State says : Track crisis is not real

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

A vote by the Floyd County Board of Education Tuesday to declare the construction of an athletic track at Allen Central High School an emergency isn't likely to get approval from state education officials.

The board voted unanimously to declare the track project an emergency because bids for earthwork on the project and the construction of a retaining wall were not properly advertised, superintendent Steve Towler announced at Tuesday's meeting.

Towler told the board that they had to either properly advertise for bids on the project or declare it an emergency in order for work to begin.

Board member Hattie Owens added that the track cannot be blacktopped this season, if it is not declared an emergency, because asphalt plants are scheduled to close in November and won't reopen until the end of the track season next year.

The board apparently felt that not enough time was available to get the facility plans approved and the project out for bid before the plant closing in November.

The board's action Tuesday to approve the emergency apparently is not appropriate, according to a state education official.

Board approves report; chides chief for time frame

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

With serious reservations, Floyd County school board members approved an extensive report on improvements made in the system as the result of a state investigation last year.

At Tuesday's meeting, board members complained that they had not had adequate time to review the report and several members seemed to doubt that state school officials would be pleased with the document.

Last month state education officials directed the local school board to prepare a comprehensive report on improvements made in the school system by September 15 regarding recommendations made by the state after last year's sweeping investigation. The report sharply criticized the leadership of the district and state investigators made 89 recommendations for improvement.

Board member Eddie Billips angrily commented that he had some differences of opinions with comments in the report, but there was no time to add those to the report.

"I wish I had gotten this report much earlier," Billips said. "I have opinions about this report, but it's too late. It's due tomorrow. It's either sink or swim and again, we get it at the last minute."

Billips also chided superintendent Steve Towler about his repeated requests which started over a year ago that the board receive a biweekly update on progress made in the school system.

"I have to commend you, Dr. Towler," Billips said, "I've asked for a year now and I still haven't gotten the first report. That was my whole point in asking for it so we wouldn't wait until the last minute to get this thing. Now it's too late."

Board chairman Eddie Patton said he felt the board had made improvements in the areas of finance and operations, but said that little progress had been made in the system's maintenance department.

"If the state can verify what we've done in instruction, in terms of progress, we should be all right," Patton said. "On the other end, I can't..." (See Report, page three)

Stadium, grandstand may be rebid :

Bids few for facility

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

No bids were awarded Thursday to build a convention facility for a harness racing track in Floyd County and the project will, most likely, be re-bid.

Floyd County Public Property Corporation members received one bid on the project Thursday, while another bid remained locked in a vault at the Kentucky Racing Commission's office in Lexington.

Corporation members received a bid from F.E.E. in Prestonsburg, which did not include a bid on the entire project. The bid also did not contain a performance bond which, architect Randy Burchett said, could invalidate the bid. F.E.E. bid $34,574 to build the grandstands and supply steel for the convention center.

An earlier sealed bid from Simpson and Associates of Florida was submitted to the racing commission in August by officials for Mountain Racing Inc. as security that the center would be built if the commission awarded racing dates to Floyd County.

Mike Fulkerson, with the state racing commission, said Thursday afternoon that he had not been contacted about the sealed bid and that it remained locked in a vault. Fulkerson said that he would probably do whatever he was directed to with the bid.

Same pleas made for same causes

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Although the day was different, the pleas were the same during a public comment session at Tuesday's Floyd County school board meeting.

Familial speakers representing concerned citizens from Betsy Layne and parents of special needs children again pleaded their cases before the school board.

Several speakers for citizens wanting a new classroom addition at Betsy Layne Elementary told the board about their appearance before a committee of the state school board last week in Frankfort.

Dan Hall and Lance Blackburn asked the board about a rationale statement given to state board members by Floyd superintendent Steve Towler which outlined the board's reasons for disagreeing with the Local Planning Committee's (LPC) recommendation to continue with the Betsy Layne project.

The local school board voted in July to stop work on a classroom addition at Betsy Layne. The LPC has recommended that the project be completed.

Blackburn asked the board if they had approved the rationale statement and if that statement was "a product of a consultant."

Board members said they had never seen a rationale statement and referred the question to Towler.

Towler said that the statement had been sent to Frankfort with the (See Causes, page two)

Arson not ruled out in Garrett fire

by Ronnie Parsons
Staff Writer

Arson is suspected in a Garrett fire early Wednesday night.

The residence of Kimberly Gibson was destroyed while she visited her future in-law, Don and Lal'aye Hughes, owners of the house, Fire Chief Bruce Scott said.

According to Scott, the call came into the Garrett Volunteer Fire Department at 7:56 p.m. from Kenneth Howard, a member of the fire department who spotted the flames next door.

Rodney Robinson and Harold Scott were at the fire station when the call came in, allowing them to respond immediately.

Firefighters arrived on the scene at 8 p.m. to find the house engulfed in flames and within fifteen minutes had the fire under control.

Scott reported that the fire started in the living room of the house.

None of the three adjoining structures were damaged.

An investigation is being conducted by the Kentucky State Police.

Smith asked to quit

by Ronnie Parsons
Staff Writer

Despite strong recommendations from the authority's legal counsel, a member of the Floyd County Development Authority will apparently not resign her seat.

During the regular meeting Wednesday of the Floyd County Development Authority, Dolores Smith called for a vote of confidence from the board. During the discussion, Hammond requested that Smith resign from the board due to an alleged conflict of interest.

Smith's involvement with R&S Body, her membership on the development board, and R&S Body's recent decision to relocate is apparently what prompted Hammond to ask for Smith's resignation. Hammond told Smith she should have resigned when he first brought the alleged conflict to her attention.

At that time, he warned that if the board conducted any further business with R&S Body, he would be forced to initiate legal action against her.

Smith, acting on her attorney's advice, chose to remain on the board. After the meeting Smith declined comment on Hammond's latest request for her to resign.

Hammond said that public scrutiny must be maintained over Smith's membership on the board and offering an alternative course of action allowed Smith to remain on the board if she severed all ties with R&S Body.

The board did not act on Smith's motion for a vote of confidence.

Gym bids come in high

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Floyd County school officials are going to take a close look at the bids received to build a gym at South Floyd High School because the total cost of the project came in higher than expected.

Bids for the South Floyd gym project were opened Wednesday at the district's central office. Forty-three bidders submitted proposals on 17 bid packages. The total cost to build the facility came in at approximately $2.8 million.

A state approved BG-1 form for the gym project estimated the total cost, including professional fees, to be $2.2 million.

Jim Osborne, chief of operations for the school district, said Thursday that some state recommended revisions have upped the cost of the gym, but no amended BG-1 from has been (See Gym, page three)

Heirs sue over fatal car crash

by Ronnie Parsons
Staff Writer

The family of Joyce Weddington filed suit Wednesday in the Floyd Circuit Court against Mountain Enterprises Inc. in connection with her death in an auto accident last September.

The suit claims Mountain Enterprises failed to adequately identify the north bound lane of US 23 and failed to erect warning signs and lights near the construction area.

These factors, and the existence of a guardrail, contributed to the accident, the suit claims.

Weddington's family is suing for an undetermined amount of money.

Editors Note: A lawsuit is not indicative of guilt but represent only the claim of those filing the action.

Area hospitals join in protest of Medicaid cuts

Two Floyd County hospitals are among the plaintiffs in three lawsuits filed by the Kentucky Hospital Association against the state.

Highlands Regional Medical and Our Lady of the Way Hospital are among the association hospitals challenging recent cuts in the state's reimbursements for Medicaid and indigent care and the taxing of not-for-profit hospitals.

A lawsuit filed in federal court alleges that the state has violated a federal law enacted in 1980 which fixed Medicaid reimbursements for each hospital to recover its costs.

Two suits were filed in Franklin Circuit Court. One of those challenges the state's authority to tax charitable, non-profit hospitals. No provisions have been made in the new House Bill 1 passed earlier this year that exempts charitable, non-profit and county-owned hospitals from the tax, according to the lawsuit. The tax is a violation of the constitution which protects such hospitals from taxation, the lawsuit alleges.

The other suit challenges recent cuts in the state's Hospital Indigent Care Assurance Program (HICAP) funding. The state accomplished a $9.6 million reduction in Medicaid entirely through reducing hospital HICAP payments, rather than sharing the costs among participating health providers. Indigent care payments will be based on Medicaid's determination of hospital profitability, the lawsuit contends.

High school students learn courtroom drama

by Susan Allen
Staff Writer

Area high school students will get a first-hand look at Floyd County's judicial system under a program to be implemented by Circuit Judge John David Caudill.

Under Judge Caudill's program, area high school principals or other school officials will select five students from their school and submit the names to the judge. The judge will then notify a school that he has a trial set to begin and the student will be allowed to attend and sit in on all phases of the proceedings.

Judge Caudill got the idea from his wife, Karen, who learned about the program from Circuit Judge Bill Cunningham, whom she worked for in Western Kentucky.

The program, similar to the page system used by the state legislature, is an effort to familiarize students with the inner workings of the judicial system.

All the county high schools, including Floyd County Technical High School, want to participate in the program, Judge Caudill said. Letters outlining the process were sent to all high schools and all principals responded that they wanted to participate.

"We will have full participation from every high school in the county," Judge Caudill said Wednesday. "The students will be with me and stay throughout a trial. The principals will decide which students will participate and it's not limited to any certain grades."

When Judge Caudill was a practicing attorney and participated in the Floyd County Bar Association's Law Day program at area schools, most students were unaware of how the court process works, his letter to the schools notes.

"As a practicing attorney, I participated in this program and have visited several of the schools to speak to students regarding the function and process of the legal system," Caudill's letter said. "Not surprisingly, the general consensus of the Bar Association has been that the students were very unfamiliar with how the legal system functioned."

"I am quite confident that if a student participates, that they will explain to many of the students who do not participate, what they were district's proposed new four-year facility plan. Towler first said that he gave the statement to state hearing officer Richard Harter, who conducted a public hearing on the plan, after the July 27 public hearing.

The date on the rationale statement is July 29 and Towler later said that he was mistaken about when he gave the statement to Harter and that the document was prepared by a consultant.

Board member Eddie Billips was furious that Towler distributed a document on behalf of the local board to state board members without the approval of the local board.

"Didn't you feel compelled to bring it to us?" Billips asked Towler. "You took a document, representing the position of this board, we haven't seen and passed it out at the state board meeting."

Towler denied that he "produced" a copy of the statement for state board members and said that the consultant who wrote the document, Ken Brooks, was in the audience at the state board meeting and "happened to have a copy" of the document.

A videotape of the state board committee meeting shows Towler offering to make board members copies of the document he said was the rationale statement.

Hall and Blackburn also brought up concerns about the physical condition of Betsy Layne Elementary; the excessive number of mobile classroom units; and cramped conditions on the campus.

The board took no action on their comments. Also Tuesday, Tallina Rayburn, Harmon Leedy and Deloris Dings spoke to the board about problems concerning special needs children.

Rayburn told the board that private medical records were missing from her son's file and that "no one seemed to care that those records were missing. Rayburn also said that Towler had refused to meet with her to discuss the situation.

Rayburn added that her son's Individual Education Programs (IEPs) were missing from his school records. Towler said that school officials could not determine that the medical records had been in Rayburn's son's file and that he had offered to meet with her to discuss her concerns.

