It's a dear bargain when you carry automobile insurance in a company that isn't licensed in every state in the country and that can't serve you wherever you go.

We have a knack you'd rather BUY FROM AN AGENT who places your insurance in companies that have facilities all over the country so that you can have "home town" treatment no matter where you may be.

That's how this Agency conducts its business.

Loggers' lingo a "calface" is partly healed scar on the trunk of a tree. A calface usually is caused by fire.

Loggers' terms may differ slightly to regions. In North, South, East, or West, all agree that man-caused fires are one of the forest's worst dangers. Each year forest fires destroy millions of dollars in preventing, locating and suppressing woods fires. You can help by always being careful with fire in or near the woods. Keep out state grass.

ROSE TO HEAD DIMES MARCH

Transy President Tells Hope Finishing Job This Year Against Polio

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 10 (S.A.) — A man long concerned with the health of Kentucky has been chosen to lead the fight against polio as state chairman for the 1957 March of Dimes.

Dr. Frank A. Rose, president of Transylvania College in Lexington, has been appointed to the volunteer post by Basil O'Connor, president of the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis. It was announced here today.

"This is the year we hope to finish the job in the fight against polio and a national leadership is needed even more than in the past. We know that Dr. Rose will prove an inspiration to our thousands of polio volunteers in Kentucky," O'Connor said.

The new state chairman will coordinate the campaign efforts of county March of Dimes leaders throughout the state. He succeeds Dr. Frank Krava, Bardonia, who led the anti-polio campaign to success for two years.

Dr. Rose, father of ten children, became the youngest president in the history of Transylvania College in 1951. He was named one of the ten outstanding young men in the nation in 1954 by the national Junior Chamber of Commerce.

"We're going to carry on two campaigns this year in Kentucky," Dr. Rose said. "One to top the previous high effort to obtain funds to fight polio and another educational effort to get everyone, particularly youngsters, vaccinated with Salk vaccine. We want to see every Kentuckian protected from the ravages of polio and we want to provide the best possible care for those for whom a vaccine comes too late."

There are upwards of 1,500 polio cases in Kentucky currently being aided by chapters of the National Foundation. Since the March of Dimes started in 1938, 72 per cent of all funds raised in the state have been spent in Kentucky for patient care. The 1957 March of Dimes will be conducted January 2-31.

ROAD SYSTEM NEEDS BONDS

Is Claim by Habley, Economic Commissioner, In C. of C. Meet Address

Kentucky's economic development commissioner, George W. Habley, has stated "the greatest handicap to our economic development is the state's antiquated highway system, measured against present and future demands, represents a very real and substantial barrier to economic progress."

Habley, who has an opportunity at the next election to be something about this serious situation by voting "Yes" for the proposed $100,000,000 bond issue to provide funds to match federal road aid, he said.

Habley's statement was read in a speech at the board presented and discussed the bond issue in an address at the annual Franklin Chamber of Commerce meeting recently.

Habley said the outgrowth of the bond issue would be to provide for the construction of 100 miles of new roads, the replacement of 100 miles of old roads, and the improvement of 100 miles of existing roads. He said that the state has a total of 100,000 miles of roads, of which only 10,000 miles are in good condition.

There were several other speakers at the meeting, including Mr. and Mrs. Daniel.

It's equipped for 18,000 lbs. GVW truck-work. The smaller truck at left is GMC's popular 1-ton pickup with a 130-h.p. six-cylinder power plant.

Why settle for less than Blue Chip performance?

It doesn't take a new GMC owner long to spot the difference—especially if he's just switched from another make truck.

Take the way every Blue Chip GMC is "engineed." An ultra-modern power plant gives him flashing response, sparkling road-pace—and record fuel economy.

Hydra-Matic* is another eye-opener. Right away he appreciates its time and effort saving in traffic. And later on, he cashes in on the big maintenance savings.

And every trip he can carry a bigger load. For GMC chassis are rugged—GMC axles are extra-capacity.

So check the new GMC's... and you'll be comfortably GMC.

Three Former Black Cats Figure Heavily In Morehead Grid Plans

Morehead, Ky., Sept. 16 (Sp.) — While the 1956 football picture at Morehead State College is far from clear, a new head coach Paul Adams will lead a fight to scrap crew football. Three Floyd countyans are in line to take the job.

Adams, a former Little All-American center at Morehead, has announced the formation of the 1956 team using the single wing which he used at Morehead.

