This Town— That World

A pedestrian, we are told, is a man who thought one car was enough for his family.

TTT FOR TAT

It isn't often that we publish poetry, and we aren't sure we're doing that even now, but this seems so appropriate (and it can be turned around next spring):
Tired teachers were in clover
Last springtime when they were
Those inquisitive youngsters
To mothers worn and grave;
But now their faces feature
Are rather solemn, for
The time has come for mothers
To even up the score!

Squirrel-hunters may get back at us fishermen, after all. If this drouth persists, the river may get so dry a body won't be able to slip on the fish.

DEFERRED PAYMENT

This has something to do with a newspaper editor and religion, so it should be read:
There was the subscriber, an unbeliever, who wrote this editor a letter for publication. And this, in effect, is what he wrote:

"I plowed my ground on Sunday, planted my corn on Sunday, hoed it on Sunday, cut it Sunday, pulled the corn and hauled it into the crib on Sunday, and this October 1 I saw the corn in the crib in the county. Now what do you say about a man paying for his sins?"

The editor wasn't noted for his faith, but in publishing the letter he wrote this note at the bottom:

"The Bible doesn't say anything about God getting his account in October."

LONG DROUTH EXACTS TOLL

Late Corn Crop a Loss, Pastures Hard Hit, Says County Agent in Report

The weeks-long drouth which this week's rain not only failed to break but also fell short of denting, has taken its toll of Floyd county's farm crops and gardens. County Agent Robert Jones said this week.

"Early corn has done pretty well, but late corn is whipped," Jones said. Pastures are badly dried up, but fall rain—when and if it comes—will bring them back.

The potato crop was well toward "making itself" before the drouth struck, yet it isn't up to par. Potatoes are still off well from the start this year.

The lone aromatic tobacco crop growing in the county—the approximately half acre owned by Garland Martin, of Eastern—is doing well, however. His tobacco is looking better. As for the crop, the County Agent said. Burley tobacco in this section and in the Blue Grass section has suffered heavily from the drouth.

But one of the heaviest losses on farms of this section came along before the hot, dry days of August. Last April's frosts almost completely wiped out the Eastern Kentucky fruit crop. County Agent Jones said one Johnson said his was the worst failure in 35 years.

GRAND JURY INDICTS PIKEVILLE ATTORNEY

HALL CLAIMS MONEY USED BY LAWYER

Deputy Sheriffs Accused
Of False Arrest; Breaks
Followed by Indictments

Of approximately 60 indictments returned by the grand jury before its recess Monday, 45 were of a serious nature and among these was the indictment of a well-known Pike county attorney on an embezzlement charge.

The attorney, Kenneth Howe, was accused of converting to his own use $5,000 in checks and currency acquired in a suit which he represented in the Pike county attorney's office. Howe was indicted this year by the grand jury and committed June 14, 1936.

Howe was indicted this year by the grand jury and committed June 14, 1936. A former Floyd deputy sheriff and two who are now deputies were also named in the indictments. They are Charles H. Nesley, who no longer is a deputy and who has been indicted in Lexington hospital, was accused of abetting robbery, Marion Yates alleging that Nesley took his personal property on the county, and J. Reed and Joe Wheeler Lewis were charged with unlawful arrest in the arrest of Dr. Rossett, Jr., at Estill. The indictment pointed out that they accepted $2,000 in possession of the grand jury for the purpose of sale, which he had committed no offense.

Charles Nelson, of Paintsville, was named in a voluntary manslaughter indictment growing out of the death of a child, James Craft, on Little Paint when struck by Nelson's truck, June 12, 1936.

Norman B. Hamilton, of an armed robbery charge in connection with the hammer attack on Homer's store at Aten and the robbery of a fruit market there where Borders was employed.

Many numerous of major indictments were returned in the breaking and entering, grand larceny and robbery. Indicted for these offenses were:

WIDOW OF FEUD VICTIM IN 1890 SUCCEUMS AT HOME NEAR HERE

The famed mountain vein claimed the life of Mrs. Wright's first husband, John S. Baldwin, whose slaying is said to have resulted from the fact that two of his sisters married McCoy's. Harry Baldwin, son of Mrs. Wright and her first husband, was seized by Hatfield partisans, while a mere babe and about the time his father was killed but the child was recovered by the family after he had been left by the roadside as dead. His father was slain in a shooting affray at the death home in Mingo county, West Virginia, near Lenore, Harry Baldwin now resides at Oak Hill, Ohio.

JURORS HEAR MOORE STORY

Clerk Says His Report
On Absentee Balloting
Is Voluntarily Given

County Clerk DuRan Moore said Monday that he had voluntarily appeared before the grand jury after learning that Circuit Judge Edward P. Hill had advised the jury to investigate the handling of absentee ballots at the August primary election. At the same time he announced that any records of absent employees of the Clerk's office are available to the grand jury.

"It is time the people know the truth about the absentee ballots," Moore said in a statement he had prepared for the grand jury. "I have not personally made a statement because the election was in litigation 'and I have a finding by the court that I have a finding by the court that a personal statement from one of the participants."

The clerk's report stated that two special judges have found no irregularities sufficient to invalidate the absentee ballots and that their judgments have been affirmed by the Court of Appeals. "Still," he added, "there are those who would have us believe that my wife and I are guilty of gross misconduct in handling the absentee ballots."

He listed as "facts you may now know":

1. That there were only 301 absentee ballots out of a total of 14,000 Democratic votes and that this was a very small percentage of absentees in comparison with other counties.
2. That at least one other candidate received more absentee votes than he received by another received only seven fewer than he did, and that Judge Hill's absentee vote was only 13 less than his.
3. That in practically every county in the state the incumbent clerk received a higher percentage of the vote.

(See Story No. 5, Page 4)

MARTIN URGES OPEN PRIMARY

Candidate Also Says,
Selection of Senator's
Kin Would Be Approved

Commonwealth's Attorney Martin, of Lexington, urged Monday that the absentee ballot be received in the list of counties. He said that the absentee ballot be received in the list of counties. He said that the absentee ballot be received in the list of counties.

Mr. Goble said there is a strong possibility Floyd county still will be included in the list of counties to receive these funds, which are to be used to establish or re-establish permanent cover on flooded areas.

The ASC secretary here said $25,000 already has been made available to this county for this same purpose. The funds also may be used for site preparation (clearing away of brush) for the planting of seedlings. ASC can pay to 80% of the actual cost of each clearing but its contribution may not exceed $30 an acre.

SOIL DAMAGE ERROR COSTS

Floyd Omitted from List
Of Counties, But Correct
Damage Estimate Is Made

What is believed to have been a typographical error in reporting flood damage to Floyd county, at least temporarily corrects a county place among the Eastern Kentucky counties which will receive allotments for the repair of damage caused by last January's floods.

The damage was erroneously reported as 15%. This has now been corrected and the damage placed at 35%. Edible Goble, secretary of the Agriculture Stabilization Committee, said. The corrected report also noted that "damage on some of this flooded land, if not corrected, would be as high as 100%."

Mr. Goble said there is a strong possibility Floyd county still will be included in the list of counties to receive these funds, which are to be used to establish or re-establish permanent cover on flooded areas.

The ASC secretary here said $25,000 already has been made available to this county for this same purpose. ## HARRIS BROS. IN NEW BUILDING LOOK BACK 11 YEARS

The three Harris brothers and their employees are photographed in front of their new building.

