No. 2 in Sermon Series Scheduled at Church

The second of a series of sermons on "Varieties of Religious Belief" will be given Sunday at the First Presbyterian Church by the pastor, the Rev. T. W. Chisholm. It is entitled, "Religion of the World," and will deal with those religions based upon the old Jewish conception of the establishment of an earthly kingdom by Jesus Christ, and also those religions which try to pacify man with regards to his hardships in this world by promising him a place of exorcism or atonement for his sins. These conceptions will be compared with the true scriptural conception of the kingdom of God as shown in the teachings of Jesus Christ.

HEAVYWEIGHT I must frisk myself often. I've lost a choice somebody handed me on the street, the other day. I believe it, too, was from Joe Cream's kitchen. As I recall it, it had to do with the doctor who was an ardent fisherman and was called away from the table to deliver a baby. This chore done, it came time to weigh the baby, and he had no scales, but those he used to weigh his catch. And the baby weighed 33 pounds and 10 ounces.

AS ADVERTISED Sometimes the ad writers trip over themselves as they extol the merits and desirability of their wares. There was the catalog which might have reached this desk, the other day, had it not been for the fact that it had a rather high price on used type writers and a rather eloquent description of their worth. But this line suffered my sales resistance. "They won't last long."

NATIONAL FOREST PLANNED FOR AREA BY COMMISSION

The development of a new $2 million national forest in Eastern Kentucky is among the recommendations to be submitted to President John F. Kennedy by the Appalachian Regional Commission, John Whisman said Thursday of last week. He also predicted legislation calling for a major federal investment to finance redevelopment of the nominally depressed Appalachian area will be introduced into the 1964 Congress. Whisman said that despite news stories from Washington that no new programs will be included in the 1963 federal budget, the "single exception" will be the Appalachian development program.

Whisman is executive secretary of the commission. It was established on April 9 by President Kennedy to prepare a comprehensive development program for the nine-state Appalachian area, a region of chronic unemployment and immense social problems. He told Kentucky development leaders the recommendations of the commission will principally involve highways, water and physical and human resources. Among recommendations Whisman said are likely to be submitted to the President are: 1. The Army Corps of Engineers and other federal agencies to accelerate construction of authorized flood control and water resource development projects. 2. The establishment of a special water resource development program for the Appalachian region. 3. The building of a major trunk highway system throughout the Appalachians. 4. Special human resources programs aimed at solving the region's high unemployment rate. 5. Programs in marketing and research that are intended to expand mining and agricultural opportunities. 6. "Major effort" to develop the "Appalachian Mountains as the (recreational) playground for mid-Americans."

(Continued from Page One) grade schools. This is a work scheduled for next summer. The Pshatrap project was begun in early 1962 and is estimated to cost $6 million. John W. Flannagan Reservoir on the Pound River will be in full operation for flood control purposes during the coming flood season. This dam, though not completed, held the flood crest at Pikeville last March 30 feet below the peak it would have reached, had the dam not been there. "In fact," said Colonel Cochran, "the overall damage prevented throughout the basin (the Big Sandy) by this uncompleted project, in that one flood alone, was greater than the amount paid for the project. The North Fork of Pound Reservoir is under construction and its completion slated for December 1964. The Hayes Reservoir on Russell Fork is being reactivated from its previous deferred status to permit final project planning, and will eventually join the string of Big Sandy flood control reservoirs of the Kentucky Reservoir in this county is the oldest. Flood control for the Big Sandy is not so far away, but businessmen, farmers—and thousands of those who live in the valley—would like to see it moved real near.

Funeral of Mrs. Moore was conducted at 2 p.m. from the First Baptist Church, Pikeville, the Rev. David M. Armbrister officiating. Burial was made in Davidson Memorial Gardens under direction of the Baker Funeral Home.

CONSUMER PATS

Despite all the talk about fate in the diet, people are consuming more food fats this year than last, USDA reports. During the first half of the marketing year, Americans used a record 4.7 billion pounds of fats and oils. The biggest increases came in salad and cooking oils and shortenings.

(Continued from Page One) the original execution, is not justified, and set the beginning of interest at May 11, 1961. The appellate court opinion noted that it only appears from the record that the appellant failed to use diligence to consummate the sale. "But it further appears he overrode sought reasons and excuses for delaying the sale..." Counsel for the Floyd man were listed as Cassie J. Allen, Paul E. Hayes, Scott Collins and Robert S. Weisman.

