SPEAKING OF AND FOR FLOYD COUNTY
PRESTONSBURG, KENTUCKY

APRIL 11, 1957

THURSDAY

This Town— That World

The sun shines bright on our old Kentucky homes— sometimes.

THE COLD WAR

More Floyd counties than usual have been fighting the cold war this spring. If we hadn't resorted to chemical warfare, some of us would have lost the fight, too. These antibiotics and such drugs do help now, don't they?

Speaking of what they're a lot like a political conviction. Sometimes the eyes have it, and again it's the nose.

PET PEEVES

Every time I feel like getting down to some old-fashioned grouting and find myself in need of a fresh subject, I turn on the television, and there it is. . . . This is the guy who flashes onto the screen in a profound study, maybe staring at a book or just his fingernails— and then suddenly glances up like a scared rabbit and blurt out, "Oh, there you are! . . . And the fellow who slink back into a comfortable chair, leaves a sigh, lifts up, puffs out a cloud of smoke and in two seconds is mumbling, "In this world. . . . Ah, I can come here with all the cares of this world on my shoulders, and this chair and one puff from this pipe and my burden of care is gone. . . . And they talk about Elvis and his pelvis. What about these female singers who prance all over the lot and do the hoochie act?"

THE DIFFERENCE

The ability to sin differs among people," a preacher declared, and was immediately answered by the wife of a fisherman: "Of course I can give you an example. A short-armed fisherman isn't near as big a liar as a long-armed one like my husband."

STURGILL SUIT ASKS $61,500

12-year-Old Plaintiff Through Mother, Alleges Harsh Negligence Result

A suit asking a total of $61,500 was filed in circuit court Saturday against Dan Krausz, Harold Cook operator, and his employee, Charles Keathley, by Walter Franklin Sturgill, infant.

The plaintiff is 12 years old, and the suit was filed by his mother, Mrs. Carlisle Sturgill. The petition, which was prepared by Tockett & Tackett, alleges that Krausz, as Krausz's agent was moving a truck of machinery by towing a trailer from Harold to another mine, March 3, and that Keathley permitted and aided young Sturgill to work on the job and ride the trailer without the permission of his parents or any other person.

It is alleged that because of negligent operation of the truck and trailer by Keathley the conveyor ran over the boy. As a result, it is contended, he suffered fractures of a shoulder blade and ribs and amputation of two toes.

Boots lost by students were valued at $72.48 and books lost from the storage room for sale to the students were worth $284.26.

A reward is being offered for information leading to the discovery of the instruments.

The high school will hold a Parents' Night program, Monday, Spurlock announces, and this event will coincide with the Book Fair at the school. The parents' program will include a discussion of school problems in general, minority leader, Jack Coyer, of Berry, will be awarded a trophy by the outgoing administration for the best campaign speech.

Red Cross Praises Floyd Bar for Help

The Floyd County Chapter and the National Organization of the American Red Cross joined recently in thanking the Floyd County Bar Association for its assistance in the Red Cross disaster operation in this county.

The statement, addressed to J. B. Clarke, Bar Association president, and signed by the Rev. Harold W. Dorsey, disaster chairman, and J. B. Green, Jr., area director, read:

"Only by your checking of the property records were our workers able to get Red Cross assistance to the victims of the flood at such an early date. You have no idea what it means to have professional assistance on matters of this kind, and without your efforts we would have had much difficulty in some of the cases of the distressed. The assistance from attorneys who are community leaders gave us a sense of confidence since we knew 'your group' was supporting us in this manner."

"We know that you will continue to assist the members of your group, and please assure them that their efforts were invaluable."

New Photographer From Prestonsburg in Rescuer's Role

Quentin Allen, of Prestonsburg, Lexington Leader photographer, had the unusual experience last Thursday of rescuing a boy from drowning moments after he had snapped the youngster's picture for the newspaper.

Allen photographed three boys as they rode their bicycles in shallow water which had covered a part of the Piedmont golf course at Lexington and had turned to walk away when he heard shouting. Turning he found that one of the three was a nine-year-old, had ridden his bicycle into a depression in the course and was in water man's head. The Prestonsburg man ran the nine-year-old to the surface the second time and pulled him to safety.

NOTICE

All Floyd County Fiscal Court Warrants issued or to be issued under the 1936-37 Budget, are hereby called for payment. Interest on same ceases April 23, 1937. No interest will be paid on warrants issued on or after that date. W. J. May, Treasurer Floyd County

Louisville recently with federal and state agriculture officials to discuss the new State regulations. A handbook containing the new rules was distributed to the judges. The new rules embrace five points set down by the federal agency:

- 1. All applicants must be properly certified.
2. Accurate records must be kept.
3. Monthly reports of receipt and distribution of food must be sent to the State Agriculture Department promptly. These reports are due the 28th of each month.
4. Adequate storage facilities and distribution points must be provided.
5. Complaint persons must be in charge of the distribution.

Proof of one instance of distributing surplus food for political or economic purposes will result in a country's immediate suspension from the program, Butler said.

Applicants must be certified on the basis of need, regardless of creed, color, religion, or politics, he added.

Under the new regulations, maximum income that a recipient may receive to qualify for surplus food has been increased $10 a month in each bracket. The new scale is:

One person per family, $45; two persons, $70; three persons, $90; four persons, $100; five persons, $100; six persons, $110; seven persons, $120; eight or more, $130. The income limit may be waived during emergencies such as fire, flood, sickness.

The new applications form requires the applicant to list all types of income and their sources, whether they own property, and whether they have tobacco bases. Other new regulations are:

- 1. The distribution sheet, showing the names of the recipients and amounts received, will be replaced by a card for each individual. The card will show a record of all food received by the person, and must be signed by the recipient each time he receives the commodities.
2. Monthly reports to the Department of Agriculture must include both book and physical inventories of all commodities received and distributed. No only a book inventory is required. The new method will show spoilage, overweight and shortweight and damaged commodities.
3. Standard identification cards must be presented by the recipient when he receives food. Such cards now are required, but the types vary among the counties. Each person certified as eligible can obtain these portions each month when the food is available.
Five pounds of flour, 5 pounds of meat, a pound of dried milk, 2 pounds of cheese, a pound of rice, and 2 pounds of beans.

PROCK HAYES

Has Been

A Good Jailer

Re-elect him for another 4 years.

When a County Official stands for re-election he must stand or fall on his record of service to the people.

Prock Hayes as your jailer has a record of service to the people of Floyd County of which he and his many friends can be justly proud.

The record does not have to be checked in county record books, it can be seen. We have seen the cleanliness of the courthouse and grounds, the upkeep of the jail and the manner of Prock's service to the county. Many of us have eaten at the jail, we know the quality of the food and the fine manner in which it is prepared.

Naturally, no one enjoys being in jail, but those who have known that the prisoners have been treated with all courtesy due them, and most of all have lived in clean surroundings with good, sufficient food. As it should be, no special favors, nor partiality has been shown to any prisoners. In addition, Prock Hays, has been very faithful in attending court and has been helpful to the Court and to all the people with whom he has come into contact.

All in all, we think Prock Hays has made the best jailer we have ever had.

We recommend him for another four years.

Re-elect Prock Hays jailer.

Signed:

FRIENDS OF PROCK HAYS

Soil Conservation

By L. R. JOHNSON

TREE SEEDLINGS

More than 300,000 forest tree seedlings were ordered for setting this spring. The state nursery however was able to furnish only 225,700 trees. Most of the trees have already been set.

The Soil Conservation District board made available tree planting bars to every one that planted trees.

We have set a goal of one-half million trees for 1958.

BROME GRASS

Brome grass was seeded last year by W. W. Burchett, of Cow Creek. The seed was furnished by the Soil Conservation District.

The seeding was done as an experimental plot. Burchett, and his neighbors will be observing this grass to see how it compares with other grasses common to Floyd county.

RECIPE OF THE WEEK

The availability of frozen fish has popularized this food the year around, for its preparation is simple. Packaged frozen fish should remain in the unopened package until it is moved to a lower shelf in the refrigerator to thaw, or removed for immediate cooking.

MAY BOOK RECEIVES FAVORABLE COMMENT

The Council for Basic Education's praise of Mrs. Wilma May's book, "A Teacher Views the School Crisis," was the subject of comment in the column, Under Cover, by Lee Segal, in a recent issue of the Courier-Journal.

Mrs. May, formerly of Maytown, now residing at Tollesboro, Ky., taught in Floyd county schools for several years. She is a native of Mississippi.

"A Kentucky lady and teacher has named herself enthusiastic praise from the Council for Basic Education," Segal writes.

"The C. B. E. is a nonprofit organization with offices in Washington, D. C. Under the presidency of Dr. Arthur Bestor, professor of history at the University of Illinois, and author of Educational Wastelands and The Restoration of Learning the C. B. E. is giving articulate and informed leadership to the forces of intellectual dissent from many of the practices of modern education," Segal continued.

Mrs. May's thesis in her book is the deterioration of education since the advent of "progressive" methods. Says the author, "Many of our schools are stale." Says the Council for Basic Education about the author, "She is an honest, thinking woman who has come reluctantly to her conclusions about the weakness of modern school programs. She has tested these conclusions against her experience and mind and as much of the outside world as she was in a position to embrace, and has been impelled to speak out in all this is a dignity to be respected."

But the C. B. E. finds the results more than just a "triumph of candid common sense and simple unswerving logic over undisciplined theorizing. Many of modern education's basic principles are sound enough; the trouble comes when they are pushed beyond proper limits in practice. . . and vital common sense is often enough to reveal where a good thing has been run into the ground."

Among those modern-education principles that Mrs. May finds fallacious is that of grading a child against himself. "Experts have urged teachers to give 'A's to pupils who make satisfactory progress according to their own ability." She feels that such practice is detrimental to students and the C. B. E. needs its approval.

