Floyd Fair Will Open Next Week

21st Annual Event To Begin Thursday For Three-Day Run

The 21st annual Floyd County Fair will be held at the Fairgrounds in Archer Park here, three days next week, beginning Thursday, Sept. 17, and continuing through Saturday.

Exhibits will include products of the field, garden, orchard, kitchen, shop, school, 4-H, PFA and FFA clubs. School art exhibits and flowers annually attract a major share of fairgoers' attention.

The topic of school exhibits this year will be "Kentucky History," with pupils of high schools as well as the grades participating.

Kids' Day will be Friday when two bicycles will be given away and reduced fares will be charged youngsters for rides at the Kissel Brothers Show.

All exhibits, except flowers, livestock and poultry, are to enter on the first day, Thursday, between 9 a.m. and 5 p.m. These exhibits will be judged after 5 p.m.

Flower exhibits will be entered on Friday, from 9 a.m. till noon, when they will be judged.

A feature of Saturday, final day for the fair, will be the parade of high school bands. Livestock will be entered that day, from 9 a.m. till the time of judging at 11 a.m.

Included in the exhibits will be those to be seen at commercial booths, all three days of the fair.

State Police Eject Union Organizer

State troopers lead Dan Stewart, union organizer, from vicinity of the entrance to the Highlands Medical Center after Stewart had been asked to end a meeting there.

This Town... That World

Don't like Floyd county? I suggest you try Louisville, for a change.

Why knock the oldsters because they are fond of harking back to the good, old days. Those were good days. The skies were bluer, sounds were clearer, everything tasted better—mainly because the senses hadn't yet dulled. And the hills were not so high and the stairs not so steep.

END OF THE DAY
"In the gloaming" was the way the poet put it. To us more mundane creatures it is, if not the dusk, that razor-thin edge between daylight and darkness. This is a restful time, made so at day's end by a wise Creator for man to find surcease from work and the cares of the day. It is a daily haven of rest, if we will let it be so, this hour of darkening shadows when material things all about lose substance.

A tree becomes not a trunk but a shadowy shape, no longer three-dimensional against its satble backdrop; the familiar rosebush loses its detail of leaf and flower and all its color. Everything becomes a little mysterious then, if you let it.

Back when I was a bit younger—here (See Story No. 2, Page 4)

With television cameras whirring, the meeting of a union organizer and employees of the Highlands Regional Medical Center near here Tuesday morning ended with state troopers escorting the organizer, Dan Stewart, from the hospital grounds. Told that he could hold the meeting elsewhere, Stewart delayed while reading to workers a list of their rights, with the result that he was led away.

The state police action was based on the claim that the meeting on hospital grounds was illegal.

The incident marked a continuance of the move of the National Union of Hospital and Health Care Employees Local 1198, a division of the Retail-Wholesale Department Store Union (AFL-CIO) to organize the hospital workers. A hearing for the purpose of setting up an election on the question of union representation has been scheduled for next Tuesday.

A letter signed by a purported 200 employees and addressed to hospital trustees Tuesday said, in part, "... we are exercising our rights to organize as guaranteed by federal law. We are determined to do whatever is necessary to win our Union."

The employees accused the attorney for the hospital of delaying the hearing on an election, alleged that the hearing has been delayed three times, adding "Further delays, if sought, will be viewed as deliberately provocative and will not go unanswered."

Stewart was booked at the county jail on a disorderly conduct charge but was released soon thereafter on $500 bond. His hearing was set for Oct. 30 in quarterly court.

City Employees Hear New Personnel Plans

City employees here were briefed last Thursday by City Manager Curtis Clark on the new personnel policy developed by the University of Kentucky and adopted by Prestonsburg, and they reacted favorably to it.

The program, which is akin to a merit system, is designed to establish a relationship between the city and its employees which would minimize the likelihood of strikes.

The program provides:
—That no employee may be demoted or discharged without two weeks' notice, with the cause of such action stated, and the employee given a hearing upon request.

—Establishing of job classifications, with pay raises based on merit.
—In cases of grievances, the employee is first to contact the head of his or her department, then, if no agreement is reached, the head of the Personnel Division (City Manager Clark), and, finally, if necessary, the City Council.

No city employee may be asked, or obliged, to participate in or contribute to any political campaign.

—Employees given 12 days' sick leave a year which may be cumulative up to three years. Annual sick leave formerly was five days.

—Two weeks' vacation for employees after one year instead of the one week previously allowed, and three weeks vacation after seven years' employment.

—One month sick pay for any employee injured on the job.
The personnel policy applies to the police, fire and sanitation departments. The new regulations became effective, Sept. 1.

The regular city council meeting last Thursday was postponed till Friday when a quorum failed to appear. Bids on surfacing two city parking lots and for the sale to the city of a truck and an automobile were opened but were not accepted, and all three are being re-advertised for Sept. 18 letting. The bids on surfacing were accepted by the council, but the state Bureau of Highways, which participates in the project through the state Municipal Aid Program, held that the $49,266 bid submitted by the only bidder, Driveway Paving Co., Paintsville, was too high.

New bids for the surfacing work will be

Probe of Drugs, Floyd Cleanup Recommended

After taking a strong stand on the need for an "extensive" investigation of the narcotics situation in the county and for the need of better communications on that topic between the school system and the Kentucky State Police Narcotics Division, the Floyd circuit court grand jury in its "final" report to Circuit Judge Hollie Conley last week commented that previous reports of the kind have had "little or no result."

Calling for more consideration of grand jury recommendations, last week's report, signed by Thomas R. Flannery, foreman, commented: "It should be standard procedure for each jury to review the previous report, to see what action was taken as a result of that report."

The jury also expressed the feeling that the Floyd County Sanitation Service "has not been doing an adequate job, and that disposal systems other than landfills should be considered." The report recommended that a person be appointed to see that collection of refuse is made at the proper times and asked that the weekly pickup schedule be published in The Floyd County Times.

Board Employees Grade Coaches For Both Sexes

Floyd county's schools have, as a result of last Saturday's action by the board of education, an unprecedented number of athletic coaches.

In addition to the coaches previously named for both boys' and girls' high school basketball and football, the board named 23 coaches for grade schoolers in both sports.

In other action the board declared that an emergency exists in finding qualified substitute teachers and called on the State Department of Education to approve emergency permits for substitutes who have qualifications lower than a college degree.

The board also authorized its architect to advertise $88,000 worth of school roof repair work. About a dozen schools will benefit from the first round of roof work, although almost every school roof in the county needs repair to some degree. Supt. Charles Clark said many of these will because of lack of funds receive only temporary repair until more permanent work can be financed.

The elementary school coaches will be paid $300 a year for their services. Basketball coaches named are:

- Allen—Jimmy Gray for both boys and girls.
- Auxier—Wendell Martin for both sexes.
- Betay Layne—boys, William Barker, girls' coach not named.
- Clark—Gene Prater for both.
- Garrett—Boys, Danny O'Quinn; girls, Helen Martin.
- Harold—Boys, Milford Stephens; girls, Sarah Barker.
- McDowell—Boys, David Hall; girls, Clara Johnson. (See Story No. 5, Page 4)

Squad Misled In Body Search

The body of a man for which the Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad on two dayslast week dragged the Big Sandy river at Paintsville was found Sunday afternoon in Paint Creek, more than a mile from the spot in the river where companions of the missing man had indicated he might be found.

The victim, Jack Hannah, 43, was found by a fisherman, James K. Williams, Paintsville postoffice employee, who was walking the bank of the creek, fishing. It lay in shallow water. Hannah had been missing since Aug. 31. No mention had been made by Hannah's companions of the possibility of his drowning in Paint Creek. One report heard by Paintsville police was to the effect that a man had been killed and his body thrown into the river.

An investigation of the death is pending. Hannah's body was taken Monday to Ashland for an autopsy. Hannah was a son of Morris and Mint Fairchild Hannah, of Barnetts Creek, Johnson county. He is survived by his widow, three sons, three daughters, four brothers and two sisters.

Jury Foulup Halts Jones Trial Attempt

The first attempt at the trial of Eddie Jones, who is charged with the shotgun slaying at Garrett of Deputy Sheriff Lawrence Conley, ended Tuesday morning in continuance of the case till Monday, Jan. 12.

The continuance came on motion of Commonwealth's Attorney Harold J. Stumbo after three jurors who had qualified on the preceding day informed Special Judge Ralph N. Walter, of West Liberty, that they knew too much about the case to render a fair and impartial verdict. It was explained that the jurors, without previous experience, had not understood this detail of qualification when they were seated, the first day of work toward empanelling a jury.

Eight jurors were qualified for the trial, Monday. At the time of the continuance, 11 had qualified. But the defense had 11 challenges remaining to only one for the Commonwealth.

Commonwealth's Attorney Stumbo declined to comment on the action, but others involved in the case surmised that disqualification of the three jurors, with only one challenge left for the Commonwealth, resulted in the motion for a continuance. The defense did not oppose the later trial date.

Judge Walter commented, prior to adjourning court, that he approved the motion "to give both sides equal opportunity to see that justice is done."

The regular jury panel was exhausted Monday afternoon, and 38 additional veniremen were summoned to appear in court Tuesday morning.

The trial promised to be one of the most interesting in recent years. Conley was shot from an automobile, at night, and it was not until several months later that an indictment was made. Jones' father, Agnel, and Johnny Martin were also indicted but neither was scheduled for trial at the current court term.

Barton To Address Area SPE Section

"Changing Regulatory Environment" will be the topic discussed by Hugh B. Barton, regulatory affairs manager with Exxon Company in Houston, Texas, and a 1975-76 Distinguished Lecturer for the Society of Petroleum Engineers, at the September 17 meeting of the East Kentucky Section of the Society of Petroleum Engineers. The meeting is scheduled at 8:15 p.m. at the Paintsville Country Club. (See Story No. 3, Page 4)

Victim of... Progress?

While the county's schools bustled with the arrival of students for the 1975-76 school term, the Myrtle school house on the Left Fork of Abbott Creek stood silent and empty. One of the last one-room schools to be closed in the face of consolidation, the Myrtle school's doors were closed in 1967. The only one-rooamer in the county which remains in operation is the Daniel's Creek School near Ivel.

