Two Nice River Road Farms

NEAL'S POULTRY FARM located about halfway between Calletsburg and Louisa. About 56 acres of ground with about 1,200 ft. of road frontage, some nice bottom and rolling hill ground. Improvements consisting of a four-room house and a three-room house, 50 by 120 ft., hen house, 20 by 30 ft., brooder house, 30 by 40 ft., two-story barn and an egg cellar. This place has wonderful sub-division possibilities as it is just one mile from the Tennessee Gas Pipeline. The land is about 8 miles from the Ashland Oil Refinery. Property in this neighborhood is getting more valuable all the time and this should sell at once. There is a firm price of $17,500 and some terms may be arranged.

THE BALL FARM—the first on the west side of the new bridge across Dlane as you come from Calletsburg. There are about 100 acres including 25 acres of bottom. There is a four-room house with running water, a large combination barn and corn crib, some fruit trees and a fresh pond, some horse-drawn implements, etc. House is now vacant and owner says that if it doesn't sell this month it will be taken off the market. There is a firm price of $10,000, and some terms may be arranged.

Martin-Moore Vows Said

Miss Phyllis Deen Martin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. David Martin, Jr., of Ill. Hall, was married December 27, 1956, to Mr. Donald Gene Moore, son of Mr. and Mrs. Gene Moore, of Orkney.

The Rev. Henry Blitt performed the double-ring ceremony in the presence of the immediate families and friends of the bride and groom. The living room of the bride's home was the scene of the wedding. The mantelpiece served as a temporary altar. It was decorated with white gladioli and candelabra. The bride was given in marriage by her father. She wore a ballerina length gown of imported rosepointe lace over nylon tulle and white slipper satin. The gown had a fitted bodice with a mandarin collar. The jacket styled top had sleeves coming to a point over the hands. Her finger ring of illusion draped from orange blossoms she carried a tiara of seed pearls and small bouquets of white carnations with blue and pink satin streamers entwined with lily of the valley. Her only jewelry was her engagement ring.

Miss Bonnie Newman was maid of honor for the bride. She wore a champagne beige dress with yellow floral skirt, with brown accessories. She carried a bouquet of yellow carnations.

Mr. Tex Gene Martin, brother of the groom, served as best man for the groom.

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Martin chose a cocoa brown frock with white accessories. Mrs. Moore, mother of the groom, chose a black silk dancing dress with a corsage of pink carnations. A reception was held immediately following the wedding in the dining room of the bride's home. The table was decorated with the traditional wedding cake topped with a miniature bride and groom. Punch and cake were served to the guests. Mrs. DuRan Moore and Mrs. Lloyd Strumbo assisted in the dining room. When the couple left for a short wedding trip, the bride wore a crown-shaped dress with green accessories. Both Mr. and Mrs. Moore were members of the 1954 graduating class of Madwell high school. After January 2, the bride and groom will be at their home in Richmond, Kentucky. They are both juniors at Eastern Kentucky State college at Richmond.

Flood-Damaged Dressings At Lady of Way Hospital, Are Replaced by Supplier

Our Lady of the Way hospital at Martin has been shipped $500 worth of surgical dressings to replace critically-needed items which were damaged during the recent flood. The donor was Johnson & Johnson, New Brunswick, N. J., manufacturer of surgical dressings and other hospital products.

J. H. Mullins, the firm's hospital representative for the stricken area, checked with the hospital when he learned of the flood damage. He was told of the loss of vital supplies and took prompt emergency action to replace gratuitously the Johnson & Johnson products.

E. E. Dickson, vice-president of Johnson & Johnson's Hospital Division, praised Mr. Mullins for his immediate action, and the hospital staff for its work during the emergency. "We, of course, regret these tragedies but commend the management and personnel of the hospital for their magnificent job under conditions of great strain and stress. We were glad to be of help."

Floyd-Co. Native Dies In Ohio of Lukemia; Burial Made at Dock

Raymond Ousley, 50, Willard, O., died in a Toledo, O., hospital, Sunday of lukemia. He was a native of this county.

Mr. Ousley was a son of Mrs. Catherine Hughes Ousley and the late Nathan Ousley, of Dock. JOE P's PLATFORM

It is my considered judgment that any man who seeks the support of his people in a campaign for public office should submit for their consideration, not only his moral life, but also the things for which he stands. In keeping with this principle, I submit herewith for the careful consideration of every one the following platform.

