Story of Marriage Was False, Report

In The Floyd County Times edition of March 22 a two-paragraph news story gave what, we are told, was an erroneous report of a marriage.

This report, to which the name of Dora Watkins was attached, led to the marriage of Miss Maude Watkins and Mr. Charlie Salyers.

Although Mr. Salyers has not, to date, personally informed The Times that the report is untrue we have otherwise learned that he has declared no such wedding took place.

This newspaper does not publish unverified statements, but when one such as this is signed we have no way of knowing that the news is not authentic, and in our desire to represent all in the news we published the item in question. We regret our part in the story, and can only say that apparently we were the dupes in the case.

Mrs. Angie Alley Rorer, Age 77, of Lancer, Dies Of Heart Attack Here

Mrs. Angie Alley Rorer, 77 years old, of Lancer, widow of George W. Rorer, died at the Prestonsburg General Hospital Saturday following a heart attack. Mrs. Rorer had been ill six years, but her passing came as a shock to many relatives and friends. A daughter of the late James W. Alley, former Floyd coal operator, and Mrs. Josephine Knuckles Alley, she was a native of Charleville, Virginia. She was married on May 1, 1901 to Mr. Rorer, who preceded her in death May 12, 1949. To this union were born three children, Mrs. Lucy Stephens and Charles Rorer, both of Lancer, and Guy K. Rorer, who preceded his mother in death.

Mrs. Rorer and her husband came to Prestonsburg 46 years ago, and he for years was superintendent of Bull Creek mining operations. She was for many years a member of Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church and until her illness she maintained an active interest in church and civic affairs. Besides her children, she leaves the following brothers and sisters: Charles W. Alley, James W. Alley, Thomas A. Alley and Mrs. Z. M. Dickerson, all of Prestonsburg; Mrs. P. G. McGuire, Cedar Bluffs, Va., and George Alley, Albany, Oregon. Funerals were conducted from Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church Monday morning, the pastor, the Rev. Ira McMullen, and the Rev. Harold Doney officiating. Burial was made in the Bascom May cemetery at Cliff under direction of the Carter & Callahan Funeral Home.

Is His Catch Region Record?

The eight-pound, three-ounce bass caught by George Wilson, of Auror, March 15, in the spring below Dewey dam is believed to have been the largest of the species taken from Floyd county waters. The fish succumbed to the lure of worms dangling from a No. 4 hook. Wilson used a cane pole.

Drop in Attendance Discourages Leaders In Youth Center Work

A sharp drop in attendance at the Youth Center here since its location was changed from the Municipal building half a mile north on the Mayo Trail is causing the board of supervisors and Coach Bob Wallace, district supervisor, deep concern. "We are very unhappy about the drop in attendance," Mrs. Len Hill, chairman of the Interclub board, told The Times this week. "Our supervisor reports that instead of 35 to 45 youngsters, both boys and girls attending, we now have only about 15 boys and a few girls every other week. Thus we are meeting only a part of the need of our young people for supervised recreation." Mrs. Hill pointed out that the Center now is reaching only the boys who want active recreation but that it is not serving the girls or even the boys who congregate where the girls are. "This is a disappointing situation for all as people who had such a good start in our first location, she added."

The Youth Center was moved from the Municipal building after three weeks' operation when the ceiling board in the room below focused on vibration because of the weight in the room above when the youngsters sat there. At that time Lee Shannon, Prestonsburg architect, reported that the city building is sound but that there should be bracing support of the joists. He estimated cost of proper installation of the ceiling at $700.

"THE STARS FOUGHT FROM HEAVEN TO HELP THE ONLY WOMAN JUDGE" — Judge 9: They fought from heaven, the stars in their course fought against Sisera. Read what the Bible says, Deut. 22:3: "The woman shall not wear that which pertaineth unto a man, neither shall a man put on a woman's garment: for all that

LAWYERS GET BAR AWARDS

Atty. May and Ferguson Of Prestonsburg, Cited For 50 Years of Service

One hundred fifty lawyers who have practiced law or held licenses for 25 years are being awarded "Senior Jurists" certificates at the State Bar Association in Louisville today.
The number represents those who have practiced law or held licenses for 25 years or longer.
Included in the group of 50-year veterans are Ex-Congressman A. J. May and S. C. Ferguson, both of Prestonsburg.

