This Town... That World

IT'S A GOOD WORD
I got some things that are worth my time from television. For instance: The other night, this old clan leader on "The Ed Bradley Show" used an expression which took me "way, way back." He referred to the heroine's traveling bag as a "gatchel."

SHE STUCK IT OUT
This reminds me of the woman who fell asleep during one of those "really worthwhile" programs a lot of people felt obliged to watch. She awoke with a start to inquire, "Is the program over?" "No, it's still on," she remarked. "Well, I can go to bed now."

A MATTER OF ORTHOGRAPHY
Maybe I shouldn't go to mentioning politics and political figures, but I have the word of Pauline Burchett that, day after the election, when she gave her class a spelling just and "gave out" the word, "nose," among others, eight of the 30 in the class wrote it, "nuff."

IN THE MAIL
In the mail comes a king-size card from Paul C. Lintow, of Wheelwright, who seems to be gauding about, down at Boyce, Louisiana. Says he: "Twenty of fish but not much water."

JEREMIAH
Now I should let this fishing matter go with that, but this is a topic which brings out the word, "prose" in me. Last week my two sons made merry with the fish at Dewey Lake on four consecutive afternoon trips; caught, I believe, 23 black and white bass and a couple of bluegills. So their old man hastens to get in on the fun. Fishes most of the day, wades his pants down to his small ones and winds up the day with two strikes—snook, not fish, mind you—and a creek in his back. Boy, am I a Jonah! Next day the fish-fishing due of the family goes back, and, by the way, too, return, empty-handed and as meek as a dove as the guy they lashed at.

DEAR DEER!
That's the way things have a way of going for some people. I've known fellows to spend themselves blind, from themselves. Deer and almost wind up in the divorce courts, trying to bag a deer, and come home with nothing but a lot of lame excuses. Then, when a corner Britton Conley, of Prestonsburg, a week or so back, with deer-hunting friends from his mind—and he downs a 12-point buck which landed onto a McGuffin county highway, squarely in (See Story No. 2, Page 6)

Congressman Suggests Landowners Give Rights To Expedite Control Job
Interest in flood control and water resources development projects which will be among the topics discussed Friday at the hearing to be held by the U. S. Corps of Engineers at Pikeville high school, is gratifyingly high, Congressman Carl D. Perkins said Tuesday afternoon. "Persons are interested in flood control in the appearance with interest and other members of the Kentucky Congressional delegation before the Bureau of the Budget Tuesday morning of upwards of a dozen flood control projects in the state," he said. PERKINS ASKS FEDERAL AID

For Flood Control Work; Dredging and Cleaning Of Streams Is Desired
More than $100 million in federal funds were asked by Congressman Carl D. Perkins Tuesday for flood control projects in the Seventeenth Congressional district. "Perkins, appearing with other members of the Kentucky delegation before the Bureau of the Budget in Washington, urged the program to construct flood control reservoirs on the Big Sandy, Little Sandy, Licking and Kentucky rivers be accelerated by funds included in the President's budget for the coming fiscal year. "Included in the Perkins request was $25 million for construction of Fishtrap Reservoir, $5 million for the construction of Cave Run Reservoir, $5 million for the construction of the John Flannagan Reservoir, $2.7 million for the construction of the North Fork of the Pound River Reservoir, $5 million for Carrs Fork Reservoir in the Upper Kentucky River and $75,000 for construction planning on the Kinnickonck Creek Reservoir, $92,500 for Walkers Creek Reservoir to complete the study, $10 million to continue construction on the Grayson Reservoir, $1,500,000 for construction of Red River Reservoir. "In addition Perkins urged a minimum of $50 million to enable the Corps of Engineers to do cleaning and dredging work to deepen and widen channels of many streams and tributaries in the Seventeenth Congressional district during the coming fiscal year. Perkins said such work should be a continuation of the emergency channel improvement program which has been authorized to be undertaken by the Corps of Engineers in Eastern Kentucky at the present time. Perkins said that the funds were desperately needed to carry on stream improvement work by the Corps on such Little Sandy creeks and tributaries as Night and Left Beaver Creek, Big Sandy creek and tributaries as Night and Left Beaver Creek, Big Sandy creek, Trug Fork, (See Story No. 6, Page 8)