1. First of all, I submit my daily life for close scrutiny and if you find that I am morally fit to serve you as your next County Attorney, then I covet your active support. I'm not ashamed to confess that for the past several years I have been a Christian and in connection with that, I am not ashamed to declare publicly that in office or out, I seek divine guidance in all things.
2. I pledge to the children of our county that as County Attorney I shall give full and unstinted cooperation and support to our Educational system, looking always to a better, bigger and more abundant administration of our educational opportunities to our children.
3. I pledge and solemnly promise to the people out in the rural sections that I shall use every power at my command to secure from our Rural Highway Commission at Frankfort more rural road construction and repairs than Floyd County has ever known in the past. In this connection I call your attention to the fact that with the Road Bond Issue, we will have plenty of your money spent on our Rural Roads. This means that we are facing for the next few years a golden opportunity which we have never had before. Remember though, it will take constant work on the part of your County Attorney and Fiscal Court to bring to Floyd County its just share of this money. Having served as County Attorney from 1930 to 1934 during which time I purchased more right-of-way for roads and procured more road construction than Floyd County had had up to that time, I feel justified in saying that I am convinced that I will be able, because of my past experience, to get more of this vast amount of money spent on our rural roads than either of my opponents.
4. It is the duty of the County Attorney to advise all county officials on the law and to see to it that your tax money is not illegally spent or wasted. The record bears me out that during my former term as your County Attorney, I performed that duty well. During the next four years I promise that the Fiscal Court and all county officials will have my services available to them at all times on this, the most important function of my office. Members of the Fiscal Court are not lawyers and, of course, they need the legal advice of the County Attorney to guide them in the proper discharge of their important duties. This they shall have from me as the guardian of your legal rights.
5. Having reared six children and two grandchildren, I feel that I can assure the youth of our county, and their parents, that I have the necessary understanding of our youth problems to deal with that question in a way that will tend to improve our juvenile problems. As I see it, children grow up within the confines of a child's mind and any public official dealing with them should keep constantly in mind that such a child does not possess the mature mental faculties as we older people. It is my considered opinion that children should be dealt with in the spirit of reformation rather than destructive methods. They will be our citizens and leaders of tomorrow. Let's try to train them spiritually and morally so that our country will be safe tomorrow in their hands.
6. The above is my views on a few of the problems that will confront your next County Attorney and when elected, I shall enter the performance of the duties of the office consecrated and devoted to the righteous fulfillment of these, together with all others not herein discussed. If the people of our county believe in me and those principles and have faith that I will make for them an honest official, then I confidently submit that you will elect me by an unprecedented majority. If you do, I pledge my all to a better Floyd County.

Faithfully yours,
JOE P. TACKETT

Frankfort, March 5 — Every vacation season many people are plagued with swarms of visiting out-of-state relatives who hit the old homestead like locusts.

This vacation seems to have been abated somewhat by one fellow with the aid of Kentucky State Park literature.

Last summer, he told this writer, it just happened that four families of kinsin' kin announced their intention to arrive at his rather cramped quarters on the same week-end in hot July.

Frenziedly seeking some means to lodge and feed them, he hit upon what he considered a forlorn hope; he sent each family some Kentucky State Park folders and advertisements.

They took the hint and visited the parks instead of ravaging his cupboard. His dad-in-law even invited our recourced friend to Kentucky Lake for a week-end of fishing.

"I promote a domestic gift or two, we'll not divulge our friend's name. But we can quote him. "This," he said, "is sending out those park folders early."

INCIDENTAL INTELLIGENCE
Between Somerset and London is a small place known as Bernstad. Here, there's a settlement of Swiss farmers who make their own Swiss cheese. This honorable cheese appeals to the most discriminating palate. The supply is exhausted now, but there'll be more next summer when cheese making time rolls around again. (For this info, thanks to the Hopkinsville News Era's "Office Cat.")

RECOLLECTIONS
I recall when my grandfather, who was an undertaker, was noted as the only man in our small community who wore store clothes all week—Alice Hill, Louisville.

I recall the old belief that babies born open-handed will be frank and generous and those born with hands tightly closed will be stingy and close-mouthed. — J. L. Paducah.

Governor Chandler and the Kentucky General Assembly rate A-plus with the AA.

Alcoholic Anonymous had plaudits for the executive and legislative officials because of a 1936 law creating the Kentucky Alcohols Commission and establishing a statewide program for the treatment of alcoholics, research into the cause and prevention of alcoholism and public education concerning this disorder.

In a resolution adopted at the AA's recent convention at Lexington, the organization commended the Legislature for passage of the law and Chandler for supporting the measure and appointing the commission.

New York—According to housing officials, the size of the American household is declining. It now averages about 3.2 person compared with 4.8 in 1900 and 5.6 in 1860.

PROGRAM INITIATED ON WATER SYSTEMS

A concentrated program to provide the installation of running water systems and indoor toilets in Eastern Kentucky has been announced by the Kentucky State Department of Health. In areas without electricity or where for some other reason such systems are impractical, construction of sanitary privies and improvement of wells and cisterns is being encouraged.

The program is in response to an offer by the Red Cross to provide lumber needed to replace privies destroyed by flood in 13 counties in the area. "The Red Cross offers every family in the flooded areas an opportunity to have at least basic waste disposal facilities," said Harvey G. McAndrews, Director of the State Health Department's Division of Sanitation.

"However, wherever possible, we would like to see them have even better facilities. In most cases wherever there is electricity there is the possibility of running water, even if it is supplied by a well or cistern. And if a house has running water, it is likely that flush toilets and a septic tank system can be installed," McAndrews added.