Justice Ferguson, who was admitted to the bar in 1906, is possibly the son of Eastern Kentucky lawyers. He may have practiced law since 1899 when he received his Kentucky license. He was licensed in Eastern Kentucky in 1906. He was admitted to the bar in 1906. He was admitted to the bar in 1906.

Thomas B. McGeehan, Frankfort, former Attorney General of Kentucky, will present the awards to those of the 150 in attendance at the meeting. Should any of those be cited for some awards will be mailed them.

Others include U. S. Senator Alben W. Barkley, Paducah, one-time Vice-President of the United States, who has held a law license since 1901 and U. S. Rep. Brent Spence of Fort Thomas, who was licensed to practice in 1923.
Two former Governors, both of whom served on the Appellate bench one after the other, are included. They are Flein D. Skampon, Barboursville, a practitioner for 66 years, and Simon Willis Ashland, one who has practiced law for 55 years.
A former solicitor general of the United States, William Marshall Bullitt, Louisville, a practitioner for 61 years, is on the list of those to be cited, as are four former Attorneys General of Kentucky—Charles H. Morris, Frankfort; Charles L. Dawson, Louisville; Hubert Meredith Greenwell, and McGeehan.

Former WPRT Man in "Radio" Work

Pfc. South C. Blevins, of Mare Creek, at the controls of "radio" station KNOX. Fort Knox, that transmits music or voice programs to the patients of army hospitals.

Pfc. South C. Blevins, former advertising manager for radio station WPRT here, is one of two soldiers, assisted by three civilians, who conduct "radio" station, KNOX, at Fort Knox and provide music and news for two Army hospitals and patrons of the Post Exchange.
Actually it is not a radio station but something like a public-address system with more than 1,000 miles of wire to the various outlets. The men who place the records on turntables are not "disc jockeys," but announcer-program specialists. They take frequent polls in hospital wards and shape programs to meet demands in most instances.
The hospital patient places the receiver between his ear and pillow and no one else is disturbed.
Blevins was manager of radio station WKYR, Keyser, W. Va., when inducted into the army, Nov. 1954. At the present time, besides his army duties, he doubles as manager of WPRT, Bardonia, Ky., and drives there from Poplarville, Ky., when on duty.
Graduating from Pikeville College, Blevins pursued radio training at the University of Kentucky and in officer's cadet training in the Lexington Air Corps. He is a son of Mrs. Martha Prayley Blevins, of Mare Creek, and the late Greedy Camp.

17 Ky. Youths Killed On Roads By Autos in 1956

Frankfort, April 2 (Sp.) — Seventeen children under 16 years of age have been killed on Kentucky roads through March 23 of this year. Eleven of them were pedestrians. State Police Commissioner P. A. B. Widenor said 88 children under 16 were "killed" on roads last year. Partly, or nearly 50 per cent, were killed when hit by cars while walking or playing.

He called on parents today to teach their youngsters how to stand safe in traffic. "Spring and summer are the most dangerous times for youthful walkers because they are playing outside more," Commissioner Widenor explained. He said all State Police safety education activity during April will stress child pedestrian safety.
"Parents must assume primary responsibility for their children's safety in traffic because they have the care of the youngsters in their most formative years." Long before a child reaches school age he has been out in traffic with his parents. The kind of safety training they have given him will greatly affect his traffic attitudes," the Commissioner said.

Emphasizing that parents have a definite moral obligation to teach their children how to stay safe in today's traffic, the State Police head said example is of great importance in a youngster's early training.
The Commissioner stressed the necessity for full cooperation between parents, schools and traffic officials in teaching safe traffic habits to children of school age.
It's also important to be careful when they're at play. "See that they play only in approved play areas, not in the street—and teach them to use roller skates, tricycles, and other outdoor toys, speakers.

