Courthouse Annex Bids Ruled High

Lowest Bid Over Estimate $300,000; Delay Is Indefinite

Construction of the annex proposed for the courthouse here as a juvenile detention center and office building has been indefinitely delayed as contractors bids have been so far above architect's estimates as to be unacceptable.

The structure was first advertised for bidding Sept. 10, and when only one bid was received the fiscal court re-advertised the project for letting last Wednesday.

But only two bids were received then, and both were far above the estimated cost of the building.

The lowest of the two bidders, Hacker Brothers Construction Co., Corbin, submitted a bid of $1,076,000. The second bid was that of Green Construction Co., Middleburg, for $1,180,000.

Lowest of the bids, was more than $300,000 above the architect's estimate.

County Judge Henry Stumbo said Monday that a statement from the architect, Forrest G. McCloskey and Associates, is expected for the Oct. 6 meeting of the fiscal court and that it will possibly indicate some features of the building which may be eliminated to reduce the cost.

The proposed work would involve construction of a two-story building, 120

W'wright Child, 2 Others Killed

The death of a Wheelwright child last Friday brought to three the motor vehicle deaths in the area for the week-end. A Pike woman and her nine-year-old daughter were killed and eight others were injured near Heller, Pike county, Saturday afternoon.

The Floyd victim was Kimberly Ann Mitchell, 7, who reportedly ran in front of an automobile driven by Mrs. Ella Jackson, 33, also of Wheelwright, shortly before noon Friday. The victim was dead on arrival at the McDowell Regional Hospital. State Trooper A. C. Cantrell said no charges have been lodged against the driver of the car.

Killed in the Pike county tragedy were Mrs. Gloria Jean Sims, 28, of Lookout, and her daughter, Tammy, who were thrown from the bed of a pickup truck which ran out of control from KY 196 and over an embankment. Four of the eight who were injured were admitted to the Methodist Hospital, Pikeville.

The Mitchell child was a daughter of Mrs. Sarah Ellen Sizemore Mitchell and the late Trimble Charlie Mitchell. Surviving her, in addition to her mother, are two sisters, Karen and Leasia, and a half-sister, Duann Moore, all of Wheelwright. Her funeral was conducted at 11 a.m. Monday from the Merion Funeral Chapel by the Rev. John Adams, and burial was made in the Ike Roberts cemetery at Gretna.

Break Ground for Shopping Center

Ground was broken here Monday afternoon for the 78,000-square-foot shopping center proposed by J. E. H. Development, Lexington, and it was announced that first work on the structure will perhaps begin this week.

The center, to be known as Shoppers' Village of Prestonsburg, will employ 200 persons, the group attending the groundbreaking was told.

In addition to a 28,000-square-foot section of the structure to be occupied by a Shopper's Choice supermarket, it was announced that Heck's, one of the country's major discount chains, will have a store there covering more than 40,000-square-foot. A third occupant of the center will be Herrin & Johnson's Pharmacy.

Participating in the groundbreaking ceremonies were J. Fleet Greene, director of real estate for Heck's; William Carmichael, vice-president of Shoppers' Choice; Edward Nairn, president of the Prestonsburg-Floyd County Chamber of Commerce; Eric Herrin and Cloyd Johnson, Prestonsburg pharmacists; Gorman Collins, of Radio Station WDOE; Jim Necessary, of the First National Bank, and Edw. Music, of Music-Carter-Hughes.

Construction will be done by Sean & Scott, Inc., contractors, and it was predicted the building will be ready for occupancy next spring. Triple B Construction Company of Prestonsburg will do the excavation work on the project.

A feature of the center will be a minimal, 50 foot square, of two stories and fashioned mainly of glass.

A parking area to accommodate 350 vehicles is planned for the center, which will be located on University Drive, adjacent to the Archer Memorial Clinic.

The new Heck's Store will be comprised of seven major departments.

featuring, according to Mr. Greene, "Heck's specially refined look in merchandising mix, expanded display and promotional areas emphasizing bigger and more elaborate selection of soft goods as Heck's increases its floor space allocations to a more equal percentage of hard goods and soft goods."

Heck's will employ between 60 and 70 here it was said. Mr. Greene said store personnel will be recruited locally except for the manager, assistant manager and heads of various departments.

The Heck's representative said his company currently is making studies of 28 cities in as many counties, and that Floyd and Pike counties had been found to have the greatest potentials. The company is operating in five states.

Mr. Lloyd, Shopper's Choice president, said Prestonsburg's new store will be his firm's 12th supermarket.

Big Sandy ADD Meet To Stress Water Problems

The Oct. 16 meeting at the Paintsville Country Club of the Big Sandy Area Development District board of directors may be one of its most important, it was indicated last week by Dr. W. C. Hambley, Pikeville, chairman.

Presence at the meeting of Congressman Carl D. Perkins and representatives of five federal agencies and scheduled discussion of the district's need, for funds to solve "high priority" water problems and importance to the 5 p.m. meeting. Joseph L. McCauley, Big Sandy ADD director, described the situation last week in a letter addressed to board members and others.

Conviction Here Third Life Term In Deskins Case

Robert Sykes last Thursday became the third man to be sentenced to a life pen term for the murder four years ago in Pike county of Mrs. Gladys Deskins, 58.

The trial jury deliberated more than five hours before announcing its verdict. The 41-year-old Sykes received the jury verdict without show of emotion.

The case was transferred from Pike county to the Floyd circuit court on change of venue after the victim's husband, Boone Deskins, and Eugene Thompson, 25, had been convicted in the Pike court of their part in the murder plot and had received life terms.

Star witness for the Commonwealth in the Sykes trial was William "Woody" Christian, whose confession made to State Detective Chester D. Potter while Christian was a prisoner on another charge in Terre Haute, Ind., "broke" the Deskins case.

Christian testified that he was first contacted by Boone Deskins to burn the house occupied by Mrs. Deskins at Meta. For this chore, he said, he enlisted the help of Sykes. Later, he said, Deskins offered him $7,000 to kill Mrs. Deskins. Christian said he enlisted Sykes for the job, and that Sykes in turn engaged Thompson to help.

They drove, he said, on a Sunday night of July, 1971 from Pikeville to the Deskins home, where Sykes left Christian and Thompson and drove back to Pikeville where he was seen during the evening at a restaurant.

After the lights inside the house went out, Christian said, Thompson threw a window, failed, then kicked in the door. Meanwhile, Christian said he was crouched outside, behind a barrel. Soon afterward he heard a gunshot as well as Christian testified that Sykes later returned to Meta, picked up his car and

Narcotics Taken In Two Breaks

Burglars hit area pharmacies again this week-end, continuing a year-long pattern of narcotics-related breaks.

The Herrin-Johnson Pharmacy on Court street here was struck by drug-stealing robbers Saturday night, leaving only one drug store or pharmacy in town to escape burglary during the past year.

Entry was gained into the pharmacy by climbing into a window on the block wall at the rear of the building. The thieves reportedly smashed the cabinet containing narcotics and made off with an estimated $400 to $500 in drugs as well as $100 in cash. As in a similar incident a week earlier at Reid's Pharmacy at Archer Memorial Clinic here, a hasty exit was apparently made as several tools and a jacket were left on the scene of Sunday night's break.

Judge To Ask State Support For Comp Care

The future of Mountain Comprehensive Care, which is currently fighting for existence, may become more clear after the meeting of area county judges today (Wednesday) with Governor Carroll and other state officials, it was said Monday.

The county officials are in Frankfort to urge upon the state the necessity of adequate funding and to argue the need for a full program for the multi-county mental health program.

A petition circulated here was gathering signatures of program supporters, and this will be transmitted to state officials, also.

Richard Stas, executive director of Mountain Comprehensive Care, said last week that the program was at that time threatened with the loss of between $500,000 and $1 million.

He added that, unless state support is forthcoming, such programs as the Greenhouse Project, day care centers, Help Line and services to alcoholics will be eliminated.

And, if that happens, the unemployment situation will worsen here with the layoff of Mountain Comprehensive personnel.

This Town...That World

Extol the virtues of Kentucky as much as we may, grow ecstatic about its beauties, get dreamy-eyed about its history and its romance if you must—but never, at this sneezin' season of the year, can you get away from the fact that the official flower of this commonwealth, huh, is the goldenrod.

SUBSCRIBER COMES CALLING
Our only subscriber who is paid up for life stopped by this week. In case you who have not read my earlier ruminations of that bargain we made, years ago, I add that it is James Morell, of San Angelo, Texas.

My friend stopped by to reminisce a bit and to remind me that he had had such difficulty in finding a motel room here that we may as well skip that poverty bit in future conversations with him. Before he left, he mentioned Lenna Moore, who for some years worked with him at Morell Hardware here, and he suggested that if I have an hour or so to spare, some holiday when there's no paper to get out, I might have Mr. Morell tell me of his experience with plums, or the by-product thereof.

I have a daughter in Texas, but it is James Morell who keeps me abreast of what is happening in, and being written about, that part of the country. It is friends such as he whose encouragement and charitable appraisal of our efforts that make it worthwhile sticking to this desk and missing a lot of the fishing that we does doing.

