Kentucky Physicians Plan Better Rural Distribution of Medical Care for People

Representatives from the Kentucky Physicians Placement Service and the Rural Kentucky Medical Scholarship Fund met in Frankfort, May 31, to work out plans to provide better distribution of medical care for the people of rural Kentucky.

John Guy Miller, field secretary of the Kentucky State Medical Association, was named field secretary of the two groups. His official task will be to keep in close contact with each beneficiary of the Fund while he is a student and during his hospital training. Then Mr. Miller will be able to bring together needs, communities and physicians seeking locations.

According to a joint announcement made by Dr. Ralph D. Lynn, Elkton, chairman of the Physicians Placement Service, and Dr. G. C. Howard, Glasgow, re-elected chairman of the Scholarship Fund, the Fund and the placement Service are sponsored and supported wholeheartedly by the KSMJA.
The Fund has two programs aimed at getting more physicians into areas most in need of medical care. One allows a student to borrow up to $1200 over a four-year period if he agrees to practice in an area approved by the Fund for as many years as he received assistance and make each repayment of the amount borrowed plus two per cent interest.
The other plan, which was recently put into effect, permits a student to borrow $2500 if he will agree to practice in one of Kentucky's critical counties for a period of four years. This will automatically work out his debt to the Fund.

The critical counties are Powell, Knott, Martin, Roccoastle, Magoffin, Elliott, Knox, Cumberland, Leslie and Breathitt.
Recently the University of Louisville School of Medicine adopted a new plan whereby a student pays his $3200 tuition and then if he practices in any of the 16 critical counties the money will be refunded to him. This plan was announced after the University received a contract award of $500,000 a year in state funds.
Thirteen medical students were awarded scholarships for the 1956-57 school year at the Frankfort meeting. Thus far, according to Dr. Howard, 87 students have been granted loans of these, 82 were Kentuckians.

The Big Sandy river valley is a case in point. This area has been studied for more than half a century now, surveyed, measured and gauged from every angle every time talk has risen about canalization of the river to open up the valley as an industrial region. While coal-burn ratings have been studied and while a few inimical forces have used coal figures to defeat canalization, the valley has lost thousands of its people, has lost millions in its economy, and has been held in thrall, as helpless as if were under an evil spell.

There are people here who have the habit of cutting, ton. This is where they were born, where they were reared, where they would like to stay. But forces beyond their control and the unimaginative demand for a quick-dollar profit those who look to the figures and the slide-rule rather than the needs of good American citizens have driven them elsewhere. Here, ton is a region far removed from the more vulnerable coastal regions and from the great population centers that will be the target for enemy attack when war comes. Its coal is important, in war or peace. The materials that need coal for their production could be produced here at great profit and to the stabilization, economically and socially, of a strong, freedom-loving and loyal people—if the water resources of the valley were developed and conserved.

So... won't somebody, please, consider the Big Sandy in the light of its people and of its great potential to the nation, even as people and areas overseas are considered in relation to our military strength?

You know, some of these opponents to opportunity for many thousands of Americans and to development of an area that has been vital in the past and could be even more vital in the future, might do well to leave their slide-rules at home. A less tarnished Rule is much the better measure.

Where the Slide-Rules Fail

What is the cost-benefit ratio on foreign relief, on all the billions spent to feed hungry people in less fortunate countries and to arm those nations which are convinced friends of the United States and at least covertly unfriendly to Soviet Russia? Nobody, of course, can perform such slide-rule magic, as to come up with a definite figure in answer to that question. It can't be answered, for here we are dealing in more than dollars and cents; we are considering the defenses of the free world against Red aggression; we are feeding hungry people, partly out of the goodness of our hearts and more particularly because we know that if we do not feed them they will turn Communist as so many other underprivileged peoples already have done.

We have no argument to offer against this sorry program. In fact, we believe in it. We believe that for this nation with all its surplus, to withhold food from hungry mouths the food that would keep human beings alive would be a heathen act.

We also believe that for this country, the world's bulwark against Communism, to desert any nation that is willing to stand up against Communism would be the height of folly.

Yet, agreeing as we do with such a policy, we wonder why the cost-benefit ratio of projects on which this country's money is proposed to be spent here is so ponderous and so concentrated from the purely human angle and also from that of national defense.

But what's a body to do about this if you don't put a lot of money in the bank? You have to buy! You're traveling only 50 miles, or even a hundred, and then come away with a lot of money. Somebody from home isn't standing there to yell, "Samie old Allen for Jones or whatever you happen to be called—no fish against!"

