Subscription Rates Per Year: In Floyd County, $6.00; Elsewhere in Kentucky, $7.50; Outside Kentucky, $8.50.

Entered as second class matter June 18, 1927, at the postoffice at Prestonsburg, Kentucky, under the act of March 3, 1879.

Four-Lane or Two Lanes, Give Us a New KY 80

There is only one thing possibly wrong with the recommendation that KY 80 from Water Gap in this county to Hazard, Perry county, be made a four-lane highway. If any cost too much...

But all the need for the highway and all the plans will mean nothing if the cost of four lanes makes it a financial impossibility... That's not a super highway, and it may require widening later...

So we plead: "Give us a road, the best road that the money in the till will buy."

ALC Seeking Toys For Needy Children

Students, faculty, and staff at Alice Lloyd College are collecting toys in an effort to make Christmas merrier for needy children of the area. The toy drive is under the direction of Christine Stumbo and is part of the ALCOR (Appalachian Leaders in Community Outreach) Program.

Most of the recipients of the gifts will be children contacted through the ALCOR summer program. During the summer, college students live in isolated rural hollows and help provide families with recreational activities, learning experiences and health services.

Local residents are asked to donate old toys and books to the drive. Volunteers at Alice Lloyd College will repair or reconstruct any articles in need of such attention. Collection boxes have been left at locations in Floyd, Knott, Pike and Letcher counties. The Floyd locations are:

Big "Y" Food Saver, Allen; Pligly Wiggly, Prestonsburg; Reba's Market, Drift; Midway Market, Minnie; Martin's Best Way Market, McDowell; Armet's Country Kitchen, McDowell.

12,000 Rural Postoffices Face Possible Shut-Down

Washington—Two House subcommittees failed to resolve the fate of 12,000 rural mail facilities that the General Accounting Office (GAO) wants shut down.

While the subcommittees in recent concluded hearings decided not to broaden the statutory authority under which the Postal Service (USPS) can close facilities, action by the two panels appears to have left the door open for USPS to decide how many and which post offices will be closed.

The Postal Service favors closing large numbers of rural mail facilities as a budget saving measure.

The post office subcommittee heard testimony from congressional witnesses who widely and unanimously opposed widespread closings.

The recommendation that 12,000 facilities be shut down for reasons of economy was made by the GAO in June and has precipitated a massive public opposition nationwide. The GAO is Congress' investigative agency.

The USPS is prohibited by statute from closing a small post office just because the facility is operating at a deficit. But the service contends it can close down many rural facilities for other reasons and maintain that in most cases postal services improve in areas where small facilities are eliminated through expanded rural delivery routes and other services.

Assistant Postmaster General Edward Dorsey made it clear in testimony before the subcommittees that the USPS intends to proceed with plans to close rural post offices on a "case-by-case" basis. He gave no precise indication, however, as to how many facilities would be eliminated, although he said there would be no "wholesale closings" such as the GAO proposed.

"Prudent management dictates that we replace uneconomical small offices which no longer play a useful role in our service system," Dorsey said. "We will not make progress towards this goal if we insist on retaining every existing post office until the community it serves has been abandoned, or the postmaster has quit, or all but 24 families have moved away, or nobody in town wants to be postmaster," he said.

The GAO reported that the USPS has been precluded from "realizing substantial economies" because of congressional opposition to the shut-downs. The GAO reported that closing 12,000 rural post offices could save the Treasury $100 million a year.

The USPS has been under pressure to cut costs in order to achieve what the GAO called "a mandate to be self-sustaining by 1984."

In fiscal year 1974, the Postal Service operated at a deficit of $2.3 billion. Opponents of the closing argued that Congress never intended that all post offices be self-sustaining and that rural mail service would be diminished if the facilities were eliminated.

Several congressmen also testified before the post office panels that post offices frequently provide a unique social gathering place in rural areas and that would be obliterated by the closings.

Rep. John Anderson, R-Ill., blasted the proposed closings as an example of "massification" in our society, which he defined as "diminishing concern for people in small towns and non-urban areas."

Congress may attempt to restrict the USPS from closing rural post offices when postal legislation is considered in the full House. But unless it specifically prohibits the closings, it appears likely that the Postal Service will go ahead with plans to shut down many of the facilities using its existing statutory authority.

At present, the USPS is allowed to discontinue a post office if a community has been abandoned or a vacancy exists in the position of postmaster, or if it can provide alternative service that will be as good or better than that currently provided.

Post offices may also be closed if no one can be found to take charge of an office for an extended period of time, if there are no suitable quarters for the facility, if fewer than 25 families are served by the facility, or if another post office is located within three to five miles.

3 Historic Sites Listed at Pikeville

Three Pikeville sites and structures were recently placed on the "Kentucky Survey of Historic Sites" by the Kentucky Heritage Commission.

The survey is a list of sites and structures judged to possess significance in history, art, architecture or culture.

The three sites and structures listed are: The Sowards-Oliver Rogers House at 506 Fifth Street, the stained glass windows at the First Presbyterian Church and the Dils cemetery.

These properties join six other sites and structures in Pikeville and 21 others in Pike county already included on the survey.

The Fifth Street residence was cited for significance in architecture, being an excellent example of late 19th century wood victorian residential building. Recently remodeled, it is the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Fen Rogers.

The windows at the Presbyterian Church were honored as having excellence in the art of stained glass. The windows were installed in 1906-10.

The Dils cemetery was cited for history, being an important early cemetery in the city. Many early Pike County families are buried there including five members of the Randall McCoy family. The Cemetery is believed to contain the remains of participants in every American war. It was named for John Dils, Jr., whose grave occupies the top of the knoll, overlooking downtown Pikeville.

Explorers Look To 1976 Events

Local high-school-age young men and women who are Explorers have several national events available to them during the remainder of 1975 and 1976, according to John Fischer, president of the Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America.

Presidents of Explorer posts in this area will attend the Area 2 Officers' Training Seminar in Gatlinburg, Tenn., December 12-14, as well as the President's Congress to be held in Washington, D.C., March 26-April 1, Fischer said. The Exploring Division of the Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, will also provide high adventure superactivities next summer to Land Between the Lakes and Philmont Scout Ranch in New Mexico.

Exploring, which is the fastest growing youth program in the nation, offers a planned program of action that brings young people voluntarily into association with adults in activities related to their common interests. Fischer explained Exploring helps young people find their present and future roles as individuals in society and in the world of work.

In January, a special selection committee of the council will meet to select nominees for the National Exploration Award and the Young American Award. The National Exploration Awards Program selects top Explorers who have achieved recognition and show promise for a career in one of the field or exploration sciences. The Young American Award recognizes the contributions of outstanding American young persons.

Floyd Bond Sales Nearing 1975 Goal

Sales of Series E and H Savings Bonds in Floyd County during September were $28,611 while sales for the first nine months totaled $263,122 or 82.9 pct. of the County's annual goal of $317,700.

Kentucky's sales for the month were $6,507,487 while cumulative sales for the year reached $62,646,478, or 74.9 pct. of the state's annual goal of $83,600,000.

Grant, Harrison, Hart, Lewis, Mason and Owen counties have already exceeded their annual goals.

On Nov. 4, 1783, Capt. William Wilmot of the 2nd Maryland Continentals was killed near Johns Island, N. C., in what is believed to be the last incident of bloodshed by a Continental soldier in the Revolutionary War.

The earliest authenticated strike or workers in the United States in a single trade occurred in 1786 when Philadelphia printers gained a minimum wage of $6 a week, according to the U. S. Department of Labor.

WHAT THEN?

When the plants of our mighty cities Have turned out their last finished work; When our merchants have sold their last yardage And have dismissed the last tired clerk; When our banks have raked in their last dollar And paid out their last dividend; When the Judge of the earth says, "Closed for the night;" And asks for a balance—what then?

When the choir has sung its last anthem, And the preacher has made his last prayer; When the people have heard their last sermon, And the sound has died out on the air; When the Bible lies closed on the altar, And the pews are all empty of men, And each one stands facing his record— And the Great Book is opened—what then?

When the actors have played their last drama, And the mimic has made his last pun; When the film has flashed its last picture, And the scoreboard displayed its last run; When the crowds seeking pleasure have vanished, And gone out in the darkness again— When the Trumpet of the Ages has sounded, And we stand up before Him—what then?

When the bugle's call sinks into silence, And the long-marking columns stand still; When the captain has given his last orders, And they've captured the last fort and hill, And the flag has been hauled in from the masthead, And the wounded angel have checked in, And a world that rejected its Savior, Is asked for a reason—what then? Cost of Moving Fuel from West May Save Eastern Ky. Coal

(In The Lexington Herald) Booming coal production in western states is not yet threatening Kentucky's markets for the fuel. Reporting this over the week-end, Tom Duncan, president of the Kentucky Coal Association, added that the future is clouded by some unknown factors. Currently, he said in an interview, "It costs more to move a ton of western coal into our markets than you can buy coal for here."

He said the transportation cost is $18 to $19 a ton and that Kentucky coal now is selling in that price range. The western coal, however, is a low sulfur fuel more adapted to air quality standards. Three uncertain factors, Duncan continued, could affect the future competitive situation between western and Kentucky coal.

These are developments in air quality standards, transportation costs and technology improvements to eliminate sulfur from Kentucky coal. From the Coal Exporters Association of the United States, meanwhile, came a report that bituminous coal exports increased by 17.7 per cent during the first eight months of this year to 44 million tons, with 34 million tons going overseas. Saying that Kentucky metallurgical coal shares in this increase, Duncan added that most such state exports go to Japan or Western Europe.

And, federal and state figures show Kentucky has experienced respectable income growth as a result of the current coal boom. The figures, reported by the Associated Press, reflect an 8.6 per cent increase in personal income in the mountain counties from last year's coal boom in Eastern Kentucky, compared to what they received in 1974. The AP said total income gained 59.2

percent from 1969 to 1974 in both Eastern and Western Kentucky as a result of the coal boom. The U. S. Bureau of Economic Analysis reported 18 coal counties in Eastern Kentucky had a total income of $695.4 million during 1969. A total income of $1.25 billion for those same counties last year, representing an 80.6 per cent growth.

