Adkins third fatality

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A Perry County woman was killed and a Floyd County couple were seriously injured in two separate accidents Wednesday, less than an hour and a mile apart on new US 23.

At 11:45 a.m. Wednesday Elaine S. Adkins, 63, of Hazard was killed when she apparently drove her vehicle into the path of a truck driven by Stephen Salyer, 23, of Stambough, a state police report said.

Salyer was driving north on US 23 when Adkins failed to yield the right of way as she entered US 23.

Adkins was pronounced dead at Highlands Regional Medical Center. Salyer and Joey Kimbler, 23, a passenger in Salyer's vehicle, were taken to Highlands and are listed in satisfactory condition.

Police said no seat belts were in use and the accident is under investigation by trooper Bobby Day.

Less than an hour later, Charles and Grace Woody of Prestonsburg were seriously injured in an accident at the intersection of US 23 and US 460, pictured above. She apparently pulled into the path of a vehicle driven by Stephen Salyer, 23, of Stambough, Salyer and Joey Kimbler, 23, of Paintsville, Salyer's passenger, were injured in the crash. Charles and Grace Woody of Prestonsburg were seriously injured in an accident just minutes later, pictured at right. The couple is listed in stable condition. (photos by Susan Allen)

State blames board, architect, contractor :

School project awry from start

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Problems that have plagued Floyd County's South Floyd High School project were caused by the selection of an inadequate site, a poor performance by the site contractor, and inattention to the project from the architect, state officials said in a report released Tuesday.

Gary Griesser, associate commissioner for district support services, presented his report to state school board members at a meeting Tuesday at Barren River State Park.

Griesser's report blamed the local school board for choosing an inadequate site; Triple B Corporation for the company's questionable ability to perform the job; and former architect James Ellis for failing to properly oversee the project.

Also the project is not over original cost estimates, Griesser told the state board, because the original BG-1 for $4.4 million was only the amount of School Facility Construction Commission funds available, not an estimated cost of the project.

Griesser's report also disputed claims that the construction manager was overpaid on the project and that numerous change orders were excessive.

"The building itself has incurred approximately $71,000 worth of change orders at the current time," Griesser's report said. "This represents less than one percent of the total project. The site has incurred significant change orders. Approximately 25 percent of the site, coupled with a questionable site development contractor who did not perform well, complicated this project enormously.

"The construction manager has been perceived to have been compensated beyond the scope of his contract," the report said. "Our analysis of his payments compared to his contract indicate that payments have been made to him appropriately, that no overpayment of his contract has occurred."

The report said that former project architect James Ellis recommended to the local board that they choose one of 12 alternate sites, but the board declined to accept his suggestion.

Floyd eyed as site for factory

With a little luck and some support from state legislators, Floyd County Development Authority Executive Director Darrell Gilliam said Wednesday, Floyd County could as early as September be the site of a new manufacturing plant that will create up to 300 jobs.

Gilliam and the Development Authority received a letter of commitment this week from Ralph L. Bowen, president of the Chula Vista, California-based RND Design Incorporated, to relocate the corporation to Martin in the old United Supply building, currently owned by the Big Rock, Virginia-based United Coal Company.

Floyd County Judge/Executive John M. Stumbo said Wednesday that he and the Development Authority had been attempting to persuade RND Design to relocate its facilities in Floyd County since last August, when Gilliam met with Bowen at a business seminar.

Initially, Gilliam said, the new RND Design, which will manufacture outdoor lighting equipment, will employ approximately 150 laborers and plans to expand in excess of 300 employees within its first three years of operations.

According to Bowen's letter, under the terms of the agreement, the building will be purchased by the Development Authority and leased to RND Design for one dollar per year. Also according to the agreement, the Development Authority will provide, through state and local loans and grants, $400,000 for operating capital and payment to the former owners of the site; grade the property surrounding the building; and seek to have the present owners renovate the building offices.

RND Design will provide approximately one million dollars' worth of existing inventory and $650,000 in company assets as collateral, Bowen said.

At this point, Gilliam said, the deal hinges on financing. (See Factory, page two)

Jobs on the way to W/W for locals

A Wheelwright City Commissioner said Thursday that comments made at Tuesday's commission meeting concerning the lack of local jobs for the construction of a new prison were the result of a misunderstanding.

Commissioner Luther Johnson said Thursday that he and Sheriff Paul Hunt Thompson met Darrell Fife and Cliff Toeld of Frederick May Construction Company Wednesday. "They explained to us what the hold up was and that they're ready to start hiring local people for the construction of the jail," Johnson said Thursday. "They had to bring in a special crew to do the footer work and to pour the concrete slab. Local people will be hired to do the block laying, woodwork and plumbing."

Commissioners said at Tuesday's meeting that they were concerned about the lack of local people being hired to construct the 300-bed minimum security facility. The prison is expected to generate 85 jobs in Floyd County.

Johnson said that "the misunderstanding" had been worked out and the construction company will begin hiring local people within the next several weeks. Johnson added that he also met with officials of the con-

The long-standing battle over the ultimate fate of the Bert T. Combs Airport may soon come to a close as an informal city-county affiliation proceeds with plans to offer the property to the federal government as a possible site for a proposed Veteran's Administration nursing home.

Jones supports track but won't enter fray

by Geoff Belcher

Combining '60s activism with good old fashioned Eastern Kentucky pride, a small group of concerned citizens converged on Governor Breton Jones' Frankfort offices Thursday in an attempt to air their grievances with the Kentucky Racing Commission.

The protest group organized last week after the racing commission apparently reneged on its original commitment to Eastern Kentucky Racing Incorporated by refusing to allow the group to operate the proposed Kentucky Downs harness track with temporary facilities.

"I'm very much in favor of the project," Jones told the group Thursday. "I would very much like to see a harness track in Floyd County."

However, Jones said, his hands are tied in the matter by Kentucky state law.

"(From a legal standpoint,) Jones said, "a governor cannot regulate a regulatory body.... I think you need to go back to the racing commission and give a good sales pitch as to how you can make (the project) happen... If you feel that the racing commission has acted in an inappropriate manner... I suggest you file suit."

The biggest problem, Prestonsburg business-owner Denzil Allen told the governor, is that the current racing commission appointed by the governor is made up of nine representatives from the thoroughbred rac-

A group of Floyd County citizens, angered over the Kentucky Racing Commission's recent decision to deny the racing rights to the proposed Kentucky Downs harness track, traveled to Frankfort Thursday to confront Governor Breton Jones and to seek his intervention in the matter. Jones said that he supported the group's efforts, but added that legally, his hands were tied. Jones urged the group to take their protests to the racing commission itself and, if necessary, pursue litigation. (photo by Geoff Belcher)

Stumbo vows to disband commission

Fed up with what he called the Kentucky Racing Commission's "biased and capricious actions," House Majority Leader Greg Stumbo told Eastern Kentuckians visiting the state capital Thursday, he has begun taking measures that could spell that commission's ultimate demise.

The group went to Frankfort Thursday in an effort to persuade Governor Breton Jones that the racing commission had illegally and imprudently hampered the efforts to bring live harness racing to Eastern Kentucky so that members of the chosen because of a connection between the landowner and someone with the local board of education. Sandy Gubser, director of management assistance, told state board members that there are allegations that the land was purchased from someone connected to the site and the local board.

Gubser added that there had been some misunderstanding that the project was $7 million over cost estimates, but that the original BG-1 for $4.4 million could lead people to believe that costs had "run wild" on the project.

State school board chairman Joe Kelly said that the project came across as being estimated at $4.4 million.

"The bottom line is that the project only numbered $4.4 million on the BG-1," Kelly said. "Everybody agrees that (a BG-1) is a relatively useless document. We have a project approaching $12 million with no gym or football field and parking is greatly reduced."

"As someone said to me, 'the pyramids were built quicker than this project and probably cost a lot less,'" Kelly added. "It is desirable to get the students out of the Wheelwright facility we visited (in September 1991). It is deplorable."

The building project is in Phase III of construction which is the gymnasium and the total project cost is estimated at $12 million. The academic building is expected to be completed by July 1.

The chronological report of the South Floyd project was put together after a two-day visit to the district during the first week of May in which state officials talked to various people in the district. Griesser said he and Mike Luscher, director of facilities management, met with the staff of Martin Engineering, construction manager on the project, architect Paul Hoffman, superintendent Steve Towler, finance officer David Johnson and Frankie Francis, director of buildings and grounds. The two also spoke with former board member Dr. Mary Hall and acting board chairman Eddie Patton, Griesser said.

Factory

company's relocation hinges solely on the ability to secure funding, which must be in place by July 1.

"Basically," Gilliam said, "it's up to the state now to approve the grant."

The Development Authority approved a 60-day purchase option on the property Wednesday.

Representatives of RND Design will conduct an exhibit this Friday and next Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday at the Floyd County Courthouse to display their products and provide further information.

thoroughbred industry could install in its place a number of off-track betting facilities.

Stumbo, D-Prestonsburg, said he planned to introduce legislation at the next regular meeting of the General Assembly that would "abolish the Kentucky Racing Commission and create the six-member Kentucky Council on Pari-mutuel Wagering to regulate horse racing and wagering in the Commonwealth of Kentucky."

"The racing commission effectively approved (the Kentucky Downs project) last year," Stumbo said Thursday, "and then came back in April and said 'No, you have to have a convention center built by July, which is impossible.'"

"There is a body of law," Stumbo continued, "that says the state can't take something from you without due process of law... and the racing commission didn't give Eastern Kentucky Racing due process of law."

Under Stumbo's bill, the Kentucky Council on Pari-mutuel Wagering would consist of six independent board members with no ties to the horse racing industry, and would recreate the Kentucky State Racing Commission and the Kentucky Harness Racing Commission to serve in advisory capacities to the council. Stumbo's bill would also do away with off-track betting parlors, he said.

were traveling south on new US 23 when their vehicle was apparently struck by a van driven by Kathy Lowe of Prestonsburg.

Rescue personnel worked for over half an hour to stabilize the Woodys and remove them from their vehicle.

Charles Woody, 71, received lacerations to his head and arms. Grace Woody, 65, received a severe laceration to her head. The couple is in stable condition.

The Woodys were returning from a dentist appointment in Paintsville and had stopped at Highlands Regional Medical Center to visit a patient, a member of the family said Thursday.

Adkins was the third person killed at the intersection of new US 23 and US 460, which officials have dubbed "the wall."

which "act like a vacuum cleaner, sucking up your money" because the vast majority of proceeds from OTBs go directly back to the thoroughbred industry rather than staying in the local community.

Stumbo said he had received assurance from Governor Brereton Jones from the outset of the Kentucky Downs project that the Kentucky Racing Commission would act in a prudent and fair manner. Unfortunately, he added, the racing commission seems to have failed to live up to both the governor's and the state's expectations.

"The governor is technically not supposed to intervene with his advisory boards..." Stumbo said. "On the other hand, generally commissions are smart enough to know that 1) you're supposed to do what's right; and 2) you're supposed to do what the boss tells you."

ing industry and only two representatives from its economic rival, the harness racing industry.

"With the composure of that commission," Allen said, "it kind of looks like the cards are stacked against Eastern Kentucky, governor."

Jones explained that he had appointed the commissioners fairly, representing the contribution each industry makes to the state's coffers.

"If you have an industry that... is bringing in a hundred dollars of tax revenue to the state and another industry that's bringing in five dollars to the state," Jones said, "you don't give them equal representation and let the tail wag the dog."

Jones did agree, however, that the off-track betting parlors seemingly favored by the thoroughbred industry do not serve Kentuckians at either the state or local level as well as intertrack racing and wagering facilities.

"I certainly support a harness track in Eastern Kentucky," Jones reiterated, "and I want to see it built in Prestonsburg.... That's why you should sit down again with the commission and ask them for the specific answers to the specific questions."

CLEVELAND TACKETT
FOR
Constable, District 3

Dear Citizens of Floyd County:

The time for decision making is at hand. On Tuesday, May 25, you will exercise your right to vote for the best candidate for Jailer of Floyd County. I can sincerely say to you that if you elect me, Robert DeRossett, as your Jailer, you will not regret casting your vote for me. In one year's time you will have a jail you can be proud of. I will continue the good work started by Lawrence Hale and continue to build and expand on the growing needs of this office.

I have made every effort to present my goals for this office to the people of Floyd County. In speaking to hundreds of the good citizens of this county, these goals for good management of this office, including good visitation programs, implementing the uniform code for all jail employees, and especially, establishing a ministry which will be available to those inmates who choose to participate, have been received with enthusiasm and great support. I have made no promises that I cannot keep, but have spoken from my heart as a Christian.

Truly feel the Christian people of this county can and will make a difference with their vote. I ask that you go to the polls on May 25 and elect me, Robert DeRossett, as your next Jailer of Floyd County.

JOHN K. BLACKBURN SHERIFF

Dear Fellow Citizens,

I would like to thank each and every person that I have had the privilege to come into their home and express my ideas to better the office of Sheriff. As the election is drawing near, and it is evident that there is no possible way that I can see all the people that I wished to see, I would like to ask of you to please accept this letter as my personal request for your vote for the office of Floyd County Sheriff. I have enjoyed meeting and talking with the many fine people of this county.

I have worked hard during my campaign and traveled many miles to meet the people of this great county. I have run a clean campaign just as I will run the Sheriff's office if given the opportunity. I promise to serve you to the utmost of my ability and I will expect no less of my deputies. I have the experience and the means to help stop the flow of drugs to our youth. If you put your trust in me, I promise a sheriff's office that not only the people of this county, but the whole State of Kentucky will be proud of. Elect me, John K. Blackburn, on May 25th, as your next Sheriff of Floyd County.