JUDGE ORDERS RATES RAISED

Martin City Water Cost Increased 30 Percent; Interest Pay Defaulted

Water rates in the city of Martin were increased 30% by order of Special Judge Jim Sowards last week. It is expected that the water utility will be required to pay a suit filed to provide sufficient funds to pay interest and principal on $71,000 worth of bonds issued to finance parking facilities there. The original action was filed in October, 1962, by D. P. Newell, the First National Bank, and Kentucky against the City of Martin. Mayor Haskell Frye, Sr., and the First National Bank. The plaintiffs alleged that they were purchasers of $71,000 worth of 5% water and parking facilities bonds on which the city was in default October 1, 1962. The suit asked that a receiver be appointed to administer the parking system, that the city be ordered to collect rates and fees sufficient to pay interest and principal on the bonds, and to begin operating the parking facilities there. The City of Martin and its water commission be maintained to increase, forth with water rates sufficiently to net enough additional revenues to pay the interest on the bonds and to create a sinking fund for payment of the principal when due. Judge Sowards held that the evidence "conclusively establishes, and the parties apparently agree, that an increase of 30% in the existing water rates charged by the Martin Water Works is necessary to eliminate the city's present financial deficit and meet bond requirements for the next few years." ROAD MISHAP KILLS FRIEND

Deputy U. S. Marshal, Woman Prisoner Victims Near Barbourville, Ky.

Deputy U. S. Marshal Noah R. Friend, 49, of Pikeville, and a woman-prisoner, Mrs. Electra Vargo, 38, of Funch, Kentucky, were killed Wednesday in a head-on collision near Barbourville which involved two automobiles and a truck. A woman deputy marshal, Mrs. Margaret Gilliam, 40, of Lexington, and Mrs. Anna M. Lay, 70, of Kentucky, were hospitalized at London. Deputy Marshal Friend was a cousin of Frank and Charles Friend, Jr. of Prestonsburg. The friend and his passengers were on their way from London to the Bell County jail in Pineville when, State police said, Friend struck the rear of a truck which stopped on U. S. 25-2 to make a left turn. Three following cars then crashed, one into the other. Deputy U. S. Marshal Archie Kraft said Mrs. Vargo had been convicted on bootlegging charges and Mrs. Lay of irregularly while possible of a day's work to the club.

Junior Woman's Club Sponsoring Parade and Snow Queen Contest To Inaugurate 1963 Yule Season

The Christmas season again this year will be opened in Prestonsburg with the Christmas parade sponsored by the Prestonsburg Junior Woman's Club with the cooperation of five other local groups. The parade has been set for November 30 at 2 p.m. The event was initiated last year by the Junior Woman's Club. The 1963 Miss Snow Queen beauty contest will be held at 1 p.m. at the Prestonsburg grade school. Judges will make their selection at that time but the name of the new Snow Queen will not be announced until after the parade. Coronation of the new Queen will be held at the Floyd County Library entrance, with Miss Sharon Frye, of Martin, the current Miss Snow Queen, crowning her successor. Mrs. James D. Adams is in charge of the Miss Snow Queen contest. Mrs. Clifford B. Latta, president of the Junior Woman's Club, said that all Prestonsburg clubs are joining in making this year's event larger than last year's. In 1962 the Junior Woman's Club built five floats, and local merchants sponsored them. This year, the following groups plan to build their own floats: Prestonsburg Senior Woman's Club, Kwanan Club, Lions Club, Junior Chamber of Commerce, Junior Woman's Club and Mrs. Virgil Goble's Girl Scout troop. In the parade will be the six floats, gaily decorated convertibles and school bands. The Boy Scout troop, led by E. B. May, Jr., will place the community Christmas tree near the Allen-Wedding building on Court Street. Following the parade and the coronation of the 1963 Miss Snow Queen, Santa will arrive to pass out candy to all children present.