Has KY 80 'a Future'?

The Lexington Herald in a recent editorial criticized the Kentucky Department of Transportation for contracting almost half a million dollars worth of engineering on KY 80 in Floyd, Knott and Perry counties. The criticism is based on the premise that no source of funding construction of the highway is in sight.

Our Blue Grass contemporary would be justified in taking the department to task for an absolute waste of the taxpayers' money in planning a road that has no chance, ever, of construction. But is KY 80 so hopeless? We do not think so, and we do not believe the Department of Transportation and its director, Mr. Roberts, think so.

The Herald suggests that the money used in planning this Eastern Kentucky road might have been better spent in the study of a project which has a future. If there are future highway projects to be undertaken, why not this one?

If so-called federal highway funds are available for this route, and we are assured they are, why is it without hope? It is admitted that costs of maintaining the highways already built are astronomical and that they drain off much of the state's resources, but nobody is ready to believe that the state of Kentucky is ready to go out of the road-building business. The Herald in its editorial concludes:

"There are plenty of legitimate transportation needs in the state. This money would be better spent in studying a project which has a future."

Surely, the Lexington newspaper does not mean to imply that KY 80 is not a "legitimate" need. It speaks of putting the money on some other project "with a future."

KY 80 has a future. And it will be as bright as those in command at Frankfort want it to be.

we go, again!—this was the enchanted hour when we peeped the nearby woods with imaginary things and held our talk to whispers. Depending much upon what we had most recently read or heard these things could seem enemy soldiers—specialized in Hessians—bent on attack, or an Indian, skulking from tree to tree, or, more happily, a wood nymph, as magical as the mist, and the way. And as good as the close of day. Wonder... do children still find any thrills in the world of fantasy, or are they too engrossed with that other one-dimensional picture on the television screen?

My fishing? Nil. But I've found a place where they're grow bigger by the hour and where they're never caught. The lobby of the postoffice.

Had a letter from my friend, L. S. Jagers, of Elizabethtown, Ky., the other day. He's going to invite me to go fishing with him on the Kentucky River, each charged with transporting intoxicants; John Turner, Ruby Carol Butcher, Charles Buck Joseph and Henry Shepherd, charged with possession of alcoholic beverages for the purpose of sale.

LET US BE "KEEPERS" And Charles Mendel sends me from Myrtle Beach, S. C. another Fisherman's Prayer, which reads:

I pray that I may live to fish until my dying day. And when it comes to my last cast, I then most humbly pray: When in the Lord's great landing net and peacefully asleep, That in His mercy I be judged Big Enough To Keep.

Floyd Native Studies On BMC Scholarship

M. Sue Jones, of Cynthia, a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Tilden H. Jones, Sr., of Sevinville, recently returned from the Boehringer Mannheim Guest Laboratories in Mannheim, West Germany where she spent two weeks of study as a part of the Boehringer Mannheim Corporation (BMC) Scholarship for Advanced Study in Enzymology.

The scholarship is given by BMC through the American Society for Medical Technology (ASMT) each year to a qualified applicant in the United States. It was established in 1972 and the scholarship recipient is announced at the ASMT national convention.

Much of the time was spent in the laboratories, working with some of the various test kits and reagents produced by Boehringer. "It is a dreamland for enzymologists working in laboratories so marvelously equipped, discussing new tests and technical problems with such well-trained personnel, learning about such an enduring culture and seeing a beautiful country through the eyes of those who live there," Mrs. Jones said.

Miss Bailey, Mr. Potts Wed

The marriage of Miss Yariette Ann Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Paul H. Bailey, of Wheelwright, and Roger B. Potts, son of Mr. and Mrs. Olen Potts, of Lexington, was solemnized at 4 p.m. Saturday, Aug. 30, at the First Baptist Church, Wheelwright. The Rev. John Adams officiated in the double-ring ceremony.

In an original design of Lillian Whelan of Greenups, in Louisville, Miss Bailey wore a traditional floor-length gown of ivory satin organza in an "A" line silhouette. The entire gown contained Peau d'Ange lace encrusted with pearls and crystals and had full coronet sleeves of satin organza with deeply cuffed matching lace. Her tiered veil of gossamer ivory silk illusion, appliqued with blossom motifs in a three-dimensional effect, drifted the length of her train draped from a contoured head dress of dimensional re-embroidered Alencon lace petals enriched by bridal pearls.

Miss Paula Gail Bailey, sister of the bride, was maid of honor. Miss Denise Risner, of Lexington, Miss Grace Laurick, of Lexington and Miss Kimberly Bailey, sister of the bride, were bridesmaids. Cari Nidiffer, of Garden City, Mich., was flower girl. All five attendants were attired in floor-length gowns in contrasting late summer shades of Nile, powder, lilac and coral polsheers.

Mr. Jim Royalty, Lexington, served as best man. Mr. Tim Bailey, brother of the bride, Mr. Terry Mullins, McDowell, and Mr. Ken Ward, Lexington, served as ushers. Todd Bailey served as ring bearer.

The reception was held poolside at the home of the bride's parents.

Miss Bailey is employed at the University of Kentucky in the Department of Vocational Education. Mr. Potts is also employed at the University of Kentucky with the Kentucky Geological Survey.

After a two-week tour of the South, the couple will reside in Lexington.

Sub-Committee Sets Meeting On Bargaining

FRANKFORT, Ky. — A Legislative subcommittee on collective bargaining for public employees has agreed to meet for three days to prepare a report for the pre-legislative conference in late November. The meeting will start Sept. 24.

However, several subcommittee members expressed doubt they would draft legislation for introduction in the next General Assembly session.

"I have a hunch that there may not be a majority of the committee that supports a bill," said Sen. Walter Baker, R-Glasgow.

Sen. Mike Moloney, D-Lexington, said that even if the subcommittee does not draft legislation it still has the responsibility to prepare an in-depth report and to answer questions raised about such legislation.

"It will be one of the most controversial pieces of legislation in the 1976 legislature," Moloney said.

The meeting of the subcommittee was scheduled to give Gov. Julian Carroll and selected state officials an opportunity to testify. But Carroll wrote the subcommittee that neither he nor any member of his cabinet would attend.

The governor sent a two-page letter saying he would not state whether he is for or against public employee collective bargaining. "Since there are an infinite variety of proposals and as many provisions which might be included in any legislation relating to labor relations in the public sector."

He did say, however, that he would veto any legislation that:

— Abrogates or delegates to others the right of a public body duly elected by the people to determine the amount and rate of taxes citizens must pay to support governmental services.

— Either authorizes or permits public employees to strike or effect any work stoppages, saying it is mandatory that essential government services continue without interruption.

— Impinges or does violence to the rights and responsibilities of public employees covered by the state merit laws or any comparable civil service system.

Inspectors Say They're Harassed

Whitesburg, Ky.—Three inspectors for the federal Mine Enforcement and Safety Administration say they haven't been allowed to inspect the underground mines of three Letcher county coal companies.

The three also claim they have been intimidated and harassed by personnel of the firms.

A MESA official in Washington said Thursday that no action has been taken against two of the companies although reports from MESA field officers were sent to Washington more than six months ago.

The three coal companies are Little Branch Coal Co., at Skyline, Alanzo Collins Coal Co., at Vandy, and Jean Coal Co., at Deane, according to the MESA officials.

Ben A. Taylor, supervisor of the federal agency's Whitesburg field office, declined to specify how each firm allegedly refused to allow inspections. He said he was afraid his statements might prejudice court cases against the firms.

No inspector has been assaulted or directly threatened with a weapon, Taylor said.

"We've never had them actually physically run us off, but we've had some talk mean and we've left," he said. "They've been kind of threatenin'."

Taylor said inspectors left two other mines after being told to leave.

Taylor said his office won't try again to inspect the mines until court orders permitting inspections are issued.

Trouble began at two of the mines after MESA inspectors closed them for safety violations, said Taylor, adding that the mines continued to be operated anyway and that the operators prohibited further inspections.

State inspectors have not encountered trouble at the mines, according to a spokesman for the Kentucky Department of Mines and Minerals. And, he said, the department has no reports of accidents at the mines.

Taylor said he filed a report about the Collins firm in October 1972 but that by the time an injunction was issued to enjoin the company from preventing inspections, it had finished its mining operations.

"It did drag on a long time from the time we first started having trouble and started reporting it—enough time to work out a fair-size little mine," Taylor said.

Jury Selection In Melvin Trial Begins Monday

Jury selection began Monday at Paintsville for the bribery and extortion trial of Johnson County Sheriff Ray L. Melvin.

Fifteen of 26 prospective jurors were dismissed during the three-hour morning session in circuit court for reasons including prejudice, friendship and kinship to parties involved.

Melvin was indicted by a special session of the April grand jury on six counts of theft by extortion and six counts of bribery while a public official. The indictments stem from alleged bootlegging activities in the area.

The afternoon session was recessed until 9 a.m. Tuesday to give the bailiffs time to summon more prospective jurors.

Because the sheriff is on trial, Paintsville city police were sworn in to act as special bailiffs.

The six indictments against Melvin allege that while acting as sheriff he solicited and accepted bribes in exchange for protection of bootlegging operations.

The incidents allegedly took place on April 28, May 20, 30, June 21, 27 and other residents of Johnson county are scheduled to go on trial next Monday for allegedly offering and paying Melvin the bribes.

State To Notify Surface Owners

Frankfort, Ky.—Beginning Sept. 15, owners of surface land will be notified by the state before strip mining on their property is permitted.

John S. Hoffman, secretary of the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection (DNREP), has ordered the state Division of Reclamation to notify owners of surface rights that strip mining applications affecting their land have been filed.

The same notice will also go to persons who own land within 500 feet of a site where strip mining is proposed.

Hoffman's order said the notice will be mailed to the surface land owners not more than three days after the permit application is filed. It will be forwarded to the owners by registered or certified mail and will be posted in a conspicuous place at the area office of the Division of Reclamation where the application was filed.