Judge Conley Explains Judicial Amendment

The Lackey-Garrett/Wayland Woman's Club held its first program meeting of the new club year September 15 in the Masonic recreation room at Wayland Circuit Judge Hollie Conley spoke on the proposed Kentucky Constitutional Amendment relating to the judicial branch of the government.

Judge Conley pointed out that under the current judicial system many cases are backlogged in court, sometimes for years, before coming to trial and being resolved. Under the proposed change trials would be speeded up considerably, and the state would finance the court system.

Briefly, Judge Conley outlined the changes to the Kentucky Constitution. The Court of Appeals would be changed to a Supreme Court and a new Appellate Court would be formed with 14 Justices instead of the present seven. Two members from each district would serve for a term of eight years. The new judge would be required to be an attorney. The proposed system would do away with the trying of cases by the county judge and magistrates.

The club went on record as approving the proposed amendment as explained by Judge Conley.

Prior to the arrival of Judge Conley, a business meeting was conducted by the president, Mrs. J. C. Wells, after the Pledge to the Flag led by Mrs. James E. Martin, the Club Collect by Mrs. Otto Martin, and devotions by Mrs. J. T. Spillman. During the session money-raising ideas were discussed by the group, with a letter being read by Mrs. Otto Martin from Mrs. Donald W. Dammer, KFWC president, concerning Bright of America. The Bicentennial Year and the trip to the national convention were discussed and each member was urged to try to attend and give the Seventh District candidate for the General Federation full support from her district. Following these discussions, a brief outline of the coming club programs was given by Mrs. Wells.

Hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Marcellous Dunfee, Mrs. Bobby Joe Castle, and Mrs. Don Hughes, who was also program leader. Attending were Mrs. Mervil Dixon, Mrs. Dorothy Haywood, Mrs. Billie Casile, Mrs. John Reed, Mrs. Bonnie Patton, guest, Mrs. Gene Mullins, Mrs. Joyce Stevens, Mrs. Lula Coburn, Mrs. Marcellous Dunfee, Mrs. Charles Collins, Mrs. James A. Duff, Mrs. Bobby Joe Castle, Mrs. Don Hughes, Mrs. J. T. Spillman, Mrs. M. M. Collins, Mrs. Eugene DeCoursey, Mrs. S. M. Martin, Mrs. Charles Scott, Mrs. J. C. Wells, Mrs. James E. Martin, and Mrs. Otto Martin.

Mrs. Patsy Collins and Mrs. Patsy Patton were accepted as new members of the club. The next meeting will be held October 6 at the home of Mrs. Hansel Bradley, Garrett.

Miss Johnson-Mr. Collins Wed

The marriage of Miss Betsy Sue Johnson and Larry W. Collins was solemnized in a candlelight ceremony June 7, at 2 p.m. at the Irene Cole Memorial Baptist Church. The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Johnson, of Prestonsburg, and the groom is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Edward Collins, also of Prestonsburg.

The double-ring vows were read by the Rev. Clifford Austin before an altar decorated with pastel carnations and branched candelabra, lighting lighted tapers. A program of musical selections was presented by Mrs. Chalmers Frazier, organist, and included "A Time For Us" and the traditional wedding march.

The bride, given in marriage by her father, chose for her wedding a floor-length gown of white imported chantilly lace fashioned by the House of Angela in southern belle styling over white slipper satin with a sash and neckline embroidered with iridescent sequins and baby pearls, wrist-length sleeves with lily pointed cuffs, and a flowing tiered skirt ending in a tier on tier chapel train. Miss Johnson's cathedral-length veil of tulle and tulle, fashioned of silk french net was attached to a pleated turban of white satin and chantilly lace trimmed with baby pearls and sequins. She carried a cascading bouquet of baby blue and misty pink carnations with white satin streamers tied with stephanotis and pomosa ending at the hem of her wedding dress.

Billie Lafferty Sheppard, maid of honor, wore a baby blue floor-length dress of french voile with an empire waist, scooped neckline, short puffed sleeves and a flowing full skirt. The dress was bordered with cluny lace accentuating the blue and white dotted swiss ruffled cuffs and hemline, with matching lace on the bodice. She wore a picture hat of horsehair braid with floor-length voile streamers. The bridesmaids were Carolyn Cline, Brenda Collins, sister of the bride, Linda Johnson, sister of the bride. They wore identical dresses and carried matching bouquets of carnations similar to that of the bride. The flower girl, Judy Hedrick, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Norman Hedrick, wore a similar dress of pink with a hat like that of the maid of honor. She carried a white lace flower basket with pink, blue, and white carnations.

Mr. Troy Collins served as Mr. Collins' best man. Jerry Fannin, John White, and Eddie Collins, brothers of the groom, served as groomsmen and tapers. Mrs. Johnson, mother of the bride, wore a floor-length gown of pink lace and polyester chiffon. Her flowers were white orchids. The mother of the groom chose a floor-length azure blue polyester dress, with a corsage of white orchids.

Miss Jennifer DeRossett presided at the guest register. The reception followed in the church annex.

LETTERS To the Editor

For Mountain Camp Care

If you believe in miracles, then have a look at your Mountain Comprehensive Care Center. It is near at hand for all in this area. A toll-free telephone call will answer your question.

When you touch on suicide, accident, crime and disaster, you need a sane and rational people need help. A program of this nature in your midst cannot be measured in dollars and cents.

Our Kentucky state government has seen fit to establish such a unit with matching federal funds. To now restrict or cut back funds for this service, will allow disorder to take root.

Like a garden, our nation is growing. To reap a harvest, we must weed disorder and its seeds with care and sustenance as the need arises.

Herein I speak of Mountain Comprehensive Care for Pike, Floyd, Johnson, Martin and Magoffin counties.

On Power Bills

I have been living here for 30 years and my electric bill usually ran from $65 to $80 in the past. For two months, July and August, $100 extra was added to each of these bills. Who got the extra $200? I tried to find out but the Buck was passed.

SUSPENSIONS LINKED TO RACE PATTERNS

The Office of Civil Rights of the U. S. Department of Health, Education and Welfare has been conducting a study of suspensions are widespread in virtually every school system in the nation, with blacks bearing a disproportionate share of the punishment. HEW officials say that further investigation is needed to determine whether the pattern is the result of discrimination on the basis of race or class, or whether minority students are indeed more frequent offenders.

A recent study by the Department of Education and Human Resources showed that, in Kentucky, 17,413 student suspensions were reported for the 1973-74 school year. Over 90 percent of the suspensions were for behavior that is unacceptable, such as cutting school, cutting class, teacher disrespect, class interference and similar incidents.

WEEKSBURY NEWS

CRAFTSMEN CLUB MEETS
The Craftsmen Club met at the Weeksbury Community Center in an unscheduled session September 22 to welcome new visitors who included Karen Thornsberry who learned needlepoint and stitched a Bargello "Flame Stitch" cushion; Keith Newsome, who rolled yarn to start a punch and pull rug; Gary Thornsberry, who displayed his talent by drawing a pattern onto a rug canvas to be worked with yarn; and Hester Johnson, who visited to observe crafts currently in progress. Kate Collins Newsome, coordinator of the club, spent a day in Lexington scouting for craft supplies. She finished a punch & pull rug at the craft meeting. Club meetings are held twice a month at the Weeksbury Community Center on Mondays at 5 p.m. The next meeting of the club will be October 13 at 5 p.m. All persons interested in handicrafts are invited to attend meetings.

Fire Dept. Needs Spur Activities

What to do with some of the scraps? Why make a quilt, of course and that's what Patsy Murphy (left), Sybil Bentley (lower right) and Mae Cox (upper right) are doing.

By NOVELLA F. FROMAN Development Assistant

A rummage sale lasting practically a month and raising practically six hundred dollars? This is exactly what women supporting the Wayland Area Volunteer Fire Department have been doing. And that is not all. Along with this they have helped with a bake sale (app. $120) they are quilting quilts to sell, have helped with selling concessions at a softball tournament (app. $200) which was co-sponsored by the Tri-Community Development Club. They have had a soup-bean dinner and plan helping with a Halloween carnival which is sponsored by the Fire Department and the Tri-Community Development Club.

Why are these women willing to give as much as six to eight hours a day for a month? Mrs. Lola Hall expressed her reason when she said, "We need a fire truck so desperately and I've really enjoyed doing the work." Elmer Morrison, fire chief, said he had been working for 10 years to get a fire truck after seeing the destruction that fire can do. He also said that the fire insurance companies were ready to pull out of the community.

So, what can you do? Come and help with the fund raising activities and attend the Development Club Meetings.

Every 11 Hours Kentucky Roads Claim a Victim

FRANKFORT, Ky.—One person died in an auto accident every 11 hours and one minute in Kentucky last year. And someone was injured every 18 minutes and 28 seconds.