The staff Adams now has a squad of 23 from an original group of 60 candidates. Six are seniors, four juniors, eight sophomores, and 11 freshmen.

At quarterback Adams has three lettermen: Billy Adams and a 190-pound freshman, Tom Sims, of Hazard. Both are rated above average.

Service returns Jim Coe, sophomore Buddy Fields and freshman Curtis Cassell, who has looked good in early drills, will see most of the action at halfback. Freshman Bobby Kinser could be a lot of help at a position which lacks depth.

The backfield workhorse for the past two years has been fullback Ronald Hart. Hart averaged 54 yards per carry in 1955 and had a punting average of 27.1 yards. Adding Hart will be Louisville Valley's Jimmy Androski and 200-pound freshman Thomas Inaker.

Junior Paul Ouseley will start at one end, although an ankle injury in pre-season practice will slow him down during the first few games. Competing for the other end are 160-pound Bert Dixon, sophomore Robert Igo from Hazard and Russell Lane, a good pass receiver from Barboursville, West Virginia.

The tackles are plenty big, but lack experience. 210-pound Tom Spradlin, a two-year man, should be a tower of strength on defense. Sophomore Wayne Chapman, a 230-pounder, is fast for a big man and will probably start. Several good reserves make the tackle slot one of the strongest positions.

At guard, co-captain Harold Rose, an all-OVC choice in 1954, holds down the number one spot. Although only a 177-pounder, Rose is outstanding on offense, a good blocker and should be a top contender for a spot on the all-OVC team.

Fighting for the other guard position are 190-pound John Plybon and Charles Phillips, 198, a sophomore.

Probably the strongest position on the team is at center. Co-captain Lawrence Adams holds down the number one position, but freshman Tommy Scott, a 260-pounder who likes to rough it up, will be seeing a lot of action.

Assisting Adams is St. Prewitt, who came to Morehead in 1953.

Morehead opens September 15 at night, Tennessee. The Eagles then oppose Carson Newman in a night game at Morehead on September 22 and meet Tennessee Tech at Morehead on September 29 in another night game.

The Eagles then travel to Murray on October 6 and to Middle Tennessee on October 13. The Morehead squad returns home on October 29 to meet the University of Louisville in an afternoon homecoming affair. On November 3, Western invades Morehead for a western game and the Eagles close out the season at Eastern on November 10.

Delmar Hughes, former Prestonsburg all-state quarterback, now regular quarterback of the University of Kentucky's Wildcats, has been selected as an outstanding end in summer training this year and given the Commandant's Award.

The citation was for "having demonstrated exceptional leadership qualities, and having displayed outstanding ability in all aspects of the Air Force ROTC Summer Training Program conducted at Sewart AFB."

William Lewis, Jr., Colonel, USAF, and Major General M. Diebelmann, commandant.

SPORTS CHATTER

By GORDON MOORE

FIRST WIN
Morehead State College's 18-10 victory over Marvyn State College last Saturday night was the first victory on the gridiron for the Eagles in their past 22 games. The Eagles will be in quest of their second win Saturday night with a home game against another Ten-Teen school, Carson-Newman.

Prestonsburg has four ex-high school players on the squad, although regular end Paul Ouseley is out with a broken ankle.

CRAIGER SHINES
Fullback Buford Craiger gained more than 75 per cent of Prestonsburg's yardage in their 20-13 setback at the hands of Hazard last week. For his outstanding play Craiger was awarded the honor of Black Cat-Player-of-the-Week in Francis Store's weekly presentation.

WIDOW!
Although currently hat in the E. K. M. C. Jenkins has the biggest legal payoff in the mountains, if not in Kentucky. Senior center Larry Horner, tips the scales at 218 pounds and stands at over six feet.

GOOD RACE
This season's high school football race should be one of the best ever staged in the five-year history of the ten-team loop. The league has better balance and more power than in recent years when one or two teams primarily dominated the play. Currently, Pikeville, Hazard and Paintsville are tied for the lead while Fleming is 1-0 after playing one conference game. Any one of the four is highly capable of copping the crown. The Whitesburg-Prestonsburg meeting with league foes will also go a long way in determining the 1956 champ.

BOWL DEADLINE
Paintsville bowl officials scooped Fleming's 6-0 win over Lynch Saturday with an eye on the Dave Harst unit as a possible Big Sandy bowl entrant. Under the Kentucky H. H. School Athletic Association rules, no high school football game may be scheduled after October 1. Thus all post-season bowl attractions must be filled by that date and bowl sponsors take a gamble as to the cash-drawing possibilities of the two teams who could conceivably lose five consecutive games and still be in a bowl game.

