This Town—That World

We mourn the passing of another institution. They're still making nail kegs out of cardboard boxes.

Maybe if they would put filler tips at both ends of cardboard boxes, it would be a lot better.

VACATION BLUES

Man is on vacation when he quits the even tenor of his ways, leaves the old stamping ground, parts with at least the better part of his faculties and takes off as if pursued by both sheriff and devil.

Now the sun that has been dogging all summer long can't beam too brightly. He seeks himself in sundry unguents and ventures forth bent on making mental integration easy by tanning his hide to a dark brown. His wife helps along in this project by doing likewise and tanning her hair while her older sister sees bleaching preparations for her skin and lotions to straighten her hair.

Maybe Congress shouldn't be in a rush about solving the race problem and should go on vacation. If it will give every man, woman and child enough time in the sun and the proper lotions, we won't be able to segregate by race in either generation or so, anyhow.

This might be the possible way of going about this matter, but a recent experience causes me to hear that it couldn't be called the least painful.

AUTO WRECK CLAIMS HALL

Former Floyd Man Dies, Father Injured in Ohio; Funeral Is Held at Amba

Joe Hall, 23 years old, former Floyd County resident, was killed in a head-on collision with a car on the highway near Amba, Ohio, on July 10.

The younger Hall died July 10 at Memorial Hospital, Sandusky, Ohio. Details of the tragedy were not learned.

The Hall resided at Clyde, O., where Joe Hall was employed by the RCA Whittaker Co., Cincinnati. He is survived by his father, his mother, Mrs. Minna Hall, his wife, Mrs. George Hall, his two children, Betty Jo and Janelle, two brothers and two sisters, Cleo Hall, Clyde, O., Charles Donald Hall, Frankfort, Germany, Katherine and Brenda Joyce Hall, both of Clyde.

The body was returned to this county, and funeral rites were conducted last Wednesday from the home of Mrs. Lizzie Atkins at Amba, and burial was made there in the family cemetery, the Hall Brothers Funeral Home directing.

CONTEST CASE APPEAL TO WAIT COURT ACTION

COURT RULING ON INJUNCTION FIRST SOUGHT

Meade Denies That Fear Felt Bond Came Too Late For High Court Ruling

With his contest of the absentee balloting in the recent primary here, D. Meade said his appeal from Tuesday that an appeal from that decision is planned but that it will not be filed until the Court of Appeals rules on his appeal from the dismissal of his injunction suit which was filed after the election to prevent counting of the absentee ballots.

The appeal from the order of Special Judge M. J. See of Louisa, dismissing the injunction action was filed Monday last week, two days before the arrival here of Special Judge J. B. Johnson, of Harlan, to hear the contest case.

Mr. Meade said he has executed appeal bond in the contest case. Asked if there is a possibility that he may have executed appeal bond too late in both the injunction and contest appeals, Meade said his lawyers have assured him that he can make bond in the time required by law.

A supersedeas bond in a contest appeal should be filed not later than (See Story No. 4, Page 4)

PAYROLL NEAR $20 MILLION

For '36 in Floyd County As Covered' Wages Rise, Department Figures Say

Floyd County employers covered by unemployment insurance paid total wages of $19,824,586 last year, for an increase of 29 percent over the preceding year, according to a report of the state Department of Economic Security released this week.

Employees in the Prestonsburg district, consisting of Floyd, Martin, Johnson and Magoffin counties, were paid a total of $4,818,454, or an increase of 45 percent over the 1935 payroll. Johnson county's industrial wage payment figure was $2,526,235, and Martin county paid a total of $725,222. The lowest wage payment by either of the four counties was $1,409,489 but this was a boom increase of 813 percent over the preceding year.

It is the average weekly wage payments over the state that show a wide disparity on individual employers. Marshall county had a weekly (See Story No. 8, Page 8)

BOARD HIRES 70 TEACHERS

Total of 459 Employed For Schools of County; Term To Begin, Monday

Seventy additional Floyd county teachers were employed at the recent regular board of education meeting, it was announced this week. The first group of 200 was employed sometime ago.

Rural schools will open July 14, but consolidated schools will begin their terms till August 20, the superintendent's office announced. The teachers' salaries will be developed to registration and organization, and the pupils will be dismissed at noon. A teacher must be held at Martin in the afternoon.

Many of the teachers employed this week are already certified, but there are a few vacancies for which their certificates are being prepared. W. O. Turner, superintendent, said this matter of certification is extended to at least one month.

Names of the recently employed teachers follow: Big Branch, Mary Alice Wright; (See Story No. 5, Page 4)

SCOUTS VISIT DEWEY CAMP

Jamboree-Bound Group Stops at Camp Shawnee; Two to Go to England

Kentucky and Virginia boy scouts, heading for the 10-day outdoor National Scout Jamboree at Valley Forge, Pa., decided to get in some outdoor-life practice along the way.

The two groups, and three scout leaders pitched tents the first night at Camp Shawnee, Dewey Lake.

The scouts, ranging in age from 12 to 17, are one of two groups representing the Lonesome Pine Council, which encompasses 10 Eastern Kentucky and five Western Virginia counties.

The two groups, traveling in buses, met at High Knob, Va., and bivouacked the second night at Booneville, Va. During the two practice camps, the scouts also had to cook their own food.

But they didn't cook potatoes. Instead, they ate the ashes of a wood fire. Keeping abreast of the times, they cooked their food in grills over portable charcoal grills.

Two of the scouts, at the close of the Valley Forge encampment, will go to England, where they will attend the international Jubilee Jamboree August 1 to 12 at Sutton Park, Warwickshire.

The Jubilee Jamboree will commemorate the 100th anniversary of the birth of Lord Baden-Powell, founder of the boy-scout movement, and the 50th anniversary of scouting.

Heading for England will be Michael Leedy, Hazard, and E. M. Bane, Jr., Grundy, Va. Both are eagle scouts.

Leaders accompanying the scouts to Valley Forge are Arthur Crump and Sam Reed, Pikeville, and Bill Combs, Wheelwright. Crump is a clothing-store manager, Reed is principal of the Perry-Cline School and Combs is a coal miner.

Mr. John G. McNeil, Sr., former county resident, is victim in Cincinnati

Mr. John G. McNeil, Sr., of Bowling Green, formerly of Wheelwright, died Tuesday in a Cincinnati hospital. He was learned here Wednesday. Cause of death was not learned.

Survivors include his wife, a member of the auditing department of the Inland Steel Company at Wheelwright for years, three sons, John C. McNeil, Jr., Wheelwright, Gene and Walter McNeil, Pikeville, R. S. McNeil, Williamson, W. Va., and Mrs. Creed Oney of Bowling Green.

COMMITTEE APPROVES FUNDS FOR RESERVOIR

Farm Family Field Day Slated July 31 in Allen at Virgil Smith Farm

The Farm Family Field Day scheduled on the farm of Virgil Smith at Allen, July 31, promises to be one of the agricultural highlights of the farm program for some time, it was learned this week.

Three specialists from the University of Kentucky, W. W. (Rubby) Magill, R. C. Miller and Harold Miller, will attend, it was said.

A home economist of the Kentucky Power Company will demonstrate lighting and a flower arranging artist will demonstrate the artistry of that craft. High lights of the farm tour will be inspection of the sheep flock, pastures, alfalfa field, strawberry plot, garden, turkey flock, chickens, and sheep barn, judging, canning, and good food and flowers.

The meet is an annual affair sponsored by the Farm Advisory committee of the local Extension Service. It will begin at 9:30 a.m.

KNIFE FIGHT INJURES ONE

Gibson in County Jail After Brother-in-Law Is Seriously Slashed

Fred Gibson remained in jail here Tuesday, three days after his arrest on a charge of cutting and wounding his brother-in-law, Ralph Martin, as the result of an altercation between the two on Stumbo Hollow, near McKeown.

Martin, who was seriously wounded, is expected to recover. He is at the Unruh Memorial hospital, McDowell.

Suffering from knife wounds and recuperating in jail is Otto Horn, of West Prestonsburg. Horn bore when he entered jail, chest slashes which required 32 stitches to close.

He was jailed on a capias Horn did not name his assailant. He told jail attendants three men leaped from a freight train and assaulted him, demanding hospital treatment. Horn said penitentiary would take care of his wounds.

Howard Hicks, who was jailed with Lester Hall July 6 on a robbery charge, was still in jail Tuesday in default of $1,000 bond. Hall executed bond in that amount and was released. The two allegedly (See Story No. 1, Page 6)

REVOLUTIONARY DEVICE FOR COAL MINING SEEN

Martin Man, Inventor, and Others Charter Firm To Produce Machine Designed for "Peeling Off" Coal

With the incorporation of the Terman Mining Machine Company, it was learned that the revolutionary device is patented by its inventor, John Henry Osborne, of Martin. Articles of incorporation were filed with the Secretary of State, listing "peeling off" as the main business of the company.

The new machine, of which a model now is being demonstrated, doesn't cut, bore or claw the coal from the face of the seam. It "peels" it off to quote Osborne. It will cost much less than conventional cutting machines and require only one man to operate. It will work efficiently in seams as low as 10 inches and to any height, Osborne claims.

The small model, powered by a one-horsepower motor, at a demonstration "peeled" of two tons of coal per hour. A full-size model now under construction will have 30 (See Story No. 2, Page 8)

WSAZ-TV TO OFFER SALUTE TO PRESTONSBURG

Residents of Prestonsburg and David citizens shown in first planning meeting for WSAZ-TV "Salute to Prestonsburg." The meeting was held Friday night at the Municipal building. Mayor Harry Sandige and Marvin Music, chairman of the local group, are at center with backs to camera.

