THURSDAY

This Town— That World

I have sat here for at least ten minutes staring out the window in search of an idea for this column. And the only thing that has occurred to me is that the window needs washing.

THEY HAVE OUR SYMPATHY
The squirrel-hunters began straggling in this week, and they made about as sorry a picture as yours truly or any one else ever presented on their return from an unsuccessful fishing trip. One threw up his hands, shouted, "I'll confess!" and admitted to killing three. Another stood under stiff grilling, including arm-twisting, before finally breaking down and squeaking something about killing two.

The dry weather. Of course, the dry weather. Just like the moon and the wind and the signs and the dratted fish.

Well, what do we expect the poor things to do—come looking for us?

BEAR TALE
Speaking of hunters and fishermen and their trials and tribulations, we note that three youngsters from Prestonsburg recently were hunted while doing some fishing on Fontana lake. They made the mistake of catching a few fish, and the bears moved in their camp that night.

The boys—Goebel, Floyd Johnson and David Allen—returned to Kentucky a day ahead of schedule and were the last of the bear to see.

When they arrived they told of their experiences in a somewhat less sort of way. It made you wonder if maybe they were still trying to hold their breath as they did in their tent one night while Brer Bear went through their ice box and other belongings.

PUPIL TOTAL AT NEW HIGH

1,500 Registered Here
In High, Grade Schools;
Both Show Heavy Gains

Fifteen hundred youngsters returned to school here this week. Enrollment at Prestonsburg high school hit a new high Wednesday with the registration of sophomores, and the increase over the 1936 registration may exceed 50, James V. Bolten, new principal at the school, said.

The enrollment by classes: Freshmen, 214; juniors, 150; seniors, 131; sophomores (last to register), an estimate, 150.

The grade school enrollment was 804, Woodrow Allen, principal, said. This was an increase of 104 over last year's enrollment.

Approximately 845 were registered at the high school last week. With about 695 already enrolled this year, the number may within the next few days pass the 700 mark, it is believed.

Mr. Bolten said the school has a full complement of teachers, although the Commerce department does not have an instructor who has majored in that field.

He indicated that registration and preparation for regular classroom work have moved along smoothly. "With the cooperation of the parents of our pupils, our teachers and I as principals will strive to give the people a good, fruitful school year," the principal said.

FLOYD, FIVE OTHERS TO GET OVER MILLION

STATE FUNDS
FOR SCHOOLS
$1,434,622,000

Tentative Aid Figures Show County To Get
$62,320 over '36 Fund

Floyd county is one of six state school districts in Kentucky to receive more than $1,000,000 this year from the state under the Minimum Fund Program, it was announced in Frankfort last week.

This county's allotment for this school term is $1,434,622, more than was allotted last year, the first year of the foundation program in the state.

The total outlay of the state for the year in carrying out the program will be $7,102,233—an increase of $3,000,000 from last year, Dr. Robert R. Martin, state superintendent of public instruction, said.

These allotments, however, are tentative, and the final allotments will be made by next March 1.

The other districts slated to receive more than $1,000,000 from the state are:

Louisville, $3,315,712, an increase of $65,574.

Jefferson county, $2,730,952, an increase of $293,648.

The county, $1,609,833, an increase of $117,540; $1,434,622, an increase of $54,437.

Floyd county, $1,434,622, an increase of $62,320.

Perry county, $1,022,792, an increase of $47,800.

Here is how some neighboring counties and independent districts fare under the 1937-38 finance plan:

Johnson county, $463,304, an increase of $27,305 from last year; Paintsville independent district, $117,540, increase of $13,100; Van Lear, $39,071, up $641.

Other counties, $370,176, loss of $6,674; Maguffin county, $306,139, gain of $3,022; Martin county, $355,245, increase of $30,490.

The school districts will be required to raise at least $411,913-271 in local tax revenue as their share of support, an increase of $1,834,107 over last year.

The foundation law was enacted in 1934 and fully financed by a $20,000,000 increase during the 1936-37 school term. It guarantees that each county will receive at least $1 per pupil in average daily attendance of the district's per capita income.

VETERAN KY. SENATOR HEART VICTIM AT 80

Doug Hays, veteran State Senator from this district and Democratic stalwart in Eastern Kentucky politics, died at the age of 80 of a heart attack Saturday night at his home at McDowell.

Senator Hays was stricken while alone at his home at McDowell. Mrs. Esther Sammons, attracted by a light in the room, found him lying face down on the floor, in intense pain, when she arrived from her nearby residence. A son, Wickliffe, of Near Creek, was called and the stricken man removed to the hospital, where he was held until the son's arrival was awaited. He died at 11:15.

Senator Hays had been in his usual state of health, and his poisoning came as a shock to hundreds of relatives and friends over a wide section of Kentucky.

Born April 23, 1857 in Letcher county, he was a son of Lewis and Margaret Beveridge Hays and was a member of a family that was for many years prominent in Knott county politics. He was first married to Lulu Martin, and after her death to Lizzie Tackett Hamilton, who survives. He was a descendant of the quarter-stock Cherokee Indian, Golden Hawk, and was wont to remind relatives that they and he were members of the "Golden Seed."

Mr. Hays was in his fourth term in the Senate. He was first elected in 1943. Known as "Saw-Loggin' Doug Hays," he was even more prominently the sobriquet of "Mr. Floyd County Democrat." Although he was

3,066 Floyd Residents
Receive Chest Exams -
At Free X-Ray Clinics

A total of 3,066 Floyd county residents took advantage of the free services offered recently by the mobile X-ray unit which came here under the auspices of the State Board of Health and the Floyd County Health Department. Of this number at least 90% were adults, M. V. Clark, health department administrator, said. Heretofore the proportion of youths and adults has been about 50-50, he said. The number receiving chest examinations this year topped the total in 1936 by 277. Clinicians said that, even though this year's new location at McDowell held a little short of the 300 goal set for it, they will recommend McDowell for a re-visit.

ALMOST SEATED ON GRAND JURY IVEL MAN LOSES PLACE AS RAIDS ON HIS HOME TOLD BY OFFICER

An unusual situation arose in circuit court here Tuesday morning as the grand jury was being empaneled.

The name of Mack Hunt, of Ivel, was called as one of those whose names had been drawn from the jury drum. He was seated with the other jurors.

But, once the panel was completed, Judge Edward P. Hill paused before delivering his instructions. Then he remarked that a member of the jury had had a bootlegging case dismissed against him at a previous court term and had been the object of Sheriff's raids.

As he questioned the juror's right to serve, and at the same time recalled the law which provides that a citizen be eligible for jury service must be sober, honest and disinterested and not convicted of a felony, and they are not to go beyond the limits of their divisions. This was done, it was explained by Superintendent W. C. Turner, to save travel time and expense.

Mrs. Anna Sue Stumbo, wife of Lloyd Stumbo and a teacher in the McDowell school, was employed as supervisor of schools. She takes the place of Woodrow Supply, 200 from Dependable School Supply and 100 from West Virginia Seating Company.

Several teachers were employed, but their placement had not been effected Tuesday. Superintendent Turner said that the teacher situation, apparently, is better than that of last year.

The board purchased 600 seats on bids—300 from Central School Supply, 200 from Dependable School Supply and 100 from West Virginia Seating Company.