"God Bless and Keep You"

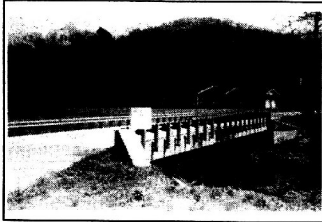

Thank You,

Speak no evil

by Scott Perry

Last week a photographer for The Floyd County Times was dispatched to East Point where a small aircraft had just crashed.

At the scene, the photographer was confronted by a Kentucky State Police trooper who threatened to confiscate our film and camera if any pictures were taken of the crash.

We might have understood that attitude had our photographer been interfering with rescue efforts.

He was not and the trooper made no claims that he was.

We might have understood that attitude had this paper a reputation of sensationalism.

It does not. We don't splash photos of bodies across our pages for the sake of selling newspapers.

The trooper told our photographer that he would not permit any photos of the crash before Federal Aviation Administration investigators viewed the scene, despite the fact that our photographer was the first at the scene and could possibly have recorded some critical evidence that might have been destroyed as the plane burned.

Besides, the KSP has no legal authority to decide what can or cannot be photographed by a newspaper or to decide when photos of breaking news events may be taken.

Certainly police may restrict access to an investigation scene, but that was not the case this time.

Our photographer was invited onto the scene by a rescue official and was not confronted by the trooper until he attempted to photograph the wreck.

We've always cooperated with authorities in the past, providing photos in some cases that have been used as evidence. It would appear that our cooperation is a one-way street.

We know why. Some time ago we had the audacity to criticize the KSP over an issue concerning a traffic fatality involving a KSP trooper.

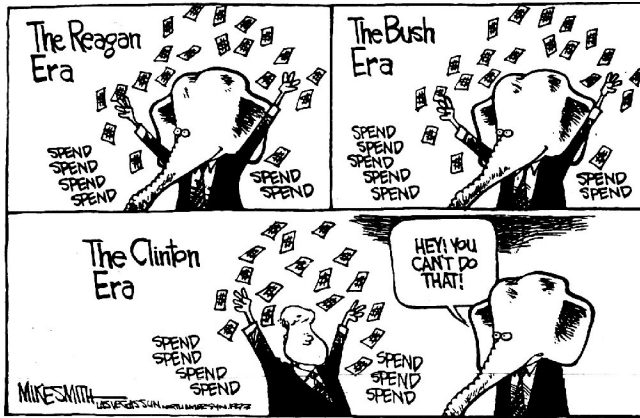

That criticism earned us a visit from two KSP officials who claimed we had committed a grave disservice to the boys in blue.

It also apparently earned us the cold shoulder from the KSP. For most of the past two years we have been routinely put off by Post Nine in Pikeville on requests for specific information on various KSP investigations.

We know we still have a few friends left in the KSP who value our law and order stand and our commitment toward justice for all.

We appreciate them.

To those who feel a badge and gun gives them special powers above and beyond the law, we can only say that the Thin Gray Line has grown thin, indeed.

Salisbury seeks geological information

Editor: I am really grateful for all the help your readers have given me in the past. So many people wrote me with interesting and helpful information.

Now I need help with some more people who passed through your area and spent some time there. I hope someone out there can help me with these people (which I really don't know too much about).

Priscilla Carroll—born about June, 1858; married to Morgan Salisbury. Does anyone know anything about her, her parents, brothers and sisters? Ben Daniel—born 1879; married Lillian (Lilly) Shuping/Shipping, they were both born in Tennessee. Does anyone know anything about them, their parents, brothers, sisters or children?

If anyone can help me with any of this I would be truly grateful. Please write me with even the slightest bit of information, because every little bit helps.

Thanking you in advance.

No Whitewash

And this week's award for clearest attempt at a cover-up goes to... the Justice Department!

Last week, the nation's most prominent enforcers of law and order announced that in their investigation of the recent events at Waco, Texas, the decision to assault the Branch Davidian compound will not be considered.

That's right. The Inquiry — which is headed by Philip Heymann, whose nomination to be deputy attorney general will be the subject of a Senate hearing today — will ask only three questions:

• How good is the government at handling barricade-type situations?

• How good is the government at bringing in experts to assist in understanding people who think differently from the majority?

• Can there be better ways of coordinating efforts between various state and federal authorities?

Those are important questions, but they're not the most important. Surely, the most important one has to do with the tragic end to the standoff!

• How could federal officials — indirectly or otherwise — cause the deaths of 95 men, women and children.

Only an attempt at face-saving damage control could omit that question from federal officials' agenda. Attorney General Janet Reno and President Clinton should come to their senses before this whitewash goes any further. — Lexington Herald-Leader

Making life habitable

Congratulations to a group of Pike countians who've had the courage and the goodness to do something for their fellow human beings.

The new chapter of Habitat for Humanity International, the second in this area, is welcomed and needed. This has to be one of the best organizations for helping those in need. It recognizes that most poor people have no options, that they seldom choose to live in substandard housing. It combines volunteerism on the part of those who have not.

It is not charity in the traditional sense, because it allows those who need adequate housing to take part in helping themselves. As Habitat's founder Millard Fuller says, the organization offers "a hand up, not a handout."

It also offers those who want to help the chance to do something more than write a check. And it offers the local, actual realization of seeing good works done. A new house actually goes up or an old one becomes livable because of the hard work of the volunteers and the homeowner. But the sense of pride and self-worth that flows to the new property owner is the most valuable outcome of the effort. Come on, let's volunteer. — Appalachian News-Express

IT'S TOUGH TO RUN A SMALL NEWSPAPER

by Kenneth Eskey
Scripps Howard News Service
One of the pervasive pleasures of the news business is being told by a corporate chief executive, or a college president or a $300-an-hour lawyer that journalism is a great occupation... "I always wanted to be a newspaperman myself," they say, buzzing for a faithful secretary to bring coffee and croissants... Many of us tend to be romanticists about the world of work. We usually end up doing something dull, secure and remunerative, but we like to think we could have done exciting things—played for the Yankees, written a novel, located the Holy Grail... Most of all, we like to think we could run a business. Not a big business. Just a little business, like a restaurant, or a gift shop or maybe a small farm with a few head of cattle and a horse or two... Journalists may be the worst of the romanticists because they have this yearning, deep in their typographical souls, to be the editor and publisher of a weekly newspaper... They've seen Norman Rockwell's painting of a small-town newspaper office and they say, "There I am, I'm the guy in the green eyeshade, getting ready to offer advice to the mayor. I'll go fishin' every Friday, join Rotary and crack wise with the locals, buy that big white house on the hill for a song and live happily ever after..."

Those who wonder what it might be like to own a small business should read "The Hard Way: The Odyssey of a Weekly Newspaper Editor," by Alexander Brook, a Yale graduate and former Navy fighter pilot who hated working in Manhattan, hated commuting 90 minutes from New Jersey and decided, at age 35 and with a family of five, to get away from it all and buy a weekly newspaper in Kennebunk, Maine... Brook rejuvenates the broken-down newspaper he buys in 1958 for $30,000. He hires good people. He expands. He afflicts the comfortable and comforts the afflicted. He preserves the coastline. He exposes a phony college and a sleazy district attorney. He wins prizes for journalistic excellence... Of his early days, he writes: "I worked from 7 in the morning to between 11 p.m. and 3 a.m. every weekday, from 8 a.m. till 10 at night every Saturday, and 10-hour Sunday days, every single one, with half a day off at Christmas, no others..."

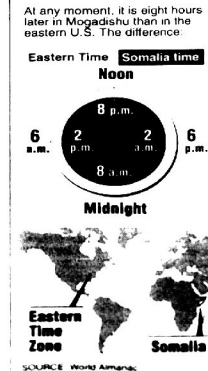

"I never stopped for lunch, taking a single sandwich to work and eating it standing up, when I remembered to eat at all. For two years, I was so wound up and worried that I couldn't sleep when I went to bed..."

"For 11 years, I never took so much as a single two-day weekend off or a vacation of a single day..."

His tale ends well. Brook and two partners, who never paid themselves more than $15,000 a year, sold the York County Coast Star and its printing business in 1978 for $1.65 million to billionaire Joe Albritton, who then sold it to a Virginia publisher, who then sold it to the New York Times...

There are two ways to interpret the Brook story. Brook himself often ponders why he did it. "It seems ridiculous as I look back, demoted," he says... A more generous interpretation is that running your own business can be an exhilarating, terrifying, gratifying adventure. Just don't try it if you plan to go fishin' every Friday.

Lawrence County hires new superintendent

Eddie Michael, a former employee of the Lawrence County school system, was named superintendent and will replace current superintendent Ted Kelley. Kelley's three-year contract expires June 30... Michael, a native of Louisa, has previously worked within the Lawrence County School system. He has served as assistant principal, head football coach and principal at Lawrence County High School. For the past two years, the 38-year-old Michael has served as the assistant principal at Johnson Central High School... He will take over as superintendent of Lawrence County Schools on July 1. — The Big Sandy News

Supreme Court Justice Combs to retire

Supreme Court Justice Dan Jack Combs, 68, announced his retirement from the bench effective June 30. Justice Combs serves the Seventh Appellate District which is comprised of 23 eastern Kentucky counties... Justice Combs said Wednesday that two strokes he suffered are forcing him from the Kentucky Supreme Court... He also said he recommended to Governor Breerton Jones that Richard Hunt, his longtime law clerk, be appointed to replace him... Two physicians advised him to retire, Combs said. The doctors did not blame the strokes on the pressures of court work, "but one may infer that from their recommendations," he said... He also said he was bothered by memory loss. Jones will appoint Combs' successor from a list of three prospects nominated by a special commission to complete Combs' term, the new officerholder will have to stand for election in November... Combs said he introduced Hunt to the governor Tuesday and recommended Hunt's appointment. Hunt, 45, is a "brilliant man, a marvelous writer," Combs said. But, "I'm sure there will be no shortage" of candidates for the seat, he said... Combs is a resident of Betsy Layne. He said he planned to take a month off, travel in a motor home with his 12- and 14-year-old sons, and volunteer for court-appointed work in Eastern Kentucky... Born in 1924 in Betsy Layne, Justice Combs earned his law degree from Cumberland School of Law in Lebanon, Tennessee and his J.D. from the Cumberland School of Law, Samford University... Admitted to the Kentucky Bar in 1951, he practiced law before the U.S. District Court, Eastern District of Kentucky; the U.S. Sixth Circuit Court of Appeals in 1983. He was elected to the Supreme Court in 1988. — Lexington Herald-Leader

Phelps man convicted of setting fire

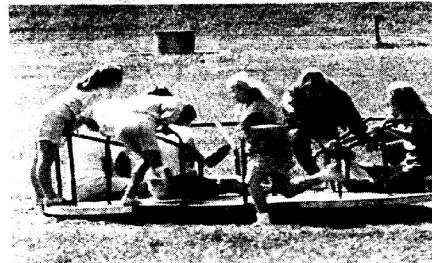

Jerry Lee Barker, 39, of Phelps pleaded guilty to one count of first degree arson Monday for the Christmas Day fire which consumed a quarter of historic downtown Matewan, West Virginia... Barker set fire to a block-long building after an argument with a bar owner next door... In exchange for the guilty plea, prosecutors dropped four other charges contained in an indictment stemming from four fires set on Dec. 26... The fire in the Buskirk Building caused approximately $1.5 million in damage. The building contained a church, an auto parts store, a United Mine Workers office and 13 apartments... Sentencing is set for June 25.

D.A.R.E. Day Camp 1993

Celebrating being drug free

Hundreds of Floyd County fifth grade students attended the second D.A.R.E. Day Camp Thursday at the downstream area at Jenny Wiley State Park. The day camp, sponsored by the Floyd County Sheriff's Department, is for students participating in the Drug Abuse Resistance Education (D.A.R.E.) program. The most popular event Thursday was an opportunity to dunk sheriff's dispatcher Tim Stephens in the dunking booth. Other displays and activities included face painting; basketball; volleyball; getting a close up look at fire trucks from the Allen and Prestonsburg fire departments; rescue vehicles from the Floyd County Emergency and Rescue Squad; and an opportunity to look inside a deputy sheriff's vehicle. Refreshments were also served. (photos by Susan Allen)

TO THE PEOPLE OF DISTRICT 3:

As the election draws near I would like to take this opportunity to thank my many supporters and friends. To date I've talked with over 3000 people. When I started, I had planned to try to speak with everyone in our district, but I now see that is impossible. In the few short days we have left I will talk to as many as I can, and to the people I miss, I apologize. As everyone knows I have run a clean campaign and said nothing bad about any of my opponents. I've stressed only the issues the people have presented to me and based my campaign on my training, experience and ability.

MY QUALIFICATIONS

1. KY Police Academy graduate
2. Certified Breath Test Operator (Breathalyzer)
3. Certified in Drug Enforcement Operations
4. Certified in Criminal Investigations
5. Certified in Traffic Accident Investigations
6. Certified in Juvenile Law
7. 8 years Law Enforcement Experience
8. High School Graduate
9. Graduate of Mayo Vocational School

MY GOALS

1. To work with State and Local Agencies to keep drugs out of the hands of our children
2. To work with the D.A.R.E. program
3. To help set up community crime watch and crime prevention programs
4. The regular patrol of our neighborhoods, hollows and school zones
5. The protection and safety of the children and the elderly
6. Security to all school and church functions when needed
7. To check our churches and graveyards at night
8. To escort funerals for any family who need me, as I've always done.

