This Town ... That World

While I have been sitting here, groping for an idea, I've been wondering if the well has dried up or merely frozen over.

LET'S REDEEM OURSELVES. The annual drive for funds will be begun tomorrow (March 1) by Floyd Chapter, American Red Cross, and thus Floyd county will have an opportunity to redeem itself.

For the last several years now the people of this county have miserably failed the Red Cross. Time after time we have failed to reach the modest goal set. Worse, we don't appear to have cared whether we reached it or not.

But the Red Cross has continued to serve. During 1962 there were months when the treasury was dry. Rents, salaries, other expenses went unpaid. Yet the office remained open; service to those needing help went on as usual.

Many service agencies, if refused time after time, will be discarded. But the Red Cross remembered other times when it was needed; knew, too, the time will come when it will be needed again. And so, despite all discouraging circumstances, the Red Cross chapter remains with us.

During this drive, help someone, little, anyhow.

BUCCANNERS: A dollar-a-year man.

HIS EXCUSE:
A truck-driver, returning to Prestonsburg from a southern Kentucky town, tells of what he says was the actual case of a 72-year-old man who was somewhat hung over. Asked if he wasn't feeling mighty lousy, the driver admitted he was. "That doctor," he said, "told me that one more spree would do me." (See Story No. 2, Page 6.)

SEWER WORK START SEEN
Contract Signing Near; Fitzpatrick Announces; Agencies O.K. Project

Official signing of contracts for construction of Prestonsburg's sewer system, and sewage disposal plant is expected within the next few days, it was said Wednesday morning by H. D. Fitzpatrick, financial adviser to the city in the construction program.

Officials have been advised by both the Community Facilities Administration at Lexington and the U. S. Public Health Service at Charlottesville, Va., that letters are en route here authorizing the issuance of contracts to low bidders.

Contracts were being mailed Wednesday from Lexington to the successful bidder, Percum Lannon, the Dyersburg, Tenn. firm, was low on sewer line construction with a bid of $699,203. The Arton Construction Company, of St. Paul, Minn., was low bidder on the sewage disposal plant and pumping station, asking $439,620.

"When actual work will be begun was not indicated but it is expected to start within the next few weeks."

EMPLOYMENT REFUSAL MAJORITY CAUSE CARD LOSS

NEW RULING IS EFFECTIVE IN PROGRAM

Farm Leaders Allege Food Stamp Recipients Refuse Proffered Work

If a food stamp recipient refuses work in the strawberry fields on the farm or any kind of employment, his card will be pulled, according to a new ruling issued in November.

Ronnie Wright, of the local office, made the statement to a group of area agricultural leaders who were meeting here Thursday of last week to explore means of increasing the strawberry fields in order to insure the continuance of the processing plant established in Prestonsburg last year. Ogden Stewart, president of the Southern States Cooperative, presided.

Many farmers are reluctant to set the plants because of labor shortage. It was said several food stamp recipients refused to work in strawberry fields last year.

Wright said that if a food stamp recipient refused work, the farmer should notify James Hicks, of the local state employment service, and Hicks would in turn notify him.

Under questioning it was developed that if a food stamp recipient is not employed for a period of 90 days, he is eligible for a new card. It was agreed at the meeting that six and one-half cents per quart for picking strawberries at $4 to $5 per day for farm work was generally a plan to promote the planting of three to five-acre plots of strawberries under the supervision of a neighborhood farmer was worked out by Stewart, Paul Martin, president of the First National Bank, Alex Bingham, president of the Floyd County Farm Bureau, Jack Pinar, president of the State Extension Service, and several other members of this group were in the field early this week to consult and plan with farmers. March 8 is set as a deadline for taking plant orders.

Floyd county's tentative quota of an estimated area needs an additional 75 acres but only about eight new acres have been planted.

Attending the meeting, besides Stewart, Bingham, Martin, Pinar, Wright and Hicks, were Ray Dean, vocational agriculture teacher, H. L. Likert, district supervisor of the State Extension Service, H. Johnson, Floyd county office manager, Elder Goble, office manager of Lexington, and W. B. Lafferty, Sr., farm leader, Ruby Watta, of the state ABC office, Frances H. Pitts, Floyd county home demonstrator, and Claude Christian, Johnson county extension agent and others.

WEATHER HITS SCHOOL TERM

Plan Saturday Classes If Necessary To Meet Closing Date of June 7

Snowfall Monday night closed many Floyd county schools again, bringing the total number of days missed to 19. Schools resumed classes Wednesday but rural and other schools not dependent on bus transportation taught Tuesday with the approval of County Superintendent Charles P. Thayer.

No Saturday classes are planned for the remainder of the term. Plans to end the current school term Friday, June 7, and he announced that only the number of classes necessary to meet the closing date will be taught. A recent poll of teachers approved Saturday classes if necessary.

Clark pointed out that many teachers plan to begin summer classes in early June and that the present term will have to end June 7 if they are to do so. Eastern State College and Pikeville College open their summer terms June 10 and 11, respectively.

In a recent letter to teachers, Superintendent Clark explained a general completion as a result of the inclement weather.

"The thing which causes me most personal concern about you being 18 days behind the fact that you have insisted that you should be" (See Story No. 3, Page 6.)