Two women prisoners—once accused of slipping hawkeye blades and once of stealing a car, they named as having stolen a motor and copper wire from a mine—stole the spotlight from a mine at the county jail this week.

A woman previously listed as Mrs. Norman Hamilton and later as Martha Borders is set in other fault of $2,000 bond after she had been charged with secreting four hawkeye blades on her person and taking them inside the jail for Norman Hamilton to use in a jail-break attempt.

The woman accused of having taken the mine motor and wiring is Nettie Stone. The offense was allegedly committed in Knott county, and she has been claimed by Knott authorities. It was said the woman was assisted in leading the motor and wire into

MARTIN MAN HANGS SELF

Coroner Holds Death
Of Mayo in Pike Jail
Monday Was Suicide

Three hours after he was lodged in the Pike county jail Tuesday by Kentucky state police, 42-year-old Joseph Mayo, Marine Corps war veteran, was dead—hanged by his own belt from a bar in the jail. The Coroner John G. Call said.

Mayo was arrested Monday morning by state police on charges of drunken driving and hit-and-run driving which involved damage to a police cruiser. At 12:30 p.m. he was found hanging by his belt from an upper bar in the window of his second-floor cell where he had been confined alone. He apparently had been dead 15 to 20 minutes.

The victim, a veteran of World War II, was a son of Miles and Ann Branham Mayo, of Arkansas Creek, near Martin. Surviving relatives, parents, are one brother, Charlie Mayo, of Lexington, and a sister, Mrs. Minerva Davis, of Russell.

Funeral rites were conducted Wednesday afternoon from the First Baptist Church, Martin, the Rev. J. C. Hays, pastor, officiating in the family cemetery on Arkansas Creek was directed by the Hall Brothers Funeral Home.

BOARD SETS WORK LIMITS

Maintenance Workers
Restricted to Areas;
Mrs. Stumbo Employed

Greater part of Tuesday's meeting of the Floyd County Board of Education was devoted to discussing and planning the maintenance work of the upkeep of school properties.

A private physician may either bring or refer any medically indigent child or adult to the clinic for an examination, Clark said. Purpose of the clinic is to provide a diagnostic service for the patient, make plans for future work, and treatment and management of the case, but the clinic also serves to detect cases of heart disease.

P'Burg FHA Chapter Plans Future Work

The Executive Council of Prestonsburg Chapter, Future Homemakers of America met August 29, 1937, at the home of Mrs. Frank Norman, 18, Preburg; Dawn Ash, 22, Phyllis, and 20 15-year-olds.

All are held in the county jail after having awaited examination trial before County Judge Ervin S. Pruitt, District 2. C. Corbett quoted the alder that they were held to the special grand jury.

The charges stemmed from an alleged rape of Mrs. Gladys Spurlock, 19, mother of two children, and her sister, 15, on a road near route Preburg, between midnight and 3 a.m. August 18.

Everett Spurlock, 22, had stopped his car to repair a flat tire while on his way with his wife, two children, and sister-in-law to their home at Grand, Va.

They were best by the men who drove up in a car, one of whom twice beat Spurlock, forcing him to flee when he resisted, Spurlock and the women told police.

State Police Detective T. C. Corbett quoted the alder that they were held to the special grand jury.

Plans to close four more small places in the section of Knott county were announced in Washington last week. The offices are at Knott, Perry, Rockcastle and Lohair in Perry. Lohair will be converted into a contract rural office.

Postoffices closed in the last two years in Floyd county include Abbeville, Stone and Woods. The senate last week confirmed for postmaster nominations, including that of John C. Hicks for the Hindman postmaster.

SENATE SEAT
IS AT STAKE

How Hays' Successor
To Be Named, Problem
Widely Discussed Here

Death of Senator Doug Hays and the resultant Senate vacancy pose an interesting political situation in the 29th Senatorial district which is composed of Floyd, Knott and Martin counties.

The first step was believed here that the Democratic chairman of the three counties would nominate a candidate from the party in power in the state and that the Republican party would follow the same procedure if it cares to enter the competition. (The district is heavily Democratic with Martin county rockribbed Republican but heavily outvoted by Democratic Floyd and Knott.)

This theory of the procedure to be followed would have had a special general election, its date possibly to coincide with the regular November election.

But the Times learned Tuesday night that word out of Frankfort is that there will be a special primary and a special final election to name Senatorial successors. A special final election, in that case, would not coincide with the regular November election, because there would not be time to hold the primary and have the nominees certified the required 60 days before the November election, it was said.

AID TO TOWNS IS DISCUSSED

Speakers at Paintsville
Tell How State To Help
With Planning and Zoning

How the state can aid towns and what it can do to help them in planning and zoning projects were explained last Thursday in a meeting at Paintsville of business and civic leaders from 13 Eastern Kentucky counties.

Speaking at a meeting sponsored by the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce's area-development council was Walter Shouse, executive director of the State Department of Economic Development.

The conference was the fourth in a series of five in the state on programs for obtaining new industry. The final meeting will be Friday in Lexington.

Other speakers, including I. J. Warren, Huntington, W. Va., of the industrial department of the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway; Fred Bullard, president of the Hazard Coal Operators Association, and J. C. Zimmerman, Louisville, president of the state chapter of the state chamber of commerce, Zimmerman and Bullard discussed unionization and its effect on the new industry coming into the state.

PLEA IS MADE TO TEACHERS

For Amendment Support
At November Election
As Martin Meet Held

Floyd county teachers were encouraged at their meeting at McDowell Friday to support the Constitutional amendment which will specify the method of naming the state superintendent of public instruction.

The speaker urging support of the amendment was E. D. Fitzpatrick, Jr., of Prestonsburg. If the amendment is adopted by the voters of the state, the state superintendent will be named by the State Board of Education rather than by popular vote.

The Martin meeting followed registration of pupils in the county's larger schools and was a prelude to the beginning of actual school work this week. County Superintendent W. G. O. Turner presided.

STUMBO'S ORDER VOIDS LOCAL OPTION PETITION

The move to legalize the sale of intoxicating liquors in Prestonsburg was lost last week "without the firing of a shot" as State Police Detective T. C. Corbett told the alder that the petition had been controverted and that the petitioners had failed to show they had the required 25% of the constitutional voters as signatories to the petition.

Opponents of the legalized sale of intoxicants here, represented mostly by local churches, had prepared for a vigorous fight if the local option petition had been called. Weekly meetings had been held, precinct chairmen had been named and already the anti-liquor organization was well under way.

At last week's meeting of the Prestonsburg Dry League held at the Freeville Baptist Church, it was voted to maintain the League organization and lead in an effort to have a better Prestonsburg through the encouragement of law-enforcement and other civic improvements.

Intangibles Won't Buy Food— But They Might Help

Two years ago the Kentucky Commission on Teacher Education and Professional Standards appointed a committee to study the question, "What is happening to teachers in Kentucky?" R. E. Jagers, a member of that committee and a prominent educator, compiled the results after ninety county school systems and 85 independent districts had sent in their answers to the question.

In brief, this is what was learned: One of every six teachers employed in the 1954-1955 school year did not return the next year to the school system she was in during the previous year. Forty-six of every 100 teachers—in all, 1,600 teachers—quit the teaching profession.