COAL CHUTE IS BLASTED

Tarkey-Cr. Installation Hit by Dynamite; Three Jailed On Break Charge

Sherriff Henry C. Hale flew Tuesday to Dayton, Tennessee, where he purchased a bloodhound for use in trailing fugitive lawbreakers. Sheriff Hale made the purchase after the Monday night dynamiting of a coal chute on Turkey Creek was reported. "If we had had this dog we could have found the guilty person without any trouble, for there were plenty of tracks," he commented. He added that he was "tired of feeding around with these fellows." The dynamited chute was operated by Roy Hicks and Bill Stone. It was emphasized that the blast was not the result of a labor dispute and that no labor relations problem was involved. Suspects are being checked. "I think we know who did it," was one comment made Wednesday. The damage to the chute was not extensive. It was said. Three Perry county men were jailed here Saturday on breaking and entering charges and later were also booked on the charge of possessing burglary tools. They are Carson and Carl Hill and Garret Wayne. A fourth man, Elmer Purdie, for whom warrants covering the same counts have been issued, is being sought. The four are accused of breaking into an explosives magazine near Allen of the Sandy Valley Explosives plant. The three men in jail were arrested by State Detective Chester D. Potter and State Troopers Elmo Allen and Larry Hall.

WEEK MARKED BY ACCIDENTS

Leon Daniels Wounded By Shotgun; Gibson Car Plunges Into Big Sandy

The week was marked by accidents in this county, but none has resulted in death, it was said Wednesday. On Martine Corp farmstead at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Sam Daniels, of Garrett, Leon Daniels lost a hand last Friday when he accidentally discharged a shotgun. He was taken to St. Mary's hospital, Huntington. Edmond Gibson, of Lancer, rode out the wreck of his car, which carried him Tuesday morning from U. S. 22 into the Big Sandy, near the new bridge at Knott Hotel. He suffered a cut forehead. Mr. Gibson had not recovered from an earlier back injury when the wreck occurred. He was taken to the Prestonsburg General Hospital. A truck loaded with scrap iron left the narrow Allen-Bull Creek road near Dewe, Tuesday morning, heading toward Martin, when it was overturned by a heavy load. The truck struck a tree, dumped its load over the mountainside and threw the driver and the load driver clear of the wreck. Turner was taken to the hospital. (See Story No. 7, Page 8)

Miss Mildred Hane, Mason county elementary teacher, was elected vice-president. Election of the two women marks the first time women have held elective offices in the association since 1958, and they are the first classroom teachers to do so since 1958.

Russell Goble, Inez, treasurer of the Martin county board, was unopposed as a member of the nominating committee of the state Teacher Retirement System. William P. Edson, Boyd county superintendent, and Paul Trinkle, Paintsville principal, were selected as NEA delegates. Howard "Jack" Bowling, Racedale principal, and T. N. Mickey, Catfishburg superintendent, were unopposed as alternates. Dr. Harry Sparks, newly elected superintendent of public instruction, addressed Friday morning's assembly, advising educators to keep Kentucky education on the move and avoiding a disastrous return to the "good old days."

BOARD PLANS NEW 22-ROOM BUILDING JOB

Construction Cost Set At $530,000; Architect Now Drawing Final Plans

The Floyd County Board of Education has purchased a 3-acre tract at the mouth of Riley's Branch on Left Beaver Creek as a site for the new Whetzel elementary school. It was announced this week by County Superintendent Charles F. Clark. Construction of the 22-classroom building is expected to get under way next spring. Overall cost of the project is estimated at $530,000. Clark said the Board of Education has approval of the Division of Buildings and Grounds for the site. The new Whetzel elementary school is now being prepared by George Lee Shannon, Prestonsburg architect. The Whetzel building is an adaptation of the plan of the Middle Creek elementary school which is now being constructed. Mr. Shannon's Whetzel plan, featuring the bond firm of Hines & Meier, has been employed to handle the bond issue. Final plans for the structure are now being prepared by George Lee Shannon, Prestonsburg architect.