Towler first said that special education director Larry Jarvis had the medical records in question and later said that he did not.

Jarvis said that it has been determined that records are missing from her son's file at Martin Elementary. He added that there are no procedures to determine what records are entered into student's personal files.

Harmon Leedy said that "many things" were missing from Rayburn's son's file at Martin.

Leedy also asked that the district's central office be made handicapped accessible.

"Why was the special education coordinator's office moved to a second-story building that is not handicapped accessible?" Leedy asked.

"It's against the law, unless you plan on putting in an elevator immediately."

Chairman Eddie Patton explained that the office was moved to a building in downtown Prestonsburg because there was not enough room for the department in the old central office.

Leedy asked that the department be moved back to the old building, which also is not handicapped accessible, because "it's more accessible than the new building."

Board member Edie Billips suggested that the back entrance of the old central office building could be easily made accessible.

Towler said that the move to the new office building was temporary and that, hopefully, a decision could be made this year on a permanent facility.

A problem with IEP's being written and not followed was also noted by Leedy, who explained that an IEP is a written contract for a special needs child to ensure that all the child's needs are being met. Leedy said that IEP's are being "written and filed" and not followed.

Board member Bob Isaac asked the superintendent if he was aware of the problems noted by Leedy.

Towler said no. Isaac asked Towler if he was aware of any complaints concerning special needs students.

Towler said that Tuesday night was the "first time" he had heard about those problems.

Chairman Patton disagreed. "We've heard from those people for three months in a row about the same things," Patton said. "I don't know how long the board can put up with these problems before something's done."

Leedy also said special needs students were not being mainstreamed with regular school children and they were being isolated in trailers on school campuses throughout the county which, Leedy said, violated state and federal laws. He added that he has been informed that teacher's aide for special needs students at Stumbo Elementary has routinely been removed from the classroom and placed on lunchroom duty.

The board took no action on Leedy's complaint.

In other business Tuesday, the board voted to move up on the list a new Martin/Maytown Elementary school and a project to renovate Prestonsburg High School on the district's building plan.

Board members did not address, in-depth, a letter from state officials which said the school system could lose just over $7 million in state school construction monies if those funds aren't obligated by September 1994.

The board is expected to address the issue at a special called meeting on September 25, beginning at 9 a.m. at Allen Central High School.

cities. Management for the state, said Thursday that the local board will be asked to rescind that order because the project is not a true emergency.

"I have reviewed the regulations and the law concerning emergency projects and we cannot approve the track being declared an emergency," Ryles said. "It has to have Kentucky Department of Education approval - that's not always the case - but we do have the authority on this project. We have requested that the superintendent and school board rescind their motion. We have also asked that the plans for the project be submitted to our office and that they ensure the project is competitively bid."

Ryles explained that an emergency project is defined under state regulations as an unforeseen occurrence and that the Allen Central track project is "in no way unforeseen."

At Tuesday's meeting, Jim Osborne, the district's chief of operations, told the board that "quotes" from Ooten Coal Company, $13,381 for earthwork, and Goggens Construction Company, $21,600 to construct a retaining wall, could not be accepted unless the project was declared an emergency.

Osborne said that the board's consultants, Ross-Feldman Architects, suggested the board wait before doing any work on the project until revised plans for the track are submitted.

Board chairman Eddie Patton disagreed saying, "the blacktop plants close in November and if it's not declared an emergency, it won't get done this year."

The board voted to rescind an order last month to accept the earthwork and retaining wall bids. The board then voted to declare the project an emergency.

see any progress in maintenance. I don't think the state will give us a good grade on that. I think we failed.

"We need to get into maintenance and get it lined out," Patton continued. "We can't procrastinate any longer."

Board members agreed, though, that the reorganization of the district's central office and the move to run the school system more like a business was a giant step forward and that state officials should acknowledge that accomplishment.

"I stand to be corrected, but I think we are the only school district in Kentucky to reorganize in this matter, to go outside the teaching profession to get professionals to run the operations side," Billips said. "We've been knocked around, with some deserved criticism, but for once, we are the leaders by dividing the system into an instructional side and a business side. I guess when we get kicked, we want to kick back. (Education Commissioner Thomas) Boysen's kicked me around like a football and I'm tired of it."

Towler said that he felt Floyd County was the only school system in the state that has been so extensively investigated and he felt that the district had made significant improvements.

State school officials are expected to return to the district within several weeks to verify improvements in the school system outlined in the report.

filed with the Department of Education. He added that a revised estimate will be filed now that the bids have been received.

Osborne said that some bids will be scrutinized because "they are a lot more than we thought they'd be."

Three bid packages will be re-bid—landscaping, electrical and contract finishings—because only one bid was received and the plumbing package will be re-advertised because of a challenge by one of the contractors.

Osborne said that some of the other contracts could also be re-bid because the costs were higher than expected.

The three one-bid packages are required to be re-advertised under the Cranfill Report on bidding procedures adopted by the school board last year.

The Cranfill Report, prepared by Dee Cranfill who audited the school system for 1990-91 school year, requires that no bid be awarded to single bidders unless it is advertised at least twice.

The report also stipulates that each bid be accompanied by a written notification of ownership of all entities involved in that bid.

Osborne, who has been on the job just over a month, said Thursday that he was unaware of the Cranfill Report and was not certain if bidders submitted the disclosure statement.

Osborne added that Floyd superintendent Steve Towler interpreted the disclosure clause to apply to successful bidders.

When bids are awarded, Osborne said, contractors will be asked to provide the school district with a disclosure if it is not contained in the bid.

Project architect Paul Hoffman will tabulate the bids received Wednesday and make a recommendation on which contractor submitted the best bid to the local board.

If the local board chooses to accept the architect's recommendations, the proposed contracts will be sent to the Kentucky Department of Education's director of facilities management for final approval.

Judge Caudill said Wednesday that "nothing can prepare" someone to understand the judicial system and experience with that system is the best teacher.

Attorney Jim Hammond told reporters that the project would most likely have to be re-bid because he believed neither of the bids were complete.

Hammond said that he was present when the Simpson and Associates bid was sealed, and he did not recall seeing a performance bond in the package.

Jackie Eford Owens, who serves on the corporation, said he felt the project should be re-bid so that local contractors would have an opportunity to submit bids. Owens added that he felt county officials could get a better price if more contractors submitted bids.

Corporation officials pushed back the date last month to receive bids on the project from September 30 to September 16.

Owens said that he did not recall board members making a motion and second to receive the bids at Thursday's meeting.

After Thursday's meeting, Owens said that he has not seen any plans or a cost estimate on the project.

A blessing in disguise?

by Scott Perry

The words of warning from the state that the Floyd County School System stands to lose millions of dollars in school construction funding could be a blessing in disguise.

The local board has just one year to spend some $7 million in School Facilities Construction Commission (SFCC) funding or lose those dollars forever.

That's not necessarily bad news.

The ultimatum offers the board an opportunity to do what should have been done with school construction funding from the start.

Share the wealth. According to state guidelines, available SFCC funding must go toward projects designated on a school facility plan adopted in 1992.

Following that plan, and using the monies available, the board could accomplish a minimum of six projects, including completion of Adams Middle School; finishing up at South Floyd; reviving the Betsy Layne Elementary project; and substantial improvements at Clark Elementary, Osborne Elementary and Stumbo Elementary.

Assuming the board sticks to the suggested cost outlines on these projects, they would have about a million bucks left to spread around even more.

During the past few years, we've seen 75 percent of the funds available for local school construction go to meet about 30 percent of the system's needs.

That's more than a bit lopsided.

The board has the chance now to balance things out somewhat by getting the most out of the money that's left.

They have a year to set things straight.

Community involvement aids school projects

Editor:
Tuesday night at Duff Elementary the BOE members were asked if they as members of the Board were responsible for the implementation of KERA (Kentucky Education Reform Act) and one of its goals which is community involvement. They replied yes, they were.

They were then asked why there was no community involvement in the decision to kill the Betsy Layne Elementary project? Their response was something about two public meetings at which the Betsy Layne Community had an opportunity to comment.

Yes, there were two meetings but these meetings were held after the board voted to kill the project. The communities of the 3rd educational district (Harold, Stumbo, Betsy Layne) knew absolutely nothing about plans to scrap the new school in our district.

The BOE is charged by the state with the responsibility of implementing KERA and one element is getting community involvement with our schools and the decision making process. Involvement is parents and others helping to shape policies and a say in how our schools are managed.

Community involvement is not taking a desperately needed facility away with no prior warning. Our appointed (not elected) board member Brent Gifford Clark has actively discouraged community involvement by refusing to attend community meetings to explain to us his actions and his reasons in moving to cancel this project. He has yet to return a phone call to my family to discuss this issue.

Wednesday, Dr. Towler told a Betsy Layne parent that "Brent is very committed to his stand against this project and had very valid reasons for doing what he is doing." The parent then told Dr. Towler that if Brent has such good reasons he should make them public. Dr. Towler replied "good point."

In the Floyd County Times (September 8th) Dr. Towler said "Both a Betsy Layne Elementary and Middle School could be in there if we meet the criteria." Why would our board member throw out a project? We just don't know.

About 400 people from the Mud Creek area asked for a "central location" if they have to go to a middle school. They don't want their kids bused long distances over dangerous roads. One suggestion that has been brought up is to add a wing on at Stumbo so that a "small middle school" could be housed here. The existing building could be remodeled and a small gym might be added. This would save the expense and hazards associated with busing the kids out to the Mouth of Mud, should the board ask the community if this is best.

If a middle school is built before the Betsy Layne project, will the Harold K-5 be moved to Betsy Layne into the old buildings and mobiles along with the Betsy Layne K-5 kids? We think both the Betsy Layne and Harold children would be much better off if the new project was built first and the trailers eliminated before trying to combine these schools. Access and parking at Betsy Layne Elementary is a terrible problem. But it can be corrected now if the board will get moving.

There are too many unanswered questions and community involvement has been denied. It's time for the Board to allow "real" community involvement and input about what affects our schools in our district. The Board needs community input from all over the county about how our schools are managed.

Floyd County is finally No. one

Editor:
In last Sunday's Lexington Herald-Leader the Floyd County school system came out on top. Yes, we're finally number one in something. What is Floyd County the very best at, you ask yourself?

In a listing of several counties from across the state, the Floyd County school system came out as being the very best in taxing its people with the highest rate in the listing. Floyd County taxes homeowners at a rate of 61.60 cents for every $100 of assessed value. At this rate of taxation, we're taxed at a rate of 27 percent higher than Fayette County homeowners (48.50 cents per $100).

But to be fair, that's the down side and not a good comparison, is it? Well, if you look at our neighbors, we're paying 25 percent more than the homeowners in Pike County (49.20 cents per $100).

The point is that in the Betsy Layne community sits a one-half million dollar dirt pile. The Floyd County BOE wants to abandon this site after spending this money and turn this site into a one-half million dollar parking lot. By the time they hire some more consultants to haul the dirt back out and put pavement back down, we might get this up to a three-quarter million dollar parking lot.

With the BOE so willing to throw away this kind of money, it's no wonder the kids all over the county are going to school in mobile units and run-down buildings. By the way, mobile unit is board talk for a trailer. If our kids are getting a quality education, have good facilities, have the needed school supplies, and our money is spent wisely, the tax rate is justified and the people of Floyd County will support the higher taxes.

