The 'Red Fox' Was Snared By Devil John, of Elkhorn

By Henry P. Sealf

The history of mountain man-hunts contains no story of better matched hunter and hunted than that of Devil John Wright's stalking and slaying of the 'Red Fox' Taylor.

Taylor came to the border of Virginia and Kentucky sometime in the '30's. At one time he was a church member having become a convert of the Rev. George O. Barnes, the mountain evangelist who traveled over the entire eastern part of the state.

Mountain folk called him the Red Fox and as such he was called in the Trail of the Lonesome Pine by John Fox Jr. Like a fox he slipped through the laurel and brush, skirting around the crossroads and planning devious, crafty routes.

It was the murder of the Ira Mullins family that brought Doc to the attention of the law. Mullins lived on the Virginia side of Pound mountain and was planning a move to the town of Lynchburg.

Three hundred yards from the state line on the Virginia side Taylor found a natural breastwork of rocks in a group of trees. Here he and his sides lay in ambush.

Horror was upon the face of the Cumberland. The perpetrators of the crime were unknown and people talked only in whispers of the crime. Suspicion was everywhere.

Mountain folk began to note at the time that Taylor and his friends no longer walked alone but in a group and always heavily armed.

The fox, dressed always in the deepest black clothes and wearing his moccasins, flitted through the laurel, elusive, unseen and fed by his friends. He could go days without food and at one time, pressed by the violence of the law, did not eat for five days.

Why Taylor did not leave the Cumberland is unknown. Perhaps it was the thrill of eluding the law, of playing the part of the fox, that induced him to linger on when he could have escaped.

When your preacher gets the seed of the woman and works it out of the city of David which is called Bethlehem, because he was born of the house and lineage of David to be loved with Mary, his espoused wife before ever with child.

The watcher knew now that something was afoot, for one thing that made him suspicious was the great way the woman had gone to get firewood when plenty of it was near the cabin. He wondered too why her visit to the thicket of laurel was so frequent.

The watcher of the Red Fox movements was behind a large stump and in danger of being observed if he was not extremely careful. He began to move backward.

It was the continual calling of cattle and the sighting of a pack that aroused the suspicion of the Fox. He knew now that Devil John had taken up the chase and that the straggled wood dropper, once he divined in the nick of time where John lay in wait and by traveling an unexpected road escaped ambush.

Some days after the escape of the Red Fox from the well-laid plan of ambush John learned an important fact about the hunted man's movements. The Red Fox would make regular trips from the head of Pound River to South Fork of Kentucky River.

When the fox was well on his way the woman went again into the woods and had no sooner entered than she began to hurry. She approached a deep thicket of laurel, entered it and fidgeted quickly.

CHRISTMAS SHOPPING

The Bible tells us it is more blessed to give than to receive. But do you feel blessed when you get to the end of your gift shopping? Or are your nerves frayed to the breaking point?

How can you get through your Christmas shopping with the least wear and tear? First, physical shopping fatigue can be avoided by wearing comfortable shoes and following your schedule to your own strength. But mental and emotional strains can also be an important cause of tiredness.

Do you normally enjoy shopping? If you don't you may hate Christmas shopping. For some people, being part of a crowd is hardest. They feel lost, alone, and unsafe. Some are seized by a kind of hysteria that makes them rush to the most crowded counters and others are oppressed by the vast quantity of merchandise thrust on their attention. They may walk into a department store fully intending to buy a record, become distracted by costume jewelry and bargain blouses, and wander in a state of confusion for hours looking at everything, unable to buy anything.

The result is a condition well known in the art world as "museum fatigue."

Catalogue shopping may help. You can buy wonderful gifts by mail, just as you buy your Christmas Seals by mail to fight tuberculosis.

Gift feeling spoils the fun for lots of us. We can feel guilty for so many reasons: for taking a name off the gift list, for spending too little or too much, for giving a little thought to the selection of gifts. Resentment, too, can cause shopping fatigue. You can get a lot more tired buying a gift for someone you don't like than for someone you do like. Yet we go right on giving to people we don't really care about.

Take a frank look at your own reactions. A drastic change in your approach to Christmas shopping may be necessary. You should try to get the greatest possible happiness from your efforts to give happiness to others.

keeping in line with the stamp. When he had crawled backward far enough to get out of Taylor's vision, he arose, hurried to his male and rode quickly to report to John.

John and his two aides quit logging temporarily to take the Red Fox. That night they rode to the vicinity of the cabin, dismounted their horses and assumed the posts previously agreed upon. One man was posted on the spur, another on the opposite side from him and John assumed another strategic post. They waited for daylight.

At daybreak the man of the house with milkpail on his arm, went out towards the barn, calling cows. It must have been a signal, for the Red Fox in a few minutes came down the hollow and glancing neither to the right or left, entered the cabin. In a moment, he reappeared, coatless, with a wash basin in his hand. His two revolvers were plainly discernible as were the rans of shells around his body.