I have worked very hard to get the training to make me a qualified law officer and I will work very hard for you if I'm elected on Tuesday, May 25. I ask for your vote.

YOUR COMMONWEALTH ATTORNEY'S ARGUMENT FOR RE-ELECTION

1. MY QUALIFICATIONS

My opponent has never handled a jury trial. I have tried hundreds of jury cases since becoming a lawyer in 1980. As all surgeons are doctors but not all doctors are surgeons, my opponent is an attorney, but he is not a trial lawyer—his record proves it—he has only handled worker's claims, and those do not go to trial. Criminal indictments must be tried by juries and your Commonwealth Attorney MUST be a trial lawyer. I am the only trial lawyer running for Commonwealth Attorney.

2. MY RECORD

My TRUE record includes a 100% conviction rate in rape and child abuse trials. My true record is the one you have read about, heard about and witnessed during the past five years. Not what my opponent represents it to be for his political purposes.

3. MY INTEGRITY

I do what's best for each victim and this county in each case. I don't worry about statistics. I don't worry about politics. I worry about people's rights. I only request dismissal of a case or probation of a case where the victim approves it and even then ONLY where it is appropriate under the circumstances and the charge is a minor one.

4. MY INDEPENDENCE

I answer only to you, the citizens of Floyd County—I owe no political debt to other “politicians”—unlike my opponent, I don't have ties to former officials who have retired or have been defeated in past elections and who have donated to his campaign, done a radio ad for him, hung his sign in their office or driven him around to campaign. I guess that's just politics, but political strings have no place in the Commonwealth Attorney's office.

5. MY CAMPAIGN

It's easy for one person to attack another person's character—anyone can do it—all it takes is a pen and a desire to avoid the true issues of a campaign. I've run a clean race based on my record and qualifications only. Maybe if everybody else would learn to do that, we could get more people interested in voting.

6. MY DEDICATION

During this campaign my father, George Patton, has had two major heart surgeries and four hospitalizations. I have dealt with this and continued with my commitment to serve Floyd County during these difficult times with my family's blessing due to our belief in what I am doing and our dedication to public service. We, in turn, ask for your continued support and vote on May 25th.

Business may be booming

Members of the Floyd County Development Authority approved measures Wednesday to bring a new manufacturing plant which will create an estimated 300 new jobs to the city of Martin and to offer the Bert T. Billips met that timeline and now it's moved up to early June. Hoffman set the different timelines, not me."

Hoffman has been chided for several months by the local school board for failing to meet timelines to deliver plans on the South Floyd High School gym project.

Floyd superintendent Steve Towler said after the May 10 meeting that he had heard that Billips had put the brakes on the project from Sandy Gubser "or someone in her office."

Gubser, director of management assistance for the state, issued a statement last week disputing Towler and Hoffman's claims that Billips was responsible for the delay. "No, that information did not come from me or this office," Gubser said. "Our investigative report released last spring pointed out many problems in the Floyd County School District including serious concerns about the Left Beaver/South Floyd construction project. Our concerns are not the result of Mr. Billips or any board members' specific request. In fact, we have encouraged board members to work to ensure quality and accountability at this project and all school construction activities in Floyd County."

"We have been and remain very concerned about the many construction delays and projected cost overruns on this project and the district's past loose management and oversight of this project," Gubser added. "We have advised the superintendent repeatedly of our concerns. As our report and monitoring role indicates, these concerns are not new and we will continue to monitor these construction activities in the future."

Billips said that Hoffman and Towler's "untrue statements" that state officials related he was responsible for the delay could have ulterior motives.

"Ms. Gubser's statements make it abundantly clear that both Hoffman and Towler have made untrue statements about me holding up the South Floyd gym project," Billips said. "To further back things up, Chairman Joe Kelly publicly said that in my meeting we didn't even discuss the project in that nature."

"In light of Ms. Gubser's and Chairman Kelly's statements, it's apparent that Hoffman and Towler have other motives behind statements they made and I'll certainly have other questions of both Hoffman and Towler," Billips added. A chronological report on the South Floyd project was released to state board members Tuesday at their regular meeting at Barren River State Park. Chairman Kelly said he had asked Commissioner Boyens to have education department staff put together the report because the project had been ongoing since 1986 and to assess the status of the project.

Airport

Prestonsburg and Paintsville proposed closing the facility for use as an industrial site. Others contested that the airport was far too valuable to the Big Sandy region's economy to shut down just because the site had development potential. The matter remains unresolved pending further investigation by an advisory panel created by the two cities.

However, Floyd County Development Authority Executive Director Darrell Gilliam said Wednesday, an informal consensus including the governmental bodies of Prestonsburg and Paintsville and Floyd, Martin and Lawrence counties have suggested offering the site as the potential home for the new nursing home facility, which is expected to create an estimated 350 jobs with a four-million dollar annual payroll.

"The down-side is that (a similar facility) in Wilmore has not been very successful," Development Authority board member H.D. Fitzpatrick said Wednesday. On the other hand, Fitzpatrick said, "if they're going to spend the money anyway, I'd rather have them spend it here than in Hazard."

Big Sandy Area Development District director Roger Reckenwald said Wednesday that although the project is still in the planning phase, in his estimation, the nursing home facility would "not be compatible" with the airport strip.

Gilliam said that other sites had been considered for the proposal, but added that the airport property seemed the best possibility.

Acting Chairman Burl Wells Spurlock said Wednesday that he had received word from the pilot's association that the group would not fight efforts to close the airport if the nursing home proposal were viable.

Auto parts manufacturer interested in establishing factory in Big Sandy area

From the Paintsville Herald

An auto parts manufacturer is "extremely interested" in locating a plant in the Paintsville-Prestonsburg area. American Automation & Manufacturing Corporation, Inc., has identified at least three potential sites in Paintsville, its president Ronald Ward, said in a letter to the mayors and city councils of Paintsville and Prestonsburg.

"Our project will employ between 100 and 125 people in the initial phase," Ward said. "We expect to expand after two years, with job potential to reach around 200 to 300 within five years."

Ward's letter, dated May 7, was discussed briefly last week during a meeting of the Paintsville City Council. One possible site is at Combs Field, which has been touted as a potential industrial park by Paintsville Mayor John David Preston and Prestonsburg Mayor Ann Latta.

Ward didn't identify the two other locations, but he said one is south of Paintsville and the other is within the Paintsville city limits.

Paintsville City Councilman Ronnie Wells said during last week's council meeting that one site is the Paintsville Grocery Company building, located south of Paintsville off of U.S. 23.

Ward said his company is also looking at sites in "another area" but didn't specify where.

Action heats up as voters ready for election day

If the growing thickness of the paper wasn't enough of a clue, the Floyd County Times would like to remind its readers that election time is here again.

On Tuesday, May 25, citizens will again have the opportunity to participate in the democratic process. The polls in Floyd County's 41 precincts will be open from 6 a.m. to 6 p.m. All voters must have some form of identification.

Six voting precincts have new polling places. Precinct #5 (Cliff) and #45 (Cliff #2) will vote at the Prestonsburg High School gym; Precinct #28 (Antioch) at the building next to the Teaberry Post Office; Precinct #29 (Tickey) at the Mud Creek Volunteer Fire Department; Precinct #34 (Betsy Layne) at the Betsy Layne Senior Citizens Center and Precinct #39 (Prater Creek) will vote at Fred Conn's building across from Prater Elementary School.

County voters will be choosing candidates for Commonwealth's Attorney, County Judge/Executive, County Court Clerk, Sheriff, Jailor, County Surveyor, Magistrate and Constable. The offices of County Attorney, Circuit Court Clerk and Property Valuation Administrator have no primary opposition and will be on the general ballot in November. Electioneering is prohibited within 500 feet of any voting location.

Maytown PTA to elect SBDM council
The Maytown Elementary PTA will be holding parent site-based decision making council member elections on May 25 at 6 p.m. in the school. Nominations shall be made in writing and submitted to the principal five school days prior to the meeting. Only current PTA members with names on roster will be allowed to vote in this election.

Close-up in Hawaii

McDowell High School students had a different type of classroom during their visit to Hawaii—sand and sun. The students learned about the culture of Hawaii, economics and environmental issues.

McDowell High School students get "Close-Up" to Hawaiian environment

by Steve Hall and Courtney Cieslak
On April 8, the McDowell High School Close-Up students left for Honolulu, Hawaii. McDowell was the only school from Kentucky to participate in the Close-Up Pacific Basin Program. McDowell had thirty-five students and two faculty members to attend this event.

McDowell students joined students from the states of Alaska, California, Indiana, Michigan, Montana, Oregon, Washington, as well as students from the Commonwealth of the Northern Marianas (Saipan, Tinian, and Rota), the Federal States of Micronesia (Chuuk, Kosrae, Pohnpei, Ulithi, and Yap), Guam, and Mexico. The Close-Up students studied foreign trade agreements, importing and exporting, environmental concerns, global warming, and economics. The students attended seminars to hear more about foreign cultures, cross-cultural and inter-cultural relations and education, and foreign exchange from speakers such as Gregory Trifonovitch, Hawaii's Governor John Waihee, Gregg Knudsen, Brenda Foster, and Yuan-Yen (Roy) Wu. Hawaii was beautiful as well as educational. The extra time the students had was spent sight seeing, shopping, and sunning on Waikiki Beach.

To all our friends and acquaintances, we ask for your support and vote for our nephew

Young Authors

Paul Jessen

The Floyd County Times and the Department of Instruction of Floyd County Schools jointly wish to feature the student work of Paul Jessen, a sixth grade Young Authors' winner from Mrs. Linda Gearheart's class at Adams Middle School. Paul is a son of Tim and Elma Jessen of Prestonsburg. His book, The Miracle Worker, printed with permission, was the winner in the sixth grade "illustrated" competition.

Paul has been a county winner every year since the beginning of Young Author's competition, six years ago. He says this is a good program. "It allows kids to express themselves in their books. It shows them how you publish and print a book. It's educational and fun, too. The program, also, sharpen kids' writing skills."

Paul feels that receiving the awards has been significant. "The Young Authors' awards are like junior Newberry Awards, so when you win, you feel great!"

Paul was a room winner, a school winner, and a county-wide winner for the 1991-92 school year for his book. He received a $50 U.S. Savings Bond at a spring awards ceremony. Over 5,000 elementary and middle school students participated in competition throughout the county.

The Miracle Worker
This book is dedicated to all my teachers, who helped me to read and write from the start.

Maria lived in the big apartment building on the northern border of New York City. She lived on the twenty-third floor. From her window she could see buildings for miles around.

Maria didn't always live in New York. Her family had immigrated from Spain. Disease had hit her town hard. Her father sent her and her mother to New York, hoping that there, their problem would be solved. He couldn't afford to send himself, but he will work non-stop until he can. Her mother had a low-pay job and things weren't going too well for them. Maria was very imaginative but she was having trouble in school. She didn't have any friends.

She loved to sit by her window and daydream.

One night when she was looking out her window she said, "If only Papa was here. Then everything would be all right." A tear fell from her eye and dropped to the ground far below.

The next day was Saturday. When she awoke, she noticed a package on her window sill. She had left the window open. On the package, it read: The Answer To Your Problems. Pull Here. There was a string with a ring on it's end sticking out of the paper. All Maria could do was close her eyes and pull.

All of a sudden the package started to expand. She quickly threw it out the window. But instead of falling, it floated. It got larger and larger. The brown paper covering popped open and inside, there was a balloon...NO a machine...a flying machine! It was all the colors of the rainbow. It was like a blimp, and a ship all at the same time! On its side was a huge banner saying: The Miracle Worker. A staircase opened up and led to her window. Her curiosity pulled her onto the air craft. The steps closed behind her and she was pushed into a cushioned chair. In front of her was a sort of dashboard with many gauges and dials. She was shocked to see the destination...Spain! Then she saw the mission...to make everything all right! Could this be the answer to her wish last night? She was almost certain it was. So she gladly enjoyed her trip and was determined to retrieve her father from Spain.

On the trip she saw all sorts of things. She flew over the Empire State Building and the U.N. She even circled around the Statue of Liberty. She crossed the beautiful Atlantic with its many tropical islands. She crossed Portugal and finally, there it was, her home country, Spain! She crossed the beautiful countryside, carefully taking in all of it. Then finally, she saw her hometown!

The Miracle Worker landed. Maria ran to her father in the fields. She gave him a big hug. Her father couldn't believe his eyes!

"Tears came to his eyes as he cried, 'I'll never, ever leave you again! I don't have any idea how you got here, but a miracle has been worked this day!'"

Maria smiled. She showed him the Miracle Worker. They hurriedly got on it, and began the journey back to New York City. The two talked all the way. They caught up on everything. They fully enjoyed it.

Such a trip would have normally taken a long time, and it seemed long to him, but they got home before Maria's mom did.

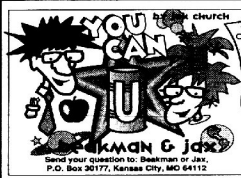

When they got off, Maria said to the Miracle Worker, "Go. You have worked a miracle for us. Go work one for another." The machine flew off into the distance, until it disappeared into the sunset.

The family lived happily after that. But Maria will never forget the day the mysterious Miracle Worker answered her call.