"It was a shrewd proposition," they admit. They also will tell you that the business has grown in a rich-quick proposition to maintain this rolling of debt and we developed as we grew.

They haven't splurged, these brothers, but they have this new building housing their offices and plans the work, handles materials and keeps things moving. Fred, youngest of the three, runs one of the office work. "All these are good men," their employees are proud.

The brothers got into the construction business because they had worked all their adult lives in that field and finally decided to strike out on their own. Floyd Harris, J. E. Harris and Forrest Burdett first formed the firm of Harris, Burdett & Harris, and the brothers took over from them, with Floyd Harris the new firm. Their first job was the construction of a seven-mile power line for the Inland Steel Company in 1914. It was the company that is now the preparation plant at Price. Now the company does all construction for the Kentucky Power Company in eight Kentucky counties, Floyd, Pike, Knott, Magoffin, Johnson, Morgan, Breathitt and Letcher, and for the Appalachian Power Company in McDowell and Mingo counties, West Virginia, and a

Picture of the Christ Leads to Man's Arrest

Recognition here of a picture of Christ some five hours after the 7 p.m. Sunday burglary of the Raymond Joseph home, on Little Point Creek about three miles north of Prestonsburg helped to identify the guilty and solve the crime.

Lot of the Sabbath Day break-in included a television set and the picture which lights up electrically and sits atop the set as an ornament.

After discovery of the robbery, the Joseph family left home to visit relatives at "Joseph Flats" here. And that is where the guilty was almost caught flat-footed if not red-handed.

Near midnight a car drove up in front of the home of Mrs. Germain Salisbury, an aunt of Joseph, and a man alighted offering to sell a television set "real cheap" — for only $20.

The television set was in the back seat of the car and so was the picture. Mrs. Joseph recognized the picture and the set. She grabbed the picture and accused the man.

WASP STING FATAL
Cape Girardeau, Mo. — Ray J. Hill, a 45-year-old farmer, was stung by a red horned wasp and died 15 minutes later. A doctor said he probably died from a violent allergy to the wasp's poison.

During an exchange of words, others ran to get Mr. Joseph who was asleep a few yards distant at the home of some other relatives. The man suddenly returned the verbal exchange by knocking Mrs. Joseph down as he leaped into his car and escaped with the set still in the car but with Mrs. Joseph still hanging onto her picture of Christ.

The Josephs immediately notified police who conducted a search for the escaping car. Mrs. Joseph and other members of the family told police they were positive of identification of the man who tried to sell the set and were certain that the set and picture were the ones taken from their home.

Must Everybody Approve?

Racial integration in the schools is now a law of the land, confirmed by the highest court in the land.

The latter is unpleasant, and sometimes it and other taxes seem almost confiscatory. Yet there has been no revolt against it.

But this law of racial integration involving equality of human rights is revolting to a part of the county, and so there is rebellion against the authority of the United States.

If the turmoil that has arisen in the South, particularly in the state of Arkansas, is Communist-inspired, Red Russia has perhaps done its most effective work in this country.

Let us suppose that by action of the national Selective Service Act those National Guardsmen of Governor Faubus' were to be called via the draft for Army service—would the rebellious Governor and his armed forces invoke the doctrine of state's rights, simply because they prefer to stay home, and refuse to obey another Federal law?

We deeply sympathize with some Southern communities in the present crisis. We know that their problems are greater than are readily realized, inasmuch as the Negro population in some parts of the South far exceeds the white, and that for this reason some of the opposition of Southerners to integration is not motivated by racial hatred but to regard as a necessity.

We know also the so-called interest in the Negro race is far from simple-prime idealism. We know that this is a political issue, because there is a heavy Negro vote, and this knowledge is emphasized by the fact that the American Indian and his plight is little-discussed.

Yet the sins against the Indian do not erase those against the Negro. The matter of human rights is still there, and on this freedom and this equality America will over the long haul stand or fall.

FARM NOTES

By Robert M. Jones, County Agent

September is considered the best month to sow grass seed in the lawn. This applies both to new and old lawns.

On old lawns that don't have a good stand, sow 1000 square feet of bluegrass seed per 1000 square feet.

On bare spaces, scratch the ground with a rake, and tramp the soil after seeding. On grassy areas, sow the seed on top of the grass. It will work into the soil.

Crabgrass is maturing seed now. Continue to clip the grass and rake off the clippings to remove as much crabgrass seed as possible.

Plan now to fertilize your lawn in November. By this time crabgrass will be dead, and bluegrass will be starting to grow.

Every September, lawns should be seeded with bluegrass seed. Lawns have a chance of reseeding themselves, and will eventually die out if not reseeded.

New lawns should have an application of a complete fertilizer or lime before seeding. These should be raked into the soil along with the seed.

Make a seed mixture of one part bluegrass and one part of redtop, and sow 2 1/2 pounds of this mixture to 1000 square feet. This should be sown on top of the soil.

Don't rake the bluegrass but roll the lawn, this will pull the seed into the soil.

If you have special problems with your lawn, you can call the County Agent's office for further information.

Next week all extension agents will be in Lexington attending the annual Extension Workers Conference. At this conference we are brought up to date on new methods of procedure enabling us to be of more service to you.

Approximately 300,000,000 people in the world today are largely on the ocean for their everyday food, says a Twentieth Century Fund report.

LOOKING AHEAD

While I am on the subject of religion—and why shouldn't I be?—there is another story that is told. It has to do with a church wherein considerable jealousy and downright animosity had arisen, with one or two members actually fighting for church offices and covertly threatening the pastor and justifying it as a holy duty who might oppose them.

Finally, one member of the congregation opened an old book and told a story that he had heard faithfully over the years at what was said to be a church office. So, hoping on some agreement as to this one man's election, he presented him for office.

Whereupon the old Christian set his more ambitious brothers to shame by declaring:

"No, never mind me, I'm not looking for office, but if the Raise I'm looking toward will come later."

WORK OF THE SUPER-RAKE

The week's news from Little Rock and Nashville and other points where racial tension is being felt, need to be noted if you have a pedigree to be an American recalls to mind the words of the prophet Isaiah: "A World War II veteran over such a situation."

"Every time I think of any man being suffering at the hands of another I think of the little Jewish boy I ran into in this village last week," he said.

"One or two others and I went into the village right immediately after the German fell back, and I saw this little boy running toward me as fast as he could run. His pants were almost literally hanging down, and he was so exhausted."

"I halted him and asked him what he was running from, and he said 'The Nazis.' In the few German words I knew I made certain inquiry, and he took me to the house where he was hiding."

"The Nazis had forced nine men to dig a trench, then they had assigned one to knock the others in the back of the head, and the execution was permitted to live longer. And they were all buried, or half-buried, there. Feet and hands stuck from the ground. The bodies were still warm. No wonder the poor child was running for his life."

"Now," he concluded after the usual number of interruptions from his listener, "whenever I think of one race mistreating another or hear folks arguing against equal rights between one person and another, I can see a little boy running all out of breath, his little scared out of him."

A WOMAN'S REPLY TO A LETTER

This was written by Mrs. Joan Young Wilson, formerly of Allen, now of Lexington. She wrote it after hearing the name of God abused, and a denial of His existence voiced.

"Who doesn't believe in God? The beautiful blue skies, the green, green grass, the blue running from the flowers with colors more radiant than the rainbow, the sparkling snow on a winter night, the sweet smell of the earth after an April shower—"

"Oh, so much beauty to behold! Who doesn't believe in God? Life can be wonderful if we look for the good. Life can be as if we look for the bad side. Life is given to us by God, why should mortal man destroy His life that is so precious to Him? He says Honor thy father and mother and thy days will be long upon the earth, so also honor thy Father in heaven and we shall live our eternity with Him."