SECOND CASE IS REPORTED

School Boy Recovering From Meningitis Attack; Cases Tended Sporadic

Mickey Coble, 10, a pupil of the Corn Fork school, near Larimer, was reported recovering this week from an attack of what is believed to be meningitis, the second case of the disease which on February 15 caused the death of Dock of 19-year-old Marion Pitts.

The boy entered the Prestonsburg General hospital last Saturday.

Dr. Russell L. Hill, county health officer, classified both cases of the disease as sporadic, or non-epidemic. He sought to allay undue anxiety on the part of parents but at the same time asked that certain precautions be taken.

Dr. Hill said that only those persons who have had direct contact with the boy—members of his family, fellow-students, playmates, for instance—need take preventive medicine. Sulfadiazine for this is prescribed for a period of five days. There is no vaccine to be administered against the disease, he emphasized.

To requests that he direct the closing of schools he replied that no unusual or epidemic proportions has developed and that consequently it would be unnecessary to close schools. (See Story No. 5, Page 5.)

BYPRO WOMAN IS DISMISSED

Support of Chandler Pledged by Mrs. Hall; Held $10,400 Position

Mrs. Ann B. Hall, of Bypro, was dismissed last Wednesday by Gov. Bert T. Combs as a member of the Kentucky State Tax Commission, shortly before A. B. Chandler, anti-administration candidate for the Democratic gubernatorial nomination, read a letter from her in which she endorsed Chandler.

Mrs. Hall later returned: "The Governor scolded his own ship before he set sail."

While addressing a Woman's Club meeting in Louisville the same day, Chandler announced that he had received from Mrs. Hall a letter pledging her support of his candidacy and criticizing what she termed waste in the present Administration.

Mrs. Hall was among the first key employees hired by Governor Combs. She was given the $10,400-a-year tax commission job January 5, 1960.

Neither Combs nor Mrs. Hall would elaborate on the feelings they had for each other, or what brought them on.

Mrs. Hall said she felt any citizen "has a right to choose the candidate he wishes to support."

She entered politics as a member of the 1958 House of Representatives and became active in the work of the anti-Communist League. Her husband and eventually played a prominent role in the nomination and election of Combs as Governor.

Stumbo elementary school has been completed and is now open for operation. March 3, will be the day of the new building at Gretna, on Mud Creek." (See Story No. 6, Page 6.)

TORIST BOOM TALKED AT REGIONAL MEETING

Despite snow and icy roads, about 80 persons interested in U. S. 23 as an artery of traffic into the mountainous part of the Eastern Kentucky state, gathered at the regional Travel Conference sponsored last Thursday at May Lodge, Jenny Wiley State Park, by the Kentucky Travel Council.

Cliff B. Latta, Prestonsburg attorney, presided at the observance at May Lodge. Mr. Latta, temporary regional chairman, who was confined to his home by illness. He presided over the business session. Mr. Musick was elected permanent chairman, and Lon B. Rogers, of Pikeville, was named secretary.

Dr. George P. Arber, mayor of Prestonsburg, welcomed the visitors on behalf of the city and also for the county in the absence of County Judge Henry Stumbo.

The morning session was devoted to talks which broadly described the present tourist business in Kentucky, the attractions of the state and its great potential.

Robert Ladman, Louisville, executive vice-president of the Business Development Corporation of Kentucky, pointed out that Kentucky had 18 million visitors last year, that tourists pay $15 million a year in taxes into Kentucky's state treasury. He said that 20 million persons are expected to visit Kentucky this year, and that state expenditures will increase commensurately. He said the prediction made by Paul W. Grubbs, Louisville, director of the Kentucky Travel Council. He emphasized the necessity of training visitors and personnel to provide these visitors with the most courteous service and to be good ambassadors of their area and the entire state.

Don Green, of the Kentucky Chamber of Commerce, Louisville, stressed the need of more advertising, not only by the state but also by private industries, and that favored billboards, though these have been outlawed. "Our big job," he said, "is to get people to visit throughout Kentucky rather than just through Kentucky."

Sumner Maurice Izzell, assistant director of the direction of the result would be 60,000 new jobs in the state. "This," he said, "can't be expected to happen immediately, but it can happen. For it has doubled within the last 10 years."

"More Than Comforters" is the theme of the 1963 service, inspired by the Apostle Paul's encouraging words to the Romans that neither tribulation, distress, persecution, famine, nakedness, peril, nor sword can separate from the love of Christ, for "in all these things we are more than conquerors through our love for God."

Many of the Christian people around the world who will participate in the World Day of Prayer, these words are more than words, for so with the women of Korea, who wrote the service, they have been tribulation, distress, persecution, famine, nakedness, peril, nor sword can separate from the love of Christ, they are "more than con-

And for have been the Judge-Sherlock. I served last year campaign manager Democratic in the Having served titles, I now feel to assume the of the office Attorney.

My experience as a judge only gives me experience, but become well acquainted with the relationship to the administration of Government. We can all be in the accomplishment of the giving access to the Park which an administration into the state park. The increased in welfare per the right direction.

HAROLD STUMBO ANNOUNCES FOR COMMONWEALTH ATTORNEY

I wish to announce my candidacy for the office of Commonwealth's Attorney of Floyd County.