Within six days after the application for a permit is filed, the Division of Reclamation also will post a notice of the application in a conspicuous place at the courthouse of the county where most of the proposed mining will occur. This notice will identify the applicant and the area that the applicant wants to mine.

Labor Day Weekend Death Toll Second Lowest on Record

Frankfort, Ky.—A total of four persons were killed on Kentucky's highways during the Labor Day Week-end, resulting in the lowest highway death toll for that holiday since 1959 and the second lowest on record.

The traffic fatality count for the Labor Day week-end in 1959 was two and last year it was five. The worst Labor Day on record was 1969 when 25 persons were killed in traffic accidents.

Two of the four persons killed this year were pedestrians and one was a motorcyclist. The victims were identified as:

Claude Joseph, 34, of Jeffersonville, who died Saturday after striking a tree blown down by a storm on US 460, 5.5 miles east of Mount Sterling in Montgomery County.

Ervin A. Vincent, 35, of Louisville, and William Samuels, 44, of Long Beach, Calif., who were walking along the north-bound lane of I-65 near Smiths Grove in Warren County when they were struck and killed by a car late Friday night.

Earlie Flora, 41, of Carlisle, who died Sunday of injuries sustained when his car ran off US 68 in Nicholas County Saturday.

In addition to the fatalities, state police also reported 122 injuries resulting from holiday traffic accidents.

The 500-plus troopers on duty issued a total of 2,338 citations and 1,334 warnings—both figures up over last year. Of the citations, 240 were for driving-while-intoxicated violations.

State police officials attribute the low number of deaths recorded this Labor Day to beefed up patrols on secondary roads, moving roadblocks and the use of all available manpower, speed clocking devices and air traffic patrols.

State Police Commissioner Truett Ricks said the traffic control and enforcement efforts, particularly the concentration on secondary roads, were launched before the July 4th holiday and will be continued as part of the development of a selective enforcement program.

"We will try new efforts, junk others, until we can find the most effective way of patrolling the state's least safe roads," Ricks said.

Traffic was reported by state police as heavy on the northbound lanes, 1-75 between Walton and Cincinnati and I-65 between Elizabethtown and Louisville. With the exception of a tie-up at a construction site near Mt. Vernon in Rockcastle county, there were no major problems, state police said.

Drug Arrests Increase 50%

The number of Kentuckians arrested last year for narcotic law violations soared over the 1973 total by more than 50 per cent.

According to the 1974 state police Uniform Crime Report, which was recently released, 7,404 persons were arrested on drug-related charges last year, a number which broke the 1973 record total of 4,889.

Since 1970, the first year that state police began collecting statewide crime statistics, drug arrests have climbed by more than 375 per cent.

The 1974 figures also showed a 71 per cent increase—from 969 to 1,657—in the number of juveniles arrested. Adult arrests increased by 46.6 per cent, up 1,920 to 3,747.

The youngest persons arrested included nine juveniles under the age of 10. The oldest were three persons 65 and older. Both those totals are down slightly from 1973, however.

A breakdown of the drugs involved showed that 54.7 per cent of the 1974 arrests were made for selling and/or possessing marijuana, 23.1 per cent for dangerous non-narcotic drugs, 5.6 per cent for opium or cocaine, and 4.6 per cent for synthetic narcotics.

Jefferson county led the state again with 2,346 arrests, up from the 1,962 in 1973. Fayette county was next with 592 as compared with 287 a year earlier, and Kenton county was third in the line with 400, up from the 242 in 1973.

No drug arrests were reported in Elliot, Fleming, Green, Owen, Owsley and Robertson counties. Three of those counties—Owen, Owsley and Robertson counties—have not reported a drug arrest in the past five years.

According to arrest totals, those most often arrested for drug law violations continue to be white males, although there is a slight but steady rise in arrests of women and blacks.

The number of women arrested last year reached 876, which is 315 more than recorded a year earlier and 465 greater than the 1972 figure. The number of blacks arrested went from 708 to 953.

LATER RECOVERED

CATLETTSBURG—Catlettsburg police are investigating a Sunday night burglary at Douglas and Price Exxon service station, 3358 Court St.

Two boys reportedly broke into a snack machine by knocking over the glass about 9:15 p.m. and removed an undetermined amount of snacks. About 50 bags were recovered, according to Sgt. Earl West and Ptm. Robert Deskins, investigating officers.

LETTERS To the Editor

Blames Supreme Court

The people of the U. S. A. all know that what I have to say is true but are silent. First, the Supreme Court has ignored the Constitution, and it is not the law but just a ruling by a group of men that uphold the outlaws and create confusion among the lower courts and flood the country with criminals.

All federal judges should be elected. Few of the kind we know would serve more than one term. States should have rotating courts, with qualified judges and juries traveling from county to county. The way it is, the judge and jury and lawyers are all obligated and the cases are usually tried before they reach the courthouse.

Court Ruling Voids Sheriff Ouster

The Court of Appeals held last Friday that Martin County Judge Ray Fields acted wrongly in ousting Sam Moore as county sheriff because of his failure to post bond on time.

The high court, in a unanimous decision, reversed Martin circuit court and voided the county court's order.

Fields declared the sheriff's office vacant because Moore failed to post his performance bond until June 2, 1975, one day later than the deadline.

The appellate court said Moore had been ready and able to post it with Fields, May 29 and thereafter, but the county judge was out of his office from May 29 until late May 31, a Saturday night.

Fields had not appointed a county judge pro-tem with whom Moore could post the bond, the court added.

"The sheriff offered the bond to the county judge on June 2, which was not only the first work day of June but was the first day that the county judge was back in his office after his journey out of the state," the court said.

"To countenance the action of (Fields) in creating a hiatus in his office for three and one-half days immediately preceding June 1 would cloak the county judge with power to veto the action of the electorate of Martin county," it said.

"This, we refuse to do."

Historic Giddings Hall

GEORGETOWN, KY.—Giddings Hall, the oldest permanent building on the Georgetown College campus, has been totally renovated and will be formally dedicated here Saturday, September 13.

Amounting to more than $600,000, the renovation project was started after gifts and pledges from individuals, corporations, and foundations resulted from early phases of the college's Challenge of the Seventies campaign.

Constructed in 1838, the building was named for Rockwood Giddings, third president of Georgetown College. Designed by Giddings and Dr. J. E. Farnum, a college professor, the structure was built by student and faculty labor with bricks baked from clay deposits on the campus grounds.

Born to Lose

There are so many puppies and kittens born in this country that few of them find permanent homes. The rest of them lead lonely, suffering lives—often cut short under the wheels of a car or in the death room of a pound.

Don't be responsible for more suffering and needless death. Have your pet spayed or neutered.

Girl Scout News

The Girl Scout summer has been a busy one, with hiking, biking, swimming, horseback riding, exploring, cook-outs, trail blazing, camping, and just plain fun!

Day Camp was held at Archer Park in July with an attendance of 98 scouts, 14 pixies, or leader's pre-schoolers. Staying overnight were 25 scouts and seven mothers. Ten consultants included Field Adviser Sandy Patton, tennis, Lois Marshall, soft ball; Sue Frost and Lynn Reynolds, crafts; Mike Auxier, square dancing; Lorraine Prater, buttermaking, with jugs and old-fashioned butter churns; Dottie Layne, grating corn and corn bread making; Margaret Tackett and Linda Adams, home made ice cream; Ann Flanery and Debbie Reffitt, caramel apples. Unit leaders were Nancy Roberts, Janie Prater, Margaret Tackett, Dottie Layne, Diantha Hodges, Judy Hackworth, Linda Adams, and Elizabeth Conley. A large number of mothers took turns coming each day to help with the different units. Adults who stayed overnight were Day Camp Director, Sue Frost; Service Unit Chairman, Lila F. DeRossett; Leaders, Margaret Tackett, Dottie Layne, Judy Hackworth, Janie Prater, and Elmira Nelson.

Patches were given to all connected with Day Camp, and First Class Classed Kimberly DeRossett, on behalf of Floyd County Service Unit, presented Director Sue Frost with the red adult position pin for the many positions she holds in girl scouting; and to Nurse Betty Jay, the Girl Scout Friendship pin for the five faithful years she has served the Day Camps making skinned knees and homesick children well again! The swimming each day was enjoyed by all.

A Langley Senior Scout, Beverly May, attended Camp Cardinal and Camp Judy Layne this summer for four weeks, as a counselor-in-training to learn camp counselor skills. She will return next summer for two weeks of training before becoming a counselor. Bev is the first scout from Langley to be a C.I.T., and she is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Roy May.

Attending established Girl Scout Camp at Camp Cardinal this year from Floyd county, are scouts Kimberly DeRossett, of Allen, Deborah Ranier, Deborah Schneider, and Rona M. Lawson, all of Prestonsburg, Carolina Marina Owens, of East Point, and Beverly May, of Langley.

Two Floyd county scouts attended established Girl Scout Camp Judy Layne. They are Maria Conley, of Martin, and Beverly May, of Langley.

The Floyd county Girl Scouts attended the dress rehearsal of "My Fair Lady," July 29, at the Jenny Wiley amphitheater.

Court Orders Tough Policy On Sanitation

The Floyd fiscal court at its meeting last Thursday showed more than passing concern about garbage-littered roads and streams and directed Town and County sanitarians to begin a check, countywide, on all waste that is not being properly and legally disposed of by individuals at the county landfill.

In a motion made by Magistrate Leroy Akers the court noted that "much of this trash is being put out on the roads or dumped into the creeks."

The court authorized Mr. Newsome to procure warrants for persons caught dumping illegally.

Magistrate Dewey Roberts later commented on the situation and declared that such offenders will have tough going in his court.

Superintendent of Schools Charles Clark appeared before the court to discuss the garbage pickup at schools on Mid Creek. He said the Akers Sanitation Service which serves Magisterial District 4 was not doing much for five schools in that area. The sanitation service claims it cannot live with lower pickup and disposal rates.

The court declared the Cow Creek-Biglow area an open territory to any cable TV system able to provide the people proper service.