Teen-Age Camp To Open in May

A camp, similar to the Conservation Corps of the 1940s, composed of teen-age boys in custody of the state will be opened in May. Commissioner of Conservation Lehan Jackson said the boys will operate a 100-acre tree nursery at Kentucky Dam Village.
Jackson said the camp would involve dependent charges of the State Economic Security and Welfare Departments. The approximate 60 orphan boys, ranging in age from 15 to 19, will work 20 hours a week during summer months, he said.
The program will be under the Division of Forestry and will be coordinated by the Department of conservation.
The commercial acreage of strawberries in Carter county is expected to be doubled this year, due in part to the marketing association located at Morehead.

for members afflicted with PULMONARY TUBERCULOSIS

Tuberculosis is still the nation's No. 1 killer of men under 34. However, new methods are outmoding old techniques in the treatment and cure of tuberculosis and progress is being made.

This has come about, according to the National Tuberculosis Association, through the development of better techniques of treatment and especially through the discovery and almost universal use of wonder drugs such as Streptomycin, Isoniazid and Para-aminosalicylic Acid. The Association points out that it also has been discovered that climate is not a major factor in the treatment of TB.

"Today, the men who have spent their lives in research, diagnosis and treatment of tuberculosis are convinced that climate is not necessary in the fight against this disease. Most tuberculars can be successfully treated at or near their homes, regardless of where they live."

—Elmer Hess, M.D. President American Medical Association

Our new plan for free treatment of afflicted Woodmen

Keeping in step with modern medicine, Woodmen of the World is discontinuing operation of its own hospital in favor of a new and its tubercular members. The plan provides that Woodmen with a year or more of membership will receive free treatment at nationally recognized private hospitals in or near their home cities

... or even as outpatients if this treatment is authorized. This new plan offers many advantages. The most important: 1. Treatment near home and family. 2. Quick, easy access to modern methods in lung surgery. 3. No reaccclimatization necessary. Many members can complete com-valence at home, benefiting from family contacts and familiar surroundings.

Healthy people make happy homes.

This announcement was made today by Wm. Wicks, Chairman of the Floyd County Agricultural Stabilization and Conservation Committee.

Share-Croppers Covered By Social Security Laws

Share-croppers in Floyd county should be interested in knowing that they are generally considered self-employed for social security purposes, announces Robert A. Flynn, district manager, Ashland Social Security Administration. "This means share-croppers are building toward protection for themselves in their old-age and protection for their families in case of their death. To qualify for this valuable family protection, they must have net earnings of at least $400 from their farming operations in a year."

Flynn pointed out that share-croppers, like all farm operators, will report their earnings for social security purposes for the year 1955 by filing an income tax return with a farm schedule. Share-croppers must file these tax returns with the district Director of Internal Revenue, Louisville, Kentucky, early in 1956, in order to receive social security credits for their farming operations, even though they may not owe any income tax.

For tax return forms and other information relating to the filing of returns and tax obligations, contact the Internal Revenue office at Louisville, Kentucky. For information concerning your right to social security payments, contact the resident representative, Mr. William C. Noel, at the Employment Office, each Tuesday of the month, at 10:00 a.m.

Growers are urged to get their signed agreements in as soon as possible as volume of marketing will determine the success of the program."

HEALTH NOTES

MODERN BOONIES TRAPS

Do you years for the adventurous life of your pioneer ancestors? Does the thrill of danger appeal to you? Just look around you. You are surrounded by dangers Grandma never dreamed of. Like a scout moving into Indian territory, the modern woman must have the soul of an adventurer when she enters her kitchen. She is surrounded by booby traps, the modern devices that she uses every day. She rarely understands what makes them work, but if they don't work she can always try a booby trap. This may do the trick 99 times out of 100, but it may mean electrocution. Her husband out in the field has a "safe" way of unhooking the compactor without shutting it off until the day he loses a hand.

The use of modern equipment, whether it's in the kitchen, in the barn or fields, in the town dweller's back yard, or in a factory, requires skilled hands and a clear, alert mind. Most accidents with machinery are the result either of ignorance or of human failure. The machine is rarely at fault.

Machines, when anything is wrong, stop working. But people go right on trying when they are upset, tired, or cross. It's not so bad when you merely drop a plate, but you are just as likely to push the wrong button on the electric iron or hastily pull out an electrical cord with wet fingers.