While this is my first attempt to seek an elective office, I offer qualifications of experience and background which have given me a wide knowledge of the operation of the courts and of public affairs, both at the county and state levels. I have practiced law here for over six years, I have served as assistant prosecutor in the County Attorney's office. And for the past two years have been trial commissioner to Judge Stumbo. A lifelong Democrat, I served last year as Wilson Wyatt's campaign manager—Floyd county's Democratic majority led the state. Having served you in these capacities, I now feel that I am qualified to assume the greater responsibility of the office of Commonwealth's Attorney.

My experience as trial commissioner to Judge Stumbo has not only given me considerable trial experience, but has enabled me to become well acquainted with the affairs of Floyd county and its relationship to the state, and especially its relationship to the administration of Governor Bert T. Combs. We can all take justifiable pride in the accomplishments of this administration, especially here in Floyd county. We are the beneficiaries of the Mountain Parkway, giving access to Jenny Wiley State Park, which under Governor Combs' administration has been developed into the state's second greatest park. The increases which have been received for education and raises in welfare payments are steps in the right direction for a greater

Floyd county. This administration has also been extremely helpful to Floyd county's rural road program. Governor Combs has assured me his support on behalf of my candidacy. Due to the above, I feel that I will support the candidate for Governor who will continue the fine programs already started by Governor Bert T. Combs.

To those of you who do not know me personally, I point out that I am thirty-two years of age, the son of Wayne and Barbara Hopkins Stumbo, of Minnie, Kentucky, on Left Beaver Creek. I am married to the former Phyllis Jean Martin and have four children. My wife is a school teacher by profession and I myself have had some experience for a short period as a teacher in the Floyd county schools. I am a veteran of the armed services of the United States.

As your Commonwealth's Attorney, I shall attempt at all times to bring out the truth to make of Floyd county a law-abiding community, to prosecute strongly those who the facts indicate are guilty, but will have an equal determination to protect those who are innocent. This in the end is the greatest responsibility of a Commonwealth Attorney, and I must intend to make Floyd County my home.

Your support will be greatly appreciated.

Sincerely
HAROLD STUMBO

HOLLIE CONLEY ANNOUNCES FOR CIRCUIT JUDGE

In announcing that she is a candidate for Circuit Judge of Floyd county, I do so realizing the great responsibilities which face me, and which I will assume as your Judge. I will fulfill these responsibilities with pride and dignity.

My experience as a practicing attorney, along with the opportunity given me to serve you as your County Attorney and as your County Court Clerk, has given me the necessary experience needed to handle in your satisfaction the duties and responsibilities of the office of Circuit Judge.

A long-range program for progress for this county has been set in motion by Governor Combs. In the development of the Eastern Kentucky Turnpike, the Commission on Education, as well as the expanded title alike to the poor and the rich, program for education, the old aged, the needy blind and dependent children, which he has sponsored, convinces me that Floyd county is on the move forward. I support these programs and I support the candidate for Governor who will continue these improvements for Floyd county.

Our present Circuit Judge will this year complete 26 years as a Judge in Floyd county. In his last year for the office he promised you the people that, at the end of his present term, he would not run for re-election, but would retire under the State Judge's Retirement Fund. This is one of the many reasons which has caused me to seek this office.

As most of you know, I am the son of Willis Conley and Minnie Conley; I am married to Mildred Martin, the daughter of W. S. (Hooch) and Katherine Webb Martin. I am the father of four children.

I offer to you the voters my experience, my moral character and my desire to be your judge. In return for your support, I pledge to maintain the dignity of the court, to uphold the law and to do justice, as well as the people and the poor, and to do everything in my power to advance progress and prosper children in Floyd county.

THE TRUTH SHALL MAKE YOU FREE (St. John 8:32)

(Continued from Page One) Dr. Hall pointed out that 87% of the population are, under normal conditions, carriers of meningitis. He made the following suggestions: 1. Cover the mouth when coughing; 2. Avoid overcrowding; 3. Increase ventilation; 4. Isolate public suffering from colds and sore throats by seating them in the cooler of the schoolroom; 5. Do not overheat rooms; 6. Wash hands before eating; 7. Never spit on the floor or street or in any public place.

Our religious beliefs come from many sources, and are colored by our backgrounds, knowledge, reading and past experiences. Some of these have produced good ideas, but many have given us false ideas about religion. The very incident that caused Jesus to use the above words was produced by the religion brought about by God's revelation to the Jews, and the influence of the heathen tribes upon that revelation. Christianity, in its truest form, is the truth that God has revealed unto us, especially through the teachings of Jesus Christ and His true followers, the Apostles. These truths and the influences of non-Christian and anti-Christian forces will be considered from time to time in this paper. Read and study your Bible, if you would know the TRUTH. Pray and allow God's Holy Spirit to be your guide in understanding His Truth. For more information on TRUE CHRISTIAN BELIEFS, write True Christian Beliefs, Box 569, Prestonsburg, Kentucky.

 In. But I never did have any faith in that 80-and-86, and I just decided I'd get on me another and see if he was right."