Even though Kentucky's highway death toll declined 30 per cent last year—from 1,117 in 1973 to 795—two deaths per day still amounts to a "tragic statistic," as Gov. Julian Carroll phrased it in a printed forward to the just-published booklet, "Kentucky Fatal Accident Facts—1974."

According to C. I. MacGillivray, director of the division of statewide transportation systems planning in the Kentucky Department of Transportation, which compiled the report, other findings also included such facts as:

- Speeding and/or alcohol were leading factors in 45 per cent of Kentucky's fatal accidents in 1974.
-The hour between 4 p.m. and 5 p.m. had the highest number of fatalities.
-The highest number of fatal accidents occurred on Saturdays.
-Fifty-two per cent of the drivers involved in fatal accidents were under the age of 25.
-The booklet also points out that the interstate highway system in Kentucky had a lower fatality rate when compared with other types of roads. Rural secondary roads were the scene of most of the fatal accidents.

MAY SEPARATE COUPLES

An Attorney General's opinion holds that a school board may adopt a policy prohibiting a teacher and spouse from teaching in the same building, such a policy being a legitimate exercise of the power of the school board.

Kinzer Wins Cycle Hill Climb

Threatening weather resulted in a disappointing crowd and a financial loss for the sponsoring Floyd County Emergency & Rescue Squad, but the annual Jenny Wiley Professional Hill Climb held Sunday at Stratton Branch lived up to spectator expectations.

Terry Kinzer, of Allen, won the event, which was sanctioned by the American Motorcycle Association, defeating 20 crack riders from Kentucky, Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York and other states. Kinzer's victory added to his year's record sufficient points to guarantee him the U. S. hill-climb title for 1975. Within two weeks he will go to Canada for an event which could win him the Canadian championship. The purse was $1,300.

Cats Lose Heartbreaker, 13-12 Wheelwright Downs Lewis County

By C. OLLIE ROBINSON
The Prestonsburg Blackcats suffered a heartbreaking 13-12 loss to the Russell Red Devils here Friday night, while the Wheelwright Trojans picked up win No. 2, defeating Lewis County, 23-0.

The Blackcats got on the scoreboard in the first quarter on a 17-yard run by Thomas Stone. The try for extra points failed, however. Russell tied the ball game at 6 all in the second quarter on a 53-yard pass play from quarterback Coizer to Lyons. The kick failed and at halftime the score was knotted. In the third quarter the Red Devils went out in front by a score of 13-6 on a three-yard Coizer to Gibson pass and the kick for the extra point.

Just minutes after that score, the Red Devils had another opportunity when they blocked a punt and received the ball at the Blackcat 27. On the second play from there, however, Kenneth Joseph picked off a Coizer pass at the 20 to end the threat.

Near the end of the third quarter, Prestonsburg put together a nine-play, 52-yard drive that led to a first and goal at the seven-yard line. This was where Russell's game-winning goal line stand came. Dixon cracked for one yard, Kerry Stone for one and Goebel tried an end run that netted only one. On the fourth down play, Dixon tried the pass, but Gibson batted it down at the goal line to give Russell the ball with eight minutes left to play.

Prestonsburg got the ball back on a punt with 2:50 left in the game, and Dixon went to work. After Kerry Stone rolled for 15, Dixon hit Patrick for a 10-yard gain, then bolted around right end for 28 yards and a first down at the 94. The Cats advanced the ball to the 24, from which point Dixon passed to Patrick in the end zone. The try for the winning extra point run failed when Goebel was nailed behind the line of scrimmage.

Goebel handled most of the ball-carrying chores when Prestonsburg was forced to go on the ground. The junior halfback finished with 57 yards on 15 carries.

Dixon carried the ball seven times for 54 yards, including a 28-yarder that set up his team's last score.

Wheelwright broke open a scoreless game with two touchdowns in the third quarter. Dewey Jamerson got Wheelwright on the board with a one-yard run, and Darren Little made it a 13-0 game later in the third period on another one-yard plunge. A 30-yard aerial from quarterback Joe Tackett to Sheldon Berger in the fourth quarter completed the scoring for Wheelwright.

Ricky Thornsbury, who ran a two-point conversion following the last TD, led Wheelwright with 154 yards on 13 carries. Quarterback Aaron Poitner was the main weapon for Lewis County (1-5) by completing nine of 22 passes for 62 yards.

PORCH SALE

A rummage sale will be held Thursday, Friday and Saturday on the porch of the Bill Pettit house on Lake Drive (stone house next to Whitten parking lot). It

It Happened at Wheelwright

A funny thing happened on Dewey Jamerson's way to the opponent's goal line, last Friday night.

Young Jamerson had run 20-30 yards down the sideline and apparently was on his way for 70 yards and a Wheelwright touchdown over visiting Lewis County when a former Wheelwright player tackled him.

It wouldn't have been so funny, had Wheelwright lost. But loss of the touch down was of little importance, since the Trojans won, 21 to 0.

At that, the incident was funny at the time, since the game at the moment, near the end of the first half, was scoreless.

When the incident occurred, Wheelwright Coach Don Daniels said, the 205-pound Jamerson arose from the turf and looked about him as if to say, "Who hit me?" Young Jamerson is a son of Wilbur "Shorty" Jamerson, Wheelwright principal and former University of Kentucky star halfback.

Of the incident Bob White reported in The Courier-Journal:

"I grabbed the man first, then Shorty grabbed him and threw him out." Daniels said, "but he came back in the second half and stood in the end zone. The police then removed him permanently and took him to jail."

Paul Osborne, deputy jailer at the Floyd county jail, identified the spectator as Harry Gordon Johnson, of Melvin Osborne said Jamerson was charged with public intoxication.

"He's an ex-Wheelwright player," Osborne said. "I played with him at Wheelwright." Osborne listed Johnson's age at "about 28." He said that no further charges had been brought against Johnson "at this time" and that he was released on bond.

Asked if Johnson had discussed the incident, Osborne jokingly replied, "Yes, he said he made a mistake. He tackled a man from the wrong team."

Daniels said young Jamerson laughed about the incident after the game. "Of course, we had won then," Daniels said. "Dewey said the spectator was the best defensive player Lewis County had."

The Wheelwright coach said that the older Jamerson would get a decision from the Floyd County Board of Education later in the week on what action the school would take in the matter.

The "shame" of it all, Daniels said, "is how just anyone can stand along the sidelines next to our bench. We don't have bleachers and the fence around the field is halfway torn down. For three years, we played all our games away from home because we didn't have lights at our field."

The incident Friday "is the way our luck has been going all year," Daniels said. "We've got a 2-3 record, but we could easily be unbeaten."

Basketball Rules Stressed at Clinic Held Here Recently

Fifty-five basketball officials, coaches, timekeepers, and scorers participated in a five-day basketball clinic held here recently under the joint sponsorship of the Kentucky High School Athletic Association and KEDR XI. Meetings were held under the direction of Ed Rister, assigning secretary for the region. The theme of the clinic was "Basketball by the Rules" and each two-hour clinic session featured discussion of two of the ten rules. Also featured were films dealing with basketball officiating. Reo Johns, executive director, KEDR XI, addressed the opening session on September 15. On September 16, Wilburn "Shorty" Jamerson, principal of Wheelwright High School, spoke to the group on "The Role of the High School Principal and KHSAA." Gordon Moore, sports columnist and supervisor of Floyd County Schools, spoke September 20 concerning "Athletics and the Public."

"I feel that this meeting is one of the most significant things we have sponsored," Johns said. "Athletics are a part of our school program and we were happy to work with Mr. Rister and all the fine people who participated in the clinic." Johns also said that the purpose of the clinic was to keep officials and others who work with athletics informed as to rules and rule changes in order to promote a better athletic program in the schools, and to prevent disturbances at athletic events. Larry Jervis, Region XI circulation consultant, coordinated clinic activities.

Final Plan Told For Title XX

The Department for Human Resources (DHR) has announced its final plan for a statewide, nine-month social service program, with only a small number of changes from the original plan published July 3.

A new federal law covering these social service programs goes into effect today (Oct. 1) with corresponding programs beginning the same day.

Known as Title XX of the Social Security Act, it covers a broad range of services to individuals and families. In Kentucky it will be administered by the Bureau for Social Services.

Public comments, an internal review of the proposed plan and final federal regulations have resulted in revised estimated costs of some services, the deletion of one program and changes in day care fees and eligibility criteria.

The final plan, to be published this week, reflects increased projected expenditure for the following programs: alcohol abuse prevention, day care for children, day training, emergency shelter and group homes.

Consequently, estimated costs for the following program have been decreased: adult activities, day training, drug abuse prevention, family counseling, family planning and investigation of abuse, neglect and/or exploitation.

Home-delivered meals services will not be funded under Title XX because it is not a statewide program and services provided under this year's plan must be generally available throughout the state. However, other sources of funding for this service are being explored so that it can be continued.

The new statewide day care fee schedule was revised and the program's eligibility qualifications have been expanded to include more families.

In compliance with the new law, DHR prepared a services plan covering a nine-month period, which was publicly reviewed for 45 days.

This nine-month period results from a change in the federal government's fiscal year.