Music commented that it gave Prestonsburg men a wonderful chance to see Prestonsburg on other people. He said, "What other opportunity we have to get an entire town free on a television station? The cost would be tremendous if we were paying for it while making an effort to publicize our town. We must make the most of this program."

A tentative outline of the program, sent to the Prestonsburg group, includes: (1) short history of the city; (2) Farmer Club interview with County Agent Bob Jones; (3) an eye-witness review of early Prestonsburg by a resident who has seen its development; (4) new residents, why they have moved to Prestonsburg, and their impressions; (5) civic clubs, their pet projects,

SENATE GROUP ASKS $140,000 FOR PLANNING

Cooper Hails Decision To Include Big Sandy Work in 18 Projects

"Full-scale flood control and river development in Kentucky has moved another big step ahead," Senator John Sherman Cooper (D-Ky.) declared last week as the full Senate Appropriations Committee approved subcommittee recommendations totaling over $40 million for planning and construction of 18 projects on Kentucky rivers during 1937-38.

Included in the recommendations was an appropriation of $140,000 for engineering and planning of the Pound reservoir on the Big Sandy river. No million dollars was made for the proposed Fishtrap reservoir in Pike county.

Senator Cooper expressed particular pleasure that the Committee accepted three Kentucky projects not included in the House-passed public works appropriations measure — projects which were added to the bill following personal testimony and a series of strong appeals by Senator Cooper.

Other recommendations of the Senate committee affecting East Kentucky were $2,000,000 for the construction of the Cateletta-Townsend dam, $13,000,000 for construction work on the Greenup lock and dam, $1,000,000 for construction of the Kentucky River and $30,000 for examination and survey of Little Sandy Reservoir and Dyars' Creek; $4,500 for the survey of the Kentucky River and $19,500 for survey of the Laurel river. The remainder of the $40 million dollars recommended was for Western Kentucky and Ohio River projects.

VALLEY COAL SHOWS GAINS

Production Gains 6.05% In First Half of Year As National Total Less

Coal production in both the big Sandy and Hazard fields in the first half of 1937 showed an increase over production for the corresponding period last year, according to association figures released today.

Big Sandy production was up 6.05 percent, while Hazard production was up 2.6 percent.

The Big Sandy field produced 7,369,780 tons for the first half as compared with 6,922,400 tons mined during the same period of 1936. This was 2.92 per cent of the total United States production up to June 30. For the corresponding period last year, the field produced 271 per cent of the nation's coal.

The Hazard field had produced 4,572,700 tons up to June 30. For the corresponding period of 1936, the total was 4,463,300 tons. For the first half of this year, Hazard produced 1.21 per cent of the nation's total. During the corresponding period last year, the Hazard field had produced 1.76 per cent of the national total.

Production in the entire country for the first half of this year was 249,819,000 tons, as compared with 253,869,000 tons for the first half of 1936, according to estimates by the National Coal Association and the U. S. Bureau of Mines.

This is a decrease of 1.6 per cent from the national total for the first half of 1936.

Big Sandy coal production is up despite the fact that there has been a falling off in the production of metallurgical and industrial coals nationally. A large part of Big Sandy coal is classed as metallurgical, or coking coal.

The Big Sandy field would have (See Story No. 6, Page 4)

Mr. Howard's Funeral To Be Held Saturday

Funeral of F. P. "Chick" Howard, well-known Prestonsburg man, who died at 10 p.m. Wednesday at the Prestonsburg General hospital, will be held at 10 a.m. Saturday from the First Presbyterian Church here.

The Key to Highway Safety

The Kentucky Court of Appeals recently upheld constitutionality of the state's new "Point System" to enforce highway safety, and this is a fortunate turn of events for the Commonwealth.

Without undue harshness this program, if permitted to function without interference, should rid the highways of those flagrant offenders who threaten not one human life but many lives, every time they get behind the wheel. If it has any faults, they lie in its leniency, not in its severity.

The Point System has many merits, and it should soon prove its effectiveness, but it is no panacea. Unless local and county officials cooperate with Safety Commissioner Don Sturgill, reporting each driver convicted, the state could remain clean against the worst potential killer to roam the highways.

And if local and county courts do not convict those guilty of these offenses there isn't even a record against such people. There in these local courts, above all else, lies the key to highway safety in Kentucky or in any other state.

Let's Deal in Intangibles

Mrs. Catherine Conners, who was recently designated by Governor Chandler to promote the Kentucky Department of Conservation, has said she plans to sell Kentucky on the basis of its folklore, legends, rolling plains, majestic mountains and colorful people.

"Kentucky intangibles" are the "commodities" Mrs. Conners proposes to sell. She would present a showcase of Kentuckians for the traveler, getting away from the staid vacation resorts for prosaic tourism.

An existing example of what the lady has in mind is Berea's "Wilderness Road." Along this line she has proposed the building of a theatre at Pineville where a dramatization of John Fox, Jr.'s mountain fiction of a generation or so ago would be enacted.

Why could not such a theatre be built, some such drama presented in the "heart of the hills," at Dewey Lake? We are asked. We are reminded that one or more natural amphitheatres are there, ready and waiting, that those are in a setting of rich natural beauty, and that the area has enough talent and interest to make such a venture successful.

Besides, the region is rich in history and legendary lore. Its own Jenny Wiley, the pioneer heroine, already has been the subject of a pageant staged locally, and this presents the basis for a drama of appeal wide enough to interest not only the tourists, but also the natives who might visit the area.

It is well that Kentucky is beginning to take stock of these intangibles which Mrs. Conners mentions. Good roads and fine buildings and great industries are fine, but there are other assets, too. There are those intangibles such as roadside beautification and the preservation of natural scenic beauty such as one finds in the Smokies of North Carolina, for instance.

A tired, jaded America looks for eye-arresting and soul-strengthening beauty along the roads it travels; it looks for the intangibles that we too long have overlooked.

Any interest on the part of Floyd countians and Eastern Kentuckians in a development such as this suggested here should be expressed in letters addressed to Mrs. Catherine Conners, Department of Conservation, Frankfort.

FOOD NOTES

By Dixie Trapp Home Demonstration Agent

July has been proclaimed Lamb Month by the governor. This is a part of a state-wide effort to increase our own consumption. The national average is 4 1/2 pounds. Sheep has become a livestock enterprise of Floyd county. If we increased our own use of lambs to the national average, there would be an additional need of 307,500 lambs in Kentucky.

Though many persons think of lamb chops as a summer treat, a lamb chop is in fact a winter treat, a cut of meat which is tender, juicy, and has a rich, succulent flavor. Lamb chops, steaks, and roasts are expensive. But delicious dishes may be prepared from the cheaper cuts of shoulder, neck, breast, and shank.

Vegetables that combine well with the flavor of lamb are peas, string beans, onions, asparagus, carrots, cauliflower, broccoli and potatoes. Salads which go well are mixed vegetable salad, tomato, cucumber, cucumber salad, grapefruit or orange. Mint jelly or sauce is a traditional favorite.

Recipes for lamb are in the Extension Leaflet 191, LAMBS OF KENTUCKY TAKEN TO THE MARKET. This leaflet is available in your Floyd County Extension Office.

LETTERS TO THE EDITOR

DEMANDS INVESTIGATION

Our Election Commissioners have made one demand on the power-holders for a grand jury investigation of the farce and fraud that was called an election and held on May 2, 1937. That was the day of the three-ring circus when the main act consisted of the "two-thirds" vote which is a farce and a fraud. It was a farce in certain precincts that the vote sellers might walk through the doors of the polling places to the tune of the auctioneers chant played upon the instrument of greed, great and corrupt and that great musician, the professional striker, and accompanied by the ruffling of two dollar bills. The money was written by that great composer, the professional politician.

We, or will we not have a grand jury investigation? We empanel a special grand jury of good citizens, will we change the face of the election, will we vote the people, and the people who wish to sell our democratic ideas? Will we again, in Floyd county, be able to sing, the Star Spangled Banner, the home of the Brave and the Land of the Free, you the people start up and be counted, will you demand that your county officials do their duty? Will you, in this hour help pressure our way of life; restore honesty, integrity and justice; the citizen of government; make our ballot once again sacred and restore faith in our elections and in our elected officials? Only you, the people can do this. ISADORE HORN

Bit Manufacturer Has Faith in Area Served by Firm

By Kyle Vance

(Associated Press Staff Writer) A man who holds the future of economic-standstill Eastern Kentucky is Walter R. Joy, who recently returned to his home in the mountain county.

Joy, on a business trip to Frankfort, told in an interview how he feels about the bit industry in the Prestonsburg area. He said that Prestonsburg grew out of a basement into a factory with ambitious expansion plans.

What Joy wanted to denounce was outside-industry's fear of competition for labor with highly unionized mines. He said his own experience had proved that many Eastern Kentucky workers would prefer safer work.

"The danger element of working in coal mines is the season they are working," he said. "Any industry willing to pay a reasonable rate can get along just as well."

He said he paid his workers more than mine rates at one time and that their wages compare favorably with those of other industries. Before Eastern Kentucky can anticipate a genuine prosperous growth, he said, the Big Sandy river must be made available for cheaper transportation. In the meantime, however, it offers adequate rail and highway outlets.

Joy started his coal-bit-manufacturing venture with an idea and a "grayer" back in 1940. It has grown from one man and a truck to a 19-man industry and is ready to double production and employment on short notice—"when the coal slack ends."

Bits for coal-digging machinery are made at the rate of 18,000 a day in the largest bit manufacturer in the United States, Joy said. He is the only bit manufacturer in Kentucky but operates in West Virginia and several in Ohio and Pennsylvania.