Fifth graders get physical

Auxler Elementary fifth graders recently received their medical examination and their second MMR (Measles, Mumps and Rubella). Out of 10 students in the fifth grade, nine received the health services. In conjunction with the Floyd County Board of Education, the Health Department's Well Child/EPDSIT program is offering these services to all fifth grade students. Jennifer C. Martin, district nurse, said screenings conducted are vision, hearing, height, weight, vital signs, urinalysis and hemoglobin. Students are also offered the MMR vaccination and the medical examination. Prior to entering the sixth grade, all students are required by law to have a physical and their second MMR. Students who fail to meet these requirements cannot be allowed to enroll in school in the fall of 1993. Students at Auxler receiving the services are: front row, from left, Aaron Blingham, Jeremy Owsley and John Clevinger; second row, from left, David Ousley and Josh Hicks; third row, from left, Andrea Burke, Brandy Wells and Jeffrey Ousley; fourth row, from left, Kevin Wilcox, Health Department Nurse Jeannie Lafferty and School District Nurse Jennifer Martin; and back row, from left, Cassie Bays, Principal Linda Gearhart and teacher Patricia Burke.

Head Strong

More Than 1 Way To Be Strong

WHAT YOU NEED: Old phone book - a friend who didn't read this

WHAT TO DO: Ask your friends if they have the strength to rip a phone book in 2. Explain that this is not a trick. We're talking really rip it, without pre-cutting or any other gimmick.

Your friends won't think of intelligence. They'll think of muscular strength. And no one has enough of that strength to tear the book in half. You have to use your head.

Dear Steve,
What is the strongest part of your body?
Steve Bitter
Winnipeg, Manitoba

Dear Steve,
There are many ways to be strong: strong of body, strong in spirit, strong of mind. Your mind can be so strong that You Can Do Something no one else can do using muscular strength - tear a phone book in half.

Okay, make sure that it's an old one, about 1 inch thick, that no one wants. And be patient, which is another kind of strength. Don't give up till you've learned this technique (tec-NEEK).

Peel back the covers. Hold the book like this. Your thumbs should be together and your fingers as far apart as possible. Now squeeze the book and slide.

The book will make a peak like in the big drawing.

Your fingers together toward the middle.

With your index fingers pushed toward each other, squeeze the book with your thumbs and fingers. Look at the red arrows. Bend the book back the way the arrows are pointing.

If the pages are in that special peak shape, the book will tear in half. The peak shape makes it possible for all your effort to be focused on 1 page at a time - rapidly tearing 1 after another. You'll blow everyone's mind!

Moore to participate in TIP grand recognition

The Duke University Talent Identification Program (TIP) is sponsoring a Grand Recognition Ceremony to honor some of the brightest seventh graders in the United States. On June 7, at the Duke University Chapel in Durham, North Carolina, Neil Moore Jr., who attends McDowell Junior High, will be recognized for his outstanding academic achievement.

Students invited to the ceremony earned scores on the Scholastic Aptitude Test (SAT) or the American College Testing Assessment (ACT) higher than 65 percent of college-bound seniors as part of TIP's annual Talent Search. Of the almost 62,000 students who were identified in the 1992-93 Talent Search, only 2,173 qualified for the honor. Moore will also be honored June 3 at Western Kentucky University at a TIP recognition for the 661 Kentucky students identified by the annual search.

Neil Moore Jr.

Moore is the 12-year-old son of Neil and Sharon Moore of McDowell. He has won numerous academic awards including various Governor's Cup math, science and quick recall awards.

Dr. Ronald Hoffman, winner of the 1981 Nobel Prize in Chemistry, will be the keynote speaker. Hoffman, a native of Zloczow, Poland, survived the Nazi occupation of his country and arrived in the United States in 1949. Hoffman has received numerous academic honors and has written both popular and scholarly articles on science and other subjects.

Decisions, decisions

Bob Looney, of Prestonsburg Community College, and Reverend Tim Jessen, of the First Presbyterian Church, Prestonsburg, judge 6th grade Young Authors' books.

The judging event was coordinated by Writing Program Assistant Thelma Sears, who was assisted by the following teachers: Lela Layne, Ruby Miller, Emily Allen, Charlotte Smith, Charlene Nunn, Donna Collins, Gayle Justice and Shelah Vance.

Hawaiian masquerade

In correlation with a unit on Tropical Forests, 17-4th graders at McDowell Elementary studied Hawaii extensively. Events taking place in the classroom were: the creation of mini-tropical forests; the making of leis for art; watching movies on Hawaii, listening to Hawaiian music, listening to Hawaiian music; and participating in a Hawaiian food day and dress-up day. Students participating were Amanda Adkins, Justin Blankenship, Matthew Caldwell, Adam Daniels, Jared Elawich, Marty Gibson, Steven Hall, Monica Hopkins, Brandon Howell, Scott Kidd, Monica Moore, Joseph Mullins, Richard Noble, Paula Stanley, Scottie Stumbo, Minnie Tackett and Angela Taylor.

Children always welcome

The Biology II class at Wheelwright High School welcomes any school group to visit to see and hold the animals at their "petting zoo." These youngsters preferred the turtles, though the "zoo" also includes hamsters, gerbils, mice, crabs, a python and the latest...baby chicks just hatching in the incubator! Call W.H.S., 452-2110, to arrange a visit. It's educational and fun!

Student of the month

Jenna Gearheart has been awarded the "Student of the Month" award in her dance class. She is the daughter of Randy and Deedra Gearheart. She has been taking dance classes for almost two years. She, along with her class mates, will be performing in "The Oz Man" to be held on June 12 at Prestonsburg High School.

The daughter of Andy and Mable Bolen would like to invite you to her parents 50th Wedding Anniversary. The celebration will be at the Holiday Inn of Prestonsburg, Saturday, May 29th, 4 p.m. to 8 p.m.

All Friends and Family are encouraged to attend.

To The Voters of District #1

I am asking for your vote and support on May 25th to elect me your Constable. I do not operate an ambulance service in another county, and I do not live in another county. Also, I am the only member of my family running for public office. I will be a full-time servant for the people of District #1.

JUNIOR JOSEPH

for Jailer

5 on Ballot

Citizens of Floyd County, I am calling upon your support to help elect me, Junior Joseph, as your next Floyd County Jailer.

Here are some of my qualifications and plans that prove I am the most qualified candidate to serve as your next Floyd County Jailer.

1. I am a successful businessman and operator of P&B Ambulance Service for over 20 years.
2. I have been a continuous and devoted unselfish servant to all Floyd Countians that have called upon me for emergency medical attention.
3. I have been a certified emergency medical technician for over 20 years which would be a vital necessity for inmates that may encounter the need for emergency medical attention.
4. I feel that deputy jailers should and must attend a security training school and also be trained to a certain degree in medical awareness programs.
5. I will work with a dietician so the meals for inmates will be properly prepared, due to the fact that some people can't eat certain foods when taking certain types of medication.
6. I believe that the jail and outside premises should be monitored with a 24 hour video screening system to allow a more efficient jail security system.
7. I feel that a merit system should be established and inmates should earn their trusteeship.
8. I feel that recreational activities should be established for inmates.
9. I believe a conference room should be placed in our jail for families to visit inmates, which would eliminate children from entering the lodging section and would also eliminate abusive and vulgar language toward the opposite sex while visiting in the lodging section.
10. I will personally call a family member for anyone that is unfortunate enough to be lodged in jail.

ABC music concert at Grethel Baptist Church

The Gospel Heralds, a summer touring group from Appalachian Bible College near Beckley, West Virginia, will be in concert at the Grethel Baptist Church on Saturday, May 22 at 7 p.m.

Sponsor and coach of the Gospel Heralds is Kevin Suiter, an instructor in Appalachian's Music Department, who received his training at Appalachian Bible College and Pensacola Christian College.

The Gospel Heralds' present music is aimed at expressing the joy of being a Christian. Their program is interspersed with English handbells and testimonies relating to their personal faith in Jesus Christ.

ABC is an independent Bible college, located in the south of Charleston, West Virginia. The college specializes in training men and women for vocational church-related ministries.

It is West Virginia's only accredited Bible college, offering 4-year Bachelor of Arts and 2-year Associate of Arts degrees, plus a 1-year Bible Certificate.

There is no admission charge.

ABC's of music

Vicki, Bruce, Charlene, Jeremy, Chris, Joe, Melanie and Gary, members of the Gospel Heralds, will present a concert at the Grethel Baptist Church.

Local church declares itself a "Zoo Zone"

Expect to see one Zoo-rific Ark Park at First Christian Church, North Arnold Avenue, Prestonsburg, starting at 6 p.m. each Sunday night through July 11. The church has declared itself a "Zoo Zone" for Vacation Bible School.

"Our VBS program features animals this summer," says VBS Director Hooded Adams. "Like Noah, we'll be surrounded by God's wonderful creatures, and every one of them has a story to tell about their Creator. It will be an incredible experience!"

This free weekly program for students ages 5 to 10 includes games, crafts, songs, snacks and lots of life-changing Bible interaction. You won't want to miss a minute of this fun-filled adventure.

To register, phone the First Christian Church at 886-8551.

Governor's small business conference June 16-18

A regional roundtable on economic strategies will kick off the Governor's Conference on Small Business June 16-18 at the Holiday Inn, Cincinnati/Northern Kentucky International Airport in Earlanger.

Governor Breton C. Jones will open the roundtable at 1 p.m. on Wednesday, June 16. Geoffrey Colvin, Assistant Managing Editor of Fortune Magazine, will also speak as will Juliann Tenney, Executive Director of the Southern Growth Policy Board, who will discuss the 1992-93 "Report of the Commission on the Future of the South."

Regional approaches to strategic planning and programming will be the focus of a panel of speakers that includes Caroline Robbins, National Association of State Development Agencies; Louis G. Tomatzky, Southern Technology Council; Scott Daugherty, Director, North Carolina Small Business & Technology Development Center; Dr. Graham Toft, President of the Indiana Development Council; and Senator Chuck Horn, Ohio General Assembly.

U.S. Senator Wendell Ford is the invited speaker for an 8 p.m. dinner that will conclude the regional roundtable.

The Governor's Conference on Small Business will open with an 8 a.m. breakfast on June 17 with remarks from the Secretaries of the Economic Development, Tourism and Workforce Development Cabinets. At 10 a.m. the regular sessions will begin and will run throughout the day with representatives of federal and state agencies and the private sector addressing a wide range of topics affecting small businesses.

Topics to be covered include strategic planning, export opportunities for small businesses, doing business with the federal and state government and developing community-based credit sources.

Following lunch, Thursday's afternoon program will begin with a session on "The Credit Crunch: Is It Real?" Other sessions will be Education & Training Program to Support Small Business; Technological Innovation & Modernization; Keys to Global Competitiveness; and Supporting the Entrepreneurial Spirit of Women & Minorities.

Erskin Bowles, Administrator of the U.S. Small Business Administration, Washington, D.C., is scheduled to be the guest speaker at a 6:00 p.m. dinner. The concluding session on Friday, "Summit on Small Business Development," will begin at 8 a.m. with a review of Kentucky's small business climate. At 10 a.m., participants will be divided into focus groups to discuss strategies to address small business needs. Summarized findings will be printed and formally submitted to the Governor and General Assembly.

Cost of attending both the roundtable and the small business conference is $129 per person. Registration, with check made payable to Kentucky State Treasurer, can be sent to Ms. Joan Euerlich, Department of Agricultural Economics, University of Kentucky, Lexington, 40506. Ms. Euerlich may also be reached by calling (606) 257-1872.

It has been brought to my attention that my ex-husband, Joe Bolton, has filed a formal complaint against me and my staff in the County Clerk's Office for campaigning within 500 feet of a polling place. And now an ad has been placed somewhere in this paper to try to discredit me as a clerk. (This negative ad has been paid by someone else.)

Yes, we do have a bumper sticker taped on the counter and we do wear campaign buttons but it is also true that the Sheriff's office and Commonwealth Attorney's office also has campaign paraphernalia out for the public to see and pick up. All the bumper stickers and campaign posters in everyone's vehicles located near the courthouse would also fall into this campaign violation.

When someone came into the County Clerks Office to vote by absentee we still did not try to influence their vote for me.

This negative campaigning only hurts innocent people. My policy has always been to treat everyone the way I would want them to treat me. Sure, there are some people you can't do anything for but these are a minority compared to the others. I am asking that you the voters look at the real issues!

From: George Russell, Executive Director
State Board of Elections
RE: Attorney General's Opinion

We have had inquiries from several county clerks concerning campaign materials on display or being dispensed from the offices of county officials who are located within 500 feet of the clerk's office.

Attached for your information is a copy of the opinion from the Office of the Attorney General concerning "Electioneering in the Vicinity of Absentee Voting".

The State Board of Elections respectfully requests your cooperation with this opinion. If you have any questions, please call one of the following:

the identity shall sign the precinct voter roster and list the method of identification. (Enact. Acts 1988, ch. 341, § 9, effective July 15, 1988.)

117.235. Persons permitted in voting room - Prohibited activities

Exit polls permitted - Election sheriff to maintain order - Mock elections for school children. - (1) No person, other than the election officers and challengers, shall be permitted within the voting room while the vote is being polled, except for the purpose of voting or except by authority of the election officers to keep order and enforce the law.

(2) No officer of election shall do any electioneering on election day.