It seems that my opponent is unable to read the public records of our Courts and interpret their meaning. His great "to-do" concerning the Gas & Water System purchase is nothing new. It's entire transaction has been properly presented to the courts, both State and Federal, and on each occasion nothing has been brought out that was not already a matter of record in the County Court Clerk's office as to the purchase and the manner in which the transaction was handled. All these facts have been gone into the attempt to void the bonds by Circuit Court action was dismissed and no appeal taken. Then the recent litigation in Federal District Court at Pikeville, was publicized in the local paper and this case was decided in favor of the County. That decision definitely set out that the County is not liable for the payment of the bonds and interest, that only the water and gas system properties and their revenues can be liable for same.

Mr. Collins does not read the news well either, as The Floyd County Times only recently published the fact that the recent rate increase was fixed by the Federal Court and a Receiver appointed. This is a matter of record in the District Court Clerk's Office in Pikeville, only a short 30 miles if Mr. Collins desires to take a look at the record—or does he want to know the truth of any of his purported writings of fiction?

I might add as to the value of each particular system that Mr. Collins might ask his brother-in-law, George Evans, if the Glo system was priced too high, as he was one of the owners at the time of the sale. The records show who the sellers were, and the price for each system is set out, and if Mr. Collins wants to go to the record in the County Clerk's Office, it is public, has been on record since 1953, and he can pull up all the record if he wishes. Yet he has never taken time to read this or bothered to become the so called "champion of the people" until he asks something in return—a vote. In fact, if it were not for election time the "great common people" would be completely ignored by my opponent, as he seems to take to their interest only every four years. I am sure the records will not disclose that I at any time ever received one dime by reason of the purchase of the Water & Gas System and my every act in the matter was made of record and appears on the Fiscal Court Order Book.

Mr. Collins would have you believe someone put $5,000.00 into the Water & Gas System just before this election to have it show a profit. If you recall, suit was pending in the Federal Court at election time and had been for some three months and I am sure no one did or would put up $5,000.00, since the amount in default, as set out in the litigation, as you will recall, was stated in the Floyd County Times as $11,500.00. Just another "misstatement."

The County and Fiscal Court were made a party to the Federal suit, and counsel was employed to assist the County Attorney in the matter. Had we not defended the suit, then Mr. Collins would have a right to complain, but since it was properly defended and the County was absolved from all liability, then surely Mr. Collins should not complain that for $1,500 the County was adjudged not to owe—according to his figures—$409,950.00. Don't you think on his own statement that he would be straining a point, and had he been County-Judge would he have sat idly by and not employed Counsel. The rate increase and operation of the Water & Gas System is out of the hands of the Fiscal Court and is being operated by Receiver under orders of the Federal Court, and I am sure neither Mr. Collins nor myself will be so foolish as to suggest what will be done. I believe in recognizing the orders of the Federal Court.

Mr. Collins took great pride in propounding questions in one issue of The Times concerning my appointing one or two County Patrolmen. I have the same right to appoint to this office that he has to appoint Deputy Sheriffs. Have you ever heard of me questioning his appointments? You know I have always found it best to let each elective officer run his own office and if his acts fail to meet the approval of the public, election time will usually tell, and I am sure this November will be no exception to the rule, as I believe the voters are well-informed on matters, not just a few weeks before the election but all through the terms of the office-holder.

One county Patrolman appointed by me had a fine recommendation from Mr. Collins and I hereby submit Mr. Collins' own letter as evidence:

Mr. Willie Johnson Ligon, Kentucky Dear Sir:

In regard to your retirement on your Social Security, as of the first of June, you will be replaced as district deputy, you will be retained as fee deputy that you may be of service to your friends and neighbors as you have in the past. We of this office appreciate the fine work you have done as district deputy and hope that you will continue through the remainder of our term in office.

We realize that no officer in this county is ever compensated in full for the great service he does for our people. You have many friends that you have accumulated in the past that you have stood between them and harm. We want you to continue doing the good that you have in the past and to help our new district deputy, who will be appointed in the first of the month. You will continue to keep in your possession the radio, shotgun, and paraffin that will become the charge property of the new deputy until he is installed.

Your friend GORMON COLLINS Sheriff, Floyd County

He has also had the other County Patrolman as Chief Deputy Sheriff, and certainly he must have selected each for his fitness for the office.

PHONE STRIKE SET MONDAY

200,000 CWA Workers, Including Kentucky, May Stay Off Jobs

Washington, Sept. 11—The Communications Workers Union today called a nationwide strike of telephone workers for Monday morning. The union said 200,000 persons would stay off their jobs. The Communications Workers of America (CWA) said 14,000 of its members who make and install telephone equipment voted overwhelmingly to walk out in a dispute over wages and the length of a new contract.

Joseph A. Byrne, CWA president, said picketing of exchanges in major cities would keep about 146,000 other workers, including operators, from their jobs. Byrne expressed hope the walk-out could be averted through negotiations before the Monday deadline.

The threatened strike, against telephone companies affiliated with the Bell system, was scheduled for 6 a.m. local time, Monday in all states except Maine, Vermont and New Hampshire.

The first U. S. federal taxes were on distilled liquors.

Just now, Harris Brothers are completing a 30-mile telephone line in the Whitesburg area, and they have about 15 miles of phone line to build in the Salt Lick Brush Creek section of Right Beaver Creek.

Building power lines over rugged terrain in all weathers, from blizzards to ice storms, is a dangerous job but in their 11 years of operation the company has had only one fatality and one other serious injury. The brothers are grateful for their safety record.

Now they're in their new "home" building which many have said surely cost not less than $40,000. But the brothers will tell you the structure, for all its appointments, did not cost nearly so much.

They didn't splurge, you see, and they worked on the job themselves.

U. S. Naval and air bases in Spain will cost 313 million dollars when completed. They have been under construction since 1954.

Combs & Combs, Prestonsburg law firm, and Reese & Willard, of Weaverville, O., represent the McNally Pittsburgh Manufacturing Corporation in a suit filed in U. S. district court at Pikeville this week. The suit asks for $121,941 in damages and costs.

The remaining $30,292.04 of the total sued for is claimed for "dry-closer" centrifugal dryers and other related equipment and accessories sold to defendant.

THREATS AGAINST HAPPY REPORTED FROM MOREHEAD

MOREHEAD, Ky., Sept. 11. — "Some special precautions" in the way of police protection were taken Monday night by Gov. A. B. Chandler's address at the Morehead State College Field House.

He disclosed today that the ban on the cult was not the only unusual sight to Chandler's appearance. Speaking for the arrangements committee, he said, "We received notice three times Sunday of threats against the governor."

He said the sort of used to hearing things like this because 'Happy' Chandler is a controversial figure, loved by his friends and hated by his enemies."

Chandler said there were several calls to the effect that crowds would be sent to Morehead to "tear up" the meeting. There were no threats against the governor's life, the editor added.

He said the precautions were taken because some people in neighboring areas are "pretty roused up" over right-wing purchases for relocating U. S. 60.