CAGE CLINIC
The annual Eastern Kentucky basketball officials clinic will be held in the Pikeville high school gymnasium at 7:30 P.M. on October 10. All case officials who plan to officiate in the 1956 season must be in attendance.

Conservation Leaders, Families, Hold Picnic At Dewey Lake Park
Thirty-eight persons, including conservationists, soil scientists and district leaders and their families, attended the Soil Conservation Area 7 picnic held Saturday at Hemlock Point overlooking Dewey Lake. The group meeting was from 11 a.m. till 4 p.m.

Attending were J. A. Jones, area conservationist, a biologist, and Mrs. Jones; H. P. McDonald, soil scientist, and family; of Ashland; Herman Gilmore, district center, Prestonsburg; and the following district conservationists and their families: L. R. Johnson, Pike county; Wayne Cornette, Pike county; Ray Beckwith, Lawrence county; H. D. Morrison, Carter county; Charles Ramsey, Boyd county; Marion Mason, Elliott county; H. A. Wallace, Morgan county; C. J. Horn, Boone county. Many guests.

Answers should not be made in their haste. If it is not possible to make a call in bad weather, wear a pair of canvas shoes with rubber or felt soles.

Three Teams Share Lead; Cats Lose to Hazard, 20-13

Three high school and teams — Hazard, Paintsville and Pikeville — moved into a tie for the leadership of the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference over the past week-end as all recorded triumphs on untied-up grounds.

Pikeville's unmaigned Painters, squelched by Betty 6-0 in a non-division game and a driving rainstorm, Jim Campbell-Baldwin's named Prestonsburg, 20-13, and the Paintsville Terrors beat a 6-6 hard period to a snip over the Jenkins 3-6.

Lincolnton C. A. Noble picked off 11. Minutes past on the Prestonsburg 45 yardline the second frame of the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference over the past week-end as all recorded triumphs on untied-up grounds.

Prestonsburg narrowed the gap to 14-7 one minute before the full called as fullback Buford Craiger scored the final marker after a 13-yard punt put the oval on the 15. Craiger and Jenkins had a 6-6 tie score until midway the third quarter then Paul Sims crashed a 20-yard pass to pay dirt. Diminutive halfback Frankie Patton chalked up three touchdowns in the second half with dashes of 5, 43 and 60 yards and quarterback Jim Condon probably the best triple-threat star in this section, gave Paintsville a 6-0 advantage in the first quarter with a 4-yard punt run.

Junior fullback James Hill carried the ball 21 times and gained 150 yards as Fleming tallied in the third period to raise out Lynch 6-0. The Pirates marched 64 yards for the lone touchdown, with fullback James Owe and fullback Paul Stidham found added power in fullback Astor Sarmore and Spencer Jones to down Prestonsburg 20-13. The Bulldogs scored in the first four minutes and just eight plays after they got the ball. Jones and Sarmore moved the ball to the six-yard strip and Audry Combs pushed it over 25 yards. Sarmore led the point after for a 7-0 margin.

Down In The Mouth

A common sight at the 1956 Kentucky State Fair, Louisville, was that of weary visitors carrying their shoes to relieve itching feet.

But not so common was the practice of the men, as it was carrying his false teeth.

He explained to a youth attendant that he had so many dentures his best of teeth he took out my teeth to get them.

He added: I did all right without my dentures until I got to bed, when I found the dentures were so loose that I had to take them out and the price paid for them was $100.

Blueberries (Huckleberries to Us) Studied For Commercial Production in Kentucky

Lexington, Ky., Sept. 10 (Sp.) — Kentucky always has been able to compete with the rest of the nation in fashioning the national dish, apple pie, because the Blue Grass state is an apple-producer. Another fruit also basis of a national dish, may set a good foothold in Kentucky: It is the blueberry.

Carl Chaplin, Kentucky Agricultural Experiment Station Horticulturist, is working out blueberry production for Kentucky. So far he has had considerable success, despite the fact blueberry-production requires careful handling and certain types of soils and water-availability.

"True blueberries grow well in the Kentucky mountains, but sparingly, and are known locally as huckleberries. Commercially, blueberries are produced in Michigan, New Jersey, and New York and one or two southern states. They require an acid soil high in organic matter, which Kentucky does not generally have."

But Chaplin has had good luck with experimental plantings at Lexington. One test blueberry plant produced 2½ gallons of berries one season.