John had planned to give the man ten minutes in which to start eating his breakfast. He held his watch and when he started to advance on the house his assistants did the same. The two came to the front while Devil John was at the back. The two at the front knooked. No answer. Another knock but this time from John at the back door. The Red Fox was ordered to "stick 'em up." Only then did any one in the house speak. It was the voice of the Red Fox, trapped and inquiring, "Is that you, John?"

Wright's two men came in and disarmed the Red Fox while the gun of the Tall Sycamore was leveled on him with steady hand. One of the men began a long tirade on the crimes of the Red Fox and said that they had shot him. "Set your damned mouth," said John. "Doc is my prisoner and I intend to treat him like a man."

Thus ends the legendary account of the greatest man-hunt saga of the Cumberland. A fitting and climactic of the story should have been the incarceration of the Red Fox in the Wise county Virginia jail and his subsequent hanging at the end of a hempen rope.

The Red Fox did die on the gallows at Wise, Oct. 27, 1902, but it wasn't the arrest by the Tall Sycamore that brought the murderer there. Somewhere and somehow between the arrest of Dr. M. B. Taylor by Devil John Wright on the Pound River-South Fork road and the Red Fox evaded the clutches of his captor. Just how, both history and legend are silent.

It was "Bad" Ed Hall, from Otter Creek, at the present Wheelwright, who headed Ed Taylor down and pinned him in the top of Noton, and when the fugitive's son shipped him out of the town in a fruit tree box to Bluefield, the Floyd county man-hunter, then living on Pound River, rode the same train to that West Virginia town and took the murderer of the Mullins family from the crate at the express office.

But as long as the Tall Sycamore of Elkhorn Creek lived he liked to relate how he snared the Red Fox after days of stalking in a cabin on the South Fork road. He told and retold the story in his log cabin at the head of Elkhorn Creek. One of his sons, William T. Wright, whom he educated well, wrote down his father's account of the capture in a book, titled, "Devil John Wright of the Cumberland."

The Chesapeake & Ohio Railway, the nation's leading coal-carrying line, will haul to lake ports in 1956 a total of 16,000,000 tons of coal, and it will carry more than 12,000,000 tons to Newport News, Va.

Looking ahead, coal industry experts see the coal refinery of the future as a highly integrated processing plant for the production of high-grade gasoline, fuel oil, heating gas and chemicals.

American America's privately owned electric utilities, the American Gas & Electric System uses the most coal for generation of electricity in 1955, the AGE System took more than 10 million tons of coal to power its generators.

when a judge has a financial interest in their conviction.

W. A. Daulton, Pikeville, asked that the court reverse its opinion. He argued the fee system is satisfactory and successful because it has not been questioned in nearly 30 years.

Deaugherty, a practicing attorney for 55 years, was admitted to practice before the Court of Appeals shortly before the arguments began. Franklin County Judge John Barrell and Mason County Attorney Houston L. Wood also asked the court to reverse its decision.

They claimed that the justice-of-the-peace court, relieves County Judges of many criminal trials.

A suggested solution was to pay magistrates a straight salary. Another to authorize trial commissioners in all counties. They are authorized now in counties containing cities of the first and second classes.

It was suggested by some at the hearing that the question of substituting a salary system for the fee system probably would have to be resolved at a special session of the Legislature.

This is because magistrates will be elected next year before the regular 1958 Legislature meets and because the state constitution prohibits a change in the compensation of a public officer during his term of office.

The case at issue reached the Court of Appeals from Pike circuit court. It was based on a case involving Fon Roberts, Justice of the Peace in Pike county District 1, and Brown Martin Noel.

Noel was arrested December 31, 1954, on a charge of public drunkenness. He did not appear in Roberts' court, but was represented by his attorney, who objected to the jurisdiction.

The attorney asked to transfer the case to Pike county quarterly court on the ground that trial by the Justice court would constitute a violation of due process of law, because "of the pecuniary interest of the justice of the peace" in the outcome.

Roberts denied the motion but announced he would waive his costs and fees. He then declared Noel's appearance bond forfeited, empaneled a jury, and tried Noel in his absence. The jury set a $20 fine.

Noel appealed to Pike circuit court to prevent Roberts from carrying out the judgment.

Circuit Judge Jean L. Roberts granted the injunction and Roberts appealed to the Court of Appeals.

Fourteen drunkenness cases were dismissed, while trials of two, Irton Lafferty and Old Thomas, on the same charge resulted in acquittals.

Irvine Stone was fined $500 at the conclusion of his trial on a charge of voluntary manslaughter in the death of Dan Collins, elderly West Prestonsburg man, who was hit by Stone's auto. His trial on a hit-run charge was continued without specified date.