Select natural or process cheese if you're looking for the most cheese per pound, suggests Letta Jasper, UK Extension consumer-marketing specialist. Fear that the proposed organization will be patterned after the Tennessee Valley Authority developed among private power companies and their supporters after a meeting of the commission at Jenny Wiley State Park June 1962. At that meeting, a resolution passed by representatives of eight area development councils in Eastern Kentucky was interpreted, apparently by erroneously, as urging establishment of a "T.V.A.-type" authority to spearhead the economic redevelopment of the Appalachians. As described by Whisman, the Appalachian regional development organization would be a public institution with broad powers to undertake a wide variety of developmental projects in Appalachia. Its financing, he indicated, would involve federal, state and private funds. Whisman cautioned business leaders in his talk here against thinking that Kentucky can expect preferential treatment from the Congress or the Appalachian regional development organization. "This program is something Kentucky is trying to put over in order that we can have a program in which we can share," he added. He did not reveal the location of the proposed national forest, but presumably, it would be along Pine Mountain in Letcher, Harlan and Pike counties. The United States Department of Agriculture recently authorized an investigation to determine if the Pine Mountain area would be suitable for a new national forest.

Authorities said they were told Pratt had been drinking heavily. He and his wife, parents of several children, are divorced, and Pratt has been occupying bachelor quarters in the second story of the building in front of which the shooting took place.

Surviving, in addition to her mother, are two brothers, Danny Ray and Herman Collins, and her grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Collins, all of Melvin. JARMAN INAUGURATION FOUNDER'S DAY PLAN

Founder's Day (today, October 10) at Pikeville College will be an epoch-making occasion in the history of the 74-year-old institution, with the first presidential inauguration in its history. The dedication of a new student center, and the conferring of a doctorate upon a prominent Korean minister.

Although Dr. B. H. Jarman is the ninth president of the college, he will be the first to be officially inaugurated into the office. Coming to Pikeville College from George Washington University, Dr. Jarman assumed the presidency of the college in February of this year. He will deliver the inaugural address in Faith Chapel at 2:30 today (Thursday).

The new Marvin Student Center, occupied and put into service at the beginning of the present school term, will be formally dedicated at 1:30 on the same day. Containing the college bookstore, the college grill, a recreation center, offices for student organizations and a meeting hall for religious groups, the new four-level building is named for Mr. William H. Marvin of St. Paul, Minnesota whose financial assistance made the new structure possible.

The Rev. Daniel T. Kim, of Taegu, Korea, will be presented an honorary doctorate of divinity by the college during the inaugural ceremonies. During the period of Japanese domination of Korea, Dr. Kim was selected from thousands of applicants to attend Doshisha University in Japan, from which he graduated. He attended the graduate school of divinity at Oberlin College.

Labor Has Its Enemies, Too!

THE KENTUCKY LABOR NEWS, of Louisville, owned and published by the Kentucky AFL-CIO, in its issue of September 28, 1963, has this to say about Louie Nunn, Republican candidate for Governor:

We have watched Louie Nunn perform, listened to his speeches, searched his record, and find him a sorry candidate!

It was only last year that we observed Louie Nunn sitting against labor as an attorney for the SORENSON COMPANY of Glasgow, Kentucky! We were engaged in an organizing campaign there, and Mr. Nunn helped the company secure the delays and postponements in the NLRB election that defeated the union.

THIS, HOWEVER, IS NOT OUR ONLY BEEF...

Our major complaint is that Louis Nunn served in this case as co-counsel with JAMES UREY SMITH, JUNIOR, WHO HAS THE DUBIOUS HONOR OF BEING THE ONLY INDIVIDUAL IN KENTUCKY EXPOSED BY THE SENATE RACKETEER COMMITTEE AS A CLIENT OF THE NOTORIOUS NATHAN W. SHEFFERMAN!

The odor of James U. Smith, Jr. and Nathan Shefferman has been a familiar one in Kentucky labor relations. It speaks ill of Louie Nunn that he sold his legal talent to work with James U. Smith against working men and women seeking job security, decent wages and fair working conditions in Louie's home city of Glasgow!

THIS IS IN DIRECT CONTRADICTION TO LOUIE'S ANSWER TO LABOR'S QUESTIONNAIRE! HE TOLD US—AFTER A SEVEN-MONTH DELAY IN ANSWERING—"I believe in the rights of free collective bargaining and the right to organize."