Don't Wait Until It's Too Late—
Stop the Ku Klux Klan Now!

You've all heard of the Ku Klux Klan rallies in Charleston, W. Va., Harlan, Louisville, Huntington, Boston and in the South. David Duke Grand Dragon of the Klan has announced that the KKK will make Kentucky its main focus for a membership drive in November. Now is the time to act to stop this racist, fascist organization. Let's not wait until they move in with their soft sell line about "cleaning up the community" to cover the violence and anti Black and anti worker views they really stand for. Join with the Mountain Workers Unity Organization to stop the Klan NOW!

Look What the Klan Has Stood For Over the Years
The KKK has stood for dividing working and poor people and weakening their fight for justice and a better life.

In the 20's, 30's, and 40's the KKK killed, lynched, and terrorized Black people throughout the country, but especially in the South. Now they are still trying to divide Black and white and promote open racerism against the Black community.
This has been their main role in the Boston and Louisville busing issues. The Black community in Huntington feels that the Klan is behind the murder of a Black teenager there recently. Not so many years ago here in Floyd County, the Klan burned a cross in Tram but were run into the river by shot gun fire when people there defended their community.
When the Wheelwright school was integrated, the Klan again burned crosses, broke windows, and urged people to attack the Black community.

The KKK has been consistently anti-union and has been the tool of the coal operators and the chamber of commerce as they have tried to divide the white workers against black workers to weaken the union movement. UMW President Arnold Miller has called the KKK an anti-union organization that has always opposed the rights of working men and women. When John L. Lewis started the CIO in the 1930's, the union organizers they sent into the South were harassed, feathered, beaten and killed by the KKK.
In recent weeks the Klan has reportedly burned crosses in front of UMW members homes and threatened a number of people in Harlan County.
Their rally in Harlan was mainly attended by scabs and operators.

The KKK has tried to divide by calling people of Italian, East European,
Jewish, or Catholic background enemies, un-American, communist. In their filthy literature and in their deeds they violate and oppose the most basic rights of working people.
Why is the Ku Klux Klan
Starting to Move Again?
The KKK works for the rich and their servants who control the country. With the economic crisis brought on the greed of the monopolies, the government and the rich are worried that poor and working people are going to organize and

Fight on Sleeping Sickness Includes War on Mosquitoes

Frankfort, Ky.—Because many cases of viral encephalitis, or "sleeping sickness," have during the year been reported across the state, Fred Waters, head of pesticides section in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, has issued a list of ways to prevent and control mosquito growth.

"Mosquito control," Waters said, "can usually be accomplished through a thorough program of sanitation, water management and chemical control. This program starts with outdoor and indoor protection against mosquitoes.

"Water management is vital for outside mosquito control. Although mosquitoes can fly into one's area from several miles away, growth of the insects' population can be prevented or greatly reduced many times by eliminating breeding sites in and around the home.

Waters explained that mosquitoes breed in water-catching places that people tend to overlook or neglect to empty. For example, removal of tin cans, buckets, plastic swimming and wading pools and other containers will get rid of many water-catchers. A person should empty bird baths and waterers every four or five days and clean out roof gutters so water won't back up and become stagnant.

"When damp areas have been prevented," said Waters, "a person can use an approved insecticide effective against mosquitoes. One of the most commonly used is Malathion, which is effective for 48-72 hours. It should be applied several times to insure that mosquitoes hatching daily are controlled and new egg deposits are prevented."

The federal Environmental Protection Agency has cleared several other insecticides for mosquito control, including Diazinon, Sevin, Baygon, Methoxychlor and Dursban. Because toxicities, application rates, precautions and required time between sprayings vary from one product to another, a person spraying his lawn should read the label first. Water-based compounds are usually less injurious to lawn plants than oil-based ones.

"Generally," Waters continued, "these chemicals don't present an extreme hazard to persons or pets when used as properly diluted sprays. However, it's best to keep people and animals out of target areas when spraying. People should follow label-specified times for reentry to sprayed areas."

For inside protection against mosquito entry, a person should begin by putting screens on windows and doors. By using screens with 16 x 16 or 14 x 18 mesh, a person can prevent mosquitoes from coming in through the holes.

Waters added, "Aerosol insecticide sprays, such as pyrethrins plus piperyl butoxide, provide another indoor mosquito control. Before beginning to spray, a person should make sure that no other persons or pets are in the house. For the best results, all windows and doors should be closed."

MAYTOWN COMMUNITY NEWS

Family members gathered at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Chalmers Hicks, Saturday afternoon, to celebrate the seventh birthday of Mary Beth Hicks. Hicks served cake and ice cream to Mrs. Earl E. Webb and Keith, Mrs. Freddy Osborne, Brian, Kevin and Crystal and Mrs. Joy Akers, Brett, Bart and Bridgett, and Missie Hicks.

A Thanksgiving fellowship dinner was held at the Maytown United Methodist Church after services, Sunday. A memorial service was held at the Bethel Regular Baptist Church in memory of Mrs. Lena Dudley last Sunday, with dinner after services at the Maytown luncheon.

Best wishes to Elda Dermont and Dennis Crisp who were married Saturday in a ceremony held at the Martin United Methodist Church.

Sympathy is extended to the family of Mrs. Bessie Patton who passed away Saturday at the U. K. Medical Center where she was being treated for burns.

Mrs. Maude Hagans observed her 87th birthday last Saturday by cooking her own birthday dinner at her home on Turkey Creek. Family and friends, with all of her children being present, except two who couldn't attend due to illness. Those attending were Mrs. Sadie Hayes, Jewel Hagans, Lyman and Ted Branham, High and Ida Hagans, Delbert and Helen Hagans, Linville (Shin) Hagans, Bud and Chris Hagans, Ella Hagans, Mrs. Emma Turner, Ezra Turner, Mrs. Bertha Click, Delana Hagans and Mrs. Wanda Brown. Mrs. Hagans says of her 87th birthday, this was the happiest one, since the Lord has allowed her to rear a large family, almost after the death of her husband, Phillip Hagans, in 1932, and she is still in good health.

Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ramey and Tim of Alexandria, Ky., were Thanksgiving week-end guests of Mr. and Mrs. Thurnal Click and of Mrs. Marie Martin and Yvette and other relatives at Eastern.

Mrs. Bola Cottrell and friends, of Lexington, visited her mother, Mrs. Haley Webb, Thanksgiving Day, then Mrs. Webb accompanied them to the home of Mrs. Emma Turner at Wayland where they had Thanksgiving dinner.

Mrs. Barbara Salisbury and Kenneth, of Eastern, visited Mrs. Haley Webb, Thanksgiving Day, and Mrs. Kay Prasure and Teresa, of Sidney, Ohio spent several days with Mrs. Webb.

Glenns Ramey, of Alexandria, Ky., was the houseguest of his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Thurnal Click, during the holidays. He was Thanksgiving dinner guest of Mrs. Marie Martin along with Mr. and Mrs. Stanley Ramey and Tim, Mrs. Florence Fraley, Mr. and Mrs. Jerry Martin and children and Yvette, Thanksgiving dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Prasure and Mrs. Gertrude Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Earl E. Webb and Keith, Patty Webb, Dean Webb, Kenneth Webb, Merle Webb, Sharon Waddles and Mr. and Mrs. Charles G. May and Karl Lynn.

Margaret Ann Vaughn, her grand-mother, Mrs. Maude Vaughn, and her aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Stell, of Ashland, attended the Kentucky Tennessee football game at Lexington. Tommy Moore, Elisha Moore and Rhonda Webb were Thanksgiving dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Robt. Webb. Margaret Ann Vaughn drove to Oak Ridge, Tenn. last Friday, and her mother, Mrs. Peggy Vaughn, and Mrs. Josephine Webb returned to Maytown with her to spend Thanksgiving.

Richard Webb was the Thanksgiving dinner guest of Tony Salisbury at the home of his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Ashland Salisbury.

Thanksgiving dinner guests of Mr. and Mrs. Claude E. Webb were Mrs. Earl Webb, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Webb, Brian, Robby and Christie Jean, of Beaver.

WAYLAND NEWS

The Tri-Community Development Club of Wayland would like to thank those who contributed toward the Halloween Carnival held October 31. The hall raised $175 at the carnival, and leaders expressed the opinion that there was less destruction in the community due to having the carnival on "The-Tac" night.

Present projects are a community park, Operation Santa Claus (in conjunction with Community Action) and a community clean-up. The next club meeting will be December 18, at the Wayland Town Hall. Youth Development Club will meet at 6 p.m. with a door prize being given. The adult club will meet at 7 p.m. and refreshments will be served. Bingo will also be played after the adult meeting. All members of the community are urged to attend.

Eurelia Patrick Selvage

Mrs. Eurelia Cella Patrick Selvage, 87, died Wednesday, November 28 at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Maxine Bierman, with whom she lived. Mrs. Selvage died suddenly after being stricken by an apparent heart attack. Born July 6, 1888 at Mealy, she was a daughter of the late Noah and Cordelia Franklin Patrick. A member of the First Christian Church of Prestonsburg, she was the widow of Dennis Selvage who preceded her in death in 1959.

In addition to Mrs. Bierman, she is survived by another daughter, Mrs. Ruby Wells, of Auxier; a son, Russell Selvage, of Carlisle; 12 grandchildren and 19 great-grandchildren. Funeral services were conducted at 2 p.m., Saturday, at the First Christian Church here by the Rev. Bill Hilliard and Rev. Harold Dicks. Burial was made in Highland Memorial Park at Staffordsville under direction of Carter Funeral Home.

Active pallbearers were Ed Dunford, Richard Bierman, William Mathis, Jeff Bingham, Donald Selvage, and Randall Wells.

Honorary pallbearers were Tom Fields, Clyde George, Glenn Brickley, Ted Adams, Tom O. McGuire, L. B. Fairchild, Jack McDowell, Jimmy Hatcher, Curtis May, William A. Spradlin, and Glenn Anderson.

Judith Mathews Hall, 25

Mrs. Judith Mathews Hall, 25, of Weing, Va., formerly of Hi Hat, died last Friday at St. Mary's Hospital in Knoxville, Tennessee after a lengthy illness. Born November 2, 1950, she was a daughter of Willis and Earlene Newsum Mathews of Hi Hat. A graduate of McDowell High School, she received her A. B. degree from Morehead State University and taught in the Lee County school system.

