that woman is the most complex of all God's creatures.

And just to be sure she stays that way, the scientific community is working with a whole collection of conflicting characteristics. He says so in a survey of a woman's anatomy. (Some have been known to tell others women his wife doesn't understand him.) He also will vow she can't understand anything. He'll talk about feminine wiles in one breath and in the next try to paint her as a duplet who couldn't track two feet.

Year-old Junior into don something against his will. One moment she's a Mona Lisa, the mother the spirit of tenderness, forbearance and sacrifice, the next, she's a harrier, a saviour, a schemer, a Delilah, a creature of mixed emotions and unpredictable whims.

Max calls her the weaker sex, and still the little woman is the one he takes home whining to when he takes a licking. After she has consoled him and done all she can to make a man out of him, he thrushes out his chest, puts out his chin and snoots it to tell the boys on the corner that she's the cause of his bad luck.

Complex or no woman is the handiest gadget any household ever had. No wonder she was originally named man's help-meet.

Just to show how we men try to hide behind our wives' skirts, there's the story that comes out of Dallas, Texas this week about the divorcee, Jennie he was drunk. But the officers reminded him that for some mysterious reason, his breath reeked of whiskey.

And there was where that mysterious complex creature the divorcee, Jennie, came into the picture.

"Right you are," the man grunted. "But I haven't touched a drop. My wife was drunk when I left home—I got this way just kissing her goodby."

The animal that facilities of the jail are not what they should be, the jail remained the team as subject of the county and suggested that appointment of mattress and bedding be made when the jail was completely furnished makes it possible.

Using the Sheriff to continue his drive on bootlegging, the grand jury acknowledged the efforts of Sheriff Collins and his deputies to wipe out the unlawful traffic in alcohol beverages in this county. At the same time it added some suggestions that the Sheriff be given authority to purchase as needed as possible.

The jury reported that in its nine days of work it questioned about 60 witnesses, with the result that the indictments were returned. It is believed that the large number of child desertion cases appearing before the grand jury was the sole purpose of state aid.

Hargis-Cockrell Feud Ended When Leader Killed by Son

BY HENRY P. SCALF

Fifty-seven years ago a group of men sat around a table in Jackson, Breathitt county. On one side, whispering now and then in consultation, were O. H. Pollard, attorney for the Democratic contest at the county election, James Harkins, the county judge, and Ed Callahan, newly-elected sheriff.

James Harkins and Pollard, Republicans or Fusionists, and nearly all of the friends of the contesting Republican candidates. A witness occupied a chair between the two angry groups, replied, usually after much reiteration between both sides, to the questions asked.

Marcum and Pollard, heretofore law partners and the best of friends, were broken now, each representing opposite sides in a bitter, drawn-out election contest. They glared and shouted at each other, their brows furrowed in deep anger.

Suddenly the tension in the room snapped and pistols were drawn, waving threateningly, but no shots were fired as if each hesitated on the edge of the actual precipice of blood-letting, the shots would touch off. Taking advantage of the moment of hesitation, Marcum arose and ordered Hargis, Callahan and Pollard from his office. The Hargis-Cockrell feud was on. It lasted 12 years.

The Cockrell and Hargis families were closely related, the inter-marital relationships seeming to intensify instead of diminish the ferocity of the feud. There had been other feuds in Breathitt, each contributing to the succeeding one, just as all of them now seemed to contribute to the Hargis-Cockrell struggle. The hatred, engendered by the political struggle in which Hargis was elected county judge and Ed Callahan as sheriff, ran its course from the first break in Marcum's office up through a crescendo of fury, culminating in a crime that shocked even blood-soaked Breathitt.

After the difficulty in the law office Tom Cockrell killed Ben Hargis, brother of James Marcum, defended Cockrell without charge. Sent Jerry Cardwell, a Cockrell

West Prestonsburg Vet, 'Patient of the Week' At Outwood VA Hospital

Morgan Howard, 26-year-old veteran from West Prestonsburg, a patient at VA hospital, Outwood, Ky., has been named 'Patient of the Week' because of excellent progress in the rehabilitation program at the hospital.

This phase of the overall program is sponsored by the American Legion Auxiliary, Department of Kentucky, and is under the direction of the Physical Medicine and Rehabilitation Service of the hospital.

Mr. Howard was admitted to the hospital June 1, 1954, and referred for treatment on August 12. He was assigned to the Educational Therapy section for a course in Bookkeeping, and on October 12, 1955, was assigned to the Occupational Therapy Section where he took up leather craft. His instructors report that he is completely cooperative in all phases and is making excellent progress.

He served about 10 months in the army and was a student prior to admission to the hospital. He is married and expects to return to school after discharge.

WE KNEW IT WAS GOOD -but oh, brother!