GARTH VOCATIONAL SCHOOL OPENS FOR CLASSWORK

The Garth Vocational School which was completed recently at a cost of approximately $100,000, opened for classwork October 14 under supervision of the Mayo State Vocational School, Paintsville, and is serving all eight Floyd high schools. Designed to accommodate 200 pupils, the school already has an enrollment of 173 from the junior and senior classes of the county's high schools. The 18-foot-long structure accommodates five "shops" or classes, and has 28 enrolled in drafting, 28 in auto mechanics, 33 in electricity, 37 in machine shop and 36 in woodwork. Opening of the school renders superfluous the vocational school maintained here since NYA days. The school here served only three schools, Prestonsburg, Martin and Hays. Lantz Central opened the new school makes possible service to all eight high schools, with school buses transporting pupils for but a day's work at the vocational school and the remainder in their regular classrooms. The Floyd County Board of Education supplied the site and building. The Mayo State Vocational School operated and staffed the school and bore all operation expenses. The school was built by W. E. Dyer, after construction. All in all, with the exception of the building, the school may later be outside the county's classroom for pupils. Said County Superintendent Charles Clark this week. The training during the school day must be restricted to our high school juniors and seniors, but it is our hope that the Mayo State Vocational School will be able to organize classes for adults at night in this new plant.

Clubwomen Appeal For Members To Work In Community Projects

AN OPEN LETTER TO TODAY'S WOMEN
One of the most rewarding experiences to be felt by the American woman of today is the knowledge that she is a vital and useful member of her community, a necessary link in the chain for progress, culture, and higher living standards.

Whether she is a bookkeeper, a teacher, a secretary, a clerk, or a homemaker, every woman has a choice to make. She must decide whether to take an active part in the affairs of her community and work toward making it a better place in which to live and rear her family or to sit back, criticize, and be nothing more than a parasite, reaping where she has not sown.

You, as an American woman of today, need to make that choice; you need to stand up and be counted!
We, as clubwomen, feel that we owe something to the place where we work and live. We feel the need to beautify it and improve its standards and to help wherever we can. We feel that we should not just take from it and give nothing in return. By laboring together we know that we can accomplish much more than we can as individuals. We know that we can do it in the state, nation, and world, also. We know that those who come after us will see the evidence of our efforts and the sad lack of them. Our State President, Mrs. Adron Doran, has said, "As clubwomen, we are paid nothing, but we get the satisfaction of knowing we have done our part in the best reward of all."
Our club, which is a part of a district, state, and national organization, has lofty ideals, the central one of which is the betterment of the world for mankind. All work and all effort should make a job but without qualified and willing members, it fails.

It also has its social side, for all work and all effort should make a very dull clubwoman indeed. We have interesting programs once each month on vital and timely subjects and often featuring guest-speakers, each an authority in his or her field. We have dinners and parties, which our husbands frequently attend.

If you would like to give a little of your time and your talent to further our worthy aims, then our club would be most happy to welcome you into its membership. We need you, your community, the world, your state, nation, and the world needs you; and whether or not you realize it, you need us. Won't you join us?
If you live in the Lackey-Carrett-Wayland area, please contact any member of our club, or if you do not live in that area, and wish to become a member of such an organization, contact a member of any of the local women's clubs.

We all look forward to hearing from you. Please don't delay! There is much to be done!

Pikeville Woman Speaks At Woman's Club Here; Rights Study Is Urged

Mrs. Len B. Rogers, of Pikeville, was guest-speaker at the November meeting of the Prestonsburg Woman's Club. Mrs. Rogers is Kentucky state chairman of the Status of Women Division of the Kentucky Federation of Women's Clubs. She encouraged the club members to become acquainted with their rights, to study the difference in legal treatment of women and men in regard to political and property rights and, above all, to accept responsibility as citizens and vote. She was introduced to the club by Mrs. E. Powers, program leader. Mrs. Lena Porter, Pikeville, governor of the Seventh district of Women's Clubs, brought greetings to the club.