DEMOCRAT DEPUTIES

"We deputies have been working for our present sheriff, Gorman Collins, for some time. Incidentally, he is a Republican and we are Democrats, we are also for a better Floyd county. The reason for our still working under the strain of threats, no cooperation in some of our courts and no backing from some of our elected officials—"

"We know that our sheriff has worked harder than any previous Sheriff and under a greater strain physically and mentally. He has spent much of his own money to give you better protection. He has given you a radio system, the first in Eastern Kentucky—with the help of the people in this county who believe that our county should advance. They bought the system with their contributions. Your county judge has not seen fit to even invest $46,000 worth of your equipment through an act of fiscal conservatism. He has asked to do so. Two of these sets were blown up. One in Sheriff Collins' car, one in a car of Sheriff Collins' son. Sheriff Collins had to pay for the repairs out of his own pocket. Do you know that Sheriff Collins pays a maintenance man for this system $50.00 a month and repair parts for these sets out of his own pocket. Do you know that the ARMED FORCES PLAY DEVELOPS ABILITIES OF THESE ATHLETES Johnny Thompson and Dickie Dixon are two former Prestonsburg athletes who had bright athletic careers while at P.H.S. but are also two young men who have distinguished themselves more admirably while playing on teams under the sponsorship of Uncle Sam.

They are Arnett, Langley, Banner, Head of Prater, Upper Little Plain, Lower Little Plain, Spruce Pine, Johnson, Forks of Toler and Adams. Thompson, who admittedly was never great as a basketball player in high school, was third in scoring in a basketball league in Panama, Dixon, while a real playmaker for Prestonsburg when Delmar Hughes was flirting with a 40-point average, turned into an even greater playmaker and scorer while wearing Air Force togs. It brings up the question—why have the boys been able, seemingly, to realize their potential in the armed forces and not at home? Thompson said, "They really COMBATS HEART DISEASE Since 1948 more than $20,000,000 contributed through the Heart Fund in the United States has been channeled into a study of the causes of heart disease.

By Way of Introduction I am JOYCE SHORT ALLEN of Prestonsburg, Ky., Republican nominee for County Clerk. I was born on Right Beaver Creek at Langley on November 6, 1930.

My mother is Theckley Osborne Short, daughter of Mary Rathiff Osborne or "Aunt Mary-Milk," as she is known to many friends and relatives throughout the county and the late J. M. "Milt" Osborne, of Eastern, Ky.

My father was the late Kenneth Short, who came to Floyd county in 1927-28 on construction of the compression stations at Warco and Boldman and was widely known in this county, especially among the gas company personnel and their families.

You, the voters, have been asking about the "Short" of my name and as stated above it was my maiden name which I retained as part of my name after my marriage to JAMES P. ALLEN, of Harold, Ky., son of James "Jim" Allen and Lillie Sturgill Allen, also of Harold, Ky. After my marriage, I became aware of at least two other Joyce Allens in Floyd county and therefore decided to write my name JOYCE SHORT ALLEN as a matter of record.

I sincerely hope I will have the opportunity to personally meet and talk with you but if I cannot, I wish you would inquire among your relatives and friends as to my qualifications for clerk. Sincerely yours, JOYCE SHORT ALLEN (Pol. Adv.)

nie Conn, on Arkansas Creek. The defense maintained that the shot which hit Lempie Conn was not fired by the defendant. Ernest Conn in the same shooting was continued.

The second acquittal was won by Ed Deavours who was accused of striking and wounding 69-year-old John Wee Music, of East Point. Mrs. Deavers testified that the aged man fell from his chair in his home, striking his head against a sharp object and thus causing the injuries he suffered. The defense contended the allegation against the woman was "a money hunt."

Mr. Music, a well-known resident of Little Point, said he did not see the object with which he was hit, although he was struck from a position in front of him. He and the woman were the only persons at the home at the time. The defendant claimed he fell from his chair while she was at the nearby barn and that she found him in the yard after she attracted a small gain, but all except three of the larger schools have increased enrollments. The total enrollment reported from each school follows:

18 SCHOOLS ENROLL 9,192

Grade Gains Heavy, High School Slight; Three Schools Lose

The youngsters of the Young Idea, the more numerous he is becoming, school enrollment records published show the larger schools of the county began their terms last week.

This is shown in the totals which have grade school children enrolling in enrollment over those of last year by almost 400 while there appears to be only 80 more in high school this year than in 1955.

The figures are not definite for Auxier and David grades, but those made available show that there are 4,280 enrolled in the grade departments of the 18 schools which recently began their 1957-58 sessions. In the 10 high schools 3,767 are enrolled.

The enrollment countywide shows only a small gain, but all except three of the larger schools have increased enrollments. The total enrollment reported from each school follows:

Allen	344	395
Auxier	203	200
Betsy Layne	502	745
Bosco	109	116
David	157	152

REV. WRIGHT ENDORSES STEPHENS FOR Ct. CLERK

I wish to take this means of endorsing Henry Stephens, the Democratic nominee for Circuit Court Clerk. He is not only honest but has the endorsement upon the records of the Circuit Court as being one of the best and most efficient Clerks in the state of Kentucky.

Henry is a first cousin to my first wife, Nancy Ousley and I have known him for many years and his record as an official is one of the best and no one can say otherwise and tell the truth. He knows all people serve the same God and that there is only one way to eternal life. It makes no difference with Henry whether you are a Republican or Democrat, he treats all humanity alike. A man of his type is justly entitled to our support and vote, and you might say solely on his qualification alone, if nothing more.

I am respectfully yours

Caney Alumni Meet I Scheduled Sunday; Dorm Funds Needed

A general meeting of the Caney Alumni Association will be held at Pippa Passes, Sunday, it was announced this week by Charles Clark, of Garrett, Association president.

"We hope to make this the best meeting we have ever had in the three years the Association has been functioning," Mr. Clark said.

One of the items of business to be discussed is the raising of funds to complete the boys' dormitory. The building, which is to be used for construction as an Alumni Association project. A $10,000 incentive gift will become available when enough funds are raised to make that $10,000 the last amount needed for the building.

Registration of alumni will begin at 11 a.m. A basket dinner will be spread on the sub-floor of the incomplete dormitory building, and the business session will follow.

Among those invited to the meeting is Joe Crank, Courier-Journal writer. Mr. Clark urged that every alumnus of the Caney Creek school attend.

Elliot, landscape architect, University of Kentucky conducted the lesson. Present were 16 project leaders representing five homemaker groups and one Homemaker Club.

Three goals were set for this fall. Clean up the surroundings of the home, seed a good lawn and use shade trees to "frame" the house. Every homemaker is being urged to take part in the project, which is the beginning of an 18-month program.

Each group will have a leader who will work with the project. Those who trained for this work are: Mrs. Chalmers Whitte, Mrs. Maude Snodgrass, of Allen; Mrs. Ed Lykins, Mrs. Ginger Snyder, Mrs. Margaret Brennan, Betty Layne; Mrs. H. D. Hewitt, Drift; Mrs. J. B. ### FLU VACCINE PLAN SOUGHT

Floyd Medical Group, Others Urged To Prep For Immunization Job

The Floyd County Medical Society and other similar groups over the state, working with local health officials, were urged this week by the Kentucky State Medical Association to develop and put into operation plans for immunizing against Asian flu, said Dr. Richard R. Slucher, of Buechel, president of the Association.

At present, the supply of vaccine is limited. It will be available in increasing quantities each month, with an adequate supply anticipated by late winter. Until then is any vaccine, the Association recommends the following priority for giving the vaccine:

1. Medical service groups (those who serve the sick).
2. Those rendering key public service in the form of firemen, transportation workers, food handlers, utilities people and school teachers).
3. Special risks (including those who have TB, heart conditions, the very old, and infants) and school children. (Because school premises might become a breeding ground for the disease, it was urged that schools plan to receive the shots as soon as available).