IT STARTED right on announcement 1 day.
 On that day, we made bold to call this the Best Buick Yet. (A pretty big statement, we're sure you'll agree.) But, in the scant three months since then, we've had ample proof of how none-than-right we were—

Not just from the tremendous initial interest shown in the new 1956 Buicks—

Not alone from the way our sales have zoomed past all expectations—

But more especially and more clearly and more positively from the enthusiastic "play back" that's coming from happy new-Buick owners.

So, if you'd like the story firsthand—see if you can get a '56 Buick owner to stand still long enough to tell it to you.

For it's a real news story you'll hear about.

You'll hear about a wallowing big new 322-cubic-inch V8 engine that delivers its peerless-high power with the obedience of a bird dog.

You'll hear about a terrific new Variable Pitch Dandelion* that gives double-action take-off and instant acceleration right in the driving range—along with a thrifty, boost-in-gas-saving mileage. Yet, when you follow the pedal to the metal, the pitch— you get an extra abundance of safe-surge power to pull out of tight spots on the highway.

You'll hear about a new "sweetness" of ride made even more buoyant by deep-roll cushioning and all-elliptic springing—and about a new ease of handling and steering—and a new four-footed sureness when taking the turns.

So what's left to be told? Except the news of brilliant new Buick styling inside and out—which you can see for yourself. And the question, "How much?"—which only you can answer.

For, you can go all the way from the bedrock-priced SERIES— to the high-stepping CATALINA— to the outstanding STEER— and on to the custom-built ROYALWALTON.

Why not come in—right now? Learn how easy we'll make it for you to step into the '56 Buick circle— with out busting out of your budget!

**See Advanced Variable Pitch Dandelion in the new Buick Wildcat brochure. It is standard on Buick Wildcat, Super and Catalina, optional on each. Write for more information.*

Many and Diverse Proposals Feature Bills in Assembly

These bills have been offered in the General Assembly. County election commissioners would be paid $8 a day for their services from the state treasury (the cost now is being borne by counties) under terms of a measure offered in the Senate by four Senators—Albert H. Thomson, Harfield; Denver C. Knuckles, Middleboro; J. Harry Davis, Grayson, and Ed P. Warriner, Albany.

A veterans' bonus of from $5 to $10 a month based on the number of months served and whether domestic or foreign service was served and to be financed by a special 10 per cent sales tax on alcoholic beverages, was offered in the Senate by Senators A. E. Cornett, Hyatt; Harry Davis, Grayson; Ed Warriner, Albany; Paul Young, Knuckles, Middleboro; and Albert Thomson, Leitchfield.

County court clerks would be required to certify to the Secretary of State election results within three days of the present limit being five days with penalties for failure to do so—if a bill offered in the House by Rep. Clyde Howard, Elmestown, Durham Howard, Pinedale; Emmett Hawkins, Scottsville; E. D. Pottle, Harlan; Joe Nunn, Cadiz; James C. Grundy, Jr., Lebanon; Pearl McKinney, Morgantown; Vernon Reed, Hodgenville; and Ralph Smith, Guston, is approved. Another election bill proposed by Clyde and Durham Howard, Hawkins, Pottle, McKinney and Vernon Reed would provide that persons failing to vote for five years would be subject to summary challenge from the registration rolls.

The State Department of Revenue would be given the right to enforce a "fair trade" code in the cigarette field, and outline the practice of rebates or selling at less than cost if a bill proposed by a group of Senators is approved. The measure was proposed by Senators E. W. Richmond, Owensboro; E. P. Warren, Inner, Albany; Albert Thomson, Leitchfield, and Wayne Freeman, Mayfield.

Local option determination on whether to elect school superintendents by popular vote was proposed in the House by Rep. Will K. Peace, Republican, Williamsburg. Peace's proposal would restrict the election to persons legally qualified to hold office, and establish a minimum salary of $5,000 for the office.

A proposed constitutional amendment to permit appointive officers in a county or city to reside outside the boundaries of the area they serve was offered in the House by Rep. B. B. Blankenship, Blankenship, Harford. Existing law requires that any officer, whether elective or appointive, reside within the area he serves.

Hunters would have to procure written consent of landowners before going onto their land for that purpose under terms of a bill offered in the House of Representatives by Rep. Leonard Hinkle, Republican, Somerset.

All tobacco warehouses would be required to pay the State an annual $25 license fee if a bill offered by Rep. Brooks Hinkle, Democrat, Paris, in the General Assembly is approved.

All fiscal courts would be empowered to hire a "friend of the court" to supervise and enforce orders of the circuit court in divorce actions under terms of a measure offered in the House by Rep. Paul Young, Democrat, Onstad. Existing law limits such employment to counties containing first and second class cities.

Any person who has taught school twenty-five consecutive years would be entitled to a life certificate under terms of a bill offered by Rep. D. C. Casey, Democrat, of Mount Eden.

Police, sheriffs and other law enforcement officers are authorized to arrest persons at the scene of a motor vehicle accident where "reasonable grounds exist" to support the fact that a crime has been committed if a bill offered in the House by Rep. George P. Harris, Democrat, is approved.