Mrs. Virgil Gobie, club president, presided at the meeting, which was held November 7 at the home of Mrs. E. H. Shannon and Mrs. H. E. Midkiff, accompanied by Mrs. E. R. Burke.

The club made plans for the holiday outdoor lighting contest and voted to contribute $25.00 toward the purchase of lights for a community Christmas tree.

Mrs. May was assisted by co-hostesses, Mrs. Burt Spurlock, Mrs. Olga Latta, Mrs. Dick Davis, Mrs. Marvin Music and Mrs. Edward May, and served refreshments to Mesdames Len B. Rogers, Wall Hamilton, T. J. May, Regina Mayo, John K. Pitts, A. C. Harlowe, H. B. Wright, Jack Ashire, E. R. Burke, L. B. Fairchild, Woodrow Allen, W. W. Wallen, Lee Shannon, Joe Buchanan, H. E. During a "hub" containing administrative offices and auditorium-restaurant, and from which classrooms extend, has attracted wide interest, including that of State Department of Education officials.

The site for the proposed Wheelwright elementary school was purchased from John and Lula Jones and William Tillet Jones for $40,000. Riley's branch location of the site is opposite the mouth of Jack's Creek.

The school will eliminate the old Wheelwright elementary building, move seventh and eighth grade pupils from the Wheelwright high school, and may close two schools on Jack's Creek.

ADMINISTRATION SETS BLUEPRINT FOR REGION

A blueprint for a multi-billion-dollar investment in the Appalachian region is being drawn up by the Kentucky Administration, prepared by the staff of the President's Appalachian Regional Commission, the report places its entire emphasis on practical steps that can be taken at once to exploit the coal, timber, recreational and agricultural resources of the region.

It contemplates a federal investment of about $450 million next year, exclusive of federal highway funds. The big item in this total is $275 million for water resource projects — dams, reservoirs, watershed developments, and anti-pollution facilities. More than $13 million is recommended for recreational investment, including the development of new national recreation areas.

The commission proposes a $20 million budget for the improvement and exploitation of the region's potentially priceless timber resources and $15 million for coal research and reclamation of strip-mined lands.

The commission's approach to the Appalachian problems recognizes facts that have long been apparent to residents of the region. One of these facts is the physical isolation of mountainous Appalachian areas west as Eastern Kentucky.

To deal with this problem, the commission recommends a beefed-up federal highway program that includes a whole new network of "developmental highways," plus a construction of a 380-mile Appalachian Parkway along the western border of West Virginia and a 100-mile extension of the Blue Ridge Parkway from North Carolina to Atlanta, Georgia.

The developmental highway network would include 2,331 miles of "improved" roads to link up small towns and large cities.

Included are plans for a route

Soil Conservation Essay Competition Scheduled; Deadline To Enter Set

Kentucky school principals have until Monday, December 2, to turn in entries in the 1963 Soil Conservation Essay Contest.

This 20th annual competition sponsored by The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times, is open to all students in grades 4 through 8. Entries should be sent to W.H.A.S. Inc., offers $3,475 in U.S. Savings Bonds to Kentucky grade and high school students who write on the subject, "Forest Conservation—How It Can Benefit My Community."

The writer of the best essay will receive $200 in Savings Bonds. The second place winner will receive $150 in bonds and the third place winner a $100 bond.

The three top winners, along with their parents and teachers, also will be guests of honor at the annual Farm Awards Luncheon in Louisville where the prizes will be awarded. This all-expense-paid trip will take place next February.

In addition to the state awards, the contest offers a $25 Savings Bonds award to the author of the best essay in each of Kentucky's 121 Soil Conservation Districts. Certificates are given to district winners and runners-up, as well as to school winners.