AND THAT'S HOW IT HAPPENED

The subject of rats came up, the other morning, for no good reason that I know of, since those engaged in the discussion weren't speaking of anybody they didn't like. The idea was developed that three-ight—mornins are about the most versatile at large; at home on the ground, underground, swimming on the water or beneath and capable of slithering up a tree or almost vertical walls. All of which reminded me of a story printed in The Reader's Digest, some years back, the writer telling with apparently straight face this yarn:

A store-owner had been warring with rats to no avail, and the situation grew more desperate when eggs were being taken from the crates and carried away. All doors closed, windows were secure, so it must be the rats. But how? There wasn't a broken egg, they just vanished—and how could a rat carry away an egg without breaking it? he was curious to know. So he set up a vigil over the proceedings that were going on in his store at night. And this is what he saw:
 A rat would extract an egg from the case, clutch it between forepaws and body, tumble onto its back and cradle the egg against its breast. Then (so help me, the man told it) a brother rat would take that No. 1 by the tail with its teeth and snake him, egg and all, from the room.

 paid promptly on the 25th of each month, regardless of the amount of overtime which might be necessary on the part of the bookkeeping department. Our staff here has responded to that request unselfishly but the truth of the matter now is that we are so many days behind with our teaching that we have run into some problems which cannot be solved in order to pay by the usual 25th. Even if we could meet the 25th payday this time we would be uncertain about the date for the rest of the year. If you can wait until we have taught several more days we will be able to reset the pay date so that it will come the same date in the month each month. I do hope you do not have to discount your salary this month and that you are not as disappointed about passing up the 25th as I am. We shall pay as soon as we have taught enough days to enable us to get the payroll straightened out. You may rest assured that we shall pay as soon as it is possible and legal."

Did you ever wonder why a pound of red meat costs more than a pound of poultry? One reason is the difference in feed needed for cattle and broilers to gain weight. U. S. Department of Agriculture statisticians figure it takes two pounds of feed to develop one pound of broiler meat, while three pounds of feed are needed to produce a pound of pork and six to eight pounds of feed for a pound of beef.

Forestry Camp Takes Shape

Looking over buildings under construction at the State's new forestry camp for specially-selected inmates of LaGrange Reformatory is camp director Lt. Clarence O. Goodpastor of the Kentucky Department of Corrections. Located in Kentucky Ridge State Forest in Bell County, the camp has a dual purpose—aiding in the rehabilitation of reformatory inmates and providing manpower to permit the State Division of Forestry to undertake extra forest fire control measures it would not be able to otherwise. The prisoners themselves are constructing the buildings. This is Kentucky's first camp, though some other states have operated similar camps for years.

PRISON FORESTRY CAMP FOR INMATES IS HAILED

(Special to The Times)
Frankfort, Feb. 21—An experiment launched by the state last summer—using carefully screened inmates from LaGrange Reformatory for forest fire control—is expected to return a double dividend.

State Conservation Department officials say the prisoners will aid in forest fire fighting and LaGrange Reformatory Warden David L. Davis calls the project "a wonderful addition to our rehabilitation program."

A project involving the Conservation Department's Division of Forestry and the Department of Corrections, the pilot program is operating along the wooded ridges of Pine and Log Mountains in Kentucky Ridge State Forest.

The Bell county forestry camp itself is supervised by the Department of Corrections which operates the State penal system. The 29 reformatory inmates who were selected for the pilot project are now putting the finishing touches on the permanent buildings for the camp—all of which they themselves have built from the ground up.

When the camp is complete, the prisoners will be assigned work for the Kentucky Department of Forestry.

"These workers will help us do things our budget would not otherwise permit us to do," Conservation Commissioner J. O. Matlock pointed out. He said they will be assigned such chores as fire fighting, building fire trails into inaccessible areas of the state forest and maintaining equipment.

Forestry Division Director Gene Bucher said the men have already proven their usefulness in forestry work. They were used for emergency fire fighting early in December and three mechanics among the inmates have reconditioned 12 trucks and jeeps used by the Southeastern Kentucky Forest District.

"Having this extra manpower available is going to be a big help to the Forestry Division," Bucher said.

"It's going to be a big help to the prisoners, too, according to Harlan, because the inmates are in the Department of Corrections. He pointed out that it will give them a chance to learn a new trade or brush up on skills they already have. "And it gives them a chance to do something they know needs to be done, the most

Pastoral Pressures Theme of Meeting

Lexington, Ky.—"Facing Pastoral Pressures" is the theme of an Institute for ministers to be held at Eastern State Hospital, Lexington, February 25-27, 1963. The title is the title of a book, written and edited by the Kentucky Council of Churches.

The Institute will deal with some of the inner tensions of ministers. Particular attention is to be given to the conflict between what the minister feels called to do and what his church or community may expect him to do. "The Minister's Mental Health" will be dealt with as well as how ministers spend their time.

However, it's pointed out that it is doubtful if the fest's age could have been determined by its scales, since the growth of fish below the dam is about constant and therefore the growth rings on the scales would be perhaps, unrelatable. Because of the almost constant water temperature and therefore the growth rings on the scales would be perhaps, unrelatable.

Q. Why is there a size limit of 12 inches on black bass in Herrington Lake when there is no limitation on the size in other large lakes? W.L.J., Salva, Ky.