(3) No person shall do any electioneering at the polling place or within a distance of five hundred (500) feet of any entrance to a building in which a voting machine is located if that entrance is unlocked and is used by voters on election day, unless the fiscal court or legislative body of an urban-county government specifically authorizes by ordinance on a county-wide basis a greater distance from the polling place within which electioneering may be permitted, but in no case shall electioneering be allowed within five hundred (500) feet of any entrance to a building in which a voting machine is located if that entrance is unlocked and is used by voters. Electioneering shall include the displaying of signs, the distribution of campaign literature, cards or handbills, the soliciting of signatures to any petition, or the solicitation of votes for or against any candidate or question on the ballot in any manner, but shall not include exit polling. Nothing contained in this section shall prohibit electioneering conducted within a private residence or establishment other than that in which the polling place is located by persons having an ownership interest in such property.

(4) No voter shall be permitted to converse with others while in the voting room concerning their support or non-support of any candidate, party or issue to be voted on, except as provided in KRS 117.255

Re: Electioneering in Vicinity of Absentee Voting

Dear Ms. Johnson and Mr. Miller:

You have asked whether the ban on electioneering conducted within 500 feet of a polling place is applicable to absentee voting conducted in the county clerk's office.

The state board of elections has adopted an administrative regulation that says:

At such time as the clerk establishes and begins to utilize a special area of his office, or elsewhere (for absentee voting), such area shall become a polling place within the meaning of KRS 117.235, and the provisions of KRS 117.235(3) prohibiting electioneering at the polling place or within a distance of 500 feet from any entrance to a polling place shall be applicable.

Marie Johnson
John Robert Miller

31 KAR 4:040 Section 2. Because of the clear provision of this regulation, electioneering material should not be allowed within 500 feet of the entrance to the clerk's office while the office is being used as a polling place for absentee votes.

Chris Gorman

It is a generally accepted belief among intelligent voters everywhere, that the "election deck," at all levels, has become stacked in favor of those already in office and seeking re-election; when you add to this, the apparent flagrant disregard for fair play, if not the law itself, as shown above, currently being demonstrated by our experienced and qualified County Clerk, concerned citizens would be well advised to pay special attention to the availability of her worthy 'underdog' opponent who appears to have conducted a very positive, grass-roots, low-budget, door-to-door style campaign, only to have his chances of success diminished greatly by his opponent's highly questionable tactics.

Wake up, Floyd Countians. With our track record, can we really afford to 'waste' a good candidate????

AND THIS D. J. PLAYED ON

Until Celeste Perry actually said it, I had never voiced my opinion about how astonished I am at the way high school proms have changed in the past (?) years. Last Saturday night while parents and family members milled around in the parking lot gazing at girls in $500 dresses, Celeste came up to me and said, "My prom dress came from the old Lerner's store in Huntington. It cost $39," she sighed fondly. "I can still remember after we bought it saying that it was time to go eat."

"Tell me about it. My dress was homemade and Mom spray painted my shoes. My feet were green for a week."

Thinking back on my prom, I can remember that most of the boys wore dress suits and their Sunday best shoes. Not anymore. Now they wear rented tuxedos and patent leather shoes that look like they ought to be cleaned with Mop N' Glo.

As we continued to gawk at the young glamorously adorned crowd another friend commented on the fact that he didn't think kids had as much fun as we used to have.

"How could they?" a bystander exclaimed. "They've got more money in their clothes than our fathers earned in a year! And besides that, most of them don't know how to dance."

Throughout the sequestered, beaded, tuxedoed crowd, there could not have possibly been a single teen-ager whose parent hadn't mortgaged the farm in Georgia. And from a woman who has seen more than her share of Academy Awards ceremonies, the kids would have put some movie stars to shame.

"Look at that dress, Sara," a friend of mine gasped as she walked up behind me. "I wish we had been able to wear dresses like that."

"I want to know what happened to simple pin-on corsages?" another person noted.

"I'm glad they don't wear corsages anymore," I intoned. "I hated those things. They could really mess up a dress, particularly if they didn't match. They always came off when you danced anyway."

"Finning on the corsage was my favorite part of the night," a male friend reminisced.

"What about pictures? Our parents took pictures of us before we left the house. Now they take them before, during and after. I don't think my mother took another snapshot of me after I started first grade. I mean, why bother. They took school pictures every year."

THE TIMES' WEEKEND EXTRA

Hindman Family Folk Week

The Hindman Settlement School will be conducting its 16th annual Appalachian Family Folk Week June 6-12. This gathering of traditional folk artists attracts participants from throughout the United States. The Settlement's long history of promoting the cultural arts of this region is nationally known.

The Appalachian Family Folk Week is designed especially for families who want to share in a week of traditional music, dance, crafts, storytelling and instrument playing. This year's staff includes: Jean Ritchie, internationally known ballad singer; Ray Stone, well known local musician and gifted teacher of string music; Marion Sumner, one of the greatest fiddlers in the region; Lee Sexton, an outstanding banjo player; Beth Goldston, master basketmaker from North Carolina; Rich Kirby, an accomplished musician and singer; Edna Ritchie Baker, ballad singer and craftsperon; Phil Jamison, former member of Green Grass Cloggers, musician and dance caller; Susan Jones, art teacher and coordinator of children's activities; Catherine Rubin, master weaver and fabric artist; Diane Ferlatte, nationally known storyteller; Martin "Sonny" Houston, multitalented musician from Letcher County; Candace Stone, a quilting artist from Knott County and Mike Ware, potter from Hindman.

The daily schedule, June 7 - 11 is as follows: each morning from 9:30 a.m. - 10:30 a.m. there is group singing followed by a member of the staff. This is followed by dancing for the adults from 10:30-11:30 a.m. During this time period the children have their own activities. The children also have dancing each day from 11:30-noon. After lunch there are concurrent sessions from 1:30 - 2:30 p.m. and from 3:00-4:00 p.m. These sessions include: instrument playing, cornshuck doll making, basket making, quilting, weaving, children's activities, ballad singing, storytelling, clogging and pottery.

During the evenings, there are concerts followed by dancing that are open free to the general public. The evening schedule is as follows: Sunday, June 6, a dance with Phil Jamison calling; Monday, June 7, Sonny and Susan Houston in concert; Tuesday, June 8, storytelling by Diane Ferlatte; Wednesday, June 9, Phil Jamison, Rich Kirby and Ray Stone in concert; Thursday, June 10, Jean Ritchie and Edna Ritchie Baker in concert and Friday, June 11, Lee Sexton, Marion Sumner and folk week participants in concert. These activities will take place in the May Stone Building at 7:30 p.m.

Anyone interested in participating in the 16th annual Appalachian Family Folk Week should write Mike Mullins, Executive Director, Hindman Settlement School, P.O. Box 844, Hindman, KY 41822 or call 606-785-5475. All of the evening activities are open free to the public and the performance hall is wheelchair accessible. This event is partially funded by the Kentucky Arts Council.

I don't know about you folks, but I had no idea that our state government was so dedicated. Congratulations are in order once again for Governor Brereton C. Jones & Company for a job well done.

That's right. It took literally hundreds of man-hours, thousands of dollars and the incredible courage to make an unpopular decision, but they did it.

Br'er Brer, along with the Kentucky Racing Commission, once again put on the ol' rubber gloves and told Eastern Kentucky to turn its head and cough.

And no, it ain't part of health care reform.

Our esteemed governor and his widdle friends at the racing commission have decided that we can't play in their sandbox.

In case you don't know what I'm talking about (and I usually don't myself), the racing commissioners denied Eastern Kentucky Racing Incorporated the right to conduct live harness racing at Kentucky Downs because, they said, us po' white trash hillbillies ain't dedicated or smart enough.

I've been told that the good folks at the Guinness Book of World Records are planning a trip down here this month to include the racing commission in its next edition under the category of LAMEST @#%#* EXCUSE OF ALL TIME!!!

Truth, Justice, and the American Way

The biggest problem-- they said-- was that a proposed 21,600-square foot convention center wouldn't be completed by the July 2 deadline.

Seems that, even though THEY delayed any work whatsoever on the track for SEVEN MONTHS by FALSELY declaring Eastern Kentucky Racing's legal license invalid-- and then put obstacle after obstacle in our path to try and slow down the project-- it's OUR FAULT that we couldn't get the thing finished in just a few short months.

"Oh noooooo," they said, "you poor dumb hicks can't run a race track with temporary facilities," although every thoroughbred track in the state operates with temporary facilities on a REGULAR basis. CHURCHILL DOWNS used temporary betting windows during the 1993 KENTUCKY DERBY!!! "Oh nooooo," they said, "You poor dumb hicks don't even have indoor plumbing. What makes you think you can run a race track?"

It's RACISM!!! PURE, UN-ADULTERATED RACISM!!! As we all know, there ain't NOTHIN' worse than a bigot except maybe for them minorities.

And greed, of course. A local race track would prevent the thoroughbred industry from setting up unpteen off-track betting parlors in Eastern Kentucky that would channel 99 percent of any proceeds directly into the pockets of the thoroughbred owners. And the racing commissioners. And the governor.

Oh yes, let's not forget ol' Brer. Brer's the one who created the current racing commission, using EIGHT former Thoroughbred Racing Commission members and THREE former Harness Racing Commission members and then said, "Hey, I trust these guys. I'd hate to interfere in their extremely important work." Being a thoroughbred owner himself, I guess he did trust 'em.

Besides, he said, he doesn't really have time to bother with this because he's way too busy on that there health care reform program, which is designed to benefit all Kentuckians (and we all know how successful that's been).

and the American Way

by Geoff Belcher, staff writer

But hey, maybe I'm being just a little bit rough on 'em. What's so important about some dumb ol' racetrack, anyways?

Geez, I don't know. Maybe the fact that it would have created 273 new jobs, expanded our local tax base by at least four million dollars and pumped more than eleven million dollars a year into our sagging economy BY ITSELF? That doesn't include the additional jobs and revenues expected to have been generated by the additional tourism and satellite businesses such as motels and restaurants that would have been created around it.

That's all ancient history now, though, thanks to the bigotry and greed of a handful of petty men. Never have so few done so little for so many.

But friends, don't give up hope. As I write this, a small contingent of us die-hard hillbillies are fixin' to head to Frankfort to tell Brer (and Paul Patton, who doesn't seem to realize that he was elected primarily by us poor dumb hicks and if he EVER wants to be governor, he oughta try helpin' us out for a change) PERSONALLY how we feel about this whole sorry episode.

If you wanted to go yourself but couldn't find the time, why don't you call the governor yourself at 1-502-564-2611 and tell him EXACTLY what you think.

In the meantime, I'll be a-fightin' fer ye live and in person, and I'm bringin' Dr. Bubba with me, and we ain't takin' no for an answer even if we have to raise a ruckus.

Me, I'm hoping to get arrested. I just hope they don't bring out them rubber gloves.

Poperi

by Scott Peery

Not since General George Armstrong Custer uttered his famous quote: "What indians?" has there been a misinterpretation of the future so worthy of comment than this remark, offered in 1972 by Richard Nixon...

"Now the purists probably won't agree with that but I don't think you're going to see a great, great uproar in the country about the Republican committee trying to bug the Democratic headquarters."

We all know now that Nixon missed the mark a tad on that opinion seeing as how he was the first and only U.S. president to leave office before his term ended who did not have a bullet lodged in any vital organs.

Nixon, it seems, had a habit of underestimating things.

After resigning the presidency, we seem to recall him saying something like "they won't have Richard Nixon to kick around anymore."

Here it is 20 years later and we're still kicking the old boy around.

Not that he doesn't deserve a good kick every now and again. After all, his resignation did set the stage for Jimmy Carter to become president.

Carter's most monumental achievement as president, other than giving away the Panama Canal and driving inflation up to equal Babe Ruth's batting average, was to whack a rabbit over the head with a boat paddle.

We probably shouldn't be so critical of our presidents. They are the most powerful people in the world (if you exclude Michael Jordan and Murphy Brown from consideration).

Trouble is, though, they just ask for it.

Take Bill Clinton. Please.

Seriously, how can you not take a potshot or two at Clinton when he spends his first three months in office breaking every promise he didn't have the chance to break between election day and inauguration day?

His approval rating has dropped so low, pollsters are saying it lies somewhere between a snake's belly in a wagon track and whale poop in the ocean.

The difference between Clinton and his predecessors is they just plain misjudged our character while in Bill's case it appears we just plain misjudged his.

Dear Abby

Wife's shotgun wedding still ringing in her ears

DEAR ABBY: Something has been on my mind for several years. When I was 18, I was in love with "Jim," who was 19. We started having sex, so I went on a birth control pill because he was in no position to get married. Well, I did a terrible thing: I purposely stopped taking the pill without telling Jim, because I wanted to get pregnant so he would marry me.

I got pregnant right away and went through all the motions of acting "shocked." To make a long story short, he married me and we had a beautiful baby girl. Two years later we had a little boy. Abby, I know what I did was selfish and underhanded, but I don't regret it.

My problem is whether to tell Jim that I tricked him into marrying me. He is a very understanding man, and we have a fantastic marriage, but I don't know how he would react. I'm also afraid if I tell him, I will have to tell my family and his.

What is the right thing to do?

FEELING GUILTY

DEAR FEELING GUILTY: Since this has been on your mind for several years, you may feel relieved if you were to tell him.

It's history now, and you say you have a fantastic marriage. True confession may be good for the soul, but it can be bad for the marriage. But why you think it's necessary to tell your family and his is a mystery to me.

DEAR ABBY: My wonderful mother had surgery three weeks ago and was diagnosed with cancer, with a life expectancy of three to six months. This is the most devastating thing I've ever had to face. I hope you and/or your readers can answer some of these questions.