In the old days the farmer with horse-drawn equipment had to take a break now and then to rest his horses. Today he can drive himself 'til his head aches to drop, and often does. The tractor doesn't mind. But the human body rebels, and then there's an accident. Fatigue and emotional upsets which temporarily blind the victim are behind too many accidents.

It's high time we all began to realize the special demands that modern machinery makes upon the human beings who use it. The push button age demands more of us than mere knowledge of how to push a button. We don't all have to be mechanics, but we must at least learn our own limitations in dealing with the wonderful inventions that should make our lives more happy, not more hazardous.

The searchlight in the wingtip of a Navy PSM patrol is equivalent in brightness to 15,000 one hundred light bulbs.

Kentucky Streams Fail To Furnish Ample Water For Farm, Industry Use

Tobacco leaves were hugging the stalk and corn blades were shivering. Ray had made a short crop. Harvests were brown. Stock water was being hauled. Some streams were down to a trickle and many wells springs and ponds had gone dry. It was a summer drought.

A wise old farmer was urged to pray for rain. He shook his head and said, "Maybe we need to learn how to use the rain the good Lord gives us before we ask for more."

That's an old story, but it points the way to solving Kentucky's growing water problems.

Water problems in Kentucky? Water problems in a state blessed with more miles of streams than any other of the 48 states? Water problems in the state which has the world's largest man-made reservoir?

Yes, there are water problems in Kentucky. Despite an adequate annual rainfall—48 inches average over a 30-year period—there is not enough to meet the farming demands during the growing season in three years out of four. It has been said that "Kentucky usually has an unusual dry spell."

Kentucky's streams furnish the major portion of the industrial and municipal water supply. But Kentucky's streams do not furnish a stable supply. Although the North Fork of the Kentucky River at Jackson has an average discharge of 8,500 gallons per second, and a peak discharge as high as 331,000 gallons per second, it also has had a minimum flow of zero gallons per second. This range of discharge is typical of all of Kentucky's secondary streams, and even the headwater areas of the major ones.

These problems are a part of the growing pains of progress. It now takes around 65 million gallons of water a day to supply Louisville. This is more than double the daily use 20 years ago. Modern cities and modern industries require ever-increasing amounts of water. And modern farming, too, with an expanding program of irrigation, means more water the year after.

Thus, within recent years, water consumption by cities, industry and agriculture has increased the demands on the state's water supply. These demands will be even greater in the future as they all continue to expand. Proper and equitable use of water is the key to future growth.

A Peeping Tom Is Not Fair Game. Sheriff Agrees

Garden Grove, Cal., March 22.—The law agreed with a "Peeping Tom" who said that husbands have no right to shoot him.

Residents of the Vokwood Lane area here have been complaining to police that a "Peeping Tom" was busy in the neighborhood particularly when husbands were away at work. One husband shot at the prowler who he caught him outside his house.

"You can't shoot me unless you see me coming into your house," the husband said the prowler yelled as he fled.

Chandler Reveals Plans For Youth Forest Work

A plan to retrain Kentucky's "forever" and at the same time dependent youth into responsible men" was revealed last week when Gov. A. B. Chandler announced that a site at Kentucky Dam Village has been selected for a 100-acre tree nursery to be operated by teenage boys who are charges of the State.

The youngsters will be housed in a barracks type camp to be constructed near the nursery where a "rest city" will be set up this summer.

The nursery is the first step in an expanded reforestation program promoted by Conservation Commissioner Laban P. Jackson's department and sanctioned by Governor Chandler. Jackson and the Governor asked that the possibility of a nursery to meet the demand for seedlings be investigated shortly after a conservation program designed for initiation in the next four years was outlined to the Governor recently.

Federal, industrial and state forestry experts from neighboring states volunteered their services in selecting the site which was described as the "best possible". The land near the west end of the dam has been idle since Kentucky Dam was built.

Work in the nursery, which will ultimately produce more than 25 million seedlings a year, is now underway.