"What I want, Joy said, is to become the largest bit manufacturer in the United States. I am planning now another plant in West Virginia and I would like to see the way clear for one in West Kentucky."

followed the national trend, according to G. W. Davis, executive secretary of the Big Sandy-Eskimau Coal Operators Association, but for heavy losses. Davis said there is a strong export trade, he said, which takes considerable fuel from the Big Sandy field.

"There has been a decrease in demand for metallurgical coal, Davis said, because of lagging steel production. He said that metallurgical coal is used for making steel and other products.

"On the other hand, he pointed out, there has been an increase in consumption of pithead fuel, which is reflected in the demand for metallurgical coal. Davis said that the demand for metallurgical coal is expected to increase in 1937.

Coal mines throughout Eastern Kentucky, except in the non-union areas of Clay and Leslie counties, resumed operations July 9 after the annual miners' vacation, which began June 28.

Under terms of an agreement with the United Mine Workers of America, each mine which had worked in the previous 12 months, drew $10 in vacation pay from the coal operators.

Floyd Countians Drew $100,222 Monthly in Social Security Pay, Data From Pikeville Office Says

More than 10,000 people in the six-county area served by the Pikeville Social Security office were getting monthly social security payments last month. This compares with $243 benefited receiving $32,623 in the same area a year earlier, Thomas B. Thompson, Social Security administrator, district manager in Pikeville declared recently.

Here in Floyd county, 2,672 persons were receiving $100,222 in monthly benefits.

The other five counties making up the Pikeville district are Pike, Johnson, Martin, Magoffin and Boone counties.

The 12-month increase in aged beneficiaries is due partly to the lowering from 65 to 62 of the age at which a woman without an annuity is eligible for retirement benefits. Thompson said.

The lowering of the retirement age for women was one of the provisions of the 1936 amendments to the Social Security Act and became effective last November. It is expected to reduce women workers, wives of old-age beneficiaries, and widows or dependent mothers who are qualified workers. Many women who would have had to wait up to three years longer before starting to get benefits under the old law, became entitled to benefits in the last two months of 1936.

Old age coverage has taken hold rapidly in recent years, Thompson pointed out that three-fourths of the men became eligible for retirement benefits in 1936. This year will be eligible for social security benefits of all people over 65 years of age, 62 years of age for women.

In December 1936, 4,104 children in the Pikeville district were being paid a total of $14,223 monthly. These were largely minor children of a deceased insured parent; a smaller number were children under 18 whose insured father or mother had retired. All of these were unmarried children under 18. While child's benefits ordinarily stop at age 18, Thompson called attention to a recent change in the law which makes payments possible for a child over 18, based on the insured account of a retired or deceased parent, if the child became totally disabled before reaching 18. Payments will be made also to the mother who has the disabled child in her care. This provision did not become effective until January 1937, consequently, disabled child beneficiaries are not included in the total given above.

If the child of a retired or deceased person is entitled to monthly payments, the child's mother may also be entitled to benefits, regardless of her age. Commenting on the growth of the social security insurance in the 20 years of its operation, Thompson recalled that the original law covered about 28 million persons who work for a living and approximately 55.5 million people were in work covered by the law, more than 9 out of every 10 persons who work for a living and 9 out of 10 mothers and children have a stake in the social security insurance program.

WHY I LOVE AMERICA

By Hyman Applamson (Noted Jewish-born evangelist)

Born in Russia, I came to the United States when I was 12 years old. I cannot tell you in detail why I love America, but every crimson drop of blood in my body carries that affection.

I love America because of its greatness. It is great in territory, great in resources, great in strength, great in beauty, great in sweetness. It is great in achievements, in activities that have led the world in every line and sphere of human ventures and adventures. It is great in its history. Washington, Jefferson, Lincoln, Wilson, giants who stand out above the run of even the mighty. America has never lost a war, never dipped its flag in any sort of defeat. From Bunker Hill to the Argentine, Old Glory has been covered with honor and praise.

I love America because of its gracious scientific discoveries, its medical accomplishments, with all mankind. Pleas for help from many corners of the world have been heeded. Belgian children lived because American food ships landed on their shores. German babies have grown into manhood (God forgive them their ingratitude) because of the signing of the armistice in 1918. American relief lifted the hunger ban which the Russian lack had. Starving Russians and emaciated Chinese knew how when American soup kitchens lined them up for charity; Japanese cities were rebuilt; Japanese homes were reestablished; Japanese women, men and children were given a new lease on life when the American Red Cross crossed the wide Pacific to bring help and hope. I love America because of terrific sacrifice, it has been the world's big brother.

I love America because of its gifts to me and countless others. It gave me an education that I would never have had

WHAT OF FLOYD COUNTY?

The Times is interested in what Floyd countians think of the county and its segregation to improve it. It wishes to know, if you have any ideas which, in your opinion, would better our county than the others, this way you will reflect the variety of public opinion within the county and help us to make our final legislation measure the wants of Floyd county and Eastern Kentucky.

Send, too, if you have the entirety of Eastern Kentucky in mind, your idea of the steps needed to help the whole county. If you think Floyd county and Eastern Kentucky have reached their peak of development, we would appreciate a letter to that effect. We would like to know what you, the people, think of the county and its segregation to improve it.

Widow Of Floyd County Airmen Scores With Business Venture; NEWSWEEK Magazine Tells Story

Peggy Wallen, daughter-in-law of Mrs. W. S. Wallen, of Banner, struck it rich in London, England, recently, and, as a result, received attention from the nationally circulated magazine, Newsweek.

Mrs. Wallen, wife of the late Capt. W. S. Wallen, of Prestonsburg, found the idea for her present prosperous business when a tourist agency sold her a membership in something called the Personal Discount Scheme.

This gave her the privilege of trading at 150 British firms who would give her a 5 to 10% discount on the presentation of her $2.80 costing membership.

She tested the membership at a British store and found that 10% was knocked off her bill. When other Americans became interested in her membership and wanted one, Mrs. Wallen was quoted in Newsweek as saying to herself, "If I can sell half a dozen, why not 200,000?"

Last week Mrs. Wallen was well on her way to her goal. She had changed the name of her firm (she thought scheme sounded furture) to Personal Discounts and she had over 50,000 clients now, listing United States firms such as Kraft Foods and Hercules Powder Co., which give memberships to vacationing employees.

She has now made other commodities available to membership purchasers. Not only military and jewelry, leather goods and trinkets are available but also discounts for night club entertainments, paintings, vases, furniture, car rentals, and even transportation on horse fish to the United States.

Mrs. Sylvia Hall, of Banner, sister-in-law of this enterprising business woman, said that Mrs. Wallen "is a real saleswoman." She added that Mrs. Wallen had sent clippings from various places about her business enterprise.

Mrs. Hall also commented that she didn't think that Peggy's business was that big.

PARKER ENLISTS Alvin Parker, 17, son of Mr. and Mrs. Owen Parker, of Wheelwright, has enlisted for a three-year tour in the United States Marine Corps at Louisville and is now undergoing his recruit training at Camp Pendleton, California.

Parker applied for enlistment at the Marine Recruiting Sub-Station at Pikeville.

During his 12 weeks of training, Parker will receive instruction in basic infantry weapons, close order drill, physical conditioning and other subjects relative to the making of a "Leatherneck."

In Russia, it gave me a chance at freedom denied me as a Jew! almost everywhere else in the world.

I love America most of all because it gave me Christ and Salvation. Here the Gospel was preached to me. Here the Jesus Christ was lifted up before me. Here salvation was proffered me as the gift of God's grace backed up by the yearning, loving anxiety of Christian hearts. Here waters of Baptism loved me. Here that church welcomed me. Here the theological seminary opened its doors to me. Here I was and am, praise God, forever, given the right to preach the burning conviction of my soul that Jesus Christ, the son of God, came into the world to save sinners.

You ask me why I love America? The blood-marked sentry of George Washington's ragged Continentals hallowing Valley Forge is my answer. The laconic report of Commodore Perry on Lake Erie, "We have met the enemy and they are ours. . . . is my answer. The Texans' cry, "Remember the Alamo, is my answer. Lincoln's "Gettysburg Address" is my answer. With charity for all, with justice in the right as God gives us to see the right. . . . is my answer. The bloody Meuse, Chateau Thierry, the Argonne, the tomb of the Unknown Soldier is my answer. The hand-ful of Marines on Wake Island holding back the yellow hordes is my answer. Douglas MacArthur and his sweat-soaked, blood-soaked heroes in the foxholes of the Philippines is my answer.

You ask me why I love America? I am a Jew! I am a Christian! I love the deep, fathomless depths of gratitude out of every inermost being of my life, on my knees, on my face, thanking God for Christ, for the Constitution, for the Declaration of Independence, answer you, shout to you, rejoice with you—love America!

The appeal from Special Judge Johnson's decision will likely appear before the Appellate Court's decision on the injunction.

The injunction action was filed against the County Election Commission in an attempt to prevent it from counting absentee ballots in the election for Mr. Moore's opponent for County Clerk, Dr. J. M. Moore, incumbent, as commissioner. The election commission's decision was made last Wednesday after Special Judge Johnson had heard evidence in the case for Mr. Moore. The action should be dismissed on the grounds that the judgment rendered in the earlier injunction suit is a bar to the contest.

Judge Johnson's order expressed the opinion that the defendant's case or suit already settled upon the merits. The case was dismissed at the plaintiff's cost.

Mobile Chest X-Ray To Visit Floyd County, M. V. Clark Announces

M. V. Clark, administrator of the Floyd County Health Department, announced this week that in cooperation with the Floyd County Medical Society, Floyd County Tuberculosis Association and the Floyd County Health Department, the mobile chest X-ray unit will visit Floyd County, August 18 through August 23.