The court heard requests for improvement of the bridge at Knotley Hollow, help on a bridge across Left Beaver Creek at Casha and work to make possible the Alum Lick road. A picture of the suspension bridge at Tram was shown the court to emphasize its dangerous condition, and a petition of residents there was presented. No definite action was taken on any of these projects.

Larry Cecil was employed as grader operator.

Brandeis Veep Says His Firm 'Here To Stay'

Members of the Prestonsburg Area Chamber of Commerce heard Monday from an official of the Brandeis Machinery & Supply Corp., Louisville, that founding of a Brandeis division in this county means that "we are here to stay."

The speaker was Robert J. Grunden, Brandeis vice-president. He and other representatives of the company were invited to appear at the meeting by Ted Nairn, president of the Chamber.

Ground was broken recently at the mouth of Mare Creek, near Stanville, for construction of a sales and service center which will have 30,000 square ft floor space. Occupancy of the structure is expected around Dec. 1.

The center will be known as the Appalachian Division, with a branch at Stanville, and will be responsible for the extreme southeast section of Kentucky. It will be one of seven divisions located in Kentucky, Indiana and Missouri.

Mr. Grunden expressed his company's appreciation of the cooperation of the town of Allen which issued $100,000 worth of bonds in an arrangement for financing of construction of the building and The Bank Josephine for its participation in interim financing of the project. A lease agreement provides the Brandeis through rental payments will amortize the bond issue.

He pointed out that his company, a distributor of construction equipment, represents more than a dozen manufacturers and that facilities of the new division in this county will assure service for any piece of equipment sold. He said the new branch will at first employ about 50 persons and that eventually 80 will be working there.

The speaker added that Brandeis proposes to bring as few people as possible into the county to work at the center, leaving most job-openings for residents of the area.

Federal Bill Extends Food Stamp Eligibility

Frankfort, Ky.—All supplemental security income recipients using food stamps can benefit the easier as the federal bill which extended food stamp eligibility to supplemental security income recipients has been renewed by Congress through June 30, 1976.

"By Sept. 30, 1975, all supplemental security income recipients using food stamps will have been re-certified, this time for however long their circumstances warrant," said Commissioner Gail S. Huecker of the Bureau for Social Insurance in the Department for Human Resources.

"We are working under the assumption that the bill will be renewed again in 1976. Re-certifying individuals for up to a year as we do in all other food stamp cases assures continued benefits without inconvenience to the recipient or unwieldy case-loads," said Commissioner Huecker.

It is estimated that of the state's 100,000 supplemental security income recipients, 448,000 use food stamps.

Campbell-Slone Vows Exchanged

The marriage of Miss Donna Campbell, daughter of Mrs. Goldie Campbell, of Allen, Ky., and Mr. Garnard Campbell, of Prestonsburg, and Mrs. Silas Slone, son of Mr. and Mrs. Green Slone, Martin, Ky., was solemnized at 7 p.m., July 26, at the First Baptist Church of Allen. Officiating at the double-ring ceremony was the pastor, the Rev. Earl Waugh.

The vows were pledged amidst a candlelit background of lighted petals flanking the wedding arch entwined with yellow and white carnations, gladioli, mums and ferns. Nuptial music was presented by Miss Donna Watts, organist.

Given in marriage by her father, the bride wore a floor-length gown of white organza with triple-tiered yensie lace, trimmed sleeves with wrist-length cuffs. Her bouffant gown over white satin, with an empire waist, sweetheart neckline and chapel train, was re-embroidered with double rows of matching lace with tiny seed pearls. She wore a cathedral-length veil of illusion trimmed with matching lace held in place with a Juliet collar. Her bridal bouquet was of white and yellow rosebuds, daisies, baby's breath, carnations, and fern.

Miss Kathy Isaac, maid-of-honor, wore a bouffant floor-length printed dotted swiss with empire waist, short, belted sleeves, square neckline with a double ruffle at the hemline. Her picture hat of white horsehair was trimmed with matching floor-length streamers. She carried a nosegay of yellow and white carnations, yellow daisies and baby's breath and fern tied with hem-length satin streamers. Bridesmaids were Misses Brenda Campbell, sister of the bride, of Allen, Frances Shepherd and Kim Ward, of Martin, and Miss Elaine Terry, of Langley. They wore dresses identical to that of the maid-of-honor. Little Miss Sandra Campbell, cousin of the bride, was flower girl. She carried a basket of yellow rose petals tied with satin ribbon.

Master James Campbell, of Prestonsburg, brother of the bride, served as ringbearer. Mr. Roger Johnson served as best man. Jeffrey Campbell, brother of the bride, and Mike Conn, of Prestonsburg, lighted the tapers. Ushers were Rusty Tackett, Keith Hayes, Joey Jones and Harry Hampton, all of Martin.

The mother of the bride chose for her daughter's wedding an aqua floor-length dress of chiffon over satin with wrist-length sleeves.

'Jenny Wiley Trail' Gets $150,000 Grant

A grant of $150,000 by the Appalachian Regional Commission to the FIVCO Area Development District has moved the dream of a 200-mile hiking trail from South Shore, Ky. to the site of pioneer Harmon Station, in the vicinity of Combs Airport, toward reality.

Immediate actual work on the Jenny Wiley Trail was pointed up last week by John Howerton, the South Shore man who is credited with first conceiving the foot-trail, who said the project must be begun by October and completed by next July 1. The Jenny Wiley Trail will follow the route taken by Jenny Wiley, pioneer heroine, and her Indian captors from South Shore, where a swollen Ohio River blocked their passage to the large Shawnee village then in existence at the site of the present Portsmouth, O., back eastward to the Cherokee Fork of Blaine Creek in Lawrence county and finally to Paint Creek and the point of Jenny Wiley's escape to Harman Station.

The trail will follow the ridges of the area traversed, as has already been possible. Eleven miles of easements has been procured for it. Hundreds more remain to be acquired. The work will involve, first of all, the marking of the trail, then its clearing and the construction of shelter houses for hikers, approximately 20 miles apart.

The ARC grant was made to the FIVCO Area Development District, of which David Salisbury, native of Martin, is director. The institution of the trail itself will be under the aegis of the Jenny Wiley Trail Conference.

Between 1972 and 1980, the civilian labor force 16 years old and over is projected to increase by nearly 13.3 million, reaching 99.8 million in 1980, reports the U. S. Department of Labor.

In Response To Thousands Of Requests

LIMITED EDITION

CONTAINS 700 RECIPES OLD AND NEW

THE FOLLOWING IS AN EXPLANATION OF THE DIFFERENT COVERS AND EDITIONS OF "WHAT'S COOKING IN KENTUCKY."

Cover No. 1 was used on the first edition of the cookbook which arrived December 10, 1964. To identify this first edition, the letter S was missing from the word Prestonsburg under the picture of May Lodge. The recipes were continued from page to page.

The first change was made in 1965 to rearrange the recipes so that none were continued from page to page. THE RECIPES WERE NOT CHANGED.

In 1966, to straighten out the copyright, the diet section which belonged to Bev-Ron Publishing Company, of Kansas City, Missouri, was deleted. The cover was changed to Cover No. 2 because the cooking pot was copied from art work from the Bev-Ron Company. THE RECIPES WERE NOT CHANGED.

In 1970 the cookbook was revised. In order to make it more representative of a larger area of Kentucky, over four hundred recipes were substituted. It also contains 700 recipes. Cover No. 3 was used on the revision. It is also $5.95.

Cats in First Loss of Season

By C. "OLLIE" ROBINSON
 The Prestonsburg Blackcats lost their first game of the young season Friday night to the Pikeville Panthers, 20 to 6 at Pikeville. That score doesn't indicate how close the game was played. Pikeville led, 6 to 0, going into the fourth quarter, and on the first play of that quarter Blackcat Quarterback Greg Dixon fired a 25-yard pass to his end, Tim Patrick, to tie the score at 6 all.

After that, however, everything went wrong for the Cats. Vanhoose ran for the second touchdown for the Panthers, then added the two points on the run, and Phil Davis scampered 8 yards for the third marker for the Panthers. The Cats couldn't get going again.

The Blackcats will travel again Friday night, taking on the Golden Eagles of Johnson Central at Paintsville. The Eagles picked up their second straight win last week by defeating Breathitt County, 31 to 6. Prestonsburg defeated Breathitt County, 20-8, in their season-opener, August 29.

So far, in the scoring department for Prestonsburg, Wm. O. Goble has a total of 14 points and Tim Patrick has 12. Dixon has passed for two touchdowns, both to Patrick.

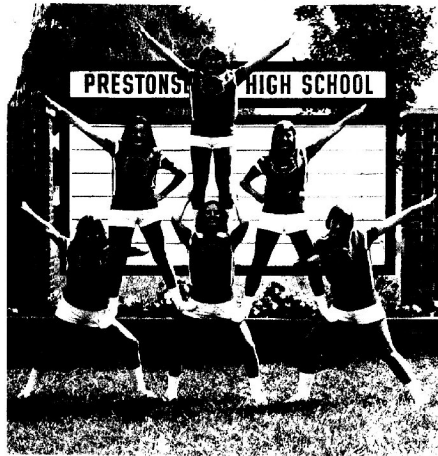

The Wheelwright Trojans will travel Friday night. The Trojans, now with a record of one win and two losses, will face the undefeated Pikeville Panthers (3-0). The Trojans had last week off.

Scouting Units Earn Awards

The first Scouting units in this area to earn awards for taking part in the second year of the bicentennial program of the Boy Scouts of America were announced this week by John Fischer, president of the Lonesome Pine Council.

A pack, troop, or post selects and completes an activity or project related to the 1974-75 program of emphasis, "Be Prepared for Life: Be Safe, Be Fit."

The first units are Pack 21, Prestonsburg; Troop 9, Whitesburg; Troop 21, Millard; and Troop 90 of Hazard.

The council has suggested a simple plan so that as many members of the Boy Scouts of America in eastern Kentucky and southwest Virginia may have the opportunity to participate in the celebration of the country's anniversary. Fischer explained.

"This is the only opportunity they will have in their lifetime to earn these particular awards", Fischer said, "and we really don't want any Scouts to miss out."