That's one of the objections I have to boat docks in general. You have to come in, sometimes My experience has been that if I come in with a fish worth showing everybody has gone home, and on the other occasion which come all too often, when the old stringer dunks empty, everybody is on hand, and maybe there is a camera or two in the crowd.

If they ever take a picture of me on such an occasion, they can call it "Blue Boy the Second!"

DOGGOE TOUGH SITUATION

The Post Office Department is slightly disturbed by the fact that 1,000 postmen were employed last year, and the powers that be are in agreement as to what should be done about the situation. Sixteen experts, including a dog psychologist, tackled the subject but couldn't do it. They reported considerably about the matter, with each group claiming the other was banking up the wrong line. One suggested that the dog and its master be put on the head if it has a hand left to pat with, dog candy, dog biscuits, cooking utensils, etcetera.

Another advocate the cold and ice stare as the postman's defense against belittled canine, crows and whiffloids from this country, the world's bulwark against Communism, to desert any nation that is willing to stand up against Communism would be the height of folly.

Yet, agreeing as we do with such a policy, we wonder why the cost-benefit ratio of projects on which this country's money is proposed to be spent here is so ponderous and so concentrated from the purely human angle and also from that of national defense.

Remanence of the population will be employed in professional and technical jobs, and from that situation, he added, the graduates may show their own conclusions as to their need for higher education.

"I would be dishonest if I gave you the situation, that is, as it is today, to the youngsters." "You should be prepared for a depression or at least a recession. Your government already has gone longer than any other in American history without suffering the shock of economic depression."

The speaker reminded the graduating class and the big gathering of their friends and relatives at the Strand Theatre here that the real status of this country is not economic or financial, but that the nation's spiritual assets are of the spirit and the mind. The struggle between freedom and totalitarianism will be fought on the battlefield of the mind, he declared.

Drawing upon his travel experiences abroad, particularly in Austria, which he described as the first layer of the Iron Curtain, Dr. Clark told students the fear of the people in Austria. They had economic benefits and security but their freedom was being kept away by their homes, but this was a "red" world. He said he had the same feeling in Mississippi, he visited four in Mississippi, he visited but did not expand on that subject except to say that he was a member of the National Student and Leadership and lack of courage. Dr. Clark's notes on Austria.

Commenting on the fact that thousands of young people leave their state, taking away their tax dollars and productivity, Clark said, "Nobody is coming into this state to solve our problems. He described Eastern Kentucky as the last real frontier where the settlers must face their problems courageously and together."

College scholarships were mentioned as the first step in presenting the donor, the Prestonsburg Coal Company, to President Hammett, Tom Bess and Randolph Hoevevert. A fourth scholarship from the company went to Bob Butler, who is president of the Student Body. Prestonsburg high school senior received from the Prestonsburg Chamber of Commerce. Reathford-Sellers Award presented annually to the outstanding senior in the school here. The presentation was made in behalf of the Jacobs by Barkley J. Sturtevant and Paul C. Hager, board members of the All-State Band and All-State Chorus. Otis D. Sparlock, principal of the high school, announced that Dolores Ann Hughes, valedictorian of the class, had been awarded a scholarship by Prestonsburg College and had been tendered a scholarship by the University of Kentucky by the donor, her father, Danis Elmer Hughes, has been offered a U.S. scholarship and that Murchland offer which has made the honor offer of a grant to Betty Jewel Sizemore.

The class music was provided by the high school band, and the invocation was pronounced by the Rev. Gerald Pearson, pastor of the Presbyterian Church.

Two Floyd Teachers Enter Summer Term At Pikeville College
Pikeville, Ky. June 4 — Lewis Campbell, of Allen, and Earl Martin, of Harbri, are among the 30 teachers in public schools who completed the first week of an intensive course in the supervision of student teaching Friday at Pikeville College.

The workshop-type class, an extension course from the University of Kentucky is the first ever taught on this subject by a University faculty member outside Lexington.

Dr. A. A. Pace, college president, says these completing the course successfully will be qualified to take over their classrooms in public schools during the summer months. They should be able to carry on a fourth-year course, and direct their first-year work.

All 30 members of the class—eight administrators and 22 classroom teachers in both grade and high schools—are from schools within a radius of 35 roadway miles of Pikeville. They should be able to care for the caliber's student teaching on both elementary and high-school levels after Pikeville's four full years of work is opened in September.