Mr. Harris, former owner and operator of the Harris Grocery at West Prestonsburg has accepted a position with the Jones Department Store, across from Bus Station in Prestonsburg as assistant manager. Mr. Harris is a native of this vicinity and he and his family reside in West Prestonsburg. He has been in business for himself for the past twelve years and is widely known throughout the county.

Mr. Harris would like to use this means to express his thanks and appreciation to all of his former customers and friends whom he has served for the past years, and cordially invites all of his friends to visit him in his new place of business.

FROM THE SIDELINES

By QUENTIN ALLEN

I hate to say it—but I told you so. Not long after I got the words out of my typewriter expressing the thought that Lowell Hughes would prove by performance that he is the most capable quarterback on the University of Kentucky team, the same Mr. Hughes proved me so right by brilliant play Saturday in an intra-squad game.

All that Lowell "Split T" Hughes did was to pass for two touchdowns, score three himself, and playing admirably on defense. Couldn't ask for any better, could you?

Tommy Harmon, senior half-back on the Prestonsburg Black Cats, is termed a hard-core—and that is different from being a hard-head. What he lacks in talent he makes up in hustle and determination. So far, Tommy has ended up the second best man in point of performance in each of his team's two games. Two of his teammates have barely edged him out for the layer-of-the-week selection—but, if you add up all the second place awards Tommy is getting, he might wind up the most valuable player of the year.

Baseball is dying, its season on the wane. But two of Prestonsburg's players have found renewed stimulation from their performance this past season. Johnny Ellis has turned himself from a weak All-American out to a real blaster. A change of stance, he says, and Don Sullivan, who used to turn his beefy shoulders into a ball with nil and null effectiveness, has zoomed his average into the upper 400's. Now, I am experimenting with holding my mouth different while writing. A change of stance, you see.

A and thing. At least it is sad for sport fans who like their basketball played with color and excitement. Kelly

Pburg Merchants Rally In Last Innings Sunday To Sweep Doubleheader

The Prestonsburg Merchants pulled two doubleheaders with Paintsville Sunday at the local park in coming from behind in the last inning to sweep the twin bill by identical scores of 5-4 in each game.

Paintsville played an excellent fielding game in committing only two errors. Prestonsburg erred total of 11 times in both games and only air-tight pitching prevented Paintsville from running up a large score.

Adrian Blackburn, versatile pitcher, and catcher, not only pitched well the first game but smacked a home run in the second game. Hensley, of Paintsville, led the Merchants to seven hits in losing.

The Merchants won the first game in the last of ninth, trailing 4-3, when Harris struck out, May popped out to first, Bill Goebel, lined a double to right field, Dotson tripled to left-center, and Paul Hughes scratched a single through shortstop. Goebel, who had been pitching for the Merchants in the first game, gave up only five hits in his effort.

The second game was won in similar fashion when, trailing 4-3 in the last of the ninth, Dotson walked; was forced on grounds by P. Hughes, Children was safe on a grounder, and Ray Wilcox doubled to center to count both.

In the first game Blackburn followed a line single of Johnny Ellis by picking the first pitch for a home-run.

HUGE THROB

Letcher county football fans turned out on mass Saturday night to watch E.K.M.C. favorite Jenkins edge Hazard, 6-0. The 3,640 fans represented one of the largest regular season crowds ever to watch a high school game in the mountains.

The most Cavaliers boast one of the biggest teams in the state. Seven of the eleven starters weigh more than 180 pounds and fullback Bill Elkins and tackle Randall Chandler and Tommy Brubrip hit the scales at 215 pounds.

Jenkins has an active Boosters Club that has completed several projects for the school. A new fence has been built around the field, new uniforms purchased for the band and informative 32-page football program has been introduced by the Boosters.

The front cover of the program features a portrait of Robert Collier, former Jenkins ace, who will co-captain the 1957 University of Kentucky football team and start at one guard position.

BULLDOGS TO WITHEAW

Hazard's veteran grid coach Jim Caudill, states that Hazard will withdraw from the Eastern Kentucky mountain Conference next season unless his school can schedule the necessary six football games to be eligible for the league crown. This season marks the 17th year for the Bulldogs in the Conference and they have been unable to line up a sixth opponent. Although all three games count in the long standings, they are not eligible for the league championship, even if their record should merit the title.

Paintsville and Pikeville refuse to play Hazard, Elkhorn City indicated last season that they would this year, but declined to do so, and Reilly already has a full schedule.

PLAYER OF THE WEEK

The second Player-of-the-Week award went to Rusty Allen, 17-year-old senior guard who was the defensive and offensive stand-out in the Black Cats' 27-6 conquest of Racedand.

PLAY HAZARD FRIDAY

Prestonsburg's Black Cats will meet their steepest test of the young season Friday night, when they tangle in the Perry county seat with Jimmie Caudill's Bulldogs. This will be the big conference test if the locals are to stay in contention for the E.K.M.C. race.

Prestonsburg fans might also note the new concrete stands on one side of the field, which was paid for by Perry county donations. Not one penny of tax money went into the project. Floyd county school officials should take immediate action to provide a suitable field for Prestonsburg's future teams. It's a disgrace for visiting fans, as well as our own, to play on a "field of concrete."

JENKINS, PAINTSVILLE WIN; 4 TEAMS HEAD EKMC LEAGUE

Jenkins and Paintsville increased their stock in the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference high school football race over the past week-end as both recorded one-touchdown victories.

Jack Hall's Fleming Pirates stepped outside the loop to throttle Cumberland in the C.V.C. 45-9, and M. C. Napier nudged Leslie County, 14-6, while Prestonsburg rolled over Racedand, 27-6, in another non-loop affair.

Playing before one of the largest season crowds in the history of Eastern Kentucky high school football in Jenkins Saturday night, Nick Dierbeck's heavily-favored Cavaliers eked out a 6-0 win over the Hazard Bulldogs.

In the hard-fought battle of defensive lines, Jenkins managed the game's lone touchdown midway the second frame, when quarterback Frank Hodge whipped to six-foot-five end Nicky Dann for 15 yards on the 21-yard marker.

Chandler Gives Marine Medal To Hero's Wife

Frankfort, Sept. 9 (Sp.) — The late Staff Sgt. Stanley S. Barczuk, husband of Mrs. Margaret Barczuk, personal secretary to Kentucky's Secretary of State, has been awarded the Navy and Marine Corps Medal for "heroic conduct" in which he lost his life.

The presentation of the posthumous medal to Mrs. Barczuk was made by Gov. A. B. Chandler, the President of the United States and the Secretary of the Navy.

Sergeant Barczuk was the son of Mrs. Rose K. Barczuk of St. Paul, Minn.

The citation accompanying the medal read in part:

"For heroic conduct in attempting to rescue fellow Marines who were in danger of drowning in waters off Okinawa, Shima, Ryukyu Island, on 5 September, 1956. Serving as acting platoon leader . . . Staff Sergeant Barczuk immediately organized and supervised the rescue operations. He saved several men in his company from drowning when they were carried out to sea by a sudden and treacherous undertow. Knocked down by the increasing large waves and drawn out into deep water by the undertow, he sacrificed his own life while attempting to save the lives of others. By his outstanding courage and selfless efforts throughout, Staff Sergeant Barczuk upheld the highest traditions of the United States Naval Service."