Then, countering on the educational expert's feeling that competition is bad in the curriculum, Mrs. May says, "Doesn't a long-range view show that not caring to do better than others is even more dangerous than the normal state to excite? The counsel comments by way of answer, "Grass-roots logic may not have found all the factors involved, but it has spotted an essential one overlooked by current orthodoxy."

And on the progressive educator's theory of automatic promotion Mrs. May feels that a child is apt to stop trying when he receives commendation without having to try.

In final tribute to Kentucky's teacher-author, the C. B. E. states it wholehearted preference for such "honest, dispassionate and (in the best sense) unapologetic books."

ante local financial support and necessary shelves for books.

A county that has a headquarters library must put up 8 cents for each $100 of assessed property valuation. A county that takes part in the plan must allow 3 cents for each $100.

The federal funds will be spent for staff and books at the rate of about $11,000 a year for staff of each region, and $32,000 for books.

State funds will come from the regular budget of the Library Extension Division, mainly in the form of staff services to the plan.

Included in the $180,000 budget for this and next fiscal years is a $50,000 allotment for aid to counties. This will gradually be integrated into the expanded program. About 100 counties now receive this aid, Miss Margaret F. Willis, director of the Library Extension Division, said.

Miss Willis said the program is not one of charity. The goal is to obtain sufficient local interest to carry it out.

The 15 areas have been selected only on a tentative basis. And, in these areas there will be workshops soon to explain the program locally. No dates or sites have been selected for the workshops.

The tentative counties for the regional libraries are: Kenton, or Grant; Perry or Breathitt; Floyd, Bath or Rowan; Boyd, Laurel, Whitley, or Pulaski; Clark, Franklin or Henry; Nelson or Hardin; Warren; Davies; Caldwell; Adair or Russell; McCracken, and Boyle.

Hayes and Bogardus are now designing a loader to work with the new shuttle-car and are developing a coal-cutting machine, a mine locomotive, mine cars, conveyors, belts and other products.

The new shuttle-car, which has a capacity of two tons, will sell for approximately $2,500. The car uses a fluid-type coupling similar to those found in late-model automobiles, and a truck transmission with three speeds forward and three in reverse.

Hayes said improved production facilities will be installed in the Pikeville plant but he noted that orders for the new car are pouring in and the firm is seeking a site in or near Pikeville to mass produce the shuttle-car. The company will retain the present building in Pikeville for an engineering, research and development center.

Elmer Layne, of Pikeville, former chief inspector for the Department of Mines and Minerals in the Pikeville office, is the firm's sales manager. Layne has put the shuttle-car—similar to but smaller and in a lower price range than the widely publicized shuttle car to be produced at Ashland—through trial runs. He says the new car enabled two men to clean up a 10-ton cut in about 30 minutes. Layne thinks the car will double production on hand-loading sections. Mines now producing 10 tons per man day may produce up to 20 tons with the new car.

B. F. Reed, of the Turner-Elkhorn Mining Co., at Ligon, has already placed orders for the new cars, it was said.

Milton Damson, of Pikeville, formerly employed by Louisville Cement Co. of Speed, Ind., recently returned to Pikeville to work as engineer for the Hayes Metal Products at Hi Hat.

The Hayes and Bogardus plants at Richlands and Hi Hat are producing approximately 1000 truck bodies per year, coal dumping trailers with a capacity of 30 tons, and a hydraulic dump ramp to unload trucks and trailers that are not equipped with hydraulic hoists.

Car's Use Is Divided In Divorce Ruling

Des Moines, Iowa, March 29—A district judge included an automobile owned by a 21-year-old Des Moines couple in the property divided between them by a divorce ruling.

The judge decided that Leon Burks should drive the car by night and his ex-wife should have it during the day. The Burks agreed without complaint.

The Times erred last week when it stated Dora Lee Thomas, two-year-old child of Mrs. Sylvia Thomas, died at Our Lady of the Way hospital, Martin. Relatives say the child died enroute to the Martin hospital and was not entered there. Spinal meningitis was given by the family as the cause of death.

Miss Wright Becomes Bride Of William Winston Ford, Jr.

For her traveling costume, the bride wore a gray tulle suit, with black accessories, and the orchid from her bridal bouquet.

The bride is a graduate of Pikeville high school and Pikeville College. The bridegroom is a graduate of Prestonsburg high school and attended Transylvania University and Pikeville College.

The Rev. Charles H. Moffett, pastor of the church, performed the double ring ceremony at 3:30 p.m., before a background of white covered with plumosa fern. Two standards of lilies and white stock flanked the altar and a row of seven-branched candelabra holding lighted white tapers shed a soft glow on the palms behind the altar. The family pews were marked by white satin bows.

A program of wedding music was played by Forrest Albert, organist, and Mrs. W. J. Doubledfield, soloist and sister of the bride, sang "The Lord's Prayer" during the ceremony.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore a waist length gown combining Chantilly lace and nylon tulle over taffeta. The fitted bodice of lace was fashioned with cap sleeves and sweetheart neckline coming to a point at the back. The bouffant skirt of tulle had lace applique motifs and a pleated ruffle at the hem below a band of applied lace. She wore an illusion veil attached to a hat of lace and sequins. Her only jewelry was a pearl necklace, a cascade of pearls which carried a cascade bouquet of white roses and stephanotis centered with a white orchid.

Mrs. Homer Owens was matron of honor.

Miss Colleen Conway and Miss Margaret Wright, the latter a younger sister of the bride, were bridesmaids.

They all wore waist length gowns of pale pink crystalline over tulle, with fitted bodice and very full skirt. Each had wide sashes of deep pink taffeta, which were simply knotted at back and fanned out to the hems of their skirts. Their headpieces were bouquets of staked pink roses and white carnations. They carried bouquets of pink sweetheart roses and purple violets tied with pink satin ribbons.

Miss Anna Marie Owens was flower girl in a pink nylon dress with a pink nylon panoply over tulle. She carried a satin basket filled with rose petals.

William Miles Rowe, of Prestonsburg, served as best man for Mr. Ford. Ushers were William D. Compton, Harold Suckey, Robert Walters, and Robert Hatcher, who were also tapper lighters.

Following the ceremony, a reception was held at the home of Judge and Mrs. F. Pierce Kessie on Smith Hill, Pikeville.

Capitol Notebook

Frankfort, April 8 (Sp.) — A recent issue of the Detroit Times stresses that Kentucky is a bright spot this spring for vacationing. The travel pages of the Michigan newspaper feature some Commonwealth attractions.

Says Times writer James Keith: "Way down deep in the heart of You-all Land (it includes such glorious states as Virginia, some of West Virginia, Kentucky, Tennessee, North and South Carolina, Georgia) the daffodils and azaleas are a-bloom."

"We can see our Aunt Moddie out there in the garden now, a-pluckin' and choosin' only the biggest ones for her sittin' room in anticipation of the Sunday influx of free loaders who've been, hohed up all winter long—but are in circulation again—now that spring is here—and there."

"Elsewhere on the travel pages, it says: "Within a great Ohio River horse-shoe—a bend in which nestles the city of Louisville—the stage is set for the annual Kentucky Derby Festival."

"Festival Week, April 28-May 5, will feature such events as the downtown Pegasus Parade, a professional golf tournament, concert, a colorful ball and coronation of a queen."

"All this festivity, of course, will be background for the horse racing, climaxed May 4 by the exciting mile and a quarter Kentucky Derby in which the world's fastest horse will vie for $100,000 added purse."

Club Holds Annual 'Mother-Daughter' Dinner

The Allen-Martin Women's Club held its annual club "Mother and Daughter" dinner, April 1, in the basement of the Methodist Church at Martin. Clubs which were guests were the Lackey-Wayland-Garrett Women's Club, the mother club of the Allen-Martin Women's Club, and the Drift Woman's Club, which is the daughter club founded by the Allen-Martin group. About 80 members of the three clubs attended.

Speaker of the evening was Judge E. S. Pruitt, of Pikeville, who spoke on some of the problems of children and young people as he has encountered them in his juvenile court work. He also told of his work with the Boy Scouts which he has been carrying on for many years. He emphasized the valuable place Scouting affords in affording wholesome pastime and training for boys, that he has never had one of his Scouts get into trouble of a nature serious enough to bring him to court. Judge Pruitt was presented a barbecue grill and he assured the club members that his Cub Scouts would enjoy using it.

Door prizes were given to Mrs. Rudolph Spencer, of Wayland, and Mrs. Amy Lee Turner, of Drift.

UNSWIFT DREAMS

A friend of mine, having heard that I am sometimes troubled with insomnia, suggested the following plan: "Get a pint of peanuts, and drink two or three glasses of milk just before retiring. You'll be asleep in no time."

I did so and my friend was right. I soon fell asleep. Then a man with his head under his arm came along and asked me if I wanted to buy his feet. As we were dickering, the dragon on which I was riding slipped out of his skin and left me floating in mid-air.

While I was considering just how I was going to get down, a bull with two heads peered at me over the edge of the wall and said he would haul me up if I would climb up and sit a staidist for him. Then, as I was sliding down the mountain, the brakeman came in and asked him: when the train would reach my station. "We passed that four hundred years ago," he said, as he folded up the train and slipped it into his vest pocket.

At this point the clock came in and pulled the center-pole out of the ground, lifting the tent and all the people up in the air, while I stood below watching my good friend go out of sight among the clouds.

With that I woke up and found that I had been sleeping exactly ten minutes.—Romber Commentator.

OUR LAWSUIT IN FEDERAL COURT

By
JOE P. TACKETT
DEMOCRATIC CANDIDATE FOR COUNTY ATTORNEY

In last week's issue of the Times I had an article on the matter of the lawsuit pending in Federal Court against Floyd County and the water and gas users. I wrote that article after I had learned that our present County Attorney, and Mr. C. Kilmer Combs had filed a motion to dismiss the cause to Floyd County. I said in that article "Our present County Attorney, and Mr. Combs, are, in my considered judgment, doing a fine job, etc." I made this statement in the confident belief that the Court would sustain that motion and dismiss it as to Floyd County. This the Court has done.

