THURSDAY

This Town... That World

Out of sorts and feeling grouchy? Just remember that the crasser the pie, the less the filling.

The latest guff the rounds at the Long Branch is the one about the fellow who bought a new boombox and drove himself crazy trying to throw his old one away.

A POK ON THE CRITICS!
Think I'll stop reading Time Magazine's reviews of television shows. It doesn't do me any good to learn that most of the programs I like are to these high-brow boys "trite," "too pat," or plain on their way to limbo. They're the guys who call a good, old-fashioned hymn "stray" and would trade off "Gunslinger" in a minute for one of these new things which will be made as much sense as Madame Nhu did on the Meet the Press.

NO FIRES—YET
I have many things to be thankful for. One of these is, I haven't seen a wisp of smoke rising from any of the hills heretofore, marking the dropping of a careworn medic.

A BIRTHDAY COMING UP
Next week I will be 53. In this newspaper will write all on this year.

We shall, God willing, celebrate by getting another paper to be put out onto the streets and into the mails. Perhaps it will be good for us and our readers, too, for us to get away from the old routine, do the flamboyant, cur a little and carry on, but we have had said our piece, especially here, was not very satisfactory.

But a better day pulls one up a bit short, if he happens to be a war of it. You just can't help a war, but if the first news he reads the "indescribable" "Old Dave" those who have worked "her" moved on, some with the cry "Printer" written after their names.

"Printer" written after their names. "Printer" written after their names. "Printer" written after their names.

AIRPORT USE BY NOV. 15th, IS PREDICTION

Ky. Road Oiling Co. Begins Grade, Drain Of East Point Field

Burt Spurlock, chairman of the Prestonburg-Paintsville Airport Commission, said this week that the airport under construction at Slochouse Bottom, on the new Prestonburg-Paintsville road, now U. S. 23, will be ready for use by November 15.

Grade and drain work on the project was begun Tuesday by the Kentucky Road Oiling Company. Surfacing will remain to be done. The grade and drain work is being done on a low bid of $18,180.

The price to be paid for property condemned for the airport remains to be decided by the courts. Eminent domain was granted only after a spirited legal fight.

The landing field, which will serve the land now owned by the Kentucky Road Oiling Co., is 3,800 feet long, and the landing strip, 2,800 feet in length, will accommodate two-engine aircraft.

Concrete surfacing of the highway which borders upon the air field and connects Paintsville with the Prestonburg-Paintsville road (U. S. 23) has been completed, with the exception of minor details. Widening of the highway between the two towns and Auster at points where the original road bed broke off continues and will not be completed until late this year or early next, it was said.

Dedication of the Campbell-Salvatore extension of the Mountain Parkway has been set for November 1.

The House Public Works Committee has passed last week by a 21-10 vote the authorization for the Appalachian Parkway project (U. S. 23) from $90 million to $18 billion.

Public works that the program started by Congress in 1956 has been used last week by the committee in building the kind of a program that is necessary to attract and develop commercial and industrial enterprises. A large number of the communities in Eastern Kentucky have, for the first time, a means by which basic community public works can be obtained.

The importance of making a permanent investment in Eastern Kentucky was stressed by Perkins in a statement issued to date last week in which he said that the program has been used in constructing the Mountain Parkway and in improving roads in the Cumberland National Forest area. Perkins said that much more extensive development of access roads was needed.

Hold-Up Man Receives Sentence In Beating Of Mrs. Nora Matthews

Trial of Herman Pondexter, holdup man who robbed and beat Mrs. Nora Matthews, former Beaver postmistress, July 2 at her grocery store at Oak Grove, Ky., was held Wednesday of last week and resulted in conviction with a life sentence.

Mrs. Matthews, who was robbed of $100 in cash and suffered two skull fractures from the assault, was hospitalized for several weeks at the Vanderbilt University hospital, Nashville.

The case was tried at Hopkinsville, Ky.

PRATT TRIAL IS POSTPONED

Mrs. Scarberry Victim In Highway Accident; Children Hospitalized

Examination trial of Grover Pratt for the fatal shooting of Prillie Sears at Garrett, the night of October 3, was postponed from Monday last Friday because of the death of an auto wreck of an aunt of the victim in Ohio.

The auto victim, Mrs. Victoria Collins Scarberry, 38, Nelsonville, Ohio, was killed instantly at 2:30 p.m. Saturday, seven miles north of Oak Hill, Ohio, as she was returning home from the country after attending the funeral of Miss Sears.

Also killed in the wreck, a head-on collision of automobiles on Ohio State Route 33, was Earl Edwards, 64, Carbondale, Ohio. Mrs. Scarberry's four children, ranging in age from 12 to 10, in a separate auto also were three occupants of a car with which Edwards' auto collided.

It was said that Edwards' auto was driven to the left side of the highway, a car driven by 15-year-old Larry McKinnon, of Columbus, Ohio, was a daughter of Mrs. Scarberry and Dolly Scordian, both of Melvin, Boston, Mass.

CHINQUAPIN NUTS DISTRIBUTED FOR SEED BY PRESTONSURG MAN

Arthur Hughes, Prestonsburg store manager, is rapidly becoming known as Mr. Chinquapin. He became interested in the rare tree, which bears a fruit similar to a chestnut, ten years ago. Since then he has successfully propagated the tree and given away thousands of nuts for planting.

Hughes, who is a native of the Shelby Creek section, Pike county, found a few specimens of the tree growing on the home farm. His efforts to make the tree more widespread have resulted in 2,538 nuts, some being supplied with nuts for planting. More than 2,200 of these have been given away in Floyd county. He has 450 nuts stashed now to grow seedlings.

Many people continue the chinquapin with the pin oak, Hughes says. The pin oak, a variety in this section also, has a slightly better nut that is shaped differently. The chinquapin is a miniature chestnut in shape but the pin oak is about one-half inch long and round.