We are not just looking to see the Betsy Layne project built. We also want to see some change in how wisely the BOE uses all our tax dollars. These dollars need to go toward the children all over Floyd County to raise the quality of their facilities and their education. If you're not happy with the way your board is spending your money and educating your children, let them know.

What others are saying

The following articles are excerpts of editorials taken from Kentucky newspapers.

Nerve pill nirvana

Over in Frankfort, legislators are shocked to learn how many prescription narcotics "nerve pills" in common parlance — are flooding some Kentucky counties. What's really shocking is that anyone is surprised by this information.

It's true that new audits of a state Medicaid system paint a clearer picture of the situation than any previous state government report has. But much of the same information was revealed more than a year ago in stories by Herald-Leader reporter Lee Mueller. And any state official or lawmaker who was interested could have documented the situation from state records at any time in the last decade.

So no one should act surprised to learn that some counties, particularly ones in Eastern Kentucky, are awash in prescriptions for codeine and other narcotics. Instead, state officials should be focusing their attention on these questions:

• Who are the physicians, pharmacists and state officials responsible for allowing this situation to develop, and what can be done to discipline them?

• Where are all these drugs going? Obviously, they are not all being consumed by patients. If they were, many of the patients would be dead, as state Senator Susan Johns noted grimly. The most likely alternative is that they are going into a black market in prescription drugs. So far, the state has done little or nothing to end this illegal drug trade, which must involve millions of dollars.

There's work to be done — by the Cabinet for Human Resources, by Attorney General Chris Gorman, by state police, by professional organizations that discipline physicians and pharmacists. But hold the declarations of shock and dismay. The time for them is long past. It's time now to get serious about a problem so many have ignored for so long. — Lexington Herald-Leader

Time for change

Just about everyone in Letcher County — and a lot of people throughout the mountains — have their eyes and ears attuned to Whitesburg this week, where a special grand jury is getting down to the business of considering the evidence gathered by state police in an investigation that has been going on for several months.

It remains a guessing game as to what the investigation has uncovered, and just who is involved. However, state police seizure of furniture from a houseboat belonging to the county judge's family and from the residence of the county judge certainly indicate the jury is taking a look at what happens to county tax money.

The Letcher County courthouse doesn't appear to be all that much different from the Magoffin County school system, where school funds went to purchase tractors used on the superintendent's farm. It all comes down to customs, traditions, practices, in which public officials view public office as something they own — the jobs and the tax dollars are theirs, to do with as they please.

There are counties in Kentucky where the courthouses actually serve the public good. Roads are kept in good repair, restrooms are clean, the kids have access to good parks and playgrounds, and county officials provide leadership in pursuing industrial growth, and look after health needs, and law and order are honored. In general, they keep their counties moving ahead.

Letcher County, like several other mountain counties, is badly out of step. Politics is made so heavily into daily life that many, many county residents are afraid to speak out, to demand change — afraid to assist state police and the state attorney general's office in their efforts to help Letcher County, through the grand jury system, to put things right.

Enrollment figures at the beginning of the school year indicate that a lot of the county's sons and daughters have given up on the county and county leaders. They moved away this past summer. Letcher County is in a crisis. All the available figures point to fewer jobs and increased poverty. We have dropped from some 40,000 people in the 1950s and our population appears to be sliding toward 20,000. If the losses continue, the local tax base will erode even further, raising the question of how long our county and city governments can continue to function. Things just have to change if our children are to have any kind of future — or, for that matter, if Letcher County is to be a fit place where you want to live out your social security retirement years.

We don't for a moment believe Letcher County's public official are any better, or any worse, than those to be found in other mountain counties. Clearly, however, the time has come when all our officials must be held accountable for the kinds of jobs they do, and for what they do with the public's money and the public's trust in democracy and its redeeming process. — The Whitesburg Mountain Eagle

Clinton and Gore say thanks

In 1992, Republicans Johnson County did the unthinkable and voted for the Democratic presidential vice presidential ticket of Bill Clinton and Al Gore. Last week, Clinton and Gore said thanks.

The vice president, in a plan he said would save $108 million by cutting waste in the federal government, recommended that spending be eliminated for "highway demonstration projects." Such a move would stop completion of U.S. 23 between Paintsville and Prestonsburg.

The proposal would hurt Johnson County more than Floyd County, since the Johnson County portion of the new highway is far from complete. And, naturally, it would devastate Johnson County's economic development efforts because the old road would remain a bottleneck in Paintsville.

It was only a few years ago when Democrats took pleasure in criticizing former Presidents Ronald Reagan and George Bush for wanting to cut U.S. 23 funds. Now, the Democrats better start searching for some good answers to their vice president's recommendation. — Paintsville Herald

Black Lung group continues pursuit of bill passage

Editor: Well, it might have been a long while since you heard from the Kentucky Black Lung Association, but that doesn't mean that Susie Davis and the K.B.L.A. have not been busy. We told you that the new bill would go before the U.S. Senate in June or July. Well, the reason why it has not been there is that the people rewriting the bill left a loop hole so the judge could ask for more doctors' reports. The K.B.L.A. and the N.B.L.A. would not go along with this and, therefore, the bill had to be redone.

On September 7, Susie Davis, Dr. Sundaram and other special reps will be on WPRG TV 5, our local Harold TV station. Be sure to tune in and support us at 7 p.m.

Susie Davis traveled to Washington, D.C. on September 8 to go in front of the U.S. Congress and the Ways and Means Committee. On September 9, she testified on behalf of the coal miners and coal-related workers to tell members of Congress why the new Black Lung Bill is so important to all coal-related workers.

On September 20, she and several members of the K.B.L.A. will lobby in Washington for the new Black Lung Bill which will be in the hands of the U.S. Senate. The lobbying will be held on the White House, East Capitol lawn on Sept. 21 and 22.

We can talk about what a good job Susie Davis, Dr. Sundaram and other good people trying to help the coal-related workers are doing, but this doesn't stop when you get your benefits. Every month, there are less checks being mailed out than there were the month before.

If all you coal miners don't get involved with the Black Lung program your's could be the next one to be cut off. As busy as Dr. Sundaram is, he has found an extra day in each month to come to Pikeville to the Kentucky Black Lung Office to assist you coal-related workers and families in your health needs. Surely you can find enough time to write your local politicians, your congressmen and state senators to let them know how you feel about your black lung benefits. You are the one who needs the help.

There is another person from the Floyd County area who is doing a great job in helping the coal-related workers and also people with diabetes. Vickie Risner at the Highlands Regional Medical Center teaches diabetics how to take care of themselves. We want to thank Vickie for the great job she has done with the diabetic coal-related workers.

For more information about the Washington D.C. trip, or how you can support the people who are trying to help, call Susie Davis at the Kentucky Black Lung Office. Also, the monthly meetings of the K.B.L.A. will be held at the Kentucky Black Lung office on Williamson Road every third Friday at 7 p.m. Try to come out and support the work being done on your behalf.

Anyone wanting to join the Black Lung Association, may do so at Molly's Beauty Salon at Langley, or call 358-9560.

Donations may be made to Susie Davis, K.B.L.A., P.O. Box 3402, South Mayo Trail, Pikeville, KY 41502, or call 473-0391.

High cost of gambling

Editor: I'm writing to challenge all citizens of our Commonwealth to voice their convictions to our legislature about the expansion of gambling in Kentucky. We have the opportunity to let our government leaders know our opposition to any legislation which would open the doors to casino gambling in our state.

Our Christian values have historically reflected opposition to any form of gambling due to its detrimental effects on the family unit and on the individual. What begins as an innocent pastime becomes an addiction and we pay in costs of treatment, crime, family support and community degeneration. Our state leaders should be bringing positive economic growth to Kentucky instead of preying on what our citizens lose at gambling for new tax revenue.

On October 8, at 1 p.m., Christian leaders from many denominations will gather at the state capitol building with thousands of citizens to make the governor and the legislature aware of our concerns for this issue which affects the lives of all Kentuckians.

I challenge all Christians to rise up and be present for this rally. Those who are present for this rally.

Letcher officials charged with theft

Letcher County's chief executive has been charged with bilking the county out of thousands of dollars—and helping the county jailer do the same.

A special grand jury overseeing a 22-month investigation into alleged government corruption Tuesday indicted County Judge-Executive Ruben Watts on 24 counts of theft by deception and 10 counts of criminal possession of a forged instrument.

Faller Gene Banks was indicted on 14 counts of theft by deception and 14 counts of criminal possession of a forged instrument.

In a third, apparently unrelated indictment, Letcher Commonwealth's Attorney James Wiley Craft was charged with criminal possession of a forged instrument.

Four other people — Banks' wife, Craft's former secretary and two area businessmen — were also charged Tuesday.

"It's probably the most indictments we've obtained" in one day in a public-corruption investigation, said Deputy Attorney General Brent Caldwell.

The investigation, by the state attorney general's office and the state police, began as an examination of county purchasing practices.

The grand jury said Watts used dummy invoices and other documents to set up fake purchases of road-construction supplies while he and two businessmen pocketed the money.

Watts also helped Banks cash county checks for improper personal use, the grand jury said.

Watts pleaded not guilty Tuesday and said he would defend himself "vigorously."

Extortion trial date for LeMaster delayed

The extortion trial of state Senator David LeMaster, D-Painville, has been rescheduled to October 4.

LeMaster was scheduled to begin trial Monday in U.S. District Court, but Judge Joseph Hood is tied up presiding over the trial of Dr. Bill Collins, the husband of former Governor Martha Layne Collins. LeMaster has pleaded not guilty to taking money early in 1992 in Kentucky and Florida from former lobbyist Jay Spurrier. Spurrier is the central informant in the undercover federal investigation of corruption in state government code-named BOPTROT. He is formally charged with extortion, interstate travel in aid of extortion and lying to the FBI.

Letcher County optometrist indicted for alleged fraud

A Franklin County grand jury has indicted a Letcher County optometrist for alleged Medicaid fraud as a result of an investigation by the state Attorney General's office.

The four-count indictment charges Letcher County optometrist William D. Sizemore with Medicaid fraud from January 1, 1990 through December 31, 1990. Sizemore allegedly made false claims and submitted fraudulent reimbursement claims regarding eyeglasses for children enrolled in the Medicaid program.

Persons found guilty of Medicaid fraud face five to 10 years in prison. Corporations, if also named in an indictment, can be fined $20,000 per count or double the amount of a defendant's gain from the crime.

Fourth lawsuit filed in fatality

A fourth lawsuit has been filed in connection with a fiery ambulance — coal truck collision that killed four people in Johnson County a year ago this week.

The latest complaint was filed September 9, in Johnson Circuit Court by Julia Vanderpool of Salyersville, whose husband, Johnnie, was an attendant on the ambulance when it collided with a tractor-trailer on September 14, 1992.

Julia Vanderpool claims James Lowe was driving the ambulance on the day it collided on Route 460 at Oil Springs with a coal truck driven by Isaac Jude of Pigeon. That contradicts a claim by Patricia Lowe, wife of James Lowe, who filed an intervening complaint alleging that Johnnie Vanderpool was the ambulance driver. Both James Lowe and Johnnie Vanderpool died in the crash.