The case, however, is still pending on the main issue and that issue is the most dangerous to our water and gas users. That is the contention made by the bondholders that they are entitled to an order of Federal Court compelling the present Fiscal Court, or any future Fiscal Court, for that matter, to convene and RAISE the water and gas rates high enough to pay the defaulted bonds and to meet the others as they come due. This is the real danger to the water and gas users and this contention I propose, as your next County Attorney, to wage a relentless fight against because, as I said last week, it is my opinion that "our gas and water users are paying far too much for their gas and water and at the same time are receiving far too little service for their money."

What will happen in case the Bondholders succeed in the above is any one's guess. The law firm of SKAGGS, HAYS & FAHEY who represent the Bondholders, will resort to every legal technique at their command to finally saddle this burden on Floyd county, and no doubt, before the case ends, they will be filing numerous pleadings in that effort. These are some of the things that must be watched and, as I said last week, in substance, with my long experience as a lawyer at the Floyd County Bar and in our Federal Courts, I feel confident that our taxpayers and water and gas users would feel more secure in their rights being properly protected if I, in co-operation with Mr. Combs waged the fight against this lawsuit. I don't mean to infer that my opponents do not have legal ability, but what I mean is that in the courts, and especially in Federal Court, long experience is a valuable asset to any lawyer who matches legal wits with such a law firm as the one from Louisville who represent the plaintiff against us.

I confidently submit for the careful consideration of every voter in the County that I can do a better All-Around job for our people than either of my opponents.

Sincerely yours,
JOE P. TACKETT

The Choice That is Never Challenged!

Drive a Cadillac over any period of time you wish—and the odds are that no one will ever question your choice of a motor car.

For almost everyone understands the instincts that lead a man to Cadillac. Rare is the motorist, in fact, who does not have his own heart set on the "car of cars."

Certainly, this is as it should be. For Cadillac's virtues are simply too numerous to be overlooked—and too apparent to be misunderstood.

Who, for instance, could behold a new Cadillac—and not proclaim it the most beautiful and majestic of automobiles?

Who could ride in a new Cadillac and not recognize its extraordinary luxury and comfort?

Who could drive a new Cadillac and not pronounce it the crowning achievement of automotive engineering?

And who—knowing of Cadillac's many economies of ownership could fail to recognize it as the finest investment in all motorworld?

Indeed, the reasons for choosing Cadillac are as valid as they are numerous—and we urge you to visit your dealer at your first opportunity and discover all of them for yourself.

Why not spend an hour at the wheel—and select your favorite Cadillac model as your own?

You can rest assured—the whole world will approve your choice!

TO CLEAN PAINTED SURFACES

To Clean Painted Surfaces: (a) Wash with neutral soap jelly or dry suds and rise with a cloth wrung from clear water, then dry. (b) Wash with equal parts of water, vinegar and kerosene. Rinse with clear water and then dry. When the paint is badly soiled, the latter is especially effective.

Fabric softeners, used in the textile industry for the past several years, have been made available to housewives under a variety of trade names. They are gaining wide spread interest, say Extension home economists at the University of Kentucky, because of the unusual results.

Big Sadny-Elkhorn Area's 3rd Largest, Changes Hands

Control of stock in the Big Sadny-Elkhorn Coal Company, third largest in the Big Sandy area, changed hands Wednesday when John B. Bowman announced the sale of his interest in the company to Cincinnati purchasers.

Bowman did not discuss the amount involved.

Bowman, who has been president of the company since 1950, owned 82 per cent of the stock. With the sale of his stock, Bowman returned as president of the mining company, which has its offices here. The company's mines are in Pike county.

R. A. Hedland, vice-president of the company, is remaining.

New officers and directors of the company will be elected, Bowman said, and the company is expected to increase production. He said there will be no change in personnel.

The business deal was the largest in Eastern Kentucky coal-mining circles since the sale of the Consolidation Coal Company's properties in Letcher County several months ago to the Bethlehem Steel Company.

Bowman, who also has natural gas, banking, and newspaper interests in the area, will retain his office here. He said he has no business plans but expects to travel.

Mr. and Mrs. Bowman will remain their home here.

A native of Pensacola, Fla., Bowman has been in the coal business 35 years. He joined the Sadny-Elkhorn Company in 1928 as cashier, later becoming auditor, vice-president, and finally president. He became the principal stockholder in 1954.

The company mined more than 1,000,000 tons of coal in 1946 and expects to produce about 300,000 tons this year.

Now that the season for spring sewing is here, home sewers are advised by Miss Rachel Rowland, UK Extension clothing specialist, to consider the new pattern and the fabric at the same time, the pattern purchase being made first.

Wells Says Fund

To Aid Students

Needed In State

High School Juniors and Seniors who would like to go to College, and teenagers who may or may not be continuing your education:

I want to have these few words with you and hope I can "dig" them out so you may be "hep" to what I am trying to say.

If you are a girl and I knew that handsome guy you were interested in, you would listen to me discuss him for hours. To you boys—the same would apply about that good looking girl you are all "steamed up" about. All this is natural and is as it should be. But to change the thought a bit, I would like to ask: Are you planning on or are you financially able to go to college after you complete your high school work, or are you now working to earn money so maybe you can enter college next year?

I have a plan which surely could be most helpful to many of you, and that is to have a "Loan Fund" created and set up by the State of Kentucky, from which a student could borrow, at low interest, sufficient amounts needed for his or her college education. After the student had completed his or her college courses and was securely employed—the sum borrowed then could be repaid to the "Loan Fund." I think it possible for such a fund to be created.

I know that some of the finest minds in our county may never be fully developed by college education because of financial difficulties. Their abilities are needed, should not be lost to our county, state and nation—and we should do something to avert such a tragedy.

I am in sympathy with you, the students, and understand your problems. Also, I can understand the problems of your teachers and why such a large percentage of them need side-jobs to supplement the low salaries they receive. Likewise, I can understand the problems of our school authorities, the lack of funds for many things needed in most of our schools for your benefit.

I would like you to consider ME your candidate for Representative of this 96th District, and if you are qualified—VOTE FOR ME—and if you are not yet of age—SUPPORT ME by letting some of your warm feelings rub off on your voting friends. I will do my very best to be helpful to the schools program—with a view of benefiting you.

Sincerely,
J. C. "Gib" WELLS

Gardening Time

By ROBERT M. JONES, County Agent

SELECTING SEEDS AND PLANTS

It always pays to buy the best garden seed. Make a list of the vegetables you want to grow. The seeds you select should be of good quality and you should select seeds of a variety of colors to plant when the soil is dry, without making a special trip to the store.

Seeds should not be saved and planted the following year. The climate of Kentucky is not suited for production of vegetable seeds. The only exception to this rule is beans and watermelons.

In buying plants such as tomatoes, cabbage, broccoli and peppers, make sure you are getting the variety you want. Some plants shipped in are not true to name.

Plants can be grown at home. A circular, "Hotbed and Cold Frames," is available at the extension office that will help you raise your own plants.

VARIETIES

There are many new vegetable varieties available on the market. Most of these are good. Every gardener should try some of the new ones each year to see how he likes them. Some will be suited to our soil and some won't. The only way to tell if you like them is to give them a trial.

Many old varieties have proven themselves, and should be continued, but don't forget our research workers are developing new and improved varieties that we should try.

We have a recommended vegetable variety list prepared by the University of Kentucky available at the office. They have listed the varieties that have proven to be most satisfactory both for production and growth habits.

PLANTING

Remember that the garden should be worked up as fine as the seed to be sown. The smaller the seed the finer the soil should be worked. A good thumb rule to follow in covering the seed is "plant seed four times as deep as the seed is thick."

In setting transplant, dig the hole about ten inches deep. Place some good top soil or manure in bottom, then fill the hole up to the level desired for plants. Water thoroughly, set plant, and firm the soil around plant to remove all the air pockets. The deep hole will give the roots a chance to grow and gather the water plant food needed to make a fast growth.

Next week's article will discuss cultivation, insect and disease control.

Agging Veterans Not Forgotten

(The Forty and Eight)

"The American Legion has not forgotten or forsaken the aging, disabled World War I veterans who now look to us for help in their hour of need."

So declared National Commander Dan Daniel, outlining the American Legion's legislative aims for 1957. Congress is again being urged to enact legislation which will consider veterans aged 65 and older as unemployable and eligible for monthly benefits if their incomes from other sources do not exceed fixed maximums.

How much success The American Legion will achieve in its continuing battle for the old veterans during this year of meager budget and heavy pressure for economy remains to be seen. But The American Legion is fighting, and it has a reputation of being an "agging" outfit. It wins. If more veterans would sign up with The American Legion, this and other Legion goals could be gained more quickly.

The younger veterans owe a big debt of gratitude to these old veterans who are now pushing past the 65-year mark. It was these old fellows, who when they were young, did the work that made the American Legion and made it a force which could stand up for the rights and needs of war veterans. They are the ones who carried the battle for the G. I. Bill of Rights and other benefits for the veterans of World War II and Korea. Now that they need help they have every right to expect The American Legion to go to bat for them with all-out energy.

COURTHOUSE SQUARE

Franklin in Simpson county, tightly hugs a central courthouse square rimmed with low brick buildings, some of which has a hatching post. It was founded in 1820 and named for Benjamin Franklin. Simpson county was named in honor of Capt. John Simpson, whose company of riflemen joined the first Kentucky troops that marched to reinforce General Hull at Detroit during the war of 1812.

REMINISCENCES OF JACKSON
 A letter from Wm. R. Smith, Sidney, Ohio, but a native of Jackson, Breathitt county, Ky., is reminiscent of how our elders gathered around their fireplaces when there were no T-V, radio or comic books for the children and all the family listened to the discourses on "people, place and things."

Smith writes about the Hargis family of Breathitt: "When I was about five years old father and I would go places to work. One time we went down to old Uncle Baldy Hargis to work in the harvesting of oats and wheat. Baldy Hargis was County Judge Jim Hargis' father."