In addition to her parents, she is survived by her husband, Noel Hall, a sister, Mrs. Gwen Hamilton, of Hi Hat; her paternal grandparents, Mr. and Mrs. W. J. Mathews, also of Hi Hat, and her maternal grandmother, Mrs. Minnie Newsum of Logan.

Funeral services were conducted at 11 a.m., Monday, at the home of her parents by ministers of the Regular Baptist Church. Burial was made in the Lawson cemetery at Price under direction of Hill Brothers Funeral Home.

Thomas M. Watkins, Sr.

Thomas Mills Watkins, Sr., 84, husband of the late Evelyn W. Watkins, of 887 Maywick Drive, Lexington, died Saturday. IN MEMORIAM

In Loving Memory of our dear father, BILL T. GUNNELS, who passed away Dec. 21, 1974:

Daddy, I knew you had to go. For you were getting old.

And unto God I will hold, for he has you in his fold, and I know you are walking the streets of gold.

As I drive past the old home place I look and stare but never shall I see your face there. But I hope to meet you, Daddy, in that land so fair.

As I sit here in the cold night air, I think how happy you are up there. I miss you so, no one knows how. Dreadful it was to see you go.

The holidays grow so high. What I would give To see your smile or sit down beside you. For a while and talk as we use to when I was a child.

Those days are gone but I'll never forget Because, Daddy I love you yet.

Sadly missed by his two daughters, Lillie Blizzard, Langley Ky., Ellen Slone, Garrett, Ky.

Boom in CB Radio Could Wipe it Out

Applications for Citizens Band radio licenses have quadrupled in the past year, and the president of the 500,000-member U. S. Citizens Radio Council says the boom has resulted in "disturbing" problems for serious CB operators.

George Martin of Aniston, Ala., told his organization's annual meeting here last week-end that people who use CB radio "have to straighten out or lose the CB channels."

The Federal Communications Commission received 20,918 CB license applications in September 1975, compared with 38,225 applications in September 1974. The commission says it expects the number of applications received last month to total more than 250,000.

Overcrowding of CB channels now is causing horrible problems, Martin said, such as children who use CB radios as toys and adults who "show no courtesy to their fellow CBers."

He said the FCC estimates that 30 to 50 per cent of the nation's CB operators don't have licenses—a violation punishable by up to two years in prison and a $10,000 fine.

"We regulate all broadcast media, and this CB surge has put a tremendous burden on us," said William Simpson, director of the FCC office in New Orleans. "We've had to curtail some work in other areas."

Martin said the FCC must enforce its CB rules and CB operators must regulate themselves to stave off the possibility of a future ban by the federal government on CB operations.

"There are more than 10 million CB radios in the country. That means there are nearly 500,000 persons for every one of the 23 CB channels, and if we misuse the channels we're in trouble," he said.

HERE FROM OHIO Mrs. Herschel Graham, of Rushville, Ohio, visited Mrs. May B. Martin here several days last week while here on business. She returned home, Wednesday of this week.

Bribery Charges To Be Reviewed

Frankfort, Ky.—Franklin county's new commonwealth's attorney says he will review allegations that state coal-mine reclamation inspectors have accepted bribes from coal operators.

"If I find any evidence of law violations in Franklin county, I will be glad to have the grand jury look into it," said Ray Corms, who was elected last month.

Corms was quoted in a front-page editorial in the Kentucky Coal Journal, a monthly coal-industry trade publication.

He said later that if his review convinces him an investigation should be made, it probably would be done in the spring because of the heavy January jury term.

Corms said if he finds criminal acts have occurred in other counties, he would forward findings to the appropriate commonwealth's attorneys.

The allegations were made in a 110-page study issued several weeks ago by the Center for Science in the Public Interest, a private group in Washington.

The study quoted a former state inspector as confirming that bribery of inspectors does occur, but said he would not reveal names.

The study said its survey indicated that half the inspectors responding report they are listed as favors such items as money, trips, parties, sports event tickets, meals, gifts, food and women.

The coal journal editorial criticized the study for failing to identify alleged participants and called for an investigation.

Corms said the study makes broad charges that "seem to indict everyone in general and no one in particular. If what the report says is true, it ought to be stopped."

Ken Hart of Frankfort, editor of the Kentucky Coal Journal and public relations man for Coal Operators and Associates, Inc., of Pikeville, said the study brands all state reclamation inspectors as "corrupt before the public."

Hart said he tried to obtain names of those alleged to be involved in bribery, but was unsuccessful.

He quoted Mark L. Morgan, a student at the University of Kentucky Law School, as saying he promised a number of persons that names would not be revealed.

Morgan coordinated the strip-mine study for the Washington research group. He said an investigation of bribery allegations "runs the risk of diverting people from the root problem."

Morgan contended that bribery of an inspector "is just a superficial example."

He said that if all corruption were eliminated in enforcement of strip-mine laws, "you would still have lax enforcement."

John Stanley Hoffman, secretary of the Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection, could not be reached for comment on the editorial.

Pike Woman Charged In Shooting Incident

PIKEVILLE—A Regina woman has been lodged in Pike County jail on a charge of assault in the first degree in connection with the shooting of a Regina man Monday, according to Kentucky State Police.

Irene Pugh, 35, is charged in connection with the shooting of Buford Bates, 43, police said. Police said Bates was shot once in the back with a .38-caliber revolver, and the bullet lodged in Bates' spine.

Police said Bates is in the intensive care unit of Pikeville Methodist Hospital.

Food Stamp Reform Held Needed But What To Do a Question

The huge, entangled federal food stamp program set up by Congress a decade ago to feed poor people needs reforming, and on Capitol Hill these days, you'll find a congressional consensus in support of both of those contentions.

Beyond the general issue of food stamp reform, there's no consensus either among Kentucky's congressmen or in Congress as a whole on what specific changes Congress should make.

The food stamp reform movement is growing apace with the rhetoric from such government officials as Treasury Secretary William Simon, who recently attacked the program's "loosely drawn eligibility guidelines" as a major cause of what he called "food stamp chiselers and rip-off artists" getting into the program.

In recent interviews, Kentucky's senators and representatives firmly proclaimed their continued support of the federal food stamp program. "I don't want anyone to go hungry," said Rep. Tim Lee Carter, R-Tompkinsville.

And again, on the general subject of reform the Kentuckians say they're all for it. "I want to get rid of some abuses in the program," said Sen. Wendell Ford, D-Ky.

But firm statements and agreement end when the talk turns to specific reforms.

Ford, for instance, believes reform must center on eliminating red tape in the program. A complex process of computing net income—allowing deductions for medical and utility bills as well as other expenses—is currently used to determine eligibility for the program.

But Carter said he would like to see workers spend even more time with food stamp applicants—not just filling out forms, but visiting in their homes to determine if they really need more food.

It isn't just Kentucky's legislators who have varying ideas about reforming the program. Some 150 food stamp reform bills have been introduced in the House and while many are repetitious or would change only one administrative practice, they reflect the wide diversity of congressional opinion on the program.

However, three bills are considered the major pieces of legislation. Although they differ in philosophy, parts of each are likely to form the food stamp reform bill expected to pass Congress sometime next year.

The most stringent reforms are contained in a bill introduced by Sen. James Buckley, Cons. N.Y., and Rep. Robert Michel, R-Ill. Their bill, estimated to save about $2 billion a year, would eliminate all income deductions except $25 a month for senior citizens.

And the income cutoff point would be the official federal poverty level. That means a family of four with an annual income of about $5,659—after the senior citizen deduction—wouldn't be eligible to receive food stamps.

The Buckley-Michel bill would also eliminate all slinkers from the program. And college students would no longer be eligible, unless they are dependents of families that meet the eligibility requirements.

More restrictive in its income guidelines is the administration bill, which would allow all recipients a standard $100 a month deduction, plus $25 a month for senior citizens.

The administration bill, which is supposed to save $1 billion a year, would eliminate any family of four with an annual income, after deductions, above $5,250.

Both the administration bill and a more liberal proposal from Sens. Robert Dole, R-Kansas, and George McGovern, D-S.D., would eliminate college students unless their families are eligible for food stamps.

The Dole-McGovern plan would allow more deductions than the other bills, including deductions for taxes and Social Security payments as well as a standard $25 a month deduction for all recipients and the $25 a month senior citizen provision in the other bills.

The Dole-McGovern eligibility line for a family of four would be drawn at $7,776 a year. A food stamp wouldn't be purchased. Currently, a family might pay $15 to get $162 worth of stamps. The Dole-McGovern bill would simply give them the $47 in benefits with no exchange of cash.

Here's where Kentucky's legislators stand on some of the major reform proposals:

Income eligibility.
Rep. John Breckinridge, D-Lexington, said he had nothing specific in mind. "I haven't made up my mind yet," on food stamp issues, he says.

Carter said, "I feel like $6,000 for a family of four is high enough."

Rep. Carl Perkins, D-Hindman, said, "I'm not acquainted with the pending legislation, but it's always been my purpose, and it's still my purpose, to see that needy people who are welfare recipients, the elderly and the handicapped and those in great need should receive food stamps."

Ford also said he didn't have a specific figure in mind for determining income eligibility.

Sen. Walter Huddleston, D-Ky., stated he believes the cutoff point should be above the federal poverty level, at about $7,500 or $8,000 a year for a family of four.

Allowable deductions.
Breckinridge again said he had nothing specific in mind.

Carter said he would support the $25 a month deduction for senior citizens but couldn't say what other deductions he might support.

Mrs. Hall Receives Presidential Award

Mrs. Eula Hall, social worker for the Mud Creek Health Project at Craynor, was honored with the American Public Health Association's Presidential Citation at the APHA's annual conference held in Chicago, Illinois, November 16-20.

Mrs. Hall was one of two persons who were accorded this honor in the U.S. for 1975. Betty Friedman, well-known author, was the other recipient.

Instrumental in establishing the Mud Creek Health Project, Mrs. Hall was honored for this and other work which has helped to bring adequate health care to her community as well as surrounding areas.