The nuts ripen in August and continue to do so for six weeks, Hughes says. He is experimenting with three varieties, all ripening at different times.

The chinquapin, or as is often correctly spelled "chinkapin" for Webster's sake, is a nut which mature resembles the pin oak in appearance.

ABC Agents and State Police Arrest Eleven In Rum Raids

Two state agencies cooperated Sunday in a sudden, wide-scale attack on Floyd county bootleggers, making a heavy haul of intoxicants and arresting 11 persons.

It was the second strike made in force by state officers, the first having been made July 3. In between that date and last Sunday, State Police have continued to harass bootleggers, making almost weekly raids and arrests on a smaller front.

The first and all subsequent raids have been made to carry out Governor Combs' declared policy of "keeping the heat on" bootlegging in the county.

Involved in Sunday's simultaneous raids were in Prestonburg, along the river and on both Beaver Creek and Nashville Beverage Control agents and 24 state troopers. In the raids here on three taxable and in the area of four more state officers were joined by Chief of Police Bill Polk.

The haul as reported from State Police barracks, Pikeville, where the confiscated liquor was taken, was 324 cases of beer, 720 half-pints of whiskey, 100 cases of whiskey, eight half-pints of wine and six half-pints of vodka.

Those arrested: Thomas Lafferty, taxicab owner and operator; and driver, Ernest "Cat-Tail" Campbell, Bobby Johnson, Joseph Cobb and Harold Davis, cab operator; all of Prestonburg; Tommy Rafter, Sunset Motel; Banner; Duane Wright, 2400 S. Main; Martin; Junior (Red) Martin; Edith; Zella Mae Tarkett; of the Park Drive Inn, Shaville; John Maynard, Alex service station operator; of Mr. and Mrs. Howard Stone; Bruce Walters, Ford agency; Brown and Brown, through 11 are eligible to compete, it is said.

Dixon, in commenting on the contest, said that the competition will be a country-wide program. First prizes of Cleveland Browns warm-up jackets will be given to each of the five age groups and second and third place winners. The contest is under the direction of Bert Dixon, Prestonburg coach, and is sponsored by the Prestonburg Lions Club and Bruce Walters Ford agency.

biological. The wound, though not serious, required a dozen stitches. A piece of venous vessel was severed and severed in slashes himself. Examiners trial was set for Monday, but in the meantime his condition in Eastern State was recommended by the Pike county health doctor, it was said.

The prisoner, Moore, a former Pike magistrate and ex-president of this county, is accused of cutting his wife's throat at their home on 11-8-28 in the northern section of Pikeville, the night of October 5. At the time the slaying was discovered, he appeared to be denuded, and it was said that after his removal to the hospital he was incoherent. Mr. and Mrs. Moore were described by intimates as "an ideal couple."

in for dispute in recent years, with the advent of widespread surface mining. Roberts sought to bring his case before the federal courts on the premise that since rights by the Kentucky Court of Appeals have consistently upheld the rights of the mineral owners, the state has in fact been in a party to depriving him of his property in violation of the U. S. Constitution. Judge Swiftford ruled, however, that because Term Papers is a private company with no state connections, the 14th Amendment does not permit federal court relief for Roberts. The Supreme Court, he noted, has traditionally ruled the due-process provisions of the 14th Amendment "have no relevancy to the wrongdoings of private persons" but are instead, a "stricture on the conduct of state governments."

He noted that just recently one Supreme Court Justice observed that to require with 14th Amendment otherwise would be completely appropriate to regulation by federal law all of the social and business affairs of private citizens.

IGA FOOD MAGIC
by Eddie Doucette

For a 5-8 lb. Table-Rite Rib Roast, preheat oven to 325° F. Place Roast in pan fat side up. If meat thermometer is used insert into thickest part. Do not let end touch bone. Follow directions on thermometer for desired doneness. Approximate time for rare 6-lb. roast, about 2 hours, 15 min. The argument on roasting prior to cooking is pro and con. Gravy can be inserted between ribs. Cut up onion, ends of celery and leaves along with carrot peelings, can be added to roast pan. To make tasty gravy, brown some flour in fat from roast. Add canned bouillon and water to make a gravy of desired consistency. Season if necessary. Serve with oven-browned potatoes and choice of vegetable.

O. C. Long, 90, Succumbs
 At Elizabethtown Hospital;
 Burial Made At Making

O. C. Long, 90, died Thursday last week at the Methodist hospital, Pikeville. He was a son of Francis Marion Long and Elsie Jane Gose Long. He was a native of Morgan county.

Mr. Long, who had resided in this county for several years, was twice married. He was first married to Allie Chaney, who preceeded him in death. His second wife, Mattie Fugate, died in 1952.
 He was a retired carpenter.

Surviving sons and a daughter are Forrest Long, of Martin, Ray Long and Mrs. Ora Chesk, both of Wayland. Surviving are a brother, J. Golf, and a sister, Fala, both of Elizabethtown, Tennessee.

Funeral rites were conducted Saturday at 1 p.m. from the First Baptist church at Making; Le-cher county. Burial was made in the Wayland cemetery under the direction of Hall Bros. Funeral Home.

cooler were impounded here but the later were released to their owners when the defendants executed forthcoming bonds.

It was said that Commissioner Mobley had instructed his representatives to seize cars and all other equipment connected with the illegal liquor traffic. It was not explained if steps will be taken to sell such equipment later if the defendants are convicted.

The raiding parties hit designated spots simultaneously, leaving Pikeville together, fanning out and then returning in contact with each other and the directing officer by cruiser telephone.

The first side cases resulting from the July 3 raid are pending in the Court of Appeals, the right of Glenn Burchett as trial commissioner for County Judge Henry Stumbo to issue the search warrants being being attacked. All were convicted in quarterly court.

Stor that time, Mr. Burchett has been designated county judge pro-tem as well as trial commissioner.

TREMOR ROCKS SKOPPE
 Belgrade, Oct. 8 — A sharp tremor Tuesday rocked Skoppe, where 2,000 died in an earthquake last July, the Yugoslav news agency reported. It said no casualties were reported.