Recognition medals and embroidered emblems are available from the council service center in Pikeville as soon as each Pack or Troop completes its project, Fischer said.

When God Seems Deaf

By MRS. JULIA A. SHELHAMER

No matter how important the prayer, He will not answer.

1. When you are holding a grudge.
2. When you do not forgive.
3. When you do not apologize for your fault or sins.
4. When you are not making every possible effort to pay your debts.
5. When you do not make your wrongs right and restore that which you have wrongfully taken.
6. When you are not kind and gentle to all your enemies.
7. When you are indulging in any known sin.
8. When you yield to temptation.
9. When you are jealous and critical.

The least disobedience to God throws Him into a spell of apparent deafness to your prayers and He will not answer; however repentance and confession of sin on your part will cause Him to open His ears and His heart to you in the most gracious manner and enable you to cash in on over three thousand wonderful promises in the Bible. Worth trying, isn't it!

Paper Work Keeps Employees From Doing Jobs, Carroll Says

By GLENN HODGINS
Frankfort, Ky.—Gov. Julian Carroll says the most glaring problem revealed by the recently-completed initial phase of the "Governor to the Government" program is that too much unnecessary paperwork is preventing state employees from doing their real jobs.

After talking to nearly 200 field level supervisory employees this summer at Covington, Bowling Green, Somerset and Flemingsburg, Gov. Carroll said that some have complained about spending as much as 60 per cent of their time filling out forms or being involved in some kind of reporting procedure.

Many of these complaints came from employees of the Department for Human Resources, who said numerous federal programs implemented in the last year through their department have required additional paperwork.

However, distress over the same problem was voiced by employees of other departments.

"This is ridiculous," said Gov. Carroll. "Our people (state employees) should be busy rendering services to the people, and we're going to make some changes as a result of this program that will enable them to spend more time doing just that."

The "Governor to the Government" visits across the state also have helped his administration detect problems with the state's computer system, said Gov. Carroll.

"I'm not sure that we haven't become overcomputerized," he noted. The salaries of several thousand lower pay level employees were raised Aug. 15 as a result of the governor's program.

When he took office last December, Gov. Carroll said he found 6,100 state employees drawing salaries that would make them eligible for federal food stamps. Those employees, ranked in their first seven grades of the state payroll schedule, had their salaries raised to a minimum of $415 per month by the governor's action.

Gov. Carroll said the visits have been made in an effort to simplify state government despite its bigness, and to put common sense back into the administration of government.

In that respect, the program has demonstrated some successes, and may show long-range effects.

"I think one thing we have accomplished is getting our local county judges, legislators and mayors to take their problems to our local (state) government employees and giving them the ability to solve the problems immediately."

In the past, the governor added, citizens have relied too much on the governor's office or Frankfort bureaucracies to solve their local state government-related problems.

He said too much valuable time, effort and money has been spent in having state government officials in Frankfort investigate and try to solve problems that state government managers on the local level could solve faster and more effectively.

Gov. Carroll said the program will be continued next year in other cities in the state, and added that it will be combined in theory with that of the "Governor to the People" programs used in past years by other governors.

Membership in labor unions and public and professional employee associations with headquarters in the U.S. rose 4.8 per cent to 24.2 million in 1974.

Humane Society Sets Next Meet

The Floyd County Humane Society will hold its next bi-monthly meeting, September 16 at 7:30 p.m. at the Martin elementary school, humane society President John Burke, Jr. announced Monday.

Burke said membership cards are now available and stressed the importance of public involvement in the newly-formed organization. "We not only need financial support, but also moral support in establishing this shelter," Burke said. Society meetings are held regularly on the first and third Tuesdays of each month at 7:30 p.m. at the Martin school.

Do you have a checking or savings account in a bank, savings bank, savings and loan association or similar institution, or a Federal or State chartered credit union? Did you know you can have your check deposited directly in your account in one of these organizations? If you don't have an account now, you can open one and have your check deposited directly.
 Direct deposit of your check has certain advantages. For example:
 ▼ Even if you are away from home, your check would be deposited instead of sitting in your mailbox.
 ▼ You don't have any problem in cashing your check because it goes directly into your account.
 ▼ You don't have to stand in line to cash your check or to deposit it.
 ▼ You don't have to worry about losing your check after you receive it or having it stolen from your mailbox.
 The decision is yours. It's entirely up to you whether you want your check deposited directly.
 (please see other side)

If you want your check to continue coming to your present address, don't do anything. It will keep on coming just as it has in the past.

But if you do want your check mailed to a financial organization or if your check already is mailed to one, this is what you should do:

Contact the financial organization where you now have or where you want to have an account and ask for a direct deposit form SF-1199.

(Completion of the form does not permit withdrawals from your account by anyone other than those authorized by you.)

If you want more information, get in touch with your financial organization or contact any social security office.

READ THESE FACTS ABOUT DIRECT DEPOSITS ...

1 Why is there so much interest today in the direct deposit of social security checks?

The Treasury Department has initiated a program to encourage the recipients of all recurring Federal payments to deposit these directly into a financial institution. Under this plan, an individual can have his check sent directly to his financial institution for deposit.

2 How will I benefit from direct deposit of my social security check?

It saves a special trip to the bank just to deposit your check. It eliminates worry about the check being lost or stolen in the mail. And any time you are away from home or cannot come to the bank, your check is automatically deposited for you.

3 Can I have it deposited to my savings account as well as my checking account?

If you want a portion to go into the savings each month, ask your bank about an automatic transfer of a specified amount each month from checking into savings. By law your Social Security check must be directed to one specific account, either checking or savings.

4 How do I sign up for this service?

Simply complete the government form (SF-1199) available at any bank. Personnel at your commercial bank will be glad to help you complete the form.

5 How do I get the information needed to complete the forms?

All the Social Security information you will need is on your monthly check or in your initial award letter from Social Security. If you need any assistance or have any questions, your bank will be glad to assist you.

6 Do I send the form directly to social security?

No, you should complete the top half of the form only and take it or mail it to your bank. They will complete the form, sending one copy to you and one to Social Security.

7 After I sign up, when will the bank start receiving my check?

It should take about a month for the form to be processed. At the start of the program, it could take slightly longer.

It's easy and safe and saves you a trip to the Bank each month.
 Your check will come right to us on checking or savings, or both.

Staff Exchange Program Attempts to Bridge Gap

Frankfort, Ky.—Vocational education teachers are not likely to be accused of living in ivory towers, but they, like many other educators, are still concerned with bridging the gap between the educational experience and the actual working experience students encounter after graduation. One way of attempting to bridge that gap is through the Kentucky Appalachian Vocational Staff Exchange Program.

The exchange program, funded by the Appalachian Regional Commission and administered by the Department of Education's Bureau of Vocational Education, links the educational world to the working world by enabling vocational teachers and administrators from the state's 49-county Appalachian region to spend up to four weeks in a business or industry related to their teaching areas.

Now, as the program nears the end of its first year, approximately 200 educators and representatives from business and industry are meeting at the Continental Inn, Lexington, Sept. 11-12, to discuss the program's past and future. One conference project, according to program coordinator Patrick White, will be evaluation of the program. Judging from participants' preliminary reports, White said he expects the program to receive an excellent rating.

The program is designed to enable teachers to develop new skills and keep abreast of changing technology, especially in such areas as auto mechanics and heavy equipment operation. The teachers then revise their courses to include the new information, to help make occupational education more relevant for the students.

But business and industry can profit, too, since they usually save the time and money which otherwise might have been spent in retaining new employees. Also, they can be confident that students hired from the vocational schools are skilled, knowledgeable about current technology and business practices and, consequently, more likely to be very productive employees. This, plus the personal contacts established through the program, also increases the students' employment possibilities.

Along with new skills, the educators also provide their students with a socio-economic report of the exchange site. Descriptions of work conditions, salaries, employee benefits and educational opportunities to social and recreational opportunities, shopping areas, schools and churches are included. Such information not only helps the student decide where to apply for employment, but it also helps reduce his adjustment time once he is employed.

The staff exchange isn't always on a one-to-one basis, but businessmen and industrialists do participate at the schools. This direct contact enables them to provide input on vocational courses, identify information which needs to be taught and acquire teaching techniques which they can use in their own training programs.

And, there are fringe benefits too. Various firms, after becoming acquainted with a school and its needs, have donated equipment (including a bulldozer or their own training films and teaching aids). Wayne Supply Co. of Louisville even plans to loan a $50,000 cut-away diesel engine as a training aid for those schools teaching diesel mechanics.

The response to the program was good last year, as 83 educators participated at 110 sites. But, White hopes that when last year's nonparticipants hear about its benefits at the September conference, they will become involved, too.

And to help make sure that last year's information makes this year's program even better, the conference will include workshops on various aspects of the program.

Both the public and the press are invited to attend.

Anyone wishing more information on either the conference or the program itself is invited to write or call Patrick E. White, Bureau of Vocational Education, Department of Education, 2034 Capital Plaza Tower, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601 (phone 502-364-5096).

WORLD CHAMPION... Morehead State University President Adron Doran, riding "Hawk's Mystery," won the championship of the Amateur Owner class for riders 60 and older last Thursday night in the National Walking Horse Celebration at Shelbyville, Tenn. Dr. Doran, here shown astride the horse in a 1974 show, has been exhibiting for three years in an effort to promote MSU's horsemanship program. The championship horse has been shown in Kentucky under the name of "Shadow's Souvenir." Walking Horse Celebration rules required, however, that the animal be identified by its registered name.

Floyd County Health Notes

By DONNA J. GRIFFITH

The Floyd County Health Department advises all Floyd citizens that unnecessary pounds can be more than just ugly fat; that extra weight means extra work for your heart. It leads to high blood pressure and hardening of the arteries, the two most common kinds of heart disease.

High blood pressure is usually the result of a narrowing of small arteries, so more force is required to push the blood through them. It can lead to congestive heart failure, where the heart works with less strength than is needed for good health, to hemorrhages or hardened arteries.

Arteries may be hardened by a build-up of fatty deposits on the inner lining of the blood vessels. This progress can be slowed down by changes in diet. Fortunately, the same diet which helps prevent this kind of heart disease is also a good one for someone who should take off a few pounds.