Health authorities hope to carry the educational campaign to other nearby counties which were unaffected by the flood waters. "We know that many families in Eastern Kentucky do not have privies or any other toilet, but simply use the ground. People must understand the basic facts of sanitation if we are to reduce the incidence of typhoid, diarrhea, hookworm and other waste-borne diseases," McAndrews said.

Typical of many sections of river bank being washed away by the recent flood is this scene at Banner. The high wall of water, with a terrific drop of several feet, is topped by green grass growing out to the edge.

Gil Varney, regional Forest service representative from Pennsylvania, who made a recent tour of the Big Sandy and other flood-stricken valleys, says that four things contributed to the severity of the flood run-off. These were strip mining on our headstreams, the disastrous forest fires of 1922 and 1933, logging roads and highways and poor agricultural practices. The heavy mud accumulations, particularly in Southern Floyd county and in Pike county resulted, Varney says, from these four causes.

L. R. Johnson, soil conservationist here, advocates a vegetative covering to prevent heavy damage to stream banks.

To The Republican Voters Of Magisterial District No. 1

I take this means of offering myself as your next nominee and magistrate.

I was born and raised at Emma (mouth of Cow Creek), a son of the late Bertram Lee and Margery Harris Porter. My wife is Mable Sue May, daughter of the late Calah Sherman and Martha Louise Music May. We have one daughter, Madelyn Sue, a sophomore at Prestonsburg high school. I graduated from Prestonsburg high in 1937, have had a book-keeping course and studied electrical work at Mayo State Vocational School. I have followed construction work for several years, and should be qualified to know the needs of both Labor and Management.

I am a veteran of World War II, Senior Vice-Commander of Walter Kerr Bowling Post 5839, Veterans of Foreign Wars, member of American Legion Post 129, member of Executive Board, Grievance committee, and Negotiating committee of AFL-CIO, and a member of the York and Scottish Rite Bodies of Masonry.

Take most of you on the river and low-lying tributaries of the Sandy. I was practically ruined by the recent flood. But with the help of God, patience and a lot of hard work, we'll rise again and build a bigger and better Big Sandy Valley.

I believe as Magistrate, one's district comes first and by this I mean the ENTIRE District and not the community where I might live or where some of my close friends live. You good people in all 20 voting communities of our District deserve equal consideration on your roads, bridges and other community needs. In me you have a solemn promise of this.

It is my belief that I have the qualifications to make you a good Magistrate, and meet with the proper authorities, local, state, and federal, for the betterment of our District, County and all the people. You may rest assured of fairness and equality for all, big or small.

So when you go to the polls on May 28, consider and cast your vote for the one who is best qualified and will make you a winner in November.

Your vote and influence will be deeply appreciated.

WHAT MAKES GRADY GO—The nation's leading scorer, South Carolina's Grady Wallace, of More Creek, Floyd county displays his favorite shot that has netted him a 30-point-plus average this season. Left to right, the 6-foot, 4-inch Wallace (2) gets a bearing on the basket. If he's clear he'll make a one-handed push shot, but if the way is too hazardous he (3 & 4) dribbles toward the foul circle (4) stops, with eyes never off the goal, and (5 & 6) jumps, balancing the ball on the cushion of his right hand. At the height of the leap he fades away and thrusts the ball forward with only forearm, wrist and hand, and . . . (7) whoosh! Wallace's keying shot enables him to score on opponents three to four inches taller. He's the Atlantic Coast Conference's leading rebounder and is the nation's top scorer.

NEW REGULATION GOVERNS PUBLIC BUILDING PLUMBING

A new regulation by the Kentucky State Board of Health requires that plans be submitted to and approved by the State Department of Health before any plumbing system can be constructed or extensively altered in public buildings throughout the state.

The regulation, adopted January 10, 1957, under Chapter 211 of the Kentucky Revised Statutes, will promote better, safer plumbing in all Kentucky public buildings. After examining the submitted plans the State Department of Health will make all necessary inspection to insure that the plumbing installations comply with the approved plans and the State Plumbing Code.

The State Plumbing Code, under KRS 218, has previously been applicable to public and private buildings in counties containing cities of the first and second class and to public buildings in other counties under various public health laws. The new regulation fixes the authority under a single statute, thus clarifying the plumbing requirements and protecting the entire state, as far as public buildings are concerned, against faulty or unsanitary plumbing, sewage disposal, drainage, and water supply systems. The Board plans eventually to bring private homes in counties without first or second class cities also under the Plumbing Code.

Provisions of the new regulation, which took effect on February 15, include the following:
1. Applicants shall submit plans in triplicate to their county health departments for forwarding to the State Department of Health in Louisville.
2. In the event no public sewer is available for draining the system of the building, the plan shall include the proposed type of sewage disposal system.
3. If a sewage sub-soil drainage

Telephone Talk

by
H. D. HAYES
Your Telephone Manager

IT'S ALMOST planting time. And all over the state we're planting a new crop — a crop of telephones. Last year alone we "planted" 30,513 new telephones in Kentucky, while spending $27,083,000 for expansion. This year we expect to add some 34,000 more and spend about $19,000,000. All these new phones mean convenience and better living for a lot of folks. And they mean that you can call more people and more can call you. So your telephone keeps getting more useful, and that's the way we want it. For every time your telephone helps you we sort of feel like we're helping, too.