Only the first week of the intensive 2 1/2 week course, which is being taught by Dr. Helen M. Heed, coordinator of student teaching in secondary schools at the University, will be given this summer. Those who are enrolled will complete their work in five Saturday sessions in September and October at Pikeville.

RETURNS FROM PHILADELPHIA
The Rev. Ovide Pasanen returned last week from the 168th annual meeting of the general assembly of the Presbyterian Church U. S. A. held in Philadelphia. The meeting was an commemoration of the 200th anniversary of the founding of the first Presbyterian in the United States and concurred with the 20th bi-centennial anniversary of Benjamin Franklin. Congress this year ordered 71 commemorative Franklin medals struck and because of this connection with the Bicentennial, Congress one of the medals was presented to the Presbyterian Church U. S. A.

Presbyterians Complete Study Program Series

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Presbyterian Church has recently completed five study programs centering on the Christian home. Purpose of the entire was to make members more aware of the need for church and home cooperation. The home was pictured as God's first unit of creation and the plan is a "Christianity begins in the church, the study program developed, care in very little for today's youth without help from the home unit, since the individual in many cases spends 167 hours a week in the home as compared to only one hour in the church. Constant prayer, study of God's word, and daily practice were emphasized in the course as answers to the questions that face parents and families daily. "You're Family" worship, wholesome literature in the home, regular church attendance, and parents and children in church together, and putting first things first were among many of the points stressed in the course. The study also covered attitudes of the individual at church and at home meeting questions that arise and other topics.

Seaman Little Killed In Auto-Truck Smash; Burial Made at Melvin

Seaman John W. Little, 17, formerly of Wheelwright, died on his way to an Ohio hospital, at 10 p.m., Thursday of last week, the victim of an automobile-truck collision. He was home on leave with his father at Rosford, and the victim of an airplane carrier, USS Randolph, Saturday.

It was said that Seaman Little was driving east on Ohio 20 near Rosford and in attempting to pass a semi-trailer truck loaded with coal he met the vehicle head on. The driver of the truck, Charles W. West, 34, of Canton, O., was unjured. Little's death was attributed to a fractured skull.

Seaman Little was the son of Walter Little and the late Mildred Kever Little, formerly of Wheelwright. One sister, Mrs. Glenda J. Bailey, of Rosford, survives.

The body was removed to this county for burial and the last rites were conducted last Sunday at 2 p.m. at the home of Ed Smallwood, Wheelwright, and burial was made in the Tackett cemetery at Melvin under the direction of Hall Bros. Funeral Home.

Gov. Chandler Seeking To Aid Civil Defense

Frankfort, June 4 (AP)—It is no doubt that every effort be made by all the departments of the state government to implement the provisions of the Kentucky statute which authorizes Governor Chandler to aid in the construction of civil defense facilities in every county.

Citizens of Kentucky have been slow to recognize the urgency of a local civil defense program, Chandler said.

He asked each commissioner to solicit the aid of State employees in an all-out effort to stimulate the program.

Civil Defense not only functions in the event of a military disaster, the Governor said, but is vitally concerned with any catastrophe—such as flood, fire or tornado—in the Commonwealth.

"Should disaster strike an area of the Commonwealth," he said, "it is the duty of the state government to provide relief in a major function of state government. I hope you will render all possible assistance in this effort; the Governor's letter said.

"The Division of Civil Defense is preparing a National Disaster Relief Plan. A part of the plan has been submitted to those departments of state government which services and facilities are projected for possible use in disaster relief, the letter said.

Acting to carry out Chandler's request, Vero E. Barnes, commissioner, Department of Economic Security, instructed Public Assistance officers in each county where no department has been appointed to call a meeting of state employees in the area. Barnes said he will be furnished with a list in the operation of the local Civil Defense program in addition to the list of state employees.

He said the state and all interested parties will be invited to attend the meetings and participate in the formation of local Civil Defense plans.

Home Treatment Given For Control of Termites

Termite trouble develops where wooden supports from buildings touch the ground and allow the insects a chance to get into wooden structural members.

They also can get into wooden portions of buildings by making covered mud tunnels from great deep subterranean nests along concrete foundations until the wood on which they feed is reached.

Sever the wood-ground connections where they exist, says W. A. Price, University of Kentucky Extension Station entomologist, and watch for mud tunnels on concrete or stone walls, and two big steps have been taken toward termite control.