Other convictions within the week:

Ralph Stone, shooting at without wounding, $100 fine; Cecil Tackett, reckless use of a deadly weapon, plea of guilty, $50 fine; Tackett, reckless use of a deadly weapon charge against Jimmie Johnson was continued, and it was ordered that a rule against Deputy Sheriff Willie Johnson issue for his failure to serve process in the case Winfred Howell was ordered to appear here Saturday and show cause why probation granted him should not be revoked. He had been convicted of selling mortgaged property.

Motion and grounds for a new trial filed by Tommy Ratliff, who had been convicted on a liquor charge, was overruled by Circuit Judge Hill. James Luther George, charged with child desertion, won an acquittal.

Among the other cases dismissed were these:

Motet Tackett, reckless use of a deadly weapon, marked, lack of evidence; Jimmie Johnson, assault and battery.

Reflecting Western Europe's widening gap between energy supplies and demand, the Organization for European Economic Cooperation asserts that "coal will be the mainstay of the energy economy in Europe for many years."

— Almost any rod that has had moderate use is likely to have a loose winding or two, and this is true for fly rods. It's not difficult to make a new winding, or to do the revarnishing job you may need.

Every bamboo rod needs varnishing once a year, says Jason Lucas, anding editor of Sports Afield magazine. Some glass rods need varnish and some don't, but a coat of two of varnish will make any distinctive-looking one appear like new. These rewinding and varnishing processes are simple jobs that you can do yourself in between fishing seasons.

The only difficulty you may have in winding your rod is in finding the same color on the spool. If you already have, unfortunately, if it looks the same color on the spool, it won't when the winding is finished. If you cannot find a good match, it's often simpler to rewind all of them in some color to suit your fancy.

For fresh-water tackle, Jason recommends thread in size 80. Also, light sewing thread of silk or nylon is a job that, at a glance, looks about as well as any. But remember that your thread will be much lighter than the color you want for it will darken in the finishing.

Begin winding on the blank only a short distance from the guide or ferrule. Wind over the loose end of the thread a few times and cut it off; then keep on winding. When you've got four or five turns left to go take a loop of thread, place it on the stick and wind over it. Cut your winding thread, pass the end through the loop, and pull it back under the coils tightly, and cut off neatly. You'll have an enviable whip finish.

Now give the whole winding a thorough coat of color preservative, making sure that it's well soaked in all over. You're ready to varnish. You'll need a small bottle of red varnish, fine steel wool or fine sandpaper and a small, soft round, inexpensive paint brush. Be sure to varnish in a dust-free, windless place, and use a good preservative. Before each coat is applied, to wipe the stick off with a rag dampened with alcohol, and a few times and cut it off; then keep on winding. When you've got four or five turns left to go take a loop of thread, place it on the stick and wind over it. Cut your winding thread, pass the end through the loop, and pull it back under the coils tightly, and cut off neatly. You'll have an enviable whip finish.

Remember that three very light coats are better in every way than one heavy coat. Dab the varnish on with the end of your thumb and forefinger and wipe on. Around the guides, where your fingertips didn't reach, you'll need little brush. Sand down before each coat but the last.

19 Cities Allotted Fund For Planning Projects

Nineteen Kentucky cities have been granted a total of $34,215 in state and federal funds for urban planning. The Department of Economic Development announced recently.

S. Susana, assistant director of the Division of Planning and Zoning, said the money will be used in planning land surveys, subdivision building codes, school and park sites, and other such projects.

The cities and amounts allotted are: Elizabethtown, $1,775; Henderson, $2,100; Greenville, $1,825; Central City, $1,825; Princeton, $1,825; Calvert City, $1,825; Bowling Green, $1,825; Russellville, $1,825; Fulton, $1,825; Danville, $1,825; Cincinnati, $1,600; Somerset, $1,815; Pikeville, $2,100; Harrodsburg, $1,825; Lawrenceburg, $1,555; Versailles, $1,825; Carrollton, $1,740; Paris, $1,825; and Winchester, $1,740.

Coal is a vital necessity in steel making. But steel is just as vital to coal mining. The recently opened Miss No. 2 mine of the Clinchfield Coal Corp. in Virginia required a 2 1/2 ton steel for its initial construction.

Nearly 2,000,000 tons of coal month can be dumped over the Norfolk & Western Railway's pier at Norfolk, Va., as a result of a recent expansion of yard facilities.

EGYPT LETS ISRAEL GO

Q. What was the last thing Pharaoh ever said to Moses?
A. "Get out, if I ever see you again I will kill you." (Exodus 10:20)

Q. What was the last thing Moses said to Pharaoh?
A. "You have spoken well, for you shall see my face no more, and that forever." (Exodus 10:28)

Q. What then did the Lord say to Moses?
A. "I will send one more plague and he will not only let you go but he will throw you out." (Exodus 11:1)

Q. What was this plague?
A. Death of the "first born" in all the land of Egypt. (Exodus 11:5)

Q. What security did the Israelites have when the Death Angel passed through the land of Egypt that night?
A. They put the blood of the "lamb slain" on the door posts of their houses (Exodus 12:22)

Q. To the Angel what was to be the token of meaning of this blood?
A. "When I see the blood I will pass over you." (Exodus 12:13)

Q. What happened when the judgment of the Lord fell upon Egypt that night?
A. "There was a great cry" for there was not a house of the Egyptians where there was not one dead. (Exodus 12:30)

Q. What memorial was set up to remind all future generations of the great deliverance from Egypt?
A. The Feast of the Passover.