I REMEMBER the time when a traveler needed a pretty sharp eye to spot a telephone booth when he wanted to call someone. Now, just about everywhere you go you see those brightly colored, lighted telephone booths along the highways and in other public places, open 24 hours a day. And it's no accident, either. You see, we spend a lot of time picking places to put phone booths where they'll be most convenient for you. Good to know, isn't it, that wherever you go you're never far from a phone?

SPEAKING OF TRAVELING, nothing takes you where you want to go faster than a telephone call. I'll bet you can think of several out-of-town folks you'd like to visit with right now — maybe a friend who's been transferred, a relative you haven't seen in a long time. Why not telephone? It's easy to do and you'll both get a lot of fun out of it. For faster service, let me suggest you give the operator the out-of-town telephone number if you know it. Then your calls go through twice as fast.

State Income Tax Facts Are Given By Commissioner

Frankfort, Mar. 5 (Sp.) — April 15 is a date to be circled on your calendar.

That is the deadline for filing returns. Revenue Commissioner J. E. Luckett today reminded Kentuckians that every person having a gross annual income of $500 or more is required by state law to file a return.

Luckett said the tax forms and procedure for filing are as simple and convenient for the taxpayer as possible.

"Generally speaking," he added, "the gross income and itemized deductions to be reported on the 1956 return are the same as those to be reported to the federal government."

He reminded taxpayers to attach to the returns original copies of Kentucky withholding statements reporting income from wages.

Farmers and business and professional people the commissioner said, are required to submit schedules to verify income or deductions reported on their returns.

He advised that any tax return without required schedules or withholding statements is considered incomplete. If a refund is due on such a return, it will be delayed until appropriate schedules or withholding statements are submitted.

Forms and instructions for filing the 1956 Kentucky income tax are obtainable at banks, court houses, and revenue department offices at Ashland, Covington, Lexington, Louisville, Paducah and Frankfort.

To My Friends and Neighbors of the 97th District

For those of you who may not know me personally, I am 41 years old, married and have two sons, Morris (Dwight) Hall, age 21, and Jimmy Joe Hall, age 18. Morris graduated from Wheelwright high school in 1952. Jimmy Joe is a senior at Wheelwright this year. I feel most of the youngsters know one or both of my sons since both were active in the sports program of the school.

I am the daughter of Harmon Butcher and Jane Butcher. My father is a retired coal miner. I have lived in Floyd county since I was six years old except for the few years I lived in Maryland during World War II.

I attended Wheelwright high school and Cansy Junior college. It was at Cansy that I met my husband, Clifford B. Hall, son of Richard (known as Black Dick) Hall. I have few relatives in this county but my husband is related to the Halls, Gayharts, Moores, McCurrs, Johnsons and Moores to mention only a few. Clifford and I were married November 14, 1954.

I have always enjoyed working with and for the people in this district and I feel that I understand and know their needs. I worked approximately three years for Inland Steel Co., two years for C. E. Hopkins in store, two years for C. E. Hopkins, was postmaster at Bypro, four years, two years of which I was a state officer in the Kentucky Chapter of the National Association of Postmasters. Have always been active in civic organizations. Served as president of the Wheelwright Chapter of the National Federation of Woman's clubs. I am a member of the First Baptist Church, Wheelwright.

When World War II started my husband and I moved to Baltimore, where he was employed as welding supervisor by the Glenn L. Martin Aircraft by day and by the Navy at night where he instructed welding three hours, four nights each week at the Essex Educational Center. While Clifford instructed classes at night I took advantage of courses being offered to war workers who wished to further their education at no cost to them. The first year I studied elementary and advanced blueprint reading, advanced mathematics, and manufacturing methods, qualifying to work in the Department of engineering where I worked the following 3 1/2 years, though I continued going to school at nights and earned $2 college hours.

When the war ended we returned to Floyd county, lived eight months at Martin. Then moved to Wheelwright Junction where we went into business for curatives known to you as Hall's 5 & 10c Store. I have been managing the store for the past six years. My husband is employed at the Hayes Metal Co., at HI Hat.

My family history has been outlined to you for two purposes. That you may know who I am and so try to convince you that I am qualified to represent you in the State Legislature.

My program will be fully stated in the future issues of The Times. I will endeavor to enlighten you further as to my past, present and future interests. I assure you that my program will be one that is designed for the best interests of Floyd county, with emphasis on our 97th District.

I intend to make a hard fight in this campaign, and with the help of God, your prayers and support, I feel that I CAN and WILL win. Looking forward to seeing and talking to each of you personally. I am,

Respectfully Yours

$40,000,000 Road Plans Announced

Frankfort, Mar. 5 (Sp.) — State highway officials, hoping to award at least $40,000,000 in road-improvement contracts during the 1957 construction season, will first open bids here March 15 on the first group of projects in this year's program.