The Health Department conducts a weight control class every Tuesday night at 7. A nurse is present at each of these meetings showing films, giving out materials, counseling and going through exercises. If you are interested in joining (his weight control class, call the health department at 866-2786, Monday through Friday, from 8 a.m. to 4:30 p.m.).

Taking off those extra pounds can mean not only better looks but also better health and longer life.

will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. with the following services being available, free of charge: Immunizations, TB skin tests, diabetes screening and blood pressures.

The Floyd County Health Department will conduct a pap smear clinic Thursday, September 11, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. Each year Kentucky physicians may report as many as 1,000 new cases of cervical cancer, but by means of this simple test signs which foretell the development of this kind of cancer can be seen even before obvious symptoms are noted by the woman or her doctor.

It is important also to remember that in order to have continuing protection against cervical cancer, you must have a pap smear at least once a year. Deaths caused by cervical cancer could be completely eliminated if all women would take this simple precautionary step.

This clinic is free and open to all women.

By LARRY BURKE

We read a bit of good, sound logic the other day. Someone had simply written these words: "A smooth sea never makes a skillful mariner."

There is much truth in this statement. A sailor becomes skilled only as he guides his ship through raging seas and stormy voyages. Anyone can plot a course through a calm but only the best can face a storm, weather it and bring the ship safely to harbor.

It is through the storms of experience that the mariner becomes skillful. Isn't that true with life? The hard and difficult days tend to make each of us a better person better fitted for life.

Everyone's life will be filled with many calm voyages, but there are sure to be storms and gales, because they are part of life, too.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: Life is a sea both calm and stormy.

Gunnell-Spradlin Vows Said

Miss Linda Lou Gunnell, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Harvey Lloyd Gunnell, of Prestonsburg, became the bride of Mr. Michael Spradlin, son of Mr. and Mrs. Grady Spradlin, of Bonanza, Saturday, August 9 at 7:30 p.m. at the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church.

The Rev. William D. Jagers performed the candlelight, double-ring ceremony. Providing the music were Mrs. Alice Grey Buchanan, organist, and Miss Linda Godsey, soloist. The vocal selections were "First Time Ever I Saw Your Face," and "The Lord's Prayer."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an exquisite gown of white peau d' ancre lace, fashioned with a Victorian neckline edged with valance ruffles, full bishop sleeves, self-covered buttons with a bow accenting the front panel. The softly gathered skirt, enhanced with a deep, ruffled hemline flourish, extended into a tulle train. Her full-length self-illusion lace veil was held by a matching lace shell edged with a double row of pearls she carried a cascade bouquet of orchids and white sweetheart roses.

Mrs. Bill Tom Goble, sister of the bride, served as matron of honor. Her gown was of yellow floral organza. A deep off-shoulder ruffle finished the neck and hemline. The empire waistline was accented by a wide sash of yellow chiffon reaching to the hem in the back. Her wide-brim hat was trimmed in the same material as her gown. She carried a long stem yellow rose with matching yellow ribbon.

The bridesmaids were Miss Jane May and Miss Sharon Ann Branham, of Prestonsburg; Miss Susan Watts, Allen, and Mrs. Gary Vickers, Lexington. The bridesmaids wore of pastel floral organza with matching hats and each carried a long-stem matching rose. Miss Anita Hicks of Maytown, presided at the guest register.

Amos Leslie, of Emma served the groom as best man. The ushers were Gary Ousley, and Guy Rorer, of Prestonsburg; Grady Fairchild, and Dick Fairchild, nephews of the groom, of Huntington, West Virginia.

The bride's mother chose a floor-length gown of aqua crepe with a matching lace jacket. Her corsage was of white sweetheart roses and baby's breath with matching ribbon. The mother of the groom wore a floor-length gown of peach chiffon. Her corsage was of sweetheart roses with matching ribbon.

A reception was held immediately following the ceremony at May Lodge. Assisting there were Mrs. Cheryl Godsey Leslie, Miss Tomi Sue Branham, of Prestonsburg and Miss Diane Nichols, of Sikka, Kentucky.

After a short wedding trip, Mr. and Mrs. Spradlin are residing on Highland Avenue here.

Bicentennial Fest Booked for Oct. 9-12 At U.K.'s Coliseum

Kentucky federal and public high school students have been invited to participate in the second annual International Bicentennial Festival set for Oct. 9-12 in the University of Kentucky Memorial Coliseum.

Mrs. Floyd E. Boyer, Jr., Lexington artist and teacher in the Fayette county school system, is chairman of the festival's school art committee.

"We are asking each school to send us a painting in the shape of their county which illustrates the various trades and activities unique to that county," Mrs. Boyer said.

She recently sent each high school a letter and a map of their county. "We hope that each of Kentucky's 120 counties will be represented," she continued. "Next year, perhaps we can make a huge state from the art we receive this year."

The 1975 festival includes an array of some 85 exhibit booths manned by approximately 3,500 volunteers and continuous entertainment provided by over 2,500 professional and nonprofessional talent all under one roof.

In addition to the Kentucky school art, the nationally renowned IBM exhibit of the models of Leonardo da Vinci's inventions will be on display in the front corridor of the UK coliseum. The working models which are taken from da Vinci's sketchbooks will be shown free of charge to the public.

A festival "first" is the construction of a large fabric sculpture which will cover the ceiling of the UK coliseum. Created by Arturo Sandoval of the UK art department, the sculpture made of parachute material represents the first time anyone has attempted to cover the ceiling.

ONE NAME, TWO PEOPLE—The Wayne Griffith listed in last week's Times as being arrested for drunk driving is not the Wayne Griffith who lives at David.

Kentucky's highway fatality count for the first seven months of 1975 was 493, compared to 428 for the same period a year ago. Still, that seven-month toll is far below the Jan.-July figures for 1973 (657), 1972 (616) and 1971 (559).

McCracken-Cole Wedding

Mr. and Mrs. Ralph McCracken, Jr., of Highlands, Pineville, Ky., announce the marriage of their daughter, Alice Ann McCracken, to Richard Michael Cole, son of Mrs. Imogene Cole, of Drift, Ky., and the late John Cole.

The wedding took place in the First United Methodist Church, Pineville, at 2 p.m. on Saturday, August 2. Rev. Larry B. Gardner was the minister for the doubling ceremony. Organist was Mrs. Charles Grace. The church was decorated with greenery and two-tiered candelabra.

The bride's gown was of candlelight duchess satin, fashioned with a yoke of imported lace, encircled by pearl embroidery in a flower design with cap sleeves edged with matching beading. The princess style train, which was buttoned up the back with tiny, self-covered buttons, was accented by the bouffant skirt ending a full flowing train. Her fingertip veil was arranged from a helmet of lace which was from her maternal great-grandmother's wedding. Her flowers were white gardenias, white sweetheart roses, baby's breath, sprangeli ferns with beige ribbon entwined throughout. Attending the bride as maid-of-honor was Miss Frances McCracken, Lexington, Kentucky. The groom's best man was Ronald M. Cole, Romulus, Michigan. The bridesmaids were Margaret McCracken, Pineville, Ky., Stacie Goodin Bargo, Grays, Ky., and Teresa Martin, Drift, Ky. They wore halter dresses made of flower print beige voile over a beige underskirt. A matching voile jacket with a ruffle at the neck and long sleeves. Beige sandals completed their outfits. Their flowers were white orchids with stephanotis and baby's breath and entwined with a beige satin ribbon.

The ushers were Ralph McCracken, III, Pineville, John Reed, Prestonsburg, and Donnie Sexton, Lexington.

The flower girls were Wendy Reed, Prestonsburg, and Kellie Cole, Romulus, Michigan.

The bride's mother wore a long green chiffon dress with beige and green print voile jacket. She wore a white sweetheart rose corsage. The groom's mother wore a light green floral print dress with matching jacket. She wore a white sweetheart rose corsage.

The reception was held in the Ray Harm Room, at Pine Mountain State Park. The cake was cut with the bride's grandfather's Navy sword, which was also used at the bride's mother's reception.

She was assisted by Charlene Cole, Barb Bottoms, Diana Reed, and Karen Sexton.

Mr. and Mrs. Cole went to Gatlinburg, Tennessee for their wedding trip. The couple's new address will be Drift, Kentucky.

The bride graduated from Eastern Kentucky University. The groom graduated from Mayo State Vocational School and Eastern Kentucky University. He is employed at Elkhorn Industrial Products.

Await Court Ruling On Hospital Workers

By JIM WARREN
(In The Huntington, W. Va. Herald-Dispatch)

PIKEVILLE, Ky., Aug. 28.—The waiting goes on in the unionization dispute that started three years ago at the Methodist Hospital of Kentucky here.

Workers who lost their jobs in that dispute waited in and outside the courtroom at the U. S. Courthouse here most of the day yesterday while attorneys met behind closed doors to argue legalities that could send some or all of them back to work.

Arguments began in a National Labor Relations Board hearing yesterday morning over whether the management of the hospital should reinstate about 200 of the workers with back pay from Oct. 10, 1971.

The hearing will resume this morning. It started late yesterday because everybody—spectators, attorneys and records—had to move from the Pike county circuit courtroom, where the hearing originally was scheduled, to the nearby federal courthouse.

And a complicated legal issue immediately sent Administrative Law Judge Herbert Silberman and lawyers for the hospital, the NLRB and the Communication Workers of America into a closed caucus that lasted off and on for most of the day.

That left the workers who went on strike over the unionization campaign in 1972 waiting and wondering again.

One woman remarked, "We've waited three years. I guess a few more hours won't matter much."

At issue in the caucus was an amendment to the original complaint filed against the hospital.

According to the amendment's TWO-DAY FAMILY REUNION

The Reynolds family reunion was held at Miller's Grove, Park Frederick, Ohio, August 23 and 24. Also celebrated was the 35th wedding anniversary of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Reynolds, of Prestonsburg, and a birthday for Mrs. Thelma Clark, daughter of Mrs. Oscar Reynolds, of Harold. A special cake was baked for each celebrant by Mrs. Wanda Paterno, of Belleville, Mich., another daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Reynolds.