Fifty-four of every 100 teachers, or 1,816, took posts in other school systems. And 54 of every 100 of this group who shifted to other teaching positions left the state altogether and went into school systems of other states.

These are statistics that are pretty well-known to educators but which are little known to the parent or the pupil. They are interesting, just as a river that could wash away your home is interesting.

But another item commands attention: Forty-five of every 100 teachers who went into other school systems did so for higher pay.

This is a situation that is not difficult to understand. It involves the simplest and most basic of economics. The prescription for the cure is simple, too—more money. The prescription being what it is, it's the hardest of all to fill, however. But for the devoted teacher to their native counties and state and people, the situation in Kentucky would be much worse than it is. Those who remain at home are a Spartan band who adjust to meet the circumstances which low pay forces upon them; and it is to their greater credit that most of them hold the line in the face of rising costs of living, higher taxes and a general pinch of the pocketbook. While labor demands higher pay and employers call for higher prices, these who have the important job of training the minds of Kentucky's children must either stand their ground and stand the gaff, or leave. They have no unions to represent them.

If the loss of a good teacher were not a tragedy in the lives of all the children she is teaching or might teach, the situation would not be so dark. But the sad truth is, whenever a good teacher leaves Kentucky a good replacement is not always available. As a consequence, the gap is filled with the material at hand; children are taught by individuals who themselves need teaching, and so young minds are pinned down by the limitations of these substitutes.

What can be done? We may continue to improve the financial picture for the teacher, but we apparently are losing the salary race to other and richer states. So we must deal in intangibles until the time comes when we shall have at hand the material things good teachers should have from us.

We can begin, now, to give good teachers the credit and the honor they deserve. We can begin, now, to appreciate the minds and hearts that have constrained women and men to pass up the opportunities of big money, easy jobs, comfortable living and places of power in the industries or professions. Private and public recognition of good teachers is needed. Perhaps even more, private recognition of teachers' needs should be made, and those personal gifts and courtesies that we as ministers and others we love and respect should also be bestowed on every member of the teaching profession who is deserving.

What more can we offer until the day when these who serve are paid their due? Can we afford to offer less to these who by unselfish service so richly deserve more?

To the People Of Prestonsburg

After several weeks of talking with many of the good citizens of the town, and after weighing the matter carefully even prayerfully, I have decided to make the race for Mayor of Prestonsburg at the coming November election.

I propose to make this race not out of any particular personal ambition of mine but out of a desire to help our community become a better place to live in and a more decent, law-respecting and law-abiding city.

From time to time in coming weeks I will frankly state my position on the several matters that should be of interest to us all.

I will be on the ballot as a candidate who will fight and fight hard to win but, who will oppose others in a spirit of goodwill, with my main purpose to be of service to the place I live in and to the people among whom I live and work and make a living.

Your support and the influence you can use in my behalf will be deeply appreciated.

IF I HAVE A BOOK

By Bertha Ellen Hayes Stietz Library Division Chairman Lakeside, Florida

IF I HAVE A BOOK
I may be lonely, yet have company and entertainment;
I may be isolated, yet know great cities;
I may be lame or bed-ridden, yet travel through the far-off lands;
I may be ignorant, yet gain great knowledge;
I may be poor, yet share the luxury of kings in their palaces;
I may be obscure, yet touch the minds of the famous and the experience of the adventurous;
I may be unskilled, yet learn the arts from great masters;
I may be ill, but gain health from printed pages;
I may be blind, yet touch the earth below and the stars above with my fingertips;
I may be grief-stricken and despairing, yet receive comfort and hope from great philosophers;
I may be confused and puzzled, but find guidance;
I may be cynical and despondent, yet find new faith in the character of man and in the beneficent purpose of the universe. I may attain a deeper understanding of all things, and come to know my GOD, IF I HAVE A BOOK.

To My Many Friends and Relatives

Of Floyd County:

My son, Dick Spurlock, is the Republican nominee for Circuit Court Clerk of Floyd county. He has never asked for any County office and I am making this appeal through our county paper to you for your support and vote. I am disabled and am unable to see you personally, and I shall appreciate it if you will take this message as a personal talk to you. Dick promises you a SOBER, HONEST and A CAPABLE FLOYD administration and I will stake my reputation on this.

It would please me very much if you could come to see me at any time.

Always your kinsman and friend

B. M. SPURLOCK

FLOYD COUNTY IS DEMOCRATIC

The following information was compiled during the month of August from the clerk's office of the Floyd County Court, showing the number of registered voters in each of the four Magisterial District of Floyd County:

District No. 1—Democrats—6616	Republicans—1435
District No. 2—Democrats—3949	Republicans—609
District No. 3—Democrats—5911	Republicans—1083
District No. 4—Democrats—3197	Republicans—1045

Making a total of all voters of 23,845, with a Democratic majority of 15,501. It is conceded that a number of voters of both parties should be purged, some being dead and several others have moved away. There are 61 precincts in the county and no precinct shows a Republican majority by registration. We will give you later, precinct by precinct in each Magisterial District, showing the majority in each.

The primary will be a wide-open thing," this source said. There are aspirants to the Senate post a-plenty, and the Democratic party may be in for an "extra added attraction" before the nomination is decided.

There was no indication when the primary date will be set.

Already this week one candidate for the Senate post had announced. This candidate is Commonwealth's Attorney Burnis Martin whose term of office as prosecutor ends with this year. Mr. Martin did not announce his candidacy on either the Democratic or the Republican ticket. Asked if there isn't a strong possibility that the nominee will be named by committee action, he said, "I'll guarantee my name will be on the ballot."

The basic foundation program actually will cost the state $48,851,471. The other $7,250,762 of the school fund assures each district the $80 per capita guarantee.

Most of the $3,000,000 increase will be used to pay teachers, Dr. Martin said.

He estimated that 1,000 new teachers will be employed this year. Last year, public-school staffs totaled 22,596.

Dr. Martin predicts that the quality of instruction will improve this year. Many teachers, he added, improved their training by attending summer school.

Dr. Martin also anticipates other improvements in public schools this year:

1. More adequate school centers will be provided, and fewer one-, two-, and three-teacher schools will be operated. The amount available for capital outlay from state and local sources will increase from $8,382,888 to $9,942,440.

2. More classrooms will be available through new buildings, renovation, and rental property.

3. More instructional supervisors will be employed, and more special units of music, art, library service, guidance service, and other specialized services will be offered.

4. Cost of pupil transportation will increase $265,920, and will provide a more adequate and safer system.

P-BURG TEAM LOSES THREE

Merchant Batting Attack Sabbed by Tight Hurling; ouisa Team Began Twice

Over the past two week-ends the Prestonsburg Merchants came short on winners in dropping three out of five games to Blaine, Louisa and Wheelwright. The last team taking two games Monday at Wheelwright.

The five games found results as follows: Prestonsburg 1, Blaine 4, at Blaine; Prestonsburg 10, Louisa 8, at Louisa; Prestonsburg 10, Wheelwright 3, home; Prestonsburg 3, Wheelwright 8, at Wheelwright.

Only in the final game of the doubleheader with Wheelwright was a large score, 8-3, compiled against the Merchants. In the first game against Blaine, August 25, Clark, a righthander, held the Merchants to six hits, winning 4-1. The Merchants, on the week before, had enjoyed their biggest spree of the year in belting Grassy for 31 hits and 29 runs.