Barczuk had previously been awarded the Silver Star and Purple Heart for action in Korea.

CHILDREN'S DEATH TOLL CLIMBS IN KENTUCKY

Frankfort, Sept. 9 (Sp.) — Kentucky highway traffic killed 69 children 14 or under, in the first eight months of this year, compared with 79 during the entire year of 1956.

Commissioner of Public Safety Don Sturgill revealed these facts. He called on all motorists to compensate for children's heedlessness with their own good judgment.

"Nationally, traffic accidents kill about 2,300 children between the ages of five and 14 annually," Sturgill said.

"With school in session again, we can expect more children to be using the streets and highways than during the summer months," Sturgill advised. "Motorists should be especially alert for youngsters during the early morning hours when many persons are on their way to work at the same time children are going to school."

He reminded highway users that Kentucky law requires motorists to stop for school buses when they are loading or unloading children.

In addition, Sturgill had these child safety tips for motorists: "Always expect the unexpected from a child."

Keep a sharp lookout for children at all times, but especially in school zones, near playgrounds and other places where children gather. Always reduce your speed in school zones.

Eight New Firms Admitted to State

Frankfort, Sept. 9 (Sp.) — Eight insurance companies were given licenses during August to operate in Kentucky, Insurance Commissioner Cad P. Thurman reported.

The companies are United Founders Life Insurance Co., Oklahoma City; American Travelers Life Insurance Co., Indianapolis; Farmers and Merchants' Insurance Co., Tulsa; Midwestern Insurance Co., Tulsa; Tri-State Insurance Co., Tulsa; United Bonding Insurance Co., Indianapolis; Church Mutual Insurance Co., Merrill, Wis.; and Life Insurance Company of North America, Philadelphia.

One advisory organization, Railroad Insurance Underwriters, New York City, was admitted to Kentucky during the month, Thurman said.

Each year 230,000 men and 150,000 women in America die of heart attacks.

A PLEA

A soldier's wife has appealed to Gov. A. B. Chandler to publicize her husband's plea for colored slides to show his buddies overseas. The governor's office passed her request on to this column.

Mrs. Mildred E. Radeline, 1306 South Westlake, Ove, Los Angeles, writes:

"If we can get people throughout the United States to contribute colored slides they no longer need, or duplicates of what they have, he (her husband) is planning to show them to groups of servicemen overseas—at absolutely no cost to them.

"These slides need not be of any historical or tourist interest—just ordinary scenes of various cities and towns and surrounding countryside—such as street scenes, schools, buildings, parks, pools, hills, streams, rivers, which will bring 'home' to the men overseas."

Mrs. Radeline says her husband is Sp-1 Wilbur F. H. Radeline, who originated the "Map from Home" campaign for servicemen overseas and also "the man who refused to accept the title of 'count' and an inheritance of over $300,000 because he would have had to give up his American citizenship."

STATE SEEKS DELINQUENTS

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 8.—The State Revenue Department started Monday cracking down on delinquent income-tax payers, particularly Kentuckians who work for out-of-state employers but who do not withhold Kentucky taxes from their wages.

Commissioner James E. Lockett said the new drive will open first in Northern Kentucky, where many Kentucky residents are working across the Ohio River in the Cincinnati area.

Lockett said his department receives fewer state income-tax returns each year than does the federal collector of Internal Revenue at Louisville—although the requirements for filing both state and federal income-tax returns are the same.

A special field staff of six revenue agents will join the 11 regular Revenue Department employees of the Covington district office to make the checkup.

"This special staff will use all available sources of information to discover delinquent taxpayers," Lockett declared.

A feature of the waterfront program at Sandy Valley Council's Camp Chatterwaha on Dewey Lake was the Red Cross Junior life-saving program. Shown practicing rescue techniques are Diane Leonard, of Fairview, rescuing Sue Dawson, of David, instructors are Miss Martha Joyce May (right), of Prestonsburg, who served as waterfront director, and Miss Jacqueline Henley, of Prestonsburg, her assistant. Five intermediate Girl Scouts passed the program during this summer encampment.

BACK TO SCHOOL! If you have youngsters attending college this fall, I'd like to remind you of a nice way to keep in touch with them. You know, keeping up home ties is mighty important especially for first-year students. So let me suggest you arrange for your son or daughter to call you station-to-station at a regular time each week. It's fast, and saves you up to 1/2 the cost of a person-to-person call between points in Kentucky.

For instance, you can call station-to-station from Prestonsburg to Lexington for just 85¢—half the person-to-person rate. And nights and Sundays you can talk four minutes station-to-station for the same two-minute day-time rate. Why not arrange now for regular voice visits by Long Distance?

HERE'S A TIP for homemakers around town who'd like to take the "run" out of running the home. Well, we have a plan to tailor your telephone service to your personal needs, to make it even more a part of good living. Whether you have four rooms or eight, one of these plans will give the ideal telephone arrangement for your family. And the beauty about it is, you can actually have several extra phones for less additional cost than you pay for the main telephone! If you'd like to know more about tailor-made telephone service, give us a ring.

MORE WIDOWS MAY BENEFIT

New Law Liberalizes Definition of 'Widow' With More Eligible

An estimated 250 Kentucky widows of veterans may be eligible for benefits under a new law liberalizing the definition of "widow." Public Law 85-308 provided the change, Ray A. Adams, manager, VA Regional Office announced. Under the new law, the date of her marriage to the veteran will not disqualify a widow of VA benefits if a child was born of the marriage or, if no child was born, the marriage existed for at least five years.

Most laws providing for widows' benefits from VA contain a marriage cut-off date as an element of entitlement, with many different dates for varying benefits and periods of service.

The new law does not alter the existing cut-off dates, but provides uniform qualifying alternatives if the marriage date are not met.

Under certain circumstances the new law also authorizes payments to a woman who married a veteran without knowing that a legal impediment to the marriage existed, even though she is not the veteran's legal widow.

Under the new law, if the purported marriage was entered into in good faith by the woman, VA may consider it to have been a valid marriage provided:

(a) It would have been valid had the legal bar not existed;

(b) The couple had resided together for five or more years, immediately prior to the veteran's death; and,

(c) No claim for VA widow's benefits has been filed by a legal widow of the veteran.

WILL THE JUDGE TAKE THE FIFTH AMENDMENT?

These are questions for Henry Stumbo to answer if he will and can. The taxpayers and water and gas users of this county have a right to answers to these questions. They are honest inquiries about the gas and water deal. I ask them in the interest of good government. I ask them in the interest of decent, honest administration of our affairs.

1. Who originated the idea of the county buying the water and gas districts from private holders at huge profits?
  2. Who set the price of $230,000 with an interest rate of five percent with the bonds going to the big money men at a 10 per cent discount, thus saddling this county with an indebtedness of $230,000 plus total in interest of $170,950 or an overall total of $409,950?
  3. Who bought the Wayland water and gas system for $22,000 from the Elkhorn Coal Corporation, sold the water system for $5,000 and later the Judge agreed and bought it for Floyd county at $67,500?
  4. Who got the big profit out of the Wayland deal and did he get out of town with most of it?
  5. The Allen-Dwale system was offered to a Floyd county business man for $12,000 before the county got interested through you. You bought it for the county at $45,000. Who reaped the big profit there?
  6. The Garrett-Bosco system sold at one time for $2,400 and later for $10,000. The county bought it through you for $45,000. I ask you, Henry Stumbo, to name the profit-takers here.
  7. The Weeksbury water works sold for junk to a couple of men for $824. They tried to salvage the scrap iron in it and failed. The county bought it for $22,500. Who took their profits here?
  8. Now Judge Stumbo answer this one. Who put $5,000 in the water and gas system to make it show a paper profit of a few hundred dollars just before the election?
  9. Who suggested to you that the rates be raised the last time? Name these men. The people who pay excessive water and gas rates are entitled to know.
  10. Why were you and the members of the fiscal court sued on this water and gas deal and you took $1,500 of the taxpayers money to hire a lawyer to fight your case?
- The whole water and gas systems are now officially declared bankrupt by the Federal Court and a receiver has been appointed. One more question, Judge:
- Do you propose to raise the water and gas rates again to save your big money friends?