During this nine-month period, there will be changes from existing services, said DHR Secretary C. Leslie Dawson.

Dawson added that funding levels for social services programs will not change during this period because at the federal level there will be merely a shift of funding from former sources to new sources.

At the state level, the department will continue to operate under the budget set by the 1974 legislature. This cannot be changed until the 1976 session in January. All matchable federal funds are being spent at present.

"Changes will begin in the next full year of planning," said Dawson.

He also noted that Title XX does not include all sources of federal funds for the social services program, such as the Older Americans Act, Title 4B of the Social Services Act and state funds.

Other services included in the plan are: Adoptions, alternative care, counseling for emotionally disturbed children, counseling for veterans, their dependents and/or survivors, day care for adults, education and training information and referral, employment related activities, foster care, health-related activities, home management, homemaking, housing and home improvement counseling, juvenile services, maternity home care, recreation related activities, residential treatment, individual social services planning, shelter workshops, information and referral.

Every Kentuckian meeting certain income limitations, as well as all those already eligible for aid to families with dependent children (AFDC) or supplemental security income (SSI), can receive within limitations of the budget any of the services offered under the new act.

Consumer Comments

By EDNA HANCOCK
(Attorney General)

Are you a new graduate working at your first job? Have you lately moved to a new town? Or are you recently divorced or widowed? The answer is yes to any of these questions, you may need to know how to establish credit. Where does one start?

The first step is opening a checking and savings account in your name. This is the best way to develop wise saving and spending habits. Also, maintenance of these accounts may be considered when credit is granted in the future.

With over 300 million credit cards in circulation, chances are that you will want to have some charge cards. Start with a local department or specialty store. They may be willing to extend a limited amount of credit. When you have shown your ability to develop wise saving and spending habits, this limit can be increased to cover larger purchases.

At your local bank or through your credit union at work, you may want to borrow a small amount of money. Through prompt, regular payments on the loan, you are exhibiting your ability and willingness to pay.

As you build a credit reputation, you are establishing your "line of credit" at the bank. "Line of credit" is the maximum amount the bank will permit you to borrow against your account. As your credit history lengthens, this should increase. Check with your banker. This may be important later, if you apply for a loan or mortgage on larger purchases.

Don't forget that if you want a good credit rating, it must be in your name. Transactions under parents' or spouse's names do not record your ability and willingness to pay.

If you have a question regarding credit or a consumer complaint, write to the Attorney General, Division of Consumer Protection, The Capitol Room 34, Frankfort, Ky. 40601. Kentucky consumers may call toll free on the consumer hotline by dialing 1-800-372-2960.

Maytown Homecoming Plans Are Announced

The Maytown Homecoming for 1976 will be held July 23-25, next year, and Maytownites everywhere are reminded now to mark their calendars. Board of directors of the Maytown Homecoming Association met recently to consider suggestions and plans, appoint committees, etc. Soliciting of ads for the Maytown Homecoming Booklet will start soon. Alumni and other Maytown people residing outside Floyd County are requested to mail any change of address at once to the Association, Langley, 11545. Letters of invitation will go only to those outside this county. Due to high postage, there will be only one letter this time.

Hundreds attended the gala event in 1968 and 1971, and a record-breaking crowd is expected for 1976 because of the Bicentennial. Personal items for the news letter and suggestions as to programs should be mailed the Association soon. Members of various high school classes are reminded to contact old classmates themselves.

REVIVAL STARTS SATURDAY AT BETSY LAYNE CHURCH

Revival services will be conducted at the Calvary Baptist Church at Betsy Layne by the Rev. Lincoln Bingham, evangelist, beginning Monday, October 6, through Sunday, October 12. The Rev. Dan Hentzelman will be song leader. These services will begin at 7 o'clock each evening and the pastor, Rev. Cohen Campbell, extended an invitation to the public to attend.

Burning debris was the leading cause of forest fires in Kentucky last year. Smoking or matches was the second most common cause of forest fires. Fires that were deliberately set ranked third.

To the Voters of Martin, Ky. On Sept. 24th I, James "Jack" Conley, candidate for Mayor, called a get-together of the candidates for the City Council on the Open Book party to explain my intentions if elected mayor of Martin. I, James Jack Conley, made to them the following statements: A clean-up project for all of the town, east and west, north and south. To retain Mr. Lester as city police. A pledge to the youth that they will not be mistreated by any law-enforcement officer within the city limits. The elderly will be respected. A pledge to try to save our town. A pledge to try to improve the town. A pledge to protect our town. A pledge to fight for our schools, our businesses, our jobs, churches and our rights. No one will be discriminated against by me, my board or the police department. As for flood control, I hereby state: It is all of our duties as citizens of Martin to fight, to devote our time, our efforts, our money, our land, our sweat, our toil. It takes money to buy easement rights from the ones who do not donate their land. The town has to pay for those rights. Believe me, they come high. If every one comes forward with their efforts, I will fight with them, tooth and toenail. I cannot promise flood control without help. I promise nothing I cannot keep. If elected, I will be a Mayor of Action. Action Speaks Louder Than Promises. My board members, who are in agreement with my intentions, have signed this statement: GLENN C. PATRICK WHEELER D. The Work of the Church

Fred Somebody, Thomas Everybody, Peter Anybody, and Joe Nobody were neighbors but they were not like you and me. They were odd people and most difficult to understand. The way they lived was a shame. All four belonged to the same church, but you would not have enjoyed worshipping with them. EVERYBODY went fishing on Sunday or stayed home to visit with friends. ANYBODY wanted to worship but was afraid SOMEBODY wouldn't speak to him. So guess who went to church—uh, huh, NOBODY. Really, NOBODY was the only decent one of the four. NOBODY did the visitation. NOBODY worked on the church building. Once they needed a Sunday school teacher, EVERYBODY thought ANYBODY would do it. And you know who did it? That's exactly right, NOBODY!

It happened that a fifth neighbor (an unbeliever) moved into the area. EVERYBODY thought SOMEBODY should try to win him for Christ. ANYBODY could have made an effort. You probably know who finally won him: NOBODY! This little parable brings to focus again the fact that each of us is personally responsible for God's work. If we leave it for somebody or everybody or anybody, nobody will do it. Let's work till Jesus comes! (Submitted by Mary Jenkins)

Carroll and Gable Agree On Judicial Change Needs

Gubernatorial candidates Governor Julian Carroll and Robert Gable last week issued a joint endorsement of the proposed amendment to the Judicial Article of the Kentucky Constitution, thereby removing it as an issue in this year's campaign.

In a statement released by Wilson Wyatt, Sr., chairman of the Kentuckians for Modern Courts Committee, Carroll and Gable said "as candidates for Governor of the State of Kentucky, we recognize the importance of improving the court system in Kentucky. Therefore, we endorse and support the proposal to amend the Judicial Article of the Kentucky Constitution. We urge all Kentuckians to vote 'yes' on November 4th for swift, efficient and economical administration of justice from the highest to the lowest courts.

Commenting on the endorsement, Chief Justice Scott Reed, of the Kentucky Court of Appeals, said "The need for the renovation and overhaul of our court system in Kentucky is critical. This statement by the candidates of the two leading political parties is, in my judgement, an act of responsible leadership in the highest tradition of our heritage. The removal of our court system from the arena of partisan politics is long overdue. This progressive action by the nominees for Governor should be appreciated by the citizens of this state."

Justification of a Kentucky Court of Justice composed of Supreme Court as the court of last resort in the state, an intermediate court of Appeals, circuit courts, and district courts.

Kentucky's present court system includes a Court of Appeals, circuit courts, and over 1,000 lower courts.

According to Wyatt other major changes included in the amendment are the requirements that all judges within the court of Justice be licensed attorneys to be elected on a nonpartisan ballot and that funding for the courts shall come from the state treasury.

The amendment would establish a Retirement and Removal Commission which, after review by the Kentucky Supreme Court, could remove "for good cause shown" judicial officers of the Court of Justice. It will also create a Judicial Nominating Commission to screen applicants for judicial vacancies resulting from death, resignation or other causes by submitting a list of three candidates for the position from which the Governor will choose.

The present means of removing judges is through impeachment by the General Assembly. The Governor now fills vacancies at his discretion.

Kentucky has operated under its present court system since 1891.

The proposed amendment calls for the

"When God wants to do anything, He prepares for it by sending a little baby into the world."

Every time we see a newborn baby we should recall this above statement to mind.

God wanted to abolish slavery, so He sent a little babe to a Kentucky cabin—the great Abraham Lincoln. When God wanted the light of civilization to shine in darkest Africa, He sent a baby to a Scottish home; this child was David Livingstone.

The list of great people could go on and on—the many who seemed destined to make the world a better place to live. They say we now have 200 million people in the United States. Out of this vast number of individuals, surely great tasks lie ahead for many.

OUR THOUGHT TO REMEMBER: "The world is made better by individuals with a purpose."

CHURCH AUXILIARY MEETS

The Woman's Auxiliary of the Boldman Freewill Baptist Church met recently with Patsy Maynard, president, Phyllis Johnson and Lorraine Layne were in charge of devotions. Betty Phillips led the group in singing.