After a love affair turned out un-happily, Abraham Lincoln spent most of the summer and fall of 1841 at Farmington, near Louisville, the family home of Joshua Speed, a close friend of Lincoln's.

Kentucky's rural electric coopera-tives have a combined payroll of $2,647,000 annually and employ 1,887 persons.

Layman's Day Speaker
 Custer Reynolds, head of the Department of Education at Asbury College, Wilmore, Kentucky, will be the Layman's Day speaker at the First Methodist Church, in the 10:35 a.m. service, Sunday, Mr. Reynolds will be remembered as one of the all-time greats in football at Morehead College. He was all K.I.A.C. fullback. He also attended U.K. and received his master's degree in education. "He is just as great a witness and speaker for the Lord Jesus Christ as he was great in football," commented the Rev. Paul Sloneking, pastor of the church. He also will be speaking at the Sunday night Evangelistic Hour at 7:30. Everyone is welcome.

OUT-PATIENT TESTS MADE

Tuberculosis Clinic
 At Health Department
 Examines 125 Persons

One hundred twenty-five patients were examined at the October 8 out-patient tuberculosis clinic held at the Floyd County Health Department. Dr. Russell L. Hall, county health doctor, said this week, the next clinic of this type will be held at the health department, November 5.

Other special clinics scheduled at the health department in the next few weeks are:

• Commission for Handicapped Children orthopedic clinic, Tuesday, October 29, heart clinic for adults, October 29, Tuesday, November 19, heart clinic for children under 15 years of age, Wednesday, November 20.

It was announced that the health department has purchased flu vaccine in sufficient quantity to immunize all "school-age" patients.
 These flu "shots" will be given Monday through Friday, at the health department without charge.

Dr. Hall said a small outbreak of scarlet fever in the Maytown area has been brought under control.

Discussing the marked increase of upper respiratory infections in the last few weeks, he said they appear to be of virus origin and are highly contagious. It was suggested that crowds be avoided as much as possible, that the mouth be covered when coughing, that all meeting rooms, especially restaurants, should have adequate ventilation. This ventilation is best accomplished, it was pointed out, by opening windows from the top, since virus tends to concentrate near the ceiling.

These infections, which have sudden onset, accompanied by high fever, aches and pains, have been complicated by pneumonia in a few cases, Dr. Hall said. He suggested that sufferers call their family physician.

Community Health Week Proclaimed by Governor;
 Archer Notes Death Rate

In proclaiming October 23-29 as Kentucky Community Health Week,
 Governor Bert T. Combs, noted the high level of health protection maintained by Kentucky communities, but told community leaders that only through foresight and adequate planning can we assure the same degree of protection to future generations.

Governor Combs called upon the Kentucky State Medical Association and allied health professionals, civic organizations, and public schools to join in the week-long observance and to "demonstrate to all citizens the many health services and facilities available that enrich and protect their lives."

Reviewing the progress of medical science in the past quarter century, Dr. George P. Archer, president of the Kentucky State Medical Association, said, "In only half as many Americans are alive today who would be dead if the mortality rate of 25 years ago still prevailed."

According to the new RSMMA president, the physicians of Kentucky have one prime objective that stands above all others: that the highest quality of medical care should be available to every resident of the Commonwealth.

Dr. Archer pointed out that medical science has advanced more in the past century, and especially in the past 25 years, than it had in its previous 4,000 years. A comparable rate of progress can be expected in the years ahead, he predicted.

GOP GROUP AIDS DEMOS

Floyd Co. Republicans
 On State-Wide Committee
 To Work for Breathitt

A 30-member committee of Republicans was named this week to work for the election of Edward T. Breathitt for Governor. J. Phil Smith, Jackson banker, was named chairman.

Selected as committee members from this area were Dr. C. L. Allen and Dr. J. H. Allen of Martin, Mrs. Viola Stewart of Langley,
 Henry Harris and Wayne Radliff, Prestonsburg.

Owsley County Judge Arch Bell, Booneville, Mayor E. P. Rice of Manchester, and Mrs. Ernest Smith, of Hancin, will serve as co-chairmen.

Chairman Smith said headquarters for the new group will be installed at Jackson and possibly elsewhere.
 He was the Republican organization candidate for the nomination for lieutenant-governor in 1960 but was defeated by Piez Mobley, Manchester.

A letter from Smith to Republican county officials and others invites them to support Breathitt.

Stated by Smith on behalf of the committee, the letter says Kentucky's "unprecedented political progress during the last four years in education, in agriculture, and in highway construction. We must not stop this onward march."

The letter says the programs and records of Breathitt and his Republican opponent, Louie B. Nunn, were reviewed and the committee members are convinced that the Democrat is "the better choice for governor, regardless of party affiliation."

Phil Is Nearing National Honor In Scholarship

Thomas C. Hill, 17-year-old senior at Mt. Vernon high school, has been chosen as one of the finalists in competition for the National Merit Scholarship Corporation.

Hill, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Lon C. Hill, of Mallery, formerly of Prestonsburg, was chosen on the basis of his grade made on a scholarship test last March.

The test is the first step in winning a four-year scholarship to a college of the student's choice.

The finalist group is composed of the highest scoring students in each state and United States territories.

Seminarists must substitute their qualifying test performance on a second examination, by entrance to their schools and fulfill certain academic requirements to become finalists.

Mr. Hill's studies are selected from the finalist group.

Washington, Oct. 8 - Chairman Harry F. Lloyd (D., Va.) said Tuesday it appears that the Senate Finance Committee cannot open its public hearings on the $11,000,000,000 tax-cut bill this week.

He stressed repeatedly that the success of the hospitals depends on their acceptance as community hospitals by residents of Eastern Kentucky.

Dr. Kieka said the communities where the hospitals are located will probably be expected to hold fund drives to help support special medical programs at the hospitals.