Highways Commissioner Robert Humphreys announced the first call for bids which cover construction and maintenance on approximately 140 miles of roads, bridges, buildings and repair in 34 counties. The bids will be opened at 10 a.m. (EST) at the Department of Highways.

State Highway Engineer Dwight H. Bray gave the estimate on probable total 1957 construction contracts in an address at the annual meeting of the Kentucky Association of Highway Contractors.

He said the total possibly could be increased to $45,000,000 or $50,000,000 if part of the state's $100,000,000 road-bond issue could be sold in July or sooner. Regular road construction contracts let by the state last year totaled about $28,500,000.

Humphreys told the contractors in another address, "I have no doubt of the bond issue's viability. Constancy of the proposal now being tested in a friendly lawsuit. The case will be submitted to the Court of Appeals for a final ruling before sale of any bonds."

Humphreys also said it is hoped contracts could be let by April 15 on two sections of the proposed interstate highway system in Kentucky. He did not identify them.

The highway engineer said Governor Chandler recently asked the highway department to expedite the construction program in every way possible.

Bray said it is expected the department "can advertise for contracts on approximately 15 million dollars worth of work between now and July 1. . . . This, he added, would include about $2,000,000 of rural secondary projects in Rural Highway Commissioner J. B. Wells' program and about $3,000,000 of heavy bituminous resurfacing in the maintenance program. The remaining projects, Bray said, would be divided among grade and drain, bridges and surfacing.

"We think that between July 1, 1957 and October 1, 1957, we can be in position to let $25,000,000 in additional contracts, making a total for the period from now to October 1 of this year of approximately 40 million dollars. These figures are predicated upon the idea that this amount of work can be let even without the advantage of the state bond issue money.

"The Automotive Safety Foundation engineers are now making a restudy of the highway needs in Kentucky for the purpose of bringing their 1953 report up to date and for the more specific purpose of giving our Department their detailed recommendations by April 1 of this year for the first year program, to be followed several months later by the following year program for the following two or three years. However, our Department is not waiting on completion of these A. S. F. reports, but is going ahead with our spring lettings this year."

When the wind blows — this baby won't rock!

You can buck the strongest blasts of March in The Mighty Chrysler without road-sway or hard steering. Impartial wind tunnel tests proved that Chrysler's high rear fins cut down tail-wagging in the wind just as an airplane's vertical tail section prevents side-sway.

Wind or no wind, Chrysler's Torsion-Aire Ride makes the sharpest turns, the quickest stops, the roughest roads a breeze to take. No other fine car has this exclusive combination of torsion bars, rubber-isolated ball-joints, and outrigger rear springs. It gives you the comfort and safety of a luxury car with the "feel" and roadability of a sports car.

Combine this new kind of suspension with an up-to-325 horsepower engine, a safety new-patented Torque-Flite transmission*, plus all the other 1957 improvements your Chrysler dealer will show you, and you'll agree—this is your car!

Sheep Scabies Cases Reported in Kentucky

Frankfort, Mar. 5 (Sp.) — Dr. L. L. Brock, state veterinarian, reports that Kentucky now has seven active cases of sheep scabies. Scabies are caused by scab mites pricking the skin and sucking the blood serum. This serum causes the scab on the skin surface. The lesion itches and becomes inflamed. The infested animal loses its wool and gradually weakens and may eventually die of the disease.

Dr. Brock stated that the only satisfactory treatment is dipping with a lindane solution. Two dips given at intervals of 10 to 14 days are recommended. The disease is highly infectious and healthy sheep should not be turned on pasture that has been treated upon by infested sheep. Keep sheep away from old bedding grounds and other infected areas.

Cases of scab have been reported in Mason, Washington (2 cases), Montgomery (2 cases), Nelson, and Madison counties.

The Time is NOW!

It is time for the people to take a new approach to their problems as citizens and taxpayers of Floyd county. If this county is to make the progress it should, it must have a constructive program.

I want to pledge now to the fullest extent of my ability and energy, that I will use all the power and influence of the County Judge's office to build roads up our creeks and branches. My idea is to go to the heads of the creeks and to come out building roads and not stop and be satisfied with a few hundred yards of road.

I will believe the people are ready and willing to help with a program that would mean so much to them.

My idea is to make Floyd county fit for our people to continue to live in it. We need them here in this county, not in some other part of Kentucky or in some distant state. But those who live up creeks and branches where there are no roads cannot be blamed for leaving away in search of better living conditions. They are tired of their children having to wade mud and water trying to get to school, when men doing the same as they try to get to work.

I invite every man and woman who has the best interests of Floyd county at heart to think and act with me along these lines.

Sincerely,
BILL COOLEY,
Democratic candidate for

FLOODTIME HIKE PREPARES FLOYD YOUTH FOR ARMY LIFE

Ashland, Ky. — Twelve-mile hikes are not unusual to old soldiers, but when a man hikes that far before enlisting into the Army, then it puts a new twist on the old.

This unusual story began to unfold January 29, after James W. Prater, of Garrett had arrived in Ashland by bus from the Army Recruiting Station in Prestonsburg.