"Uncle Baldy owned a big river bottom farm down across the river from Jackson, two or three miles in the Pan Bowl. I don't remember who Baldy Hargis' wife was. They had five boys, best I remember, and they were Jim, Alex, John, called 'Tide, Elbert and Ben. No girls that I know of, Jim's wife was of the Day family. I think she was a sister to Floyd, John and J. Taylor Day. These Days had a big hand sawmill at Jackson. They had a boom in the river that reached from the mill up to our house, about two miles long."

"That company was called the Swain-Day Lumber Company. They would have the logs cut and dumped into the river and floated down and fill up the boom. My father, Capt. Bill Smith, would work at the mouth of the boom and as the logs came floating down he would direct them into the boom with a long pole. Several men were jerked off these booms and drowned, in fact my father was jerked off the boom in a big tide one night and came near to being drowned."

"Alex Hargis' wife was old uncle Jim Lindon's daughter. They had three boys, Seldon, Edward and Tom. I went to school with these boys, I don't know if Tom was ever in politics. Seldon and Ed Hargis have been dead a long time. If Tom is still living, he is the only one."

U.-K. Predicts Prices Of Hogs Soon To Rise; Berries To Be Weaker.

Lexington, Ky., April 8 (Sp.)—Little change in price is expected for Kentucky-raised hogs until late May, says the U. K. Agricultural Experiment Station economics department in its bi-weekly business outlook letter.

In late May, prices are likely to see seasonal strength. Hog slaughterings have been slightly under the 1956 figure, but prices have been $2 to $4 per hundred weight higher, the letter says. Hog marketing totals are expected to continue about equal to the 1956 level until late summer, but hogs to be marketed in the next few weeks were farrowed last September and October, when farrowings were about 4 percent under the previous year.

For the strawberry outlook, the economists said prices may be weaker this year, especially for processing berries. There are large holdover stocks of frozen berries which must be sold before the 1957 marketing starts, they noted.

Kentucky grown berries at harvest time will be meeting competition from other states' crops, the economists point out. "If the usual price relationship between processed berries and fresh-market berries prevails, best results likely can be obtained by shipping only grade berries to markets and selling all others to processors," the letter states. "Early in the season, white berries are mostly large and perfect, the berries probably should be picked for the fresh market. Later, the cost of grading out small, red-type berries from the larger berries suitable for U. S. No. 1 grade may become greater than what is gained by selling part of the crop as fresh berries."

Helpful Driver Fined For Police-Like Act

Montreal, March 30—When his car was caught in a traffic jam, Arthur W. Smith jumped out and made like a traffic policeman. Just as he cleared the jam, the real thing came along and gave him a summons for double parking.

"It's best to leave traffic problems to the men who are employed to take care of them," said Judge E. J. McManamy as he fined Smith $5.

Youth, Run Over By Train, Only Bruised

Dyersburg, Tenn., March 30 — Young Adrian Mallard might have trouble convincing his friends that he was run over by a train since he has only a bruised shoulder to show for his harrowing experience.

However, the 17-year-old Evansville, Tenn., boy did fall between the tracks in front of an oncoming freight and the engine and part of a freight car passed over him before the train stopped.

LESLIE FOR SHERIFF

As most of you voters are aware I am a candidate for Sheriff. You, to whom I have talked, have encouraged me with pledges of support.

To you whom I have not yet had the opportunity of seeing and may perhaps not know me personally, allow me to tell you a little about myself.

I was born and raised at Cow Creek, graduated at Betsy Layne High School in 1932, went to Pikeville College and graduated from Morehead State College in 1936. I taught school in our home county and served as coach for 15 years.

I did two years of army service as hundreds of young Floyd countians did and returned to take an active part in assisting my fellow veterans in whatever capacity I could or was called upon to do. I served as Commander of the American Legion, Post 129, at Prestonsburg.

I belong to the church and have always worked for the spiritual uplift and betterment of my fellow man and the community. What leadership I have been able to exert has been in the direction of good government, schools and churches. That is nothing more, though, than any good citizen should do. It is what I will continue to do as your Sheriff.

I am, of course, a common ordinary citizen, seeking an office at your hands. I have always been friendly, glad to see my friends and acquaintances, before the election as I am now. I am not a mere glad-hand fellow who ignored his friends nor have my people been that kind. I am widely related in Floyd county, my kinsmen being of the old families who helped to develop this county. I am proud to be one of them with you, glad that I have in the past served in various capacities to make our county a good place to live.

Like thousands of other Floyd countians I was flooded out. To you who suffered in the disaster I want to say I know your problems, of how we have a long haul back to normal. If I can serve you now, as a private citizen, or after the election as your Sheriff, feel free to call upon me.

I've played a great deal of baseball in life as many of you know. Life is like a game, all of us are on a team. We can by team work so pull together that Floyd county will be a good place to live in. Your sheriff is a very important member of the team.

I solicit your support, sincerely,
DAVID B. LESLIE

HAMILTON FAMILY

A letter from Emory Hamilton, Wise county, Virginia, teacher, relative to certain Russell County, Va., court orders, is excerpted here. He is interested in the ancestry and descendants of James Hamilton. The notes from the orders follow as made by the Wise teacher.

"From Russell County Court Orders, dated Dec. 3, 1817, Nathan Hamilton appointed guardian for James Hamilton, infant son of Nelson Hamilton who died in the militia service of the United States. (Died at Norfolk, Va., Oct. 9, 1814)."

"Russell county Will Book 5, Page 48, dated Nov. 8, 1836: We, Mary Ann Jacobs and James Hamilton of the county of Floyd, State of Kentucky, appoint James Eastelme, attorney-at-law to sue for a certain claim, which we have against Nathan Hamilton for and on account of money he collected from the estate of Nelson Hamilton, deceased."

"The letter notes that Mary Ann Jacobs, before her marriage, was Mary Ann Nolin."

Detroit, March 30—Sometimes a thief can't make a nickel. A hole was cut in the roof of an automobile-supply store here and two safes bore the marks of determined but futile efforts to break in. Burglar tools were on the floor near the safes.

HONEST LAW ENFORCEMENT

I am asking for your support for Sheriff in the coming primary election on the following platform:

1. Clean, honest law enforcement without favoritism.
 2. Absolutely no protection racket for bootleggers or other law violators. A thorough, conscientious effort will be made to halt the illegal traffic in liquor through Floyd county. Everyone and particularly our children and older people deserve the right to travel public highways without fear of harm or insults from drunks.
 3. I pledge to every taxpayer in Floyd county that never in any instance will I take or accept more money than that allowed by Constitutional limit. I have for many years been accustomed to living with an honest income and expect to continue doing so without corruption or dishonesty.
 4. The business through the Sheriff's office is of vital interest to every citizen in our county. This business will be conducted in a friendly, dignified manner and every assistance will be available to those needing help with any problems in connection with this business.
- I do not believe that anyone can truthfully and in good faith tell you that they doubt my ability or intentions to carry out this platform. Many of you people have been critical of the operations of the Sheriff's Office in past years. If you are among those people, won't you give me the opportunity to carry out this program by going to the polls on May 28th and casting your vote for

Spears for Judge

Myself for your support

I am a candidate for County Judge who is trying to NOT run on promises alone. I would rather let my friends tell you about myself, how I have worked hard all my life, been honest, truthful and sober.

These things, common to many men, should be some of the qualifications of a judge. My friends will tell you that my record is clean, that my word is my bond and that I shy away from promises when they can't be fulfilled.

However, I will promise to make you an honest, fair, progressive judge. I will not be all things to all men, nor will I be all things to a few men and nothing for others. I will serve all the people in the office that is their gift and be charged with the responsibility of the stewardship of that office.

I will attempt with every resource at my command to get this county out of debt. I will fight to keep this county from being saddled with any indebtedness through the water and gas districts set up by the local court. This county will be engaged in litigation for years over the water and gas bonds. I will insist that the Floyd county taxpayers be protected in the courts.

I want to ask you creek people, too, where you expect to get any relief from the mud of your roads? You can't get it from the present administration for after years in office very little in the matter of roads has resulted. We need better farm to market roads, better school bus roads and while other counties are making progress let's march alongside them to a better county road system.

Progress comes only through change. Let's change things at the courthouse. Let's build more roads. Let's put the county on a sound fiscal system.

Let's Have a Change!

ADVANCING EDUCATION IN BLUEGRASS STATE

By Robert R. Martin, Superintendent of Public Instruction

The week of March 24-30 has been designated as Teacher Appreciation Week in Kentucky by Proclamation of Governor A. B. Chandler.

I think that the majority of people are conscious of the services of the more than 23,000 school teachers in this State, and yet these five days should be an occasion for each of us to make ourselves better informed and more understandingly aware of the teacher's position and purpose.

If one takes advantage of this occasion to analyze the teacher's situation, he might discover some interesting things—among them: That teachers' salaries are less than other peoples' salaries with comparable training and preparation; that the average classroom is overcrowded and in many cases the teacher is "overlooked"; that the teacher's day is much longer than the six hours that school is in session; and that in spite of apparent difficulties, the teacher is doing an excellent job. The present status of this nation is

FARM NOTES

By ROBERT M. JONES
County Agent

Drench Ewes
All the sheep in the flock should be drenched this month, except lambs. If there are any ewes that have not lambed, they should not be drenched until after lambing. To complete the parasite control program keep a penicillin-salt mixture before sheep at all times. The mixture is made up of nine parts salt and one part phenothiazine.

Soil Test
The farmers of Floyd county are spending more money on fertilizer each year. To help farmers know what fertilizer they use to meet crop needs, the Extension Service with the help of local business men and Farm Bureau set up a soil testing laboratory. This laboratory is now in operation. Ralph Davis of Prestonsburg is the laboratory technician. This service is available to anyone in the county. The charge for testing a sample is 50c which only covers the cost of testing.