Pitcher Julian Campbell put Prestonsburg back on the winning side by holding Louisa to 7 hits and only one run as his team-mates pounded out 13 hits for a 4 to 1 victory. Don Sullivan led the team with two doubles and two singles in five times at bat. Campbell struck out 11 batters in the game.

Adrian Blackburn pitched a four hit, four run game to win, 10 to 4, while Don Sullivan collected a single and a triple to lead the Prestonsburg batting attack against Louisa. Prestonsburg's big inning came in the first when the first five men, Petrovich, Sullivan, Childers, Wilcox and Dotson got base hits. Then came an out on Junior May, Ellis singled, Harris forced Ellis, and another three base hits followed as Petrovich, Sullivan, and Childers tripled and singled once in the up-bidding.

The two 15-year-olds pleaded guilty to charges of juvenile delinquency, August 24, before Judge Pruitt. They said they had been forced at gun's point to assault the women. Pruitt said he would decide the course of prosecution in their cases September 28.

The suspects will appear in court at a later date to learn whether they may be granted release on bond.

WILL THE JUDGE TAKE THE FIFTH AMENDMENT?

These are questions for Henry Stumbo to answer if he will and can. The taxpayers and gas users of this county have a right to answers to these questions. They are honest inquiries about the gas and water deal. I ask them in the interest of good government. I ask them in the interest of decent, honest administration of our affairs.

- 1. Who originated the idea of the county buying the water and gas districts from private holders at huge profits?
2. Who set the price of $230,000 with an interest rate of five percent with the bonds going to the big money men at a 10 per cent discount, thus saddling this county with an indebtedness of $230,000 plus total interest of $179,950 or an overall total of $409,950?
3. Who bought the Wayland water and gas system for $22,000 from the Elkhorn Coal Corporation, sold the water system for $5,000 and later the Judge agreed and bought it for Floyd county at $67,500?
4. Who got the big profit out of the Wayland deal and did he get out of town with most of it?
5. The Allen-Dwale system was offered to a Floyd county business man for $12,000 before the county got interested through you. You bought it for the county at $45,000. Who reaped the big profit there?
6. The Garrett-Basco system sold at one time for $2,400 and later for $10,000. The county bought it through you for $45,000. I ask you, Henry Stumbo, to name the profit-takers here.
7. The Weeksbury water works sold for junk to a couple of men for $824. They tried to salvage the scrap iron in it and failed. The county bought it for $22,500. Who took their profits here?
8. Now Judge Stumbo answer this one. Who put $5,000 in the water and gas system to make it show a paper profit of a few hundred dollars just before the election?
9. Who suggested to you that the rates be raised the last time? Name these men. The people who pay excessive water and gas rates are entitled to know.
10. Why were you and the members of the fiscal court sued on this water and gas deal and you took $1,500 of the taxpayers money to hire a lawyer to fight your case?
The whole water and gas systems are now officially declared bankrupt by the Federal Court and a receiver has been appointed. One more question, Judge:
Do you propose to raise the water and gas rates again to save your big money friends?

ings and stuffed himself at his leisure.

Do you believe a bear can or will unscare the top from a jelly jar to satisfy his sweet tooth? Well, that's what this bear that made an acquaintance with these three did—so, they solemnly declare.

If the three are like the one I am best acquainted with, I have my doubts about the lid being on that jelly, to start with.

Most newspapers are careful to withhold from publication the names of juveniles involved in crime. Do you think those two 15-year-olds who had the effrontery to plead that they were forced at gun's point to rape two women in Pike county should be given such consideration? How ridiculous become when we play nubby-pammy with such youthful bestiality!

Isaac Shelby,
First Governor
Of Kentucky

By Charles F. Hinds,
Secretary-Treasurer of the Kentucky Historical Society, Frankfort, Sept. 3 (SPL)—The portrait of Isaac Shelby, first Governor of Kentucky, 1792-96, and again governor, 1812-16, hangs in the Governor's gallery in the Senate of the Old State House, along with portraits of all of Kentucky's Governors. Beneath Shelby's portrait is that of his wife, Susanna
Hart Shelby, daughter of Capt.
Nathaniel Hart of Booneboro. Both portraits were given to the Kentucky Historical Society in 1953 by Miss Susanna Hart Preston Crain-
by, a great-granddaughter of Shelby, Governor and Mrs. Shelby were painted by outstanding artists, the former by Matthew Jouett, the latter by Henry P. Davenport.

The Kentucky Legislature commissioned Edward C. Hoek in 1953 to paint a full-length view of Shelby which hangs on the east wall, flanked and opposed by the Governor's gallery.

Shelby was born in Maryland in 1750, and lived later in Virginia, North Carolina and Kentucky. He was the son of Evan Shelby, prominent landowner, army officer, and statesman. One of Isaac's prized possessions, now owned by the Society, was his father's razor, first carried in the French and Indian War and used later by both father and son.

At 24, young Lt. Isaac Shelby served with gallantry in his father's company at Point Pleasant (1774).
In the American Revolution, he is best remembered for leadership and heroism at King's Mountain (1780). He carried away a British rifle known as the "Brown Bess" as a souvenir. That rifle is now on display in the state museum.

From 1783 to 1787, Shelby played a prominent role in the Virginia district of Kentucky. In 1793, he helped frame Kentucky's first constitution and was elected first Governor.

After his first term, Shelby retired to "Fayette's Rest," south of Danville. In 1812 he was recalled to lead Kentucky in the War of 1812. For his role, Shelby was presented a gold medal by Congress, replicas of which are in the museum.

from the Blue Ridge Mountains.
A corporation headed by W. B.
Tweel, Augusta, Ga., has announced plans to reopen an old emerald mine near here, one of the few places in the United States where emeralds have been found.

The mine was discovered in 1885 and

York until 1904. It was reopened for testing in 1919, 1935, and 1942.
Three shafts have been sunk of the three has been drilled to a depth sufficient to hit an emerald pocket.

Ants Easily Controlled With Chlordane Spray

Lexington, Ky. — When ants make sudden appearance in the kitchen, reach for a chlordane spray, say Extension home management specialists at the University of Kentucky.

A 2-per cent oil base chlordane spray is easy to apply and sticks to walls and other up-and-down surfaces where ants often crawl in a regular line of march. The spray dries to an almost invisible coating, and is less likely to stain, spot or streak than other sprays.
It is particularly recommended for household use by the U. S.
Department in Washington.

If preferred, you may brush the spray on with a small paint brush to get it exactly where you want it, and also avoid any danger of drugging-spray mist.

Chlordane is effective out-of-doors, too, and is the only insecticide recommended for general use against ants in the vegetable garden. An application there will kill the ants quickly, and prevent reinfestation for several months.

Chlordane may be bought in the form of a spray, drench, dust or granules in hardware, drug or department stores. Before buying, check the label to be sure you are buying one that contains chlordane.

BOSTON, DETROIT STORES FEEL PINCH OF NEWSPAPER STRIKES

Stores accustomed to splashing news of their wares in newspaper columns were baffled August 9 when 200 mailers—men who prepare the papers for mailing and distribution—struck in Boston.

The presses were halted at Detroit's three dailies last Monday when about 180 printers walked off their jobs.