A. The 12-inch limit was imposed in the hope of increasing the spawning in that lake. It was found in a survey that 50 per cent of bass in Herrington a few years ago were less than 10 inches long. This means there were fewer larger fish to spawn. In an effort to allow more fish to spawn and thereby increase the lake population, it was decided to protect the fish up to 12 inches.

What's Going On in FISH & WILDLIFE

By MITCHELL CLARK, Commissioner
Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources

The proof of the pudding is in the eating and the proof of the worth of rainbow trout stocking in Kentucky was proven a few weeks ago when Irvin Moffitt, of Jamestown, hoisted an 11-pound, source rainbow from the tail waters of Wolf Creek Dam. That's a pretty good size rainbow in anybody's book or in any state's waters. It proves that the conditions for rainbow are favorable in the Kentucky area, else this fellow would not have reached his robust size.

Moffitt's trout was stocked in the waters of the Cumberland River below Wolf Creek Dam by the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources, probably six or seven years ago. It could have been older than that because rainbows have been placed there since 1952 and this could have been one of the older fellows, but biologists do not think so. Since no scales were saved to be read as to age that fish's age must remain unknown.

Furthermore, the Department is trying a new wrinkle in trout stocking. They have been placed in Lake Cumberland and the Department is hopeful that a trout fishery may be established in this and other lakes.

Q. Why is there a size limit of 12 inches on black bass in Herrington Lake when there is no limitation on the size in other large lakes? W.L.J., Salva, Ky.

A. The 12-inch limit was imposed in the hope of increasing the spawning in that lake. It was found in a survey that 50 per cent of bass in Herrington a few years ago were less than 10 inches long. This means there were fewer larger fish to spawn. In an effort to allow more fish to spawn and thereby increase the lake population, it was decided to protect the fish up to 12 inches.

Q. I am a fisherman in the Kentucky River and Ohio River. In 1952 I was angling for bluegill, crutchies, sunfish and a few darters and there is a limit on the number of hooks that may be used in this river. Is this true? D.B. Warsaw, Ky.

A. There is no limit on the number of hooks that may be used in a river. It may be set just about anywhere in the river, except they are barred for a distance of 200 yards below a lock and dam in a river.

Q. Is there a size limit on rainbow trout caught in Kentucky by their own daily and possession limit of five.

JEST AMONG US
BY JACK WILD
I suppose the world's first bowler must have been some hungry caveman who rolled a boulder down the side of a mountain in the general direction of food on the ground. He probably didn't discover bowling till last fall.

There's something about bowling that gets you. Maybe it's that first wonderful strike, when lights flash, sirens scream, and the crowd goes wild. You're really hooked then. At any rate, millions of dollars are spent each year on the sport, and I guess you've got the roll throwing money down the lane.

Even Mom and the kiddies frequent those shining temples now, and kids are hooked on it from the start. The 60-year-old mother of a friend of mine bowls four times a week. The other day I saw a 4-year-old get a strike the hard way—with both hands.

If you haven't taken up bowling yet, you probably will, so let me tell you what it's all about. The idea is to roll a hard rubber ball along the side of a runty paraffin-downed hardwood strip and knock over 10 wooden pins at the end of it. Simple as that. Of course, the first time you step out on the lane you'll feel like a fool. It's not until you've got the hang of it that you realize how simple it is. The ball should be held in your right hand and the lane appears to be barely copious width by a quarter of a mile long. With a six-foot throw on either side, the ball roughly has three holes bored in it and this can be confusing as the average person has five digits on each hand, and you're there's always the chance you may get your thumb stuck in one of the fingerholes or the fingers in the thumbhole. Either way, it's pretty awkward.

The object, naturally, is to throw the ball down the lane without going along with it. If you knock all 10 pins down in one roll, it's a strike; if you get them all in two rolls, it's a spare; and if you don't get them all by then, it's a shame. There's one thing about it, though, you never have to worry about hurting your ball. Even if you roll it down the gutter, the management is always accommodating about returning it so you can try again.

League bowling, in which several bowls compete against each other during a season, is becoming quite popular. I happen to be a member of the University of Kentucky's family league, which is a very nice place to spend a spare hour on a handicap basis and you don't have to be an expert if you have a big fat handicap. Some of UK's most distinguished professors demonstrate every week, but all their experimenting is not done in the laboratory.

TO IRAY SUNDAY
Pairings for the annual 15th regional high school basketball tournament will be conducted at Prestonsburg high school, Sunday afternoon at 2 o'clock. The battle for the title will begin Wednesday evening and run through Saturday night when the championship will be crowned.

Three Floyd county schools won more than 20 basketball games this season. McDowell posted 23 wins. Martin 22 and Betsy Layne 21. Betsy Layne, under Coach Casey Brown, Jr., compiled a 11-4 mark after he filled in for resigned Benny Fanning, January 2. . . . Bob Talbert grabbed the individual scoring title in the region with a per game mark of 28.3. He scored 38, 32, and 43 in his final three seasons of play. The Prestonsburg high school basketball team will sport 30 new uniforms this season, their first new ones in 12 years. The uniforms are an exact replica of the ones worn by the New York Jets in the National League. They will play a 25-game schedule.

The winner of the 15th region tournament will meet the winner of the Second region (possibly Princeton Dotson or Earlington) in the 3:15 p.m. game Thursday evening in the state high school basketball tournament. The game is now under way to select senior basketball players for the year.