Then trench around foundations and apply recommended poisons. He says, for the other big step in a control program.

All wooden supports in contact with the ground should be replaced with concrete or steel. If porch steps are not being replaced, concrete work or siding touch the ground, remove the three or four inches closest the ground.

Here's how trenching is done. Dig a trench about three feet deep and 18 inches wide around the outside foundations of houses which have termite trouble. These trenches should be closed to the outside foundation wall.

After all dirt is removed, treat the bottom with one of the recommended poisons. Fill in six inches of dirt and repeat the poison application. Repeat this until the trenches are filled, treating of every six-inch layer of earth.

Apply the poisons around supports under the house and to the soil generally under the house if there is a partial basement or no basement.

Watch the filled-in, porch-type construction, where there is a concrete slab cover. It may be necessary to drill 3/8-inch holes vertically in these slabs, so poison can be poured down them to get around foundations under the slab.

Recommended poisons are Dieldrin emulsion concentrate at the rate of one gallon to 50 gallons of water, or sodium arsenite, one pound of powder in one gallon of water.

Officers Raid Seven Last Saturday Night; 3 Jailed on Week-end

Of seven places raided Saturday night by Floyd deputy sheriffs, four reportedly yielded whiskey, one a raid on Norman Sheppard's home, and the haul at most of these places was heavy.

Jailed were Ballard Gibson, Clear Creek, and James Kelly Blair, operator of the Boardhouse, near here. Sheriff Glenn Collins said some beer and whiskey were found at a house on the farm of Middle Creek. Joe Stone was arrested for interfering with searches.

Constable Johnny Caudill and Deputy Sheriff Green Johnson, respectively captured a complete moonshine still, 13 60-gallon barrels of mash sugar, corn and other equipment on the farm of the Simpson-Martin Branch near Drift as a result of a tip given them by three boys. The moonshiners, Stanley M. Croud, H. Royce Case, 11 and John Ed Hunt, 13, came upon the still by accident, then notified the sheriff. The owners were not at home when the officers called.

Others jailed last week included Wesley Ratliff and Lester Mitchell, drunk drivers, Ivel Reynolds, moonshiner.

Baptist Revival Slated By Rev. Vince Cervera In Tent on Playground

Upwards of 50 men of the Baptist Church here are expected to hold a revival in a tent on the playground at the grade school building, the largest capacity tent in which revival will be conducted by the Rev. Vince Cervera of Greenville, S. C.

Included in the list of preparation will be construction of a speakers platform, installation of 1,000 seats, wiring for both illumination and sound and the placing of an organ and a piano for the music programs during the series of meetings.

The revival will begin in the tent at 8 p.m. Sunday, and will continue at the same hour each evening.

The Rev. Cervera conducted a revival at Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church here, three years ago, which drew crowds beyond capacity of the church. Because of this, the pastor of the church, the Rev. Ira McMillen, Jr., decided to put into use the tent so that all who will come may be seated. "We want this revival to reach all Floyd county, and welcome not only the people of this county but also those of surrounding counties," he said recently.

The first revival conducted here by Mr. Cervera was perhaps the most successful held in Prestonsburg since the days of the Rev. Sledge. He has a wide reputation over the country as an evangelist. Joining the Rev. Cervera for the revival here are musicians are Al and Ivy Walsh of Chamblisse, Georgia.

Aromatic Tobacco Man Visits Floyd-co. Fields; Masie Joins in Radiocast

John S. Watkins, representative of the Southeastern Aromatic Tobacco Company, of South Carolina, is here this week inspecting fields of aromatic growers. His company, he says, is very interested in getting production from this area as the required tobacco, mostly imported, is a necessary seasoning or leavening of the American cigarette.

Speaking of production here, he said he could see no reason this section could not successfully grow the tobacco with the right quality. The acreage in Floyd and Johnson counties are pilot projects to determine if the tobacco is of good quality. The climate and altitude are slight. We just have to wait and see what the soil will do."

Watkins, I. E. Masie, Extension tobacco specialist and County Agent O. E. Adams, were speakers on a radio-cast Wednesday noon at which time aromatic production was discussed.

'Buy Auto Insurance With Caution'—Thurman

Frankfort, June 4—The State Department of Insurance today urged Kentuckians to be extremely cautious when buying insurance, particularly automobile coverage.