My co-workers are naturally interested and concerned, but they ask me daily, "How is your mother?" I appreciate their concern, but I really don't want to talk about my mother's health because it is progressively worse. Almost everyone asks, "How old is she?" I finally got tired of answering that question, so I asked, "Why do you want to know?"

The reply, "I just wondered if she has had a full life." Abby, although my mother is in her mid-70s, she's too young to die. I wouldn't want to lose her if she were 100. How can I answer that question without being rude?

WEARY

DEAR WEARY: When asked a question you don't want to answer, simply say, "Thank you for your interest, but I'd rather not talk about it."

P.S. And thank you, "Weary," for suggesting that the "How old is she (or he)" question should not be asked when the loved one is terminally ill. It's entirely irrelevant to most family members.

DEAR ABBY: I couldn't resist commenting on the letter in your recent column about whether a man could father children if he had only one testicle.

My husband had a shriveled testicle due to having had the mumps "go down on him" during his college years. But we had two children, a boy and a girl. I recall one time when he had consulted with a urologist, and the doctor asked him if he had children. He replied, "Yes, a son and a daughter." "Well," the doctor replied, "that blows the theory that perhaps one side produces males and the other females!"

ARIES (March 21 to April 29) A family member will be unusually thin-skinned this week, so do tread carefully. Something you say in passing may very well be misinterpreted, causing a huge rift. By week's end, peace will reign once again.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) It's a good idea this week to pay close attention to what others are saying. More to the point, examine their motives. It would appear that your best interests are not at heart, so take steps to protect yourself, and all will be well.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Your wallet would appear to have a hole in it this week, as your spending could easily get out of control. Don't let this happen, because those bills will pile up before you know it. Spend a quiet weekend at home.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) While your openness and friendly nature are greatly appreciated in your social life, it's not a good idea to be too familiar at work. Keep your distance, and maintain your professionalism. Higher-ups are watching.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Don't make any hasty decisions this week based on gossip you may have overheard. Think before you act. More importantly, don't give in to anger. Now is the time to be cool and outsmart others with your smoothness.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Money matters require your attention this week, although what you have to say about it may not sit too well with others. Don't let this throw you. You're right on the mark with this. However, do be sure to use tact and patience in discussions.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) Partnerships are not highlighted this week, so you do best working alone. This will lead to greater creativity, and ultimately, increased income. All that solitude will have you eager for company this weekend. Enjoy the social scene.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Despite your sometimes volatile temper, this is not the time for you to lecture others about their obvious shortcomings. Instead, be more introspective and look for what's wrong in your own behavior that's causing such reactions. Make an ef-

NEWS OF THE WEIRD

In April in Low Moor, Iowa, the body of a 16-year-old boy whose parents suspected he had runaway to join the circus more than four years earlier, was found hanged in their farmhouse basement; the body had not been discovered because of the severe clutter. In Vienna, Austria, since December, the bodies of three people have been found in their apartments by officials; in the apartments suggested that one man died in 1989 and that two sisters had died in 1985. And in Roubaix, France, the body of Eloi Herbaux, 55, was found in March by health officials investigating the smell from his apartment, apparently 10 months after he had passed away; the body was on the sofa in front of a television set that was still on.

INEXPLICABLE

-- In Monmouth, Ill., Clifford West told a judge in April that his wife, Cora, could come back to live with him, and cook for him, while she's out on bail awaiting her trial for trying to kill him by poisoning his food.

-- In March, Cleveland, Ohio, judge Terrence O'Donnell found Dr. Demetrius Pawlyszyn not guilty of 39 counts of drug trafficking and writing false prescriptions despite prosecutors' evidence: In a seven-month period, Pawlyszyn had prescribed, among other things, more than 60 gallons of narcotic cough syrup, 53,000 Valiums and 35,000 Vicodins.

-- The class president of third-year graduate students at Duke University Divinity School was expelled in April for a scheme in which, in words and deeds, he faked a case of terminal cancer, to the point of keeping his head shaved to mimic the effect of chemotherapy.

-- The trial of Ismael Rodriguez in Trenton, N.J., in April revealed the practice of the rehabilitation program of the halfway house to which he had been sent after serving time in prison on heroin possession charges. Rodriguez said he wanted to escape from the halfway house because he objected to inmates being forced to iron dresses and high heels -- a practice that officials say breaks down inmates' self-images as tough guys.

-- In March, South Carolina state Sen. Glenn McConnell protested to the mayor of Charleston the city's decision to relocate the city to create 13 bodies from a Confederate graveyard underneath The Citadel's football field and parking lot, but to leave 23 other bodies there. -- In September, New York City police charged a Wall Street investment banker and an honors student at Yale Law School with tossing huge chunks of concrete off a 45-story luxury apartment building. One woman was partly paralyzed after being hit with a 75-pound slab. According to police, one of the men said, "We had so much fun throwing that (stuff). This is better than a bank robbery."

-- In January, a Dallas recording company mistakenly sent the wrong compact discs to about three dozen of the 1,000 radio stations that were to receive religious programming sponsored by the Southern Baptist Radio-TV Commission. Instead, the company had sent the alternative music band Dead Kennedys' album "Fresh Fruit for Rotting Vegetables," which includes the song "I Kill Children."

-- In February, the British journal Nature reported that radioactivity in Russia was so prevalent, from nuclear plant waste, atomic testing and nuclear accidents, that it is now being detected at significant levels in snakes' venom. And last August, officials in the Ukraine said at least 193 cases of poisoning (including 23 deaths) had been reported from toxic, "possibly mutant," mushrooms that have been growing near the site of a nuclear power plant in the Voronezh region of Russia, about 350 miles from Moscow.

-- In December in Marianna, Fla., Brandon Hatcher filed a lawsuit against the Pepsi distributor in Dothan, Ala., which services Marianna, after tests revealed that the Mountain Dew he started to drink contained urine. The Panama City News Herald quoted an executive of the distributing company as saying, "There are a variety of reasons why this could happen."

THE WEIRDO-AMERICAN COMMUNITY

In March, the Cleveland Plain Dealer profiled professor James Hanson of Cleveland State University, noting that he "calmly holds to his conviction" that the Earth is the center of the universe because he believes the Bible, against what a colleague calls "libraries of proof against (that belief)." Hanson said he had also "exhumed the original research of the man who discovered (carbon-14 dating), and I got very different conclusions." Said Hanson, "I believe what I believe."

LEAST COMPETENT PERSON

A 24-year-old salesman from Hialeah, Fla., was killed near Lantana, Fla., in March when his car smashed into a pole in the median strip of Interstate 95 in the middle of the afternoon. Police said the man was traveling at 80 mph at the time and, judging by the sales manual that was found open and clutched to his chest, had been busy reading.

GOOD NEWS

The Associated Press reported in April that the Red Belle Saloon in Salt Lake city is prospering under its new owners. Last year, bikers in a motorcycle gang called the Barons, whose clubhouse is near the bar, became angry at seeing the drug dealing, prostitution and violent crimes taking place at the bar, so they bought it, rehabilitated it and set the clientele straight.

McDowell surprises Magoffin County in district semifinals

Mullins collects three hits in 10-4 win

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

To borrow words from the legendary Homer Pyle, "surprise, surprise, surprise."

That is what the McDowell Lady Daredevils did after coach Melinda Hopkins gave a pep talk just before her team took the field against the Lady Hornets of Magoffin County -- they surprised Magoffin County.

"I believe we can win this game," said the McDowell mentor to her team just before the game. "I know that we can win it."

McDowell had dropped an earlier doubleheader to the Lady Hornets and Magoffin County came as the favorite to advance to the district finals. However, the Lady Daredevils had other plans and posted a 10-4 win and advanced to the finals themselves.

McDowell scored six times in the third inning to break open a tight game. Kristy Mullins collected three hits in the game and scored twice while driving in one run. She had a RBI single in the sixth run third. Crissy Tackett drove in a run with two hits and scored twice as well as playing a strong second base. The freshman second baseman made some good stops at the four position.

Magoffin County took a 1-0 lead in the second inning off starter Lisa Hobson. A one-out double by Jeanelle Shepherd in the second led to the Lady Hornets run. She scored on Tina Shepherd's first hit of the game. Shepherd collected three hits in the contest for Magoffin County.

McDowell plated two runs in the bottom of the second to take the 2-1 lead. Mullins led off the frame with a base hit and Susan Stephens was safe on an error. When Crystal Newsome bounced to third, the ball was mis-handled by Lisa Montgomery allowing Mullins to score. Newsome scored on Montgomery's second error of the inning.

In the six-run third, McDowell collected five hits as 11 batters batted. Rachel Howell had an RBI single as did Tackett.

Tackett scored for the Lady Daredevils in the bottom of the fourth inning on two Magoffin County errors. Tackett opened the inning with a base hit.

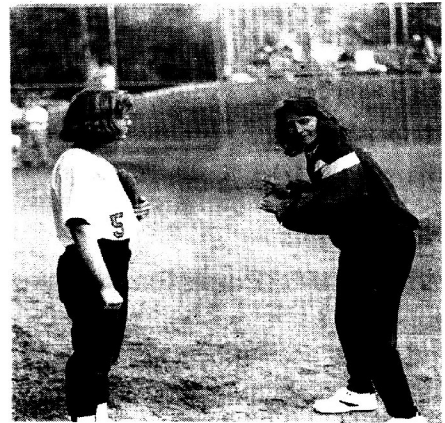

McDowell's final run came in the fifth inning when Candida Hamilton reached on a fielder's choice and scored on Kathy Stumbo's single.

The Lady Hornets scored three runs in the top of the seventh as the first three runners reached against Hobson. Leann Perkins had a two-run double in the inning. Hobson fanned Stephanie Elsie to end the game. It was the fourth time that Hobson got Elsie on strikes.

Each team committed four errors in the contest. McDowell stranded seven base runners and Magoffin County left six on base.

"But where's the bat, coach?"

Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats 1993 District Champions

Prestonsburg repeats as district champs in 15-3 win over McDowell

Clay whacks grand slam homerun; Music doubles twice

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

The program is still young but they have two district championships under their belt in three years of existence.

The Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats of Coach Bridget Clay were a "bunch of happy campers" as they defeated the McDowell Lady Daredevils 15-3 in the championship game of the girls' 42nd District title game.

The victory gave Coach Clay's ball club back-to-back titles and she couldn't have been happier.

"This is a great group of kids," said Clay and the thrill behind her voice as she encouraged her team continuously. It wasn't hard to see that she had fully enjoyed the season.

"I certainly have enjoyed the season," said Clay. "It's been a good year for us. Our kids have been down but they have always come back."

Prestonsburg scored 11 runs in the first inning as 15 batters paraded to the plate. The big blow of the inning was Jamie Clay's grand slam home run.

Four McDowell errors highlighted the inning also as the Lady Daredevils were guilty of some early miscues.

After the first inning, McDowell looked competitive but could never get any offense going against the more experienced Lady Blackcats.

McDowell elected to take the bat out of Amy Reed's hands the first two times to the plate for the All-Tournament player. McDowell coach Melinda Hopkins had the Prestonsburg hitter intentionally passed the first two times up with runners on base.

"Any is our number two hitter in the batting order," explained Clay. "When they walk her intentionally like McDowell did, it shows the respect other teams have for her as a hitter. But then we have two runners on base and our three, four and five hitters coming up."

Prestonsburg scored 11 times in the first inning but collected only two hits to go with the four McDowell errors.

Clay's home run came in her second at bat in the first inning. She had singled to lead off the game. Raquel Cain, Jamie Ratcliff and Deana Laferty were aboard when Clay unloaded.

McDowell plated their first run in the second inning when Susan Stephens reached on an error on third baseman Stephanie Music. With one out, Crystal Newsome singled, scoring Stephens. But Newsome was cut down going to third base.

One run scored for Prestonsburg in the second on a single by Cain who scored on Jennifer Miller's dropped fly ball in the outfield.

McDowell scored single runs in the fourth and fifth innings before the game was called a mercy win for the Lady Blackcats. Stephens scored for the Lady Daredevils in the fourth and Kathy Jo Stumbo scored in the fifth.

Crissy Tackett, a freshman, collected two hits for McDowell.

The Lady Daredevils committed eight errors in the game and stranded seven base runners. Prestonsburg had three errors and left seven runners on base.

Prestonsburg got their two final runs in the fifth inning on RBIs by Kerrie Merion and Stephanie Music.

Coach Clay likes the blend this years team has.

"We blended real well," she said. "We have some young players and we have more experienced players. And I think because that combination blended so well that is why we are a good ball club."

Prestonsburg improved to 25-5 on the season and is ranked as one of the region's top teams.

"It has been a pleasure to work with these kids this season. We knew that we could be one of the top teams in the region and we went to the semifinals of the regional last year and we hope to go farther this time."

"Competition has been good this season and we have improved a great deal from last season."

Clay said that she hates to see her five seniors depart after this year because they have given so much to the program in making it a success.

"We work very hard. They worked very hard. We just don't go out and practice and say here's a bat to hit some. We work on our game. We really practice," said Clay.

Clay has a hard time dealing with some calls her team receives but credits her assistant coach for his part in keeping her calm.

"John (Reed) is good to have around," said the Prestonsburg mentor. "He keeps me calm when we don't get the calls."

"She gets all out of shape over some calls and I have to tell it get to her so bad," Reed said.

But that is the way this team has played all season. Like their coach - competitively.