The Vanderpool suit, filed by Louisa attorney Eldred E. Adams Jr., also named as defendants G&B Ambulance Service of Salyersville; Ford Motor Company, who manufactured the ambulance; Chillis Meade, driver of a second coal truck connected to the accident; and Patricia Lowe.

The complaint, which represents only one side of the issue, seeks an unspecified amount of damages and a jury trial.

Besides James Lowe and Johnnie Vanderpool, others killed in the crash were Jude, and Margaret Bailey, 30, of Salyersville, who was a passenger in the ambulance.

Ten Years Ago (September 21, 1983)

According to the Population Research Unit of the Urban Studies Center, the population of Floyd County is expected to reach almost 100,000 by the year 2020. A number of changes, including staffing, curriculum, textbook distribution, class size, school furnishings, programs for the gifted and the handicapped, and in health and community relations, will be made this year in compliance with the new state accreditation board. There died: James W. Hamilton, 63, of Stanville, Friday at home; Roland Carroll, 46, of Island Creek, Tuesday, September 13 at his home; Roland Scaif, 61, of Prestonsburg, September 12 at VA Hospital in Huntington, West Virginia; Antonietta Vannucci, 79, of Martin, Sunday at Our Lady of the Way Hospital; Carl Douglas Horn, 32, of Bonanza, Sunday at Highlands Regional Medical Center; Stafford B. Tackett, 60, of Martin, Thursday in Lexington.

Twenty Years Ago (September 19, 1973)

The July 12 slaying here of Dr. George P. Archer, mayor of Prestonsburg, remained as deep a mystery as ever after the grand jury of the Floyd circuit court had concluded its investigation of the case last Wednesday. The Kentucky Council of the Folk Arts honored Mrs. Edith Fitzpatrick James at the recent Highlands Folk Festival for her "valuable service in preserving our Kentucky folk heritage." A sharp drop in the number of visitors at Dewey Lake was noted during the first seven months of this year, data accumulated by the U.S. Corps of Engineers show. A shotgun charge, apparently fired at close range, blasted a window of the restaurant of Deputy Sheriff Albert Salyers at Garrett last Saturday night. Among the 58 indictments reported by the grand jury at the county seat on Tuesday last week, one charged shooting and wounding with intent to kill, four named six men on auto theft counts, and two charged as many defendants with rape. There died: Clay Daniels, 45, of Prestonsburg, Saturday morning at a local home; Alpha F. Baldrige, 75, of East Point, Monday morning at a local nursing home; Katy Cadeau, 40, of Tiam, Wednesday en route to a Lexington hospital; Willie Adkins, Sr., 86, of Harold, Sunday at a Martin hospital; Roy Gene Johnson, 27, of Hazelwood, formerly of Bevinville, Monday at Hazelwood; William Allen Patrick, 39, formerly of Hueysville, August 27 in Stroh, Ind., where he resided.

Thirty Years Ago (September 19, 1963)

The lot sale planned on Stratton Branch, a short distance off Dewey Lake, failed Saturday after the Municipal Planning Commission here had issued notice of its jurisdiction over the area in question and had specified requirements for a sub-division. Russell Price, 42, of Drift, was killed instantly Sunday when a car in which he was a passenger stalled on railroad tracks at River, Johnson county. The field crops, vegetables and fruits department of the recent Floyd County Fair had one of its most outstanding exhibits, it is said. "The Day Mars Invaded Earth" wailing Thursday night at the Almar Drive-In. Born to Sgt. and Mrs. Arnold Ray Beckett, a daughter, Tanya Lynn, September 1 at the U.S. Army hospital, Stuttgart, Germany. There died: Anna Harmon, 76, former postmistress of Auxter, Tuesday, September 10 at her home on Johns Creek; Mrs. Reba Webb, 43, of Martin, Monday at the Bevier Valley Hospital; Oliver Martin, 55, of Drift, last Wednesday at the Bevier Valley Hospital; Martin; Dick Robinson, 74, formerly of this county, last Sunday at Lucasville, O.; Brownlow Calhoun, 45, native of Floyd county, September 9 at Huntington; William C. Clark, 88, Friday at the home of a daughter near Martin; Thos. Watson, 52, of Martin, Monday at the Bevier Valley Hospital; Mrs. Lula Mae Parrigan, 62, formerly of Wayland, September 9 at her home in Clincho, Virginia.

Forty Years Ago (September 23, 1953)

Floyd county's Fair, the first since World War II, will get under way here next Thursday for a three-day "stand." Latest Floyd county prisoner of war to be released in Korea is Donald H. Roop, of Betsy Layne. Repatriated prisoners of war from Floyd county arriving home this week were: Sgt. I. C. Mickey A. Whittaker, of West Prestonsburg, Pfc. Taggett Allen, of Abbott Creek, and Master Sgt. Forrest Smith, of West Prestonsburg. Ground-breaking ceremonies for construction of the United Mine Workers' hospital at McDowell have been set for 11 a.m. Saturday, October 3. Stock car and horse racing will be introduced to Floyd county within the next few weeks, it was announced Tuesday by C. M. McCoy, Prestonsburg, owner of the track now nearing completion. Born to the City Council at a special meeting Wednesday evening named Henry D. Fitzpatrick, Sr., a member of the City Water & Gas Commission to fill the vacancy created by the resignation of Lenoy Combs. Stuart Stephens, of Prestonsburg, with a score of 98, won the State Junior Conservation Club bait-casting championship held recently at the State Fair, Louisville. Born to Rev. and Mrs. Vernon D. Wright, a son, Vernon Douglas, Jr., at the Hopkinsville General hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Harry Clark, of Newport, Ky., a daughter, Priscilla Lynn, September 17; to Mr. and Mrs. Clarence Kollet, of Drift, a son, at the Bevier Valley Hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Webb Hall, of Drift, a son. There died: Rev. Willie Hall, 81, at home on Bull Creek, Sunday, W. D. Martin, 73, of Allen, last Thursday at Allen; Mrs. Lydia B. Patton, 85, formerly Floyd resident, last Wednesday at Ashland.

Fifty Years Ago (September 23, 1943)

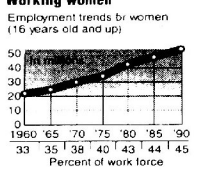

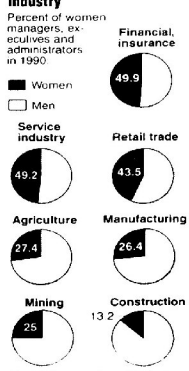

Long-range effect on the Eastern Kentucky gas field of competition to be supplied as a result of the proposed 1,200-mile pipe line from Texas to the Appalachian area will be negligible, an official of the Kentucky-West Virginia Gas Commission predicted Wednesday. The Department of Education announced this week that the Vocational Shop will be reopened on or about October 4, to operate under a training program for war production workers who are eligible for employment in war plants. Authorities here are investigating the death of Mrs. Effie Jones Stanley, 40, of Prestonsburg, whose body was found in the Sandy River here early Tuesday morning. Airman John W. Ring, 30, of Wayland, gunner on a Liberator bomber in India, was recently awarded the Air Medal for meritorious achievement while participating in heavy aerial bombardment missions. Fish found dead or dying in the river at the mouth of Middle Creek here are victims of water pollution, a result of sulphuric acid from a wagon mine operation draining into the creek. Born to Mr. and Mrs. Arnold Clark, of Norfolk, Virginia, a daughter, Armita, last week at the Prestonsburg General Hospital; to Mr. and Mrs. Elder K. Goble, of Lancaster, a daughter, Judith Ann, September 13; to Mr. and Mrs. Denver Fannin, of Lancer, a daughter, Elva May, September 18. There died: Rev. T. S. Marshall, 52, of Langley, Friday, at the Huntington Memorial Hospital; Mrs. Ida Ann Parker, 71, at her home at Martin, Thursday.

Sixty Years Ago (September 29, 1933)

More than 18 miles of highway, from Warco, this county, to Hindman, were let to contract for low type surfacing by the state highway commission Tuesday on bids totaling more than $110,000. John W. Huff, 62 years old, was shot and instantly killed Saturday evening at his home at Hueysville. Henry Rowe, of Risner, was shot and killed in Breathitt county, the shooting resulting from a dispute over possession of a revolver. Residences of Jack Justice and a Mr. Skaggs were destroyed and four other structures damaged in the New Martin addition to Martin, Sunday, by flames which caught from a coal stove. The home at Ward Hunt at Harold was destroyed by fire, Sunday morning, the blaze igniting from a carbide lamp. Less than a week after he had procured a photograph of the fugitive from the sheriff's office here, G. L. Gray, of Allen, special agent for the C. & O. Railway Company, arrested Clabe Hale, for whose return to the Wisconsin state prison a bounty of $25 had been offered. Shooting 12 strokes below his handicap, James Morrell, Jr., won the handicap golf tournament played over the Abbott Heights course Saturday and Sunday. Earl Moore was runner-up. There died: Deputy Sheriff Grover C. Allen, 41, of West Prestonsburg, at the Winchester Coal Company camp, near there, Monday; Charles Kirk, of Painville, owner, publisher, and editor of The Pointsville Herald, September 22, in St. Joseph's Hospital, Lexington; Mrs. Frances Addington, 60, at her home at Sugar Loaf, Wednesday.

Women in corporate management

Of the Fortune 500 and Service 500 companies, women make up less than 5 percent of senior managers (al or above the level of vice president). The number of women senior managers increased 2 percent over a 19-year period.

Burial will be in the Gearheart Family Cemetery at Hueysville under the direction of Hall Funeral Home.

Taking another look at the Korean War

What most Americans know about the Korean War is what they've seen on M.A.S.H., the long-running award-winning television series.

But what was it really like? That's the question that will be addressed in "The Korean War Revisited," a three-part program that begins Monday, September 20, at 6 p.m. at Prestonsburg Community College.

Coordinated by Dr. Donald Barlow, associate professor of history, the continuing education class continues on Tuesday, October 19 and Thursday, November 18, with talks by persons who served in the Asian war.

The September 20 discussion features Leo Weddle, a Marine veteran and professor of psychology and sociology at the college. Weddle enlisted, served one year in Korea and was wounded.

In his college office are pictures, a helmet, his dog tags and other memorabilia of his experience in Korea.

Born 10/20/30
Passed away
9/18/92

Daddy, if prayers and crying would have brought you back home, Then I know you would never have left us all alone.
When your name is mentioned, the tears will begin, For I know you had many good friends.

I know the Lord has the best, And, I know He has taken you home to rest. Someday, I hope to see you in heaven above, With all the angels and white doves. You are sadly missed each and every day, But our memories of you can never be taken away.

We love you and miss you so much, That with the Lord's help we shall be able to keep in touch.

Sadly missed by your wife, Marie Tackett; children, Glenda, Larry, Gail, Marvin, and John; grandchildren, mother-in-law, daughters-in-law, son-in-law, and friends.