Recently a number of unethical practices were discovered by the Kentucky Commissioner of Insurance, C. P. Thurman, at this state. As a result, regulations are being strengthened for the protection of all Kentucky citizens, especially for the surplus line brokers.

These brokers must see that their companies have the minimum capital and surplus before being placed in the Commonwealth.

The Department of Insurance requires a certified copy of the amount of trust funds. A separate attestation will be required from the non-admitted company certifying that its capital and surplus is not less than $200,000.

In a recent example, the Department discovered that one agent had placed coverage on a Kentucky automobile with a company considered unacceptable. The agent of this Indiana company was ordered to cancel all such policies and within 12 hours every policy was withdrawn and the unearned premium refunded to the policy holder. Less than a week later, the company was placed in receivership.

WEST VA. OHIO STARTS SWEEP SERIES

In the first two games of the annual summertime cage series, the West Virginia-Ohio group, whipped a similar group of Kentuckians, 78-73 in Ashland last Friday, then, on Saturday night, drubbed the same team, 79-54, in Huntington, W. Va.

Prestonsburg's Lowell Hughes slipped in 14 points in the first tilt, but failed to score in the second.

This week the all-star series shifted to Whitesburg, Tuesday, then to Paintsville, tonight (Thursday).

Saturday night, the group will battle for the third time in Pikeville, home of the sponsors of the East-West cage series.

The annual summertime all-star games offer little if any interest to the cash customers. The players, first of all, are not in shape, second it's too hot in the gyms at this time of year, and, finally, the players are not particularly interested in winning—just having a good time.

The sponsors of the games are interested in making money as the prime purpose; some seek athletes for a particular college for the following season and others for numerous reasons.

Occasionally a sponsoring group will provide the player with a jacket or watch or name him to his team, and that without any great reward. We wonder if it's worth it both to the sponsor and the player.

STEWART SCORES FIRST WIN RECORD

Melvin Stewart, of Allen, scored the first win in the Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce Golf Tourney by eliminating Paul Hughes, Prestonsburg, one up in the first round of the tourney. Stewart won third place, good for a $25 Savings Bond, in the Jaycees' Teen-Age Road-race last week.

POWERS LEAVES FINE RECORD

Clayton Powers, who resumed last week as football mentor at Pikeville high school, had one of the better football coaching records in the state in compiling a 50-12 and 1 record in six years at Pikeville. His teams always played in the Kenton County close games, as five of the six days are decided by one point or one touchdown. Only the 1954 game which the Black Cats won 33-6 was a run-away.

BOLIN TAKES MILES/BUCKS JOB

Herman Bolin, former Oil Springs creek store, has been assigned to take a similar job at Miles/Bucks Military Institute. He has been at the Johnston county school for two years.

MARTIN OPERATES LITTLE LEAGUE AND PONY LEAGUE

The city of Martin, under Commissioner and Mayor Donald Harbert is doing an excellent job in Little League and Pony League baseball. While Prestonsburg is flourishing around trying to revive the Pony League. As far as the Little League is concerned, Com. manager Mark Harmon has been the workhorse while father of the Little Leaguers put him on the back for a well-done job but refuse to donate their time to assist him. The Prestonsburg Pony League has some $800 worth of uniforms and equipment. 65 interested boys and little if any cooperation from the fathers of these youngsters, who appear to be too busy to aid the community and their sons in this wholesome, boy-building program.

A Pony League would keep these youngsters of the streets and out of the poolrooms, it would aid them in something to do, active boys take the other road. How many parents of teen-age boys in the community of Prestonsburg have ever donated one hour of time and effort to the Pony League?

Last 4 Basketball Games Are Slated At Pikeville Gym

The last of four basketball games during the week will be staged in Pikeville's spacious gymnasium, Saturday night at 8 as graduating stars of high schools are divided into the East-West series.

For the second successive year the Pikeville Senior Explorer Scouts, annual sponsors of the summertime games, have games scheduled in Paintsville on Thursday, then on Friday a combined team, the East-West squad will match baskets with a similar group of West Virginia graduates in Memorial Field House, Williamson, West Virginia.

Twenty-two of Kentucky's top prep stars will battle in the Series. Heading the list for the East team will be Wayland's "King King" Coleman, Kentucky's greatest scorer of all time, and Prestonsburg's Lowell Hughes, who averaged 41 points a game during the season.