LIGHTWEIGHT BOXER HOLLOWAY DIES OF BRAIN INJURY

LAS VEGAS, Nev.—Lightweight boxer Roy Holloway of Los Angeles has died of brain injury after a ring mishap here. He died of severe swelling of the brain stem Friday night after being knocked out in a fight Wednesday, a spokesman at Valley Hospital said.

An autopsy has been ordered. Holloway struck his head on the press table when he was knocked out of the ring in the 10th round of a fight against Maguel Mayon.

Boxing officials said it was the first death in the sport in Las Vegas.

Pikeville Grocery Loses Food Stamps

Carroll's Grocery, of Pikeville, has been removed from the food stamp program because of violations, the U.S. Department of Agriculture's Food and Nutrition Service (FNS) reports.

The store, which is owned by John Carroll, was disqualified from the program for one year, starting Nov. 11. It had been charged with selling ineligible items, including clothing, motor oil, health and beauty aids and cleaning supplies, for food coupons.

Robert L. Cunningham, in charge of the Prestonsburg field office of the Food and Nutrition Service, said the store will not be allowed to accept food coupons during the disqualification period.

Cunningham added that food stamps, by law, can be used only to buy food. The only exceptions, he said, are garden seed and plants to be used to produce food.

"Mixing It Up" In the Mud

Although it's hard to be certain, a fackle seems to be in progress in this scene from Sunday's Turkey Bowl Classic.

Turkey Bowl Players Warm Up By Chasing Fugitive Gobbler

The Turkey Bowl East-West game of 1975 is just a painful memory for most participants in Sunday's local gridiron lunacy. The effort cost at least one broken nose suffered by Wayne Brown, numerous bruised ribs, stiff necks, and a general tendency to groan and limp a lot.

The West chalked up a 16-14 win, and the record now stands West, 4, East, 3, and one tie game.

Team members warmed up for the game in a somewhat unusual and haphazard manner. With the escape prior to the game of their mascot who obviously had got the word that he was not destined to become anybody's pampered pet, players made much yardage over the riverbank and up and down same in pursuit of the feathered fugitive. With seconds to go, man more proved he is superior to animal, at least when animal is out-numbered.

Discounting physical damage, nothing much happened in the first quarter. The second quarter saw Steve Crabtree score on a 29-yard pass from Steve Clark with the extra point try successful. In the same quarter, Wayne Brown scored on a seven-yard pass from Steve Clark. The extra point try failed and the score stood East, 14, West, 0.

Following an eventful halftime intermission, about which more will follow, John Leslie scored for the West on a nine-yard run with Wimpy Clark scoring the extra point. It was in the fourth quarter with only minutes to go, however, that East's feathers fell when Dennis Walker recovered a fumble in the end zone to score and put West in position of top turkey for 1975. This was cinched, with John Leslie's extra point run making the final score West, 16, and East, 14.

At halftime, Turkey Bowl Queen contestants, whose number had dwindled to three hardy heroine types, lined up for the slide across the 50 yard line to muddy victory. Emerging bedraggled but unbowed, Miss Maria Burchett was named Miss Turkey Bowl Queen for 1975. Runnersup were Miss Donna Horn and Miss Sharon VanLoose.

In addition to the above, two turkeys were awarded to fans for future use.

Throwing A Muddy Football

East quarterback Steve Clark unloads a short pass, typical of the form that led his team to a 14-0 half-time lead over the West. The West team avenged itself, however, scoring 16 points in the second half and winning the annual fracas.

Allen Central Edges Cats To Win Invitational Tourney

By BRIAN STURGILL

The Jenny Wiley Invitational Basketball Tournament ended Saturday night in an exciting clash between the Prestonsburg Blackcats and the Allen Central Rebels with the Rebels edging by the Blackcats, 54-53.

Though Allen Central led throughout the game, the Cats made a comeback to make the score 54-53 with 6 seconds remaining on the clock. After several timeouts and fouls the clock ran out, giving the Rebels their victory.

Trophies awarded after the game were:

Best playmaker, Lloyd Hall (Virgie); best rebounder, Donnie Newsome (Virgie); best defensive player, Tim Crisp (Prestonsburg); best offensive player, Ricky Paek (Allen Central); individual free throw, Ricky Paek (Allen Central); team free throw, Virgie; cheerleader runnerup, Johns Creek; cheerleader winner, Virgie; sportsmanship, Pikeville; consolation, Virgie; runnerup, Prestonsburg; champion, Allen Central.

High scores for Prestonsburg during the tournament were Lerick Morgan with 39 points and David Lemaster and Tim Crisp, both with 37.

Top scorers for the Rebels were Ricky Paek with 55 points and Doug Bailey and Charles Stone with 28 points each.

In earlier games of the tourney Allen Central defeated Johns Creek, 51-50; Virgie defeated Johnson Central 72 to 67; Prestonsburg defeated Elk Horn City, 50-47; Pikeville won over McDowell, 65 to 60; Allen Central eliminated Virgie, 59 to 50; and Prestonsburg ousted Pikeville, 65-49.

Table Tennis Tourney Set at PCC Saturday

The TATT Club (Table Tennis and Table Tennis) at Prestonsburg Community College will sponsor a Table Tennis Tournament Saturday, December 6, in the Martin Student Center on campus.

There will be five separate divisions of competition:

Male and female under seventeen begins at 9:30 a.m.; college students at 9:30 a.m.; open singles, novices begin at 11:30; intermediates begin at 1:00 p.m.; and advanced at 2:30 p.m.

Trophies will be awarded to the winners. For additional information, call Ron Chaffins or Ken Fuller at 886-3863.

Thought to Remember

By LARRY BURKE

There is a story from Arabia that is worth repeating.

A young man came to a wise old sheik, and asked, "What kind of people live in El Kamen?" I would like to move my family from our village."

"What kind of people live in your village now?" asked the sheik.

"Unpleasant, selfish and unfriendly," stated the young man.

"You will find them to be the same in El Kamen—they're unpleasant, selfish and unfriendly," advised the wise old sheik.

In a few days another young man approached the old sheik with the same question about El Kamen.

"What kind of people live in your village?" he again inquired.

"Wonderful, thoughtful and considerate," the young man said.

"The people in El Kamen are the same—wonderful, thoughtful and considerate," the old man smilingly replied.

This is just a story—but isn't it true that by our attitudes we make life just about what it is.

Blackcats Lose Opener To Millard, 67-57

By BRIAN STURGILL

The Prestonsburg High School Blackcats opened their 1975-'76 season with a 67-57 loss to the Millard Mustangs.

Despite the loss, David LeMaster, Purgard forward, enjoyed a fine night, scoring 23 points. Other high scorers for the Blackcats were Mike Dixon and Jim Crisp with 16 each, and Ricky Morgan with six.

Top scorers for the Mustangs were Fred Boyd, Ricky Adkins and Mick Stanley, all with 16 points, and David Boelke, with 15 points.

Deerhunters Are Unhappy As Lake Road Still Closed

It's deer-hunting time, but hunters are having trouble reaching some of their favorite hunting grounds in the upper reaches of Dewey Lake.

The lake has been drawn down 20 feet to permit dredging of the Jenny Wiley boat dock harbor, and that has left water only in the original Johns Creek stream bed, down-lake. Farther upstream, the water is not negotiable by boat.

And those going into the German area to hunt cannot travel by road into the Copperas Creek area, since the 2.7 miles of county road leading from the German bridge to Copperas Creek has been closed since September by the U. S. Corps of Engineers.

Hunters' protests increased with the opening of the deer season. Dean Murray, reservoir manager, recipient of most of the protest "fallout," said he closed the road to vehicular traffic on instructions from the Huntington district office. The road was closed, it was said, because work at its upper entrance was begun on the German campground by the Corps of Engineers and open trenches were a safety hazard to motorists. Owners of property downstream from the campground are being permitted access.

County Judge Henry Slumbo, who has contacted Corps personnel about the situation, could not be reached for comment this week. There has developed, however, no confrontation between the county and the Corps of Engineers.

The road from German to Copperas Creek is a county road, with the county holding right-of-way easements granted by the Corps, but the easement document provides that the U. S. government may close the road for safety or other valid reasons.

CANADIAN GAS PRICES HIT 83 CENTS FOR REGULAR

If you plan to take a trip into Canada this fall or winter, expect to pay about 83 cents for a gallon of regular gasoline.

Compared to the average 59 cents Americans have been paying recently, the Canadian price is higher even taking into account that the Canadian imperial gallon gives motorists one-fourth more gasoline than an American gallon. (Canadians measure liquids in imperial gallons that contain 160 fluid ounces as compared to the U. S. gallon of 128 fluid ounces, a difference of 25 per cent.)

The Canadian gasoline price reflects a new 10-cent tax and a rise of about 5 cents in the crude-oil price allowed by the government.

Driver Program To Be Expanded

Frankfort, Ky.—Kentucky's already highly successful driver improvement program may be expanded soon to reach an even larger number of traffic violators.

According to state Transportation Secretary John C. Roberts, the program, which until now has been limited to providing classroom training and counseling only for traffic offenders with eight or more points on their driver record, may be further upgraded soon to include offenders at the six-point level.

Roberts said that the anticipated change should be made possible by the allocation of an additional $54,500 to the state's division of driver licensing, which administers the program. The division is an agency of the state's Department of Transportation.

The additional funds are coming from the state's Office of Highway Safety Programs, which earlier this year received $1.8 million from the Federal Highway Safety Administration for allocation to state and local traffic safety programs.

"With the present rate of traffic deaths in Kentucky moving steadily upward, the importance of this program with its consistently good record of helping motorists with their driving problems now assumes even greater significance than before," Roberts said.

Eugene Hodges, director of the driver licensing division, said that of those drivers who have completed the 10-hour training program each year since it first was organized, only three per cent have had later trouble with the law to the extent that their licenses had to be suspended.

Of those who quit the course before completion, approximately 50 per cent are suspended within two years.

The state currently conducts the program through 16 clinics located at Paducah, Hopkinsville, Glasgow, Elizabethtown, Louisville, Crescent Springs, Catlettsburg, Somerset, Harlan, Prestonsburg, Lexington, Owensboro, Henderson, Hazard and Bowling Green. Last year's graduates from all 16 clinics totaled 5,821.