A SNAKE IN THE GRASS

Usually when people begin getting complacent with each other, something traumatic happens to remind them that the "significant other" person in their life is still number one. This "traumatic" event happened in our household several weeks ago. Since the incident was serious in nature, I can honestly say that without my husband's quick and decisive action the circumstances could have been different. On the fateful morning, I was sitting in my recliner reading the daily paper and drinking a cup of coffee when my husband, still clad in his pajamas and shoes, came to the door of the room where I was sitting. He was carrying a garden hoe and had a concerned look on his face. "Come here a minute, Sara," he said seriously, as he motioned for me with the hoe. Anxiously, I stood up and followed him through the kitchen, out to the garage and onto the driveway where he pointed with the hoe to the garbage cans. Wrapped around one of the cans was a large, vicious looking viper. An asp, an adder, a species of reptile so dangerous that only the bravest of men would dare look it in the eye. My husband was not afraid. Like Quigley Down Under, my husband, barefooted and courageous stood in front of the snake and defied him to attack. With the strength of Samson and the determination of a magazine salesman, my husband raised the hoe above his head and brought it down on the snake's head. The snake's body moved ever so slightly as my husband began pounding the snake unmercifully. As I stood in the driveway I was awestruck. First, because I couldn't believe my husband would go to such lengths to protect me, and secondly, the snake wasn't reacting the way a real snake would, if attacked. There was no hissing or rattling in place; the snake just remained stationary. Aside from these two things, I was impressed, however, why wasn't the snake bleeding? Grass as it was, I was expecting blood. In fact, I could handle lots of blood if the snake the size of this one would just die-quickly. The hoe continued to thrash down on the creature that refused to die. Then, after several more minutes passed, it was becoming increasingly clear that the snake was an unidentified species known as a "fake" reptile. Brought to life by grandchildren and their friends who like to terrify their grandparents "The snake's a fake," my husband finally said as mopped beads of sweat from his forehead. "Can you believe that? A fake snake? It sure looks real." I would have answered but I was laughing so hard I couldn't catch my breath. The fearless creature standing before me had risked his life in order to protect his wife and children, and I was moved to tears with laughter. What kind of wife was I? An insensitive broad who's only thought was to revel in her husband's folly? When I finally caught my breath and my stomach quit hurting from the uncontrollable laughter, I attempted to hug my husband and thank him for saving me from a "fake" snake attack, but he rebuffed me. It's only human nature to get complacent about our spouses, but after the feat of fearlessness my husband displayed, I won't take him for granted again.

Billy Dean is star attraction at Paintsville Apple Festival

When William Harold Dean Jr. left his hometown of Quincy, Florida to try his hand at a career in music, he had talent, optimism and ambition. He was also young, naive and vulnerable — things not all uncommon among young hopefuls arriving in Music City. Early on, Billy paid the consequences for his naivete by getting tied in to a bad business deal that limited his ability to play his music. A decade later, Billy Dean has learned from his mistakes and is well on his way to the success he dreamed of. The last couple of years have been especially encouraging. In late 1990, he released his first album, "Young Man," and early in 1991 got a lot of attention after performances at The Gavin Seminar and the New Faces Show at the Country Radio Seminar. He had his first number one record with "Somewhere in My Broken Heart," a song he co-wrote with Richard Leigh, and later that year released his second album, "Billy Dean," which has produced several hits, including his second number one record, "Billy The Kid." 1992 has also proven to be a banner year for awards — Billy won two Academy of Country Music Awards: Best Male Vocalist and Best Song of the Year for "Somewhere in My Broken Heart" and a Country Music Association Award nomination for the prestigious Horizon Award. His current single is "I'm Not Built That Way," and his current album is "Fire in the Dark." Dean is touring more than ever and building a legion of fans — especially among adoring females. He will appear in concert at the Apple Festival in Paintsville, October 2 at 8 p.m.

GOIN' BACK TO MIAMI OR THEY DIED WITH THEIR BERMUDAS ON I you haven't taken that big summer vacation yet and were planning on a fun-filled autumn excursion to Florida, here's a little advice: if somebody sneezes, say "Bless you," not "Gesundheit," wear plenty of sun block, something like a Kevlar SPF 30, and, most importantly, don't waste your money on a round-trip ticket. In case you don't have the faintest clue what I'm talking about (and I usually don't myself), about two BILLION tourists, most of them German, have been killed in Florida in the last two weeks, just seconds after they were dropped off the turnip truck. Personally, I think it's just Clinton's way of testing out his new policy for handing illegal immigrants, but that's beside the point. The point is — WHAT'S THE DEAL WITH THEM #@%$# GERMANS!?!?!? Why doesn't somebody over there tell 'em to take a deutchmark and buy a clue? Geez — mighty, if somebody was snuffing out newspaper columnists left and right, I believe I'd take the hint and STAY HOME!!! Fortunately, though, us newspaper guys are usually only characterized as assassinated (and I'd say something sarcastic about the intelligence of the German people, what with them putting Hitler in power for all those years, but we still let Wallace Wilkinson run around loose so I don't have a whole lot of room to talk). I don't know. Maybe the Krauts think it's all just a big game, like "You Bet Your Life," or "Bowling for Muggers," where the winner gets a matching set of American Tourister luggage and the loser gets a body bag as a lovely parting gift. Or maybe the German government's just not telling the people what's going on in an effort to this is a national crisis and as good Americans we should all do our patriotic duty and get together to — and by all that is holy, we've got to act before it's too late — figure out a way to turn this tragedy into a tidy little profit. BathCorp Enterprises International's Florida franchise has already begun marketing "I AM NOT A TOURIST" T-shirts, and I hear business is booming. And next week they're launching a complete line of "My parents went to Florida and all I got was a lousy inheritance" merchandise that's expected to go through the roof. Besides that, divorce attorneys could make a mint if they could just convince their clients that a one-way ticket to Miami is alot

Truth, Justice, and the American Way by Geoff Belcher (See Truth, B 3)

Popperri by Scott Perry

Since most of us have at one time or another been "slaves to fashion," it's interesting to note that about 20 percent of the high fashion, high-priced clothes on the American market these days are, in fact, made by slaves of fashion.

Yep, a goodly number of the brand name items city kids are killing each other over are made in U.S. territorial sweatshops by folks who are being killed by 90-hour work weeks and $2 an hour wages.

Since the clothing is made in U.S. territories, like Saipan, the manufacturers can almost honestly say their products are "Made in the U.S.A."

The issue is enough to make an aging "hippy" burn his wardrobe in protest were it not for that fact that most of us have had to sell our clothes at yard sales to acquire the funds needed to supply our children with designer fashions.

Besides, running naked past the mirror these days is enough to trigger cardiac arrest, plus it's illegal in most states to go traipsing about in birthday suits except for congressmen and carloads of religious fanatics possessed by demons.

What's a conscientious fellow to do? You can't just call up all the major clothing manufacturers and ask them if their garments were produced by slave labor unless, of course, your designer clothes-clad teen-age daughter will let you borrow the phone for a few hours.

Even if she did, it's doubtful you'd get a straight answer out of any company bigshots, who devote most of their energies to producing television commercials for their products that make so little sense that most folks can't even figure out what's being advertised...

"Hey hon, was that an ad for blue jeans or cat vomit deodorizer?" "I don't know dear, but I've gotta have two of each!"

Ain't it a shame that the folks who make most of the clothes we wear can't afford to wear them themselves?

Most men would rather be charged with malice than with making a blunder. —Josh Billings

NEWS OF THE WEIRD

Gary T. Williams, 38, pleaded guilty to forgery in Louisville, in August, involving checks totaling more than $4,800. Williams told the judge that he needed the money badly to pay off a man who had just threatened his life in the group house in which he was staying. Williams said it all started when he tried some chicken gizzards using what he thought was flour; it was actually the other man's cocaine.

THE DEMOCRATIC PROCESS
—Hermosa Beach, Calif., City Councilman Bob Benz helped run this year's annual July Fourth "Ironman" competition, which requires contestants to run a mile, paddle a surfboard a mile, and then down a six-pack of beer without vomiting. Benz was co-producer of a video of the event that aired on local cable TV and featured contestants for the "most picturesque vomiting" award. Ironman was held on a public beach, on which drinking is illegal, and spilled over to nearby homes, whose owners complained of contestants' publicly urinating. Said Councilman Benz, "I had a great time."

—Among the winners in Russia's local elections in April was billionaire Kirsan Ilyumzhinov, elected president of the Republic of Kalmyk. One of his campaign promises was simply to give the equivalent of $100 to every family in the republic.
—A team from the North Carolina Legislature scheduled a basketball game with a team from the South Carolina Legislature in May to help decide where to build a nuclear waste landfill. If the North Carolinians won, the landfill would be close to the N.C.-S.C. border; if the South Carolinians won, the landfill would be located in the interior of the state. The South Carolinians played the game, but renounced the stakes, which they said would violate their state's anti-gambling laws.

—Washington state Rep. Ron Jacobsen introduced a resolution in February calling for the appointment of a state poet laureate "to write poetry and lofty expressions to be read at appropriate state occasions." The state wine industry would pay the laureate's salary: 126 gallons of wine a year.

—Woodruff Adams II, 36, the Republican candidate for mayor of Toledo, Ohio, in this month's combined primary, told the press in July that he had never registered to vote before this year because he needed to avoid jury duty due to the obligations of his financial consulting business. (Candidates for jury duty come from voter registration lists.)

—In January, Illinois Gov. Jim Edgar vetoed a bill to correct a glitch in the state's reapportionment based on the 1990 census. The glitch is that only one person, Lydia Thorpe, 87, is in both the Kewanee, Ill., 6th precinct and the state's 93rd district. Thus, whenever she votes, her distinctly colored ballot, and the process of separate reporting by precinct, will permit any interested person to know precisely for whom Thorpe voted.

—A March Associated Press roundup of bills introduced in state legislatures included an attempt in Maine to outlaw electronic mousetraps; a proposal in Minnesota to permit tavern customers to roll dice (without violating anti-gambling laws) to see who pays the tab; and a Florida proposal to require a man who has extramarital sex to register with the state in order to preserve parental rights he may have to any offspring.

—Texas lawmakers this term amended the state's unique marital-aids law to permit health professionals legally to possess six or more. For other people, possession of six or more is a felony, and still at issue under the state penal code is whether possession of even a single marital aid will continue to be treated as a

CREME DE LA WEIRD

Phoenix New Times, covering a human branding demonstration at a downtown art gallery in August by "body artist" Steve Haworth, reported that a 38-year-old female sought Haworth's services, intending to have her S&M master's three initials burned into her buttocks with stainless steel at 1,800 degrees Fahrenheit. However, after one initial, she called it off because of the pain, scrapped the second initial altogether, and said she'd add the last if the couple stayed together a year.

LEAST COMPETENT PEOPLE

After a month-long investigation, police in Lakewood, Colo., announced in August that the 100-plus bullet firings that had frightened neighbors into believing that gangs were engaged in drive-by shootings in the area were actually caused by the poor aim of employees at the nearby federal prison facility firing range. According to a prison spokesman, all employees, including clerical personnel, must be trained in firearms, and some apparently missed not only the targets but a large hill that separates the range from the complaining neighborhood.

Wiley Davis Jr., 52, was sentenced to three years in prison for falsifying educational achievements on his resume in order to obtain his job as career development manager of the Durham, N.C., police department. According to a colleague interviewed by the Durham Herald-Sun, Davis said a "nationwide conspiracy" was responsible for deleting records in Philadelphia (of his alleged high school diploma) and in College Park, Md. (of his alleged college degree), as well as records of his other alleged achievements. (Send your Weird News to Chuck Shepherd, P.O. Box 8306, St. Petersburg, Fla. 33738.)