Attending were Mrs. Monie Dameron, of Wyandotte, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Palmer Hall and children, Clark, Gean and daughter and Troy Alley, all from Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Wayne Meade, Mr. and Mrs. Alton Little and daughter, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Logan Meade and Mrs. Gene Meade and children, Mr. and Mrs. Donnie Meade, all of Dayton, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Bill Reynolds and family, of Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Bill Reynolds, Jr., of Michigan, Mr. and Mrs. Gaylord Reynolds and family, also of Dayton, Mr. and Mrs. Henry Clay Akers and family, Mr. and Mrs. Randy Akers, of Dayton, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Ray Brown and family, Mr. Bobby Brown, Miss Juanita Brown, all from Chillicothe, Ohio, Mr. and Mrs. Homer Reynolds, Mr. and Mrs. Roy Dean Reynolds, of Ashland, Charley Hamilton, of Dayton, Mrs. Mary Belle Reynolds, Jeraldene and daughter, all of Mich., Mr. and Mrs. Oscar Reynolds, of Prestonsburg, Mrs. Thelma Clark, of Harold, Mr. and Mrs. Dick Ralph, of Carleton, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. George P. Wright, daughter and son, Mr. and Mrs. Albert Paterno, Jr. and children, all of Belleville, Mich., Vern Reynolds, son of Mr. and Mrs. Vern, Mich., Mr. and Mrs. M. J. Reynolds, daughter and son, of Wyandotte.

language, fired hospital workers left the picket lines last October and asked for their jobs back. The CWA, which had tried to unionize the hospital, also asked the hospital for employment on behalf of the strikers, the amendment said.

A third part of the amendment alleged the hospital refused to employ the people because of their activities in and support for the union.

It appeared for a while yesterday that the amendment would not be allowed. James Smith, a Louisville, Ky., attorney representing the hospital, objected on grounds the amendment was confusing, changed the entire theory of the case and violated ground rules allegedly set for the case by the general counsel of the NLRB.

Smith contended a letter from the general counsel, which authorized the complaint against the hospital, set ground rules for the complaint, and that it was too late to change them under hearing rules.

The amendment was crucial, according to CWA attorney Morgan Stanford at Atlanta, Ga., who said the complaint against Methodist Hospital would be "much weaker" without it.

Late yesterday, Silberman denied Smith's objection and allowed the amendment. Silberman said the general counsel had set ground rules, but added he assumed the counsel had given authority to change the rules and amend the complaint.

However, he said he would be sympathetic to a motion from Smith for a recess later to make any changes in the defense to meet the amended complaint.

Attorneys were to work out some procedural matters later yesterday and witnesses probably will be called today.

The unionization drive in 1972 was sparked by the firing of two hospital workers, Ike Coleman of Elkhorn City, an admissions clerk, and Peco Williams of Pikeville.

More than 200 hospital workers later went on strike, maintaining pickets for 28 months. Last October, strikers left the picket lines and began trying to get their old jobs back.

That effort is continuing in the federal courthouse here.

Plaintiffs contend the National Labor Relations Act prohibits an employer from using a worker's pro-union stand as grounds for not hiring him.

The hospital is expected to argue in the hearing that the strike began before the labor relations act was amended to include non-profit hospitals like Methodist Hospital of Kentucky.

Big Sandy RCD Council To Meet

The Project Council of the Big Sandy Resource Conservation and Development (RCD) Project will meet at Jenny Wiley State Park, tomorrow (Thursday) at 8 p.m.

Purpose of the meeting will be to review measure plans and to program additional measure planning activities. Two measure plans have been completed—a flood prevention measure at Porter Elementary School in Johnson county, and a land drainage measure on the campus of Prestonsburg Community College here. Final approval, signing construction bids and contracts for construction are expected to be completed within the next few weeks. Actual construction of these measures is expected to be done late this fall.

Other measures are in various stages of planning in the other three counties of the project area—Magoffin, Martin and Pike.

A PINTO DOESN'T HAVE THE GUTS TO BE A RABBIT.

Pinto claims to be a better buy than a Volkswagen Rabbit. But it's really not.

Because when you add up all the features that are standard on a Rabbit and optional on a Pinto, plus all the features you can't even get on a Pinto, you come to a startling conclusion.

The Rabbit is not only a better engineered car. It's a bargain at the price.

The Rabbit has front-wheel drive. Like an Eldorado and a Toronado.

Features that are standard on a Rabbit and that cost more on a Pinto.

They compare a 2-door Pinto to a 3-door hatchback Rabbit. How much does a 3-door Pinto cost? $2,150 extra.*

To get the same kind of performance as a Rabbit (0 to 50 in 8.2 seconds) you have to order a larger 6-cylinder engine with a special rear axle. $272 extra on the Pinto.*

Of course, with the larger engine you'd only get 22 mpg on the highway and 16 in the city.

The Rabbit gets 38 mpg on the highway and 24 mpg in the city.†† So driving an average of 12,000 miles a year, you'd spend about $10 extra for gas every month with the Pinto.

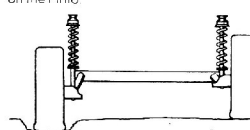

To get the same effortless 3.3 turn-lock-to-lock steering as a Rabbit, you'd have to get power steering on the Pinto. $117 extra.

Features on a Rabbit that you can't get on a Pinto at any price. Front-wheel drive. This gives the Rabbit greater tracking and stability. Not available on the Pinto.

Dual diagonal braking system. If one braking system should fail, another is there to help stop the car. Not available on the Pinto.

Negative steering roll radius. This helps stop a Rabbit in a straight line. Not available on the Pinto.

4-wheel independent suspension. This gives added riding comfort and better handling on rough roads. Not available on the Pinto.

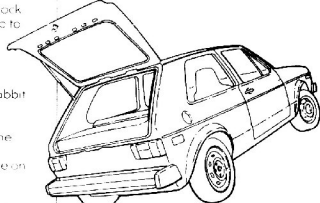

The Rabbit has 4-wheel independent suspension. Like a Porsche.

Interior room. The Rabbit is much roomier than a Pinto. In fact, it has as much leg and head room as some mid-size cars.

Visibility. A Rabbit has more overall glass area than the Pinto's big brother, the Lincoln Mark IV.

Protection. The Rabbit is built so well it's covered by the Volkswagen Owner's Security Blanket, the most advanced car coverage plan in the world.

The hatchback on a Rabbit is standard. On a Pinto, it's extra.

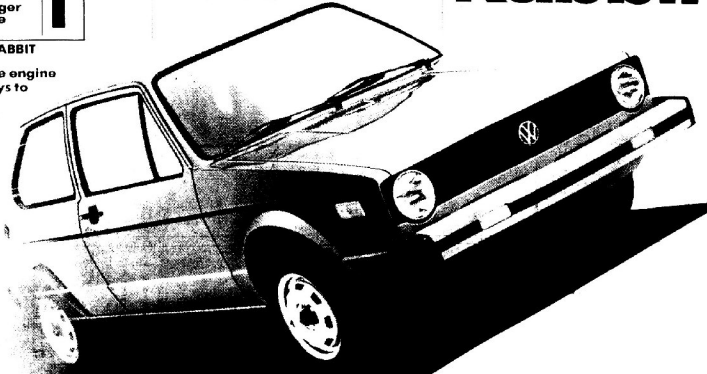

You should also listen to the experts. Popular Mechanics called the Rabbit "The Best Value For 1975, and Road and Track named it "The Best Sedan Under $3500."

But test drive the Rabbit yourself. It's really the best way to tell what they leave out of a Pinto to make it so cheap.

School Leaders Get Jobs Back

Pike County Circuit Court Judge E. N. Venters has ruled invalid actions of the Pike County School Board in demotion of Assistant Superintendent Woodrow Maynard.

The ruling came as a result of a suit filed by Maynard and other teachers or administrators against the board's actions of Aug. 12, when Maynard was demoted to classroom teacher at Sycamore Elementary School.

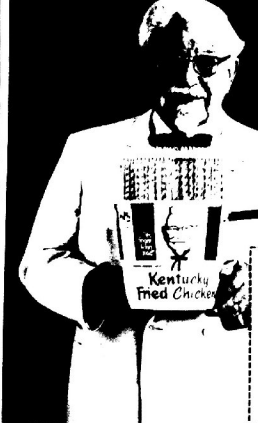

The decision called for Maynard to be reinstated to the assistant superintendent's position and to be paid the salary and fringe benefits his contract had called for for the 1975-76 school year. At least six other teachers or administrators in the school system were also ordered to be restored to their respective positions for this school term. Judge Venters' judgement read in part:

"The various actions by the defendant Pike County Board of Education, its chairman, Alan Childers, and its superintendent, James T. Dotson attempting to demote, transfer, reduce the salary, position or duties of Tilden Deskins, Phosis Pitter, Ervin Pruitt, Clayton Little, Rebecca Jo Francis and Woodrow Johnson are set aside, vacated and held for naught."

The decision is expected to be appealed.

Miss Curry, Mr. Warnock Wed

The marriage of Vera Lynn Curry, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Forrest S. Curry, of Grethel, Ky., and Steven Edward Warnock, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Warnock of Jeffersonville, Ohio, was solemnized August 2 at Calvary Baptist Church, Betsy Layne.

The double-ring ceremony was performed by the Rev. Cohen Campbell as the couple stood before a kneeling bench with two spiral candelabra completing the background.

Mrs. Gloria Fay Blankenship, accompanied by Mrs. Mary Lou Clark at the organ, sang "The Twelfth of Never" and "Always."

The bride, given in marriage by her father, wore an empire waist gown of alencon lace and bridal satin. The long, tiered veil of illusion was trimmed with Alencon lace and attached to a comb of lace roses trimmed with pearls. Both veil and gown were designed and made by the mother of the bride. The bridal bouquet was of white carnations, baby's breath and chasta daisies.