Prater was sent to the Army recruiting main station in Ashland to complete his mental and physical examinations prior to applying for an Army technical school.

In Ashland he passed the Army entrance examinations and boarded a bus to travel to Prestonsburg. Upon the arrival of the bus on Ashland mountain, near Prestonsburg, it was learned that rising waters had flooded the city and had made it impossible.

Prater decided to attempt to reach friends in Allen and spend the night with them. Getting out on foot, the youth followed the railroad tracks that by-pass Prestonsburg and followed the tracks to Allen, which is about 12 miles from where he disembarked from the bus. He spent the night in Allen, and was taken to Garrett the next day after the water had receded. In the meantime, Prater's application to attend the Army's Armor Truck Vehicle Maintenance School was forwarded to the Adjutant General's Office in Washington, D. C., where it was approved and returned to Ashland.

Young Prater was enlisted at the Ashland station last Friday.

The son of Mr. and Mrs. James Prater, the young soldier attended public schools in Garrett. Prior to enlisting into the Army, he was employed in the Garrett Grocery Market.

Thorough Drying, First Step Toward Repair of Homes

Flood-damaged houses in Eastern Kentucky should be left alone, as far as major repair and renovation is concerned.

That's the advice of home and engineering specialists of the Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service.

"First things first," the specialists say, "Make homes livable, of course, and get food for the family."

But, they added, let homes and furniture dry out thoroughly before attempting extensive renovation.

For instance, painting of outside or interiors should not be attempted now. Let coming hot weather in spring and early summer "really dry" these surfaces before attempting extensive redecoration.

Foundations also should be left alone until hot weather — possibly early June — has dried out them and surrounding areas. Let reputable contractors or builders do the repair work if possible.

Floors, walls (plaster and panel), clothing and furniture all are "deplorably wet," the specialists note. At all possible, these items should be allowed to dry first so that salvage efforts will be more economical.

Books and Such

I haven't read any good books lately—haven't read any books, in fact, but I've got lots of 'em: wet ones, dry ones, damp ones, and shaggy ones (once wet, now dry—thus shaggy).

Shakespeare was drowned at my house along with some other very distinguished writers. Happily, there are lots of dry copies of old Bill's works here and there about our muddy country.

I borrowed a Pearl Buck novel and a Zane Gray western from a friend just before the flood. The friend had read them, I'm glad to say, and was very understanding.

The only thing I've read recently besides some Milay poems is the Daphne du Maurier novel, SCARLETT, now running serially in the LADIES HOME JOURNAL. Suspenseful and sinister, as are her writings, SCARLETT can't touch REBECCA but keeps one reading all the same.

We all need a laugh these days and the best reading I now have for that purpose is Richard Armour's IT ALL STARTED WITH EVE, which makes delightful (if sometimes slightly shady) fun of some of the famous (and infamous) women of history. Or course, if you haven't read his IT ALL STARTED WITH CO-LUMBUS and IT ALL STARTED WITH EUROPE you have enough laughs in store to last long A.F. (After the Flood). All our stories for the rest of our lives will be prefaced or sufficed, I'll bet, with the remark, "That happened before the Flood" or "It was After the Flood." (And maybe D. P.—during.)

Speaking of A. F., I want to share with you the compliment paid us all here in Eastern Kentucky by a gentleman the other day. He said that he had recently worked territory, but had refused it, and he said, "These past ten days I've been so glad. It's a privilege to serve people who can stand and smile at me and be thoughtful of my convenience and rest in their homes and land everything. I've found that smile all over Eastern Kentucky, and it's really fine."

I thought it was about the nicest thing anyone could say about us—that we look defeat in the eye and smile and begin to build again.

So What Did Salem Have That Kentucky Didn't?

By JOE CREASON (In The Courier-Journal)

WAIT! It has been a long time now since a reliable report has come through about a genuine, 100-proof witch practicing her evil trade in Kentucky.

Once upon a time, witches—women who supposedly had been given supernatural powers—were downright common in this state.

All these powers, many old-timers believed, came to the witches only upon their entering into a compact with the devil.

Undoubtedly the most famous witch operating in the Kentucky region was the "Bell Witch."

Booklet Cites Gains In State Government Under Gov. Chandler

A booklet outlining the progress achieved in vital functions of state government last year has been released by Gov. A. B. Chandler's office.

The publication was prepared from annual progress reports submitted to the governor by heads of the state agencies. The booklet says: "Under the education program begun in 1956, 'the most adequately financed project for enlightenment in Kentucky school history is forseen."

"The state's roadway policy—aided by a $100,000,000 bond issue voted to match federal allocations—projects across the map of the Commonwealth a 440-mile network of interstate expressways. In the next three years, the administration will begin improving 14,000 miles of other Kentucky roads and augmenting a farm-to-market system.

"Good roads, improved schools, natural resources and an excellent economic climate generated by the administration are luring more industry into the state.

"Under a foundation program for public health, community health buildings will be erected in 76 counties lacking them.

"Progress in other activities of state government includes increased services in agriculture, conservation, child welfare and highway safety."