Restoration of the full county unit system of local option elections was asked by a group of representatives in a bill offered in the House—a system that has not been in vogue since 1941. The bill would give cities of the first four classes the right to vote on separate ballots on the remainder of the county, and frequently produces "wet" spots in otherwise "dry" territory. Sponsors of the bill include Reps. Charles L. Conrad, Falmouth; Vernon Reed, Hodgenville; Owen Billington, Murray; Harry M. Gaudin, Whitesburg; Pearl McKinney, Morgantown, and J. Murray Blue, Providence.

Insurance solicitors could be granted a license upon attaining eighteen years of age—instead of the present minimum twenty-one years—according to a bill offered in the House by Representative J. Murray Blue, Providence.

Salaries of Circuit Court Clerks for acting as county law librarians would be raised from $20 to $35 a month under a bill proposed in the Senate by Sen. E. P. Warriner, Democrat, Albany. Other proposals of Warriner's include: Resolutions memorializing Congress for aid in public school construction; to reduce the minimum barley tobacco base to six-tenths of an acre for appropriation of funds for completion of the Upper Cumberland River dam system.

A blow at "speed traps" operating within the state would be taken under terms of a House bill offered by Rep. Harry King Lowman, Democrat, Harford. It would require all fines and penalties collected, including bail forfeitures be paid into the State Treasury and set a maximum fine of $25 that may be imposed on any person for the initial violation of any traffic law, ordinance, rule or regulation relating to speed on the public highways.

Rep. Clyde Howard, Democrat, Elmestown proposed a new judicial district in his area establishing Hardin county as a separate district and leaving the three remaining counties of that district—Brenn, Breckinridge, Meade and Grayson in a new district. Co-sponsors of the bill is Representative Edward Embry, Republican, Leitchfield. Mr. Howard also proposed a constitutional amendment to shorten the terms of existing State officers and members of the General Assembly by one year; to throw State and district elections in even-numbered years. A third bill of Mr. Howard would prohibit paid passengers in automobiles from riding the host vehicle owners in case of an inadvertent accident.

The bills aimed at regulating labor unions were offered in the House jointly by Reps. A. W. Wells, Democrat, Bardonia, and Leonard Hinkle, Somerset. The first of the number would make labor unions, along with corporations, subject to punishment for violations of the Corrupt Practices Act for contributing any sum of money, or other inducement to any political candidate in any election. Fines ranging from $1,000 to six months' jail terms for those responsible would be provided. Any attorney who accepted employment and compensation from a corporation or labor organization with the understanding that he would be contributing to the support of any political movement, would be made subject to dishonorable discharge, would be ineligible if another bill of Wells and Hinkle is approved.

It would outlaw secondary boycotts of persons or companies in the line of business other than the one being struck. The measure would limit pickets to two at any place of business, and terminology of placards used would be made subject to police and standards.

Motor vehicles owned by diesel fuel would be required to be equipped with an exhaust pipe higher than the vehicle. A bill offered by Senator John W. Willis, Democrat, Greenville, is approved by the General Assembly. Another bill offered by Senator John W. Willis, Democrat, Greenville, is approved by the General Assembly. Another bill offered by Senator John W. Willis, Democrat, Greenville, is approved by the General Assembly.

Creation of a new judicial district in Western Kentucky through re-voicing of boundary lines is proposed in a bill offered in the House by Rep. Pat Tanner, Democrat, Owensboro. These districts would be established in McClen and Muhlenberg counties would be entirely new. Davess county would be made a separate district. Harrodsburg, Elmington, Ohio and Butler counties would be made a district. Present boundaries include the Davess, Hancock and McLean circuit, and the Edmonson, Ohio and Butler and Muhlenberg circuit.

The House approved and sent to the Senate for concurrence of a bill of Rep. Harry King Lowman, Democrat, Harford, that would allow second class cities to petition police judges who have served twenty years or longer in office.

Approval of a bill of Senator William Sullivan, Democrat, Henderson, to make $100,000 available to the Governor's Emergency Fund was voted by the Senate and forwarded to the House for concurrence. The State Fair is slated to receive $1,500,000 of the total and the remainder of $600,000 is due to be allocated as the Governor may direct to meet other outstanding commitments.

Tightening of regulations aimed at securing advantage of children by school is sought in a bill proposed in the Senate by Senator E. W. Richmond, Democrat, Owensboro, and Senator Wayne Freeman, Democrat, Mayfield. The bill would provide that a child who becomes six years old by September 30 may enter school within thirty days after the opening of the school year, but those reaching that age after that time would wait until the next year. The present law allows children who will become six on December 25 to be below to enter.

Best friends of the Kentucky Judicial Council to allow persons elected by the Court of Appeals or elected both to assume duties as members of the council before their qualifications as members of the Council and to allow members of the Council to be held in call of the president officer rather than mandatory that such meetings be held—as was proposed in a bill offered by Senator George F. Owens, Democrat, Middlesboro.