According to Harold Newland, director of the Division of Forestry, some 40 acres of seed beds will be planted eventually. Seedling of five to seven acres is scheduled for the first week in April.

Newland said the nursery should reach peak production in three to five years when its output will total 25,000 acres annually.

"We will encourage needed planting and establishment of farm windbreaks and improvement of existing woodlands by producing these seedlings and selling them at low cost," Jackson said.

"Actually, this nursery is a cooperative effort by the Department of Conservation, Welfare and Economic Security," the Governor said.

"It aims to conserve and perpetuate our forests and at the same time conserve our dependent youth. Under a plan worked out by Commissioner Jackson, Veto Barnes, Commissioner of Economic Security and Welfare Commissioner Charles Alphin, we intend to use dependent teenage youths to do much of the work in the nursery," Chandler added.

Jackson elaborated on the plan, explaining that it will amount to a tremendous saving in labor costs and at the same time give orphaned youths an opportunity to enjoy a supervised camp life. He said the boys will probably work 30 to 35 hours a week and spend the remainder of their time in recreational and educational activities.

If successful, the plan may later be expanded to include charges of the Welfare Department. Jackson said similar plans have been in operation in Ohio and other states.

Seedlings from the nursery will be sold at cost and will not be available for ornamental, shade tree, or roadside planting, in compliance with Division policy.

Last year, the state's only nursery at Penney's State Park, produced 1,500,000 seedlings, and the Division of Forestry distributed more than 6,800,000 seedlings; the balance from the neighboring states.

"We could have distributed 10,000,000 last year," Newland said, "but we were in a position to just sit and take what orders happened along, instead of planning reforestation and better management practices that would have resulted in a higher demand."

Because of Commissioner Jackson's foresight of development of small watersheds with emphasis on reforestation, activity of various soil conservation agencies, the proposed Federal Soil Bank plan and nationwide interest in tree planting, demand for seedlings in Kentucky should easily reach the 40 million mark by the time we reach peak production on this nursery, and possibly before," Newland concluded.

Species to be produced include short-leaf, loblolly, Virginia, pitch pine and several miscellaneous hardwoods, Newland said.

Newland said experience has shown that the 25 million seedling figure represents the point of top efficiency in production of pine seedlings, and will probably meet demands in Kentucky for several years.

Garroway's TV Show Set To Originate From WSAZ Showing American Ruhr

Political figures and local talent from the Central Ohio Valley will appear on NBC's TODAY when the program originates from WSAZ-TV on April 24 and 25.

Political figures from West Virginia, Ohio, and Kentucky will be interviewed by THE Garroway star of the show. Marching bands, drum majorettes from Huntington, and local talent will appear during the two day coverage of the Valley industrial story.

The purpose of the Huntington occupation of TODAY is to report on one of the world's most intensely industrialized areas (ten times the production of the more highly publicized Ruhr Valley) and will utilize TODAY's two basic techniques: filmed features and live reports.

Film footage covers major industrial installations in the Central Ohio Valley industrial growth in this area has been phenomenal because of the access to power (coal, natural gas and electric) and transportation (rail and river). The valley has become extremely attractive to industry because it is already a center of manufacturing, of distribution, of investment operations, and has ample room for construction and expansion.

Wayland Student Slated As Assistant Director Of Morehead School Play

Miss Phyllis Stone, Morehead State College student from Wayland, is assistant director in the next Morehead Players production, scheduled for March 22 and 29 at 8:30 p.m. (EST) in Button Auditorium.

Miss Stone, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. E. Stone, will serve as assistant for the English version of a Latin play, THE ROPE. A Junior Education major, she has appeared previously with the Morehead Players as Sybil in MRS. NOTHING.

A 1934 graduate of Corbin high school, she was active in drama and appeared in THREE OLD MAID MINTS, MEVER TRUST A MAN and WEDDING SPELLS.

The production, billed as "An Evening with Phyllis and Mollere Masters of Comedy" is unusual in that it marks the first time a production has ever been done in foreign languages at Morehead. The players, in cooperation with the Division of Languages, are presenting two separate plays, one in Latin and one in French, both of which will be followed by English versions of the scripts.