Clark said, "Due to the wonderful accomplishments we have made so far in the eradication of tuberculosis in our county, I urge that everyone get a chest X-ray while the unit is in the county at this time. Early discovery of it can be cured, and the mobile unit services are free."

The DEW (Distant Early Warning) line is composed of radar bases from Alaska to Britain Island (just short of the coast of Greenland on the west side). The line follows the 70th Parallel. These electronic signals will give Canada and the United States from four-to-six-hour warning in case of attack over the North Pole.

How to solve a vexatious situation like this taxes the ingenuity of any administrator, it was commented it could be resolved, probably, by a better attendance record of the pupils and it might not, depending if the A.D.A. was raised. It might help to get the eight not entering to attend, but an analysis of why they didn't enter showed only one who could have attended and didn't. It would have helped to require seven pupils from Hunter attending the Martin grades and one attending the Drift school to return to Hunter but the Board of Education feels that the exercise of such discretion would be arbitrary.

The Division of Pupil Personnel of the Floyd Board of Education in a table prepared recently reveals the huge drop-out of pupils from entrance in first grade to high school graduation. Only 433 graduated from high school this year from the 3,337 who entered elementary school in 1949. The figures for those continuing in school dropped to 1,708 in the second grade; 1,548 in third; 1,525, fourth; 1,164, fifth; 1,068, sixth; 975, seventh; 775, eighth; 507, ninth; 416 tenth; 469, eleventh grade.

General causes of non-attendance in this county are listed in six categories by attendance officers. They are the financial status of the family, indifference of parents, sickness, distance to walk to bus or school, marital status of parents and plain "bookee".

County Superintendent Turner commented this week that the teachers and many parents were doing an excellent job in helping to increase the average daily attendance.

SCHOOL TRUANCY COST $869 A DAY LAST YEAR

Floyd County lost an average of $869.38 a day last year due to low or irregular pupil attendance, according to the report of the county superintendent. Total loss for the year was set at $148,664.66.

Efforts of the school system to close the gap between the number of pupils enrolled and the average daily attendance (A.D.A.) at Hunter school have resulted in an increased enrollment and attendance. But much still remains to be accomplished if this huge bite from local school funds is prevented in the future.

Illustrative of the closing of the gap between the pupil enrollment and A.D.A. are the figures on each since the school year 1945-46. The census that year was 15,299, enrollment was 12,793 and the A.D.A. was 9,704. Two years ago the census was down slightly to 14,939 pupils, the enrollment was up to 14,023 and the A.D.A. had increased to 11,688. This the year narrowest. Last year the census dropped again to 14,679, the enrollment increased to 14,905 and the A.D.A. rose to 11,947. Still the gap remained unclosed but the effort to do so was having results. It was pointed out that a good example of how low A.D.A. will cost a county school system under the Minimum Foundation Law is the Hunter school on Left Beaver Creek.

This school is normally a two-teacher school with a census of 97 pupils. To have two teachers with salaries paid by the state there should have been an A.D.A. last year of 34 pupils, since the Minimum Foundation Law pays salaries on the basis of class-rooms set at 27 pupils each. But the A.D.A. for Hunter was only 39, far short of the law's requirement for two classrooms.

If the attendance had been more regular the A.D.A. would have exceeded 39 to the extent that the state would probably have been able to pay two teachers' salaries this year, but since it wasn't the Board of Education has just two alternatives — first employ only one teacher and overload her with too many pupils or employ two teachers and use half of one salary from the state, roughly set at $1200, as there would be only enough pupils for one and one-half teachers.

OLD HOME WEEKS
Fifty-six Floyd counties were more regular the A.D.A. would have exceeded 39 to the extent that the state would probably have been able to pay two teachers' salaries this year, but since it wasn't the Board of Education has just two alternatives — first employ only one teacher and overload her with too many pupils or employ two teachers and use half of one salary from the state, roughly set at $1200, as there would be only enough pupils for one and one-half teachers.

Martin refused an offer from the Harris to replace the glass, saying, "This note is worth more to me than the window."

Veteran Returns to Game To Van Merchants; Sport Faces Stiff Competition

The Prestonsburg independent baseball team bunched five hits and a hit batsman for five runs Sunday to snow under Grassy Creek, 9 to 5, while playing at line.

Junior May, a baseball veteran who campaigned with the state champions of 1946, returned to action this year and hung out four hits in five tries in pacing the Prestonsburg attack.

TEAM ON SLIGHT BUDGET
 The slimmer Prestonsburg team has been operating mainly on the pocketbooks of the players and manager Amon Childers. It was a tight week since baseball faded to near oblivion in 1948 the current Prestonsburg nine brought baseball back to Prestonsburg in 1953.

The financial woes of the team has been the inevitable result of competing with the lake, television, and swimming pools which have provided the recreational outlets for Prestonsburg. While the team sports a comfortable seating arrangement (a tall shade tree towers over the grandstand), and an acceptable amount of competing with the lake, television, and swimming pools which have provided the recreational outlets for Prestonsburg.

WEST LIBERTY, A SMALLER TOWN but having access to swimming pools and Dewey Lake, has a thriving baseball team in the Blue Grass League. Fans flock to the ball park for an evening's entertainment and the West Liberty team returns the attendance with winning baseball.

Manager Amon Childers said the non-support given the team is discouraging but the team would continue to play as long as the players enjoy the game. He said that the team is presently attempting to raise a few dollars for bats and balls in selling chances on a deep-fryer.

The team has not been playing just for bats and balls in selling chances. In the last four years they have been contenders in the state amateur tournament and, last year, was runner-up in the state finals.

A double-header with Blaine will be played at the field located beside the Floyd County High school this Sunday.

STATE SEMI-PRO TOURNAMENT

The Kentucky state semi-professional baseball tournament will be held at the Paintsville Play ground this week-end with play to begin Thursday morning in the double-elimination event.

Length of the tournament will depend on the number of teams competing for the championship, but tournament manager Ford Ferguson said that in all probability four days will be required if all prospective entrants showed up.

Teams from Prestonsburg, Paintsville, Louisa, Ashland, West Liberty, and Wheelwright, along with five members of the Blue Grass League, have expressed their intention to enter.

REDEGGS' TRY-OUT CAMP
 The Cincinnati Redlegs will conduct a tryout camp in Ashland's Central Park at 10:00 a.m. July 25 and 27. Participants are expected to be in uniform, need only their gloves.

REPRESENTS LOCAL JAZZERS
 Harold VanHoose, Paintsville high school junior, represented the Prestonsburg Junior Chamber of Commerce Golf tournament in Greenville during the early part of the week.

WRAPPING UP THE KENTUCKY OPEN
 Paintsville was the scene of the Open in 1948 and the State amateur in 1955, and the Invitational tournament which is set for July 26, 27 and 28, has always attracted more than 200 golfers. Last year, 241 golfers from the tri-state area took part in the Paintsville affair.

Al Atkins, Ashland pro who won this year's Open over Louisville's Prithian Show in a sudden-death play-off, has played in eight Kentucky Open Tournaments and has never finished worse than 10th. He won the Paintsville Pro-Am six times and won the First Paintsville Invitational in 1942.

UK COACHING CLINIC
 Final plans for the University of Kentucky coaching clinic have been completed with several of the leading coaches in the United States on the agenda, for the four day affair, beginning August 7 and running through the 10th.

The free clinic will be climaxed by the traditional high school coaches all-star basketball and football games. On Saturday the 10th, the case game will be played in the Memorial Coliseum at 8:00 p.m., and immediately thereafter the scene will shift to Stoll field for the football contest.

Prestonsburg's star lineman Bruce Howard and fullback Bud Ford Crager will play with the East grid team in the East-West game.

Highlighting the football program will be Ara Parseghian, former of Miami, Ohio, and now head football master at Northwestern University, and Kentucky's own Blanton Collier, Johnny Jordan, Notre Dame's baseball mentor, and Kentucky's Adolph Rupp will head the baseball program. Baseball and track coaches are also on the card.

WRAPPING UP THE KENTUCKY OPEN
 Paintsville was the scene of the Open in 1948 and the State amateur in 1955, and the Invitational tournament which is set for July 26, 27 and 28, has always attracted more than 200 golfers. Last year, 241 golfers from the tri-state area took part in the Paintsville affair.

Al Atkins, Ashland pro who won this year's Open over Louisville's Prithian Show in a sudden-death play-off, has played in eight Kentucky Open Tournaments and has never finished worse than 10th. He won the Paintsville Pro-Am six times and won the First Paintsville Invitational in 1942.

UK COACHING CLINIC
 Final plans for the University of Kentucky coaching clinic have been completed with several of the leading coaches in the United States on the agenda, for the four day affair, beginning August 7 and running through the 10th.

The free clinic will be climaxed by the traditional high school coaches all-star basketball and football games. On Saturday the 10th, the case game will be played in the Memorial Coliseum at 8:00 p.m., and immediately thereafter the scene will shift to Stoll field for the football contest.

Prestonsburg's star lineman Bruce Howard and fullback Bud Ford Crager will play with the East grid team in the East-West game.

Highlighting the football program will be Ara Parseghian, former of Miami, Ohio, and now head football master at Northwestern University, and Kentucky's own Blanton Collier, Johnny Jordan, Notre Dame's baseball mentor, and Kentucky's Adolph Rupp will head the baseball program. Baseball and track coaches are also on the card.

BIGGEST LOADSPACE
— NO EXTRA COST!

One more reason why FORD TRUCKS COST LESS

'57 FORD STYLEIDE—so wide most pickup bodies would fit inside!

You get 23% extra loadspace in a Ford Styleide pickup body at no extra cost. That's 23% more loadspace than the next biggest competitive pickup... up to 41% more than the rest!