Dr. Kieka also said:

1. He hopes to continue programs initiated by U.M.W.A. for training nurses and other technical personnel.

2. Hospitals will be encouraged to use nurses' aides such as "Gray Ladies."

3. Efforts will be made to maintain salaries for nurses at the level set by the U.M.W.A.

4. While the hospitals will continue the policy of central purchasing of goods and services, local purchases will be made if prices are competitive.

5. Dr. Kieka said an advisory committee to be formed at each hospital from among residents of the community, will not include medical personnel. Hospital administrators will serve as liaison between the medical staffs and the advisory committees.

Eastern State College Sets Enrollment Record; Official Figures Noted

Eastern Kentucky State College, Elmwood, has recorded another fine record enrollment for the 12th consecutive year. President Robert R. Martin announced today.

Official fall enrollment of the campus students is 4,712, an increase of 14.9 per cent in full-time equivalent students. Last fall's total was 4,109.

This figure does not include 483 students enrolled in the college's Model Laboratory School, nor does it include 66 enrolled in extension classes in twelve off-campus centers. An additional 1,300 students are enrolled in correspondence courses by mail.

Total number presently receiving college instruction from Eastern is 7,110.

Largest increase was in the freshman class, which totals 1,765 first-year students, compared to 1,376 freshman last fall.

Other classes this fall include 1,053 enrolled as sophomores, 874 as juniors, 776 seniors, and 238 graduate students.

There are 2,755 men students and 1,856 women.

The enrollment figure is compared under the standard method approved by the American Association of Collegiate Registrars and Admissions Officers. It includes only students doing course work on the main campus at Richmond.

Asphalt Oil Dealers From Regional Towns Outline Market Plans

Asphalt Oil & Refining Company dealers from the Pikeville, Middlesboro and Williamson areas met Monday night at May Lester, Jenny Wiley State Park, to hear company representatives outline marketing plans for the months ahead.

Ellis White, of Paintsville, district sales manager for Asphalt Oil, told the dealers the company plans a number of fall promotions and expects to introduce several important new products soon. Guest speakers were J. T. Sander, assistant manager, and James A. Lambright, representative, both with the Marketing Division, Asphalt, Sander and Lambright outlined the fall promotional schedule, and illustrated their talks with film presentations.

Other marketing sales representatives included Bill Rice, of Paintsville, and Troy Collier, and James Trimble, both of Pikeville.

The meeting here was one of the scheduled for this month for some 2,350 Asphalt Oil dealers from Tennessee to the Great Lakes.

In the United States, one fifth of a man's income goes for food; in Japan, 40 percent; and in India, 10 percent.

Jarman Views Future Of Pike College Area On Inauguration Day

Pikeville, Ky., Oct. 12 (AP) - "October 12, 1963, may not prove to be a great day in the history of men, but even Pikeville College, but for me it will be remembered as one of the great days of my life," Dr. E. B. Jarman told those gathered here Thursday for the first presidential inauguration in the history of the "Newcastle" institution.

After the inauguration of the president by James W. Ansell, chairman of the college board of trustees, Dr. Jarman gave his presidential address. "Pikeville College Looks to the Future."

Speaking to more than 60 delegates of colleges and universities, learned societies and church groups, Dr. Jarman asked them to visualize Pikeville as the center of a great circle with a radius of 50 miles. "Within this circle," he said, "there live a half-million people in whose veins course the blood of their early English and Scotch-Irish forefathers. Some 8,000 boys and girls, some in the heart of one of America's most beautiful and most economically depressed areas. The percentage of high school dropouts is among the highest in the nation. This is our community. This is our parish. These are the people Pikeville College serves."

Jarman told of the particular situation of Pikeville College as he continued. "From the humble beginning of 74 years ago, with but one instructor, Pikeville College today has a staff of 75 persons, an endowment fund valued at $1 million and an approved annual budget of $200,000. Unlike most colleges, Pikeville cannot increase its tuition rates to meet rising costs, for to do so would be to defeat our stated purpose in providing a sound educational program for the people of this area. We must depend on the kindness and generosity of outside friends to help us carry on our great work."

"A major college trustee, the unknown man, it is the masterpiece which made this nation great, who pushed back the invisible frontiers of ignorance, disease and fear, and who organized to think for us, to give us ideas," Dr. Jarman said.

In Dr. Jarman's part were Dr. Wray Miller, chairman of the trustees; Rufus Danner, secretary of the trustees; Richard Danner, secretary of the trustees; Dr. James W. Ansell, chairman of the board of trustees; Dr. Arnold Nicklaus, Eastern area secretary of the President; Ian Board of Education; Frank Welch, president of the Pikeville Area Alumni Association; and Don Johnson, president of the student body.

Although Dr. Jarman is the ninth president of Pikeville College, he was the first to be officially inaugurated into the office. Coming to Pikeville from George Washington University, Dr. Jarman assumed the presidency of the college in February of this year. He succeeded Dr.

PINSON SUES FOR $125,000

Litigation Aftermath Of Wreck At Stanville; Will Held Not Genuine

Claimant that injuries sustained in the collision of defendants' truck with his auto caused suffering and permanently impaired his learning ability. Bruce B. Pinson filed suit Saturday in the Circuit Court of the county to recover $125,000 damages from the Dow Chemical Company and H. D. Preston.

The suit was an aftermath of a wreck which occurred last December on U. S. 23, about two miles north of Stanville. Pinson, who drove a car owned by the General Foods Corporation, alleges that Preston operated a Hylon truck owned by Dow Chemical Company in such a negligent manner as to cause the collision.

A name was decided last week in circuit court when a paper purported to be the last will of Max R. Hoffert, naming his son, Max Stafford Hoffert, as beneficiary, was held to be a forgery. The court order, based on the jury's finding, ordered that the order probating the will be set aside. Three members of the jury refused to sign the verdict.