We certainly hate to see Don Claypool leaving our Extension Staff. Don has been in Floyd county one and a half years and became acquainted with a lot of people in the county. He has worked very successfully with the 4-H program, and many accomplishments can be attributed to his efforts. Don is going to the University of Kentucky to work on his Master's degree. We wish him the very best of luck.

Floyd Woman's Husband Dies Aug. 28 in Utah

Ernest Crawford, whose wife is the former Rhoda Diqua of Hite, died at Springdale, Utah last Wednesday after an illness of three years. Mr. Crawford was a native of Utah and was a farmer.

HOWARD FAMILY

Mr. and Mrs. Kermit Howard, of Dewart, gave a dinner last Friday night in honor of Don Claypool, who is leaving, and David Gillespie who has joined our staff. Of course, Jack Price and I were also along. Mrs. Howard certainly can prepare a wonderful meal.

FALL GARDENS

Our soils are extremely dry, but a late fall garden is still possible. The ground should be extremely disked to cut up weeds and work them into the soil. A fertilizer application of one pound of 10-10-10 or 12-12-12 fertilizer to 40 square feet should be applied. The seed can be broadcast, followed by a light raking.

You can sow rape (Dwart Essex), Spinach (Bloomdale or Norfolk), winter kale (Siberian) and turnip greens (seven top), a mixture of these should yield a good supply of greens throughout the winter.

Radishes and turnips can be sown from now to October 1. These are little trouble to grow, and will supply many enjoyable meals.

COLOR NOT RELIABLE

Color is not a reliable guide to pear ripeness. Some varieties will be green in color when ripe, others may be yellow when not fully ripe.

Last Alfalfa Cutting Due Six Weeks Before Frost

Lexington, Ky.—The last cutting of alfalfa in Kentucky should be made about six weeks before the normal time of the first killing frost, says Harold Miller, fertility specialist.

This last-cutting time is due to several reasons. One is that as alfalfa is cut, it draws on food reserves stored in roots to nourish young shoots; unless the plant can replenish the food before being harvested again or killed by frost, the plants are weakened and many will be winter-killed.

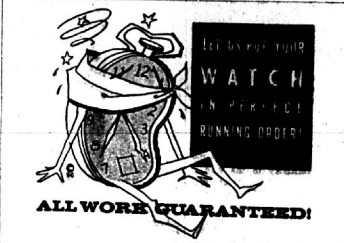

Miller emphasized that alfalfa, a most important hay crop for Kentucky, must be properly fertilized and properly managed to produce the maximum. One of the important factors in keeping good stands is maintenance of good reserves in the soil.

NAMED FOR WASHINGTON

Georgetown, Scott County, was incorporated by the Virginia Legislature in 1790 and named for George Washington. The town obtains its water supply from Royal Springs which produces 20,000 gallons of water an hour. The Springs were discovered and named in 1774 by Col. John Floyd, a pioneer adventurer and surveyor.

Kentucky POWER COMPANY

TO THE GOOD PEOPLE OF FLOYD COUNTY

My Republican opponent for the office of County Judge has set out on a campaign to blast me personally instead of basing his appeal to the people on his own qualifications, ability, integrity and desire to do a good job in the service of Floyd County.

I have never resorted to such tactics in any election. In the recent primary I had honorable men as my opponents, and I said no word about any of them that would prevent us from living in peace and good will as next door neighbors. I do not believe in violence in any form, or in any individual, but I must, as you will surely agree, defend myself.

Next week I propose to answer in detail the questions and insinuations made by my opponent who is your present Sheriff. This week I should like to ask him a few questions of my own:

1. Why do you, Sheriff Collins, in your raids on bootleggers take the liquor but fail to arrest the person who handles it? You complain of the courts—what about you? Could it be that you merely are HEADLINE HUNTING, rushing out on a raid, then rushing back to get the news spread over the county—but leaving the bootlegger behind to bootleg as openly as before?
2. Why have you and your deputies failed so consistently to appear at the trial of these liquor cases? You raided them and you found their whiskey and beer—why not testify to the fact? Witnesses are necessary, you know.
3. To what court has all this whiskey, gin and beer that you have confiscated been taken? The law provides that such illegal liquors shall be turned over to a court of law.
4. Are you blaming Judge Hill and Commonwealth's Attorney Martin for all the cases dismissed in Circuit Court? They did dismiss some liquor cases, just as I have, you know.

Let's be fair, Sheriff. Hoodwinking the people is a job no man should undertake. We all are only human and subject to error. I have made mistakes, I know, but I am sure I am not alone. You have made yours, and if you insist I will cite a few.

I ask the people of Floyd county to weigh the issues in this campaign carefully and not be influenced by sensational letters, handbills and advertisements which consider only one side. I am perfectly willing to rest my case in your hands, for I have a deep respect in the good sense of the people.

Sincerely,
HENRY STUMBO

Ewes on Bluegrass Conceive Faster in Test

Lexington, Ky. — Ewes grazing all season on bluegrass pasture conceived (lambled) about three weeks earlier than those grazed all season on such legumes as ladino clover and birdfoot trefoil pasture, says H. H. Pierce, UK Extension Service pasture specialist.

Pierce said checks were run in Ohio on the different types of pastures. The ewes on bluegrass pastures tended to have an earlier heat period, he said; 68 per cent of these ewes lambed on the first service, while only 41 per cent of the ewes on the ladino clover lambed on first service.

When workers checked the ewes on ladino clover and birdfoot trefoil, they found what they call "estrogenic activity" in these animals. This activity makes it a little more difficult for the ewes to conceive.

ROD, RULE, ROCK AND REIGN

Dear Readers:

I am coming to you with four big "R's". First, I would like to explain the picture which is an exception to the rule. My rod of iron is to represent Jesus Christ and the Holy Spirit. There is a picture of Governor A. B. Chandler and one of my first born son, Foster Meade, his wife and their only daughter, Eva Carole Meade. Beside me is Karen Behymer, age 8. She is the daughter of Edward and Bonnie Behymer, of Latonia, Kentucky. Bonnie is also my first born. Her father is Levi Hill. I know Karen is my granddaughter because her mother is my daughter.

Grandmother is mentioned once in the Bible (and Timothy Chapter 1, verse 1-5). When the picture was made we were standing on the sidewalk. In the background you can see the tall corn in my "Dedicated Garden". Our first governor, Joseph, was the first-born of his mother, the favorite wife of Jacob worked fourteen years for the one he loved best. Joseph, his favorite son, had only one whole brother Benjamin. After Joseph made himself known to his brothers and talked rough to them to prove them, he gave Benjamin five times more than the others (Genesis chapter 45, verse 22).

Our Governor of Kentucky is waiting the Holy Land and I held up my rod and his picture to ask a special blessing on him and Mrs. Chandler while they are away. Now this is a serious year! Men and nations must get right with God and each other if they want peace and prosperity. I am doing all I know to do to please God and if truth and justice doesn't please men my work will stand anyway. My Bible says if a man's ways please the Lord, He will make his enemies at peace with him. That stands good for women, too. It is time for qualified men and women to stand up and be counted.