The picture speaks for itself. It's easy to see how Ford's extra-wide body can save you time, save you trips. And that's only one of the many ways you'll save with a '57 Ford pickup. First cost is low, resale value is high. Ford's famous Short Stroke power—Six or V-8—means low operating costs and a 10-million-truck research study proves Ford trucks last longer.

There's a big dividend in comfort, too! Ford's all-new Drivized cab and new chassis suspension give you a ride that's more like a passenger car than a truck. Here's a pickup you'll be happy to use for pleasure as well as for work!

THE BIG FLEETS BUY MORE FORD TRUCKS THAN ANY OTHER MAKE!

Let us show you all the "Cost Less" advantages of Ford's new Styleide Pickup!

Tourney Schedule Drawn For Little League Tilts; Ashland Picked For Final

Representatives of District Three of Kentucky Little League baseball have drawn up their tournament schedules for the 1957 eliminations.

At a meeting in Hazard yesterday afternoon, the group designated Ashland, Prestonsburg, Hyden, and Benham as sites for local tournaments and Ashland as the district final.

In the Prestonsburg sectional, play will commence Monday afternoon, July 22, at 2:30 p.m. with the Pikeville meeting Martin and in the second game at 5:00 p.m. on the same day. Prestonsburg will tangle with Paintsville.

Winners of Monday's game will vie for the championship, Tuesday, July 23, at 5:00 p.m.

The victor of the Prestonsburg sectional will move onto Ashland for the regional tournament July 30 and 31, along with winners from the Hyden, Benham and Ashland tournaments.

Ashland's winner (District Three) will move onto Fort Knox for the State Tournament which will be held August 2nd and 3rd, with three other state-wide district winners.

PHONE CHANGE IN PIKEVILLE

Awaits Building Work; Manager Strains Says; Cost Set at $1,000,000

Plans to convert Pikeville's telephone system to dial operation were announced last week by Carl Staus, group manager of the Southern Bell Telephone & Telegraph Company.

Staus said construction of a modern $1,000,000 telephone building, to be located on Second street, will be started about July 15, and is scheduled for completion December. After the building is completed installation of new dial plans call for the entire project to be completed by June, 1958.

A new telephone numbering plan will be introduced at the same time the change over to dial is made. Staus said the new system will make possible faster and more accurate long distance service. Adoption of the plan enables long distance operators to dial telephone numbers in participating long distance areas much the same as a local number is dialed. It will also eventually provide for customer direct distance dialing.

Under the new plan, Staus explained, all exchange telephone numbers will consist of office name followed by five numbers. All Pikeville telephone numbers will be composed of the name and five numbers. As an example after the change—General 7-1234.

Under construction of the new dial office at Pikeville, Staus said, "is another step in the Telephone Company's $10,000,000 expansion program in Kentucky.

Two houses and lots joining the present exchange on Main Street have been purchased by the telephone company to provide for the new building.

ALLEN RETIRES

Troy P. Allen, of Martin, retired July 1 from service with the Production Department of United Fuel Gas Company. He was employed in the Southern Division of the production department.

Mr. Allen, who was first employed with the company in 1928, retired about three and a half years before the usual retirement of 65.

Previous to his employment with United Fuel, Mr. Allen was a tippie foreman for Wakeno Coal Company at Garth. He and his wife are the parents of two children.

"THE JOKER" DISAPPOINTED

Apparatus Fails Burglar In David Break; Martin Building Also Entered

Two Floyd county buildings were entered this week but attempts at looting failed, Sheriff Collins said. One of the burglars called himself "The Joker" in leaving a note after attempting to open a safe in the Princess Eikhorn Coal Company office building at David, Wednesday night.

Collins said whoever entered the building "certainly knew the lay of the land." He said entrance was gained by crawling under the floor of the building and knocking three concrete blocks out of the basement.

The combination lock was then knocked off the office safe in an unsuccessful attempt to open it. The burglar then, according to Collins, then left a crudely scratched note which read: "My drill wouldn't work. Your lucky this time. Signed 'The Joker'."

Collins said that an unsuccessful attempt was also made to enter the People's Finance Company, in the Keshley Building at Martin, was entered Tuesday, and efforts were made to open the office safe also failed.

The combination lock was knocked off but entry to the safe was not effected. Collins said he sent Deputy Sheriff Don Sullivan to make a search for fingerprints but found everything had been wiped clean.

The Sheriff said Lawrence Keshley, owner of the building, attempted to call State Police to investigate the break-in but they refused to take part in the case. He said State Police told Keshley they had been ordered out of Martin and could not take any part in a police effort until given permission to come into the town.

JUDGE JOHN GRAHAM'S ACCOUNT BOOK

John Graham (1765-1836), Floyd county pioneer settler, surveyed for Col. John Preston of Virginia the site of Prestonsburg in 1797. It was called Preston's Station then but became Prestonsburg when the county of Floyd was organized in 1800.

Shown here is a reproduction of the page in the Graham book listing debts and credits under the heading, "Adventurers In John Preston's Grant." The account of William Harrel is dated 1812 but there are accounts in the book dated in the year 1800 which was four years before Graham settled at the present Emma, William Harrel (Herald) emigrated to Arkansas in 1856 with the Browns Spears, Youngs and others to found Brown's Landing on the Arkansas River. William Harrel returned to Floyd county in 1848.

Judge John Graham was Floyd county's first banker as he conducted a lending business at his home. He contributed much to develop early Floyd county. The First National Bank, founded in 1904, one hundred years after the pioneer judge settled at Emma, has continued through the years to avail itself of every opportunity to promote the economic welfare of Floyd county and its people.

BANKS NO. 1, SENTERS 2ND

In Pikeville City Schools;
 One, City Superintendent
 Other, School Principal

One Prestonsburg high school graduate this month became top man in the Pikeville city schools and another began his duties as No. 2 in the system.

Harry Banks, son of Ed Banks, of Bull Creek, became superintendent of Pikeville schools, and Clyde Senters, son of the Rev. Carl Senters, Besley Layne, assumed the duties of high school principal. Banks was inducted to office, the oath being administered by Circuit Judge Jean L. Auster.

Banks accepted a four-year contract with the city school board. He went to Pikeville after serving as supervisor of in-service teacher education with the Kentucky State Department of Education. In the past he has served as director of the Pikeville College's Training School, as high school principal in Perry county and teacher and elementary principal in Floyd county. He attended Pikeville College, and holds degrees from the University of Kentucky. He is now working on his doctorate.

Mr. Senters resigned the principalship of an Iowa high school to return to this section.

earning average of $8.24, but Meade county was close. The Eastern Kentucky county with the highest weekly wage average was Boyd county which paid $8.79. Average weekly wage payments in a few other Eastern Kentucky counties are Greenup, $2.33; Barlan, $7.97; Pike, $7.96; Floyd, $7.23; Maysfield, $5.27; Johnson, $4.81; and Martin, $5.21.

The report urges caution in calculating comparisons in the average weekly wage payments. "This average is valuable as an indicator of the overall wage level of a county when used in certain types of economic analyses," the report says. "However, when used in order to compare going wage rates on a county-by-county basis, caution should be exercised as the average weekly wage is heavily affected by the type of industry which is located in each county. For example a county with a heavy concentration of employment in the chemical industry, such as Marshall and Meade, can be expected to have a higher average wage than a county such as Barren which has a heavy distribution of apparel employment."

Laurel 4-H Youngsters Raise Money For Camp

London, Ky., June 18—(Special)—When Laurel county's 4-H youngsters were told to help raise money for their new district 4-H Camp in their area, they turned to lightning-fast time they had 9 1/2 acres of green beans planted.

Their project has attracted considerable attention from other counties as well as state and national 4-H officials. If it proves successful—and there's every indication it will—the project doubtless will be copied by many other groups.

Already the beans are approaching harvest time, with weather hampering the operations some but at least, say the youngsters, there will be no crop failure from drought. Harvested beans will be sold through the Cumberland Strawberry Growers Association at Somerset.

Money To Buy Boone's Rifle Hard To Raise

By Charles F. Hinds
Secretary-Treasurer of Kentucky Historical Society

In the archives of the Kentucky Historical Society is an interesting account of the purchase of Daniel Boone's "favorite rifle" in 1910.

This story well illustrates the general public apathy toward history. Gilbert Walden, an American historian and "showman," offered Boone's rifle to the Commonwealth of Kentucky for $50. His letter was turned over to the Kentucky Historical Society by the governor. Mrs. Jennie C. Morton, secretary-treasurer of the society from 1908 to 1920, thereupon made an appeal for the money. On Oct. 19, 1909, she addressed the State Legislature and asked for individual contributions from representatives and senators.

The responses came in slowly in the form of quarters, half dollars and a few dollars, from 53 contributors, headed by the lieutenant governor, speaker of the house, three judges on the Court of Appeals, public auditor, superintendent of public instruction, and other officials. The Kentucky Historical Society donated $5.00 out of its savings. But to the dismay of Mrs. Morton, all contributions up to January 1, 1901, the date set for the final payment for the rifle, totaled only $28.

Mrs. Morton wrote a very sad letter to Gilbert Walden advising the "humorist" of the seemingly impossible task of raising the balance of the money and suggesting that he attempt to sell it elsewhere. In the meantime he could keep the $28. "Professor" Walden, as he was addressed by Mrs. Morton, agreed to this arrangement.

The secretary, then, despairing of further assistance from members of the State government, made a last ditch "house to house" canvass among her personal friends and neighbors. This brought in $14. The society ultimately contributed the final $10 and the rifle was paid in full.

Boone's rifle, in excellent firing order and condition, is today one of Kentucky's prized historic relics. But it always will be just a little more for those who know the "swell and tears" attached to its acquisition by that wonderful little lady and confidant of governors of Kentucky—Mrs. Jennie Chinn Morton.