Anyone who took part in the program which involved matching African terms and phrases to their English counterparts. This was an added feature to the regular program for the evening, a study of Ivory Coast, living conditions, religion and culture, written by Mrs. Judy Bryan, one of many Freewill Baptist missionaries in that area.

Following the program, reports were heard from the various projects under way to raise funds for new, choir loft for the church. The three pewers are to be the auxiliary's gift of appreciation to the church in honor of the new sanctuary presently being constructed. New projects for this purpose were initiated during the meeting, and gratitude expressed to all the women of the church who have contributed so much to this effort, even though many are unable to take an active part in auxiliary work.

A report was read from the July State Association meeting, disclosing the names of missionaries whose work will be supported by the Boldman Auxiliary during the coming year. They were Mr. and Mrs. Sunny Werning, Sharon Roberts and Don and Billie Sexton, local Eastern Kentuckians, who are missionaries to France. Annabelle Puckett, who supplied the report, also announced a workshop for all interested auxiliary members and officers, to be held at the Louisa church, October 20, at 7:30 p.m.

Refreshments were provided by Belle Conn and Betty Phillips. Those attending were Patsy Maynard, Ethel Irick, Belle Conn, Lorraine Layne, Annabelle Puckett, Bobbie Phillips, Phyllis Johnson, Delcie Scalf, Betty Phillips, Carol Justice and Debbie Bradley.

Famous Birds of Literature

Birds have inspired the gifted writers to pen some of the greatest poems of the English language. In this series, I shall discuss many of these.

1. THE ALBATROSS This is the greatest of all sea birds, with a wing span of 12 feet, a body up to two and a half feet long, webbed feet like a goose, a long bill that curves down sharply at the end.

The slaughter of an albatross and the great disaster this brought about inspired Coleridge to write "Rime of the Ancient Mariner," which is called "the first great poem of the English language."

In olden days, sailors had a superstitious awe of the albatross and ascribed to it almost supernatural powers. This great bird followed their ships for days and could seemingly float along without any apparent movement of its long wings. The albatross lives in the sea and at night it sleeps on an ocean wave, "rocked in the cradle of the deep."

The purpose of Coleridge's great epic poem was to teach the danger of slaying any of God's innocent creatures. As you may recall, the ancient mariner shot the albatross with his crossbow and it fell lifeless into the sea. Immediately, the ship ceased to move and became "as if a painted ship upon a painted ocean." So there the crew was stuck in the midst of the sea, with no water to drink. "Water, water, everywhere, nor any drop to drink." Raw sea water is deadly to drink.

At last when relief came, the men shouted joy, the ancient mariner's tongue was loosed from his parched throat and he prayed all of God's creatures, even the water snakes, looked fine to him. The theme of this great epic is summed up in this often-quoted verse:

"He prayeth best, who loveth best
All creatures both great and small,
For the dear God who loveth us,
He made and loveth all."

2. THE SKYLARK The famed English

Drivers Return To Old Speeds

Frankfort, Ky.—Kentucky motorists have "sped up considerably," since Kentucky adopted the 55 mile per hour speed limit a year and a half ago, according to a state police official.

Col. James H. Mayes, director of administration and services for the state police, said most vehicles appear to be traveling about the same speeds they were before the slower speed limit was put into effect.

In December 1973, autos averaged 54.3 m.p.h., while trucks averaged 60.7, state police said.

In March 1974, when the 55 m.p.h. speed limit took effect, cars were averaging 55.9 m.p.h., while trucks were doing an average of 53.8.

However, by March of this year, both cars and trucks were back in the 50-60 m.p.h. range, Mayes said.

A motorist driving along Interstate 64 between Lexington and Louisville at the posted speed limit begins to feel singularly alone. During normal traffic load on a recent week day, a car doing 55 m.p.h. was passed by all cars and trucks using the highway in the course of an hour, including heavy three-axle vehicles, which even passed going up hills.

An 89-year-old Lexington woman who used to enjoy being chauffeured to Cincinnati several times a month, said she can't stand to take the trip anymore because it's just too slow and boring.

"I don't think I save that much more gas by going 55 rather than 60."

Although speeds have gradually increased, the number of speeding tickets has apparently stayed about the same.

In February 1974, police issued 3,140 speeding tickets. When the changeover to slower speed limits occurred the next month, police issued 11,081 tickets.

In March 1975, however, police issued about the same number of 11,028 tickets, although the average speeds of vehicles had steadily increased.

Average salaries for white-collar occupations in the private sector climbed 9.6 percent during the year ended March 31, the U. S. Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported.

skylark is a sparrow size bird of the English country side. It inspired Shelley to pen one of the most beautiful lyrics of English literature. This rare bird cannot live and thrive in any other place except the grassy fields of England. It is a bird of great mystery and one that baffles bird lovers, who have tried unsuccessfully to get it to thrive in the New England states. The skylarks were brought over here and for a time they seemed to thrive in their new home. But after a time they began to decline and gradually they all died out. Some think they may have died of homesickness for their native England.

The English skylark builds its nest in grassy places, always on the ground. Every spring morning, it suddenly flies up out of the grass, showing the countryside with a loud burst of ethereal melody. As it sings, it flies up, almost straight up, heading for the deep blue yonder, and as it flies, it keeps on singing ever louder, wilder, clearer, until its song seems like a choir of heavenly singers hovering in a cloud. The bird keeps on going higher, ever higher, until it is lost from human eyesight. At length, it begins to descend, singing as it comes down, never stopping until it lands at its nest. Small wonder such an ethereal songster inspired some of the finest poetry in the English language. Shelley often arose early and walked out to listen to the skylark's song. The most often quoted verse of his great lyrics is this one:

"We look before and after,
And pine for what is not;
Our sincerest laughter
With some pain is fraught;
Our sweetest songs are those
That tell of saddest thought."

Attorney General's Opinions

In response to an inquiry by Kenneth A. Howe Jr., general counsel for the state Department for Human Resources (DHR), the Attorney General's office gave the opinion that the DHR secretary must submit to a newspaper the names of doctors and the amounts received by them under the Medicaid programs for the years 1974-75. This opinion is based on the assumption that the requested data is required to be kept by DHR, making them public records.

J. J. McCarthy, a Louisville attorney, asked if the $1000 limit on contributions to a political campaign applies to the candidate and whether or not a contributor can give the maximum amount to both a candidate's primary and general elections. In response to the questions, the Attorney General's office said the limit would not apply to the candidate himself and that a contributor may give the maximum amount to both the primary and general elections.

Bremer Ebeler, county clerk of Jefferson county, asked if a used motor vehicle acquired by a dealer should be transferred into his name before resale. It is the opinion of the Attorney General's office that law requires the vehicle be in the dealer's name before resale.

Charlie Wright, Letcher county court clerk, says that a candidate for public office withdrew from the race just before the primary. He was the only candidate and no other name appeared on the ballot. The Democratic Executive Committee later selected a person to fill the vacancy for the general election. However, the original candidate later withdrew his resignation and Wright wished to know if this were legal. The opinion of the office of the Attorney General is that the withdrawal of the resignation should be disregarded.

DONNA J. GRIFFITH
Health Educator

A nurse from the Floyd County Health Department will conduct an outpatient clinic at the Beaver Valley Clinic, Martin, Monday, Oct. 6. Clinic hours will be from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., with immunizations, TB skin tests, diabetes screening, blood pressures and pap smears given free of charge.

The Health Department reminds all Floyd counties that October is Immunization Action Month—a good time to see that everyone in your family is fully protected. Children should be immunized against polio, diphtheria, tetanus, whooping cough, measles, mumps and rubella. Adults should have diphtheria-tetanus shots every 10 years.

The University of Kentucky Medical Center, Department of Neurology, will conduct a regional neurology clinic, Wednesday, October 8 at the Floyd County Health Department from 12:30 p.m. till 4:30 p.m. Any patient who wishes to see a Neurologist at this clinic must be referred by a physician and must be under 21 years of age.

If you are interested in being referred to this clinic, contact your private physician so that he can make an appointment for you.

The Health Department will conduct a glaucoma clinic from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m. Glaucoma is the cause of one out of every eight cases of blindness in the United States. It causes blindness slowly and painlessly, then giving no warning signs. This disease most frequently occurs in persons over 35.

The best way to prevent glaucoma is to be tested every two years. The Health Department urges all persons over 35 to take advantage of this free glaucoma screening clinic. Glaucoma can be controlled by early detection and treatment.

Assemblies of God Hold General Council In Denver, Colorado

The 36th biennial General Council ended after making decisions concerning fellowship policies, officers and organizational structure.

A highlight of the council was a mass rally held at Colorado's Red Rocks Amphitheater. The largest crowd ever to gather in the amphitheater met to launch the Assemblies of God participation in the nation's bicentennial activities. Police reported that 16,000 gathered in the amphitheater which had seating for 9,000 to 10,000. Approximately 20,000 gathered in the Red Rocks area during the rally, and several thousand more were turned away.