Cats Down Garrett In Two Overtimes
Fred Setser's field goal and two foul shots by Danny Hamilton pulled Prestonsburg's Blackcats from behind with just seconds remaining and gave the host team a 74-73 escape over visiting Garrett in two overtime periods Tuesday night.

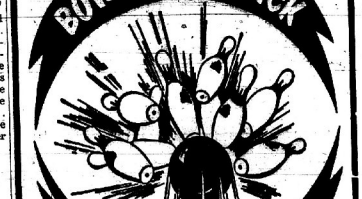

The two teams had ended the regulation four quarters in a 68-68 deadlock, and both scored four points in the first extra period. The victory was Prestonsburg's ninth in 19 games.

The Blackcats eked out a 20-17 margin in the first quarter and pulled ahead by eight points at 33-30 at halftime. Garrett began his comeback in the third quarter by outscoring Prestonsburg 18-16 and tying the game by edging the cats 16-15 in the final.

Wayne DeBoard was Prestonsburg's leading scorer with 23 points but Garrett's center, Jimmy Cox, took game honors with a 38-point performance. Fred Hamilton led 19, Jim Setser 14 and Hamilton 12 for the visitors, while Keith Lawson and Johnny Bolen scored 14 and 11, respectively.

Wheeler Wins In Four Overtimes
Wheeler, Ky.—Jim Rollins canned a pair of free throws with five seconds remaining in the fourth overtime Monday night to give Wheeler a 63-61 decision over Virgie.

Rollins capped a Wheeler comeback that whittled away a 10-point Virgie second quarter lead and produced the Trojan's 11th victory in 20 games. Only six shots were taken during the overtime periods. Wheeler got the tap in the first and look one shot. Virgie got the tap in the second and third and took only one shot each time. Wheeler got three cracks at the basket in the fourth overtime and Rollins was fouled over the third one—layup attempt.

Rheumatic Fever Follows "Strep Throat" Attacks In Many Cases, Said

February is "strep throat" month as well as Heart Month. There is a very definite connection between the two, because a strep throat may be followed by rheumatic fever which in turn can lead to rheumatic heart disease.

Rheumatic heart disease is the condition in which permanent damage is done to the lining and valves of the heart. Rheumatic fever is the basic cause for half of all heart disease in children of school age, according to the Kentucky Heart Association.

Research scientists spent years studying patients whose strep sore throats were neglected and received no attention. They discovered that when the strep infection was effectively cured — usually by large doses of penicillin — rheumatic fever didn't occur. And without rheumatic fever there was no likelihood of damaging rheumatic heart disease.

This procedure isn't always as foolproof as it sounds, however. Some strep infections go unrecognized. They are known as "silent infections," revealing no symptoms that would cause the patient to seek medical care.

The Kentucky Heart Association is certain, nevertheless, that if every known strep infection were promptly and properly treated, the number of rheumatic fever and rheumatic heart disease cases would decrease each year. At the present time, it is known that at least 500,000 children in this country are now or have been rheumatic fever victims. Another 500,000 adults are still suffering from childhood attacks of the same crippling disease.

The heart damage caused by rheumatic fever may appear following a first attack or not for many years, or perhaps not at all. The likelihood of heart damage can be greatly reduced if the person who has had rheumatic fever once is protected against recurrence. Parents, especially, should know that one attack of rheumatic fever does not confer immunity.

The age range when rheumatic fever most often strikes in children is from five to fifteen years, so parents of children in that bracket should be especially interested in a booklet which deals with this problem.

It is called "Now You Can Protect Your Child Against Rheumatic Fever." For a free copy, write to the Kentucky Heart Association, 31 Street Building, Louisville 6, Kentucky.

NEW REAPPORTIONMENT PLANS ARE ADVOCATED

(Special to The Times) Frankfort, Feb. 18.—The Kentucky General Assembly, meeting in special session to redistrict the State's legislative districts, resumed work Monday on two new reapportionment bills introduced last week. The new bills are the first to be drawn up by the legislators themselves.

The only reapportionment bills previously introduced were authored by Kentucky Farm Bureau officials and by Louisville Mayor William O. Cowger.

In the House, Majority Floor Leader R. P. Malone and 29 other Democrats introduced a bill on House reapportionment which resembles the plan drawn up earlier by Dr. J. E. Reeves, University of Kentucky political science professor. In party conferences, the Democrats altered the Reeves plan in nine of the state's 100 districts.

As presented, the bill gives Jefferson county 17 seats; Fayette, four; Kenton, four; Campbell, three; Christian, Harlan, Boyd and Warren, two each—the same increases in representation offered by Reeves. Changes in the plan were in grouping smaller counties to form a district. The bill also draws the lines within counties having the new districts.

Rep. John E. White, Jefferson, introduced a bill which would change the primary election date to the first Saturday in June. Presently, the date is the first Tuesday after the fourth Monday in May.

Mr. White had brought out of committee for debate in either chamber, at the end of the session's third week.

Combs Appoints Group To Study Penal System Recommendations Asked

Frankfort, Ky., Feb. 21.—Gov. Bert Combs has appointed an 11-man Task Force on Corrections to take a look at Kentucky's penal system and make specific recommendations of ways to reduce the backlog of rehabilitation of prisoners can be improved.