Miss Dian Pennington, of Willard, Ky., a friend of the bride, was maid of honor. Bridesmaids were Miss Melanie Wentz, of Grayson, and Miss Kathy Louise Warnock, of Jeffersonville, Ohio, sister of the groom. The maid of honor and bridesmaids wore identically designed floor-length gowns of sheer over opaque polyester in pastel green, pink and blue with wide brimmed hats in matching colors. Their nose gays were carnations dipped in colors to match the gowns.

The flower girl, Miss Brandy Lynn Martin, niece of the bride, wore a yellow floor length dress identical in design to the bridesmaids.

Ronald Lee Warnock served as his brother's best man, and ushers were William Eugene Warnock, brother of the groom, and Harold Paul Curry, brother of the bride. The white carpet was rolled out by Forrest Stanley Curry, II, brother of the bride. Master Brent Allen Billman, of Delaware, Ohio, cousin of the groom, was ringbearer.

The mother of the bride wore a pink street-length dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations and pink rosebuds.

The mother of the groom wore a floral street-length dress with matching accessories and a corsage of white carnations.

Grandparents present were presented corsages and boutonnières. They are Katie Wakeland, of Pikeville, great-grandmother of the bride; Harold Wakeland, of DeLand, Fla., grandfather of the bride; Mr. and Mrs. Earl Swaney and John Warnock, of Jeffersonville, Ohio, grandparents of the groom.

Mrs. George Hall and Mrs. Walter Lynch were hostesses for the reception held in the church fellowship hall.

The newlyweds are residing in Morehead, Ky., where they are completing college work. Mrs. Warnock will be a medical office assistant and Mr. Warnock is majoring in welding technology.

LRC Report Critical of State Motor Vehicle Usage Tax

There seems to be no justification for Kentucky's present methods of taxing motor vehicle sales, a new study by the Legislative Research Commission (LRC) staff includes.

A report by LRC staff members Edith Schwab and Donald Roney recommends that the five per cent usage tax on new and used car sales should be on the actual money that changes hands and not on such "fictitious" standards as "manufacturer's suggested retail price" or "blue book value."

The report, entitled "Motor Vehicles: Certificates of Title and Taxation," is available upon request from the Legislative Research Commission, Public Information Office, State Capitol, Frankfort, Kentucky 40601.

The report also includes recommendations on how Kentucky could adopt a certificate of title law for motor vehicles.

In the section on taxation the report recommends that in the sale of motor vehicles "the tax should be on the actual sales price of the vehicle with an allowance being made for a trade-in." "This would bring Kentucky's method of taxation in line with that of the majority of states," the report adds.

At present, a person who buys a new car in Kentucky is charged five per cent of the manufacturer's suggested retail price of the car with no allowance for a trade-in. On a used car the purchaser is charged five per cent of the blue book value (the price suggested by the National Automobile Dealers' Association for various makes and models of used cars).

The law does allow a dealer to subtract trade-in allowance from a car's blue book value to determine the amount on which the tax should be based.

Responses from 48 states to a questionnaire indicate that Montana, Oklahoma and South Dakota are the only other states that tax on the manufacturer's suggested retail price in the sale of a new car.

Kentucky is also in the minority in not making an allowance for trade-in in taxing new car sales, the report says.

On used car sales most states tax the actual sales price of a vehicle rather than its book value when there is no trade-in, the report adds. Bills or resolutions regarding a title law have been introduced in every regular session of the General Assembly except on since 1956.

Kentucky is the only state without such a law.

"Forty-nine states are convinced that a certificate of title is the most effective way in which to prove ownership of a motor vehicle," the report says. At present in Kentucky, a person must present a bill of sale and a manufacturer's certificate of origin in order to register a new vehicle. A previous registration slip is all that is required to register a vehicle previously owned by a Kentucky resident, however.

A title law would prevent anyone from investing in an automobile on which there was an outstanding mortgage, the report says.

"If the seller has mortgaged his motor vehicle, he would have no certificate of title to deliver to the purchaser as the certificate would be held by the lender until such mortgage has been satisfied," the report adds.

Corrections Task Force Studies County Fee System

Lexington, Ky.—A proposal to abolish the fee system of funding Kentucky's county government is one of more than a dozen legislative recommendations now being studied by the state Justice Department's Corrections Task Force.

The task force, in a recent meeting here, made no official endorsements but did begin work on developing a legislative package to be submitted for final action to the state's Advisory Commission on Criminal Justice Standards and Goals.

Jerry Frockt, executive director of the Kentucky Association of Counties, told the task force that the fee system is inadequate to pay the salaries of most county officials, noting that jailers are the worst paid of all.

Frockt said that the lowest paid jailer in Kentucky last year made an annual salary of $628, with a number earning not more than that. He said many of Kentucky's county jailers earn less than $5,000 a year, which is considered the poverty level.

Frockt said the salaries of jailers and other low-paid county officials could be increased by establishing a minimum annual wage for county officials of $7,000 or by having county governments pool their fees.

He said fee pooling currently is being used by only three counties—Barren, Warren and Christian. He said in those counties the salaries of all county officials have been brought up to the maximum level as authorized by state law of $15,800.

He said an additional 45 counties could experience the same results if they adopted fee pooling.

Frockt said opposition to abolishing the fee system and the more gradual step of pooling can be expected from county officials.

Frankfort, Ky.—Unemployment statistics in Kentucky have remained lower than in many other states, but the Department of Personnel reports that they are seeing increased applications for state merit system jobs.

To help keep up with this increased workload, Gov. Julian Carroll has issued an executive order establishing a new division of fiscal management within the Department of Personnel.

The creation of the division is effective as of Sept. 1.

Announcing that the department has received 64 per cent more applicants this year than last year on a January to June comparison, the governor listed the responsibilities for the new division as fiscal planning for the department, management of expenditures within the department, maintenance of internal accounts and reported and other assignments deemed necessary by Commissioner of Personnel Cattie Lou Miller.

Commissioner Miller stated that she has not decided on a director for the new division yet, but that it "may very well be someone already employed in state government."

clerks. But he said that clerks and other opponents must be made aware that counties cannot operate on fees and county officials "should work together like one big family instead of vying for funding and power."

On the issue of regionalizing jails, a concept which is growing in popularity among many corrections officials, Frockt said the idea would be financially attractive because most counties can't afford their jails now. He added that problems—along with stiff opposition from jailers—may be stumbling blocks.

Joe Williams, head of the Kentucky Jailers' Association, agreed that most jailers would oppose regional jails, adding that questions of who will transport prisoners and who will pay for expenses would have to be resolved.

Other legislative proposals considered today included recommendations to implement work-release programs, elimination of jury sentencing in favor of judicial sentencing and permission for cities and counties to contract with the state to provide correctional services.

George Wilson, a Justice Department official who is working with the task force, said it will be a few more weeks before the group will be able to finalize their proposals and take them to the state advisory commission.

The Corrections Task Force is one of five task forces which are involved in drafting standards and goals for Kentucky's criminal justice system, as well as considering legislation for the 1976 General Assembly.

The other task forces are juvenile delinquency, assessment, courts and police.

Combat Encephalitis Fight Begun

Frankfort, Ky.—With 41 cases of suspected viral encephalitis, plus three confirmed cases of the "sleeping sickness" disease now under observation in Kentucky, the Department for Human Resources (DHR) is taking steps to curtail the outbreak. To date, no specific treatment has been developed for the disease, which has a fatality rate of less than 10 per cent.

Union county, with 20 suspected cases, has an intensive mosquito control program under way. Louisville, which has 10 suspected and three confirmed cases, has been destroying mosquito larvae (eggs) for some time. Other reported cases include five from Fayette County, four from Hopkins County and two from Henderson County.

"Elimination of mosquitoes is the only preventive measure in fighting this disease," said Dr. Joseph Skaggs, assistant director of DHR's division for preventive services in the Bureau for Health Services.

"The Culex mosquito is the only carrier we know of that can infect people with the St. Louis encephalitis virus," Dr. Skaggs said. "Our department doesn't have the equipment or resources for a statewide mosquito control program, but when people call us, we can advise them on how to get this extermination done."

Dr. Skaggs said his division is also collecting data from the reported cases and assisting in laboratory confirmation of diagnoses.

To confirm a case of St. Louis encephalitis, a blood test must be taken during the acute stages of the symptoms and again two weeks later. These samples are then compared and tested in DHR laboratories to see if, indeed, the encephalitis is of the St. Louis strain, Dr. Skaggs said.

Encephalitis causes inflammation of the brain, spinal cord and the tissues covering them.

Dr. Skaggs advised persons to take precautions against infection by using insect repellent when around mosquitoes and spraying their homes with insecticides. Culex mosquitoes are basically night feeders, but they can be found during the day in damp, dark places such as under bridges and around chicken houses, he said.

The state's only confirmed cases of St. Louis encephalitis, all in Louisville, are a 29-year-old man and two women, one in her side and the other approaching 80. Dr. Skaggs said symptoms are most likely to show up in the aged and very young, but added that "the overwhelming majority of people infected by the virus do not show any symptoms."

Symptoms of St. Louis encephalitis may include mild headaches, vision and speech impairments, drowsiness and comas.

The first documented outbreak of this disease occurred in St. Louis in 1933. The last time the disease was reported in Kentucky was in 1964, when one case was confirmed in Louisville and 14 in Danville. There were no deaths that year.

Nine other states besides Kentucky are presently being tormented by the disease, with the largest number of suspected cases being 220 in Mississippi.

BANANA TEA BREAD

2-2/3 cups sifted all-purpose flour
 3-1/2 teaspoons double-acting baking powder
 3/4 teaspoon salt
 1/2 cup shortening
 1/4 teaspoon soda
 1/2 teaspoon grated fresh lemon rind
 1 cup sugar
 3 eggs
 3/4 cup white raisins
 1-1/2 cups mashed ripe bananas

Sift flour with baking powder and salt. Set aside. Combine shortening, eggs and grated lemon rind. Gradually blend in sugar, mixing until light and fluffy. Add raisins and lemon rind. Add flour mixture alternately with sugar. Turn into a well-greased lightly floured 8 x 8 x 2-inch loaf pan. Bake in a preheated moderate oven (350 F.) 1 hour and 10 minutes or until done. Weigh 1 loaf.