Every person who is going to plant a field of corn, sow a meadow or pasture, or set tobacco should have a soil test made. That is the only way to be sure that the right amount of fertilizer is being applied. Soil samples should be brought to the county extension office, and the results will be returned as soon as possible.

Farm and Home Development
The first farm and home development meeting was held at Maytown high school, March 21. The second meeting is scheduled for April 4.

Farm and Home Development is a program where the family works out together their goals and plan their farm, home and family living so they may reach their goals.

Six families attended the first meeting. It is hoped that more will attend April 4.

Strawberries
Fifty thousand strawberry plants have been delivered to Floyd county. This is enough plants to set 125 acres. With the outlook for prices in the next two years being favorable, that figure should have been 50 to 75 acres. Floyd county is setting more plants than our neighboring counties.

Strawberries have proven to be profitable in Eastern Kentucky. The only factor that is holding this section back, is not enough volume. Buyers from the large markets, want to buy in large truck load lots. If we can increase acreage, so that we can meet market demands, it will reduce marketing cost and increase net income to the farmer.

Alfalfa Demonstration
Two fertilizer demonstrations were set up last week to show the volume of annual fertilizer application on alfalfa. Each demonstration consists of 1.50 of an acre treated at the rate of 40 pounds of phosphate and 120 pounds of potash. This is the recommended application which will not only increase yields but holds stand for several years. These demonstrations are on the farms of Alex Singman, Axtier and Paul Dotson, Middle Creek. Plans are to treat seven more plots after the first cutting.

Alfalfa is gaining in popularity in Floyd county. Last fall 109 acres were seeded. We have plenty of soil in the county that is suited for the production of alfalfa. To go along with the soil there also some cultural practices that need to be followed to raise alfalfa profitable. Alfalfa is a heavy feeder on plant food, taking more out of the soil than 100 bushel corn crop. To supply this plant food an annual application of fertilizer should be added.

ENDORSES ROBERTS

I take this method of asking my friends to support Dewey Roberts for county judge, as I am in the hospital and don't have a chance to see you. I have known him most of my life and I know him to be an honest and sober man. I believe he is well qualified for this office. He made us a good magistrate in our district. He was always ready and willing to help the people. When he was magistrate he would always have an officer at church to keep the peace and protect the public. He built many roads in our district while he was magistrate. When you help him you are helping me also. I will certainly appreciate any thing you may do to help him.

Thanking you in advance,

Crager, Dixon, Stewart Lead Cats To Victory

Sparked by the pitching of Buford Crager and the hitting of Wayne Dixon, Melvin Stewart, and Crager, the Prestonsburg high school baseball team won a convincing 8-3 decision at West Liberty, Wednesday, from a good Morgan County high school squad. The Black Cats scored first in the third inning when pitcher "Specks" Gross issued a walk to Black Cat shortstop, Ronny Stricklin. Stricklin then stole second and scored easily when Crager drilled a line drive shot to left center. The Morgan County crew fought back and took a 2-1 lead on a walk, an error, and a fly ball which Black Cat centerfielder, Paul Philip Hughes, misjudged and one run scored. Joe Jack Harjig attempted a double play but threw wild at second base and the Morgan county team was ahead.

The lead didn't last long as Black Cat catcher Bruce Howard walked. He was sacrificed to second by Ronny Stricklin. Then Crager drilled another shot to left center and the score was tied. In the fifth inning, Wendell Childers lined a single down the left field line. Wayne Dixon quickly responded by blasting a high inside curve ball off the centerfield wall, some 365 feet away. In the sixth inning, the Black Cats went on a hitting rampage and drove Gross and reliever Adams from the mound as they scored five runs. That was enough for Crager as he struck out four of the last six men to face him.

BASEBALL DISTRICT

The Kentucky High School Athletic Association has made some sweeping changes in redistricting the 1957 baseball tournaments. Under this year's set-up, 35 teams comprise the Grayson region of the play-offs.

Winners from each of the five districts—Ashland, Mt. Sterling, Grayson, Elkhorn City and Paintsville—will vie in Grayson on May 23 and 24 for the right to enter the state high school baseball tournament in Louisville, June 6 and 7.

All of the Eastern Kentucky teams have been placed in two of these five districts. In the Paintsville districts will be Louisa, Made Memorial, Morgan County, Oil Springs, Paintsville, Sandy Hook and Van Lear.

Teams making up the Elkhorn City district are Belvoir, Elkhorn City, Feds Creek, Martin, Pikeville, Prestonsburg, Wheelwright and Auxier.

TRACK CHANGES MADE

Twelve regions have been set for track and will be held on May 10. Only first and second place winners in the regional will qualify for the state meet at the University of Kentucky, May 17-18.

BLACKCATS WIN FIRST

Jack Frost Well's Prestonsburg Blackcats were their first and only winners of the young baseball season in downing Morgan County high school, 4-2, as senior right-hander Buford Crager limited the Blue Devils to five singles. Crager was also the leading hitter with two singles and two runs batted in.

WALLACE NATION'S BEST

Betsy Layne's Grady Wallace, who gained national acclaim with his shooting feats at the University of South Carolina this season, as well as last, has been officially named by the National Collegiate Athletic Association as the No. 1 individual scorer in all college basketball in 1956-57 with a 21.2 per game average for 29 games.

PILOT NAMED

Ralph Carlisle, Lexington Lafayette cage coach, will replace Ed Diddle as coach of the Kentucky high school all-stars in their annual two-game series with Indiana's best.

CATS DEFEAT FLEMING-NEON ON STRONG HURLING, HOMERS

By GORDON MOORE

Two home runs, one a grand slam and one with the bases empty, were enough for the Prestonsburg high school baseball team to defeat the Fleming-Neon squad at McRobert Tuesday, 13-3. Capt. Buford Crager continued his winning ways as he handcuffed the Pirates after leading over for Wayne Dixon in the 4th inning as Dixon batted and hit one batsman and walked another. When Crager took over the mound duties, the Black Cats were trailing 1-0 and had been limited to one hit by Pirate pitcher Tom Holt.

The 5th inning was again the lucky inning for the Black Cats. A walk to catcher Henry Hughes, a double by Crager produced the tying run. Melvin Stewart then threw a pass from Pirate pitcher Holt to load the bases. Another pass was issued to Charles Harris and all three runners were ahead 2-1. After Wendell Childers fled out to centerfield and Wayne Dixon struck out, three more walks to Ruben Baskett, Paul Hughes, and Henry Hughes produced three more runs. With the bases loaded and two out, Ronny Stricklin followed Henry Hughes and blasted a grand slam home run over the centerfield barrier.

Crager then followed Stricklin and duplicated Stricklin's feat with the sacks empty.

The Black Cats added 3 runs in the 7th of their total 13. The Pirates tried in vain to overtake the Black Cats in the last half of the 7th as they took advantage of wildness on the part

SPORTS AFIELD LAUDS KY. HUNTING, FISHING

Frankfort, April 8 (Sp.) — Kentucky's fishing, hunting and vacation attractions are described this month in a national magazine—Sports Afield.

An article by Erwin A. Bauer gives details on almost every prime fishing spot in the Commonwealth. The writer describes hunting for quail, cottontails, duck, goose, deer, grouse and squirrel as he found it in the Commonwealth. Bauer closes with some words of praise for the State's parks and scenic wonders.

SPORTS AFIELD

By TED KESTING

Many anglers take it for granted that a fish takes a lure the same way a man does. However, Jason Lucas, Angling Editor of SPORTS AFIELD, points out that knowing how a fish actually does so can save the average fisherman both time and money.

First, can a bass recognize colors? It has long been known that dogs, cats, horses and most other mammals are totally color blind. But fish are an even more primitive form of life so it would seem unlikely that they could have color vision similar to man's. Yet the fact remains that game fish can distinguish colors. Lucas points out.

Early tests which attempted to establish this fact were questioned by the experts. For example, if a bass could learn to tell the difference between red and green objects placed under water, it might be said that he was seeing them as varying shades of gray. Even the possibility that the fish could detect a difference in the smell of the paints in texture was also considered.

Later researchers took even more pains to avoid any misleading conclusions. For instance, one of them put several glass tubes in a tank, through one of these he ran a red liquid, through another green and through a third, blue. When the bass touched the red tube he was given a mild shock, but nothing from the others. He soon learned to avoid the red. When the colors were switched from tube to tube, the bass continued to avoid the red. He wasn't fooled by different shadings, either, yet it was also proven that he could distinguish between shades.

However, Lucas states, living underwater, fish see a different spectrum than man. Colors that cannot be seen by men can be seen by fish. Lucas likens this to the response of a dog to a "silent" whistle.

Many such things have been discovered about how a fish sees things, but what does it all mean to the angler? Well, perhaps different things to different anglers. Lucas has some theories of his own. He says that a large percentage of time he gets most of his bass by using darker lures in deep water and lighter, white with a dash of red, up top.

Time Running Out On Filing of Income

Time is running out for late filers on Federal income tax returns for 1956. Unlike last year when taxpayers had a couple of extra days to file, because it was Leap Year, this year's deadline occurs at week's opening, Monday, April 15.

Filers who expect to compute their taxes from last year's income and expense records had better start record-searching and soul-searching right now, Director Gray of the Internal Revenue Service warns. Those who will compute on the standard basis and the flat 10 per cent deduction shouldn't lose any time either, he emphasized.

Checks or money orders for any taxes still owed should be made payable to the Internal Revenue Service and sent to Internal Revenue Service, P. O. Box 80, Louisville 1, Kentucky.

FARM HELP SOUGHT IN WILDLIFE PLAN

Frankfort, April 8 (Sp.) — An article in the current issue of Happy Hunting Ground, published by the State Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, asks farmers to place wildlife in an important role in their farm production plan to bring about an improvement in soil restoration.

Despite the vast knowledge of soil information gathered in intensive research, the magazine reports, "most attempts at soil management are 20 years behind technical knowledge of the subject. Researchers have done and are doing the work of fact-finding but have not gotten the words across to landowners."