Setting a deadline of October 15, the Governor asked the group to come up with short-range "specific program recommendations which could be considered by the next General Assembly" and to develop a recommendation on the wisdom of a permanent statutory body which could devote itself to a long-range study and advisory role for the corrections program.

But the Governor stressed that he wants the task force to focus its attention on those things which need to be done and can be done and should not be deterred further in anticipation of the creation of a permanent body.

In indicating to the group that he would like to receive interim recommendations which could be carried out in his own term of office, Combs stated that he would favor any solution to relieve the overcrowded conditions at the institutions. "I have already directed the Probation and Parole authorities to take the step necessary to speed up the processing and release of those prisoners found to be dangerous of parole. Nevertheless we need the additional strengthening of local courts and farm operations."

Named co-chairmen of the task force are Matthew B. "Mack" Miller, Louisville, former county commission chairman, secretary and president of the Kentucky Commonwealth Attorneys' Association; and Frank L. Patton, state lieutenant-governor and member of the public instruction committee in the legislature.

Other members are Central City's John E. R. Orr, Louisville's Dr. W. Walter Fox, Louisville's superintendent of Central State Hospital at Latonia, Dr. Arthur Lunsdale, Louisville professor and former dean of the Kent School of Social Work at the University of Louisville, Paul H. Eberhart, Lexington professor in the University of Kentucky College of Law; George Stoll, Louisville businessman and politician; Richard Woods, Louisville, chairman of the Institutions Committee of the Kentucky Council of Churches; John J. O'Hara, Covington, K. C. law county commission attorney; and Rev. John L. Hunt, pastor of the South Franklin Presbyterian Church.

"It is my hope that this task force can serve a crucial need in assisting in the development of new program devices for retaining the moral offender for a productive and respected station in his community," the Governor said.

Taking note of the dramatic developments in social and medical sciences in recent years, the Governor said, "We have not kept current in the application of new knowledge to the solution of this age-old social problem. Human life is the state's most precious possession, and yet we often find ourselves more concerned with the erosion and desecration of plant life and natural resources than with this erosion of human life itself."

Tips for getting the best service from your iron—don't iron over buttons, hooks, slippers, pins or other hard objects; disconnect the plug when the iron is not in use; remove the plug from the outlet by grasping the plug itself rather than the cord; be sure the iron is cool before you put it away; check the cord regularly for frayed or broken insulation; replace a worn cord or damaged plug; store the iron upright, resting on the heel rest.

THE STORY OF TEN LITTLE FREE WORKERS

THESE ARE THE WORKERS
REDDY DOCTOR RAILROADER MINER STEELWORKER FARMER LAWYER FROCKER SALESLER REPORTER

Ten little free workers in this country live and laze. But if you cherish your freedom—worker have a care! Ten little free workers—Reddy was doing fine. Until the socialists got him—then there were nine.

Nine little free workers laughed at Reddy's fate. Along came federal medicine—then there were eight.

Eight little free workers thought this country heaven. But the government took over the railroads, then there were seven.

Seven little free workers—till the miners got in a fix. Uncle said coal's essential and took over leaving six.

Six little free workers 'till the day did arrive. The steel mills too were federalized—then there were five.

Five little free workers—but the farmers use free on more. The farms have been collectivized—then leaves only four.

Four little free workers till the government did decree. All must have free legal advice—then there were three.

Three little free workers—the number is getting few. But with government groceries selling food—then there were two.

Two little free workers—our story's almost done. With clerks at work in federal stores—then leaves only one.

One little free worker—the reporter son-of-a-gun. Mustn't criticize government—so now there are none.

Ten little workers—but they are no longer free. They work when and where ordered, and at a fixed rate you see. And it all could have been prevented if they'd only seen fit to agree. And work together instead of saying "It never can happen to me!"

Yes... it could happen to you. This little story could come true unless each of us works to preserve free enterprise.

GOV. BERT COMBS TO BE SPEAKER at DEDICATION OF NEW SCHOOL at GRETHEL on MUD CREEK SUNDAY, MARCH 3, at 2 p.m.

Construction of the JOHN M. STUMBO SCHOOL for the Mud Creek section is credited to increased education funds from the State Administration.

This new brick structure is located on an 11-acre tract, 7.2 miles from Harold. Containing 18 ultra modern classrooms, 35,000 sq. ft. of floor space, it will house a library, music room, gymnasium-auditorium and lunchrooms. Named the John M. Stumbo Elementary School, it will eliminate four one-room, three two-room, and two three-room schools over a 13 mile stretch on Mud Creek.

CHARLES CLARK, SUPERINTENDENT OF FLOYD COUNTY SCHOOLS, SAYS:

"WHILE THE CONSTRUCTION OF THE MUD CREEK SCHOOL HAS BEEN LONG NEEDED AND DESIRED, WITHOUT THE ADDITIONAL CAPITAL OUTLAY CONSTRUCTION FUNDS MADE AVAILABLE UNDER GOVERNOR COMBS' EXPANDED EDUCATIONAL PROGRAM, THE CONSTRUCTION OF THIS SCHOOL COULD HAVE GOT NO FURTHER THAN THE DRAWING BOARD, NOR WOULD WE HAVE BEEN ABLE TO LET THE CONTRACTS FOR THE GARTH VOCATIONAL SCHOOL AND THE MIDDLE CREEK ELEMENTARY SCHOOL. SCHOOL ADMINISTRATORS, TEACHERS, PARENTS AND CHILDREN THANK GOVERNOR COMBS FOR MAKING THESE NEW SCHOOLS POSSIBLE."