Although only $2,500 was involved, the case drew considerable interest, with a number of witnesses, including a handwriting expert from Louisville, testifying. Contesting the will were Siddle Hughes, Cora Reed, Gladys Mann, Clarence Reed, Rufus Reed and Edith Hayes.

Baptist Group Plans Largest Annual Rally; Convention Dates Set

The Kentucky Baptist Convention is planning to climax its annual rally this year with the largest rally in its history, according to Dr. C. R. Dancy, editor of the Western Recorder, chairman of the publicity board for the Christian Education Advance campaign.

The convention will meet November 19-23 with the Calvary Baptist Church in Lexington. On Friday, November 15, it will move to the Memorial Coliseum at the University of Kentucky for the afternoon and evening rally launching the CEA Campaign. Between 12,000 and 15,000 people are expected to attend the occasion. The CEA Campaign, authorized by the 1952 convention, is an unprecedented effort by Kentucky Baptists to raise more than $9 million for their schools, colleges and student centers in fourteen international areas of the state. The fund will be used for capital facilities.

In the afternoon session of the rally, campaign speaker will be Dr. G. Earl Dean, president of Louisiana College, Pineville, Louisiana. The evening rally will be emceed by a 20-man choir. The court speaker will be Dr. George Schweitzer, president of Christianity at the University of Tennessee and an authority on atomic research. Those attending these rally sessions will be open to all.

Both rally sessions will be open to the public.

FISH TIPS

Plastic jugs of the 1/2 and gallon sizes that are found in most every home or at many of the automatic laundries can be made into useful traps for the fisherman.

Save that old spark plug. It can be a money saver for the fisherman who uses artificial lures. The next time your underwater lure gets hung on some underwater obstruction instead of breaking off the lure take the old spark plug and a paper clip, place the paper clip under the finger-like metal lip of the plug and close the gap. Now slide the clip over the casting line and tie the weight of the spark plug knob loose the artificial lure.

Guidance Counsellor Reviews Work of Classroom Teachers To Insure Good Test Results

In order to insure better use of test results for guidance purposes, Floyd county classroom teachers have administered and scored one or more standardized achievement tests for all eighth grade students during the 1962-63 school year, according to L. B. Price, guidance counselor.

In practically all cases the test given was the Stanford (advanced), suitable for grades seven through nine. Price points out that if the test results indicate help is needed from the supervisor-personnel of the school system, the classroom teacher will receive it upon request. Price, in commenting on the testing program, said:

"Although no pupils are permitted to go to the ninth grade without test scores being a part of the eighth grade record, there is no longer a requirement that a minimum grade level be achieved on the test. This will naturally vary from case to case and school to school for many reasons. The chief value of the test scores is for guidance purposes in placing in emphasizing areas of needed help and other similar uses."

In most cases the tests were given during the last half of the school term. However, a number of teachers gave the tests in the early part of the year. Each teacher was allowed to administer them to suit her own purposes, Price said. There is a shift to earlier dates, it was said, so that instructional procedures may be adjusted to better meet the needs identified in each pupil.

"In each of the nine areas involved in the Stanford Battery, we found pupil scores ranging from the third grade level to the 12th grade level," Price said. "Most pupils exhibited a tendency to perform considerably better in some areas than others. In other words, the pupil who is equally strong in all areas of school work is the exception rather than the rule."

He noted that the median battery score for all the eighth grade pupils was 78, or almost one grade level below the national norm.

"Significantly, for the thesis of strong individual differences and the need of an adjusted approach to meet the needs of the child," Price continued, "only about 15 percent of test scores fell at the eighth grade level, the remaining 85 per cent being distributed as previously noted from the third upward to the 12th grade level."

The guidance counselor released the median scores in separate areas. These follow:

Paragraph meaning, 7.0; word meaning, 7.4; spelling, 8; language, 7.8; arithmetical reasoning, 7.8; arithmetical computation, 7.8; social studies, 7.2; science, 7.9; study skills, 6.6.

WARNING BE ALERT-BE ON THE LOOKOUT

Just before the November 5th election the Combs-Breathitt administration will scatter SOME gravel on the rural or country roads.

Just before the May primary, they scattered some on the rural roads, and the gravels being something new to the chickens they accidentally scatter the gravels in some spots thick enough just before the November election that your chickens might get enough to hurt them.

Put your neighbors on notice to be on the lookout for the yellow gravel trucks so they may be able to pen their chickens until the gravel has been spread but if no more than before the May primary they will be safe to turn them out.

You folks remember how this crowd abused one of the great eaters Governors Kentucky ever had, called him a clown, a crook, a cheater, a Chassie cat. Don't be deceived by a yellow truckload of gravel at the last minute.

Also don't be deceived by a job promise now. They are promising everybody and their brother a job.

Vote for the ABC Team.

Road in Breathitt For Fire Control Is Given Approval

Frankfort, October 14 (Sp.)—Approval of a project to construct a forest fire-control access road in Breathitt county, using Accelerated Public Works Funds, has been announced by State Conservation Commissioner J. O. Matlick.

Construction of the road, approximately seven miles in length, is under way. It will open up a large forest area previously inaccessible to heavy fire fighting equipment, Matlick said.

Gov. Bert Combs provided $10,000 in state funds to match the Public Works appropriation of $30,000. The road will be built using local labor, with equipment and supervision provided by the Conservation Department's Division of Forestry.

The access road, to be completed by January 1, 1964, includes clearing the right-of-way, establishing grade and drain and surfacing with a hard-dirt cover.

The line which the road will follow is completely covered with timber and runs through a very mountainous region, Matlick said.

"Because of the heavy density of forest cover, this has been a bad fire area in the past," he said. "We have not been able to take our modern, heavy equipment into the region, depending almost entirely on hand crews to fight fires."

Matlick said the Breathitt county road represents the beginning of a long-range plan to develop a system of access roads in heavily forested areas throughout the state.