THIS MAN HAD CANCER.

AND HE'S STILL SMILING.

Early detection methods and advances in treatment options have combined to give us nearly 100 percent cure rates in some cancers. So, should you get cancer, you have more reasons than ever before to be optimistic!

The core of the CancerCare program at King's Daughters' Medical Center is a 28-bed Oncology Unit staffed by specially trained nurses with advanced certification. Chemotherapy and radiation therapy treatments are available, as well as surgical radiation implants.

Every KDMC oncology patient is part of an ongoing statewide registry that tracks cancer rates and treatment effectiveness. The status of patients in the registry is followed throughout their lifetime.

Our association with national research organizations not only provides patients access to advanced treatments but also affords the latest in cancer prevention, such as the first nationwide breast cancer research trial available only at select facilities like KDMC.

KDMC's CancerCare program includes four physicians who are specialists in hematology/oncology, a physician who specializes in radiation oncology, and a nursing staff that specializes in loving care.

Fighting cancer also involves non-clinical support for both patients and families. CancerCare Support Group for Women and Make Today Count provide opportunities for participants to share coping skills and hope.

We hope you never need us. But if you do, the odds are on your side at KDMC. Keep smiling! For more information about KDMC's CancerCare program, call (606) 327-4535.

NATASHA'S STARS

ARIES (March 21 to April 19) The signs in business may be unclear. Make sure you know what is expected of you. A friend asks for your help. Guard against extravagant shopping on impulse and overspending on pleasure interests. Honor a social obligation this weekend.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20) Read the fine print on travel brochures when making plans for a vacation. Advice you receive this week seems contradictory. Behind-the-scenes business moves pay off for you. Don't let one thing going wrong spoil your whole week. Avoid domestic quarrels.

GEMINI (May 21 to June 20) Be down-to-earth and practical where money interests are concerned this week. Resist fly-by-night proposals. A date may be cancelled now or a trip may have to be postponed. Don't get discouraged or become reckless in the aftermath. Watch argumentative vents are concerned this weekend.

CANCER (June 21 to July 22) Mix-ups in communications impede collaborative efforts this week. Couples should listen to each other carefully. Self-discipline and hard work bring work gains. Home-based activities bring joy. A friend is somewhat difficult this weekend.

LEO (July 23 to August 22) Concentrative powers may not be at their best, and work performance may be erratic. A change in your daily routine is likely now. Being too pushy or aggressive could rub a higher-up the wrong way. Try not to force issues.

VIRGO (August 23 to September 22) Work progress may be less than you had hoped for this week. You may take issue with what you feel is unmerited criticism. Guard against wasteful spending. Social plans may be upset now or a child acts up. The weekend finds you in a working mood and very productive.

LIBRA (September 23 to October 22) An expected home delivery may not be on time. A relative's unconventional behavior surprises you. Real estate dealings aren't favored. A friend may be out of sorts. Responsibilities in connection with children take priority now.

SCORPIO (October 23 to November 21) Things seem to be in a muddle regarding a career endeavor this week. An important paper may be misplaced. You are better off doing things yourself now than counting on the cooperation of others. Be low-key at work.

SAGITTARIUS (November 22 to December 21) Use good judgment when shopping now or you may purchase something you really don't need. Interruptions may interfere with getting down to work. Try not to rush things when you finally get started. A familiar haunt isn't fun this weekend, but romance is iffy.

CAPRICORN (December 22 to January 19) Try to keep a relative abreast of your schedule this week. Don't keep family members waiting if possible. You may be upset this week about a financial concern. Try to be levelheaded in business now. Keep your feet on the ground. Look for bargains when stocking up on necessities this weekend.

AQUARIUS (January 20 to February 18) Facts are hard to come by now. Someone is not telling the truth or doesn't know what they are taking about. Your moods tend to vary this week. At first, you seem down, then you are overly exuberant. The weekend brings an accomplishment of a mental nature.

PISCES (February 19 to March 20) Unexpected expenses could crop up now. An irresponsible friend shouldn't be counted on. It is best to do things yourself this week rather than rely on others. An argument is sure to erupt if you are not more patient with a co-worker. Be skeptical of big money propositions.

"Boy, he must have kept the Tooth Fairy busy!"

by DIANE VANARSDALE
DEAR DIANE

DEAR DIANE:
A very good friend of mine was married about a year ago. I was her Maid of Honor, and what a spread it was! I thought at the time, what a wonderful man she was marrying. She didn't know him all that well, though. I'd say about six months. Anyway, it seemed like the perfect match at the time. She had all the money you could want, and he had the looks. Her father owns a large import company, and she met her husband at one of her father's companies. He is brilliant and was moving up to the corporate ladder quickly. Unfortunately, now he's running around on her, using her money, and driving around in the fancy cars she bought for him, impressing all the pretty women around. None of her friends has said a word to her, but everyone basically knows what he's doing. I believe she knows too, but doesn't really seem to care. I must admit, it is one of those men who's drop-dead gorgeous, and he knows it. I think she's just happy he comes home to her at night, and she can say to everyone that that's her husband. She's not attractive, but she does have money. She has very low self-esteem, and has always used her money for everything in life, including her friends. I'm dying to say something to her about what's going on. I think she deserves better. She has a heart of gold. Should I take a chance, or keep my big mouth shut?

UPSET:
DEAR UPSET:
Your suspicion is probably correct about your friend knowing what's going on. However, since she has low self-esteem, she's going to look the other way while all this is going on. It's as simple as that. I think if you say something to her about it, you'll alienate her, and I don't advise it. It sounds to me like she's going to need some good friends down the line. I do hope she was smart enough to have a pre-nuptial agreement drawn up. This guy sounds like a real exploitative creep, and I wouldn't be surprised if he beat her for big bucks in the event of a divorce.

A Look At Sports

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

ADAMS, TACKETT OUT?

Well, it had news hasn't hit the South Floyd football camp. According to rumors, running back Arnold Adams and defensive whiz Patrick Tackett have been ruled ineligible by the Kentucky High School Athletic Association because both were said to be too old to play high school football. But other reports have it that the two have just been suspended until the situation is straightened out.

Adams has been the mainstay in the backfield for three years at Wheelwright and he was being counted on to carry the load for the Raiders at South Floyd.

Adams had already rushed for 439 yards in three games and piled up 267 yards last Friday night again Phelps in the Raiders only win of the season.

Tackett was very impressive on defense as well as offense for the Raiders against Phelps. He came up with four interceptions for the Raiders and rushed for 123 yards on offense.

The victory will now have to be forfeited, leaving the Raiders still looking for their first win.

Neither coach Donnie Daniels nor principal Terry Stewart could be reached for comment at press time.

GIRLS' GRADE SCHOOL BASKETBALL

The early start for the grade school girls' basketball program has been changed back to follow the format of last year's season. I understand the vote was 7-6 to keep the program as is. Close vote! The grade school season will be permitted to begin the first week of November.

DIBBLE DOES IT AGAIN...

Rob Dibble is 1-4 with the Cincinnati Reds. Once Dibble was the reliever every team feared — now they welcome him when he comes to the mound.

Dibble served up yet another long-ball that once again won a game for the opposition. The Reds saw the Atlanta Braves score five times in the bottom of the ninth inning to win over the Reds 7-6 after leading 6-2 going into the final frame.

Once again, it was Jose Rijo who saw yet another victory slip away. Rijo has to regret signing a long-term contract with such a weak ballclub.

I certainly hope no one expects any great things from this ballclub in the future.

REALIGNMENT?

Just another way of trying to make the season longer and to make more money for the owners — money which the players will want the most of.

I would like to see the league standings revert back to the old days when there were only the National and American leagues. The two winners in each league would then battle in the world series.

Nothing compares to the great series battle the old Brooklyn Dodgers and New York Yankees went through. The players played because they loved the game. Now? The question is: How much will you pay me?

The new alignment certainly will not put the Reds into a division they can compete in. Then what division could they compete in?

Of the other four teams with the Reds, all are hard for Cincinnati to beat.

Houston, St. Louis, Chicago and Pittsburgh have always been tough opponents.

Baseball is about to set an all-time attendance record and they want to make changes.

POOKIE HURTING...

The Kentucky Wildcats may have to face the Indiana Hoosiers without starting quarterback Pookie Jones this Saturday. He injured his ankle Wednesday in practice. Until Wednesday, good sports everyone and be good sports!

Four share prize money in golf tourney

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

A golfer couldn't have asked for better weather than what was out last Saturday for the Betsy Layne baseball teams golf outing. The temperatures were on the mid side and the sun was shining bright.

Betsy Layne golf coach Junior Newsome termed the recent Betsy Layne Golf Outing a big success as 79 golfers convened at the Beaver Valley Golf Course for the first annual tournament.

We had a great day for it and everyone seemed to enjoy themselves," said Newsome.

The foursome of Lonnie Robinson, Don Adams, B.J. Newsome and Bud Newsome took home the top prize of $200 when they shot a 12-under-par 56 to win the 18-hole meet.

Leonard Sturgill, Todd Stargill, Troy Branham and Ralph Barnette took second place with an 11-under-par 57. The group received $100 in prize money.

Baruch Joseph, Everett Patton, Tommy Gibson and Mike Gibson shared the $60 prize money for placing fourth in the meet. The group shot a 10-under-par 58.

Beifry's Ryan Sward took home $25 in prize money with the longest drive of the tournament. Betsy Layne football coach John Derossett won $20 in prize money by sinking the longest putt.

Jim Goble of Prestonsburg, won $20 for the closest to the hole on number six. Closest to the line on the number one fairway was Ralph Barnette, who won $20.

"We were real pleased by the turnout we had for the tournament," said Newsome. "There were a lot of people that helped out with it. I'd like to thank Judge John M. Stumbo and the Fiscal Court for allowing us to use the course here in Allen. Mike Auerer, who is the course manager, for his help, and all the parents who helped and the businesses that donated food. Also, thank you to all the players who played in the tournament."

Newsome said that he hoped to make it a yearly affair. A cookout was conducted afterwards for all those who took part in the tournament. Money from the tournament goes to the Betsy Layne baseball team's trip to Florida in the spring.

Allen Central places second in Paintsville cross country meet

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

The weather at the Paintsville Lake area may have been pleasant for avid fishermen. But for high school and grade school athletes who ran in the Paintsville Cross-Country meet Tuesday evening it was an uncomfortable day.

The temperatures were a bit on the warm side but the heat didn't affect the running of Allen Central's runners as they took second place behind Prestonsburg in the boys' division.

Both Prestonsburg and Allen Central tied with 47 points each forcing the decision to be made on the finish of the sixth runner for each team. Prestonsburg had the better time giving them first place.

"I was surprised at the way our boys ran in the meet," said coach Dewey Jamerson. "I knew we had a chance of having a good squad but nothing like this."

While Prestonsburg's runners came in at one and two, Allen Central placed three in the next four positions. Josh Patton ran in at third place with a time of 21:09.07. Stewart Robertson took first place for Prestonsburg.