To assist farmers interested in the production of quail, the Division of Game Management provides a trained wildlife biologist in each of the state's nine wildlife districts to give free technical advice and on-the-farm assistance in the development of a farm-management plan for wildlife production.

In addition to providing trained wildlife personnel the department lists certain species of seeds and plants which may be obtained free by contacting the district biologist, the county conservation officer or the local soil conservation office.

The six species of glaberrima, bicolour or japonica, multiflora rose, sericea lespedeza, amber cane and hogan cane.

The article concludes, "efforts to restore quail management have failed except where designed to manipulate the habitat factors in order to create a better environment. The question today is not so much how it will be done as whether it will be done."

Southern Floyd Area Gives Total of $840 For 1957 Heart Fund

A total of $840.00 was collected in southern Floyd county for the 1957 Heart Fund, Mrs. Cora S. McHone, Floyd county chairman, reports.

This tops the figure for the entire county in 1956 when $613 was collected.

The largest part of the total came from Wheelwright where the drive sponsored by the Wheelwright Woman's Club, raised $688. This was the largest amount ever raised in Wheelwright for the Heart Fund, Mrs. McHone said.

Other communities in the southern section of the county which participated in the campaign were Drift, Weebury, Maytown, Wayland and McDowell.

Citizens Recommends Bar Parking Meters

Denver, March 30.—Parking meters in bars? A citizen made the suggestion in a letter to Mayor Will F. Nicholson. He proposed the meters require a deposit of "one cent for every minute, so if a fellow wants to loaf about and suck on a bottle of beer for 3 or 4 hours, let him pay the bill."

The Mayor withheld comment and also the writer's name.

48 FROM FLOYD EARN PLACES IN STATE MEET

Forty-eight Floyd county students won 58 places to the state high-school musical scene in the Pikeville regional music festival last week at Pikeville College.

During the four-day festival, 138 students won the ratings which will admit them to the two sections of the state festival in the next few days. Included are 38 singers, 10 pianists, and 90 who play other instruments, both solo and in groups.

With the nine high-school choruses and 10 bands, including the Martin, McDowell, and Wheelwright bands, girls' choruses from Prestonsburg and Wheelwright and mixed choruses from Martin and Prestonsburg, which took part in the regional festival, go on to state action, they will attend either the piano-vocal-section of the state meet April 23 and 24, or the instrumental section May 10 and 11. Both will be held at Lexington.

The Pikeville regional festival ended with the traditional All-Festival chorus and All-Festival band concert in the Pikeville College gymnasium. An audience which only partly filled the available seats gave both groups, including representatives of Martin, Maytown, McDowell, Wayland, and Wheelwright, an enthusiastic reception.

Rolf E. Hovey, head of Berea College's music department and judge of vocal and choral events at Pikeville this year, led the chorus. The band was directed by instrumental judge Dr. J. E. Duncan, music-department head at Morehead State College.

Other festival judges were, in instrumental events, James E. Van Puseur, head of the music department at Eastern Kentucky State College, and, in piano, Ford Montgomery, of the University of Kentucky music faculty.

Floyd county students who qualified for the state festival are:

From Martin high school: Jerry Griggby, in alto saxophone;

From Maytown high school: the mixed vocal group of eight students, Patsy Eblevins, Myra Gibson, Bonnie Hopson, Doris Maggard, Linda Maggard, Ernie Reffett, and Dan Roland;

From McDowell high school: Wallis Jones, baritone-saxophone solo; Rosemary Moore, French

Agency Reports On Job Situation

Frankfort, April 8 (Sp.) — Non-agricultural wage and salary work in Kentucky totaled $36,400 at mid-February, a decrease of 6,800 below the preceding month, the State Economic Security Department reported.

The agency attributed the drop to "seasonal factors." Compared with February of last year, however, employment was up 3,400 jobs, the department said.

It added that the total of 15,698 initial claims made for state unemployment insurance payments during February was 37.1 percent below January's 24,888 claims and 6.7 percent below the number of February, 1956. An initial claim indicates the beginning of an unemployment period.

The department said continuing claims during February under the state jobless benefit program totaled 180,836 up 2.5 percent over January and up 15.9 percent over February of last year. Each consecutive claim indicates a week of unemployment.

During the week ending Feb. 23, the agency reported, the rate of unemployment among those insured under the Kentucky program was 8.8 percent, compared with 4.3 percent for the nation as a whole. The department added:

Total benefits paid by the agency to the state's unemployed totaled $3,027,451 during February, including payments to Korean veterans and federal employees. Payment from the Kentucky unemployment insurance trust fund totaled $2,766,521, about $100,000 below January and $480,000 above February of last year. The payments averaged $23.76 during February, $25.02 higher than a year ago.

Alraid to Get Well

Everyone at the tuberculosis hospital loved old Mr. Brown. The long months that he has been there, he has been a model patient, cheerful, uncomplaining. Many a discouraged younger patient has been helped by his simple kindness and wisdom.

Since he has been up and around, he's found plenty to do. He has his round of visits to make to friends who have to stay in bed. He helps with breakfast trays. He likes to tidy up the occupational therapy rooms, and keep the tools and machines in first-class shape.

But now he is afraid. The doctor says he will be able to go home soon. The disease in his right lung is healed, and if he takes care, should never break out again. The doctor says he's one of the lucky ones.

Lucky? He'd rather be sick and stay in the hospital. He has no home to go to, no job. What is he to do? Sit all day in his room? Sure, he'll get along on his social security benefits, but there'll be no extra. Maybe enough for a movie once in awhile. Restaurant meals are expensive. Can he manage to cook for himself on a hot plate? But, if he doesn't eat right, he might get sick again. Maybe he'll have to live with relatives who'll take him in because they feel they have to. There's no one left who really cares, back in the old home town.

Are there Mr. Browns and Mrs. Browns in your home town, too old to get a job, well enough and eager to be useful to someone, but having no one who needs them?

This is a problem that concerns us all, because we will all grow old. What recreation, what activity does your town offer its older citizens? If there's next to nothing but movies, maybe you can do something about it. Many towns have started clubs and centers where older people can meet and make friends, enjoy old hobbies, develop new skills, and find they can still have a useful place in the community.

WAIT!

Be sure you know who you are voting for in this coming election. Make it clear the choice will mean most to you and your county.

I have served the public for 20 years, and it means a lot to know how to treat people. I don't think I have one enemy in this county anymore. I am the son of the late Rev. J. E. Patrick, of Chestnut, Ky., and was born at Prestonsburg and lived there for 10 years. I was raised on Beaver Creek. I am not bringing my war record in this matter, although I did spend two years overseas serving my country.

Your help and support will be highly appreciated.

A LITTLE ABOUT "LITTLE" PAUL HAYES

Some of Paul Hayes' opposition would like to create the impression that Paul is a city boy who has had all the advantages. Nothing could be farther from the truth. We do not contend that a person is qualified for public office merely because he has come up the hard way. We do think however that a man's training and background goes a long way in shaping his character. With that thought in mind we are taking the liberty of presenting to you a page from the life of "Little" Paul Hayes.

- (1) Born in a log house which is still standing at Hi Hat on Left Beaver Creek.
- (2) The tenth child in a family of 14 born to W. P. (Bill) and Laura Hayes.
- (3) Raised on Left Beaver by his father who made a living by running at different times a stove mill, saw mill and keeping a grocery store.
- (4) His parents believed in the biblical warning which says: "Spare the rod and spoil the child." All the Hayes children were taught to work and to "Honor thy father and thy mother."
- (5) Attended country school at Clear Creek, District No. 88. (Two of his teachers were Wade Sloane and J. F. Howell).
- (6) Usually had only one pair of overalls, which a loving mother, washed at night, and a pair of Red Goose shoes once a year.
- (7) Hoed corn, cleared newground, and hunted cows on the hillsides of Left Beaver Creek.
- (8) Worked as "Measure boy" at his father's grist mill at Hi Hat.
- (9) Often walked seven miles down Left Beaver to McDowell High School when the school bus couldn't get over the road.
- (10) By hard work and perseverance obtained a workshop at Morehead College, where he was trained as a school teacher.
- (11) Taught school at Wheelwright in 1941 for $98.00 per month.
- (12) As a young man did manual labor working as an ordinary seaman on merchant ships and as a rigger in shipyards.
- (13) Served his country overseas during World War II with honor and distinction.
- (14) Went to Law School on the GI Bill of Rights, and taught school part time to meet expenses.
- (15) Borrowed money to set up in the practice of law and quickly established himself as an outstanding young attorney.
- (16) Served with distinction as a member of the Kentucky Legislature and as a member of the Kentucky Workmen's Compensation Board.
- (17) In spite of the honors which have come his way he is still known as "Little" Paul Hayes.
- (18) This boy has tried hard to help himself as a lawyer. He has accommodated many people. He will make Floyd county a good County Attorney. You can help him and help yourself by giving him a helping hand. We recommend him for your consideration.

Capitol Notebook

Frankfort, April 1—The scene was the House of Representatives in the State Capitol.

The dramatics continued when Gov. A. B. Chandler and the more than 160 east Kentuckians who came down the Kentucky River valley to Frankfort bearing thanks.

They came to express gratitude for the Governor's help during the January flood.

And they wanted to tell him their needs to prevent another deluge from submerging their homes, stores, schools and churches. Chandler responded that he would take their needs, if necessary, all the way to the President of the United States.

Looking around the legislative chamber, one observer remarked, "This really is a House of Representatives today—representative of the trust and confidence of the people of that stricken region, which has risen above disaster, have in Gov. Chandler."

The gathering represented nine counties.

Here's what makes it a new kind of Ford

The frame is wider... wheels are lower
(Lets you ride sweet and low)

Never before has a low-priced car hugged the road so well. Partly, it's because the frame is sturdier. Partly, it's because the wheels are smaller. Partly, it's the way front and rear suspensions take tilt out of turns. Mostly, it's because there's a whole new smoother-riding quieting "inner Ford."