IF LOUIE NUNN BELIEVES IN COLLECTIVE BARGAINING, WHY WAS HE OBSTRUCTING IT—for a fee—in GLASGOW LAST YEAR???

SPORTS CHATTER

By GORDON MOORE

PLAY BELFRY FRIDAY

The Prestonsburg Black Cats play at home Friday night for the first time in a month when they meet Al Vanceman's Belfry Pirates at 8 o'clock.

In the last three away games the Cats have suffered consecutive losses to Jenkins, Pikeville and Louisa. Individually, tackle Chuck May, halfback Gary Coble, David Miller and Chairman Howard have all looked good in particular games, but the team has failed to get a good combined effort from every player.

Gary Coble, a diminutive junior halfback, raced 81 yards for the Black Cat's lone touchdown in the last game. He not only gained 101 yards on the ground, but he is sporting a 3-3 mark and snifled M. C. Napier 33-9 last Saturday.

Following the Belfry game, Whitesburg will play host to Whitesburg Friday.

FOOTBALL

Leonard Meeks, who has won the Eastern Kentucky regional golf meet for the past two seasons and also the Paintsville Country Club Invitational tournament, is a starting halfback on the football team.

The 17-year-old junior scored two touchdowns last week against Moravian County as the Tiers rolled to their fifth consecutive win to remain the only undefeated football team in the Eastern Kentucky area.

Hazard's senior speedster, Butch Green, has played in three games against Ashland in the past three seasons, and the Tom Cats will be especially glad to see him stride.

In 1961 as a sophomore, Green scored four touchdowns as Hazard won 40-15 last year as a junior. In a 29-17 tie, Green scored twice, but this season in leading Hazard to a 26-25 victory, he sped 42 yards for one touchdown and gained over 100 yards.

The eyes of Eastern Kentucky football will center in Jenkins Saturday night, when the Hazard Bull Does come in for an important regional and end-of-season battle.

Head Hazard has, and that was in 1957, however, the Bull Does are expected to win again. But Jenkins will probably win the conference and regional title, since Hazard suffered three paper losses.

Wheelwright high will be at home to M. C. Napier at 8 p.m. Friday in their home game in three weeks. Gary Coble was named the Player of the Week in Franklin's Sports.

More than 200 coaches and officials attended the 14th annual rules clinic in Dover, N. Carolina.

There were several reports that their basketball seasons, the last week in October.

CATS LOSE TO LOUISA HI HAZARD DOWNS ASHLAND,

Hazard and Jenkins will settle a 51 season to date; Wheelwright bowed to London by a 43-0 count. Louisa topped Prestonsburg, 14-0. Belfry rolled over M. C. Napier, 30-0 on Saturday night.

The most cheerless game probably virtually assured of the Eastern Kentucky Mountain Conference crown and Class AA, Region 4, District 2 title, was a 30-0 victory by Whitesburg over Hazard.

Hazard added considerable pressure to area football in edging previously undefeated Ashland last night.

The victory Bull Does rolled to a 26-13 lead in the first three periods, then held off a determined fourth-quarter Tom Cat rally to see the decisive victory.

Halfback Dave Alban ran four yards to score in the early minutes of the fourth quarter, but the run for the extra point failed and Hazard maintained a 26-19 advantage.

Then, with less than three minutes left, Ashland recovered a fumble at the Bull Dog 26 and marched for the score, with Vic McGuire going the first seven yards.

The attempted run for the yard extra point failed and Hazard stayed on top 26-21.

Hazard's tie came on a 58-yard pass from Kenny Tate to Jimmy Walker, a 15-yard run by senior speedster Butch Green, a four-yard run by halfback Buck Robinson and a 98-yard pass from Tate to end Scudde Horn. Ashland's scoring in the first period was on an 18-yard trick by Nick Johnson and a one-yard plunge by McGuire.

In other games in the area over the past week-end, Fleming-Neon whipped Pikeville, 21-6, to move up to fourth spot in the Class A third and end-of-season battle. Ashland, with a 3-1 record.

Walter Bruch's Paintsville Tigers took undefeated possession of first place in its district by drubbing Moravian County, 7-0, for its third win in regional play and fifth consecutive of the season. Quarterback Bobby Porter hurled two touchdown passes—two, a 23-yarder to James Tackett, the other for 35 yards in 41 seconds.