Ken's Sports Shop Derby co-champs

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

Twenty-one softball teams gathered in Mt. Sterling for the annual Derby Classic Softball Tournament last weekend and Ken's Sport Shop came away as a co-champion with H & W Sport Shop thanks to the recent rains.

"We couldn't finish the tournament because of all the rain," said Kenny Conley, the team's manager. "We were scheduled to meet in the finals and so they declared us both co-champions."

Ken's won three games, earning the right to play in the championship game. This year's team is considered to be one of the best teams that Ken's Sport Shop had fielded in recent years. The power-hitting team hammered Hammer Time of Campton in the first outing 22-5, scoring eight runs in the third and playing seven in the fifth for the mercy win.

Jimmy Blankenship collected a pair of triples for the winners and finished with four hits. Mike McQuate had a first inning double en route to a four hit night.

Second baseman Jerry Fultz collected three hits with a third inning double that scored two runs.

Hammer Time took a 3-0 first inning lead and led 4-1 going into the bottom of the second inning.

A three run second for Ken's tied the game at 4-4 before they struck for eight in the third while shutting out their opponents the rest of the way.

BAC provided little opposition in game two as Ken's buried them 21-5 behind the home run hitting of Greg Shepherd and Mike McQuate. Shepherd and McQuate hammered back-to-back home runs in the fourth inning when Ken's scored six times.

Scott Cornett had a first inning triple for Ken's and he doubled in the fifth. McQuate had two other hits go with his home run. He singled in the third and fifth innings.

The third game in the winners' bracket was not as easy as the local softball team had to go to extra innings to subdue a Lauplette Gulf team out of Huntington, W. Va.

Ken's scored five runs in the top of the eighth inning for a 10-5 win over the West Virginia team. McQuate led off the inning with a triple and scored on Kidd's base hit. Ronnie Little doubled home Kidd and he scored on Newsome's RBI single.

Two outs later, Blankenship walked to go out on base for Bowersock's two-run single. Lauplette went out in order in the bottom of the inning.

Ken's had taken a 4-0 lead in the first inning as they collected six hits in the frame. However, Lauplette kept chipping away at the lead and tied the game with a run in the bottom of the

A Look At Sports

by Ed Taylor, Sports Editor

JAMERSON LEAVES ALLEN CENTRAL FOOTBALL PROGRAM

For Allen Central head football coach Dewey Jamerson the time spent with the schools' football program, as well as track and field, is a lot of time spent away from his family.

His wife Tracy is expecting the couples third child and Jamerson feels that he needs more time with his family.

If you know Dewey Jamerson, you know that he is just that -- a family man. It is not uncommon to see him out running with his son Nicholas or having his son with him at track and field events.

Jamerson has put some quality time into the Allen Central football program and had one winning season during the 1990 season when his team finished 6-5 and won the EKMC conference.

Since then the program has been winless in the past two seasons after losing some top players two years ago.

"Leaving the football program is a family reason," said Jamerson. "It was my decision to resign and spend more time with my family."

Jamerson said that his submitted resignation was effective at the end of the school year.

What about the future of the program at the Right Beaver school?

"They are going to hire someone else," said Jamerson who plans to stay on and handle the schools track and field program as well as cross country next season.

Johnny Martin, head basketball coach at Allen Central, said that school principal Jody Sword told him that he was going to hire someone for the job. A selection committee will be appointed and applications taken for the job, according to Martin.

If that is the case, could the program be in danger of folding for the coming season with schedules already made out?

Football practice officially begins August 15 and the season opens August 28. Summer workouts such as work in the weight room are very important for a football team.

"Although I have resigned we will continue to do that, work out with weights," said

Jamerson.

As all in Floyd County know, Jamerson has been instrumental in bringing back a wide interest in track and field. Allen Central, over the last four years, has become one of the stronger squads in the region and has sent several runners and field participants to state meets.

Who will replace the popular Jamerson at Allen Central?

Only time will tell. I feel that Allen Central needs to make the move that Betsy Layne did and that is leave district competition until a competitive program can be built. Time must go into developing a feeder system for the school and giving the school time to become a contender for a district title. Let's face it, the Rebels play in a tough district with the likes of a Pikeville team.

Betsy Layne will be out this season and next before they can reenter district competition. The Bobcats has lightened their schedule for this year playing 10 games with six been at home.

Teams such as East Carter, Madison South, Berea and the Kentucky for the Deal make up part of the schedule. Others include Allen Central, South Floyd, Morgan County, Elkhorn City and Knott County Central.

Coach Jamerson will leave some talented players for the next football coach. However, the lack of a strong feeder system has hurt the program the past three years.

Jamerson's track and field team will travel to Boyd County today for the regional meet. Wheelwright's Donnie Daniels and Keith Smallwood went to Bell County yesterday.

Until next Wednesday, good sports everyone and be good sports! Support the teams in the district tournament. Also, congratulations to the Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats upon winning the district tournament.

Mills one of five finalists for Sheldon Clark job

by Jason Blanton
Contributing Writer

Then there were five. Sheldon Clark's search for a new boys basketball coach is down to five candidates.

Last week, Martin County Superintendent Bill Stone gave the high school's site-based committee those five names.

Included in the finalists are: Mike Castle -- Castle coached at Johnson Central High School from 1982-1989. The 41-year-old won 120 games and the 1984 15th Region title. Eric Ratliff -- Ratliff, 28, was an assistant coach for Roger Harless this past season and led the junior varsity to a 20-0 record. He is also baseball coach at Sheldon Clark. Sam Sparks -- A former Lawrence County head coach, Sparks, 31, is now an assistant as Russell. John Mills -- Mills, 29, is a former player at Sheldon Clark and is now women's head coach at Alice Lloyd College.

Ronnie Evans -- Evans is another former Cardinal. Evans, 32, has served as an assistant at Lees College and over the last five years has been at Cleveland (TN) High School as an assistant. Stone said last Friday that no timetable has been set for the job that was left vacant when Roger Harless resigned.

However, Harless changed his mind and tried to get his job back last month but was told to reapply for it. Harless did. He was not one of the five finalists even though he had won back-to-back 57th District titles and 20 games in two straight years for the first time in the school's history.

JCHS Eagles fire Sturgill; search for new coach begins

by Jason Blanton
Contributing Writer

After suffering through its worst basketball season in history, Johnson Central fired boys' basketball coach Larry Sturgill last Friday.

Johnson County Schools Superintendent Frank Hamilton announced that the school would be hiring a new basketball coach for the 1993-94 school year.

"It is our decision that, under existing circumstances, it would be most difficult for the present staff to succeed in turning our program around," said Hamilton.

The Golden Eagles finished 5-22 last season, including a school record 17-game losing streak.

Johnson Central lost to Magoffin County in the opening round of the 57th District tournament.

During the first week of May, several parents of the players had even met with Hamilton to talk about the basketball program.

Hamilton and Sturgill had discussed the current situation on two occasions in the last couple of weeks, according to a press release, before last Friday's firing.

Sturgill was hired to replace Alvin Ratliff last May.

Last April, when Ratliff resigned, he made no attempts to hide the fact he did not want to quit.

"This is not a decision that I wanted to quit," Ratliff said last April. "You just don't put life-blood into something and work at it day and night and just do this. The administration wants to go in another direction and it's their decision."

According to Hamilton, Johnson Central will begin accepting applications for the boys' basketball position immediately.

Bassin' with the Pros

Different sized bass require different fishing tactics

Even though there may be only two inches of difference between a 12-inch bass and a 14-inch bass, it takes vastly different techniques to catch them.

That's the opinion of professional tournament fisherman Larry Nixon, winner of more than $1 million in prize money and an active member of the Evinrude Outboards Pro Staff.

"The 14-inch bass are much harder to catch," explains Nixon, "and in many cases, you don't even find them in the same places you find the smaller fish. When you're trying to catch a limit of 14-inch bass, it usually takes a lot longer than for a limit of 12-inch bass."

These lengths are the two most common minimum size regulations the pros encounter on the different lakes where they compete. States most often impose the larger 14-inch size limit to protect bass for one additional year, which usually allows them to grow to maturity and spawn.

"When I'm on a lake with the larger size limit, I usually change to larger lures," continues Nixon, "and I'll start fishing the same water I would for smaller bass, and just see what I catch."

"If I catch nothing but undersized bass, I have to assume the larger bass are not using the same cover or structure, so I change tactics. I'll either start fishing deeper water, or, at times, even fish more shallow."

The larger bass grow, says Evinrude pro, the closer they seem to stay to drop-offs and breaklines. Even though the larger bass may actually be in very shallow water, they are usually closer to deeper water than are the smaller bass.

"It may take a day or more to completely determine this," acknowledges Nixon, "which is why it really is important to study not only the size of the bass you're catching, but the type of water they're using."

"A lot of tournament fishermen keep catching smaller 12-inch bass hour after hour, believing a larger one will eventually hit, but if you don't pick up more than an occasional 14-inch bass, you're really wasting your time in a tournament.

"You can't take those little fish to the weigh-in scales." The larger lures Nixon uses include heavier spinnerbaits with larger blades, jigs with bulkier trailers, longer plastic worms, and topwater lures that create a lot of water movement.

"Big bass hit by reflex just like smaller bass do," says Nixon, "but it often takes more action and commotion to generate that strike. The smaller bass just don't hit the larger lures, either, so sometimes it's a long time between strikes."

"Most fishermen don't realize there is so much difference between bass just two inches apart in size, but there is."

Evinrude and Johnson outboard dealers offer the Pro-Team Bass Vest, a personal flotation device (PFD) designed for bass fishermen. The vest features four pockets, adjustable sides and D-rings for attaching an emergency ignition cut-off tether.

CARDS AND COLLECTING

Despite many injuries, Albert "RED" SCHOENDIENST enjoyed a long and successful career... He overcame eye problems and a shoulder injury to make the Cardinals team in 1945, and became a top second baseman, leading the N.L. in fielding seven times... Later, Red lost part of a lung to tuberculosis, yet returned to play again... The popular switch-hitter from Germantown, Ill., was also good at the plate, batting a career-high .342 in 1953... He helped the Cards to the 1946 pennant, and later helped the Milwaukee Braves to pennants in 1957 and '58... This is Red's 1954 Bowman card, #110, worth $36 today...

OUTDOORS TRACKER PRO FISHIN' TIPS

Stick it to bass coming out of postspawn this spring, and you'll catch a lot of them. Fishing six knots is deadly this time of year. Just find some shallow flats adjacent to creek channels and start fishing. You may have to vary your retrieve to find out exactly what the fish want that day. In general, fish coming out of postspawn are aggressive and will respond well to a fast, nonchurning retrieve. But if that doesn't work, slow the bait down. Jerk it a couple of times, and let it float back to the surface, then move it again. Just be prepared for a big one to attack it because this retrieve really lets the lure simulate a wounded baitfish. Steve King is a three-time qualifier for the Red Man All-American.

Prestonsburg Indians win two, fall to Prestonsburg Cubs

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Prestonsburg Indians collected 17 hits en route to a 21-16 win over the Prestonsburg Giants in Little League play at Archer Park this week. Jarrod Hall was a perfect three-for-three and Sam Shepherd scattered nine hits to lead the Indians over the Giants.

Shepherd fanned 11 batters but was guilty of issuing 13 walks. Hall had a fifth-inning triple when his team scored five times. The Indians' pitcher picked up three runs batted in and had three stolen bases. John Dixon collected two hits which were good for four RBIs. Dixon also scored four times and had four stolen bases.

Mark Blankenship and Mark Horne each had triples for the winners. Blankenship hit his three-bagger in the fifth inning in collecting two hits. Horne's came in the fifth also -- following on the heels of Blankenship's.

Jo Jo Crockett, Darrell Briggs and Adam Hall finished with two hits each.

Ed Gardner suffered the setback for the Giants. The righthander may have struggled on the mound but he did not struggle at the plate, collecting four hits with two doubles and four RBIs. Gardner scored three times in the game. He fanned six batters but walked 10.

Tim Stone had a triple in the third inning for the Giants that drove in three runs. The Giants scored 13 runs in the third inning with 19 batters going to the plate.

J.T. Absber collected two hits in scoring twice. Absber doubled in the third inning and had two stolen bases. His double scored two runs.

In an earlier game, Sam Shepherd scattered five hits as the Indians posted a 13-6 win over the Prestonsburg Yankees.

The Indians scored five runs in the first inning and five in the third. Shepherd fanned seven batters but gave up 13 bases on balls. He allowed six runs on five hits.

Gabe Shepherd suffered the loss for the Yankees. Shepherd worked five innings striking out 10 batters. He walked eight, allowing all 13 runs on 12 hits.

Adam Hall had four hits in four plate appearances with four stolen bases. He drove in three runs and scored three times.

Jo Jo Crockett, John Dixon, Ryan Martin and Jarrod Hall each had two hits.

Kyle Shepherd collected three hits in three trips to the plate. Shepherd singled in the first, fifth and sixth innings. Gabe Shepherd had two hits as did Eric Fleming. Fleming had two runs batted in. Brooks Stennet, via two bases loaded walks, picked up two runs batted in.

Josh Turner tripled home two runs in the first inning and Adam Hall tripled behind him for an RBI. Jarrod Hall had a two run double in the third inning.

The Indians suffered a loss to the Prestonsburg Cubs as they dropped a 5-2 game.

Grant Castle was the winning pitcher with a strong outing on the mound and at the plate.

Castle allowed the Indians only two hits and two runs while recording nine strikeouts. Castle walked three batters.

The only two hits came off of the bats of John Dixon and Adam Hall. Hall accounted for both Indian runs with a two-run home run in the sixth inning that spoiled Castle's shutout effort.