Q. Why is the Passover not continued as of now?
A. Christ set up in its place a new and later memorial called the Lord's Supper. (Mark 14:22-25)

Q. When we observe the Lord's Supper, of what are we remembering?
A. As the Israelites were saved by the "blood on the door posts" so we are saved by the blood of Christ, "the lamb slain from the foundation of the world." The memorial represents His "lamb slain" which spilled blood "For as often as you eat this bread, and drink this cup, do you show the Lord's death till He come." (1 Corinthians 11:26)

"ROOF TOLING"
The technique of "roof toling" was hardly known in coal mining 10 years ago, but is now so widespread that the average mine uses each month enough bolts to fasten 100-150-ft wide entry reaching from New York City to Atlanta, Ga. In roof bolting steel plates are fastened against the mine roof with steel bolts, holding the roof secure and replacing the old-fashioned wooden floor-to-ceiling braces.

Better Living, More Savings Are Reported Over 8-Year Period

Families spent more in 1956 for goods and services that represented good living than they did in 1948. But they also put more money into savings accounts. That was a statement made at the annual Outlook Conference, Washington, D. C., by Mrs. Gladys Morris, home management specialist at the University of Kentucky.

She said that continued improvement in living is likely in the coming year, even if the gradual rise in the cost of living continues, according to USDA Household Economics Research.

Consumer income per capita, even after income taxes, has more than kept up with the cost of living over the past 8 years.

Family spending since 1948 indicates changes in taste and preference. Families have spent more for food, housing and for the purchase and operation of automobiles. In contrast, they have spent less for clothing and public transportation.

Increased food spending is due in part to more expensive foods and eating out more. Surveys showed families use more meat, poultry and fish, frozen fruits and vegetables, and fewer potatoes and less canned food.

Increased leisure from paid vacations and shorter working hours, as well as the widely-owned labor-saving equipment, are indications of a different level of living.

Building from the Warehouse

building from the warehouse was burned out, and the door connecting the store with the main store was charred to cinder.

The clock over the fountain stopped at 3:30 P.M. Chief Vernon Blackburn expressed the belief that the blaze had started between midnight and 1 a.m.

Night Policeman B. L. Sturgill said he remained on duty till about 4 a.m. The police station is about 30 yards from the drug store.

The youth who confessed the break first told officers the drug store had been entered and looted before he went inside.

The Fountain Korner is jointly owned by Herb Johnson and Joe Burke, brothers. The building housing it, the Martin-Martin Supply and other businesses and offices is owned by John Allen and A. B. Meade.

Burke brothers said they could not at this time attempt an estimate of their loss, but it was said their damage was at least $20,000 and $40,000.

The fire and burglary of the Fountain Korner was the most dramatic of a series of breaks made here recently in which juveniles are suspected.

Modern Concept, the Governor

Protection of society from the criminally inclined must always be assured, Criss declared, and life imprisonment provides such protection.

"Indeed, it aids society in another way," he said. "The medical profession and the scientists have never learned the cure for human madness by destroying the subject of the patient."

Dr. Robert M. Ladd, U.S. Surgeon General, said that the medical profession and the scientists have never learned the cure for human madness by destroying the subject of the patient.

Can a person actually sweat blood? Physiologically it is impossible. But under sudden embarrassment or other emotions, blood vessels of the face and neck swell greatly, even to causing little under-the-skin hemorrhages. This, however, is not "sweating" blood.

Floyd County Girl Tells Of Summer in Europe

"Did you see on the front-page of the November 8 Courier-Journal the story of the West Brothers' attack on the Russian war memorial? That is near the Brandenburg Gate in the Tier Garten where I lived," writes Ida Mae Martin, Berea College senior.

"It wasn't a very impressive monument and the Russian soldiers who were guarding it seemed surprisingly young—even younger than I," she added. "But they looked tough and are known to be willing to throw their weight around—even to firing on Americans for taking pictures of the monument."

Ida, 22-year-old daughter of Creed B. Martin, of Eastern, and a Maytown high school graduate, spent last summer on a dream-come-true trip to Europe, a trip sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee. The time from the first of June to mid-September was spent in work-camps and in sight-seeing.

The following is a partial account of her trip: "I crossed in a Greek ship manned by a German crew and landed at La Havre. After one fascinating day in Paris I was sent directly to a work camp in a little village of Eichenbach, Germany. There our group of twenty fall older than I, made up of six nationalities, was the work of digging the foundations for a church and for homes for refugees who had been driven out of the Danzig area by Russians after World War II. I alternated using the shovel with cooking the meals. And I got tan and prepared for defense. About five miles away at Kaiserlautern population 40,000 about 70,000 American were based. We saw U. S. forces in Germany written on so many in German plates and all day jet planes whirled overhead as our airmen practiced take-off and landing technique."