Forrest E. Albert, 57, Pikeville Music Head Takes Life In Indiana

Forrest E. Albert, 57, head of Pikeville College's music department, was found dead at 7 a.m. July 4 at the home of his sister, Mrs. A. R. McKesson, in Oliver, Ind.

A Culver funeral home said Albert, who had been in poor health, died after cutting his wrist with a razor. His body was found in his room by his sister, it added.

Albert, a bachelor, had been vacationing at his sister's home since the end of the college's spring semester early last month. He was scheduled to resume classwork at the college the following Monday. Albert went to Pikeville College in 1945 and was organist for Pikeville's First Presbyterian church. He also had served at the church choir director.

Albert was born in Ellettsburg, Ind., and was graduated from Northwestern University with bachelor of music-education and master-of-music degrees. He taught at Ellettsburg, Ky., and in Indiana schools before joining the Pikeville College faculty.

The funeral was at 2 p.m. last Saturday at Culver.

1,800,000 Ex-Soldiers Receive GI Education In Many Technical Fields

America's Age of Technology has received a stimulus "shot in the arm" through the five-year-old Korean GI Bill education and training program, a Veterans Administration survey has disclosed. One-third of all Korean GI trainees so far have trained for jobs in fields where technological advances are making the most greater demands for skilled manpower, the survey showed.

In many of these fields, manpower shortages are critical, but would be even more severe were it not for GI-trained veterans, VA said. To date, more than 1,800,000 Korean veterans have received training under the GI program that has eight more years to go. Of these, 37 per cent trained for technical, industrial and scientific jobs—many of which were not in existence a generation ago.

More than 32,000 have specialized in various branches of science such as geology, physics, and chemistry; another 135,000 studied engineering, and more than 400,000 enrolled in craft, trade and industrial fields such as electronics, metalwork and mechanics.

In addition to these fields, the VA survey found that the rest of the veterans enrolled in GI courses leading to virtually every type of job found in America.

Some 265,000—or 18 per cent of all trainees—have taken courses to help them enter the world of business. Most took courses in business administration and management, but a small portion trained for clerical and sales work.

Among the professions, VA revealed that 88,000 veterans were training to be teachers, about one-quarter concentrating in special teaching fields such as industrial arts and physical education. More than 52,000 others were studying accounting; 48,000, medicine and related subjects; 30,000, law, and 60,000 pre-law. The social sciences—such as government, economics and psychology—attracted 24,000 veterans-students. And more than 10,000 studied for the military.

Another 4,000 studied art and design, with nearly half learning to be draftsmen. Turning to agriculture, the VA survey showed 87,000 veterans learning modern methods of farming, mostly under the GI institutional, on-farm program which combines classroom studies with actual experience on the farm. Some 220,000 Korea veterans were enrolled in liberal arts courses in college, or were in their early undergraduate years and hadn't yet selected a major. Approximately 105,000 veterans were attending grade school and high school under the GI program, many of them getting the basic education necessary to go on to other fields of training. The rest took their GI training in a variety of other fields ranging from cooks and barbers to lens grinders and typewriters.

Pikeville College Summer Term Enrollment Reaches New High

Pikeville, Ky., July 18—Another enrollment record at Pikeville College fell with the registration of 370 students for the second term of summer school there. It was announced today.

Included are 60 foreign students. The largest previous second-term enrollment in the college was 343, recorded last year. The present five-week term, which began July 8, will complete Pikeville's first full year as a four-year college when it opens August 10, Dr. A. A. Page, college president, said.

Nearly all the summer students, who represent a dozen Kentucky counties and the states of Ohio, Virginia, and West Virginia, are schoolteachers or plan to become teachers. Their work toward the degree of Bachelor of Science in Education at Pikeville includes the requirements for Kentucky's provisional elementary or high-school teaching certificate.

Other Kentucky counties represented are Elliott, Greenup, Johnson, Knott, Lawrence, Leslie, Letcher, Magoffin, Martin, Perry, and Pike.

Floyd counties enrolled at Pikeville for the second summer term were Helen Alters, Gretna; W. L. Baldrige, Jr., East Point; Adrian E. Bentley, Haysville; Marjorie Slater, Westbury; Billy Joe Braddy, Langley; Clara Bradley, Langley; Maxie Burke, Wheelwright; Jeannette Campbell, Westbury; Marybelle (Griffin) Owsell, Owsell; Hazel P. Clifton, Prestonsburg.

History Group States First Annual Meeting; Stanley, Hinds Invited

Plans were made this week to hold the first annual meeting of the Board of Regents of the Eastern Kentucky Historical Society on Sunday, August 18. Commissioner Osso W. Stanley of the Court of Appeals and Charles F. Hinds, secretary-treasurer of the Kentucky Historical Society will address the meet, it was announced.

The annual meeting to be held at the home of Mr. and Mrs. J. W. McIntosh, First avenue, will consist of a luncheon at 1 p.m., to be followed by a business meeting at which a chairman of the board will be elected. The board at present consists of 25 members from various towns of the eastern section of the state. A meeting of officers of the Society, held Monday evening at 7:30, at the home of Mrs. Winnie F. Johns, formulated the final plans of the organization for its annual board meeting. It was decided at the Monday evening meeting to hold charter membership offerings open until Aug. 18.

Here's why Chevy's best showroom is the road!

Because Chevrolet's sleek good looks, its advanced features, are only part of the story. The big bonus is its remarkable roadability, the crisp precision handling that has created an entirely new standard for cars in every price class. There are reasons for this, of course: Chevrolet's balanced weight distribution that takes excessive loads off the front wheels, the wide stance of outrigger rear springs, Ball-Race steering, spherical-joint front suspension. Sure, you can admire the sculptured lines in the showroom. But Chevy's a car specifically designed for beautiful motion—you have to know in this one to know just how terrific it is. Try it, this week!

Prison Labor Discontinued At Hospitals

Frankfort, July 18 — According to an agreement by Dr. H. L. McPheters, commissioner of mental health, Commissioner Charles Allphin of the Welfare Department and the Department of Finance, prison laborers will no longer be used at the State mental institutions.

Kentucky State Hospital, Danville, and Central State Hospital, Lakeside, have used prison labor for a number of years.

Fifty of the eighty men in the prison compound at Kentucky State have left the hospital. The remaining 30 will leave as soon as replacements are obtained. Dr. McPheters said he added that 22 employees will be hired at the hospital for the jobs the prisoners have been doing.

A detail of 12 prisoners has been working at Central State the past few months, and during the harvest season, as many as 20 men have been used. When the prisoners leave, four new employees will be hired at the Lakeside hospital, the commissioner said.

The Centre College football team of Danville, known as the "Praying Colonels," astonished the sports world in 1956 when it defeated some of the strongest teams in the country.

SHERIFF'S SALE

Kentucky Wholesale Company Plaintiff
 Vs. NOTICE OF SALE
 Effert Hall, et al. Defendant

By virtue of an execution, No. 12329, issued herein, in the above styled case and levied on the properties hereinafter described, that I offer for sale a part or all of the lands described below at the court house door, in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, at the highest and best bidder, at public auction on July 22, 1957, at 10:30 a. m. upon credit of six (6) months, the following described property; being the undivided interest owned by Effert Hall:

1. A certain tract of land lying on Shop Fork of Otter Creek, of Left Beaver Creek, Floyd County, Kentucky, described as follows:

Beginning at a maple tree at Effert Hall's line at the Creek; thence up the hill with said line to top of point to Lee Hall, Jr. line; thence up the point with line to an iron stake; thence a straight line to the hill to a willow tree at the center of the branch; thence down the branch to the beginning. Being the same land conveyed to Effert Hall by Sill Hall, by deed date August 26, 1942, recorded in Deed Book 121, Page 529, Floyd County Records.

2. A certain tract of land lying on Otter Creek, of Left Beaver Creek, Floyd County, Kentucky, and described as follows:

Beginning on a stake at Wheelwright Consolidated High School line and Dr. Yale Rogers' line; thence down the creek with said Dr. Yale Rogers and F. A. Hopkins' line to a stake; thence around the hill with said school line 124 feet to the beginning, containing 1 acre, more or less. Being the same land conveyed to Effert Hall and Della Hall by Lee Hall, Jr. and Cora Hall, by deed dated October 24, 1944, recorded in Deed Book 120, page 23, Floyd County Records.

Said property will be sold to satisfy a judgment in favor of plaintiff against the defendant for the sum of $2,846.91, with interest from June 1, 1950 until paid and cost of this action.

"Purchaser" will be required to execute bond with good surety bearing interest from date of sale until paid and a lien shall be retained for further security.

Given under my hand this 1st day of July, 1957.

RATLIFF FAMILY

At hand is a book, "Peter Stephens and Some of His Descendants," by Dan V. Stephens of Nebraska. It does not connect any with the Floyd county Stephens family but that there is a connection between the family here and the Virginia family genealogists are fairly certain.

The reference to Rachel Stephens and Margaret McHenry, of Bloomington, Ind., is of interest to families here. Rachel Stephens was a descendant through Lewis Stephens who left Virginia, lived for awhile in Knox county, Ky., but died in 1835 in Monroe county, Indiana.

"The reference to Rachel Stephens follows: "Married John Ratliff who was a veteran of the Civil War, born in Pike county, Kentucky. He moved to Monroe county before the war and died there. He and his two oldest sons enlisted in the Civil War together and at the Battle of Stone River or Perryville in Tennessee (sic) one son was killed when the Union troops charged the Confederates behind a stone fence. The son fell mortally wounded at the side of his father. The father passed long enough to give him water. After the battle during the night the father went back and buried him where he fell. Later on the other son died from disease in the service."