Until recently, any driver completing the course successfully was granted a three-point credit on his driver record. However, Hodges said that under a recent rules revision, his office now is authorized to raise the credit to four points.

In other words, said Hodges, "if you were a six-point violator, successful completion of the program would automatically reduce the total number of points against you on our records to two."

Hodges said that the new money being allocated to the program will be used to hire additional instructors and purchase 10 new movie projectors and 22 new training films. Limited seating in the clinics also will be upgraded, he said. "Hopefully, the end result will be both a reduction in the number of traffic violators and traffic accidents because we will be reaching more errand drivers at earlier stages," Hodges said.

Most of the offenders dealt with in the clinics have been convicted of speeding, reckless driving or driving while intoxicated, which, Hodges noted, are the three main causes behind the majority of the state's traffic injury and fatality accidents.

Chief Scout Executive To Speak in Area

Alden G. Barber, chief Scout executive of the Boy Scouts of America, will be the principal speaker at the Annual Recognition Banquet of the Lonesome Pine Council, Boy Scouts of America, Friday evening, March 26, it was announced today by John Fischer, of Big Stone Gap, president of the Lonesome Pine Council.

"This is the first time a chief scout executive has ever visited the Lonesome Pine Council since its founding in 1934," Fischer said, "and Mr. Barber's visit indicates his sincere interest in helping us provide for the boys of eastern Kentucky and southwest Virginia the highest quality Scouting program possible."

The banquet will be held at the Elkhorn Country Club at Jenkins, and all adult Scout Leaders as well as those who work on the district and council level, will be invited to participate. Fischer said that the purpose of the banquet is to recognize the outstanding service of the many volunteer leaders throughout all thirteen counties served by the Lonesome Pine Council.

1,800 YOUNGSTERS ARRIVE IN CHICAGO FOR 4-H MEETING. CHICAGO—More than 1,600 youngsters arrived in Chicago Sunday for the five-day National 4-H Congress. Representatives from all 50 states, the District of Columbia and Puerto Rico are expected to attend the 54th annual convention.

More than 250 national and regional scholarships worth a total of $203,500 will be given. Eight former 4-H members, including Sen. Dale Bumpers, D-Ark., will be honored in the alumni recognition program.

The convention, which runs through Thursday, will feature judging of national winners in 4-H competition and an appearance by the 1975 Miss America, Tawny Godin.

Leadership Posts Decided In New Kentucky Assembly

GILBERTSVILLE—Leadership positions in the 1976 Kentucky General Assembly were decided here Monday during party caucus elections. House Democrats—William Kenton of Lexington was elected House speaker, after being nominated by Norbert Blume of Louisville, who relinquished the position after two terms.

Kenton and other House leadership candidates ran unopposed and were reported to be handpicked by the administration of Gov. Julian Carroll. Others elected were: Lloyd Clapp of Wingo, speaker pro-tem; Bobby Richardson of Glasgow, majority leader; William Donnermeyer of Bellevue, caucus chairman; and Dwight Wells of Richmond, whip.

Republicans—Harold DeMarcus, of Stanford, beat Larry Hopkins, of Lexington, for minority leader by a vote of 12 to 8. DeMarcus will start his fourth consecutive term in the job this January.

Herman W. Ratliff of Campbellsville, defeated Louis B. Gumbert Jr. of Louisville for caucus chairman, succeeding Hopkins. In the race for minority whip, Arthur L. Schmidt of Cold Springs lost in his attempt for reelection to Raymond Overstreet of Liberty.

Senate Democrats—The Democratic leadership in the Senate underwent a major but expected restructuring. Tom Williams, secretary, despite her husband, Garrett, of Paducah was re-elected to a second term as majority floor leader.

Joe Prather of Vine Grove succeeded William Sullivan of Henderson as second pro-tem. Sullivan had served four terms in that job. Danny Yocom of Louisville succeeded Joe Stacy of West Liberty as caucus chairman. Stacy did not run for reelection. And Pat McCushton of Pembroke was elected to the new position of assistant president pro-tem. Kelsey Friend of Pikeville succeeded William Gentry of Bardstown as majority whip.

Senate Republicans—Eugene Stuart of Louisville was elected minority floor leader by a 6 to 2 vote over Gene Huff of London. Huff was also nominated for whip but was beaten 4 to 3 by Joe Graves of Lexington.

Walter Baker of Glasgow was elected caucus chairman, and Virginia Homan of Lawrenceburg was hired as the GOP senators' secretary, despite her husband, Ralph's, defection to the Democratic party in the last two statewide elections.

The Study of Winter Trees

Winter is the ideal time to learn the trees better. The bark is the best feature for studying trees in winter. There are a number of trees that they shed their outer bark quickly by the way they shed their outer bark.

1. THE SHAGBARK HICKORY. This tree sheds its outer bark in long, thin strips which cling to the trunk at the ends, giving the tree a shaggy look hence the name, shagbark. One may identify this tree at any time by its loosely hanging outer bark. These thin strips are easily pulled from the trunk and make fine kindling for starting a campfire.

Mid-State Homes, Inc. . . . PIF.

VS. NOTICE OF SALE

Lige Collins and Victoria Collins . . . Defendants.

By virtue of a judgment and order of sale of the Floyd Circuit Court rendered at the October 30 term, 1975 in the above-styled cause I shall proceed to offer for sale at the Courthouse door in Prestonsburg, Kentucky, to the highest and best bidder at public auction, on the 5th day of December, 1975 at 10 o'clock a.m., same being a day of the regular term of the Floyd Circuit Court, for cash or upon a credit of six months, the following described property to-wit:

Being the same property conveyed to the defendants by Manual Perkins and wife, by deed dated January 28, 1957, which is recorded in Deed Book 164, page 629, Floyd County Court records, and is more particularly described as follows:

A certain tract or parcel of land on the west side of the Big Sandy River, beginning at the southeast corner of the property of Alice Nunnery; thence an east course with the north line of Davis Street, a distance of 8 feet to a stake in the west edge of a 12 foot road lead into Big Sandy River; thence with the west side of said road as it curves and with a fence passing 5 feet southeast of corner of porch to house on said land; to a stake in the property line of Alice Nunnery in the edge of said 12 foot road, thence leaving the line of said 12 foot road and running a south course with property line of Alice Nunnery to the beginning, for source of title refer to Book 198, page 491, Floyd County Court records.

This property is located near Tram, Kentucky.

The amount of money to be raised by this sale shall be in the principal sum of $6,070.40 with interest thereon at 6 pct. annually from the 30th day of October, 1975 until satisfied and the costs of this action, including costs of advertising of this sale and the fees and commissions for conducting this sale.

For the purchase price the purchaser must execute bond with approved surety or sureties, bearing legal interest from the day of sale until paid and having the force and effect of a judgment with a lien retained upon said property as a further security. Bidders will be prepared to comply with these terms.

Given under my hand, this 14th day of November 1975.

2 SYCAMORES. Large sycamores shed their outer bark in late autumn and stand stark white in winter. The sycamore may be identified in winter by its glistening white trunk. Winter sycamores with their tall, white columns standing lofty beside a stream add picturesque grandeur to the countryside.

3 THE RIVER BIRCH. This tree is known locally as "water birch." It sheds its outer bark in thin, papery layers which are coated with a grayish powder. The bark clings to the trunk, giving the tree a ragged, unkempt look. The river birch grows to a large size along the banks of streams. The tough wood was formerly used to make wagon hubs and rims. River birches add much to the picturesque scenery along streams.

4 THE RED OAK. The outer bark of the red oak has shallow furrows and flat-topped ridges. Its bark is not deeply furrowed like that of the black oak; it is a grayish-brown, but when you cut through the outer bark you will find reddish-brown bark—hence the name.

5 THE CHESTNUT OAK. You can quickly identify the chestnut oak by its rugged bark, with the deep furrows between large, rounded ridges. The furrows of a large chestnut oak are often six inches deep. The roughly furrowed bark gives the tree a burly appearance. This tree is also known as "rock oak," as its favorite habitat is on high, rocky ridges and wind-swept heights, where it grows to immense size. The bark is rich in tannic acid and was once widely used for tanning leather. The tree gets its name from the strong likeness of its leaves to those of the extinct chestnut.

6 THE BLACK OAK. The outer bark of the black oak is often quite black, but when you cut through this rugged outer bark you will find the inner bark a rich yellowish-orange color—a sure sign of a black oak. Oldtimers often make a beautiful orange-colored dye from the inner bark of the black oak.

2 Coal Companies Agree to Damages

Clarence Maggard Coal Co. of Perry county recently agreed to pay the state a $3,500 civil penalty and to construct a settling pond for its strip mine operation. This came as a result of action taken by the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection.

The environmental protection department assessed the civil penalty and a remaining cash performance bond in the amount of $6,500 that will be held by the department until construction on the settling pond has been satisfactorily completed. If the requirements for the settling pond are fulfilled within the 60-day period allowed in the agreed order, the department will return the cash performance bond to the company.

Robyn Coal Co., of Letcher county, also agreed to pay the state $2,000 as a result of action taken by the state environmental protection department. The Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection had charged the company with strip mining without a permit near Beaver Dam Branch near Colson.

The department has agreed that reclamation of the disturbed land has been satisfactorily completed. The department has also agreed to the dissolution of a previously issued restraining order.

The Employment Standards Administration of the U.S. Department of Labor seeks to upgrade the status of working women minority group members and handicapped persons.

Chorus To Present 'Messiah' Dec. 7th

The Prestonsburg Community College chorus will present "The Messiah" Sunday, Dec. 7, at 2 p.m. in Pike Auditorium at the college. A second performance will be given that evening at 8 p.m. at the Mayo Methodist Church, Parisville.

Soloists for the performance will be Don Fernandez, tenor; Doug Smith, bass; Louise Cooper, soprano; Rebecca Haywood, soprano; Elizabeth Sutherland, contralto. Mary Grace Garland will accompany the chorus and soloists. The performance will be under the direction of Gus Kalos, head of the music department at Prestonsburg Community College.