Contest information is available from school superintendents and principals, soil conservation district supervisors, county agents, or may be obtained by writing the Public Service Department of The Courier-Journal and The Louisville Times, Louisville, Kentucky 40202.

action in the State Department of Education should be obtained through direct election of State Board of Education members rather than through appointment, as indicated by the "influence of its office to accomplish that goal."

Vernie Horne, KMA director of public relations, told delegates their association had been given an A plus for effort and achievement. He headed the "My Normal" television program, which is an example of the Madison Avenue approach to selling education to the American public.

Dr. Willard Goslin, keynote speaker at Thursday's night session in the Paramount Theatre, called for teachers to place the human being at the center of their values and to know more about the world they live in.

"We are not a nation that can live on its fat," he warned. "The effective teacher needs both knowledge and sensitivity of the world that surrounds him." He termed a teacher's education as a "growing knowledge of the life around us."

Pond Creek, as well as streams and tributaries in the Little Sandy, Licking, Ohio and Kentucky river basins involving the following Eastern Kentucky counties: Floyd, Johnson, Martin, Boone, Boyd, Greenup, Elliott, Pike, Carter, Morgan, Rowan, Lewis, Mason, Fleming, Bath, Breathitt, Lee, Mingo, Wayne, Knott, Knott, Magoffin and Wolfe.

Perkins expressed the hope that most of this channel work could be started now and completed before the early spring floods occur, but he said that the funds requested would assure continuation and completion of emergency channel deepening and widening projects which were started at this time.

Perkins also asked that $100,000 be included to complete the Big Sandy study, $100,000 to complete the Kentucky River study, $100,000 to complete the Upper Licking River study and $40,000 to complete the Little Sandy River and Grants Creek study.

Perkins pointed out that the funds requested for the Big Sandy will enable the Corps to make its report on the navigation aspects of the river basin level — the flood control report being put in readiness at this time with funds currently made available.

The House Appropriations Committee recommended last Friday that $74,393,300 be spent this fiscal year in Kentucky and Southern Indiana for flood-control, navigation, and multipurpose water projects. The sum sought for Kentucky is $17,268,300.

Included in the committee's recommendations was one new construction project, the return of Kentucky — the Grayson Reservoir. It is a $22,000,000 flood-control project, along the Little Sandy River in Elliott and Stuart counties. The committee allotted the project $10,000,000.

The bulk of the committee's requests for Kentucky are for appropriations to continue construction already underway for improving navigation in Western Kentucky and along the Ohio River.

Among other construction funds sought was $9,500,000 for the Reservoir on Levisa Fork of the Big Sandy River above Pikeville.

Approval of $40,300 for a survey of the Big Sandy River reaches centers over devastation caused earlier this year when floods raced through Eastern Kentucky.

A previous survey of the Big Sandy was to have been completed this year, but the March floods prompted the Army Corps of Engineers to seek additional study funds for a second look at the Tug River and Levisa Fork.

Other study and survey funds voted by the Appropriations Committee for Kentucky include: $17,000 for Kinnickinnick Creek in Lewis County; $100,000 for $40,000 for the Licking River in Northeastern Kentucky; $20,000 for the Little Sandy River and Fyates Creek in Northeastern Kentucky; $25,000 for the upper Cumberland and Kentucky River basins.

The committee also approved funds to complete planning on several projects. These included: $150,000 for Carya Fork Reservoir, a flood control project in Knott county above Hazard; $220,000 for the proposed Cave Run Reservoir along the Licking River; $50,000 for the Red River Reservoir in Powell county.

TROJANS EDGE GARRETT FIVE
 Wheelwright Becomes "Marked Team" After Win Over Black Devils

The Wheelwright Trojans will become the "marked" basketball team in 1963 region basketball circles, now that they have edged the defending champs, the Garrett Black Devils.

Saturday night, before a capacity crowd at Wheelwright, Don Wallen's veteran team turned back Garrett, 69-56, in the region's first early-season game to date.

Garrett jumped to an 18-15 first period margin, then went ahead, 37-31, at halftime, but Ted Cook and Jimmy Rollins found the range for the eventual winners in the third period and led the count at 55-55 as the final period started.