Adam Hall took the loss for the Indians allowing all five runs on just two hits. He fanned 14 batters and walked eight.

Castle had one of the two hits off of Hall and that was a sixth inning double.

The Cubs took the initial lead with a run in the third inning on a bases-loaded base hit by Eric Price.

Castle walked leading off the Cubs fourth, stole second and third before scoring on a tag out of Prater.

The Cubs took a 3-0 lead with a run in the fifth inning on a walk to Nathan Fannin, two stolen bases and a wild pitch.

The final two runs for the Cubs crossed home plate in the sixth inning on a one-out double by Castle, a walk to Prater. Both runners scored without a base hit.

Trailing 5-0 in the bottom of the sixth, Josh Turner reached on an error at first base with one out. Hall then drilled his home run to make it a 5-2 game. Castle retired Ryan Martin on a pop foul and then got Sam Shepherd on strikes to end the game.

Childers collects 3 hits for Orioles in 19-6 win

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

They almost had to call a fire department to put out the hot bats of Dennis Henson's Duff Orioles as they collected 14 hits and posted a 19-6 win over the Martin Blue Jays Little League team.

It was the fourth win of the season for the Orioles against only one defeat.

Jeremy Ousley picked up the win for the winners with some relief help from Nick Stumbo.

Kenneth Childers collected three hits in the game for the Orioles as did Shawn Henson. Childers hit a leadoff home run in the first inning when his team scored four times.

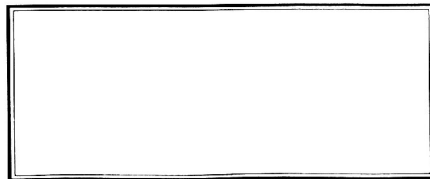

Childers doubled in the Orioles eighth run second and Henson had a triple. Matt Ousley also had a two-bagger.

The Blue Jays collected only five hits in the game against both Ousley and Stumbo.

Scott Heath, Stumbo and Brandon Hoover each had two hits for Duff.

Willie Blair returns to Colorado Rockies rotation

by Jason Blanton
Contributing Writer

When Colorado Rockies manager Don Baylor called Johnson County Willie Blair into the office last Friday night after a 13-5 loss to the Cincinnati Reds, one thought came quickly to the 27-year-old righthander's mind. Start packing your bags...you're traded again.

Not this time. You see, Blair, who was selected by the Rockies as their eleventh pick overall in the first round of the expansion draft, is with his fourth team in the last four years.

So, what was Baylor wanting to talk about? The first-year skipper asked the most used pitcher on his staff about going to the rotation.

"He asked me what I thought about going to the rotation. I told him I didn't mind," said the former All-Ohio Valley Conference hurler.

Baylor made his decision known after Saturday's loss to the Reds.

"Blair will start Tuesday (this past Tuesday against San Diego) and replace Bruce Ruffin in the rotation."

Asked why the move was done, Baylor responded, "Because Willie has done everything I have asked him to do. He can get three pitches (fastball, slider, and change-up) over the plate."

Blair is 1-0 with a 4.50 ERA while Ruffin, like most of the Rockies starters, has not been effective as of late.

Ruffin is 1-2 with a 5.22 ERA but has 20 walks in 29 innings of work.

In a recent three-game series with the Reds, the Rockies were outscored 32-8.

Baylor also said he hope the defense would play better behind Blair in his start last Tuesday because "people have dropped balls behind him all year."

Blair has been a middle reliever all year for the Rockies. His 20 appearances were second in the National League heading into Saturday's game.

"I'm happy that I have got a lot of work and with the way I have been pitching. But I'm not happy with the numbers that I've put up," Blair said. "I think they're a little misleading. As a team, we are not playing well as we would like to right now."

In his last inning of work before the move came last Friday night, he pitched a scoreless eighth inning, he threw only six pitches and retired the side in order.

"I told Willie he wasn't a mop-up man but I had to use him because he was the only one I had," said Baylor.

Blair has spent time as both a starter and a reliever in his time in the major leagues. Last year, Houston placed Blair in the rotation and he also started for Cleveland in 1991. "It doesn't matter to me what I do as long as I'm up here (major leagues). Whatever I can do to help the team, I'll do."

"The team has been struggling. Maybe Don just wants to make some changes to see if it sparks the team. I hope I can give the team six or seven innings in my first couple of starts."

Over the last two weeks, the new club has been "rockie" to say the least.

Colorado started a 13-game road trip in Cincinnati by dropping three straight to the Reds. The loss Sunday was their 11th loss in their last 12 games.

"It's not the fact that we're losing games, it's how we are losing them that gets me," said Baylor. "We don't have too many laughs. When we think we are going to have a laugh it usually becomes a close game."

Harold Dodgers see "red" after 12-0 loss to Reds

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Ivel Reds starter Shawn Deskins fired a two-hitter in shutting out the Harold Dodgers in the Harold-Allen-Prater Little League earlier this week.

Deskins allowed a first-inning base hit to Justin Bartley and gave up a fourth inning single as the only two safeties.

Deskins started at the plate also as he collected two hits in the 12-0 win over the Dodgers. Deskins had a first inning double and he singled in the fifth inning.

He fanned 10 batters while walking two.

Ivel scored five times in the fourth and fifth innings to make it a mercy win.

Potter drives in five runs as Betsy Layne Marlins rout Garrett 16-0

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

The Betsy Layne Marlins are not playing like their major league namesakes - the Florida Marlins.

The local Marlins are a perfect 7-0 on the season in the Floyd County 13-year old Prep League.

Betsy Layne rolled past Garrett 16-0 as Chad Case tossed a two-hit shutout for the seventh win of the season for the Marlins.

Shannon Potter drove in five runs while collecting three hits. He had a double and two singles.

Case scored four times for the winners and had a fourth inning triple. Ronnie Kidd managed two hits in the game as did Brad Reynolds. Kidd scored three times and Reynolds came around for two runs.

Kaleb Yates was the losing pitcher for Garrett and he had one of Garrett's two hits. Gary Hunter had the other hit for Garrett.

Betsy Layne scored six runs in the second inning for a 9-0 lead and added three in the third and two in the fifth.

6. Senior Citizen services.
7. Support safe environmental practices.
8. Access to churches and cemeteries.

So, on May 25, re-elect me as your magistrate and you can be sure that you have voted for an honest man who will serve the people with honest decisions.

Thank you,
GERALD DeROSSETT

Samons tosses two-hitter as Cards win 10-0

By Ed Taylor Sports Editor

Nick Samons took the mound for the Martin Cardinals Little League team and kept the Martin Braves off stride as he tossed a nifty two-hitter in his team's 10-0 win Monday evening.

Samons struck out 11 batters and issued only two walks in going the distance.

Brian Jones and James Steward had the only two hits for the Braves.

Bogie Conn gave Samons all the offensive support he needed as he collected three hits and picked up six runs batted in. Conn had a double in the second inning when the Cardinals scored six times. He tripled in the first and scored a run.

Samons managed one hit in contributing to the offense of the Cardinals, but the hit was good for three runs batted in.

Jones was the losing pitcher, but he did fan eight Cardinal batters. Jones' downfall was his wildness as he walked seven batters.

Reed, Music swing big bats in 15-5 win over Sheldon Clark

By Ed Taylor Sports Editor

It looked as if the only thing that could put out the hot bats of the Prestonsburg Lady Blackcats Wednesday night in the semifinals of the girls' district softball tournament at Archer Park would be the Prestonsburg Fire Department.

The Lady Blackcats pounded out 15 hits en route to a 15-5 mercy win over the Lady Cardinals of Sheldon Clark.

Amy Reed collected three hits, scored three times and picked up two runs batted in to team with teammate Stephanie Music in leading their ball club. Reed hit a two-run home run in the third inning of the game.

Music doubled twice in the game in sending home three runners. She scored twice herself and played a strong defensive game at third base.

Kerrie Merion, who picked up the win from the mound, had two base hits and two runs batted in also. She went all the way for Lady Blackcats in allowing five runs on seven scattered hits. Merion had two strikeouts. She did not walk a batter.

Donna Horn suffered the loss for the Lady Cardinals in allowing all 15 runs and 15 hits.

Raquel Cain and Jennifer Miller also collected two hits for Prestonsburg.

Sheldon Clark took a 3-0 lead in the first inning as they pushed across three runs on two hits. Tonya Patrick opened with a base hit and Jackie Harless was safe on a fielder's choice.

Horn then delivered a RBI single and Renee Jude hit a sacrifice fly to score Horn for the third run of the inning.

Prestonsburg bounced back with six of their own in the bottom of the first for a 6-3 score.

Jamie Clay reached on an error and Reed was safe when her fly ball was dropped in the outfield. Clay scored on Merion's first hit of the game and Music drilled a two-run double.

Carolyn Reffitt followed Music's act and doubled with a two-bagger to left. Reffitt scored on Cain's base hit.

Misty Price scored the sixth run of the inning on Deana Laferty's RBI single.

Twelve batters went to the plate in the third inning for Prestonsburg as they put seven more runs on the scoreboard. Reed hit her homerun after Clay reached on an error in right field.

Chris Prater Four stolen bases, three walks versus Indians.

Martin Cardinals Nick Samons Eleven strikeouts, base hit, three RBIs versus Martin Braves

Bogie Conn Three hits, six RBIs, double and triple versus Martin Braves.

I am Elizabeth "Kathy" Halbert, of Langley, and sister of Jerry A. Patton. My family urges all our neighbors, co-workers and friends to support Jerry in his race for re-election as your Commonwealth's Attorney by casting your vote for him on Tuesday, May 25.

Many of you have known me as your RN at McDowell Hospital where I am employed on the evening shift. My husband, Hubert, is an employee of Kentucky-West Virginia Gas Company. Our oldest son, Stephen, is employed by UPS. All three of us are union members. Our son, Wesley, is a senior at Morehead State University and is married to the former Amy Mayo, daughter of Don and Ruby Mayo of Arkansas Creek. Our youngest son, Stuart, is employed at the boat dock at Jenny Wiley State park. Our daughter, Elizabeth Anne, is a recent graduate of Morehead State University where she majored in foreign languages and is married to Kevin Auton who is a golf instructor and was formerly employed at the pro shop at Jenny Wiley State Park.

Hubert and I have instilled in our children to love and respect our fellowman regardless of race, color or creed. To believe in God, family, country and the American way.

These values were taught to Jerry and me by our parents, George and Mosaleete Patton. These values guide Jerry everyday. Because Jerry lives by these values, Jerry has made you and excellent Commonwealth Attorney and deserves to continue to serve as your Commonwealth Attorney.

Great American Cookouts With South-Of-The Border Flair

(NAPS) There's nothing more American than grilling your favorite cut of meat on an open-flame barbecue—except, when a touch of ethnic flare gives you fantastic Mexican fare. More and more the backyard summer barbecue is becoming a melting pot of multi-cultural cuisine. So, not only do you capture the char-broiled goodness of the meat, but a diversity of flavors that formerly was reserved for stove top or oven cooking. Combining the best of both worlds never tasted so good, as when A J Steak Sauce and salsa join flavorful forces on Santa Fe Kabobs. Hearty and robust, the steak sauce blends with the spiciness of salsa to create south-of-the-border kabobs. Grilled Topper Steak takes on a saucy sensation when A J beef broth, garlic and sour cream are combined to tantalize your taste buds. So this summer, extend that neighbor hood barbecue to include tastes from our neighbors near and far. SANTA FE KABOBS Makes 4 servings.

1 cup A.J. Steak Sauce
1 cup thick and chunky salsa
1 1/4 cup lime juice
1 (1-pound) top round steak, cut into thin strips
2 medium red onions, cut into wedges
1 green pepper, cut into wedges
1 red pepper, cut in wedges

8 flour tortillas, warmed

In medium bowl, combine steak sauce, salsa and lime juice; set aside. 2/3 cup sauce mixture for brushing kabobs.

On 6 skewers, thread steak, onions and peppers. Grill kabobs 4 inches from heat source for 10 minutes or until desired doneness, turning occasionally and brushing with 2/3 cup sauce mixture. Serve hot kabobs with tortillas and remaining sauce mixture.

1 teaspoon vegetable oil
3/4 cup beef broth
1 teaspoon cornstarch
1/4 cup dairy sour cream

Brush each side of steak with 1 tablespoon steak sauce; sprinkle 1 teaspoon pepper on each side, pressing into meat. Set aside.

In medium saucepan, over low heat, saute garlic in oil until lightly browned; stir in remaining steak sauce, beef broth, cornstarch and remaining pepper. Over medium-high heat, heat to a boil; reduce heat and simmer 10 minutes, stirring occasionally. Whisk in sour cream; keep warm (do not boil).

Grill or broil steak 4 inches from heat source for 6 minutes on each side or until desired doneness. Serve steak with prepared sauce.

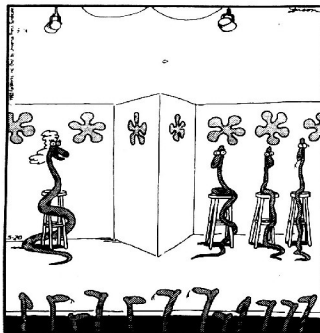

GRILLED A.J. PEPPER STEAK
Makes 4 servings

1 pound boneless sirloin steak (1-inch thick)
3/4 cup A.J. Steak Sauce
2 1/4 teaspoons cracked black pepper
2 cloves garlic, minced