The power is bigger
(Most power in Ford's 25 years of V-8 leadership)
And what a V-8 engine! You can have the kind of thundering power that smashed records at Daytona... set a new stock car mark at Indianapolis... traveled 50,000 miles in just 20 days at Bonneville, Utah!

The comfort is greater
(You've never had it so plush)
You sit in the lap of luxury. There's head room, hip room, leg room galore. And wait till you get a load of those new upholstery and color schemes!

The body is "beefier"
(Up to 3 inches longer, 4 inches lower, with full head room, full road clearance)
From top to floor, front to rear, this body is built like a "battleship." You ride surrounded by new strength.

...and best of all it's the lowest priced* of the low-price three!

NO NEW TAXES... NO NEW DEBTS... BUT BETTER ROADS and BETTER GOVERNMENT

If you nominate and elect me your County Judge, I will devote my full time to the office, and not be interested in some outside business of my own. I will set up a good budget system and operate within that budget. Your county will be operated on a cash basis and not on credit. I will take care of all the people and not a privileged few.

This office belongs to the people and the people are the ones who make the choice. This fact I will never forget. I will work to get your county out of debt instead of going more into debt. This will mean much to all who live in Floyd County and especially to those that pay taxes. I will set up a good road program and maintain the county roads 12 months out of the year. I will work to get all the aid possible from the State and Federal Government on building roads. I will do my best to get you and your children out of the mud.

You pay taxes and you are entitled to something in return. If I am your County Judge there will be no politics played with your tax money. It will be used for the best interests of all the people. I will have an audit made each year showing you the financial condition of the county. This will be published in the newspaper.

If I am County Judge there will be no bonds floated, no taxes raised. The election of a County Judge this year is a serious matter, and should be given much attention by the voters of this county.

I only want to be County Judge one term. I don't want a deed to any office. I realize that there are other people who are well qualified and would like to hold office. Why educate your children to qualify them for an office if a few are going to hold office for life? We might as well have a king. How long, Oh! how long does some people want to stay in office? Voters, it is time to think and act accordingly. Help change this system of holding office for life and you will have better government and a better Floyd County to raise your children in.

KY. PRESS TOUR DATE SET FOR MAY 5-11

Frankfort, April 1 (Sp.) — Arrangements have been completed for the 1957 Kentucky Press Tour, May 5-11, according to a joint announcement by Barney Tucker, president of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, G. M. Pedley, commissioner of the Department of Public Relations, and Mrs. Ben Kilgore, director of state parks, co-sponsors of the tour.

"The Kentucky Chamber of Commerce and its members are vitally interested in bringing more travel business to Kentucky," Tucker said. "Competition in the travel industry is becoming keener month by month and the attractions which Kentucky has to offer deserve all the recognition which they can get."

Mrs. Ben Kilgore said invitations have been accepted by approximately 25 national magazine and newspaper travel editors who are in a position to bring the story of Kentucky to their readers. Among publications to be represented are Red, Delaware, Virginia, Ohio, Florida and Washington, D. C.

Pedley said the proposed itinerary would include the most famous of Kentucky's attractions. The visitors will see Kentucky Park, the Kentucky Lake State Park, Pennington Forest State Park, Jefferson Davis Memorial, Mammoth Cave, Lake Cumberland, Cumberland Falls and Levi Jackson Wilderness Road State Park.

Other stops are Berea College, Lexington and Bluegrass farms, and Keeneland. There will be a reception at the Governor's Mansion and a tour of the Capitol. After lunch the tour members will have luncheon at Churchill Downs.

By Laura Virginia Roberts

For, lo, the winter is past. The rain is over and gone; The flowers appear on the earth; The time of the singing of birds is come. And the voice of the turtle is heard in our ears. —Song of Solomon

And with these joyous signs of spring comes the Floyd County Book Fair. Have you heard about it? It begins April 15, and is for you and your children, and every one. The Book Fair is designed to show books to everyone, and to encourage us all to have books in our homes.

You will agree, I believe, that your children—from the baby to the teen-ager, to the adult—need to see and read good books, and need to own books. Young children need to be read to, to hear the music of rhymes and riddles and pretty sounds, and to be shown picture books; older ones need to be encouraged to explore for themselves the treasure islands to be found in books.

Beginning April 15, about 800 books will be on display in Floyd county school libraries — books touching all ages and all interest levels. It will be possible to choose books for yourself and your children if you wish. Some, perhaps all, the librarians plan to give students an opportunity to examine the books during the day, and perhaps choose a book or books which they may want to show their parents when they visit; also, they plan to give students the opportunity to help choose books which they would like to see placed on the library shelves next year.

Please give your attention and support to the Book Fair. The responsibility and effort which make one possible are terrific; and Bob Wallace and our county school librarians not to mention many others involved have gone all-out to make it a success.

Attend any of the showings, and if you wish to purchase books—all well and good; but come. Come and browse. Glimpse again the wonder of the World of Books which you have probably already known as a child, and which no child, old or young, should miss.

BOOK FAIR SCHEDULE

Monday, April 15, Prestonsburg High.
April 16, Prestonsburg Grade.
April 17, and 18, Wheelwright.
April 19, Maytown High.
Monday, April 22, Martin High.
April 23, Wayland High.
April 24, Garrett High.

The libraries will be open on these dates during the school day, from 7 to 9 nights.

Linda Stephens, Prestonsburg high librarian, received an interesting package in the mail the other day. It contained an overdue book, over-due that is, since 1945. She thinks this might bring hope to harassed librarians all over the world. Never despair about lost books—not even after five or ten years.

Looking it up in the files, Miss Stephens found that the book was replaced with another one by the loser at the time it was lost, but the name was not recorded. We'd love to know the sender, and Linda promises there will be no two-cents-a-day fine.

FOOD NOTES

Cheese! Cheese! Bring on the cheese. No matter what any homemaker wants in a food, cheese is sure to have it. It has economy, variety, versatility, rich nutrition and delicious flavor.

Our cheese-eating has profited by America's being "The Melting Pot of Nations." We've also served as a "melting pot" of cheese—Swiss from Switzerland, cheddar from England, Limburger from Belgium, Parmesan from Italy, cottage from everywhere and many others. Why, there is even a cheese or two first made in the USA, American and cream cheese.

There are many classifications of cheese, but one of the simplest is: very hard (parmesan, romano), hard (cheddar, Swiss, Edam) semi-soft (Limburger, bleu, Roquefort) and soft (cottage, cream).

The very hard is used for flavoring; hard for all purpose table, sandwiches, cooking; semi-soft for salads, sandwiches, desserts; and soft for salads and desserts.

The longer a cheese ages, the more the flavor, cheese that is not enough aging feels rubbery.

Two ounces is considered an average size serving for most cheese. For cottage, it is three ounces. Cheese is a "buy a pound; serve a pound" food. Usually there is no waste.

The three Cs of cheese storage are cool, covered and clean. Cooling slows the aging process. Covering prevents absorption of odors from other foods and stops drying. For tops in flavor, take from refrigerator about one hour before serving.

The best way to learn about cheese is to eat cheese. There are over 400 different varieties in the United States. It is a budget stretching, appetite pleasing, and health giving learning, too. So, bring on the cheese.

To Clean Windows: To a quart of warm water, add 1 tablespoon of vinegar and 2 tablespoons of ammonia.

Four of the markers erected by the Kentucky Historical Markers committee, including the marker at the site of the Battle of Middle-Creek near here. The Lincoln Family Trail marker is near Havesville, overlooking the Ohio River; the grave of Hancock Taylor is near Richmond, and the Kelly Furnace marker is west of Kuttawa.

To preserve the state's historic heritage there was set up in 1949 the Kentucky Historical Markers Committee charged with marking historic spots alongside highways. It was named the official state agency to select locations, prepare and authenticate the inscriptions.

Floyd county's lone marker, at the site of the Battle of Middle Creek, on Ky. 114, near here, was erected in 1951 by the state committee after being urged by the Historical Research committee of the Floyd County Sequelocentennial Association. Another marker, pointing out the site of Harman's Station near East Point is on the Floyd-Johnson county line on U. S. 23. Blockhouse, Bottom, where the Harman set-led, is in Johnson county. The markers are cast in the foundry of the University of Kentucky and erected by the State Department of Highways. In addition the state has assumed responsibility to maintain some 50 other markers which were erected by various organizations previous to the time the state embarked on its marking program in 1949.

The March issue of Automobile Bulletin, published by the Louisville Automobile Club, in commenting on the marker program, said: "The value of locating and properly marking points of historical interest needs no justification. Its importance has been recognized in almost every state in the Union by those interested in a permanent preservation of their state's history. Kentucky has such a rich and historical background that there is almost an unlimited opportunity for appropriate markers."

Chairman of the markers committee is Eugene Stuart, Louisville, who is also manager-secretary of the Louisville Automobile Club. Henry P. Scaif, of The Times, was appointed to the committee by the state, in January. The committee is composed of historians, artists, civic-minded persons, and others. The site of the Battle of Ivy near here will be suggested as a marker location when the committee meets in August.

How to make more money with Corn

USE THE BEST HYBRID SEED

From the standpoint of quality and price, there is none better than Southern States.

Here's Why:

1. Bred Right
2. Produced Right
3. Harvested Right
4. Dried Right
5. Graded Right
6. Treated Right (chemically protected against disease and soil insects)
7. Laboratory Tested Right (double tested—the "regular" and "cold test" for germination and vitality)
8. Field Tested Right

USE THE BEST CULTURE PRACTICES

Southern States Hybrid Seed Corn will help you get more plants, more corn per acre—especially if you use good culture practices.

Here's How:

1. Don't plant too early (soil should be 65° F. or warmer).
2. Don't plant too deep (usually not over 1½ inches).
3. Provide sufficient plant food.
4. Apply high analysis fertilizer properly (not too close to seed).
5. Plant enough kernels per acre (for example, if you want 12,000 plants, plant 14,000 kernels).
6. Check planter plate drop (before and after starting to plant).
7. Don't plant too fast (hold tractor to 3½ miles per hour).
8. Cultivate with care and control weeds.