EDUCATION AT THE CROSSROADS...

During his first fiscal year in office (60-'61 fiscal) Combs increased this allotment by $641,511.73 to a grand total of $2,149,391.60. With additional increases in 1961-'62 here are the results of Combs' efforts for Floyd county:

	Before Combs	After Combs	Increase

This is my first time to ask the good people of Floyd county to entrust to me one of the highest offices in Floyd county, but I assure you that my background, qualifications and Christian training will be an asset in discharging the duties of Circuit Clerk.

In addition to the normal duties, I will promote a driver's training program in every Floyd county high school. Such training can save you money on insurance premiums. One reason so many young people are killed on our highways is a lack of proper driver training.

As an extra service of my office I will send all drivers a 30-day notice that their licenses are about to expire.

I invite you to enquire of me. Ask my friends, my neighbors, my business associates, any one who knows me well.

SUNDAY SCHOOL CLASS AT THE HAUNTED ROCK IN 1897

The historian, William Elvey Connelly, Big Sandy valley native who died in Kansas, did more to preserve the history and legend of the area than any other writer. In addition to authoring many books he had the photographer Luther record for posterity the scenes of the area nearly seven decades ago.

This picture here the following legend by the gifted historian:

"Sunday School class, Paintsville, Kentucky. Photographed at the Flat Rock, half a mile below Paintsville. This pool has been a famous crossing place for ages, and all the buffalo paths and Indian trails which ran through this part of the valley crossed Big Point Creek at this point. There was an old Indian village on the plain just over this rock. Just below on the bank of the river is the largest mound in the valley, and there now are near by. Simon Kenton spent two winters at this point, in some old cabins built by the French and the Indians. Many local superstitions, witch tales, and bogie stories were anciently connected with this place. It is yet supposed to be haunted.

FLANAGAN RESERVOIR TO SERVE TRIPLE USE

The $21 million John W. Flanagan dam now under construction in Southwest Virginia is not only designed to lessen floods in the Big Sandy River but will curb stream pollution and convert the area into a fishing and boating area.

The huge federal project is being built on the Pound River near Rays by the U. S. Corps of Engineers. It will effect river pollution as far away as the Mississippi, it is said by conservationists.

Work began on the reservoir in March, 1960, with a completion date set for August, 1963. But the addition of the water quality control system during the summer months is expected to crest about 1,450 feet above sea level.

Other impressive features of the project are the 800-foot tunnel which was drilled beneath a nearby mountain to divert the flow of the Pound River, and a giant 300-foot high highway structure to control the slopes of the dam and construction of two bridges, Robinette explained.

A Corps of Engineers spokesman at Huntington, West Virginia, said the addition of the water quality control system will cost an estimated $9 million and extend work on the project for about two years.

"A gate spillway must be constructed and built on the job probably will be let in January of 1964," the spokesman said. In addition, roads must be relocated and some land must be purchased due to the increased water level resulting from the water quality control system. The system will raise the overall pool level by about 46 feet.

Architecture will match the existing Georgian architecture and a new main entry from the west side will have a classical stone portico which will blend with the style of the University Building, located beside the library.

The Crabbe Library was constructed in 1923 at a cost of $87,700 and an addition was built in 1938, which cost $93,813. The library was named for John Grand Crabbe, Eastern's second president.

Last week plans were announced for a $2,300,000 classroom building that will contain 61 classrooms for the Graduate School and the departments of Commerce and English. The site, conditioned, four-story building will have 135,000 square feet of floor space and completion date will be Sept. 1, 1963.

Also begun this spring will be twin 12-story men's dormitories, to house 720 students and costing $2,800,000. They, also, will be air-conditioned.

Recommended varieties are Clark, Kent, Snyder, Hood and Perry; these are described and their yield, time of maturity, standability, height, seed quality, seed size and oil content compared with other tested varieties.

ANNUAL TURKEY DAY SET

Lexington, Ky. — Kentucky turkey producers and industry men gather Thursday, March 7, at the University Building here for their annual Turkey Day.

MARTIN FOR STATE SENATOR

Without any solicitation from the state senate of having moved upon a labor issue should especially endear him to the Democratic voters of this county.

Senator Martin has had 16 years experience in the State Senate, would make a strong candidate in the 16 Democratic counties of Floyd and Knott and knowing his way in and around Frankfort and the maneuverings of the legislative process, the Democrats should all unite and get behind Senator Martin and return him to the State Senate where he can be of great benefit to the people.

If you want a man you can have confidence in, a man who will stand and fight for the interests of the common, laboring class of people, a man of experience and unquestioned ability, a man who, at the last session of the legislature, was named by a poll of the newspapers as an outstanding Legislator. I urge all Democrats and Republicans alike to get behind Senator Martin and request that he run for re-election.