Others on the East squad are: Bob Shepherd and E. A. Couch, from the state championship Carr Creek five; Ralph Davis, Vanceburg; Charles Hall, Paintsville; Kenny Cornette, Mt Vernon; Don Milk, Berea; Rex Polly, Whitesburg; George Carroll, Ashland; Kenny News, Montgomery County; and Everett Valley, Beatty.

The West will have the height with such standout stars as Central City's All-American center, Corky Whitlow and Heath's great six-foot seven-inch center, Martin Holland. Their teammates are: Louie Clieger, Florence; Pascal Benson and Bryon Pinson, from runner-up Henderson; Barry Gager, Holy Name; Reggie Newman, Greenville; Dave Dunson, Bowling Green; Rex Shroy, Mayfield; Jimmy Mitchell, Valley Station; Herby Jay, Shelbyville; and Fred Lugs, Paducah Tigham.

Join Bill Trivette, successful Pikeville high school mentor, will guide the East team for the sixth consecutive year and T. L. Plain, who coached his Henderson team to the finals of the 1953 state high school basketball tournament, will guide the West squad.

In addition to the basketball games, the players will be guests of honor at several banquets in the various cities during the week, culminated by an affair at the Green Meadows Country Club in Pikeville, Saturday evening.

There were seven new deep mines opened in Kentucky in 1955 and these mines will produce almost 9,000 tons a day. In all 20 new deep mines were opened in the United States in 1955.

POWERS QUILTS COACH POST

At Pikeville, Last Friday; His 6-Year Tenure There Created Outstanding Team

Clayton Powers, head football coach at Pikeville high school resigned that past last Friday to accept the athletic directorship and head football coaching job at Union City high in Tennessee.

Powers, in six years at Pikeville, made the Panthers one of the state's annual grid stalwarts and during the past season his team won 11 and lost 0 in a bid for the mythical Kentucky high school championship. Included in the victory skein was a victory over Harlan in the annual Big Sandy Bowl, and the grid championship of the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference.

Three times previous to last season's champs, Powers' team were runners-up to the E.K.M.C. champs, and his overall coaching record while at Pikeville was 50 victories, 12 defeats and one tie.

Some of Powers' outstanding grid stars were Billy Wheeler, Clark Rattiff, Herby Phillips, all of whom played at U. of K. H. L. Justice, Everett Justice and James Coleman. A native of Frankfort, Powers attended the University of Kentucky, where he earned letters in football before coming to Pikeville.

His successor has not been named.

State Police Head Cites Motor Bike Laws

Frankfort, June 6 (AP) — Kentucky law prohibits a person under 16 years old from driving any type of motor vehicle. P. A. B. Widener, commissioner of State Police, brought attention to the law today while discussing the dangers of motor bike riding.

The commissioner said Kentucky law also provides for the arrest of parents of an underage child found driving a power propelled vehicle.

"Warm weather always brings a series of motor bike accidents. Law enforcement alone will not prevent such traffic tragedies—the answer lies with the individual parent and youngster," Widener said.

The nation's three leading commercial producers of bituminous coal dug almost $2,000,000 tons in 1955, more than 11 per cent of the national total of 42,000,000 tons.

SPRAY SWAMPS IN MARSHALL

BENTON, Ky. — Swamps and outbuildings in a 400-acre Marshall County area are being a repetition of last year's encephalitis outbreak.

The western Kentucky county had 57 cases of the disease, which is carried by a type of mosquito, last year.

The area is being sprayed with larvicide in near Calvert City, which had 14 cases last year.

The spraying is expected to be completed in about 12 weeks.

IT'S SWITCHCRAFT
— that's what it is!

You'll see when you try Buick's new Variable Pitch Dynaflow!

IT TAKES a new word to describe the magic at your command when you drive a '56 Buick — with the newest transmission of them all.

It's full power go-ahead on the instant. You can get where you were just looking in a shaved second's time — with the most modern and most thrilling surge of safety acceleration in the land today.

It's smoothness, too. Complete freedom from the "bump" and lag of gears shifting. Only with Dynaflow can you go winging away with so smooth a sweep.

And only with a '56 Buick can you enjoy Dynaflow's newest marvel. It's something the engineers call "dash" regeneration. Let's you start off like an Olympic sprinter, with the pedal pressed just an inch or less. (And driving that way, you get better gas mileage.)

There's more big news, too, that goes with this new Buick magic. And that covers a lot more than styling.