"The Messiah" was completed by Handel during the twenty-four days between August 22 and September 14, 1741. After a rehearsal on April 8, 1742, it was performed for the first time at a charity concert held at Dublin on April 13. Approximately a year later, it was heard in London on March 23, 1743 but since that time has probably had more performances than any masterpiece in the history of music.

The public is invited to attend the program.

Schlesinger Hits "Imperial" Presidency

Noted author-historian Arthur Schlesinger, Jr. says the Presidency of Gerald Ford—a man whose name has never appeared on a Presidential ballot—is "imperial" in nature, and an acquiescent Congress is to blame. Contrary to opinions held by skilled observers at the time, the office of Presidency was neither weakened nor diminished by Watergate events, in fact, he asserts, Presidential authority may be broader than ever.

Writing in the December issue of Reader's Digest, Schlesinger says, "On issue after issue, Congress has shown itself confused, vacillating, dilatory and ineffectual." During the Nixon administration White House staff burgeoned, isolating the President, weakening the Cabinet, and concealing policy behind the shield of executive privilege. In the face of this, the Ford administration submitted a bill that would nearly double top White House staff and would provide the Vice President with more high-priced assistance than Franklin D. Roosevelt had during World War II. "Confronted by this preposterous requisition, the House of Representatives voted to give the President what he wanted," the historian observes.

A weak Congress only makes the President more powerful, Schlesinger notes, and points to Ford's veto rate in relationship to past Presidents. "Nixon in nearly six years vetoed 43 Congressional bills, the mighty Lyndon Johnson only 30 in 5 years. John Kennedy in 3 years, President Ford, the loyal Capitol Hill man such a short time before, has vetoed 38 bills in 15 months. Nearly all of his vetoes have been sustained."

When Ford invoked gunboat diplomacy last May to rescue the seized merchant ship Mayaguez from Cambodian territory, it was an action, according to Schlesinger, that merited "close Congressional scrutiny." Despite the fact that the President had acted without Congressional approval or consultation, few voices were heard from Capitol Hill to question the affair and there was no formal hearing.

What has happened to the checks and balances? The President, by virtue of the complexities of government today, must exercise initiative and decisive leadership. But, according to Schlesinger, he should also be accountable to the other branches of government, the press and the people and preferably in advance of his actions. This accountability will not come about without strenuous efforts on the part of all involved. A strong Cabinet, which Schlesinger feels President Ford has, should make the President aware of the needs and concerns of the nation. The Congress, which in his view has abdicated power, must reassert itself—an act which will require courage and will. And finally, the American people, as voters, must insist on accountability. "One fears," Schlesinger writes, "that too many Americans not only long to admire their President but have such a terror of responsibility in this dangerous and intimidating world that they secretly want a leader who will make their decisions for them."

Noting that a nation usually gets the government it deserves, he concludes that the will and resolve of the voter will ultimately determine the power of the President.

Floyd County Health Notes

By DONNA J. GRIFFITH
A pap smear clinic will be held at the Floyd County Health Department Thursday, December 4, from 9 a.m. to 2 p.m. The health department reminds all women that deaths caused by cervical cancer could be completely eliminated if all women would have a pap smear at least once a year.

On Monday, December 8, a health nurse will conduct an outpost clinic in the basement of the Methodist Church at Wayland from 10 a.m. to 2 p.m., with the following free services being available: immunizations, diabetes screening, TB skin tests and blood pressure. All persons in the Wayland vicinity are urged to take advantage of these free services in their community.

The weight control class held in the basement of the health department every Tuesday night has been temporarily cancelled until January. The health department will advertise the next weight control class meeting in this newspaper and on local radio stations.

NET MEETING TOMORROW
The East Kentucky HSA, Inc. will hold its next meeting at 9:30 a.m., tomorrow (Thursday) at the Steak House, 1464 W. Lexington Avenue, Winchester.

Male household heads working full-time reported the highest weekly earnings average in May 1975—a median of $231, up from $214 in 1974, according to the Labor Department's Bureau of Labor Statistics.

Consumer Comments

By ED W. HANCOCK
Attorney General

Do you know your rights as a consumer in Kentucky? The Commonwealth of Kentucky protects its citizens as consumers through the Kentucky Consumer Protection Statutes. These statutes provide for the Attorney General's Division of Consumer Protection and consumer education is one of the duties of this office.

The Attorney General's Office has a consumer education specialist to help educate consumers as to their rights and responsibilities in the marketplace. This educational program is carried on through the use of brochures, speeches, a film, articles such as this one and other activities.

The film, THE BAD APPLE, is a satire reviewing the Consumer Protection laws and making suggestions for avoiding consumer problems. The film is distributed free of charge to any group in Kentucky. If you would be interested in viewing this film, write the consumer protection division so that the film can be scheduled at your convenience.

Also, the division has two brochures, which are distributed free of charge to any interested individuals or groups. "KENTUCKY'S CONSUMER PROTECTION LAWS" is a complete listing of laws which protect the consumer in Kentucky. "10 DANGER SIGNALS IN BUYING" provides helpful hints for protecting yourself against "rip-offs" by fraudulent businesses.

The consumer protection division will also provide a speaker to any school, civic or church group. A program on consumer protection will include information on how to file a consumer complaint, as well as describe a consumer's rights and responsibilities in Kentucky.

Organizing consumer workshops, answering questions, developing new brochures are a few more of the services the division supplies.

The people in the consumer protection division think it is important that Ken-

The Old Brown Fields

By GEORGE L. MOORE

James A. Brown, member of the 22nd Kentucky Infantry, enlisted in the Civil War at an early age. On the Union side he served his country well, taking part in many skirmishes. In the battle of Gettysburg he was severely wounded when General Lee sent Pickett in a desperate attempt to break through the Union lines. The attempt failed but "Uncle Jim," as he was later called, was in the hand-to-hand fighting that ensued.

In time he recovered, returned to his native Kentucky, married and settled down on the high rolling hills between Arab Fork and Clay Fork of Sinking Creek. It was at that time a part of Carter county, but has since been added to Elliott county. The land was little more than a wilderness at that time. Except for few cleared patches here and there, it was covered with virgin forest. Giant walnuts, tall yellow poplars and stately white oaks dotted the landscape. Here for centuries leaves had dropped from the lofty boughs to form a thick carpet on the forest floor. Underneath this soft cushion of decayed vegetation was a rich black loam, the most fertile soil that could be found anywhere.

It was on a level place in this valley, between two gentle sloping hills, that the ex-soldier and his wife settled down to carve a farm out of the wilderness. They built a sturdy log house, a smoke house and a log barn. There was not much cost involved in building a house in those days. Most of the materials were taken directly from the forest. In most cases the floors were made of puncheons and the roofs were made from handmade boards. Puncheons made a surprisingly good floor that was virtually indestructible. Some of the puncheons that were placed in my grandfather's house in 1830 are in existence today. Puncheons were made by splitting five-inch slices from straight grained virgin trees and then hem to a marble smoothness with a broad ax. The finished product was about three inches thick and well over a foot wide. When scrubbed with the fly soap and sand they had a white, frothy appearance that was pleasing to the eye.

Each year, right before some interest to take a trip through Uncle Jim's smokehouse. It was log structure some 12 feet wide by 20 feet long. It had a dirt floor. As you entered, there were a number of wooden barrels lined up around the wall. First, there was a barrel of pickled corn, followed by a barrel of pickled beans, a barrel of kumquat, a barrel of molasses, and two barrels of sulphured apples. The reason for the large supply of sulphured apples was that they were thought to have a medicinal value and were consumed daily by all members of the family. Toward the back of the house a trench was dug five inches deep and three feet wide. Cabbages were brought in from the garden and placed in the trench head downward. The roots were left attached. They were covered with a thin layer of earth with the tip of the roots exposed. In this manner they were kept fresh during the entire winter.

The main function of the smokehouse was for storing meat. On one side of the house was a wide shelf made from puncheon boards. After the hogs were slaughtered, the hams, shoulders, sides of bacon and the jowls were placed on this shelf and salted down. When the meat had absorbed enough salt, it was suspended from the ceiling and a hickory smoke was placed under it on the ground below. It was kept in this manner until the desired flavor was attained. Pumpkins, too large to push under the bed for storage, were cut in rings and hung on pegs protruding from the wall. There was also a bin in the back for dried corn and another for dried apples. There were numerous strings of green beans suspended from the rafters. They were called staked beans or "leather britches" with the use of an ax and a mattock.

Uncle Jim began to push back the forest. In a few years wide, gentle sloping fields spread out from the house on both sides of the valley. Here he was to live a half century and raise a large family. The orchard that he planted here lasted for 75 years. Some of the apple trees grew to enormous size. They were called Frosty Milans. They were so called because they did not ripen till hard frost. Uncle Jim was one of the most respected citizens in the community. As much as was possible, he lived in peace and harmony with all men. It was said of him that he was willing to make any sacrifice or go to any length to avoid controversy with his fellowman. This is best illustrated on one occasion when he purchased a sheep and was driving it home for slaughtering the following day. As he traveled along the trail, he came to a place where some men were raising a barn. They were working some distance above the road. He tied the sheep to a bush by the roadside and went up to visit with the men. In the meantime, Old Clabe Jones came along and appropriated the sheep for himself. When Uncle Jim was told what happened, he spoke not a harsh word but continued his homeward journey.

A few weeks later he met Old Clabe, face to face. The only words that were spoken were: "Was that pretty good mutton, Clabe?" Uncle Jim was known, far and wide, for his kindness and sympathy for those who were sick or in distress. He never failed to pay a visit to a home in which there was a serious illness. He was always there to offer his sympathy and lend a helping hand in any way that he could. He never failed to attend a funeral that was in riding distance from his home.

It was a common saying in the community that there should be a large crowd at Uncle Jim's funeral, since he had been so faithful in attending others. This saying came true in 1924 when a huge crowd gathered to pay their last respects. Here beneath the spreading oaks that overlook his beloved farm, they laid him to rest.

A century has passed since he started to clear this land but today all the people in this part of the country still refer to these fields as the Old Brown Fields.