It seems perfectly safe to shoot with cellophane tape, rubber or such over the gun muzzle to keep out dust or snow. Don't put anything down the muzzle, however — not even a bit—because this may cause a bulged or ruptured barrel.—Sports Afield.

TOO GOOD

Nothing has ever amused me as an English teacher quite so much as affectation in vocabulary and pronunciation. The funny thing about this affectation is that it is found in our own country.

THE MOST PEDANTIC TEACHER I EVER HAD

The most pedantic teacher I ever had almost refused to trip up his students and teachers, for then he was the head of a big department, on the pronunciation of very common words. He had reverted to the earlier American dictionary-makers in insisting that every vowel in every syllable should have its "full" and "true" sound.

It takes 1000 tons of coal to build just 1 mile of concrete highway!

That totals approximately 700,000 tons of coal if Kentucky uses concrete to complete its Interstate Highways. Kentucky needs new coal markets, new highways. Concrete brings the two together. The result? Better business. Better highways.

Today's new-type concrete is smooth and solid all the way... is laid flat to stay flat. It actually has a life expectancy of 50 years and longer, with upkeep expense 75% less than for asphalt (based on Kentucky records). This is vital because the Federal Government pays 90% of initial construction cost—but not a single cent for maintenance. Add it up. Concrete means greater cost usage, greater driving comfort, and greater maintenance savings.

Mr. Fred Bullard, Executive Secretary of the Kentucky Coal Association, says: "Cement and reinforcing steel are two basic ingredients of the modern concrete highway. With their high consumption of coal during manufacture, we believe that paving Kentucky's Interstate Highways with concrete would be an invaluable aid to the state's coal industry."

Freezing Weather In Kentucky Foreseen Sometime This Month

Lexington, Ky.—The first freezing temperatures in Kentucky more than likely will hit sometime in October. The time in October will vary according to state location, says the U. S. Department of Commerce Weather Bureau at Louisville.

The U. K. Ag Extension Service said this week the Bureau has issued a special weather bulletin detailing the average first-killing-foot dates 32 F or lower for Kentucky. Over the years, the release said, Greensburg (Green county) usually has had one of the earliest killing frosts. Average date for that location has been October 11, the release said.

Louisville (the downtown section anyway) has an average date of November 7 for its first below-freezing temperature. Other Kentucky locations and their first-killing-foot average dates are: Anchorage, October 15; Paducah, October 30; Owensboro, October 21; Hopkinsville, October 23; Bowling Green, October 29; Lexington, October 28; Williamsport, October 24; Somerset, October 18; Mt. Sterling, October 19; Ashland, October 22; Pikeville, October 31; and Middleboro, October 17.

Frankfort, Ky., Oct. 8—Kentucky's yearly traffic toll stood at 624 Tuesday or nine above the same time last year. State police added a delayed death report to their count.

STATE HELP GIVEN HEALTH CENTERS

Every County Has Dental Program Funds

A DENTAL CLINIC typical of those in State health centers in Kentucky is shown in operation. Every county now has State funds for a dental program, and 98 per cent of the counties have a program for clinic dental corrections. Allocation of funds is based on the number of children in the county and their dental needs. Health centers include examination rooms, x-ray room, an assembly room, waiting room and offices for health officer, a physician with special public health training, and members of his staff.

Frankfort, October 7 (Sp.)— State help in building modern, well-equipped county and city health centers throughout Kentucky is making it possible for communities to solve many of their health problems.

Since 1960, a total of 24 new health centers and one addition have been built at a cost of $1,702,000, according to Paul A. Hackney, director of hospital and medical facilities for the Department of Health. Six others are under construction at a cost of $334,734. Five more are on the drawing board, and still six others—worth $480,000—are in the planning stage.

These 31 projects total $3,226,025. Counties with new health centers (cities in parenthesis where city-county units are in operation) are Lewis, Allen, Franklin, Knott, Wolfe, Grayson, Martin, Clay, Estill, Bracken, Hancock, Muhlenberg, Henry, Wayne, Taylor, Clark, Martin, Jackson, Johnson, McCreary, Leslie, Harlan, Lawrence and Perry (and Hazard). The addition is at Warren.

Half the cost of the new health centers is provided by federal funds under the Hill-Burton Act and the remaining half equally by state and local governments. To raise local money, 40 Kentucky counties have approved a health tax. Six other counties will vote on health-tax referendums in the November election. Health centers usually contain examination rooms, a dental and x-ray room, an assembly room, a waiting room, and offices for the health officer, a physician with special public health training, and members of his staff.

The building is designed on the basis of community needs, with population a main concern.

In addition, the local health department gains new stature and esteem in the eyes of the area it serves. As Hackney pointed out, "These new, modern buildings and the latest equipment are something tangible to show progress."

The ultimate benefit is better health for all communities.

NEWS for truck owners who need a new one now

Things Chevrolet has developed since the last time you bought to give you more for your money:

Double-wall construction. This feature of Chevrolet cabs and the Fluoride pickup body has two advantages. Insulation and sound-dampening material is sandwiched between the two layers of steel in the cab to give you more comfort; in the body, the lower inner wall acts as a buffer against load damage, preserving the outer appearance of the truck.

Suspension to fit the truck. Conventional half and three-quarter ton models have independent front suspension with variable rate coils in the rear. Variable rate coils do not "bottom out" as readily.

Mediums and heavies have I-beam suspension with variable-rate coil springs. It automatically stiffens as the load increases—and vice versa. It means a smoother, flatter ride regardless of load, a better handling truck.

Chevrolet truck engines—four, six, V8, V6.

Stronger frames. Every conventional 1964 Chevrolet truck has a ladder-type frame. This type is more resilient, better able to give with the load and terrain. Its simple design also makes it easier to mount special bodies on the truck. Its riveted side rails are stronger.

Greater model selection. This time you're going to find it a simple matter to pick the exact type of Chevrolet truck for the kind of work you do. In delivery trucks, for instance, in addition to regular panels and pickups, we have eleven different sizes of ready-made walk-in vans, some with roll-up rear doors.