PLUS—

GUARANTEE REPLANT AGREEMENT

Southern States Hybrid Corn is guaranteed to the full extent of the purchase price to be as represented in variety, purity and germination. Patrons may return any seed corn that is not thoroughly satisfactory. After the corn is planted if there is any definite evidence the seed was not as represented, Cooperative Seed and Farm Supply Service will refund the purchase price, but will in no case be liable for more than the purchase price of the seed.

Should a patron find it necessary to prepare the seed bed a second time because he failed to obtain a satisfactory stand from the use of Southern States hybrid seed corn, Cooperative Seed and Farm Supply Service will supply at no cost to the patron, sufficient Southern States hybrid seed corn for one replanting of the acreage involved; but in no case will Cooperative Seed and Farm Supply Service be liable for loss resulting from flood or high water or for any loss occurring after a satisfactory stand has once been obtained.

When you start with Southern States Hybrid Seed Corn, you are on your way to a Bumper Harvest. Remember, "Good Seeds Don't Cost, They Pay."

Watershed Book Available Free

Frankfort, April 8 (Sp.) — A booklet on suggested procedures for development of small watershed programs is available for free distribution, according to Commissioner of Conservation Laban P. Jackson.

The booklet was prepared jointly by the Divisions of Soil and Water Resources and Flood Control and Water Use.

Jackson said the booklet may be obtained by writing his department in the Capitol Annex here.

Maps of Moon Better Than Portions of Earth

Astronomers have been drawing maps of the moon ever since Galileo turned his crude telescope on it in 1609 and it is now better mapped than some portions of the earth — interior Greenland, for instance. So reports Don Wharton in an article "Earth's Fascinating Satellite — The Mysterious Moon," in the April Reader's Digest.

Poets have called the moon chaste, pale, silvery, ghostly, watery but the right adjective is "rock." Everywhere the face of the moon is marked by craters.

"Some 30,000 have been spotted, and with diameters of 50 miles or more," writes Wharton. "The deepest crater yet discovered is 30,000 feet from floor to rim — five times as deep as our Grand Canyon."

What caused the craters? Some scientists think they were formed by volcanoes, others that they are the result of enormous gas-filled bubbles rising through a molten moon, then bursting. Another theory is that the craters were produced by a prolonged bombardment of meteorites.

If, once in a lifetime, you see a blue moon, don't think your eyes are playing tricks. It's caused by dust in an upper atmosphere. Ice crystals are what makes you see rings around the moon.

Over the centuries magical powers have been attributed to the moon. It has been said to bring on lunacy, affect growth of plants, eyes of cats, spots of panthers, functions of women, activities of ghosts. The moon does cause the ocean tides because of its gravitational pull but a common mistake of primitive people is to think that everything tides in the same rhythm as the moon is caused by it.

SEN. FLANDERS SEES DANGERS IN MODERN EDUCATION

Compiled by Mrs. Edgar R. May, Tolleboer, Kentucky

The following random, condensed excerpts are from an address by Sen. Ralph Flanders (Vermont) who delivered the speech before the Vermont State Legislature. Previously the press had stated that Sen. Flanders said progressive education was a sham.

"My immediate concern is with the so-called defense of the U. S. War, even defensive warfare is dependent on science and engineering and on the mathematics which underlies these subjects. That is why the quality of teaching mathematics and science has become a matter of national concern."

"In a one-room school was prepared to enter high school, which gave a better classical education (for what it is worth) than colleges give today. I progressed in math to trigonometry, studied physics and world history, and was trained in English literature and composition. Such an education is not now automatic even in colleges. It is only for those who wish it and demand it. Let me mention the changes taking place since my youth in education, beginning with John Dewey of Vermont. He called attention to training the individual to take his place in society. This step is all to the good. The next step of making the boy or girl a 'happy member of society' had little interest in teaching him to discern what was good and what was bad, what was right and what was wrong for individuals, groups, local governments and national policy. In fact it specifically denied the existence of standards, good and bad, right and wrong, in human affairs. Besides abandoning standards of conduct, the new education lost its interest in the pupil's acquisition of knowledge. It was concerned with his success as a member of society."

"Dr. W. H. Kilpatrick, pupil of Dewey, took Dewey's basic idea, glorified and exaggerated them, and made them the basis of modern education in Teacher's College, at Columbia University. From here they spread over the country. Now, the standing and promotion of teachers depends little on their knowledge of the subjects they teach or on their ability to interest and instruct their pupils in these subjects, but on how much they have studied the new education."

"By setting up a science of education, a pseudo-science — or phony science as I am inclined to call it — the Teachers' College at Columbia and the great mass of teaching courses and training schools that have followed it, have erected a monopoly. I hope our School Board and our local boards will help break this grip. That the standard of knowledge acquired may be low all over the State of Vermont seems to be indicated in the report of the State Board of Education. In looking at the report cards of schools in my home town, I cannot for the life of me tell how either the pupil or the parent is to know how much has been learned. (Many schools no longer grade by letters or numbers.) The President of one of Vermont's colleges tells me that the freshmen come to him uneducated."

Fire Chiefs Urged Lend Their Support To Clean-Up Week

Frankfort, April 8 (Sp.) — State Fire Marshall Ray Humkey called upon fire chiefs throughout Kentucky to support Spring Clean-Up Week campaigns in every community.

In a letter to the chiefs, the state official suggested they urge their members to proclaim a week in April as Spring Clean-Up Week. The aid of Chambers of Commerce and other civic organizations should be sought in this project, he said. Humkey pointed out in his letter, "many fire hazards are allowed to accumulate during the winter months, and early spring in an appropriate time to rid cellars, attics, garages and back yards of such hazards."

State Sets Up Trucks Check

Frankfort, April 8 (Sp.) — Kentucky has established a post-of-entry system for checking trucks over 10,000 lbs. entering or leaving the state.

Revenue Commissioner J. E. Lockett announced this program, to be conducted by the Department of Revenue, designed primarily to insure full compliance with Kentucky's motor fuel tax law. Lockett said that this is an expansion of the enforcement program which began several months ago.

Thirty-two check points are in operation controlling routes which heavy trucks are permitted to travel. These check points are located at or near the border and are manned on a round-the-clock basis.

Drivers of all trucks over 10,000 lbs. are furnished a clearance certificate when they arrive at the port of entry. This certificate is to be filled out by the driver and is taken up at a port of exit as the truck leaves the state.

The certificate requires information such as ownership and identification of truck, type of fuel used, gallons of fuel purchased in Kentucky, the route in Kentucky, and number of axles.

Lockett stated that the department of Highways, Motor Transportation, and Public Safety have given "very fine cooperation" in the establishment of this program.

ALMOST ANY HOMEMAKER around town will tell you one of the most tiring parts of running a home is "running" from room to room. "Room-to-room travel," is how one good lady described it the other day. I'm no adviser on home economics, but was able to tell her a good way to save steps. Have additional telephones installed where they are most needed, like the kitchen, bedroom and den. And I showed her how the smart decorator colors blend, contrast or harmonize with her own color schemes. If you need additional phones, just call our Business Office and place your order. They cost so little—less than a nickel a day plus a one-time charge for color and installation.

AMAZING THINGS in telephone communications are resulting from use of the transistor, a tiny electronic marvel no bigger than a penny. Invented and developed by the Bell Telephone Laboratories, the transistor will do most of the things bulkier vacuum tubes will do, and others besides. It multiplies the voice thousands of times, takes up little space, generates little or no heat and should last indefinitely. So it makes possible many new kinds of telephone equipment which will mean more and better telephone service for you.

"SCIENCE SPECTACULARS," the Bell System's hour-long dramatic television presentations, are being enthusiastically viewed. The first, titled "Our Mr. Sun," was telecast last November. The second, "Hemo the Magnificent," was shown last month. Other gripping science dramas will be presented on network television later. Color films of these exciting spectacles are available for showing to your school, civic or church group. To arrange for showing these films, just call our Business Office.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, Billy Jay Wright, wore a powder-blue wool sheath dress which was decorated with pearls, sequins, and satin. She wore a matching hat of blue satin. STATE'S LOW GRADE TIMBER AVAILABLE FOR UTILIZATION

How to develop Kentucky's timber into payroll; education and its effect on tomorrow's business; the problems of mobilizing industry in the event of prolonged nuclear warfare—these subjects will be the focus of four conferences scheduled at the Congress of Kentucky Business in Louisville, April 9.

Featured at the forestry products conference will be two representatives of the U. S. Forest Products Laboratory in Madison, Wisconsin. The acting director of the laboratory, Edward G. Locke and the assistant chief of the Division of Pulp and Paper, Robert J. Seidl, will lead the discussion at 2:45 p. m. on "Today's Timber for Tomorrow's Market."

The President of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, Barry A. Tucker, London, noted that Kentucky has an abundance of lower grade timber that could be fully utilized in the wood fabricating industry. The development of these resources may help solve many of the economic problems in certain areas of the state, he added.

Speakers at the education conference will be Thomas A. Ballantine, president, Yellow Cab Company, Louisville, whose subject is "An Educated Public is a Higher and Better Consumer of Tomorrow's Commodities"; Paul W. Johnson, works manager, International Harvester, Louisville, speaking on "An Educated Public Can Sell, Operate, and Supervise Modern Machines in Business to Greater Advantage"; Dr. F. G. DeKeyser, president, University of Kentucky, Lexington, to discuss "Competitive Bids for Tomorrow's Educated Leader."

The special conference on industrial mobilization will review the progress of this field and project the possibilities that require has to use its myriad underground excavation such as coal mines and caverns in nationwide dispersal plans. The speaker will be W. E. Haines, director of Industrial Defense, Business and Defense Services Administration, U. S. Department of Commerce, Washington, D. C.