Voices of Appalachia To Be Heard at Church

"Voices of Appalachia," Alice Lloyd College singing group, will present a religious music concert at the Hueysville Church of Christ during the worship service at 11 a.m. Sunday, December 7. The choir is under the direction of Mr. Greider of Alice Lloyd College and every year the choir tours the United States. This year they will perform at Hueysville, before starting on their Christmas tour. Fred Klataka, minister of the Church of Christ, welcomes the public to this worship service consisting of praises in song.

Kentucky Afield

With Thanksgiving over, most of us turn our thoughts toward Christmas and the problem of the right gift. If you are buying a present for a hunter or fisherman, this problem can be eased considerably, for there are literally hundreds of items in all price ranges that the sportsman will welcome.

The best bet for the person who knows little about hunting and fishing equipment is to seek the advice of a knowledgeable salesperson in a sporting goods store about brand names, styles and sizes. A safe practice is to stick to the medium-priced article which is usually of high quality and lacks only the frills or the flash of a more expensive counterpart. The low priced items may not meet the needs of the sportsman or they may be poorly constructed of low-quality materials.

Anyone contemplating a major gift, such as a boat and motor, should forego the element of surprise and let the recipient choose his own, since he will probably have some definite ideas about what he needs and wants.

For the fisherman, choice gifts are tackle boxes, lures, lines, hooks, fish stringers, boats, sinkers, filling knives, bait knockers, flashlights, small first aid kits, reel oil and gear lubricants. Or the fisherman may welcome some of the newer electronic gadgets, such as electric trolling motors, depth finders, electronic thermometers or oxygen meters.

For the hunter, there are rifles, shotguns, bows and arrows or other archery equipment, gun cases, telescopes, binoculars, gun racks, shells, decoys, hunting coats, pants, boots, caps, duck and goose calls, reloading tools, pocket and sheath knives, shooting glasses, cleaning kits or even sharpening stones.

For either the hunter or fisherman, there are tents, sleeping bags, air mattresses, lanterns, thermos jugs, insulated inner and outer wear, rain gear, life saving devices, ice chests, camp cook stoves and heaters or even camp cooking utensils.

Or if the sportsman on your list also likes to read, you might consider giving him a subscription to a hunting and fishing magazine or making a gift of one of the many books on hunting, fishing, camping or woodlore which are available at most bookstores. Another possibility is "Kentucky Happy Hunting Ground," the official publication of the Department of Fish and Wildlife Resources. A one-year subscription (6

LOSING HAIR?

Many conditions can cause hair loss. No matter which one is causing your hair loss, if you wait until you are slick bald and your hair roots are dead you are beyond help. So, if you still have hair on top of your head, and would like to stop hair loss and grow more hair, now is the time to do something about it before it's too late.

FREE CONSULTATION
Just take a few minutes of your time on MONDAY, DEC. 8 & TUESDAY, DEC. 9 and go to the LANDMARK MOTEL, PIKEVILLE, between 1 p.m. and 8:30 p.m. and ask the Desk Clerk for F. W. Dangler's room number.

CANT HELP
Male pattern baldness is the cause of a great majority of cases of baldness and excessive hair loss for which no method is effective. Lesley Hair Specialist cannot help those who are slick bald after years of gradual hair loss.

Don't Put It Off
There is no charge or obligation. All consultations are private, you will not be embarrassed in any way.

Gonorrhea Increases Through State

By DIANA PETERS

Frankfort, Ky.—It is estimated that during the next fiscal year 12,000 cases of gonorrhea will be reported to the Department for Human Resources (DHR)—more than all other communicable diseases combined.

In the last six years, the cases of gonorrhea reported by Kentuckians has doubled. The disease has increased six percent to 20 percent each year over the past five years. In 1970, DHR received 4,319 reports and last year, the department received 10,133 reports. (One-third of these cases are persons between the ages of 15 and 19.)

Because the cases of gonorrhea have increased each year, DHR is boosting its public awareness campaign on venereal disease and aiding new educational services geared to health professionals.

A video-taped gonorrhea workshop, seven hours in length, is available through the Venereal Disease Control Section's division for preventive services. It can be presented in one day or in two half-day sessions. Already the tape has been presented to some 300 persons in 50 counties.

Various health professionals and Bureau for Health Services staff cover all aspects of gonorrhea control from specimen collection techniques to the interviewing of contacts. Although the workshop was created primarily for public health nurses, it is designed to enlighten anyone working with gonorrhea control—physicians, student health personnel, hospital nurses, family planning personnel and others.

Any health care organization may request the workshop through the training section of the Community Health Services. For more information about the content, contact the Venereal Disease Control Section, Bureau for Health Services, Department for Human Resources Building, 225 E. Main, Frankfort, Ky. 40601.

PSC Approves Gas Adjustment Decrease

FRANKFORT, Ky.—The Kentucky Public Service Commission (PSC) has approved a rate adjustment decrease by West (H) Co. due to a decrease by its supplier, Columbia Gas Transmission Corp.

The West Virginia firm sells to several southeastern Kentucky firms. The adjustment will result in a $24,411 savings to consumers and affects gas supplied on and after Sept. 2, 1975.

Commission Secretary Richard Heman said the PSC had previously provided for such rate adjustments through a purchased gas adjustment clause which outlines conditions for rate adjustments due to an increase or decrease in the wholesale cost of gas.

The commission is an agency within the state's Public Protection and Regulation Cabinet.

Girl Scout News

An organizational meeting was held, Nov. 18, at the Church of Christ, at Martin, for the Brownie Girl Scouts. Mrs. Rita Jenkins has been named leader, and Mrs. Bernice Howard, assistant leader. Mrs. Jenkins' troop committee is composed of Mrs. Truby Akers, Mrs. Ruby Mayo, Mrs. Patty Taylor, and Mrs. Sarah Fitch. Others attending were Mrs. Wanda Skeans, Mrs. Phyllis Gearheart, Mrs. Sylvia Terry, Mrs. Glenna Mulkey, Mrs. Sandy Patton, Field Director, and Mrs. Lila DeRossett, Service Unit Chairman. A total of 45 girls, first thru third grade, have expressed their desire to become Brownie Scouts. They plan to meet at the church on Tuesdays, 2:45 to 3:45 p.m.
A song fest was held, November 22, at the Drift Community Center. A total of 69 attendees from the following troops: Drift Jr. 84, Wayland Jr. 84, Wayland Brownies, Allen Cadette 228, McDowell Brownies 841, Prestonsburg Jrs. 665, Prestonsburg Brownies 866, Allen Brownies 894, Goble-Roberts Brownies 19, Auxier Jrs. 65, and Allen Seniors 532. Adults attending were Mrs. Sandy Patton, field director; Mrs. Lila P. DeRossett, service unit chairman; Diantha Hodges, Doreen Martin, and Lynda Maggard, of Drift; Sheila Bentley, Novella B. Froman, and Stella Bentley, Wayland; Eula Ferguson, Auxier; Christine Stumbo, McDowell; Carolina Owens, Nell Lawson and Teddi Pence, Prestonsburg; Lula Ratliff, Allen; Sue DeRossett and Denna Goble, Goble-Roberts. Representing the Senior Scouts was Miss Cindy Roth, of Goble-Roberts. Miss Kimberly DeRossett, of Allen, represented the Cadettes. A total of nine non-scouts enjoyed the event, and were presented patches, along with all the others. The patches were designed and made by the Auxier Cadettes 125 and Auxier Juniors 65. Refreshments were served by the Drift Junior 634 troop.
Training for Girl Scout cookie chairman was held, Nov. 25, at the Floyd County Library. Mrs. Sandy Patton, field director, advised the following: Mrs. Lula Ratliff, and Mrs. Lila DeRossett, Allen; Mrs. Shirlee Branhm, Prestonsburg; Mrs. Carolyn Owens and Mrs. Barbara Mandeville, Paintsville. Floyd County is ordering approximately 7,000 boxes of cookies.
Due to illness in the family, Mrs. Judy Spencer, of the Maytown Brownie Girl Scout troop, has resigned as leader. If any one else in Langley, or surrounding areas, wish to resume this leader position, please contact Sandy Patton, 285-3012 or Lila F. DeRossett, 874-2844. Thirteen little Brownie-age girls are very anxious to get started having fun and learning.

Training for the service unit team will be held December 8 at the Floyd Co. Library, 10 a.m. to 1 p.m. The next service unit meeting in Dec. 4, 7 p.m. at Allen Methodist Church. Come, sample the cookies.
An adult backpacking week-end was held, November 7-9. A number of Johnson county leaders attended this event, and listening to them tell about it would convince any one that they had loads of fun—and sore muscles.
Out of all the service units in Wilderness Road Council, only one unit, the Ironhills Service Unit in fronton, Ohio, received the Emerald Trefoil Award, in 1975. Floyd County could have been awarded this award if seven troops had registered their troop committee people. We met all the other qualifications.

To Subscribers

Please note date shown opposite your name on your copy of The Times or on the wrapper. If the date reads, for instance, "Oct. 75," your subscription will expire at the end of October.
Because of increased mailing costs, notices to subscribers of their expiration dates will be discontinued. Subscriptions which have expired must be cancelled within one month of the expiration date.
Yearly subscription rates are: $6.30 in Floyd county; $7.35 elsewhere in Kentucky; $8.50 outside Kentucky.

Have Your Car Checked For Winter Driving

Frankfort, Ky.—Despite the warnings issued by traffic safety officials every winter, accidental asphyxiation—or death by carbon monoxide fumes—remains one of the season's major killers. Last winter, a Kentucky man never woke up after being lulled to sleep in his parked, tightly-closed automobile by the soft, caressing warmth from his car heater and maybe—as investigators conjectured afterward—from the soothing influence of a few drinks. His death was officially attributed to a faulty exhaust system that allowed the deadly fumes to seep through the car floorboards while he slept. Paul Stivers, assistant director of the state's division of inspections in the Kentucky Department of Transportation here, tells the story to illustrate this very real danger to winter motorists. "It is during the winter months—when motorists drive with their cars sealed tightly to keep out the cold—that the danger is the greatest," he said. "And the best protection against it happening to you is to get that exhaust system checked now—even if your car is not due for its annual inspection for several months yet."

Snow tires also are a good investment. They should be put on a car at the first advent of bad weather and removed as soon as dangerous road conditions disappear in the spring.