Blueberries would produce valuable income if the public can be educated to their use here. Kentucky has few blueberries and apparently have little desire for them. But, Chaplin feels they could be taught to like the luscious, juicy fruits, and there is a good six-city market.

As a crop they are profitable. This year, Chaplin notes, some shipments brought 45 cents a quart wholesale. The plant also is a good ornamental. They have shiny leaves and their spring blooms beautiful.

"Want to try a few plants? Here are Chaplin's recommendations: The soil must be acid specialists call for a pH of 4.5 to 5; must have lots of organic matter of growth; and a fairly constant water table about 18 inches below the ground."

If your soil tests to a pH of 5 or more use ammonium sulfate to acidify the soil. Likewise, put from two to eight inches of sawdust, in two or three applications, into the soil to help conserve moisture and add organic matter. Set plants in the spring, using packaged plants two to three years old. Don't try for a crop the first year, even though the plants will bear fruit.

Set plants about six feet apart in rows eight feet apart. Firm down good loam around the fibrous roots.

After the plants are established (about June 1), add a quarter pound of ammonium sulfate per plant to the soil. If soil tests show the pH is 6 or more, if the pH is below 5 use ammonium nitrate.

In the following years, a half pound of ammonium sulfate or ammonium nitrate is added to the soil, again depending on the tests.

Blueberry plants are long-lived, some up to 25 years in their commercial habitats. In Kentucky, they would not live that long, probably because of insects in the commercial areas, but probably would not be for some time here. Likewise, insect control would be no problem; a general insect-control program, to kill bugs which get on all types of plants, probably would suffice.

Supplemental irrigation is helpful but not absolutely necessary. The sawdust in the soil will be a great moisture-saver. After the first year, when blooms are pinched out, to avoid plant stunting, the bushes will bear profitably with normal care. Picking is relatively easy and would be done in July and part of August.

Basic Training Program Reduced by Air Force

Basic training that period of a recruit's life when he thinks the world is against him, is being shortened by the Air Force, according to Sergeant Junior Murphy, Air Force recruiter-salesman for this area.

The training itself, however, is not to be neglected. Sergeant Murphy explained.

Subjects such as military bearing, discipline, drilling, health and sanitation, first aid, firing of weapons, and other military fundamentals generally are included in the curriculum.

Instead of the usual 11 weeks for the strict basic training, the Air Training Command has altered its schedule to include four weeks of training under previous conditions and the remainder while the recruit is in technical training schools.

In other words, Sergeant Murphy explained, after completing four weeks, the recruit is transferred to a technical school such as the radio-electronics school at Scott AFB, Illinois, for technical training and the remainder of his basic training. The recruit, however, will devote two hours a day to this training while at technical school.

There will be some classes where airmen will take the full 11-week basic training course instead of the four-week program. This will occur when the airmen are to be reassigned directly to a duty station with "on-the-job" training instead of school.

Sergeant Murphy stated that this new training program will affect recruits from this area in the future who are sent to Lackland Air Force Base, San Antonio, Texas, for their basic military training.

Ky. Road Death Rate Is Above U. S. Average

Frankfort, Sept. 17 (Sp.) — Kentucky's highway death rate has dropped in the past few years, but it has been well above the national average each year of the decade.

That reported James E. Civils, College Park, Ga., district representative of the National Safety Council. His 16-part analysis of the state's highway traffic-safety efforts and their effectiveness was given at a meeting attended by Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield and other state officials concerned with highway safety.

In his analysis Civils, speaking for the National Safety Council, made specific recommendations for Kentucky to follow in order to improve the traffic safety program.

These recommendations, said Civils, are subordinate to the immediate and pressing need for a state-wide citizen safety organization.

"Until you have full-fledged, wholehearted citizen support for your highway safety program, you will not reduce your death rate," Civils said.

"Kentucky has a good record this year, but won't be able to maintain it without good public relations. You need someone in authority who will say and mean it. We will have law and order on our highways," the safety expert said.

The National Safety Council analyses are not studies of specific government agencies. Civils said but studies of their overall effectiveness.

The 1956 Reorganization Act which created the new Department of Safety appears to be a step toward a substantial improvement in the state highway traffic toll, he said. Civil paid special note to the 476 highway deaths in Kentucky to date this year saying the number was 22 fewer than were killed in the same period a year ago.