Rod of Moses (Exodus Chapter 4); Rod of Aaron (Numbers Chapter 17 and Hebrews Chapter 4); Budded and blossomed over night (Isaiah chapter 6, verse 6 and chapter 11, verses 1 and 2); Rule the nation with a rod of iron (Revelations Chapter 19, verse 8). This is speaking of Jesus Christ's rule. He that rules over men must be just ruling in fear of God. (2nd Samuel Chapter 23, verse 3 and Colossians Chapter 3, verse 15); built Church on rock (St. Matthew chapter 16, verse 8 and Isaiah chapter 17, verse 10). For if by one man's offense death reigned by one; much more they which receive abundance of grace and of the gift of righteousness shall reign in life by one, Jesus Christ. (Romans Chapter 5, verse 17). So, you see, it is not the church nor politics that saves. It is the blood of Jesus Christ. God bless America to forget foolishness and names such as Democrats and Republicans, Catholics and Baptists, and pull together like a team of white horses and go on conquering.

I am a crucified Christian and the Lord's free woman. I am deeply interested in a great spiritual awakening among leaders in high places. I am sure if I could get cooperation Kentucky and Floyd county (especially Floyd county) would be a better place for our grandchildren to live. Sincerely and Prayerfully yours,
EVA MEADE HALL (Adv.)

Dr. Rose To Head Next March of Dimes

The 20th Anniversary March of Dimes in Kentucky, scheduled for January 2-31, will be headed by Dr. Frank A. Rose, Lexington, president of Transylvania College. Dr. Rose was state chairman of the polio campaign last January which raised $675,000.

The 1958 March of Dimes marks 20 years since Franklin D. Roosevelt, himself severely stricken by paralytic polio, organized the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis to "lead, direct and unify" the fight against polio. In these short 20 years money given by the American people to the March of Dimes financed an all-out scientific effort to control the dreaded crippling and resulted in the development of the safe and effective Salk vaccine.

"Pay more... what for? Ford's the buy!"
Why? Because this 1957 Ford gives you the advanced features, the solid ride, the effortless handling that you expect to find only in expensive cars. And when it comes to looks, where can you find fresher styling than in the sculptured-in-steel lines of this new Ford?
Ford's superiority is evident in many places. In the vital rear axle, the pinion gear that turns the rear wheels is straddle-mounted... supported between two anti-friction bearings instead of being "overhung" from a single bearing. This makes operation quieter, smoother and longer-lasting. It's a feature that Ford shares with only one other car maker in the world—Rolls Royce.
Or consider Ford's famous V-8 engine. No other manufacturer in the industry today electrically balances every V-8 engine, while operating under its own power, the way that Ford does. This means you get a smoother-running engine—the finest V-8 in Ford's 25 years of V-8 leadership.
These are only a few of the important hidden values that are yours in Ford. But they indicate why so many people who can pay almost any price for a car—people who have driven expensive cars for years—are buying Ford today. Action Test this great performing car at your Ford Dealer's just one and you, too, will ask, "Pay more... what for?"
YOU CAN SPEND HUNDREDS MORE... BUT YOU CAN'T BUY BETTER THAN THE NEW KIND OF FORD

State Advises Needy Persons On Home Budgets

Frankfort, Sept. 3 (Sp.)—The state is providing public assistance recipients a consultant service in home economics, according to Commissioner V. E. Barnes of the Department of Economic Security.

Barnes said, "In our Children's Services Division we have, in addition to social workers, a trained home economist. These work closely with the Division of Public Assistance which administers the State's grant-in-aid programs—old age assistance and aid to the needy blind, dependent children and the totally disabled."

The commissioner added, "We can't supply more than just enough to meet the bare necessities of the needy and we don't pretend to police their use of the assistance grants provided them. We can and are, however, offering counseling services to many such needy families."

Barnes said "recipients of state aid are recognizing the practical values of this new consultant service in stretching pinched family budgets to meet basic needs. The new service has economic and social values to the recipients, their communities and the state."

Barnes explained that the consultant aids a needy family by advising in the drafting of its budget, making shopping tours with family members and counseling on grocery buying methods. The consultant advises on food values and diet balance and teaches the family how to do certain things for itself in order to live on limited funds, Barnes said.

DISABILITY VETERANS TO GET PAY INCREASE NEXT MONTH

More than 40,000 disabled veterans in Kentucky will get higher compensation checks for service-connected disabilities, starting with checks mailed out at the end of October, 1957, Ray R. Adams, manager of the VA regional office in Louisville said this week.

Public Law 65-168, signed by the President on August 27, authorizes the increased payments, Adams said.

Veterans already on VA's compensation rolls need take no action to get the raise, he emphasized. It will be paid automatically.

Also increased will be the special allowances for dependent paid veterans whose service-connected disabilities are rated at 50 percent or more.

With a few exceptions, the increase will be approximately 10 percent across the board, except for totally disabled veterans rated at 100 percent, whose boost amounts to 24.3 per cent.

Unchanged are three statutory rates, two of them at $47 each, involving the anatomical loss, or loss of use, of one part of the body, and the third, at $87 as the minimum rate for arrested tuberculosis. These rates may be payable in addition to the percentage of ratings for service-connected disabilities.

Compensation rates payable to veterans whose service-connected disabilities were suffered during peacetime service under non-extrahazardous conditions are 80 percent of the new wartime rates. Peacetime service disabilities suffered under extrahazardous conditions may be payable at the wartime rates.

Not affected by the increase are the compensation rates paid survivors of veterans whose deaths were service-connected or non-service-connected disability or death.

Following are both old and new wartime rates of compensation paid to veterans for service-connected disabilities:

ATTENTION VETERANS
Disabled veterans have until June 30, 1958, to file for social security disability protection, according to Director R. E. Thomas of the Kentucky Disabled Ex-Servicemen's Board.

He points out that a new law extended for one year the deadline for freeing social security earnings records. Thomas advises disabled veterans eligible for the disability freeze to file for the benefit before the deadline.

Failure to do so, Thomas warns, could cause future social security benefits for the veterans and his family to be greatly reduced or lost.

KENTUCKIETTE
Legend records that Thomas Metcalfe, a Kentucky governor and U. S. Senator, once won a race riding two horses.

The feat, the story goes, was in response to a challenge by a Virginian who came to Nicholas County with a mount that he boasted could outrun anything on hoofs. Kentucky pride responded and the local gent declared a barefoot lad of the community could ride two horses at once and still beat the Virginian. This lad was Metcalfe.

During the race, one of Metcalfe's horses had to leap a stump, upsetting the future governor's equilibrium somewhat, but he was not thrown. He overtook the Virginian and finished a full length ahead.

Kentucky's school buses transport 277,333 pupils a total of 150,181 miles a day.

ALCOHOLISM RANKED MAJOR ILL WITH 5,000,000 VICTIMS IN U.S.

Washington, June 30—Alcoholism today claims nearly 5,000,000 victims in the United States. It ranks with heart disease, cancer and mental illness as one of four major health problems.

America is spending millions to cure the other three diseases—and is getting results. But we have yet to launch an effective national fight against alcoholism. The number of alcoholics is growing at a rate of at least 100,000 a year.

These are some of the findings of a United States Press survey into the status of the long-promised "counter-attack" against alcoholism.

The survey showed heartening progress in some areas—namely in new treatment techniques which today offer the alcoholic a bright prospect of recovery if he seeks competent help.

But it also showed that only a small percentage of alcoholics are receiving the treatment they need. There are still vast gaps in our knowledge about this affliction. And, in the words of Dr. William C. Menninger, the famous psychiatrist, "only a pittance of money is being devoted to changing the picture."