Economists at U.K. See Better Prices For Feeder Cattle

Kentucky Experiment Station economists expect prices for feeder cattle this fall to be 25 to 30 per cent higher than for the same period of 1956.

Buel Langpher, economist, in his bi-weekly outlook letter, said there is an increased demand for feeder cattle. This is due to large supplies of low-priced grain and anticipated higher profits in 1957 cattle-feeding operations. He noted an upward trend in prices during most of 1957, with prices ranging $2 to $4 above a year ago.

Grain production in 1957 in the western corn belt — one of the main areas for feeding cattle — has increased, he said. This situation strengthens the outlook for a demand for feeders. Langpher said present conditions in the U. S. also forecast a good outlook for feeder cattle operations in 1958; this also influences demand for feeders.

In the near future, prices for feeder cattle decline slightly from recent weeks' levels, Langpher said. Last year various types of feeders dropped from $1 to $2 a hundredweight between August and October, and there is a possibility that large numbers of feeders will hit sales rings in mid-fall. Receipts at yards were light in August, he said, which may have been caused by producers' desire to hold back feeders until more gain was available on improved pastures.

In Kentucky, feed and pasture conditions have ranged from very poor to good. Some feeders have been sold early and in poor condition because of this, but some farmers may be holding off until better pasture conditions occur.

Langpher said grass-fed feeders could hit a temporary price weakness a little later; western feeders are carrying more flesh now due to better pasture conditions there. He anticipates a strengthening of feeder prices, however, in late fall or early winter. Heavy seasonal sales of feeders will have been completed then.

Feeder-cattle prices may move upward, Langpher's letter says. Receipts for fed cattle may be relatively heavy until late fall; this is based on the larger number of cattle on feed as of July 1, 1957. Market receipts in July and August did not reflect the large numbers on feed.

Kentuckians may profit by holding feeder cattle, especially grass-fed ones, and feeding them grain, he says. Profits are probable from three sources: (1) Cattle prices are expected to have some general rise in the late fall or winter; (2) farmers could raise grade quality of fed cattle by feeding grains; and (3) cheap feeding grains are likely.

Example: A 500-pound calf of high quality might sell at 22 cents a pound; the average farmer would require from 20 to 25 bushels of corn and around 100 pounds of protein for 200 pounds of gain. Feed costs would have been $35.00 for the 200 pounds of gain, if corn was worth $1.20 a bushel, and protein, $4 a hundredweight. If the selling price stayed at 22 cents a pound, the 200 pounds of gain would be worth $44, leaving $13.00 per animal to pay for other costs.

To the People Of Prestonsburg

After several weeks of talking with many of the good citizens of the town, and after weighing the matter carefully even prayerfully, I have decided to make the race for Mayor of Prestonsburg at the coming November election.

I propose to make this race not out of any particular personal ambition of mine but out of a desire to help our community become a better place to live in and a more decent, law-respecting and law-abiding city.

From time to time in coming weeks I will frankly state my position on the several matters that should be of interest to us all.

I will be on the ballot as a candidate who will fight and fight hard to win but who will oppose others in a spirit of goodwill, with my main purpose to be of service to the place I live in and to the people among whom I live and work and make a living.

Your support and the influence you can use in my behalf will be deeply appreciated.

UMW FUND PAYS OUT 142 MILLION

Washington, Sept. 3 — The United Mine Workers welfare and retirement fund Tuesday reported payments of nearly $142,000,000 in benefits in the year ended June 30.

An annual report showed an unspent balance of $145,321,221.55 as of June 30, compared with a balance of $139,172,370.55 on June 30, 1956.

The report said 97.2 per cent or $138,018,257.17, of last year's outlay was paid to 218,702 beneficiaries. Administrative costs, including those of the Washington headquarters and 10 area medical offices, accounted for the other 2.8 per cent.

The fund is supported by tonnage royalty payments by mining firms, but is operated independently of the union or the firm.

The report said $3,009 retired miners were receiving $100 monthly pension payments on June 30, in addition to Social Security payments or any other income. Pension payments totaled $76,002,584.12 during the year. Spending of $50,584,594.13 was reported for hospital and medical care — providing 1,631,144 days of hospitalization for 53,679 fund beneficiaries.

Funeral expense and widows and survivors benefits for 6,290 widows, orphans, and other survivors of deceased miners totaled $5,353,876.94.

Additional payments of $77,207.98 in mine-disaster benefits went to families of 251 miners killed or seriously injured during the year.

ROAD PROGRAM SPEEDED

Washington — During the first year of the new multibillion-dollar federal highway-building program, ended June 30, Government funds obligated for preliminary engineering, rights of way, and construction totaled $2,228,000,000, or $223,000,000 more than the total of federal funds authorized for the year.

Homecoming and Dinner At Bosco Church, Sept. 15

A homecoming service and banquet dinner reunion will be held at the Bosco Church of Christ at Huesville on Sunday, Sept. 15.

The service will begin at 10 a.m. Evangelist W. L. (Bill) Ford, of Ford's Branch, Ky., will conduct the morning service. His father, the Rev. Abner Ford, will conduct the afternoon service. He will be remembered as the evangelist who held a revival 30 years ago at this church and baptized 30 persons.

The Bosco Church of Christ is a community landmark and the mother church in that area. It was built in 1911 by the Rev. D. M. Allen, who furnished the timber and sawed it at his mill. Green Allen, son of G. J. Allen, hand-planned the huge timbers which support the center of the church. During the recent remodeling and repair of the building these timbers were left intact. The members of the church and their families contributed to the construction of the church.

Some donated their labor. Others cooked for the laborers. The land on which the church was built was given by Susan Allen Hays, a sister of D. M. Allen. Rev. Allen was pastor of the church until his death in 1942.

Members of the church extend a cordial invitation to everyone to attend. All churches are invited to bring singing groups, as special singing is being arranged. Pack a basket dinner and plan to spend the day.

Kentucky Query Is: Who Killed Chief Tecumseh?

By Charles F. Hinds Secretary-Treasurer, Kentucky Historical Society

Frankfort, Sept. 9 (Sp.) — The old Northwest Indians under Tecumseh were defeated at the Thames in 1812. They had received a severe blow earlier at Tippecanoe, but the death of their great chieftain, Tecumseh, marked their subjection to the white man and the opening up of Illinois, Indiana, Michigan, and Ohio for settlement.

Tecumseh became the symbol of their defeat. Most of those who participated in the battle were Kentuckians under Col. Richard Johnson of Scott county. Therefore one of the burning questions of Kentucky history has been: WHO KILLED TECUMSEH?