Cook finished as the game's top scorer with 21 points, followed by Rollins with 16 and Danny Rae Hall with 14. Garrett's two fine guards, Jimmy Covard Keith Lawson, hit for 25 and 18, respectively.

Wayland, another veteran-student Floyd county school, won its fifth consecutive game Saturday night by pasting Hindman, 98-82. The victory was the second over the 14th region school in the past seven days.

As in the first meeting last week, Wayland was behind four points at the halfway mark, but came roaring back in the third period to go ahead, 69-57, at the close of the period.

In this game, the Waugh outstripping forward Bronley Williams was limited to 12 points but teammates K. Martin with 20 and McDowell with 17 took care of the scoring slack for Tommy Boyd's wheels. E. Waugh also tossed in 19.

Hindman, in losing for the third time this season, was paced in scoring by G. Combs with 23. Phelps won his first game over Virginia, 47-36, and the victory was especially pleasing to new head coach Jim Carter in evening his season's state at 2-2.

Betsy Layne entered the win column for the first time with a rousing 108-88 win over Norton after losing consecutive games to Martin and Mullins. Mullins, a 57th district school, kept its record unblemished by nipping previously undefeated Johns Creek, 49-48.

Lovren Commends Judges For Increased Traffic Violation Convictions

Frankfort, Ky., Nov. 18 (Sp.)—State Public Safety Commissioner Olan Lovren has commended Kentucky judges for the "steady upswing in Kentucky traffic court conviction rates during the past year."

Noting the increase in court convictions on State Police citations from 62 per cent to 69 per cent, Lovren said: "While we recognize the limits of the authority of the police officer, we are also convinced that the master of public safety is one of working together on the part of the courts and the police."

"There are many areas of safety responsibility, but the persons who make direct contact with the traffic violator concerning his violation of traffic laws are the police officers," he said.

CHEVROLET
 Which type Chevrolet pickup do you need?
 Chevrolet now makes four different types, each with its own distinct advantages. Whichever one you buy will be a lot more truck than your money bought the last time!

FLEETSIDE. Based on sales, the best liked pickup in the world. Outstanding feature is its large body extending clear out over the wheels. Two body sizes. Two wheelbases. Best riding truck, by far, with coil springs all around and independent front suspension. Cab and body have double-wall construction. Chevrolet Fleetside—best for all-around use.

STEPSIDE. Has flat interior body walls and convenient side steps between cab and rear fenders. Comes in same two sizes as the Fleetside plus one bigger size. Big model has heavier frame, 4-speed transmission and leaf-spring rear suspension for maximum payload. Standard engine is 230-cu-in. Six. A 292 Six or 283 V8 is available at extra cost.

RAMP-SIDE. Nobody else makes a pickup exactly like this one with a ramp at the side. The ramp makes loading easy because of its 16-inch rise. Truck also has a conventional tailgate. Body and frame floor assembly are very rigid because they are welded together. Has larger 95-hp air-cooled engine this year. Independent coil spring suspension all around.

EL CAMINO. If you want a pickup as good looking as any car on the road, this is the one! It can work hard, and look like a million dollars doing it—the only pickup in the world with Body by Fisher! You can order an El Camino as plain or as fancy as you wish; bucket seats, air conditioning, 4-speed transmission, power brakes are some of its extra-cost options.

Thanks for Support

Although I did not have any opposition in the November election, I sincerely appreciate the warm, friendly support that I received from the good people of this county.

I say again that I will not seek personal revenge, and I will do my best to live by the following quotation for the next six years: "A Commonwealth's Attorney is the Representative not of an ordinary party to a controversy, but of a sovereignty whose obligation to govern impartially is as compelling as its obligation to govern at all; and when it enters upon its high office, it is to inaugurate a campaign of benevolence, not that it shall win, but that Justice shall be done."