The present scope of the alcoholism problem—and our comparatively feeble efforts to deal with it—are demonstrated in the

COET IN EQUH

Washington, June 30—Americans spend more than 10 billion dollars a year on alcoholic beverages, approximately the same sum that they invest in education.

Last year they consumed 234,632,922 gallons of 100-proof distilled spirits; 90,897,911 barrels of wine; and 509,156,342 gallons of beer.

Consumption of distilled spirits has increased about 23 per cent since 1950. Beer consumption has gone up about nine per cent, and wine about 200 per cent.

Following facts, supplied by the American Medical Association, the National Council on Alcoholism, the Yale Center for Alcohol Studies, the National Institute of Mental Health and state alcoholism agencies:

If you drink alcoholic beverages—and well over half of all American adults do—the statistical odds are one in 10 that you will become an alcoholic. Medical science no longer draws the distinction that was popular a few years ago between "problem drinkers" and alcoholics. It now applies the diagnosis of alcoholism to any drinker who depends on alcohol to meet the ordinary demands of living and who after alcohol has begun to cause him serious problems at home or at work.

Alcoholism, thus defined, is increasing in all parts of the country, in all segments of society, and at all age levels from 20 to 65. The number of women alcoholics is growing especially fast. Before prohibition, only one out of 25 alcoholics was a woman. Today, the ratio is at least one out of five—some authorities say much higher.

It is easy to underestimate the incidence of alcoholism because it is an "iceberg" problem—90 per cent hidden from sight. For every Skid-Row type of alcoholic, whose degeneration of mind and body has become too great to be disguised, there are nine "hidden alcoholics" who are in the early or middle stages of the progressive disease.

These "hidden alcoholics" are all the while busy businessmen. They continue to function, at least part time, as wives and mothers, as business and professional men. The vast majority of them will not acknowledge their problem to themselves, but they have lost control over their drinking and have become addicted to alcohol.

The real cost of alcoholism can not be measured, because no one can put a price tag on a broken home, a brilliant career down the drain, a human life that turns into a nightmare of hangovers, black outs, broken promises and uncontrollable cravings.

But a conservative estimate of the cost can be estimated. Wage losses attributed to alcoholism amount to $42,000,000 a year. When you add in higher crime rates, hospital rates, law enforcement and medical expenses, authorities estimate one billion dollars a year—a conservative figure for the direct, countable cost of alcoholism.

And who are we depending on to combat this menace? The one-word answer suggested by the survey is "peanuts."

Thirty-three states and the District of Columbia now have official alcoholism programs. Some of them exist mainly on paper. Others operate clinics and hospitals, and conduct research and public education services.

For the support of all of these programs, state legislatures last year voted a grand total of $3,623,100.

The number of patients treated by all state-supported facilities in 1956 was 22,906—or less than one out of every 200 of the nation's alcoholics.

The research picture is equally bleak. A check of major federal, state and private agencies listed up a total annual outlay of less than $700,000 for alcoholic studies of alcoholism. This is only one-fifth as much as the Agriculture Department spends each year for research on foot and mouth disease in cattle.

The need for a much broader research effort has long been recognized by scientists. Seven years ago, the National Research Council announced, with considerable authority, the opportunity of a special committee on alcohol problems. It was stated that this committee would act as a central coordinating body, directing nationwide scientific assault on the unsolved problems of alcoholism.

The committee's principal activity to date has been to parcel out modest research grants from funds provided by the licensed beverage industries. During the 1956-57 fiscal year, it supported 14 projects totaling $38,400. The committee has not met for more than a year. It has at present no chairman, no staff, and no plans for the future.

There is, however, another privately-supported organization which shows promise of doing for alcoholism what the National Foundation for Infantile Paralysis has done for polio, and what the National Heart Association has done for heart disease.

It is called the National Council on Alcoholism, Inc. Its national headquarters are at 1 East 103rd Street, New York, and it has 51 local affiliates in all parts of the country. Its directors include many of the top physicians and psychiatrists in the nation who have been actively interested in alcoholism.

The council's avowed goal is to "raise public opinion and mobilize it for action" against alcoholism. With a very limited budget, it has so far had to confine its activities primarily to public education.

But it is now seeking to expand its work to include research and treatment facilities. It hopes to raise $500,000 from private contributions this year, and more in the future.

'Hot' Material Hapdled With Aid of 31D TV

London—English scientists can handle radioactive materials more than half a mile away through novel television arrangement that gives a three-dimensional picture. The camera provides right-and-left-eye views, which are superimposed. Wearing polarized glasses, the scientists see a composite view in 3-D and can carry on their work better with master manipulators that handle the digitized radioactive materials.

American Spending In Europe Climbs

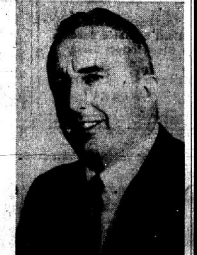

Washington—The Commerce Department reports that foreign expenditures of American traveling abroad show that Europe has become the principal foreign travel market. Expenditures there by American travelers rose to $472,000,000 in 1956, an increase of $43,000,000, or 10 per cent, over 1955. Expenditures in Canada and Mexico were about 6 per cent higher.

This Town— That World

I have sat here for at least ten minutes staring out the window in search of an idea for this column. And the only thing that has occurred to me is that the window needs washing.

THEY HAVE OUR SYMPATHY
The squirrel-hunters began straggling in this week, and they made about as sorry a picture as yours truly or any one else ever presented on their return from an unsuccessful fishing trip. One threw up his hands, shouting, "I'll confess!" and admitted to killing three. Another stood under stiff grilling, including arm-twisting, before finally breaking down and squeaking something about killing two.

The dry weather, of course, was the cause. Just like the moon and the wind and the signs and the dratted fish.

Well, what do we expect the poor things to do—come looking for us?

BEAR TALE
Speaking of hunters and fishermen and their trials and tribulations, we note that three youngsters from Prestonsburg recently were hunted while doing some fishing on Fontana lake. They made the mistake of catching a few fish, and the bears moved in their camp that night.

The boys—W. Goebel, Floyd Johnson and David Allen—returned to Kentucky a day ahead of schedule and were the last of the bear to see.

When they arrived they told of their experiences in a somewhat less sort of way. It made you wonder if maybe they were still trying to hold their breath as they did in their tent one night while Brer Bear went through their ice box and other belongings.

PUPIL TOTAL AT NEW HIGH

1,500 Registered Here in High, Grade Schools; Both Show Heavy Gains

Fifteen hundred youngsters returned to school here this week. Enrollment at Prestonsburg high school hit a new high Wednesday with the registration of sophomores, and the increase over the 1936 registration may exceed 50, James V. Bolten, new principal at the school, said.

The enrollment by classes: Freshmen, 214; juniors, 150; seniors, 131; sophomores (last to register), an estimate, 150.

The grade school enrollment was 804, Woodrow Allen, principal, said. This was an increase of 104 over last year's enrollment.

Approximately 845 were registered at the high school last week. With about 695 already enrolled this year, the number may within the next few days pass the 700 mark, it is believed.