Issue of Rachel Stephens Ratliff and John Ratliff were Mack, Jordan, Richard, Joseph, Tillon, Vina, Belle, and Elizabeth.

Mack never married; died in Missouri in 1905; Jordan lived in Ohio at the time the Stephens genealogy was published in 1898; Richard, little known; Joseph, born 1870, served two terms as sheriff of Monroe county, Indiana; Vina lives near Unionville, Indiana; Belle, little known.

JAMES, VAUGHAN, BROWNS
 A letter from Brig. Gen. Robert W. Brown, retired, Round Hill, Va., details much of interest on the general families. He has been writing this column now and then and the present letter is in reply to the receipt of a copy of this article published several months ago in the Times on the James family.

"I was particularly interested in the James feature story because one of my great-great-uncles, Robinson Egan, married a Celia James, daughter of Samuel James, on Jan. 1, 1823. His real name was George Robinson

HEALTH NOTES

Could You Help?
 A child screamed, "Janie fell in the water!" Janie's mother ran to the river, jumped in, and pulled the drowning child from the water. Start by drinking as much water as possible out of the respiratory system. Place the patient face down and lift him at the waist. Remove any debris, mucus, centures, and other material from mouth and throat. Now begin artificial respiration. The "push-pull" or arm-lift-back pressure" methods are recommended for everyone except babies and very small children. For them, the "prone tilting-vacuum shift" method is advised to avoid rib fracture or lung puncture. None of these methods is difficult to learn. You will find diagrams in first aid text books, Scout handbooks, even in your encyclopedias. Practice on your family to get the feel of it.

Of course, you'll send someone for help immediately—police, fire department, a doctor—but you can't wait. Resuscitation must not be interrupted for at least fifteen minutes. Even after the patient's breathing is established, you should continue for some time. Now place the patient on his side. Keep him as warm as possible.

A whiff of spirits of ammonia will temporarily help him breathe more deeply. Get him to a hospital as soon as possible, but handle him with care to prevent the development of secondary shock.

East Kentucky Hearings Set By Waterfield

Frankfort, July 18 — A proclamation by acting Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield set dates for three public hearings to discuss establishment of a regional planning commission for 32 Eastern Kentucky counties. Hearings are scheduled July 19-21, Boyd county courthouse, Calletsburg; July 25, Perry county courthouse, Hazard; and July 26 at the City Hall, Corbin. All hearings are planned from 3 to 5 p.m.

Application for a regional planning commission was submitted to Gov. A. B. Chandler at a meeting in Pikeville in June. The creation of a commission was made possible by a 1956 law which gives the governor power to establish a commission following a petition from 10 citizens and a public hearing.

The law empowers a regional planning commission to "make, adopt, amend and extend a master regional plan for the physical development of its region."

The announcement by Waterfield is an outgrowth of the recent Eastern Kentucky flood rehabilitation study report, presented to Chandler after the January floods in East Kentucky.

Water Address Legion State Records 340 Deaths From Accidents in 4 Years

Safety statistics on Kentucky, compiled for the years 1949-53 show that 340 persons died in that four-year period from farm accidents, says the Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service.

Of the total, 329 were males and 11 were females. Machinery accidents claimed the highest toll, just as it does in national accidents, the report says; 88 Kentuckians died as a result of such mishaps.

Other categories, the report shows, were as follows: Animal-caused deaths, 30; burns, 16; drownings, 40; firearms, 58; lightning, 13; electric current, 10; falls, 31; blows from falling objects, 19; and miscellaneous causes, 25.

The U. S. total for the same period was 11,463 male deaths and 1,152 female deaths. Of the 48 states checked, 31 had lower machinery-caused death rates than Kentucky; the report showed.

WILL ADDRESS LEGION
 Frankfort, July 18 — Acting Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield will address the opening session of the 39th annual state American Legion convention at Ashland, July 19-21.

About 1,500 delegates to the meeting of the Kentucky Department of the Legion are expected to hear Waterfield talk at 9:30 a.m., July 19. After his address, Waterfield will fly to Camp Brookridge to review maneuvers of the Kentucky National Guard.

MIDDLE CREEK BATTLE VICTOR FATALLY SHOT, 76 YEARS AGO

The Battle of Middle Creek, near Prestonsburg, won Col. James A. Garfield a general's star and started him on the path to the presidency of the United States. The battle, fought Jan. 10, 1862, determined the control of Eastern Kentucky and drove a Union salient into the Confederate line across Southern Kentucky. The battle was the Union's first substantial victory.

While at Prestonsburg Garfield made headquarters in the John M. Burns house on North Arnold Avenue, now the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Claude P. Stephens. It is known as the Garfield Place.

The President of the United States strode jauntily through the old Baltimore & Potomac station on Tuesday of last week, cheerfully on his way to a summer vacation on the New Jersey shore.

He was accompanied only by his Secretary of State, the Secret Service not having then been installed as chief guardian of the presidential person.

Charles J. Guitau sat nonchalantly on a waiting room bench, watching the two officials walk past on their way to the train. When they were a few paces past, Guitau calmly drew a pistol from his pocket and fired. A moment later he fired again.

The first shot grazed the President's arm, and James Abram Garfield turned sternly to see who had done this mischief. But at that moment the second shot caught him in the back and he crumpled to the station floor.

Washington tourists might not have been aware of the anniversary, but at least a few scores of them stopped in their meandering through the Medical Museum of the Armed Forces Institute of Pathology to inspect the somewhat chilling Garfield assassination exhibit.

The exhibit notes that a Medical Museum man was one of the first to reach the scene in the railroad station.

Garfield was lying in a pool of blood, apparently dying of an internal hemorrhage. Half a dozen doctors had swarmed into the station, and one of them was probing the wound to find the bullet. Soft tissues blocked the metal probe from going more than 2 or 3 inches.

The President was conscious and asked to be taken to the White House. The doctors loaded him into a police ambulance and the horses started toward the main building.

Mrs. Garfield, who had already gone to New Jersey, returned to Washington that evening to find her husband rallying from his attack. But the doctors could do little but make him comfortable.

X-rays had not been discovered at that time and the location of the bullet remained hidden from the probes.

Dr. Alexander Graham Bell, who some time earlier had invented the telephone, was called in to see what he could do about finding the slug.

Bell tried twice with a device he called an "induction balance." It consisted of several induction coils so arranged that, on being placed around an object, the electrical balance was disturbed and the device made a sound.

Attending physicians noted at once that Bell's machine made a sound, but obviously not at the right place. So the bullet remained hidden.

It had been scarcely 20 years since a Colonel Goo, he had led the campaign to clear Marshall out of Eastern Kentucky. His victory over the Confederates at Prestonsburg crushed their right flank in the State and paved the way for Union victory at Mill Springs a few weeks later. And the handsome young colonel got his stars as a brigadier general.

Books and Such
 By Laura Virginia Roberts

Wilderness Road, the outdoor folk drama which Pulitzer Prize-winner Paul Green wrote to celebrate the 100 anniversary of the foundation of Berea College, has just begun its third season.

It is difficult to tell anyone just how good the play really is. Being set in Kentucky; its time period just before the Civil War; its theme the prejudices, ignorance, intolerance and divided loyalties which beset the people of the time; and in particular, John Freeman, a young schoolteacher.

Although the theme is serious enough, the play has charm and gaiety conveyed by genuine folk dancing and singing; and in the form of two lovable comic relief characters, Uncle Eph and Chris Sloum, who philosophize and joke while resorting to the jug for wisdom and comfort.

There is considerable action—a battle, the blowing up of a bridge, mob scenes.

The play is edited by its author "a parable for modern times." The wilderness road of the title does not refer to the trail followed by Boone as he explored Kentucky, but to the wilderness road of ignorance and bigotry traveled by John Freeman as he tried to bring truth to the people of his backward community. Many parallels to our own time are seen in the refusal of some of Freeman's neighbors to allow their children to be taught that all men, regardless of color, are children of God, and that tolerance of another man's beliefs is good although we may not agree with these beliefs.

The book-burning scene is WILDERNESS ROAD will recall to us that this very thing has happened in our own time, and will happen again; and is probably the most frightening reminder of how little the work has learned of human understanding in these hundred years since our country and its families were reduced by divided loyalties to a tragedy from which even yet it has not recovered.

Nearly all of the cast members have played since I saw the play, and I feel sure this will be an improvement in at least one role. The leading feminine role was artfully done by a young actress from the Barter Theatre of Virginia, and I was very glad to read that she has been replaced. Practically the only member of the original cast who remains are Jim Hurt who is superb as Uncle Eph, and basketball coach C.M. Wyatt who is an able Chris Sloum. Our own Johnny Cook, a sophomore at Berea, is a member of the chorus.

Indian Furt Theatre is in the Berea forest. It is easily accessible, and there is ample parking space. Lunches are for sale there, or many people prefer to have dinner at Boone Tavern in Berea before going out to the theatre. The play is presented on three remarkable revolving stages, where the scenery is moved and changed before your very eyes, but the action is so absorbing that one generally finds, I think, that this has been done without his even knowing. You will see the play in unusual comfort, because the theatre is equipped with outdoor aluminum chairs, but I advise wearing a coat, and even taking a blanket because it gets chilly out there, and people who have been warmed really go perspiring.

According to the Sunday COURIER-JOURNAL a new central ticket office and reservation-clearing house has been built this year on the college campus opposite Boone Tavern. Tickets for the play as well as overnight accommodations will be handled through that office. It is best to write in advance for these.

The play will be performed every night (except Sundays) at 8:15, through August 31. Their time is the same as ours through the summer.

Farmer's Gas Tax Refund Guide Booklet Available; Claims Deadline Sept. 30

Mr. Wm. M. Gray, Director of Internal Revenue for this district, today announced that a revised Farmer's Gas Tax Refund Guide booklet is now available to assist farmers in submitting Federal gas tax refund claims for the year ending June 30, 1957.