Quality and value. Chevrolets today are a lot more truck than your money bought the last time, and yet the price tag is just about the same as a few years ago. Call your Chevrolet dealer for information on a demonstration.

Quality trucks always cost less!

Hall Warns of Danger Of Monoxide Poisoning; Heating Heaters Told

With cold weather soon to arrive, Dr. R. L. Hall, M.D., Floyd county health officer, warned this week of dangers of carbon monoxide poisoning from stoves and other heating units. "Carbon monoxide takes an average of 12 days a year in Kentucky," he said.

All stoves, furnaces, space heaters, and motor vehicle exhaust systems should be inspected and kept in good condition to prevent possible disaster.

Carbon monoxide, which is produced by incomplete combustion of fuels, is particularly dangerous since it gives little or no warning of its presence. It is tasteless, colorless and nonirritating. Carbon monoxide, along with improper ventilation, may at first result in slight headache, dizziness or weakness. None of these symptoms are very noticeable at the time, but unconsciousness can follow, then death if prompt treatment is not given, Dr. Hall said.

Coal and oil furnaces, space heaters, hot water heaters, grills, and other fuel burning appliances may be sources of carbon monoxide if they are not operating properly. All such appliances should be properly vented. Frequently the fire leading to the chimney may become damaged or corroded, or connections may become loose. Bad conditions may allow the gases to escape into a room. All the sections should be inspected periodically for signs of leakage or obstructions.

The automobile engine is another source of carbon monoxide. Exhaust systems should be checked periodically for signs of leakage, and automobiles should never be operated in a garage with the door shut. Drivers should also exercise caution while sitting behind buses or large trucks in heavy traffic. Exhaust fumes from the vehicle ahead can enter a car through the front air vent. Air vents, if located on the front of the car, should be closed in heavy traffic, Dr. Hall warned.

The first thing to do for a victim of carbon monoxide poisoning is to keep him quiet and get fresh air into the lungs as quickly as possible. Open doors and windows wide or move the victim to fresh air. Call a physician immediately. If the victim stops breathing, apply mouth-to-mouth rescue breathing or use an inhalator immediately and continue until natural breathing is restored.

"Avoid these dangers by having heating units and exhaust systems checked and adjusted," it was suggested.

SCHOOL LUNCH PROGRAM LARGEST FOOD SERVICE IN NATION, ANNOUNCED

The National School Lunch Program is the largest single food service in the nation, according to the U. S. Department of Agriculture. It now serves one out of every three children in the nation's schools.

The program is an amazing network of thousands of small enterprises, operated by local citizens for the benefit of their children. Put together, these small enterprises are a $4 billion-dollar food industry, serving 2.7 billion lunches a year. Food used in the National School Lunch Program has now reached a value of well over $60 million annually. According to USDA's Agricultural Marketing Service, which administers the program nationally, four-fifths of this food—almost $60 million worth—is bought by the schools in their own local market areas.

Total foods used in the national lunch program amount to more than a train of 137,000 cars, reaching a length of over 1,000 miles. This represents over 10 percent of the total U. S. food sold through food service outlets.

In recognition of the lunch program's value and achievements, the Congress in 1962 requested the President to issue annually a proclamation calling for observance of National School Lunch Week. For 1963 it is the week beginning October 13 with the theme "School Lunch Serves the Nation — Through Food for Learning."

In issuing the proclamation, President Kennedy called upon the people to observe National School Lunch Week this year in order to increase public understanding and awareness of the significance of the school lunch program to the child, home, farm, industry, and to the nation. The President's proclamation also calls attention to the fact that the lunch program represents one of the nation's best examples of a cooperative local-state-Federal partnership for the benefit of a most important segment of the country's population.

When the 16 million school children sit down to appetizing lunches served through the National School Lunch Program this year, they enjoy the benefits accumulated over

Strip, Auger-Mined Land Reclamation Proposed

Frankfort, October 14 (Sp1)—A tighter law for reclamation of strip and auger-mined land was proposed by Robert Montgomery, assistant commissioner of the State Conservation Department, today at the recent annual convention of the Kentucky Conservation Council.

Coal operators should have their land-reclamation plans approved by the Department of Conservation before they are issued a state strip-mining permit, Montgomery said.

The present law gives an operator up to 60 days after obtaining his permit to file a reclamation plan with the Department.

"If we do not do a better job of controlling strip-mining, we may find the federal government taking over this problem," Montgomery said.

New officers elected to the Conservation Council for 1964 included Mrs. J. Kidwell Gramm, Flemingsburg, president; Glenn Weinman, Lexington, vice-president; H. G. Perry, Louisville, secretary; and Miss Daisy Hunt, Lexington, treasurer.

MAYNARD IN ITALY

Victor, May — Army Specialist Four John C. Maynard, son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward D. Maynard, of Emma, Metchucky, participated in SOUTHERN 68, a four-day NATO southern region field training exercise in northern Italy, which ended September 28.

The exercise was designed to test and maintain a high level of offensive capability for the forces that guard the right flank of NATO, and to demonstrate the solidarity of the forces in this area and their determination to defend against any aggression.

Specialist Maynard, a clerk in the 6th Ordnance Company near Vicenza, Italy, entered the Army in March, 1962, and completed basic training at Fort Chaffee, Arkansas. The 22-year-old soldier is a 1959 graduate of Prestonsburg high school.

These expanded purchases help fill requirements of the Type A lunch, which is the basic lunch pattern established by USDA home economists. It is based on recommendations of the nation's leading nutritionists. Often the Agricultural Marketing Service also makes available to all eligible nonprofit school lunch programs, foods which have been obtained under authority of legislation to widen the market outlet for farm products.

Only a small part of the food commodities for the lunch operation, however, are furnished from USDA sources. Most of the food used in lunch programs is purchased locally providing an expanding market for U. S. farm products.