The Red Rocks bicentennial rally featured such nationally known musicians as Ralph Carmichael, John Hall, the Hawaiians and Dina Kartsonakis. More than 2,000 balloons with Gospel tracts attached were launched as Assemblies of God General Supernaturalists F. Zimmerman read a bicentennial proclamation.

A missions emphasis during the rally featured a presentation of Assemblies of God missionaries representing the 95 different nations which fellowship was one of the first denominations to promote the concept of the indigenous church in missions, the Assemblies of God now has 1,128 missionaries appointed to foreign fields. During its annual School of Missions in Springfield, Missouri, last June, it also commissioned nearly 70 new missionary candidates. An offering totaling almost $30,000 was taken up at the Red Rocks rally to be applied to the financial accounts of new missionaries.

At business sessions held during the council, delegates heard reports indicating a 10.6 percent growth in the church fellowship during the biennium just concluded.

While American church membership in general declined slightly last year (as reported in the 1975 Yearbook of American and Canadian Churches), Assemblies of God membership continued to grow and hit an all-time high in membership gain.

A gain of 75,277 members in the past two years has brought total membership in Assemblies of God churches in this country to 285,348 according to the reports.

Delegates to the 36th General Council were told that the Assemblies of God now has 19,478 ministers. The net gain for the biennium is 503 ordained ministers and 448 licensed ministers.

The net gain of 148 new Assemblies of God churches in the past two years has raised the total number of churches in the United States to 9,019. Sunday School enrollment now is 1,239,197.

Assemblies of God membership growth outside the United States has continued and the total number of members and adherents overseas is now over 4,000,000.

Worldwide Assemblies of God membership totals almost six million, making the Assemblies of God the largest of the world's pentecostal denominations. Its missionaries are active in 85 countries.

A new ministry premiered at the council is the television series entitled, "Turning Point." A total of almost $100,000 was pledged in one of the business sessions to finance the television ministry.

There are two Assemblies of God churches in Floyd county. The West Prestonsburg Assembly is pastored by Henry Wright and the church at Martin, has Lorie Vannucci as pastor. They invite you to visit their churches this weekend.

Japan Buying 5 Million Tons Of Coal From Island Creek Co.

(Licking Valley Courier)

Occidental Petroleum Corp. announced in Los Angeles Tuesday that its subsidiary, Island Creek Coal Co. of Lexington, had signed an agreement with seven Japanese companies to ship them 1,660,000 tons of Appalachian coal annually for three years.

Occidental officials said the agreement would be worth about $300 million to the company.

Over a three-year period, Island Creek is to ship a total of 4,980,000 tons of coal to seven Japanese companies. Five of these steel companies. At a gross price of $101 million, this means that Island Creek is receiving about $60 a ton for the coal.

Since most of the coal is to go to steel firms in Japan, it is presumed that all the coal will be high grade metallurgical coal, the kind that commands highest prices.

Island Creek, headquartered in Lexington since 1973, operates mines in Eastern Kentucky, West Virginia, and Virginia, and is building a mining supply center in Johnson county.

Head of Island Creek is Albert Gore, former U. S. Senator from Tennessee. Gore made a business trip to Japan early last year, and upon his return he announced the firm would build a five-story office building outside of Lexington as headquarters for the firm. Later he announced plans to build a shop and mining supply center near Paintsville.

In other Appalachian coal news, Falcon Seaboard, Inc., of Houston, said this week it had agreed to merge its Falcon Coal Co. of Breathitt county, with Mapeo, Inc., of Tulsa, Okla.

Falcon is the largest strip-mining company operating in Eastern Kentucky. It came to Eastern Kentucky in 1970 when it bought up the coal holdings of Hazard operators W. B. Staggill and Richard Kelly for about $10 million. Falcon's headquarters is in Lexington and its strip-mining operations in Breathitt county.

Falcon's Breathitt production is sold on long-term contracts to TVA and Detroit Edison. The firm produced 3,022,000 tons of coal last year.

Mapeo, which had been operating in Western Kentucky, moved into Eastern Kentucky last year and opened both deep mining and strip mining operations in Martin county. Mapeo officials said it hopes its Martin county operations will produce 4.4 million tons annually by 1978.

Pee Wee Writes of Diz

Pee Wee Reese pays a heartfelt tribute to the late Dixie Dean in the October Reader's Digest. "Finally in Dean's language! for six years broadcasting ball games for CBS, Reese, the former Brooklyn Dodger and Dean, the onetime St. Louis Cardinal, formed a friendship even stronger than their alliance as commentators."

Pee Wee recalls not only Dean's picturesque, straightforward vocabulary, but of "Dixie's disarming and compassionate nature. He tells the story of Dean's visit to a children's hospital in St. Louis, where a boy asked Dixie to strike out Giant star Bill Terry that day. "Three times 'Dixie tried, but failed.' Pee Wee writes: "Finally with the Cards clinging to a slim lead in the last inning, with two out and two Giants on base, darned if Dixie didn't walk a weaker hitter just to get another crack at Terry. And darned if he didn't fan him, too—on three pitches."

'Copter in First Use for Inspection

The recently purchased helicopter for the reclamation division of the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection flies over a Perry county strip-mining site. The helicopter is being used by the division's investigators and supervisors to supplement ground inspections of the mine operations.

By CHARLES WILLIAMS
A recently purchased helicopter was used for the first time Monday by the state division of reclamation in an effort to improve inspection of strip mine sites being reclaimed in Eastern and Western Kentucky.
Supervisory personnel of the agency, a division of the state Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, took the first inspection flight over surface mines in Perry county. The helicopter is a five passenger, 400 horsepower turbine powered aircraft purchased for the department at a cost of $194,000.
Officials of the department said the aircraft has been pressed into use because it has become impossible for inspectors in land vehicles to properly monitor all surface mine activities now underway in the state.
"It is difficult for the inspectors to make frequent visits and much of their working time is reduced in traveling to reclamation sites," according to Billy Lewis, commissioner of the department's bureau of land resources.

Aerial surveillance will give the inspectors a far better view of the mining sites. Also, Lewis said, the helicopter will help supervisors and department heads to determine whether or not the inspections are thorough because "now they can personally see each job."
Lewis said that without the helicopter at least 15 additional inspectors would have to be hired to keep pace with the increasing number of surface mines. "This would cost $400,000 each biennium and $100,000 to equip the new personnel, so the helicopter will more than pay for itself."
Joe Boggs, a reclamation supervisor in Eastern Kentucky, said the helicopter will definitely solve supervisors' biggest problem. "Our paperwork keeps us in the office much of the day," he said, "and our time to see that the inspections are being conducted correctly is limited. Now we can visit the sites frequently and be assured that the inspectors are consistent."

Within the next two months, radio equipment will be installed on the helicopter to allow communication between inspectors on the ground and those in the aircraft.
The helicopter will be used two days at a time for inspections in each of the five reclamation districts in the state. Each of the districts has an average of 100 strip mining operations and is staffed by one supervisor and an average of 12 inspectors.
Inspectors of the division of reclamation survey proposed strip-mining sites before applications to mine the areas are approved. The inspectors check the proposed sites before the permits are issued to assure that the mining operation will not create land slides, affect homes and that the mining job can be done according to state regulations. Once mining begins, the inspectors make trips to the site to check if the operation is meeting requirements. The inspector is responsible for the operation until the mining site has been mined and reclaimed.

The average household in the nation produces about seven pounds of solid waste each day.

UNICEF is the United Nations Children's Fund. It helps children who suffer from hunger, disease, poverty, and lack of education. Every year in the Halloween season, church groups and other youth organizations "trick or treat" for UNICEF. On an evening designated by the Mayor, these groups go door to door, asking for contributions. If anyone would like to help this year, as a club or individual, please contact Kay Brown or the First Methodist Church in Prestonsburg.

Post Offices Ask Complaints Voiced

A nationwide Consumer Service Program designed to improve and broaden the quality of mail service, effective October 1, has been announced by the U.S. Postal Service. All post offices across the nation are encouraging mail users to register problems they may have with their mail service.

At the core of the program is a consumer service card, through which problems are identified and which postal managers attempt to resolve. The Consumer Service Program reflects Postmaster General Benjamin F. Ballar's determination that mail services to the public will be "friendly, courteous and efficient, as well as speedy and reliable."

Customers are urged to take their inquiries and complaints to the attention of postal managers. If people feel their problems have not been properly handled, they should see the postmaster personally.

To make it easier for a customer to make a suggestion or complaint about postal service, the new consumer service card is available from letter carriers, and at post offices. The card is two postal cards with carbon paper between them. One copy goes to the postmaster so work can begin on the problem. The other goes to Postal Service Headquarters in Washington for cataloging and analysis.

Strip Mine Permits Slump Again

Frankfort, Ky.—Issuance of strip mine permits is decreasing during the early fall.

During the past 12 weeks, the division of reclamation in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection has issued an average of 24 permits a week. Compared to the 31 permits per week average during the late spring—April, May and June—the lower issuance indicates a declining coal market.