Kentucky Leads South In Water Study Program, Gov. Hodges, N. C., Says

Frankfort, Sept. 20 — "Kentucky is way ahead of the rest of us in its mapping and in its contribution of continuing funds for water development."
This statement was made by North Carolina's Gov. L. H. Hodges who led a panel discussion on water conservation and development at the annual Southern Governors' Conference convened in White Sulphur Springs, Va. this year.
Governor Hodges' statement was made after Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield representing Chandler at the conference, told the government about Kentucky's water conservation and mapping programs.
Waterfield said all of the State's 40,000-square-mile area had been mapped in the past six years. The Federal government and Kentucky have spent six million dollars each on the project, he said.
Kentucky's new Department of Economic Development is using these facts to induce outside capital to invest in Kentucky.
Waterfield urged that the Army Corps of Engineers be given continued support by the Southern States so the program of canalization and other improvements to increase traffic on inland waterway systems may prosper.

Thurston B. Morton, of Louisville and John Sherman Cooper, of Somerset, formally opened their campaign for the U. S. Senate, and started the drive for re-election of President Eisenhower in Kentucky at a Republican rally in London, Saturday afternoon.
"Thousands of Republicans from the party's Eighth district stronghold were joined by caravans of party leaders from Louisville and Lexington, and from other counties throughout the state through the streets of London in one of the biggest displays of Republican enthusiasm in years."
Both candidates praised the record of the Eisenhower administration and pitched the theme of Republican slogans—peace, prosperity and continued progress.
They recited the achievements of the Eisenhower Administration in the fields of world peace, debt management, education, health improvement signs in the farm economy, both in Kentucky and in the nation, the record-high employment, the increase of national income, and the reduction of taxes.
Republican tax reduction—they said—placed 4.6 billion of dollars in the pockets of the individual taxpayers, the same farmer, the farmer, the white collar worker.
Cooper opposes former Governor Lawrence W. Wetherby for the four-year unexpired term of the late Senator Barkley. Kentuckians had twice elected him to the Senate in previous elections, and he has served for the last year and a half at U. S. Ambassador to India.

Thurston Morton has served three terms in Congress as Representative of the Third District and resided as Assistant Secretary of State last February to make the Senate race. He opposes Senator Earle Clements, candidate for re-election for the full six-year term.
After the London opening many party leaders went to Lexington to hear Pearl Baker, chairman of the Citizens for Eisenhower, who addressed a meeting of Kentucky Young Republicans.

Just prior to the London opening, Republican State Headquarters announced that Vice President Nixon will speak at the University of Louisville, Sept. 27, following by one day the appearance of Estes Kefauver, Democratic candidate for Vice-President. Senator Richard K. Knowland of California has also been scheduled for a meeting in Louisville Oct. 6.

MEADOWS
For continued good hay production, farmers must give their meadows a chance to recover from their last cutting for a period of at least six weeks before killing frost. Usually killing frosts come to this area about October 10, so farmers are advised to regulate their cutting accordingly.
Fall is the best time to apply lime to meadows for best results. If from retarded plant growth, especially legumes, or from results of a soil test, it is shown that the meadow needs more lime, farmers should be urged to spread their lime as soon as possible before bad weather sets in.

...without increasing taxes!

The new Federal Aid Highway Act, passed by Congress, makes available to Kentucky over $137 million to build roads in the next three years, if Kentucky puts up its share. These are farm-to-market roads... secondary roads... main highways... interstate routes... and streets connecting highways through the cities.
Shown on the map above are 18,672 road miles... in all sections of Kentucky... that could share this federal aid. However, to get these federal funds, Kentucky must put up more than $57 million in the next three years. Of this amount, $12 million is needed for the national interstate routes. On this system of highways, the Federal government pays $9 for $1 paid by Kentucky.
But our big problem is to match the $45 million for the 18,672 road miles shown on the large map. These are the roads that serve all sections of the state. Here the Federal government pays $1 for each $1 paid by Kentucky.
The Legislature also adopted a measure to submit a $100 million road bond issue to the people of Kentucky. This will be voted upon at the Nov. 6th election. If passed, the law requires that bond money may be used ONLY to match federal aid. The Highway Department plans to use $57 million of the bond money to match federal aid during the first three years of the program, as prescribed by the 1956 Federal Highway Act. The remainder of the bond money would be used for matching federal money in future years.
NO NEW TAXES NECESSARY
The Legislature also adopted taxes chiefly on heavy trucks. These taxes are now being paid and are enough to retire the bonds.
If Kentucky FAILS to match federal aid (which is your money, being paid day-by-day, mainly in federal gasoline taxes), then these funds would be kept by the government to be given to other states.
BENEFITS FOR ALL
Kentucky has fallen behind in building its roads. By voting "YES" for the Highway Bond Issue we can start on a program for better roads which will benefit every county and community in the Commonwealth. And, this can be done, without more taxes being necessary.