These basic requirements for school participation in the National School Lunch Program are that the luncheon be operated on a non-profit basis, that free or reduced price lunches be provided for children determined by local school officials to be unable to pay the full price, and that the lunches served meet the basic Type A pattern.

The Type A lunch, as compared to the average "a la carte" lunch, means from a third to a half of the recommended daily dietary allowances and includes as a minimum, a protein-rich food, generous servings of fruits and vegetables, bread, butter or fortified margarine, and a half pint of milk.

The National School Lunch Program teaches children to develop sound food habits, eat a wider variety of foods, and practice good table manners. The lunch operation helps to make a wholesome, appetizing lunch available to the nation's children every school day.

PIKE COUNTY WOMEN LISTED

Pikeville—Three Pike county women are among the 60 outstanding women from Kentucky who have been named in "Who's Who of American Women," the editors of the newly published third edition announced.

HISTORICAL NOTES

descended from or related to James Gibson who is mentioned above.
"From gravestone records we learn that Archibald Gibson was born in 1790. He was married in 1799 to a woman we know as Vessie (from Gravestone) or Bessie (from records). Her last name is unknown. He died at Jamestown, Indiana, 2-13-1855, aged 65 years. She died at the same place, 10-4-1850, aged 52 years. Family tradition says they lived together 75 years. Archibald owned land on Cranberry Creek, Wilkes county, North Carolina, in 1793. He received a government land grant in Perry county, Kentucky, 6-8-1804. He sold land in Perry county, Kentucky, 1827 and 1828, and bought land in Hendricks county, near Jamestown, Indiana, in 1828. He and his wife Bessie transferred this land to Abrahm Dent, a son-in-law, 3-1-1838."
(To be concluded)

Frankfort, Ky. (Special)—A long, angler. He prefers a deep, clear hole, water and can strike from over 100 feet. At just about any moving object that strikes its fancy. Anglers know that musky fishing is not a haphazard job. It is a science. The Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources outlines approximately 25 counties that offer the best musky fishing in Kentucky. Sixteen of these lie in the general vicinity of the Cumberland National Forest, from Lewis county in the north to Leslie county in the south and ten other counties with good musky waters are located in the south-west central section; namely, Warren, Barren, Green and adjacent counties. Within these areas are such famous musky streams as the Barren, Red and Green Rivers and Tygart, Triplett and Kinickonck Creeks.

The silver musky, which is the Kentucky variety, can attain a weight of 50 pounds and definitely is the No. 1 tackle blaster for most anglers. It is a voracious feeder and takes many long hours of casting and retrieving to entice that one big strike. Yet every fisherman who has ever tangled with just one of these fighting silver strikes will readily admit it's the king of Kentucky's fresh water fishing sport.

Heavy tackle with a wire leader and sharp hooks is the first prerequisite to taking the musky. Some anglers are caught on conventional tackle but in the majority of cases a good bass casting outfit will go by the boards when you tackle a musky that is as big as a truck.

The threadfin shad, a native of Kentucky Lake, has now been distributed statewide and is proving a successful forage fish, according to fisheries biologists of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources.

9,500 School Lunches Served In Floyd County, Is Report As Observance Under Way

Floyd county school children are among the 300,000 students who are enjoying well-balanced lunches in Kentucky schools during National School Lunch Week, October 13-19.

Nationwide the school lunch program is one of a quarter-billion dollar business, reaching more than 16 million school children daily in the United States. This food market amounts to $15 million a year in Kentucky and approximately $100,000 in Floyd county.

Last year Floyd county's school lunch shopping list called for ground beef, chicken, pork, green beans, peas, carrots, sweet potatoes, apples, apricots, peaches, pears and pineapple.

The food donated from the federal government included 9,500 pounds of ground beef, 21,650 pounds of turkey, 49,000 pounds of chicken and a variety of canned fruits and vegetables.

Each of the 9,500 lunches in Floyd county included at least one half-pint of milk purchased from local sources.

Lunches are available for not more than 30c. These prices are made possible by the help of federal reimbursement of 46-7c a meal and federally donated foods.

If a Certain Candidate Were Blindfolded...

(THAT IS MADE BLINDER THAN USUAL)

AND LED ONTO THE MOUNTAIN PARKWAY...
AND ONTO THE EXTENSION OF THE PARKWAY...
AND TO THE SITE OF THE PRESTONSBURG COMMUNITY COLLEGE...
AND TO THE FOUR-LANE BRIDGE ACROSS THE BIG SANDY RIVER HERE...
AND TO THE NEW ROAD, AUXIER TO PAINTSVILLE...
AND TO JENNY WILEY STATE PARK AND ITS MAGNIFICENT LODGE, AMPHITHEATRE AND VACATION COTTAGES...

And If At Each Place the Blindfold Were Removed and He Was Asked, "Where Are You Standing?"

WHAT WOULD HIS ANSWER BE?

"Surely, in the Blue Grass, this road—but these mountains seem strange."
"Surely, at Lexington or Richmond or some established educational center, this college—only where are the other buildings?"
"Surely, at Kentucky Lake or Lake Cumberland, this beautiful park and lodge—but this lake isn't large enough. Say, how come all this in these mountains? Oh, well, I could have done it better, anyway."

After That Remark the Candidate's Guide Would Throw Away the Blindfold, Remarking:

"This Guy's Blind Enough Without Any Blinders."

EASTERN KENTUCKY ARTESIAN WELL

Artesian wells in Eastern Kentucky have always been a rarity and whenever found were considered invaluable assets to a farm. The first few were discovered by early settlers boring for salt.

Shown here in this 1896 photograph is an artesian well in Johnson county. The water was conducted upward for a few feet in order to let it flow into a trough for livestock. Two boys, if living now are aged men, had been hunting and stopped to drink from what everybody considered a wonder of nature. The old rail fence, a rarity now, too, is a photogenic backdrop for the picture.

The First National Bank presents these old pictures in recognition of our historic heritage.