Kevin Stumbo, who is looking for a good year in track this season, placed fifth in the 5K run (3.1 miles). Stumbo posted a 21:49.52 time.

"I'm working out and I want to go to the state this year in track," he said before the meet. "I think I can do well at the state level."

Mike Elzokari took seventh place for the Rebel team with his time of 22:41.89. Elzokari also ran on the Rebel track team. Todd Howard, an eighth grade student at Maytown, placed 10th with a time of 22:41.89.

"I was totally surprised that we placed as many as we did (4) in the top ten," said Jamerson. "And everyone finished the race that started."

Other finishers for Allen Central: Shawn Amburgey, 22nd, 24:49.01; Kenny Bradley, 26th, 25:25.07; Jason Gayheart, 41st, 27:46.83; Chris Damron, 45th, 28:10.97; Wade Damron, 58th, 29:08.06; Tommy Brown, 39th, 29:11.01; Jay Harvey, 29:25.20; Jonathan Scarberry, 65th, 31:18.16.

There were 120 runners in the meet. Final results:

- Prestonsburg, first, 47 points
- Allen Central, second, 47 points
- Johnson Central, third, 37 points
- Sheldon Clark, fourth, 141 points
- Paintsville, fifth, 160 points
- Lawrence County, sixth, 184 points
- Allen Central II, seventh, 288 points

"This is something new to me," said Jamerson, after attending his second cross-country meet. "It's dealing with running and being a runner myself. It excites me."

"We did well. I didn't know what to expect when we went over there. The boys' team did extremely well."

Some of them were ready then to start working out and getting back over there."

Forty-nine girls from six schools took part in the girls' division with Allen Central taking fourth place. Four of the top finishers for Allen Central were just freshmen and the team has five sophomores.

Annie Harvey placed 11th overall with her time of 24:22.43. Jennifer Baker posted a time of 24:28.05 for 12th place. Dreama Isaac was 13th with a time of 24:34.03. Another freshman, Mary Baldrige, placed 14th.

East Carter comes to town to face Bobcats

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

Betsy Layne coach John Derossett and his Betsy Layne Bobcats can get back on the winning track as East Carter motors into town tonight.

Betsy Layne, off to their best start in several years, fell to the Pirates of Morgan County 30-14 last Friday, but the Cats are hopeful to rebound against the visitors.

Last Week...

East Carter will bring with them one of the top runners in the state in Darrin Fite, who has wowed the fans in their first three games of the season.

However, Fite found Mason County a little stingy with any yardage last Friday night, and he could only manage 65 yards on just nine carries.

"Mason County just lined up against him," said East Carter coach Gary McPeck. "While they stopped him, we had our wideback Matt Morrison, a senior, pick up the slack."

Morrison scored three touchdowns in the game for East Carter in rushing for 82 yards.

Betsy Layne is looking for an outing from senior quarterback Keith Hamilton who passed for 210 yards on 10 completions against Morgan County last week. Hamilton had TD passes to Jamie Robinette of 82 yards and Brent Akers 45 yards.

The ground game for the Bobcats was missing in action as Rocky Newsome and Craig Hamilton could not move the football against the Pirates defense.

Cocher Derossett put the blame on last week's loss on poor offensive execution and said that both lines must line up against East Carter.

Coach McPeck's scouting report...

"Betsy Layne is a solid defensive ballclub," said the East Carter coach. "I agree with Coach (Terry) Chin of Morgan County. They will line up and come right at you — which means that we will have to execute every time we have the ball."

McPeck said that he was "impressed with number 78 (Bradton 'Bubba' Combs) on the Bobcat's defensive line."

"He has good size, said McPeck, and he comes off the football well. I

Marsillett passes for two TDs as Blackcats defeat JV Rebels

by Ed Taylor Sports Editor

backer Keith Marsillett tossed for two touchdowns and Jon Morris rushed for 67 yards to lead the Blackcats to a 36-0 win over the Allen Central junior varsity squad at Prestonsburg Monday afternoon.

Prestonsburg scored on their second possession of the game when Chad Spurlock raced 86 yards for the touchdown and Tim Layne added the two-point conversion to give the junior Blackcats an 8-0 lead with 4:40 left in the first period.

The score came after Allen Central had threatened to score first with the ball on the Prestonsburg 10-yard line. But the Rebels fumbled the football and Prestonsburg took over.

Mike Shepherd picked off an Adam Coleman pass on a first-and-ten play that put the ball back in the hands of Prestonsburg. Marsillett's handoff to Layne on the first play from scrimmage saw the fullback race 77 yards for a touchdown and Marsillett hit Waylon Bevins with a pass on the conversion play. The pass to Bevins came after the Blackcats were assessed 15 yards for facemasking. The pass was for 21 yards.

Prestonsburg continued to play good defense as Morris picked off another Coleman pass and returned it 63 yards for a touchdown with Harry Ruff getting the conversion.

Marsillett connected up with freshman Gavin Hale just before halftime, and Josh Setser ran the ball in for the conversion. The Blackcats led 30-0 at the half.

Allen Central looked better on defense in the second half, but Prestonsburg continued to dominate.

Letton's Blackcats look for revenge as Belfry moves in

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Whoa!

Hold everything.

The Belfry Pirates will invade Prestonsburg Stadium tonight in one of the top games in the area, and the Prestonsburg Blackcats haven't forgotten the result of last year's matchup between the two area powers.

The only dark cloud hanging over the Prestonsburg team is a certainty and an uncertainty.

The certainty is that tailback Seth Hyden will be missing from the game while the uncertainty is the status of fullback Dwayne Garza.

Hyden was injured in the Whitesburg game and, while most fans are trying to remain optimistic about the running back's eventual return, the picture still remains cloudy as to when — and there is a big if in there — he will return.

Garza, who slightly twisted a knee in the closing minutes of the game, is expected to play, but no definite decision had been made at press time Thursday.

If both Garza and Hyden are "missing in action," then the load will fall on the shoulders of Jody Cornette and Matt Porter in trying to run against the big Belfry front line. Cornette would move to the tailback position and Porter would take Cornette's spot, according to Coach Letton.

With the recent injuries to the Prestonsburg squad, one upsetting issue has taken a back stage — namely the condition of quarterback Thomas Ratliff. Ratliff was diagnosed last week as being a diabetic, and it was doubtful he would play in the Whitesburg game.

But, after arriving late from a doctor's appointment in Lexington, Ratliff entered the game in the second quarter and guided his team to a 16-0 win over the Yellowjackets.

Ratliff, who will be at the quarterback spot tonight, should provide some spark for the Cats' offense and find the secondary for the Pirates acceptable.

Looking back...

Last year the Pirates held Prestonsburg's running game to a total of 72 yards in pitching a 30-0 shutout. It was a nightmare for both Prestonsburg backs as Garza had a season low 13 yards and Hyden rushed for 40.

But this is 1993 and the Pirates were hit hard by graduation last year in losing 19 seniors from last year's team. However, coach Phillip Haywood remains optimistic about the development of his young team as the season goes on.

The defensive line for Prestonsburg is "war seasoned" and primed.

Led by Junior Larry Morris, the Cats defense has been the strength of the first three games, holding their opponents scoreless in 12 quarters.

Kyle Fitzpatrick is along side of Morris on the line and both are forces to be reckoned with. Add Brad Wells, Kevin Vaughn, Ryan Elliott and Paul Collins and you have a line that hasn't given up too many yards on the ground.

The defensive backfield is equally stingy. However, Hyden will have to be replaced in the defensive backfield at free safety, and Coach Letton has either Matt Porter or Robbie Risner to move around.

What has given the Blackcats a number two ranking in the state has been a total team effort. That will prevail tonight as the two powerhouses meet. Prestonsburg wants this one bad, and Belfry hopes to take the contest and turn their season around. The Pirates are a surprising 1-2 on the year with Prestonsburg unblemished at 3-0.

Game time is 8 p.m.

Haywood returns to P'burg with only eight seniors

by Ed Taylor
Sports Editor

Tonight's matchup between the Belfry Pirates and Prestonsburg Blackcats will be a homecoming for Belfry coach Phillip Haywood as he returns to the school where he coached for several years and with a lot of success.

But upon returning to Prestonsburg, Coach Haywood hopes to take some sting out of a school that holds the number two ranking in the state in Class 2A football.

However, this is not a typical Belfry football team: Coach Haywood returns only eight seniors from last year and has a youthful corp.

"This is the youngest team, experience-wise, I've had since I've been at Belfry," he said.

Despite the huge loss from last year's squad that was considered by the pollsters to be one of the top five 3A schools in Kentucky last year, the Pirates are expected to be in the thick of things as the season goes on -- and Coach Haywood is one of those who expects it.

"We're going to have good numbers and, eventually, we are going to have good depth," said the optimistic Belfry coach. "One of our strengths this year should be our offensive line."

Four players who saw a lot of action last season on the line for the Pirates will return. Seniors Beau Hackney, Herbie Dotson and Josh Martin, along with junior Jamie Baldwin, return for their senior year.

Senior quarterback Jason Stacy returns for his final year -- and he had five completions for 92 yards against the Blackcats last season.

"It makes a big difference in having the quarterback back," said the Pirates' mentor.

Gone from last year's team is the entire backfield that rushed for 338 yards against Prestonsburg last season.

It will be youth minus last year's experience this year as Belfry looks to be the first team to score on the Blackcats' defense.

Mike Hardin, senior Scott Bruce and freshman Dwight Stepp will compete for the fullback slot.

Peyton Roberts will run at halfback, along with Hobie Dotson. Stacy will be throwing to Phillip Fitch and Brett Bostic at the end position.

The Pirates will play their 5-2 set defense with only two starters returning from last year.

With only eight seniors, Coach Haywood is looking to them to show the leadership this team needs when they face the Blackcats tonight.

"That is a key to this ballclub this year," said the Belfry coach "That is the kind of leadership we get out of our senior players."

What others are saying!

"...It will be tough without Seth. I'll say Prestonsburg by six. It won't be any blowout." - Jeff Meek, WKKZ

"...I'll say Prestonsburg by 13 points." - Jim Allen, WQHY

"...I don't want to go against Belfry. I'll say Belfry by seven." - David Scott, Williamson Daily

"...I'll say Belfry will win although others are going with Prestonsburg." - Rick Bentley, News-Express.

"...with Hyden out, I'll say Prestonsburg by a touchdown." - Jason Blanton, WSIP Sports

Brugh's Crew Shutouts
Paintsville coach Walter Brugh will have to wait at least 'til this Friday as he pursues Garin Martin's all-time coaching record of 271 wins. Paintsville was shutout 20-0 last Friday at Evans, leaving Brugh one win shy of tying the mark. This week, his Tigers are on the road again at Nicholas County.

Brugh is now 270-126-5 in his 38th year of coaching.

32 & Counting
The Danville Admirals faced their toughest test of the season last Friday but came out victorious to keep the state's longest win streak alive at 32 games. Danville defeated Lincoln County 26-12, while stopping cold Lincoln County's star back, Jeremy Simpson. Simpson, the state's second-leading rusher before last Friday while averaging 205 yards per game, rushed 23 times for 57 yards and one TD. Simpson had been averaging 10 yards per carry.

Danville moves into fourth place on the state's all-time win list, trailing Trinity (50), Paris (38) and Pikeville (33).