There has been no want for claimants. Johnson himself, when running for vice president in 1838 told about his fact-to-face struggle with an Indian chief. Wounded four times, Johnson received yet another wound from this chief, who advanced on him with uplifted tomahawk. Johnson said that he took careful aim with his pistol and killed the Indian. When an audience cried out, "Thus Tecumseh fell," Johnson replied that he didn't know it was Tecumseh at the time.

Col. William Whitley, the leader of the "forlorn hope" advance guard, was killed at the Thames by an Indian chief, who was shot and killed simultaneously by the Lincoln County veteran.

Most reputable Kentucky historians have chosen between Col. Johnson and Whitley, with the weight of evidence in favor of the latter.

Johnson's victim was partially skinned by Kentucky soldiers the following day. But the Indians with Tecumseh in the battle told in later years that, not only was the body not mutilated, but it was removed during the night and secretly buried. Witnesses from the American camp early on the battlefield the next morning reported that the Indian Whitley had killed had been removed during the night. This seems to indicate that Whitley killed Tecumseh.

But after 44 years, the evidence is far from conclusive. It is more likely, says Tecumseh was wearing the simple dress of a brave, that the bullet which entered his heart and the butt which crushed his skull were governed by two separate, yet unidentified soldiers in Johnson's command during 15 long minutes of confused fighting, shooting and grappling desperately for their lives.

Colombia hopes to develop a coal export market, Bogota reports.

HOME-OWNERS RECEIVE PAY

Firm Makes Payment For Damaged Property Where Coal Removed

Pittsburgh, Sept. 7 — The world's biggest commercial coal producer is setting out to make friends with thousands of homeowners who live above the mines where it digs its coal.

In the past Pittsburgh Consolidation Coal Company has had complaints from persons whose homes settled and cracked after the coal had been removed from beneath them.

The spread to suburban living caused huge housing developments to rise on old farms and timberland where Pitt-Consolidation mineral rights. This brought new complaints of homes settling and cracking.

Last month the big coal company announced that it would guarantee safety from settlement to property-owners above still-to-be-mined coal. If the owners would pay for coal left as supporting pillars.

Selling coal pillars was not new to homeowners. In the past have paid the coal firm to leave pillars. But the added guarantee is entirely new. The firm announced:

We propose to supplement our present policy by agreeing with individual owners to whom support is offered and who elect such support that our company will pay any structural damage to their homes. . . .

The added investment in property will not be small. Considerable amounts of coal will have to be left unmined to prevent cave-ins.

The cost to an individual homeowner will depend entirely on the type of coal above which he is living. Rough estimates for the coal firm range from $1,000 to $3,000.

Pitt-Consol said it will be selling coal below cost even at those prices.

Because of the large amount of money involved, the coal firm also offered to sell supports on a time-payment basis which it said could be extended over a period of years.

It will mean leaving several hundred tons of coal unmined to support a single house. Coal firms usually buy only the underground mineral rights which permit them to mine the coal. But the original owners retain the surface property.

The coal firm feels it has been unfairly treated for years. Henry C. Rose, president of Pittsburgh Coal Company, operating division of Pitt-Consol, in announcing the guarantee policy, said:

Although ownership of the coal and mineral rights carries with it the right to mine coal without regard to the effect on the surface owners, Pittsburgh Coal Company has voluntarily chosen to follow a course that would not disregard the welfare of home owners.

Rose said that in most instances, where a settlement problem occurred there was evidence that the home owner's deed provided adequate legal notice of the limitations but the home-owner neglected to investigate the actual facts with respect to the coal ownership.

Rose said that a check of the limited number of home owners who in the past paid to have coal supports left under their homes shows no record of any dwelling being damaged by settlement.

Some of the old agreements that did not carry a guarantee date back as much as 14 years. Coal men say most of the damaging settlements occur shortly after the coal had been removed.

MILLION HOME UNITS A YEAR ARE FORECAST

Washington — Director Albert M. Cole of the Housing and Home Finance Agency, said Sunday that he looks for home construction to level off at about a million units a year.

He reported a total of 1,100,000 houses were built last year and predicted "close to a million" housing starts during 1958.

"NECK AND EARS"

One of my long-time friends has reminded me that I have not as yet reviewed the old-fashioned practice of washing the neck and ears. He declared that he did not know this process had to do with three organs rather than one! It all sounded like one "neck" and "ears." I recall that I have often mentioned, sometimes rather nostalgically, the week-end bath in the washpan, but I suspect that this ablution was in no sense adequate enough. I am sure that my own washing myself in a washpan failed to dislodge many layers of areas of dirt. The operation called "washing the neck and ears" was done, in our family, by Big Sister, a thorough finder and cleaner. She would take a piece of paper that she had used her picture to illustrate the slogan now long famous. Sunday morning was the time for this sacrifice, one of the most severe ones I have yet made. Big Sister got a piece of paper over her shoulder and made of the ribbed ends of long-handled winter underwear. These ribs cut somewhat like sandpaper; what the first wave of it does not dislodge, the next wave will catch. When my sister would bend over to scrub my neck and rub my neck the wrong way, I would howl like something dying in agony. I feared that my very little six-year-old took out the weekly ordeal. Though I squealed every time, I got no mercy; Big Sister was pretty thorough executioner sometimes. But after the auto de fe was over, I was shining and my shiny countenance maybe that is the reason my neck still sweats all the time, summer and winter; the doctor thinks it is the gesture I prefer to believe it a left-over from old-time scrubbings in my early youth.

There were other phases of this week-end sacrifice to respectability. Sometimes the same Big Sister put an apron around my neck and cut my hair or such odd tags of it as seemed most to mar my youthful beauty. And that same unruly head had to be spruced up for Sunday School, to match the scrubbed, shiny neck and ears. My locks were parted away down near the ear; the rest of the hair was "roched" over the top of the huge dome I have always had to carry around. At least before the rough-house started in church after the lesson was over, my plastered hair remained in place and my shiny countenance resembled what we read about on the faces of saints. I cannot be quite so specific about my looks later, for some bad boy might deliberately run his hand over my head and wreck all the plastered hair. I found most of my hair was "roched" over him in the nose, Sunday School or not, but I did not and am sorry, more than a half century later, I suspect that I found most of my refuge in tears and clinging to my two older sisters.

When I was six, a broomage photographer set up his tent in a broomage field near Fidelity and took pictures of all sorts until after frost. No get-rich-quick scheme ever drew more people. And I, the baby of the big family, had to be photographed, alone, with another one or two of the children, and in the family group. My Big Sister, a grown young woman by now, spent additional minutes on my locks, so that my colorless hair was laid just right and my ears and neck were slick and shiny. As I sat down in the elaborate chair and had the clamp adjusted to my head to keep me still for the execution, I was probably about as nearly ready for tragedy as I have ever been. I was afraid that a birdie might accidentally fly out of the camera; I was even more fearful that those head-rests would cut into my brain and leave me a half-wit for whatever tortuous years were ahead. Fortunately I lived through the ordeal and had the satisfaction of seeing the photographic plate reposing in a transparent bath of some sort, a rather spooky thing all in shadow, where I shone most brightly. And to this day, as the Bible might say, that stiff pose and that fearful little six-year-old look out from the old tin-type, a monument to scrubbed ears and neck and plastered colorless hair.

It's a dear bargain to buy insurance from the "sell 'em and forget 'em" agent who doesn't bother keeping a professional eye on your constantly changing insurance requirements.

We have a hunch you'd rather BUY FROM AN AGENT who takes a personal interest in you and your family, who takes the time to review your needs periodically so that you never have too little—or too much—insurance.

That's how this Agency conducts its business.