"After the three-week stint in Eichenbach, I was given two and a half weeks to travel on my own. Some of this time, I traveled with a middle-aged English school teacher, and she was a grand, gay companion."

"Many times, I was scared and puzzled, but then I'd take the advice of a fellow I'd met at the first camp. 'Ida, when you get in a tough spot, just stop and think.' And it worked. The only foreign language I speak is French and it is remarkable how well it served."

"I visited Rome. I went all over that tremendous city, using the trolleys and walking. I spent one whole morning at St. Peter's but didn't begin to see it."

"I was in Florence and then to Venice for six days—a dream-world with its canals and gondolas and no noise traffic."

"After Venice, the stupendous mountains of Innsbruck, Austria, and then I went to Munich and Frankfurt, Germany."

"Being a political science major, I was pleased when I learned my next camp was to be in Berlin. I was eager for the experience of living in a city situated in the center of the D.D.R., now under the influence of Russia. Here our work-camp group of sixteen, representing Sweden, Holland, England, Greece, Lebanon, Turkey, Germany and the U. S. worked at redecorating homes of the lower income families in the poor section of Berlin. We could not repair the worst damage such as fallen plaster and (over) curtains, but we made some of the shabby rooms come alive again with freshness and color. The people were kind and appreciative and we grew fond of each other as we worked and joked and drank our coffee together."

"There was not so much tension in Germany when I was there. Without trouble I was able to obtain a visa and return to Paris by way of the regular German train instead of flying as most foreigners and refugees feel they must do."

"This summer was a rich experience. I learned more in three months than in all my life before."

"We young people of many nations quickly became close friends, and we were all enriched by getting to know our friendship had been so brief."

"I only hope I represented my own beautiful country half as well as my good friends represented theirs."

"I saw for myself that people of other countries work and play much as we do. Some are educated and wise, some are not. Most are extremely kind and some are a little rude."

"I now more fully appreciate the truth of the motto of my college: 'God hath made of one blood all nations of men.'"

Miss Martin loves music and plays the piano well. She enjoys sports and during the summer of '56 she worked as counselor and tennis instructor at a private girls' camp in North Carolina. This year at Berea she is swimming instructor for a junior high class.

Ida Mae Martin, Berea College senior, spent last summer on a dream-come-true trip to Europe, a trip sponsored by the American Friends Service Committee.

Name Waterfield Kentucky Member Of State's Board

Frankfort, Dec. 10 (Sp.) — The Legislative Research Commission has designated L. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield the Kentucky delegate-member of the Council of State Governments' board of managers.

Waterfield is chairman and director of the commission. The council works for cooperation among state governments and between them and the federal government.

The commission is studying the possibility of Kentucky's adopting a uniform commercial code of laws for the state. It met recently with the Kentucky State Bar Association's commercial law committee. The proposed code represents 10 years work by the National Conference of Commissioners on Uniform State Laws.

The research commission named two members of its professional staff, Chas. A. Traylor and De. A. K. Kers, Kentucky members of the conference.

Al Pisano, commercial research analyst, is preparing the bar association a commentary on how the code if adopted, would differ from existing state laws. Members of the bar committee are Chairman James Arvella Young and Bart A. Brown, Louisville; Edward R. Hays, Pikeville; Appellate Court Judge Robert K. Cullen, Frankfort; and Rufus Little, Lexington.

The committee hopes to have recommendations on uniform laws ready for presentation to the next Kentucky General Assembly.

The research commission and the boards of the teachers' and State employees' retirement systems will meet Dec. 13 to study the feasibility of combining the two retirement systems.

On and after publication of this notice I will not be responsible for any debts incurred by any person other than myself.

Phenothiazine For Sheep "Must" For Sheepsman

All ewe, ram and carry-over lambs in Kentucky flocks should be dosed with phenothiazine in early December if that was not done in late November, says R. C. Miller, Extension Service sheep specialist.

Nodular worms in the intestinal tract are in greatest number at this time of year, Miller says. In this location, they can be reached with treatment. However, in-lamb ewes should not be dosed with phenothiazine closer than 30 days to lambing time.

Miller notes, too, that a second treatment of phenothiazine should be given in the early spring except to ewe lambs. Ewes that have not lambed by that time should be treated later, after they lamb.

Under some conditions, in the summer and early fall, bluetongue or "runny" mixture may be needed as an alternate to phenothiazine. Treatment in late fall or early winter—before lambings and the treatment in the early spring after lambing—should be followed throughout the year. Phenothiazine is called for because it is the only effective treatment against nodular worms now generally used.