The past season's peon crop of 150,075,000 pounds was valued at $30,884,000 by the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

To the Voters Of Floyd County

I wish to take this opportunity to thank the many persons who are helping me in my campaign for re-election as Coroner. Without your help and support, I would be as a minister in the temple with no congregation to hear the message.

Due to the recent flood, I, like others, have been busy putting things back in order; for, as many of you, I was not spared by the water. This fact has kept me from seeing many of you in person to solicit your vote and support.

During my tenure of office, the importance of Coroner has been elevated, as it should be and should be kept. It isn't an office just to be filled, for it deals with your loved ones and friends. There isn't an office of more importance than this office of Coroner. You, the voters, realized this fact and expressed it when I was elected as your Coroner by a majority which made me very proud. No honor can be as great as the confidence, faith and trust bestowed on me by the majority with which you elected me in the previous election.

You know that I have been available by day and night to serve in the capacity for which I was chosen. I am a member of the Kentucky Coroner's Association and am a member of the legislative committee. I have attended all of the association meetings in order to better serve you. At these meetings were both inspiring and educational.

Again I solicit your votes and support in my campaign. I feel I am qualified and capable, as my past record as your Coroner will show. I implore all my friends and every voter in Floyd county to help me in this important campaign.

Secretary of State Yearly Savings About $35,000

Frankfort, Mar. 5 (Sp.) — About $35,000 a year in cost of equipment, materials and personnel will be saved by the Commonwealth through the use of microfilming official records, Mrs. Thelma Stovall, secretary of state, has said.

In addition, she said, efficiency will be increased.

Mrs. Stovall announced that she had sent her assistant, Miss Frances Marshall, to Delaware to learn effective use of the microfilm system. The Delaware Public Archives Commission, under Leon de Valinger, Jr., has perhaps the top state system in the country for microfilm usage, Mrs. Stovall said.

Gov. A. B. Chandler recently set aside $3,000 to start microfilming corporation papers, executive orders, deeds, and other records dating back to the eighteenth century which are kept by the Secretary of State's office.

Sorting and classifying of these records will start as soon as the microfilm equipment arrives.

"Naturally, we will keep the valuable original deeds and records, but we can microfilm other papers and cut down necessary filing space by 80 per cent," Mrs. Stovall said. "This project will take approximately two years to complete. But when it is finished, it will mean a great savings of time and office space," she added.

Previously the office spent $40 every two years for filing cabinets alone. Now only two cabinets will be needed for all the records. Two, and possibly three, copies will be made of the following civil defense recommendations.

The four other states which have adopted this system report satisfactory results.

Floyd County Savings Increases Report Says

(Special to The Times)
New York, Feb. 25 — A new upsurge in saving has been noted among Floyd county residents. The old-fashioned virtue of thrift, which has been out of style for some time, is gaining in popularity locally.

Figures bearing this out have just been released by the Federal Reserve System in its biennial report listing bank deposits for every county in the United States.

At the end of the past fiscal year, the combined deposits in Floyd county's savings and commercial banks were at the high mark of $12,840,000. This includes time deposits (savings accounts) and demand deposits (checking accounts) of individuals, partnerships and corporations and is exclusive of governmental and interbank deposits.

The savings total $5,546,000, an increase of 18.5 per cent since the issuance of the previous Federal Reserve report, two years ago. It compares favorably with the increase noted for the United States as a whole, 11.9 per cent, and with the 16.8 per cent rise in the State of Kentucky.

The growth in savings is looked upon with favor by the federal authorities, who see in it a natural source of funds to satisfy the expansion needs of industry as well as a weapon against inflation.

It is seen, also, as an answer to those who feel that extensive installment buying has left people in a precarious position. Concerning that, William J. Cheynes of the National Foundation of Consumer Credit said: "Contrary to the general opinion that the American people are out on a limb in debt, the fact is that 85 per cent of the family purchasing units in this country owe no installment debt whatever."

"Consumers are paying their bills rapidly today than ever before. Net credit losses suffered by retailers are lower than at any time in a generation. Actually, he declares, a majority of those with installment debt today could pay off their entire indebtedness either immediately or within 30 or 60 days."

The Pipelines Are Booming

Pipelines are big business—and big transportation. The long cylinders which snake now above the earth, now under it, criss-crossed the United States, now rank as the lightest freight movers in the country.

The story of this extraordinary growth is told by Alfred Laning in the March Reader's Digest in an article condensed from Colliers. Since World War II, our pipeline mileage has increased from 350,000 miles to more than 680,000. That's close to three times the U. S. railroad trackage.

Pipelines have unusual advantages. They're economical. They're almost entirely automatic. There are no employees to return or unload vehicles to deadhead back.

A pipeline operates around the clock, every day of the year, and almost always at peak capacity. It can get into—and out of—places that stop most other conveyances. Maximum grade on a freight-carrying railroad is three percent, on a highway it rarely exceeds 12 per cent. For a pipeline, a 70 percent grade is considered easy.