The slump began in July when a total of 106 permits were issued for the month. During the peak in June, 144 strip mine permits were issued.

Kenneth Ratliff, acting director of the division of reclamation, believes fewer small coal companies that would normally speculate on a rising coal market just aren't getting into it.

"Even some of the large companies," said Ratliff, "that can't find a market for coal have closed down and are waiting for the market to get better. When the coal market improves, probably in October or November, they'll work out their permitted areas and then apply for additional permits."

"Another factor that could account for the decline in permits is advance permit applications. Some companies applied for and received several permits in advance when the market was good. So now they have sufficient permits and are waiting until the market improves."

Nature Trails

By Rufus M. Reed

A Creed for Conservation

Conservation of everything we need and use today, should be a burning issue with all of us. Unless we become more conservation minded and stop our reckless waste of earth's resources, such as natural gas, water, timber and the like, we shall find ourselves in the same predicament as Old Mother Hubbard, who went to the cupboard to get her poor dog a bone, and when she got there, the cupboard was bare.

Consider the following Creed for Conservation of everything we need, use and enjoy. First, resolve to destroy nothing of value. Even the harmless snakes should be spared, as they in directly help us by destroying pests, such as mice and other rodents.

On any hike through the woods, refrain from picking the rare wild flowers, such as orchids, lady's slippers and others. We need all our beautiful wild flowers to cheer our hearts in days of loneliness, and what is more many of our wild flowers furnish nesting for the bees. When in the woods, never chop a tree just for pleasure, or any other reason. Some men going through the woods with an axe seem to delight in chopping on trees. A severe blow on a tree with an axe may eventually kill it, and the wound lets in fungi and bacteria, which will attack the tree and kill it. I have seen this happen more than once.

Have respect for all the wild things of the forest. Never cut down any tree, or any tree with hollow limbs. Nature prepares these as winter homes and nesting places for many birds and squirrels too. Owls and woodpeckers sleep in hollow trees during cold winter nights.

Always be sure all fires are safely out after a picnic or camping in the woods. Fire is an arch enemy of trees and wildlife. A severe fire kills at least half the trees on any burned-out area.

Never leave broken glass in the woods or anywhere along the nature trails. Animals do not wear shoes and may suffer severe cuts by stepping on broken glass. Never leave empty cans in the woods. Hungry animals can tear their heads into these and often get caught and held for death. Do not leave food scraps along any highway, frequented by cars.

Animals risk their lives on treacherous highways when they stroll a tasty bit of food, and will run across the highway right in front of cars.

Never throw trash in any stream, as it pollutes the water and causes the death of much aquatic life. Do not litter the roadsides of stream banks with garbage. This is bad in many ways. It is filthy and unsightly, to say the least; it pollutes the earth and air, and water. Hermit crabs, using power traps, even when you think this is absolutely necessary. Any poison scattered over the earth will do far more harm than good. Poison sprays kill off our honey bees, songbirds, and butterflies, which we need for pollination of crops.

Drive slowly through wooded areas. Remember many animals, such as deer, squirrels, rabbits, toads and turtles are often killed by speeding cars. Watch out for the wild creature, as these cannot watch out for themselves and do not realize the danger of fast cars.

Make friends with wild life. Protect it at all times. Use a camera to hunt wild animals with a camera instead of a gun. It leaves you with a warm feeling for all of God's creatures and no desire to destroy any helpless creatures. And what is better, when you do not kill anything, you keep a clear conscience and are not in violation of God's commandment: "Thou shalt not kill."

What To Do in October

By NEVILLE SHACKLEFORD
(UK College of Agriculture)

In the latitude that takes in the United States and with respect to meteorology, October is nearly always a delightful month. Certainly it is one of the most beautiful and interesting months of the year. "At every turn," as the poet Edmund Clarence Steadman once wrote, "the maples burn," and the air has a mellow tang peculiar to the month alone. Happy is the person privileged to spend a lot of time outdoors in October.

In the northern parts of the nation, the first hard frosts of the aging year usually come in October. The accompanying cold spell, or spells, however, that follow do not often last very long. Periods of mellow haze, heavy days followed by crisp, bracing nights ideal for sleeping are usually the rule.

The chief beauty of October is in its changing foliage. The woods are a gorgeous kaleidoscope—an endless pattern of crimson and gold, yellow and burnt amber, and about all the shades and hues common to the color spectrum. Even the somber pine forests are lighted here and there by the scarlet tapers of the sphagnum sumac and the red leaves of the trailing sawburr. In unassuming beauty, goldenrod, farewell summer, cardinal flower, and the rusty blue bloom of hardy ageratum make the lowlands and sabbies gay as in the days of spring.

October is a busy time for resident birds, most of which are seed eaters. Hopping weeds of the dry fields, meadows, and river bottoms furnish them with treats and they take advantage of the abundance. Woodpeckers, jays, and endless forms of other wildlife scurry about storing up beechnuts, acorns, and other provender for the austere times that are ordained to come by the seasons.

October is also a busy time for the farmer and gardener who, too, must harvest and store away for austere times to come. Then there are other things that can be done to help make the old homestead more beautiful next spring. Horticultural and garden specialists of the UK College of Agriculture recommend the completion of such tasks in October as these: Mow the lawn weekly and keep it leaf-free to encourage bluegrass to fill in empty spots. Plant broadleaf and needle evergreens during the month, as well as tulips and other spring flowering bulbs.

These experts also recommend planting deciduous plants when they start losing their leaves; cutting roses back to about 10 inches and tying the tops to prevent wind damage; digging summer bulbs before the ground begins to freeze; watering deeply and mulching any plants likely to suffer from winds and drought; and wrapping tree trunks to prevent sun scald.

Other tasks that may pay off in October is to check Irish potatoes dug earlier in the summer and discard any showing rot signs. After harvest, plow under or otherwise work the garden to help reduce weeds next season. Gather pumpkins and squash with a piece of stem attached and store in a shady, dry frost-free place.

Also, by all means, take time out to wander the countryside, listen to wild geese flying over, and gather in a supply of walnuts, hickorynuts, hazelnuts, wild grapes, and persimmons. These wild crops taste mighty good in the depths of winter and are something less than work to gather. In fact, they are fun.

October is a wonderful month. Enjoy it.

Admiral Says Pentagon Wastes $1 Billion a Year

WASHINGTON—Adm Hyman G. Rickover, head of the Navy's nuclear propulsion program, said Monday the Pentagon wastes $1 billion a year by paying defense contractors for research and development having little or nothing to do with defense.

Rickover called on Congress to stop payments for so-called independent research and development. The costs of projects in a wide variety of areas currently are charged to the Defense Department by the defense contractors as overhead on contracts for specific weapons systems.

Rickover's testimony disagreed with that of all previous industry and Defense Department witnesses in joint hearings conducted by the Senate Armed Services Committee and the Congressional Joint Economic Committee.

SUSPECTED ENCEPHALITIS IN POWELL COUNTY

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The state Department for Human Resources Monday reported another case of suspected viral encephalitis in Powell county, bringing the total number of cases now under observation in Kentucky to 61.

The department reported that, to date, 22 of the "sleeping sickness" cases have been confirmed in the following counties: Fayette, one; Clark, one; Daviess, one; Fayette, two; Jefferson, 13; Kenton, one; 10; Ham, one, and Union, two.

Arthritis in its many forms claims 600,000 new victims every year.

MAN WHO SAVED FDR DIES

MIAMI—Funeral services will be held Monday for a former Miami policeman credited with saving president-elect Franklin D. Roosevelt from an assassin's bullet in 1933.

L. G. Crews, 74, who also arrested mobster Al Capone six times without showing his gun, died Friday in a hospital at Marathon in the Florida Keys.

While working police security at Miami's Bayfront Park in 1933, Crews grabbed away assassin Giuseppe Zangara's pistol, ending a volley of shots that missed Roosevelt but killed Chicago Mayor Anton Cermak.

A Plea for Help

Concerning three recent deaths in the Henderson family, I am asking for help because my husband is disabled to work, and we live on a very small income. We have lost three children in the past 22 months, two of whom have passed away within the last seven months. We couldn't buy insurance on them because of an incurable disease. As of this week we still owe $1,300 for funeral expenses.

Anyone who wants to and is able to donate a few dollars toward funeral expenses for the children, it would be greatly appreciated, and I am sure God will bless you for it. Their mother,

Program To Train Reclamation Inspectors

By MARYAGAY FRANKFORT, Ky.—Gov. Julian Carrall announced Friday that an extensive formal training program for Kentucky reclamation inspectors possibly the only training program of its kind in the nation will begin October 6.

According to John S. Hoffman, secretary of the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, the training will enable reclamation officials to enforce regulations more uniformly throughout the state.

Ten inspectors, one experienced and one new inspector from each regional office of the division of reclamation will attend the first three-week session at quicksand in Breathitt County.

No respecter of age, arthritis claims its victims from all ages.