Soil Conservation

By L. R. JOHNSON

Soil conservation work is progressing rapidly throughout the county.

Ed Ayers, of East Point has completed a farm pond this week. This pond which will have a depth of 12 feet when filled, will be used for livestock water and for fishing.

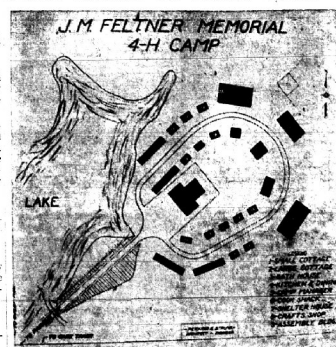

Farmers in the county are becoming more interested in farm pond construction. J. F. Howell of Prior, and Miss Whitaker, of Middle Creek, have applied for the construction of farm ponds in the near future.

SOUTHEAST KENTUCKY MAPS FUND DRIVE TO BUILD CAMP

This drawing shows plans for the 4-H Club Camp to be constructed in Levi Jackson State Park near London, Ky., to serve a 20-county area, including those of the Big Sandy, has bogged down in disagreement and inaction.

A massive fund-raising campaign was launched August 24 for $380,000 to build the J. M. Feltner 4-H Club Camp in Levi Jackson State Park. This camp is the counterpart of the one proposed to be constructed at Dewey Lake State Park or some other location, to serve the club boys and girls of this section.

The J. M. Feltner Camp will serve 21 counties of southeastern Kentucky, and the proposed camp in this immediate section, which includes Big Sandy, will, if built, accommodate 20 counties. Club workers and civic leaders commented this week on the aggressive action of the southeastern group. Some 300 representatives of business, civic, and farm organizations attended an all-day meeting at Levi Jackson Park and pledged support to the finance drive. Efforts of 4-H leaders and other interested groups in this area to agree on a site bogged down several months ago when two or three counties refused at a West Liberty meeting to go along with the site committee's selection of Dewey Lake. The location here was first picked by a sub-committee and later by the full committee.

Woodrow McIntosh, Pineville, vice-president of J. M. Feltner 4-H Club Camp, Inc., will spearhead the drive to raise the huge sum needed to build the camp. Conservation Commissioner Laban Jackson and Dr. E. J. Nesius, associate director of the University of Kentucky's Extension Service, were featured speakers at the planning meeting.

McIntosh said the camp would be built on a 182-acre tract, lying east of KY 229 between London and Harboursville. The state has leased the site to the organization for this purpose for an indefinite period.

Engineers have set total cost of the project at $380,000. McIntosh said, "but about $100,000 is needed before we can build the minimum facilities to start using the camp. The remaining funds will be sought over the next four or five years."

McIntosh stressed that no aid was being sought from federal and state sources other than use of the land and that all money would be raised through private contributions.

He said quotas have been set for each of the 21 counties. They ranged from $2,380 for Owsley county to $69,885 for Harlan county.

When the camp is completed, facilities will be available for use by school and church groups, provided they do not conflict with the regular 4-H club schedule, McIntosh added.

The vice-president said camp facilities thus far approved include:

1. A 300-seat assembly building, costing $50,000, and a 225-seat dining hall and kitchen, costing an estimated $80,000.
2. Ten cabins, each accommodating 12 club members and one leader at a cost of $3,600 each and four larger cabins, each accommodating 24 members and two leaders, and costing $12,000 each. The larger cabins will be winterized for year-round use.
3. An 11-acre lake, formed by a new dam with road across the top, the total project estimated at $20,000.
4. Three bathhouses, a handicraft shop, cabins for the camp manager, caretaker, and members of the staff.

Laurel county, with a population of 24,426 has been assigned a quota of $18,845 or 76 cents per person. Quotas were assigned on the basis of income and population.

Rapid Turnover

Frankfort, Sept. 10 (Sp) — Kentucky recently within a period of about 30 seconds had three Governors.

The state's next executive, A. B. Chandler, and Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield had gone to Chicago, leaving Sen. President Pro Tem E. W. Richmond acting governor.

He "went out of office" after a front coach of a train entered Kentucky, returning Waterfield to the state. On a ranch farther back, back Chandler, which assumed his office again as he passed over the state line.