The publication, No. 306, together with claim Form 2260 and instructions for submission of claims are available on request at the District Revenue Office, Louisville, Kentucky. Forms and instructions also may be obtained at county agricultural agents' offices.

Claims should be filed on Form 2260 on or after July 1, but no later than September 30, 1957.

Last year a million and a quarter farmers filed claims for refund of the Federal tax on gasoline used for farming purposes, and refunds averaged $29.

It is estimated that the number of claims for refund filed this year will be close to 2,000,000, and the total refund is expected to increase correspondingly. These expected increases are due to an increase in the Federal gas tax rate from two to three cents a gallon plus the fact that an entire year will be covered by these claims whereas only taxes paid on gas used during the first six months of 1956 were subject to filing a claim for refund of the Federal gasoline tax. It also explains conditions under which the farmer may purchase diesel fuel and other special motor fuels, to be used for farm purposes, without payment of the Federal tax thereon.

ENLISTED IN ARMY
 Eddie Sweeney, of Prestonsburg, recently was enlisted into the army, according to an announcement by Sgt. Ernest Morris, Prestonsburg Army recruiter.

Sweeney, who is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Brian Sweeney, was enlisted under a special Army program which permits qualified volunteers to enlist into the Army Reserve for a six-year period, two of which must be spent on active duty.

The young soldier reported to Fort Knox for initial processing and for further assignment.

Barbecuing is again becoming a way of life. Yes, our great-grandmothers used this type cooking as an everyday, every meal sort of thing.

Meats of all kinds can be barbecued. Less tender cuts require less tenderizing. This is done by marinating the meat.

- 1 cup vinegar, 1/2 t. mustard (powdered), 1 t. sugar, 2 t. Worcestershire, 2 t. salt, 2 t. black pepper, 1 t. chili powder, 1 t. paprika, 1/2 t. powdered garlic, 1/4 t. Red Pepper, 1/4 t. tobacco, 1 small onion—1 stick butter.

Mix ingredients and heat to boiling point. Simmer 30 min. Flavors will blend more if allowed to stand overnight.

Frankfort, July 18 — "Our defense planners list three industrial areas of Kentucky as probable target areas."

Secretary of the Kentucky's civil defense administrator, Major General J. S. Lindsay, he adds:

"Our best security against enemy attack is to have a potent, well organized civil defense that will enable us to fight back in case of attack. If we are not able to pick ourselves up and go on afterward, the knockdown becomes a knock-out."

Remember, say Kentucky CD officials, "it wasn't raining when Noah built the ark."

KENTUCKIETTE
Douglas Wheeler of the Paintsville Herald writes in a letter to this column:

"The first settlement in Eastern Kentucky was in Johnson county in the old Block House Bottom near mouth of Johns Creek. The site is five miles below Dewey Dam and Dewey Lake State Park."

The old fort, or block house, was established by Matthias Harman and others in 1787. Jenny Wiley, heroine of Eastern Kentucky, found refuge at the fort from Indians after she had been held captive several months at Mud Lick Falls, near Paintsville.

NOT SO WISE
The fellow, Noah, was pretty foresighted. And it's fine for the civil defense to pattern its activity along that line. But we'll bet Agriculture Commissioner Ben Butcher, whose State agency has been waging an intensive aerial war against mosquitoes, doesn't think Noah was so darned provident. Else, why would Noah have taken aboard the two mosquitoes?

WELCOME GOSPEL SINGERS
Secretary of State Thomas Skowling welcomes to the Commonwealth Aug. 5 the Negro, all-denominational National Convention of Gospel Choirs. She also will deliver a message of welcome from Acting Gov. Harry Lee Waterfield to the 12,000 persons expected to attend the meeting at the Kentucky Fairgrounds and Exposition Center, Louisville. All those gospel choristers in the State at one time should salute Kentucky some divine recognition.

SICK REPORT
Josephine Lewis, registered nurse and chief aspirin roller at the Capitol Annex, says she treated 2,379 employees in the quarter-year ending June 30. Colds and influenza accounted for the greatest number of illnesses—506. Headaches and migraines were next with 238, not unusual in government work.

REAL GONE
Pat Boone drew a bigger crowd this year at Frankfort than Daniel. Daniel's day was observed June 17; Pat's exactly one month later. Pat, who says he's a great-great-great-grandson of the famous pioneer, and a group of movie people who are making a film in the Blue Grass, were commissioned Kentucky Colonels by Acting Governor Waterfield. The larger turnout for Pat, mostly teenage idolizers of the rock 'n' roll singer, was officially noted during the ceremony on the Capitol steps. Said one teenager: "That Daniel is real gone, man, but Pat's alive, ain't he?"

TAXI PERMIT HEARING SET
Frankfort, July 18 — Hearing has been scheduled for Thursday, Aug. 2, at 9 a. m., at the office of the Department of Motor Transportation here on the application of Denver Stone, of Prestonsburg, Commissioner C. M. Blackburn announced today. Stone is asking for a common carrier certificate to operate one taxicab in Prestonsburg.

"Sufficient oral testimony to prove the necessity for the request must be introduced at the hearing," the Commissioner said.

Granting of the permit may be protested by mailing in duplicate such complaints to the WMT office not later than 10 days before the hearing date and sending a copy to the applicant, Blackburn said.

Caution Is Urged In Insecticide Use

Use caution in applying chemicals to agricultural crops, the Kentucky Agricultural Extension Service warns.

Federal regulations regulate the amount of pesticide residue permitted on raw agricultural products entering interstate shipments. The products include fruits, vegetables, and any other crops intended for human consumption; forage crops are included, too, as pesticide residue from treated forage can be deposited in meat and milk of animals.

RACING EXPANDED

Kentucky known as the home of the thoroughbred, now has six licensed race tracks—Keeneland, Churchill Downs, Ellis Park, Fairgrounds Speedway, Kentucky Raceways and New Latonia. All except the latter will hold meetings in 1957. Only the first named there were in operation two years ago.

FOOD, AUTOS TAKE BIG BITE

From Floyd-Coe Income, National Service Finds; State Average Is Lower

(Special to HTo Times)

NEW YORK July 8 — In Floyd county, in the past year, food store operators and auto dealers succeeded jointly in snaring a major part of the money spent in local retail establishments.

The two pacemakers accounted for 47 cents out of every dollar spent at retail. Elsewhere in the United States the combination attracted only 43 cents and, in the State of Kentucky, 45 cents.

The findings are by the Standard Rate and Data Service. They are contained in a comparative survey of the buying habits of consumers in every section of the country.

The breakdown shows that housewives in Floyd county spent more for food, using 25 per cent of their available money for it. They bought better grades and bigger quantities than before.

As a result, the stores selling meat, fish, baked goods, vegetables and the like had a good year, with receipts totaling $4,535,000. Their volume in 1955 was $4,225,000.

The amount is only for food bought for home consumption and is exclusive of money spent in eating and drinking places.

Big spending was in evidence, also, in the automotive field, in purchases of new and used cars, boats and farm machinery. Local outlays in this direction totaled $4,135,000 in the year. They represented 22 per cent of all retail buying.

Most other outlets for consumer goods profited, also, as consumers, bolstered by larger incomes and in a buying mood, spent more money than ever before.

Local stores selling general merchandise had sales totaling $3,562,000, equal to 19 cents of the retail dollar.

Home furnishings stores accounted for $974,000, another 5 cents for the dollar.

Apparel shops did $874,000 in the year, amounting to 4 cents.

The consumer, and what he feels and will do, have become the most important key to continued economic well-being. His buying whims can mean the difference between a good year and a bad one. Today he is confident. He feels his job and his income are secure. As a result, he is going right ahead with his spending, which is keeping the wheels of industry humming at a prosperous clip.

DODGE outperforms other two low-priced trucks!

They're off! All three low-priced trucks are lined up at the bottom of a test grade equal to the steepest hill in San Francisco. The lower truck and this grueling test of climbing power is officially underway. Dodge takes an early lead.

Halfway up. The extra V-8 power under the hood of the Dodge sends it quickly ahead. It's already two lengths out front. And there's a 1000-lb. test load on each one of these comparably equipped trucks. What's more, Dodge is still gaining!

Dodge flashes past the finish five lengths ahead of competition. Truck "C" and truck "P" just couldn't match that 200-hp. Power Giant. And this is just one of a rugged series of tests that prove Dodge is best of the low-priced three.

Federal Polio Program Expired on June 30th

The Federal polio program which has provided funds for the purchase of polio vaccine, medical supplies and payment of part-time polio employees expired June 30.

Dr. William F. Lamb, director of the Division of Local Health Services of the United States Public Health Service noted recently in a memorandum to M. W. Ciska, Floyd County Health Department administrator.

"First injections of polio vaccine are not to be started after June 30; however, continue to use polio vaccine that is on hand in the local health department for the eligible age group (0-18 years of age and pregnant women) but limit the vaccine to the second and third injections," the memorandum said.

"A small quantity of vaccine will be available to health departments to complete the series in those individuals who have received the first dose of polio vaccine prior to June 30, 1957, so long as vaccine is available," Lamb continued. "Available polio vaccine will be equally distributed among the counties according to needs."

"Local physicians who have received polio vaccine from the health department may use up the vaccine which is on hand in their office for the eligible age group; however, additional vaccine must be purchased by the physician through normal drug channels for private use," Dr. Lamb added.

A TREND?

Frederick, Ill. — Mayor Harry Savre, recently re-elected, wonders which friend he lost since the last election.

This year Savre received 352 votes against 317 for his opponent. Four years ago he won 353 to 316.