Sure — you'll like the graceful new beauty of the V-shaped prow and sweep-ahead look. And you'll like the extra room inside.

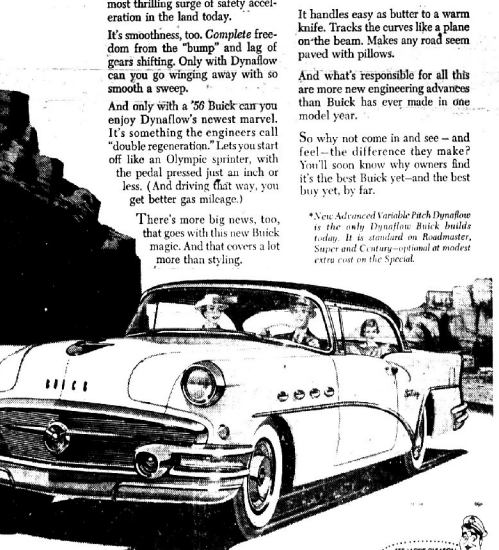

But as you drive you'll find that this Buick responds with the new gift of a big, record-powered V8 engine of 322-cubic-inch heft.

It handles easy as butter to a wane knife. Tracks the curves like a plane on the beam. Makes any road seem paved with pillows.

And what's responsible for all this are more new engineering advances than Buick has ever made in one model year.

So why not come in and see — and feel — the difference they make? You'll soon know why owners find it's the best Buick yet — and the best Buick yet, by far.

*New Advanced Variable Pitch Dynaflow is the only Dynaflow Buick build today. It is standard on Roadmaster, Super and Custom — optional at modest extra cost on the Special.

POLAROID Land CAMERA WITH Bounce Flash

Now, the makers of the famous 60-second Polaroid Land Camera have made "bounce flash" really practical. If you can take an ordinary snapshot you can take a marvelous "bounce flash" picture. All you need is the new, easy-to-use bracket and the new fast Polaroid Land film.

The "bounce flash" technique—long a favorite of the big name photographers—is pretty much self-explanatory. Instead of aiming the flash head-on at your subject, you bounce it off the wall or ceiling. This gives your pictures an even, natural lighting much like sunlight.

50 years of progress in electric power...

To our Customers—
In 1906, the American Gas and Electric Company was founded to provide people with dependable electric service for their growing needs.
From this beginning has grown a seven-state network of plants and transmission lines known as the American Gas and Electric System, of which this company is a part.
To operate this electric system nearly 13,000 people are devoting their many skills to assure you of:
1. Dependable Service—backed by modern facilities of a seven-state network.
2. Low-Cost Electricity—because of increased usage and highly efficient generating and transmitting equipment.
3. Power Abundant—through continuing development, research and advanced engineering.
4. Better Living—through greater use of electricity in home, farm, industry and community.
As we start the next fifty years we foresee an even greater role for electricity in the economy of America. Our job will be to stay ahead of the growing needs of all our customers.

Kentucky Farmers Are Shortweighted On 63 pct. of Feeds

Frankfort, June 4 (SpI) — A check weighing campaign by the Kentucky Department of Agriculture, Division of Weights and Measures indicates that the farmers of this state are being shortweighted on 63 per cent of the commercial feeds they buy. This information has been developed since the Division began its program of checking feed offered for sale at wholesale and retail outlets.

Division Director George L. Johnson said he has 19 inspectors checking feed stores and warehouses in the Commonwealth. These men have checked 43,633 bags of feed and found 28,682 of them to be shortweighted. These deficient bags have been condemned and ordered off sale. On a percentage basis, 3,047,976 pounds have been weighed and 1,791,183 found shortweighted and condemned. The shortage on the condemned bags is averaging about three pounds for a 100 pound sack.

Agriculture Commissioner Ben Butler said the close inspection program would continue. When evidence, is found to indicate that the miller or packer has willfully and intentionally shortweighted the packaged commodity, his Department will press for prosecution, Butler said.

"We will not tolerate the sale of commodities that are shortweighted. This Department is aware of the problems confronting millers and dealers but I feel that our primary responsibility is that of protecting the interests of the consumer. We shall proceed along these lines. I have advised Mr. Johnson to instruct his inspectors in the field to condemn any commodity offered for sale that has an actual net weight less than that indicated on the bag or container," he said.

Johnson said his inspectors could complete their checking of commercial feed in six weeks. Then the Division will make periodic checks of the various commercial feed outlets, he said.