These and other Kentucky Wildcats wrought havoc on Wayland's football team. Reports of the Bay-Baylor Boys' Kentucky's sophomores grew up in Wax, and as the wind whistled through the Bay-Baylor Stadium, gusts of 44 miles an hour, the young Wildcats tossed their underdog role, and bore apart a good Baylor team. WHEELWRIGHT

The November meeting of the Wheelwright Women's Club was held recently in the clubroom with the vice-president, Mrs. G. W. Lockin, presiding.

Mrs. Betty Ormum, chairman of the Public Affairs Department, presented the program, "Cause for Concern." It was pointed out that the number of deaths among children ages 1 to 14, than the four leading causes combined. Half of these accidents occur in the home where the leading cause is fire. Different phases of fire prevention and protection were discussed. The need for improving pre-emption, such as home fire drills, was stressed.

A business meeting followed the talk, after which refreshments were served by the hostesses, Mrs. Kadi Roller, Mrs. John, and Mrs. Hubert Cantrell.

STANLEY CREDITED FLOYD MULE WITH HIS VICTORY OVER MORROW

If Edward T. "Red" Breathitt's victory over Louis B. Morrow in the race for Governor last Tuesday was a "miracle," as some have called it, what would you call Simon Willis' 8,418-vote win in 1943 over Lyter Anguine Owsley Stanley's victory margin of only 470 votes in 1915 over Edwin P. Morrow?

These and other matters, including Stanley's rule-ride from Prestonsburg in that 1915 touch-and-go affair, are discussed in the following article by Thornton Council, in The Courier-Journal:

Democrats today don't know anything about close elections.

Take for instance Edward T. "Red" Breathitt, Jr., Kentucky's Governor-elect.

He was only two years old and can't possibly remember the 1927 contest in which his uncle, James D. Breathitt, Jr., skinned into the lieutenant governor's chair by 190 votes.

Now people are using the words "squeaked in" to describe the 13,000-plus margin by which the young Mr. Breathitt defeated his Republican opponent, Louis B. Nunn, last Tuesday.

It seems to me that I wrote the story in The Courier-Journal of November 22, 1927, which started off by saying:

"James Breathitt, Jr. of Hopkinsville, forgot to shave Monday and won the election for lieutenant governor, he says, by a whisker."

MAYTOWN HIGH SENIORS HEAR REPRESENTATIVES OF SCHOOLS DISCUSS PHASES OF EDUCATION

Highlight of the week of observance of American Education Week at Maytown high school came November 18 when representatives from six schools of higher learning visited the school. Each of these was allotted a 30-minute period to present the particular institution he or she represented to the senior class. At school assembly the seventh and eighth grades and high school classes, along with a number of parents, made up the audience which listened to a planned program of speeches. Speakers, the schools they represented, and their topics of discussion follow: Henry G. Martin, Eastern State College, Richmond, "Learning Opportunities at the College Level"; William Hughes, Alice Lloyd College, Pippa Passes, "Coat of College"; William Hampton, Hoover State College, Morehead, "Campus Life"; Howard Hoover, Pikeville College, Pikeville, "What College Education Means in Relation to Economic Gain"; Luther Sadrist, Mayo College, University of Kentucky, "What Vocational Education Can Do For Me"; Robert L. Goodwater, University of Kentucky, Ashland Center, Ashland.

What Will the University Bring to Prestonsburg Mean to Eastern Kentucky? All speakers were guests of the school for lunch in the school cafeteria. During the three-day period visitors representing over a hundred families were welcomed. Many spent a whole day visiting the individual classrooms and attending the planned assembly programs which were held each day at 12:30. Charles Clark, superintendent of Floyd county schools, was the speaker on Monday, and Claude May, from the office of the director of pupil personnel, spoke to assembly on School Drop-outs, Tuesday.

Names Not the Same But Are Similar

Similarity of names in this county continues to confuse readers of the Times and cause embarrassment. Recently a court action was recorded with Charles E. McCoy and his wife as litigants. Now we explain that this suit does not involve Charles M. McCoy, owner of The Mountain Metal Company, and his wife, Ashland Center, Ashland.