Mr. Bolten said the school has a full complement of teachers, although the Commerce department does not have an instructor who has majored in that field. He indicated that registration and preparation for regular classroom work have moved along smoothly. "With the cooperation of the parents of our pupils, our teachers and I as principals will strive to give the people a good, fruitful school year," the principal said.

FLOYD, FIVE OTHERS TO GET OVER MILLION

STATE FUNDS FOR SCHOOLS $1,434,622,000

Tentative Aid Figures Show County To Get $62,320 over '36 Fund

Floyd county is one of five state school districts in Kentucky to receive more than $1,000,000 this year from the state under the Minimum Fund Program, it was announced in Frankfort last week.

This county's allotment for this school term is $1,434,622, more than was allotted last year, the first year of the foundation program in the state.

The total outlay of the state for the year in carrying out the program will be $7,102,233—an increase of $3,000,000 from last year, Dr. Robert R. Martin, state superintendent of public instruction, said.

These allotments, however, are tentative, and the final allotments will be made by next March 1. The other districts slated to receive more than $1,000,000 from the state are:

Louisville, $3,315,712, an increase of $65,574.

Jefferson county, $2,730,952, an increase of $293,648.

The county, $1,609,633, an increase of $117,540; $1,434,622, an increase of $54,437.

Floyd county, $1,434,622, an increase of $62,320.

Perry county, $1,022,792, an increase of $47,800.

Here is how some neighboring counties and independent districts fare under the 1937-38 finance plan:

Johnson county, $463,304, an increase of $27,305 from last year; Paintsville independent district, $117,540, increase of $13,100; Van Lear, $39,071, up $641.

Other counties, $370,176, loss of $6,674; Maguffin county, $306,139, gain of $3,022; Martin county, $355,245, increase of $30,490.

The school districts will be required to raise at least $411,913-271 in local tax revenue as their share of support, an increase of $1,834,107 over last year.

The foundation law was enacted in 1934 and fully financed by a $20,000,000 increase during the 1936-37 school term. It guarantees that every child in the state will get a full year of average daily attendance of the district's per capita income.

VETERAN KY. SENATOR HEART VICTIM AT 80

Doak Hays, veteran State Senator from this district and Democratic stalwart in Eastern Kentucky politics, died at the age of 80 of a heart attack Saturday night at his home at McDowell.

Senator Hays was stricken while alone at his home at McDowell. Mrs. Esther Sammons, attracted by a light in the room, found him lying face down on the floor, in intense pain, when she arrived from her nearby residence. A son, Wickliffe, of New Creek, was called and the stricken man removed to the hospital, where he was held until the son's arrival was awaited. He died at 11:15.

Senator Hays had been in his usual state of health, and his poisoning came as a shock to hundreds of relatives and friends over a wide section of Kentucky.

Born April 23, 1857 in Letcher county, he was a son of Lewis and Margaret Beveridge Hays and was a member of a family that was for many years prominent in Knott county politics. He was first married to Lulu Martin, and after her death to Lizzie Thickett Hamilton, who survives. He was a descendant of the quarter-stock Cherokee Indian, Golden Hawk, and was wont to remind relatives that they and he were members of the "Golden Seed."

Mr. Hays was in his fourth term in the Senate. He was first elected in 1943. Known as "Saw-Loggin' Doak Hays," he was even more prominently the sobriquet of "Mr. Floyd County Democrat." Although he was

3,066 Floyd Residents Receive Chest Exams - At Free X-Ray Clinics

A total of 3,066 Floyd county residents took advantage of the free services offered recently by the mobile X-ray unit which came here under the auspices of the State Board of Health and the Floyd County Health Department.

Of this number at least 90% were adults, M. V. Clark, health department administrator, said. Heretofore the proportion of youths and adults has been about 50-50, he said. The number receiving chest examinations this year topped the total in 1936 by 277.

Clinicians said that, even though this year's new location at McDowell held a little short of the 300 goal set for it, they will recommend McDowell for a re-entrance.

ALMOST SEATED ON GRAND JURY IVEL MAN LOSES PLACE AS RAIDS ON HIS HOME TOLD BY OFFICER

An unusual situation arose in circuit court here Tuesday morning as the grand jury was being empaneled.

The name of Mack Hunt, of Ivel, was called as one of those whose names had been drawn from the jury drum. He was seated with the other jurors.

But, once the panel was completed, Judge Edward P. Hill paused before delivering his instructions. Then he remarked that a member of the jury had had a business case dismissed against him at a previous court term and had been the object of Sheriff's raids.

As he questioned the juror's right to serve, and at the same time recalled the law which provides that a citizen be eligible for jury service must be sober, honest and disinterested and not convicted of a felony, and they are not to go beyond the limits of their divisions. This was done, it was explained by Superintendent W. C. Turner, to save travel time and expense.

Mrs. Anna Sue Stumbo, wife of Lloyd Stumbo and a teacher in the McDowell school, was employed as supervisor of schools. She takes the place of Woodrow Supply, 200 from Dependable School Supply and 100 from West Virginia Seating Company.

Several teachers were employed, but their placement had not been effected Tuesday. Superintendent Turner said that the teacher situation, apparently, is better than that of last year.

The board purchased 600 seats on bids—300 from Central School Supply, 200 from Dependable School Supply and 100 from West Virginia Seating Company.

JUDGE ADVISES JURY TO PROBE BOOTLEGGING, RECENT ELECTION

SENATE SEAT IS AT STAKE

How Hays' Successor To Be Named, Problem Widely Discussed Here

Death of Senator Doug Hays and the resultant Senate vacancy pose an interesting political situation in the 29th Senatorial district which is composed of Floyd, Knott and Martin counties.

The theory of the procedure to be followed would have had a special general election, its date possibly to coincide with the regular November election.

But the Times learned Tuesday night that word out of Frankfort is that there will be a special primary and a special final election to name Senator Hays' successor. A special final election, in that case, would not coincide with the regular November election, because there would not be time to hold the primary and have the nominees certified the required 60 days before the November election, it was said.

Two 15-Year-Old Boys Named in Gang Offense Against Virginia Women

Pikeville, Ky., Sept. 3—Seven young men, one of them still at large, and two juveniles were indicted by a special Pike county grand jury Tuesday for the mass rape of two teen-age sisters last month.

Additional indictments for malicious striking and wounding were returned against two of the accused, Ouzie Farrell, 22, Freeborn, and James Blainship, age and address not stated.

Blainship has not been arrested.

The others, all indicted for rape, include: Phillip Smith, 23, Coleman; Harold Dolan, 22, Freeborn; his brother, Thomas Dolan, 15, Frank Norman, 18, Freeborn; Dawson Ashby, 22, Phyllis, and two 15-year-olds.

All are held in the county jail after having awaited examination trial before County Judge Ervin S. Pruitt, District 2. They were held to the special grand jury.

The charges stemmed from an alleged mass rape of Mrs. Gladys Spurlock, 19, mother of two children, and her sister, 15, on a road near route Freeborn, between midnight and 3 a.m. August 18.

Everett Spurlock, 22, had stopped his car to repair a flat tire while on his way with his wife, two children, and sister-in-law to their home at Grandville, Va.

They were beset by the men who drove up in a car, one of whom was twice beat Spurlock, forcing him to flee when he resisted, Spurlock and the women told police.

State Police Detective T. C. Cornett quoted the sisters that they