James Smith failed twice on runs of one and 11 yards; Meeks on a weekly award. With several years of regional play and Porter on a 62-yard punt return.

Elkhorn City won a non-league game over Leslie County, 53-2, Friday.

Telephone Talk

by GUY HISLE
Your Telephone Manager

THE AVERAGE WATCH HAS 150 PARTS. Your telephone has 476! But even though the telephone is a complex instrument, it's amazingly troublefree. And at rare times when it does need repair, there's no additional charge to you.

THERE'S A HANDY "BLUE BOOK OF TELEPHONE NUMBERS" put out by your telephone company. Keeping an up-to-date list of personal telephone numbers beside your home and business phones will make calling easier, quicker. And in your list, be sure to include Area Codes along with out-of-town numbers. Just ask for a Blue Book at our business office.

THIS LITTLE PIG WENT TO MARKET BY TELEPHONE! Virginia hog marketers are trying out Tel-O-Auction, a brand-new way of buying and selling livestock. Growers bring their hogs to a market which is the center of a conference type telephone network. At the other end of the line are the buyers. An auctioneer describes the hogs, the buyer bids by giving his number, and his purchases are shipped to him sight unseen. Tel-O-Auction is a buyer's dream, saving the time and money involved in traveling to market.

FREEDOM OF THE PRESS is one of our country's great strengths. Honest, objective reporting of the news is one of our strongest weapons against the threat of Communism. Southern Bell joins all America in a salute to the men and women of the press, during National Newspaper Week, October 13 through 19.

THINK OF ALL THE THINGS YOU'D MISS IF IT WEREN'T FOR YOUR TELEPHONE... conversation with friends, bargain shopping from home on rainy days, keeping up with the latest news of out-of-town family and friends. A phone call is the quick, low-cost way to stay in touch across town or across the country!

DEPRESSED AREA FILM SCANS EAST KENTUCKY

CBS News Service is currently filming a documentary for the "Twentieth Century" program series, to be released early in 1964, the purpose of which is to portray the national significance of a depressed area. CBS is using Eastern Kentucky as a focus.

Each Labor of the "Twentieth Century" staff spent several days in Berea last spring, working out of the offices of the Council of Southern Mountains and attending the Eastern Kentucky Regional meeting at Hindman. The Council gave CBS News full cooperation because of its wish to bring to the nation a true picture of conditions which must be overcome within the region, with the understanding and help of the rest of the nation. In addition to consulting with Mr. Laly, P. F. Auer, executive secretary of the Council, spent some time in New York working with CBS News staff members and reviewing Mr. Laly's report to the network.

Willard Van Dyke, one of the foremost documentarians in the United States, is directing the program, and has as his unit manager Paul Asanin. Both spent a week in Berea and in the mountain region early in September and later were joined by a camera crew. The unit filmed conversations with Mr. Auer, and with authors Jesse Smart and Harry M. Ouditt, author of the recent book, "Night Comes to the Cumberland." The Council had the cooperation of the network.

WARNING

BE ALERT-BE ON THE LOOKOUT

Just before the November 5th election the Combs-Breathitt administration will scatter SOME gravel on the rural or country roads.

Just before the May primary, they scattered some on the rural roads, and the gravels being something new to the chickens they gobbled them up, wasn't enough to hurt them but they might by accident scatter the gravels in some spots thick enough to just before the November election that your chickens might get enough to hurt them.

Put your neighbors on notice to be on the lookout for the yellow gravel trucks so they may be able to pen their chickens until the gravel has been spread but if no more than before the May primary they will be safe to turn them out.

You folks remember how this crowd abused one of the greatest Governors Kentucky ever had, called him a clown, a crook, a cheater, a Cheshire cat. Don't be deceived by a yellow truckload of gravel at the last minute.

Also don't be deceived by a job promise now. They are promising everybody and their brother a job.

Vote for the ABC Team.

A Pictorial Review of East Kentucky
(No. 232 in a Series)

Reverend Fair Allen

It was the dedicated local ministers of Eastern Kentucky who contributed greatly to the religious development of the region during the post-Civil War period. Many of them are remembered with respect and love by the people they served.

Shown here is the Rev. Fair Allen, Regular Baptist minister of Floyd county half a century ago. With him in this photograph taken about 1898 are his wife, Mary Ann Prater Allen, and their son, Zeb Allen, who now resides in Ohio.

The First National Bank salutes the old ministers and recognizes the great work they accomplished.