Sue Bennett College recruits three players from Floyd County

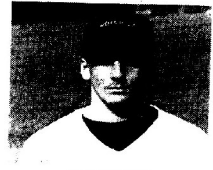

London, KY -- Three Floyd County natives are making history at Sue Bennett College. They are part of the College's new football program and are helping lead their team through a challenging first season. Jay McIntire, Joey Nunn and Wayne Stevens will take the field for the Dragons this fall against such tough competitors as Tusculum College and Tennessee Wesleyan.

Stevens, a freshman from Dana, played for the Betsy Layne Bobcats in high school and was named the top scholar-athlete in his senior class. McIntire, a freshman physical therapy major from Prestonsburg, was named most improved player for the Blackcats in 1992. He helped take his team to the semifinals in the state championships during his senior year.

Nunn, also a physical therapy major from Prestonsburg, played for the Blackcats and contributed to the team's success in '92. The Sue Bennett College football season opens at home against Bethel College on Saturday, September 18, at 1:30 p.m. Until the new college field is completed, all home games will be played at the Lynn Camp high school field near Corbin.

Near Perfect
Bell County has put together an incredible streak during its last 27 games. The Bobcats have won 26 of its last 27, including last week's 35-12 victory over Corbin. The only loss the Bobcats have suffered was last year's defeat to Highlands in the state semifinals.

Ashland Goes For 500 Again
Paul Blazer Ashland still has 499 school victories after losing to powerful Ironton, Ohio 42-14. The Tomcats began the season three wins shy of 500, but picked up victories during the first two weeks against Raceland and Campbell County. They'll go for 500 again this week at Greenwood County.

Round Wins
Bowling Green and Warren Central know how to win on the road when the two teams square off. Since the fall of 1989, the visiting team in this game has come away the winner, including last Friday night's game where host Bowling Green lost to Central 20-12. That's good news and bad news for Central. It's another win for the Dragons but it may secure home field advantage come playoff time and if the two teams meet again, well....

First Half Domination
Owensboro has made a habit of putting its opponent away early. In its first three games, Owensboro has led at halftime 31-6 over Owensboro Catholic (won 38-19), 35-0 over Warren East (won 42-6) and 34-0 over Henderson County (won 48-0). That's a slaughter first half total of 100-6 for the season.

Back On Track
Franklin-Simpson, Mercer County and Henry Clay all have turned losing seasons into undefeated ones through three weeks of '93. Henry Clay broke a 19-game losing streak to begin the season, and after beating Madison Central, stands 3-0. Mercer County went 1-9 in '92 but has wins over Franklin County, Owen County and Class A power Harrodsburg. Franklin Simpson finished 2-8 last year but has posted victories over Todd County Central, Russellville and Greenwood.

Wrong Way
The Corbin Redhounds, long a power in Class AA, are taking their lumps this fall. Corbin is 0-3 currently, with Glasgow (1-2) at home this week. In all fairness, Corbin has lost to three good teams—Lafayette, Cawood and Bell County. But they have Cumberland, Rockcastle County and Somerset yet to play later in the season.

Paducah Tilghman is also starting its season in characteristic fashion. The Blue Tornado has lost to two out-of-state teams—Brentwood, Tenn., 21-7 and Jefferson, Mo. 36. Undefeated Graves County faces Tilghman this week.

St. Xavier Falls
First it was 4A power Trinity losing two weeks ago, and then last week, top-ranked and defending state champ St. Xavier fell to DuPont Manual 17-3. Manual had not beaten St. X since the Class 4A playoffs in 1988, and that was only their second win over the Tigers in 20 years. Junior tailback Travis Penrice led the Manual charge, rushing 18 times for 123 yards and one TD.

Shelby County Rarity
Shelby County's Montas Allen finished the Lafayette game with three catches for 111 yards, the most receiving yards on record for a Shelby County Rocket. Shelby won 28-0.

Allen's big play was a 67-yard TD pass from quarterback Dwan McKnight. McKnight finished the night 4-8 passing for 145 yards and two TDs. It was the first time a Shelby County QB had thrown for 100+ yards since the Henderson County game in 1991.

Top Returns
Russell County's Jason Thomas took an interception return 102 yards for a TD and a school record in the Lakers' 55-6 drubbing of Wayne County. Thomas, a 5-10, 177-pound senior, also scored on a 46-yard punt return and a 2-yard run. He finished with 182 all-purpose yards. (Side note: Russell County, 2-1, plays host to LaRue County this week. The two teams have met four times in the last two years, LaRue winning all four.) Johnson Central's Chad Webb also set a school record with an 85-yard kickoff return in the Golden Eagles' 37-20 loss to Matewan, W.V.

King of Safeties
Barren County defeated Caverna 60-6 last week, and of the 60 points, six came on safeties. Caverna snapped one punt out of the end zone, tackled the punter in the end zone on the second safety, and sacked the quarterback for the third. Also, Barren County without Scott Chapman returned two kickoffs for TDs to give him four for his career.

Grave Upset
Graves County registered its first victory over Mayfield, 21-9, in front of a packed house at Mayfield last Friday. Three days before the game, Mayfield had sold 5,000 reserved seats. Over 7,000 were on hand Friday night. Graves is now 3-0, while Mayfield falls to 1-2.

Madison Central Record
Linsbaker kicker Byron Embry, a 6-2 junior, set a school record for Madison Central last week, hitting a 48-yard field goal against Henry Clay. His kick wasn't enough as Central lost, 40-18.

Odd Streak
Woodford County had a five-game streak of scoring 13 points each game... dating back to 1992: Scott Co. 13-0, Meade Co. 13-9, South Oldham 13-46, 1993: Paris 13-21 and Jessamine Co. 13-12. Anderson County broke the streak last Friday, 29-7. Anderson County also took a 13-12 series lead, a series dating back to 1963.

Straight As An "Arrow" Smith
Trigg County's Steven Tyler—not the lead singer for Aerosmith—set a school record with 20 completions two weeks ago. Tyler, a 6-4, 160-pound junior, was 20-33 for 257 yards. Trigg County, however, lost to Murray 33-12.

SOCCER Lafayette Wins Dual
Top-ranked Lafayette won its cross-town war with second-ranked Henry Clay 1-0 on Saturday. Senior forward Jeff Johnson scored on a 28-yard shot midway through the first half and senior goalkeeper Greg Hiviers had eight saves for host Lafayette. Lafayette is now 6-0 and Henry Clay fell to 6-1.

Reminder: State football stats are released each Thursday afternoon to The Associated Press. Last week, a record 63% of the schools responded, hopefully making the statistics the most accurate we've ever released. 15th overall with a time of 25:05.28. Other finishers for Allen Central: Martha Stephens, 40th, 34:30.40; Jennifer Samons, 44:30.84; Mara Stumbo, 37:58.98; Sonya Stephens, 38:22.26.

Team standings after the meet:
 • Paintsville, first, 42 points
 • Johnson Central, second, 60 points
 • Sheldon Clark, third, 87 points
 • Allen Central, fourth, 91 points
 • Prestonsburg, fifth, 113 points
 • Lawrence County, sixth, no score
 "I really didn't know how our girls would do," confessed Jamerson. "We had four in the top 15 and you can win with that. As they get in shape they will get better. We just need to get that fifth runner."

Coach Jamerson said that the cross-country meet is a learning experience for all, including himself. "It's a lot of fun," he said. "I think it's great. We had a great group of parents there watching."

There were two basketball players. The other one is a legit cross-country runner," said Turner.

Jamerson said that if he could get the Allen Central basketball players out that it could help his cross-country team.

Allen Central will return to Paintsville the coming Tuesday for their next meet at the Paintsville Lake area.

also like their quarterback, Keith Hamilton. He's a gutsy type of player. He has completed that 70-yard pass play and was hit by the defense.

About East Carter...
 East Carter likes to line up in the wing "T" and will run four backs.

"We will spread the field," said McPeck. "We have Darren (Fite), who is a solid player and just a good kid."

Coach McPeck has every right to be proud of his running back, who has already amassed over 500 yards this season in the first three games.

Fite rushed for 160 yards in his first game against Frankfort and then puled up 339 yards against Wayne County W. Va. in game two.

If you have come to the conclusion that East Carter likes to run the football, then you are right. They have already totaled over 1,000 yards this season and they have another weapon other than Fite and Morrisson.

Curtis Mackles rushed for 100 yards in his team's win over Mason County last Friday and has a three game total of 289 yards.

On defense, East Carter will run a 5-0 defense and try to free up their linebackers, John Wages and Derrick Stephens.

"On our offensive line we have all juniors but one," said Coach McPeck. "We have a good group of linemen."

East Carter has no injuries except for the usual "bumps and bruises."

"We're pretty healthy," said McPeck. "We're looking forward to coming up to Betsy Layne and playing this Friday night."

Game notes...
 • Joey Cecil, an assistant at East Carter, is the brother of Betsy Layne assistant, Joey Cecil. It will mark a reunion of the two.

"We're happy to have kids with us here at East Carter," said Coach McPeck.

Lots of squeeze bottles!

Blackcats

Stonsburg made it 36-0 on a quarterback option play. Marsillett tossed to Morris, who hit Hale with a 13-yard touchdown pass for the final score.

Jason Blackburn came up with an interception for the Blackcats in the fourth period. But the Cats returned the favor as Mark Varney picked off a Marsillett pass.

The final Prestonsburg TD came when they got good field position on a 22-yard pick up by Matt Laferity.

Morris rushed for 67 yards on nine carries. Marsillett was three of four passing for 57 yards. Spyruck had one carry for 86 yards. Layne rushed for 91 yards on five carries.

Allen Central may have found another runner in Mike Goble. He led the Rebels' ground game with 47 yards on 12 carries. Goble had been the top defensive player for the Rebels' JV until he was moved into the backfield. Goble showed a lot of speed and power.

Freshman Thomas Jenkins had six receptions for 48 yards receiving. Beau Tackett was injured in the game and had to sit out most of the contest with a cut hand.

Allen Central turned the ball over three times on interceptions. Prestonsburg lost the football once on an interception and twice on fumbles.

Coleman was sacked four times in the game by the Prestonsburg defense but three were because of bad snaps from center.

McDowell ARH donates squeeze bottles to South Floyd Raiders

by Ed Taylor
 Sports Editor

The McDowell Appalachian Regional Hospital took time out to lend a helping hand to the South Floyd Raiders Booster Club with a donation of 300, 32-oz squeeze bottles.

Donna Johnson, on behalf of McDowell ARH, presented the bottles to coach Donnie Daniels and principal Terry Stewart prior to the Raiders taking on Phelps last Friday night.

The bottles depict the Raiders' logo on one side, the ARH logo on the other and a drug awareness message. The bottles will be sold during games to raise funds for the booster club and will help defray some of the cost of the new school's athletic programs this year.

Upsets, upsets has everyone upset! What a week. But everyone is determined to rebound from last week. Celeste and Tim went 10-2. Rebecca and Tim tie for first place. The Kentucky Wildcats are expected to continue what they found against Florida and defeat Indiana. Louisville to upset Arizona State. Prestonsburg will slip past Belfry and Allen Central is expected to win number two at Berea. The Browns are picked to fall in L.A. while the Chargers and Patriots get the nod in the professional ranks.