WILDCATS WIN 10th STRAIGHT

Maytown Five Unbeaten For Season; Black Cats Improve Though Losing

The Maytown Wildcats, one of the three remaining unbeaten high school cage teams in the 15th region, romped to their ninth and tenth consecutive triumphs last week-end in whipping Auxier, 93-58 and Wheelwright, 85-61.

Ray Henrich's team failed to stop Auxier's scoring star, Junior Porter Powers, who tallied 40 points for scoring honors. Guard A. Foster was tops for Maytown with 30 markers.

In the Wheelwright fray, Bill Elliott, one of the leading offensive producers in the area, pitched in 21 points.

Tommy Boyd's Betsy Layne Bobcats had stopped Wheelwright, 74-67, on Friday night as Richard Reynolds hooped 22 points in pacing the Bobcats to their seventh win of the year.

In Wayland's bargain bill, the host Wasps stung favored Martin, 88-61, and Garrett whipped Oil Springs, 85-48, in another surprise. Edgar Rister was limited to 14 points by the Johnson countians, but Junior guard DeRossett took up the slack with 30 counters.

Prestonsburg's vastly improving Black Cats suffered two defeats in bowing to M. C. Napier, 85-43, in an overtime period and Morgan county, 88-76, after leading 36-30 at halftime. Lowell McKenzie and Paul Phillip Hushes carried the offensive burden for the local team.

Honesty Costs Driver $23 on Traffic Fine

Des Moines, Iowa — Zigmund Zivarts should have kept quiet after he was arrested for driving the wrong way on a one-way street.

When he explained he "didn't see anyone coming and just wanted to take a short cut," Judge Tou L. Tidrick fined him $25 instead of the usual $2.

POWERS STILL LEADS

Porter Powers, Auxier's junior guard, still wans the 15th region in the individual scoring race, although the agile youth is performing with a team that has not won a game. His 38.8 average for the first seven games surpasses Kely Coleman's average when he was a junior at Wayland high.

RATINGS COMING

The Times' annual high school basketball ratings of 15th regional teams will make their first appearance of the season next week on the sports pages.

Flat Gap and Maytown are the only area teams thus far rated in the first 25 of the Courier-Journal List-Ratings. Both unbeaten, as is Pikeville, Flat Gap is tabbed as the fifth best team in the state and Maytown 10th. Fifteenth regional favorite Pikeville is not listed, but we feel sure they will be in, the top five before February.

LIT-RATINGS

Tuesday's state-wide ratings list the nine Floyd County schools thusly:

Maytown	72.5
Betsy Layne	67.4
Garrett	64.4
Martin	59.4
Wheelwright	52.6
McDowell	52.0
Wayland	51.8
Prestonsburg	43.5
Auxier	39.5

Each week, the Times presents the standings of the nine schools as to games won and lost with no particular emphasis on ratings...

FOR CIRCUIT CLERK

DAVID MARTIN, JR., candidate for CIRCUIT CLERK. Democratic primary, May 28

To the People and Voters Of Floyd County

In making my announcement for Judge of Floyd county, subject to the approval of the Democratic party at the May primary election, I must say I am not a politician. I am not sponsored by any group, have not been asked by any one to make this race. I am making this campaign on my own.

I am sixty-four years old, have never asked for any county office on account of relatives and good friends being in politics. I promise one and all that I will not be involved in mudslinging, nor will I try to slander or disgrace any candidate, for I realize there will be good men on the ballot for Judge.

I cordially invite you to consult the records and to get my record as a friend and a law abiding citizen. If the voters of this county will nominate and elect me as their Judge I will put my wholehearted attention to the welfare of those placed in the custody of the Jail. As to my record or social life, I am a member of the Regular Baptist Church, have been for over 25 years. As to my relations and the relations of my wife, they are Hales, Oustleys, Platers, Ailes, Stephens, Shepherds, Hicks, Heltons, Selbyers, Fitzpatrick and Stokes. Get behind me and rally to my support and we will win. I earnestly ask your support in behalf of my candidacy.

Floyd Students Score High in U.K. Tests

Two Floyd county students ranked in the top quarter in placement tests given to freshmen and other new students this fall at the University of Kentucky. They were Robert Bowling and Robert Prater. The tests were given with respect to general ability, English and mathematics. "These scores represent excellent preparation for college work and reflect favorably on the students' homes and the schools from which they have come," Dr. Ernest McDaniel, testing director, said.

A total of 63 Kentucky counties were represented in the top scores.

Runners with 95 permits bagged 49 turkeys in Wyoming in 1955.

To The Voters Of Floyd County:

There have been rumors that I might seek some other office than the one I now hold, which you entrusted to me.

I have worked hard as your Coroner. I am a member of the Coroners Association of Kentucky and have been since it was formed. I have attended every meeting of the State Association at Louisville and Lexington. I am a member of the Legislative Committee of the State Association and I have journeyed to Frankfort, to the State Capitol, on Coroner business, helping to enact legislative matters. I have a Polaroid camera, which I use in my duties as your Coroner. The trips which I have made to various Coroners' meetings, to enable me to better serve you, were made at my own expense, and the camera was also purchased at my own expense. I have conducted the office of Coroner in Floyd county as it should be, and I have been and am at your service at any hour, day or night. My plans are to remain your Coroner as long as you, my many friends, wish me to serve you, so I am soliciting your support in the May primary.