To ship a 42-gallon barrel of gasoline from Philadelphia to New York costs $1.00 by rail, eight cents by pipeline.

But, contrary to popular notions, pipeline shipping is not limited to gasoline and oil. You can ship anything in a semi-liquid condition. There are even small exclusive pipelines that carry nothing but antibiotics or fruit juice or ammonia or milk.

FHA Emergency Loan Program is Available in Flooded Counties

The Farmers Home Administration set forth recently details of its emergency-loan program for farmers in 16 Kentucky counties hit by January's floods.

F. H. A. State Directors Hugh James said the 3 per cent loans would be repayable in the minimum time the borrower is able to pay. Money advanced for crop production is repayable when income is received from sale of the crop. Ordinarily loans run one to five years except for real estate, which is up to 16 years.

James said county supervisors could approve production-emergency loans up to $10,000 and the state office could approve a maximum $25,000 if the applicant is not indebted for other loans of this type.

Loans may be made for purchasing feed, seed, fertilizer, replacing equipment and livestock, repairing and replacing farm buildings, fences, drainage and irrigation systems and for essential operating expenses on farms hit by floods.

Farms unable to obtain credit elsewhere are eligible if they suffered production loss and have reasonable prospect for success with the aid of a loan.

The emergency program applies in Bell, Breathitt, Clay, Floyd, Harlan, Johnson, Knott, Knox, Lee, Leslie, Letcher, Martin, Owen, Perry, Pike and Whitley counties.

Sheep and goats provide two-thirds of the milk and half the milk produced in Greece.

Voters of the 96th Legislative District

I stated earlier in The Times that in later issues I would make my platform public and I wish to give you my viewpoint on some matters with which the legislature will be concerned in 1958.

TAXATION: We all know that without taxes government services would be nonexistent, but certainly tax money is the concern of each of us, since it is "our money." I am dead set against the practice of using money collected from the many to further the aims and political advancement of the few. I am also against the practice of granting special interests, such as race tracks, the privilege of being tax free while the worker's pay is being used as a source of revenue to make up for the lost horse racing is a sport of kings and wealthy people and it is they who are in a position to pay without taking bread off their table.

EDUCATION: I am on the way up the educational ladder and with proper action by the General Assembly will continue to climb. The Minimum Foundation Law is a good law and if followed will make Kentucky an example of good educational practice throughout the whole country. I shall strive for further educational progress especially for our neglected section of the state. I am not an "ex" teacher. I am, have always been, and shall continue in the teaching profession, so it will not be necessary to "pressure" me into voting for good school legislation.

ROADS: I am not sure what yardstick is used to determine where roads are needed and where roads are to go in the state, but I shall find out for you and I shall work to inform those who are in charge of highway planning that Eastern Kentucky is most certainly a part of the "Bluegrass State." I am sure that one important factor in deciding where the road dollars are to be spent should be NEED and our section has plenty of NEED.

A relative to one of the candidates for Representative called me some time ago and asked me not to run and when I said that I was determined to stay in the race, he stated in so many words: "We will slate you out on election day." To him and any others who feel that they can thwart the wish of the voting public by some "age-old" trick I have this to say: "THE VOTERS OF FLOYD COUNTY ARE INTELLIGENT AND WILL RESIST WITH ALL THE MEANS AT THEIR DISPOSAL ANY EFFORT TO DICTATE ELECTION RESULTS NO MATTER WHO MAKES THE EFFORT."

HANDWRITING OF GREATS REFLECTED STRONG TRAITS

The big three of American "greats" whose birthdays fall in February are probably as familiar to everyone as soap and hot water. What they contributed, anecdotes about their lives, even what they liked to eat and drink is old hat.

But what about the inner man, the real self? What did George Washington, Abraham Lincoln and Thomas Edison have in common? How did they differ? What made them tick and why?

An eminent New York psychiatrist recently came up with a psychograph of each man's handwriting which sheds some interesting light on the subject.

Washington, according to the analysis, was intensely driven and stimulated by imperfections in himself and in the surrounding world. But instead of trying to overcome them by denial, rationalization or intellectualism, he chose realistic action and "immediate dealing with the object world." Lincoln, like Washington, was "stubborn, persistent and fanatically goal-conscious," but both were thoroughly sincere and genuine personalities.

In Edison's case, his laboratory—now a part of the McGraw-Edison network of the Thomas A. Edison Laboratories—achieved for him the same significance that the world of politics and the military held for Washington and Lincoln. Like they, he "fought traditional limitations, restrictions and conventions without being destructive and rebellious himself."

Edison developed his unique style of writing—a sort of cross between script and printing—when he was a telegrapher. One of the fastest telegraphers of his day, his marvelous speed in receiving was accelerated by the style of handwriting which he originated expressly for taking the fastest press reports with the least expenditure of energy and time and with the maximum legibility.

"Edison's handwriting," says the doctor's report, "reveals a personality of unusual genuineness, spontaneity and originality." He drove relentlessly to penetrate into the core of things without being bothered by conventionality, prejudice, or preconceived thought. Spurred on by the continuous challenge to