"The most important thing to remember about snow tires is that you must use the same size on both sides of the axle," he said. "If the car is not balanced on tires of equal size, you'll be setting up an unsafe condition which counteracts the skid-protection that the tires are designed to provide." Obviously, good tire conditions also are a safety factor for the winter driver and you will want to know that your defroster is working properly, he said. Stivers also urged that motorists check the antifreeze level in their automatic window washing mechanism so that the liquid won't freeze on the windshield and obscure the driver's vision.

And for that comfortable feeling that comes from knowing that your car won't let you down along a remote highway on a cold winter night, check your battery and spark plugs now. Many of these safety checks can be run by the car owner.

Again, Stivers emphasized: "If time is drawing near for your car's mandatory inspection, go on and have it done early. But if that time is still some way off, have a mechanic go ahead and check the exhaust and the other systems anyway," he said. "It could save a lot of grief."

Plan Week-End Revival At Allen Methodist

God's Looking Glass, a gospel quartet from Morehead State University, will be holding a week-end revival and gospel singing services at the Allen United Methodist Church, December 5 through Dec. 7, at 7 p.m. daily. The pastor extends a warm welcome to all.

Kentucky Delegate At National Meet

Jeffery J. Martin is attending the National 4-H Club Congress in Chicago this week as one of the delegates from Kentucky. The Floyd county boy was selected on the basis of his overall 4-H club record and especially his work in the poultry project.

He has been county and area champion in this project for the last six years. Other major honors received include state championship in poultry judging, runner-up in the state vegetable judging contest. He has represented the county at the State Environmental Camp and has been a junior leader for the last four years.

Jeffery is the 18-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Graydon Martin, of Langley. He is a 1975 graduate of Allen Central High School and is now enrolled at Mayo Vocational School.

The U. S. Department of Labor's Bureau of Labor Statistics reported that the proportion of workers on extended hours who received premium pay declined from about 43 percent in 1973 to 36 percent in 1975.

Forestry Officials Go Back To School

About 200 foresters and fire fighters went back to school recently.

Almost all the field personnel of the division of forestry in the Kentucky Department for Natural Resources and Environmental Protection gathered at Kentucky Dam Village for three days of training designed to prepare them for the upcoming fall forest fire season.

Divided into groups of 50, the students studied the problems of fire behavior, safety on fire lines and first aid, as well as reviewed forest management and utilization. Said Harry Nadler, director of the forestry division, "We hope we never have to use some of the things taught here, but our people must be trained in case there is an accident during the fighting of a forest fire."

Nadler said the three-day session is the only training session which brings together at one time personnel from all nine district offices plus Frankfort. "This statewide meeting," said Nadler, "gives our personnel from the various districts an opportunity to discuss mutual problems."

Districts conduct their own periodic training sessions during the year and foresters receive individual training. The district offices are in Morehead, Prestonsburg, Hazard, Pineville, Stamping Ground, Elizabethtown, Campbellsville, Madisonville, and Mayfield. A few fire fighters remained in each district office during the recent school.

Awards for outstanding work were presented during the school by Nadler. Andrew Adott of Route 4 Monticello received an award for the best job on fire control, prevention and suppression. Adott is a unit ranger responsible for supervising fire control activities in Wayne, Clinton and Cumberland counties.

Charles R. Skaggs of Putney received an award for the best overall job during the spring tree sale campaign. Skaggs is a county ranger in Harlan County, which is part of the southeastern district.

The central district, based in Elizabethtown, was cited for outstanding work during the spring tree planting season. A plaque was presented to A. E. Sturdivant, the district forester over the central district.

About 20 service awards were presented to persons who have worked for the forestry division for 10, 15 or 20 years.

KEA Says Legislative Group Would Reduce School Funding

The Kentucky Education Association (KEA) warned last week that a legislative committee's attempt to cut proposed school funding increases backed by Governor Carroll and citizen groups could abort the state's "major and long overdue push" to rise from 49th place in national rankings.

"Governor Carroll has stated time after time that his first priority will be increased funding for elementary and secondary schools," said KEA executive secretary Robert Summers.

"And the Governor has emphasized on numerous occasions that he intends to seek parity with the seven surrounding states in per-pupil spending for Kentucky schoolchildren," he added.

A special legislative budget review committee chaired by Rep. Joe Clarke, D-Danville, on Nov. 25 adopted as a goal the achievement of parity in teacher salary with the average paid in 11 southeastern states—rather than in the seven states bordering Kentucky.

The teacher salary increases would be part of the per-pupil spending figure that Governor Carroll, S.E.A., the Citizens Advisory Council and citizens advocacy committee throughout the state, the Kentucky Congress of Parents and Teachers, the Kentucky School Boards Association, the Kentucky Association of School Administrators, the Joint Legislative Committee of education groups, and the State Department of Education have said should be equal to that of the average of the seven surrounding states.

The legislative committee, however, made no mention of a per-pupil spending figure, which Summers called "dodging the issue."

"The Governor is committed to raising Kentucky's per-pupil spending figure to the average of the surrounding states," Summers said. "We are supporting his position. We have no intention of changing."

Taking its stand for paring proposed increases in a biennial budget request submitted by the Department of Education, the Clarke committee also suggested cutting funds requested for more kindergarten classes and for state-paid health insurance for local school employees.

Summers noted that the KEA legislative program adopted by the organization's Delegate Assembly calls for fully funding a complete statewide kindergarten program.

He also pointed out that Governor Carroll earlier this year ordered the state-paid health insurance program, already received by other state employees, extended to school employees.

"Why would the legislative committee want to eliminate this benefit for just school employees and not all state employees?" Summers asked. Summers said of the committee's stand, "We do not compete with the Southeastern states; we compete with the states that border Kentucky."

"And when you rank 49th, you won't get much higher by taking halfway measures."

Woodmen Give Sixth Annual Scholarship

Woodmen of the World, Camp 714, Martin, held its annual Thanksgiving banquet at the Maytown Elementary School luncheon Nov. 22.

This year marked the sixth consecutive presentation of a $100 scholarship to the Garth Area Vocational Education Center at Hite. The scholarship was accepted by Mr. Ezra Mitchell, industrial electricity instructor at Garth, from William Martin, secretary of Camp 714. The scholarship will be used by a worthy student to continue his education in a state vocational technical school.

Mr. Mitchell gave a summary of the achievements of past recipients of the Woodmen scholarships. All past recipients have continued their vocational education and have been very successful in their career choices, he said.

Motorcyclists Not Exempt From Traffic Safety Rules

By Jim Clarke

Frankfort, Ky.—It was a perfect day for cruising along a winding country road under a leafy canopy of red and autumn gold, eyes squinted against the wind, the powerful roar of the cycle engine in his ears.

A half-concealed curve just ahead held no hint of danger, so he leaned the cycle over a bit more, twisted the hand-grip throttle just a little higher and suddenly, the car was right there, turning onto the road in front of him from a tree-hidden drive. A shock-numbed brain momentarily obliterated the bloody agony that followed.

For the Kentucky State Police, (KSP), who must sweep up the carnage, traffic safety officials in the Kentucky Department of Transportation whose task it is to come up with programs aimed at halting such needless tragedy, it's an old and all too familiar story. Another pleasure trip through the country had turned into a mad dash for life with the cyclist making the rest of the trip in an ambulance.

According to the KSP, there were 473 motorcycle accidents reported in 1974. Forty-nine of those resulted in deaths. Most of the remainder were injury accidents.

Although the official figures do show a slight reduction since 1973, Bennie Maffet, traffic safety coordinator for the state's Department of Transportation and Office of Highway Safety Programs, said there still is considerable room for improvement. Inexperience continues to be a major factor in cycle accidents.

"National Safety Council statistics recently showed that 20 per cent of the cycle accidents checked in a test area across the nation recently involved victims with less than a year's experience on a motorcycle," he said.

To offset that problem, Kentucky established its own motorcycle licensing requirements in 1968. Currently, Maffet's office is working on still another program to reduce the accident rate.

"We are cooperating with the state's Department of Education in training high school driver education instructors in the operation and instruction of motorcycle driving so they can include motorcycles as part of the driver education course for those high school students who want it," he said.

George Logan, project director in the Department of Education, said that, thus far, two motorcycle safety workshops have been convened for driver education instructors and, "We now have approximately 70 instructors across the state qualified to teach motorcycle education."

Logan said he hopes to have the motorcycle education program for high school instructors fully underway by next summer and would like eventually to have one cycle-qualified instructor at every high school in the state.

"Once we have a sufficient number of motorcycle education instructors, students completing the course will receive the same discount on their insurance premiums as do other students completing the driver education program on conventional automobiles now," he said.

Both Maffet and Logan say there are several things cyclists can do to reduce their chances of becoming an accident victim.

"God riders should think of themselves as 'invisible'—that is, assume that no motorist is aware of the cyclist being in the vicinity—and never put themselves into a position where their safety depends on the performance of another motorist," they said.

In addition, cyclists should not drive beyond their own capabilities or faster than road conditions and the law allows. Maffet emphasized that "before a cyclist can adapt to adverse riding conditions or sudden hazards, he must be familiar with his machine and proper riding techniques."

Logan also said cyclists must not forget that "use of a helmet is the law in Kentucky." National statistics have shown as much as a 49 per cent drop in motorcycle fatalities in states where the helmet was required.

"Motorcycles are great," Logan said, "if the basic commonsense rules are followed."

The Bureau of Labor Statistics reports that of workers who worked more hours than the standard work week in May 1975, about 70 percent of those who were union members and 30 percent of those who were unorganized received premium pay.

Mr. and Mrs. Alex Vasvary, of Bevinville, were visited over the Thanksgiving holidays by their five children and 13 grandchildren: Howard and Susanne Vasvary and their three children, from Union, Ohio; Bill and Nita Vasvary and their four children from Ashland, Ky.; Ronald and Sue Wrey and their four children, from Apex, N. C.; Mrs. Mary Ann King and her two children from Lexington; Miss Carol Ruth Vasvary from Ashland.

The U.S. Department of Labor reports that 14 is the minimum age for employment outside school hours in a variety of nonmanufacturing, nonmining and nonhazardous occupations for a limited number of hours under specified conditions of employment.