Your friend every day, not just at Election time.

Bears Face Last Foot; Drop Games Last Week

Pikeville, Ky., December 10 (Sp.) —The Pikeville College Bears, out-ran and out-jumped on successive nights last week by the Quantico Marines and the Georgetown Tigers, will meet Villa Madonna College's Rebels Saturday at Covington in their last pre-Christmas game.
Villa Madonna, with every man back from last year's squad and only one a senior is expected to be a tough nut to crack, even for teams which have played opponents of the same grade for years. The Bears didn't hurt their chances, of course, by looking bad last week against Georgetown, the defending champions of the Kentucky Intercollegiate Athletic Conference.

Central Kentucky teams may not remember that Pikeville held the Transylvania Pioneers, touted this year as a possible "surprise" team in the S. I. A. C., to a three-point overtime win in their third game Nov. 18. And they nudged Berea even though it's not the best in the league this season, 72-70 Nov. 24 on Berea's floor, for their first win over a K. I. A. C. opponent.
The Bears were to meet Steed College of Technology Tuesday (Dec. 11) at Johnson City, Tenn., in the first of home-and-home games. Steed will return the visit Jan. 3 in the Bears' first game of the New Year and their first home game since Quantico.

Playing in Georgetown last Thursday, the Pikeville eagles found themselves up against a taller, more experienced team, which averaged 6-2 without a man over 6-8. Hitting 62 per cent of their shots from the field in the first half, the host Tigers burst out to a 12-0 lead in the opening moments, then rolled up a 63-25 halftime margin on their way to the 106-38 finish.

The Bears' John Lee Butcher held to seven points in the first half, came back with 14 in the second, missing scoring honors by only one point. Georgetown's Gordon Montgomery registered 22 to top Butcher's 21.
Butcher came alive late in the Quantico exhibition, after being held scoreless till then, to mark up 25 points in the last 20 minutes, good enough for high-point honors. Ken Smallwood notched 18, Ralph Roberts & Lloyd Mullins 2 and six different Pikeville players four points each. Milard Bevis, Jack Cunningham, Dale Philbrick, Charles Francis, Arnold Mox and R. B. Singleton.

Ed Peterson scored 15 points for the Marines as Quantico's squad of former college stars ran off from the Bears, 104-83.

STATE'S APPELLATE DOCKET HEAVIEST IN UNITED STATES

Frankfort, Dec. 10 (Sp.) — Kentucky's Court of Appeals, records show, hands down more written opinions than any other state court of last resort in the United States.

Justice and commissioners of the Commonwealth's highest tribunal write an average of 530 opinions a year during the last 10 years, court statistics reveal.

Answers to questionnaires circulated by the Kentucky court show the next highest yearly average — 500 written opinions — was registered by Tennessee and Florida top courts. After them, the average dropped to 403 in Oklahoma. The Virginia high court's 25 was lowest.

Work load of the Kentucky appellate body is considered tremendous by judicial experts when compared with the average annual total of written opinions turned out by last resort courts in Virginia and some other states.

These other states and numbers of opinions as shown by questionnaires, replies are: Delaware, 33; Wyoming, 40; Vermont and Nevada, 60; South Dakota, 70; North Dakota, 85; Texas, 90; Maine and New Hampshire, 100; West Virginia, 102; Montana, 108, and New York, 111.

The huge number of written opinions turned out by the Kentucky body does not include "per curiam" opinions and dismissals and the large amount of care and deliberation connected with them.

The main reason the work load of the highest tribunal in many states is considerably heavier than in Kentucky is the existence of intermediate courts in those states. These bodies decide many types of cases appealed from circuit courts that otherwise would be brought to a court of last resort.

Gov. Chandler Ends First Year "Well Pleased"

Frankfort, Dec. 10 (Sp.) — Wednesday, this week, marks the quarter pole for the 4-year Chandler administration in Frankfort.

With his time one-fourth spent, the Governor said he is well pleased with innovations and advances made throughout Kentucky in the last year.

"I feel those of us who were elected last year have made some notable strides in effecting better governmental services for our people of Kentucky," he said.

Cited by the Governor as "bright spots" were:

Enactment of the Minimum Foundation Program for Education, which puts 20 million additional dollars to work this year making better school facilities for Kentucky children.

Endorsement given the 100-million-dollar road bond issue.

"Our people saw the need, we gave them an opportunity to meet it and they responded in a wonderful way," the Governor said.

Reorganization of the State government.

The take-over ability of Lt. Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield. During the legislative session Waterfield was an invaluable aid in getting the Governor's program accepted. He traveled extensively throughout Kentucky soliciting support for the road bond issue. He efficiently has assumed the seat of the Chief Executive when the Governor has been absent from the state.