Air Pollution Index Developed

By MARYAGAY FRANKFORT, Ky.—Burning eyes are being replaced as the most reliable method many Kentuckians have for telling if the air in their area is excessively polluted on any particular day.

The division of air pollution in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection has developed a pollution index for five cities across the state—Ashland, Lexington, Newport, Owensboro and Paducah. The index will be released to the news media on week days through the Kentucky Department of Public Information.

According to Hisham M. Sa'ad, deputy director of the division of air pollution, for several years the news media has been pressing the division to issue an air pollution index for those cities similar to the one issued for Louisville by the Air Pollution Control District of Jefferson County and by other cities in the nation.

"We have been reluctant in issuing an index," said Sa'ad, "since we were not satisfied that existing indices were meaningful. Many times we have seen an index of satisfactory range issued when one or two pollutant concentrations were elevated."

Sa'ad said that in the past the division has been more willing to issue actual pollutant concentration. "However," said Sa'ad, "the layman could not relate the actual pollution concentration figures to standards or episode criteria levels such as alert, warning or emergency stages."

The new index system was developed to present each pollutant category separately in an easily understandable way. "We decided to develop an index scale of 0 to 100 that directly reflects the concentration of any measured pollutants. The pollutants that will be shown on the index include sulfur dioxide, soiling, carbon monoxide, ozone, nitrogen dioxide and total suspended particulates. If any pollutant concentration is elevated, that pollutant will directly influence the index."

Sa'ad said the index was arbitrarily divided into four equal segments of 25 each. An index of 24 or below represents the satisfactory level. An index of 25 to 49 is unsatisfactory. 50 to 74 represents the alert state. 75 to 99 represents the warning level, and 100 and above is the emergency stage.

Sa'ad cautioned that the index issued by the state air pollution agency should not be compared to that issued for Louisville by the local agency since that system differs completely.

Saturday, Sept. 27 in National Hunting and Fishing Day, the fourth annual observance of the contributions made by hunters and fishermen to wildlife conservation. Many sportsmen's clubs and other organizations throughout the state and the nation will hold open houses or conduct other programs designed to acquaint the general public with the considerable role outdoorsmen play in the conservation of our natural resources.

In America, the bulk of financing for fish and wildlife programs comes from license sales and from federal excise taxes on sporting arms and ammunition and on fishing tackle. Each year, approximately $50 million is devoted to sportsmen for use in a variety of programs and projects. Since 1958, according to the Wildlife Management Institute, state fish and wildlife agencies have used this sportsman's money to:

—Acquire, develop or manage 2,900 wildlife refuges and management areas totaling nearly 40 million acres, which protect the vital habitat of a wide range of wildlife, both game and non-game species, and are heavily used by bird watchers, nature students and other outdoor enthusiasts.

—Construct or restore more than 300 lakes with a total surface of 35,000 acres for fish and wildlife.

—Acquire or develop more than 3,000 public access areas that open nearly a million otherwise inaccessible acres and 2,000 miles of stream to outdoor recreational use.

—Conduct extensive research on wildlife habitat needs, diseases, population trends, predator-prey relationships and wildlife crop-damage abatement.

—Assist hundreds of thousands of landowners with wildlife habitat improvement projects.

—Conduct public conservation education programs for school teachers and students and promote understanding of wildlife needs and habits through articles and television shows.

—Protect both hunted and non-hunted wildlife by apprehending conservation law violators. Many state conservation law enforcement officers also enforce laws against poachers, whose activities impose serious threats to wildlife and its habitats.

The result of modern wildlife management.

management, supported by hunters and fishermen, can easily be seen by looking at a few examples again taken from the Wildlife Management Institute. In 1896, for example, there were only about 350,000 whitetail deer in the U. S., and they had been extirpated from more than half the states. Today, there are around 12 million deer in the continental United States.

In 1830, the wild turkey was common only in a few southern states, while today it has been restored to 43 states, including several outsiders original range. Today, the beaver is common in nearly all states except Hawaii, and in 1900, beavers were common only in Alaska and a few localities in the Pacific Northwest and Rockies. And the wood duck, which in 1813 was considered a candidate for early extinction, is now the most common breeding waterfowl in the eastern U. S.

It is accomplishments like these that National Hunting and Fishing Day is designed to commemorate. But it is also, in a way, a dedication to the future. Wildlife faces increasing pressures from changing land uses, from pollution, from growing urbanization. The public must be made aware of the sportsman's role, both in the past and now, as wildlife's best friend so that this relationship can continue.

Watch for announcements of local Hunting and Fishing Day observances and plan to attend. Show your appreciation for what this country's outdoorsmen have done, and will continue to do, for wildlife.

Who bailed out the Navy in 1798?

We were still paying off the Revolution's War. Then we were faced with yet another war, this time on the seas. How could we afford to build up our Navy? Well, Congress called for help through the issuance of government securities. And the citizens came through to the tune of $711,700. Enough to make the down payment on 10 new ships.

Their investment paid off. And you can follow their example today. When you buy U. S. Savings Bonds at your bank or through the Payroll Savings Plan at work, you're investing in your country. # "Gritt'd Bread"

By NEVILLE SHACKELFORD

UK College of Agriculture

There are dozens and dozens of kinds of bread but for downright excellence of taste the one coming closest to the sublime is what old-time country people know as "gritt'd bread."

Like Tenyson's "snowy summits," the snowy meal that serves as the main ingredient of this wonderful delicacy is "old in story" but is now little more than a memory. As a matter of fact, few of the younger generation ever heard of this bread, much less eaten it.

To be grammatically correct, "gritt'd bread" is "grated bread." It is bread made from meal from barely matured ears of white corn such as the famed Tennessee Red (ob or venerable Marion County White in the very late roasting ear stage, ears of corn from these two varieties or varieties of kind can be gathered, shucked, and hand-rubbed over a homemade "gritter" (grater) to produce a sweet grist that is truly out of this world for making bread.

Using this grist, a good cook can turn out coropone, hoe cake, jehanyake, Hapjacks, or spoonbread of such deliciousness as require the services of two people to eat it, "one to hold while the other eats." The story is that bread made from this hand-ground meal is so good one cannot sit still and eat it without being restrained.

Partly because he dearly loves the bread and partly for old times sake, Ben Moore, who owns a 120-acre farm on the Lee-Breathitt county border, has himself some "gritt'd bread" each autumn. Growing his own white corn and using a "gritter" made more than 40 years ago by his late father, he practices an art almost as old as breadmaking itself—especially for the meal. Ben says that back some 20 years or so ago, a corn grater or "gritter" was as common around the average farm home as a fire shovel or a coffee pot.

This simple tool, by punching numerous holes in a piece of heavy tin with a number 20 nail, reversing the perforated tin, and then nailing it on a flat to "grit" meal which the corn had just passed the late roasting ear stage and was still slightly soft in a pinch, however, if a family ran out of meal before "mullins," they could always grit enough meal for a coropone or two. Hard, dry corn was difficult to rasp off on a "gritter" but it could be done.

What makes meal rasped off on one of these crude homemade affairs so delightful in taste is that it includes the sweet, rich heart of the grain. It is fine in texture and when made into bread is waxy and chewy. But, even if one does not have around the house a "gritter handed down from olden times," "gritt'd bread" can still be made in the modern kitchen—in fact, this is a good way to use corn from the late garden which has become a little too hard to be used as roasting ears. The four-sided metal grater that can be stood up on a counter-top has one side somewhat similar to the "gritter" previously described and can be used to "grit" corn much as it was done in the backwoods of long ago.

Since "gritt'd" meal contains the heart of the grain not found in processed meal, it spoils quickly. UK Extension Foods specialists say this is because the heart is high in fat and, therefore, becomes rancid easily. For this reason, only enough should be "gritt'd" at a time to serve at one meal—it takes about three good sors of corn to make enough corn pone for two people.

As it is "gritt'd," the meal can be caught in a pan and then sifted, mixed for cornbread in the same way as store-bought meal and packed into a pone or fried into a pancake. It is delicious in any form and goes wonderfully well with sorghum and cow butter or about anything else in the way of country fare. Strictly rustic in origin, "gritt'd bread" is usually made now only by those with a yearning and a nostalgia for things that were and which are now largely no more—things that exist mainly in the recollection. But this need not be so, for anyone with an adventurous spirit and a little patch of corn in his home garden can enjoy this delicacy of bygone days.

Frankfort, Ky. When the more than 600 delegates to the 86th annual Democratic Women's Club join state and national dignitaries at the meeting in Louisville on October 3-4, Floyd county will be represented by a delegation of 12.

Road Aid Program Revised To Include Three Floyd Roads

Gov. Julian Carroll has announced that the Floyd county rural secondary road aid program has been amended to add three more projects for this fiscal year (1975-76).

The newly approved projects will provide initial blacktop surfacing along approximately 3 mile of Hall Cemetery road, 1 mile of the Spradlin Branch road and 7 mile of the Clear Creek road.

Funds for the additional work will come out of monies already allotted to Floyd county for rural secondary roads in the current fiscal year. That amount, announced earlier, was $339,475.