Says New Laws Offer Survivors School Benefits

Many young Kentucky men and women whose parents died of injuries or diseases resulting from their military service apparently are not aware of the educational benefits provided by recently enacted State and Federal laws. Ray R. Adams, Manager of the Veterans Administration regional office in Louisville, announced recently. The Louisville VA Office has received only 49 applications for educational assistance under the War Orphans Education Program, a law that was enacted by the last session of Congress, Adams said. This law provided that young men or women generally between 18 and 25 years of age, whose deceased parents served in World War I, World War II or the Korean conflict may apply for the educational program. Education may be taken in colleges and universities, as well as below-college-level schools. But regular high school training is not included in the new law, and below-college-level courses must equip students for a definite vocational objective.

The new law also provides for special reparative training for children with physical or mental disabilities which would hinder pursuit of a regular program of education.

The federal government makes a grant of $10 a month to eligible students attending full-time training.

Adams also pointed out that the last session of the Kentucky Legislature enacted a law authorizing free tuition at state supported colleges for the children of Kentucky servicemen who were killed while serving in the U. S. armed forces, or who died as a result of injury incurred while in the armed forces.

In order to obtain this benefit, the war orphan must have lived in Kentucky for two years immediately preceding his application for admission to college, and his relationship to the deceased serviceman must be shown by birth certificate, adoption papers or other evidence. The father's military service and the cause of his death must be verified by the Veterans Administration as a part of determining the child's eligibility. This program for war orphans of Kentucky provided by State law, Adams stated, will not affect the benefits available under the War Orphans Educational Assistance Act passed by the Congress and administered by the Veterans Administration.

Eight From County In Christmas Program

Pikeville, Ky., Dec. 10 (Sp.) — Eight young Floyd county students at Pikeville College and Pikeville College Academy, will take part in the traditional service of Christmas music and drama at Pikeville at 8 p.m., Monday.

All are members of the 38-voice Pikeville College chorus, and four belong also to the Pikeville College choir of 18 singers chosen from the chorus. Each group will sing five selections on the program, which also will include two vocal solos.

Seven speech students will offer "The Bishop's Candelsticks," a one-act play based on a famous story of the closing feature of the program.

"The Bishop's Candelsticks," founded on an incident in Victor Hugo's novel, "Les Miserables," will be presented by special arrangement with Samuel French of New York, N. Y. Page said. The bishop will be played by Joe D. Cunningham Majestic, Ky.; the convict by Ralph Roberts, a Wayland high school graduate, now of Putney, Ky.; the bishop's sister by Mrs. J. E. Green, Pikeville; the maid by Wanda Tackett, Pikeville; and the policemen by Lloyd Mullins, Amburges, Ky., and R. B. Singleton, Anco, Ky. Roberts is a senior in the college, and the others are juniors and sophomores.

The Floyd county students in the singing groups at Pikeville include two juniors in the college, Noma Jean Allen, Rister, and Billie Jean Martin, Hunter, sophomores, Lou Ann Colvin, Westbury, Gerald D. Derossett, Water Gap, Mary Lou Miller and Ruth Ann Rowe, both of Prestonsburg, freshman Shady Callan, Martin and Patricia Lykins, Betty Layne, a senior in Pikeville College Academy.

Joy To The World Begins With You

Frankfort, Dec. 10 (Sp.) — Is Christmas really a time of joyfulness?

That's up to you, Mrs. Lucille France, social worker, Hazelwood TB Hospital, Louisville, said. Mrs. France added:

"If you would like to make your Christmas a better one, do something for those people who will be away from home and family during the festive season.

Kentucky has six tuberculosis hospitals in addition to other medical and correctional institutions. Many patients in these establishments are "shut-ins" and won't be able to leave during the holidays.

A card or some other small remembrance could make their Christmas much brighter—if you only remember.

...In melting mountains... in smoothing the bumps
...In straightening the curves

You can see that Ford's longer, lower Sculptured Look makes other cars look downright old-fashioned. But the part you can't see—the new "Inner Ford"—is what shows its stuff when you drive a Ford. It's revolutionary from the wheels up! And it feels it.

Ford's wider frame lets you sit sweet and low. It lets Ford hug the roads because of its lower center of gravity. And Ford's new front suspension, rear springs and new easy handling are part of the scheme to make you think every road is cloud-smooth.

The magic touch of the new Ford power plants makes mountains disappear. What looks like uphill feels like downhill. You get this surging power in a wide choice of new Silver Anniversary V-8 engines. Or you can choose Ford's new, more economical Mileage Maker Six, the most powerful Six ever offered in the low-price field.

There's magic in Ford's price tag, too! You won't believe this big new Ford is still priced Ford-low. But it is. Come in and test the magic of the new kind of Ford. It's a real "Wizard of Ahh-h-h-h!"
